1. THat alſo would be but a lame Excuſe for the worſhipping of the Images of Saints, namely, That they are not Idols, but the Images of the holy Saints of God and Chriſt; but that an Idol is the Image of ſome Heathen Deity, ſuch as Bacchus, Venus, Apollo and the reſt, which were ſuppoſed to reſide in the Idols themſelves, whenas the Saints are with Chriſt in Heaven. As if any Image whatſoever to which Religious Worſhip is given, were not an Idol. For there is no Difference betwixt ſuch an Image and an Idol, but that the one is a Greek Word, the other Latin; they both ſignifying the Likeneſs of ſome thing or other. And the making of ſuch is but an harmleſs Piece of Art: but when-ever ſuch Likeneſſes or Similitudes of Things or Perſons receive divine Honour or Religious Worſhip, they do ipſo facto become Idols in the worſt and groſſeſt Senſe.

Nor is there any ſufficient Reaſon why the Image of Bacchus or Ceres, being worſhipped religiouſly, ſhould become an Idol, and the Image of Peter or Paul ſhould not; or that the Invocation of the one ſhould be Idolatry, and of the other not. For the Worſhipping of the true God by an Idol is Idolatry; wherefore the Worſhipping that which is not God by an Idol is double Idolatry. And this is the Caſe as well in worſhipping the Image of Paul or Peter, as of Bacchus or Apollo.

Myſtery of Godlineſs, Book 2.

2. For even Bacchus and Apollo and Ceres and the reſt were Benefactors to Mankind in the Gratifications of the Animal Life, as I have elſewhere noted at large. But they were not infinite Benefactors. Mars, its likely, was a valiant Warriour when he lived on Earth, but he is not Jehovah Zebaoth, God Omnipotent; and Apollo was a wiſe and skilful Man, but not Omniſcient. Wherefore they having not theſe Divine Excellencies in them infinitely and eſſentially, they are uncapable of Divine Honour.

Now there is the ſame Reaſon for our Benefactors in Spiritual and Divine Matters, as in thoſe that are Animal and Natural: For the Ground of the Unlawfulneſs of our doing Religious Worſhip to Mars or Apollo, is not that they were Benefactors only in thoſe things that concern the Animal Life, but that they were not the Infinite and Eſſential Authors and Originals of thoſe Perfections: And therefore St. Peter, St. Paul and St. John, yea the Bleſſed Virgin herſelf, though they were Excellent Patterns and powerful Perſwaders to the Love of God and all the Duties and Accompliſhments of the Divine Life, and were ſingularly well accompliſhed therein themſelves; yet they being not infinitely and eſſentially good and holy, they are as utterly uncapable of Religious Worſhip (which in this Caſe would become Idolatry) as any of the other. And they that would commit this Spiritual Fornication with them becauſe they are ſo holy and ſo good, would be as ridiculouſly impious, in my Apprehenſion, as thoſe Sectaries are that are reported to make nothing of carnal Adultery or Fornication with an holy Brother or Siſter, but with the prophane and ungodly they will refrain themſelves from that Liberty.

3. Nor can the Suppoſition, That the Souls of the Saints are not in the Images of the Saints, as the Pagan Dæmons were ſuppoſed to be in their Idols, have the leaſt Shew of a ſolid Excuſe: For the Preſence of the Saints would make the Act of Worſhip ſeem more excuſable, they being thereby more capable of ſuch devout Addreſſes and Compellations. But theſe Subterfuges are ſo ſlight that they are not worth the inſiſting upon.

4. The

4. The Apology for Worshipping the Image of Christ may be more plausible, in that he was truly God, and yet of a visible Shape and Figure. This indeed would be no frivolous Plea for the Lawfulness of making his Picture or Effigies, but will not reach the Warranting us to worship it.

Besides, Who knows what was the right Feature of our Saviour? And then how ridiculous and foolish is that Affection and Pleasure in contemplating the Picture which we take for his, when in all likelihood, it is neither like him, nor any one else? For it is not probable that the sad and aggrieved Spirit of our Saviour and his serious Followers had so little to do, as to concern themselves in having his Picture drawn, who was a * Man of Sorrows, and acquainted with Grief. But being that the Divinity was Hypostatically united with Christ's Humanity only, and that his visible Person was of a certain Shape and Figure peculiar and individual, and that it is pretended from this Union only that the Right of Worshipping his Image does arise; if the Image be not the Image of Christ, (as it happens often, they say, that the Virgin's Image is not hers, but of the faireſt, though not always the chasteſt, of the City) but the Image of some Body else, or an Image made at random, and it may be of no Body that ever was; the Ground of this Warrant, for the Worship of this Image will fail, so that none can be assured but that he committeth Idolatry. * Isa. 53.

5. And besides, though it were the true Image of the Humane Feature of Christ, and this the pretended Ground of the Lawfulness of the Worshipping it; we forget in the mean time that Christ himself is not a due Object of Divine Worship but as he is θεάνθρωπος, not a mere Man, but God also. But what Painter or Statuary can describe or carve out his Divinity? Or what Union is there betwixt that and his Statue or Picture? And lastly, What License have we to break the Commandment of God, who expressly forbids us the Worshipping of the Image or Similitude of any thing; nay, the very making of an Image or Similitude for Religious Worship? For the very Title of the First Table, which is concerning the Honour of God and his Worship, shews plainly that this is the Sense thereof.

6. And for my part, I do not question but that the whole Decalogue is Moral, and that we are as precisely tied from Image-worship as from Adultery it self. For why should Moses mix Duties of such different Natures in one short Decalogue? especially he copiously delivering his positive Laws, whether Ceremonial or Political, in other places. For the forbidding simply the making an Image is no Precept at all, but only the Prohibition of making an Idol thereof; and therefore those Words, Thou shalt not bow down to them, nor worship them, are added exegetically for the avoiding all Mistake, and plainly intimate that Idolatry is there forbid, and not simply the making of Images or Pictures; or Images are forbid to be made in relation to Idolatrous Worship, as I intimated before from the Nature of the Title of the First Table, which concerns Religion or our Duty to God.

Moreover, Why were these Ten Commandments more especially said to be writ by God's own Finger on those Tables of Stone, but that it was typically to indigitate to us, that it was that Law which is also writ in our Hearts by the Finger of God, durably and permanently; and that if every Man's Mind were wiped and cleansed from that Dirt and Filth that lies on it, those eternal Characters of indispensable Morality and Reason would so conspicuously and legibly appear there, that they would not only close with the Decalogue, but, if we may so speak, ratifie it, as a most just and righteous Law? We know that our Saviour has in a very special manner honoured the Decalogue, by his pointing to it as the Way to Eternal Life. And the general Consent of the Learned of Old, hath made it an Abridgment of the Moral Law: Nor can any one that duely considers the Nature of it but acknowledge it an everlasting Law of God to his Church, even in the literal Sense thereof. But in the behalf of Christianity (which requires a more spiritual Worship than ordinary) so to spiritualize the Decalogue as to leave Men free to Image-Worship, seems to me a spiritualizing it into gross Carnality, and to be both as impious and ridiculous, as the spiritualizing the Commandment against Adultery into an holy Licentiousness of lying with their Neighbour's Wife without Sin or Shame, which, they say, is accounted an high Pitch of Christian Liberty and Perfection with some Sectaries. Mat. 19. 17.

7. The last Excuse that occurs to my Mind in the behalf of the Religious Use of Images in Churches is, That these are Helps for Memory and Devotion, the Mind of the Vulgar being so gross and flagging, and so estranged from all Sense and Conceit of the Deity and Religion, that it must be fetched up by these palpable and visible Engines, on which they can lay hold, and so bear up their Devotion and Affection toward Divine Things by the helpful Artifice of these exteriour Props. But this Plea is common with the Heathens and lapsed Christians: And that Apology must needs look fallaciously, that will serve as well a confessedly-bad Cause as a pretended good one.

Dissert. 38. Εἰ θεοῖς ἀγάλματα ἱδρυτέον.

Maximus Tyrius of old defended the Use of Statues in Religious Worship after this sort, alledging that they were only σημεῖα τῆς περὶ τὸ θεῖον τιμῆς, καὶ ὥσπερ ὑπομνήματα τις καὶ ὁδὸς περὶ ἀνάμνησιν, only Signs of the Honour we do to the Deity, and a manuductive Method to the re-minding us thereof. But for those (saith he) whose Memory is more firm, and the Sight of their Mind more directly penetrative into the Divine Presence, these have not the Need of such Helps: But he pretends they are very few.

Much to this purpose you may read in this Sophist, who having taken notice of the several Ways of Idolatries, as we must call them, in several Countries, and how all the while there may be τὸ θεῖον εἰς γνώμην, God in their Heart, though their Affection be stirred up to Him by some external Representation, as that of Lovers is to their absent Friends by their Pictures or any Token else that relates to them; he at last fairly and plausibly concludes his Dissertation with this Caution or Admonition: Εἰ δ' Ἕλληνας μὲν ἐπῆρεν περὶ τὸν μυήμονα τοῦ θεοῦ ἡ Φειδίου τέχνη, Αἰγυπτίους δὲ ἡ περὶ τὰ ζῶα τιμὴ, καὶ ποταμὸς ἄλλους, καὶ πῦρ ἄλλους, ἃ νεμεσῶ τῆς διαφωνίας, ἴσωσαν μόνον, ἐφάπτωσαν μόνον, μνημονεύσωσαν μόνον. That is to say, If an exquisitely-wrought Statue put the Greeks in Mind of God, some holy Animal the Ægyptians, a River others, and Fire others; I am not offended at the Diversity; only let them understand, only let them love, only let them remember, τὸ θεῖον εἰς γνώμην ἔχω μόνον, only let God be in their Mind.

8. But truly in my Apprehension, to fix a Man's Sight upon either River, Cow, or Statue, so as to take Notice he does so, (and if he does not take Notice of it, to what purpose does he look on it?) is the next way to exclude God out of his Mind: For who can think of two things at once? Wherefore those Religious Symbols which will least of all take up our Animadversion, or fix it to themselves, but leave it free to God, are the fittest for the more perfect Worshipping of him; and (what is yet closer to our Purpose) the having no Object in our Worship but what is truly God, will be the safest Way to lodge our Mind with him, and to think more truly, comprehensively, and devoutly of Him, than we can possibly while we pretend to see him, or conceive him in any Statue or Picture whatsoever. For the Apprehension of his Infinite Wisdom, Goodness, and Power, his Infinite Mercy, Justice, and Truth, and the Effects of these, the Vastness of his Providence, the Sense also of his Ubiquity or Omnipresence, and that in him we live, and move, and have our Being, is a more lively Representation of the Deity than the exquisitest Art or costliest Materials can afford.

But if any seek an external Image of God that falls under the Senses; behold the best and fairest is this All that we see: which yet is but a small Matter so far as our Sight can discern. What a pitiful Representation than must any particular thing be, whether Natural or Artificial, for the setting out the Divine Majesty, and how unfit and unworthy to pretend to become an Object, in any Sense, of Religious Worship? How far short must it fall of the inward Representation in the virtuous Mind, whenas that in the Mind does so hugely exceed the largest and fairest Prospect the Eye can take of this visible Universe? Wherefore whatever is interposed betwixt God and us by way of Object in our Worshipping Him, is not an Help, but an Hindrance, to the Perfection of that Worship.

9. And if we may compare small things with great, (as the Analogy does in some sort hold) the Character of the virtuous Life of any Saint is a better and more useful Image of the Saint, and will conciliate a greater Love and Honour of Him, than the seeing of his Picture or Statue. For no Figure, Posture, nor Colours, can decypher or set out Sincerity. For every artificial Feature, look it never so well and devoutly, is but the livelier Picture of Hypocrisie, because it is not what it would seem to be. Not to repeat my former Allegation, that it is not credible that any of the afflicted primitive Christians spent their Time so Idlely, as to sit to have their Pictures drawn, much less the blessed Virgin or holy Apostles of Christ. Which Mistake makes Religious Worship done to their Images ridiculous, as well as idolatrous. For it is a Sign that none of these Images are true, in that they all pretend to be so; as if all the Saints of God had been great Admirers of their own earthly Shadows, when there is no likelihood that any of them were. So entirely and universally contemptible and reproveable is Image-Worship in Christianity. But to return.

10. So

10. So far therefore (as touching the Deity) is this Imagery in Churches from erecting a Man's Mind to the Remembrance of God, and a due and worthy Senſe and Knowledge of him, that it ſinks it lower, and fixes it upon mean and trivial Objects; nay indeed, out of Inadvertence and an heavy Proneneſs to ſenſible Matters, depreſſes it, plunges and immerges it into groſs Idolatries: and (as touching the Saints) inſtead of warming it into an affectionate Admiration of their Virtues, makes it fall into ſuch Sins as were moſt zealouſly avoided and abominated by them.

11. To all which you may laſtly add, That this Plea is ſtill more weakened in the Caſe of Chriſtians, there being ſufficient Props and Engines, nay Screws and Pulleys, if you will, to raiſe Mens Love and Devotion in that palpable and ſenſible Commemoration of the Death of Chriſt, the Son of God and Saviour of the World. God is Love, and he that abideth in Love, abideth in God, and God in him. What better Senſe, Apprehenſion, or Repreſentation of God can there therefore be, than that of an Infinite Love? And what better Means to raiſe us to any proportionable Pitch of the Senſe of this Love, than the Celebration of the Paſſion of Chriſt, who poured out his own moſt precious Blood for the Redemption of the World?

Beſides, the Coming to an appointed Place of publick Worſhip at ſolemn Times, the Approaching and Continuing there with Reverence, the Putting up plain and eaſily-intelligible Prayers to God, the Hearing of the Scriptures with eaſie and plain Expoſitions of them; certainly ſuch Duties and Performances as theſe will bear Men up more firmly by far into a Senſe of the Deity, than the viewing any Imagery whatſoever. And if you add the Singing of Hymns or Pſalms, whether with the Organ or without, provided it be done well and tunably, it will excite the Devotion of the People much more powerfully, and with a more determinate Senſe and greater Edification, than the Dumb Shews of Pictures and Images, which can ſpeak nothing, when abuſed to Idolatry, but the Folly and Unfaithfulneſs of their Setters up. Alſo domeſtick Reading to People, or teaching them to Read, will make the Preſence needleſs of theſe ſilent Maſters.

What Want is there therefore of either Images or Idolatry for either improving our Knowledge or exciting our Devotion, or for the preventing our Relapſe into an utter Oblivion of God, and the Senſe of Divine things, ſeeing there are ſo many other Means, and theſe ſo well ſuited for the obtaining of the ſame End.

CHAP. XV.

1. That the general End of this impious and uſeleſs Idolatry and Image-worſhip is the Profit of the Prieſt. 2. Several Artifices of making theſe Images gainful to them. 3. The Gainfulneſs of Tranſubſtantiation the Cauſe of the admitting it to the making up the full Stature of Antichriſtaniſm. 4. What a wonderful and powerful Interceſſour the Prieſt ſeems upon this Pretenſion. 5. Various Ways of the improving this gainful Perſwaſion to their own Advantage. 6. The unſpeakable Honour that ſeems to accrue to the Prieſt from this ſtupendious Miracle. 7. That it ſeems to give him a juſt Claim to Exemption from civil Juriſdiction, and ſaves him the Labour of endeavouring after Truth and Sanctity. 8. That their Pretences for Idolatry though they be weak, yet their Self-ends therein are exceeding palpable.

1. WHerefore their Pretences for Idolatry and Image-worſhip ſo plainly appearing to be but mere Sophiſtry, let us conſider what Self-endedneſs may keep up ſuch unworthy Practices. And truly the Plot cannot lie ſo deep but every one may eaſily ſee it that is not wilfully blind. For there may be driven the ſame Trade that was in Jeremy's time by the Idolatrous Prieſts of the ancient Babylon, ſuch as he notes in his Epiſtle, * As for the things that are ſacrificed unto Idols, their Prieſts ſell and miſpend: in like Manner their Wives lay up Part thereof in Salt. And not far after, * The Prieſts alſo take of their Garments, and cloath their Wives and Children. In brief therefore, The End of Image-Worſhip may be the enriching of the Prieſt, and all the aboveſaid Pretences and Excuſes forged and framed merely to keep up that gain. For unleſs there were ſome ſuch Myſtery of worldly Profit underneath, it were a Wonder that the Chriſtian Prieſthood ſhould retain any ſuch Cu-ſtom, that is ſo palpably contradictory to the Word of God, and ſo expreſly and particularly againſt the Second Commandment, and ſo great an Offence to ſober and conſciencious Chriſtians, and laſtly ſo huge a Rock of Scandal to both Jew and Turk.

* Verſe 28.

* Verſe 33.

2. It is therefore not hard to imagin how they having erected the Statue of this or that Saint, of the Virgin Mary, St. James, St. Peter, or the like, handſomely adorning them, and ſetting them out in a competent Liveſineſs of perſonal Shape; that they may teach the People (who are too prone to theſe Spiritual Fornications, eſpecially being animated and emboldened by the Counſel or Example of their lenocinant Leaders) not only to open their Mouths to them in Prayer, but their Hands alſo in various Offerings; having imbued their rude Minds with a ſuperſtitious Fear of the Saints Diſpleaſure, if they approach empty-fiſted, and, it may be, by ſome Artifices make the Images to ſeem to frown or ſmile upon them, according to the Scantneſs or Largeneſs of their Gifts; or at leaſt provoke the Offerer Emulations by hanging up in View what has been given to the Image, with the Names of the devouter and more liberal Clients.

The giving out alſo that this or that Saint has a ſpecial Power for doing ſuch or ſuch Miracles, for healing ſuch or ſuch Diſeaſes, for aiding in ſuch or ſuch Streights or Exigencies, were endow'd with ſuch or ſuch a Meaſure of Pardons or Indulgences; how ſtrongly would theſe Surmiſes attract the Devotions of the Simple, even to the making Vows to them in Danger, and the going on Pilgrimages to their Temples or Chappels? Where being brought into the viſible Preſence, as it were, of the Saint himſelf, repreſented by his well-adorned Statue or Image, (either out of a Conceit of ſome Help done to them already, or in Expectation of ſome future Succour) they cannot for Shame but offer at leaſt proportionably to their Ability, not doubting but the more liberal Clients of ſo good and powerful a Patron ſhall not fail one Way or other to receive at leaſt a full Penny-worth for a Penny.

But they do not conſider in the mean time, that the Imitation of any peculiar Virtue in any of thoſe Saints would oblige them more (Εἴ τις αὐτοῖς, if they have any Knowledge of humane Affairs) to do all the Good they can, than if a Man ſhould lay down all the Wealth he has at the Feet of one of their Statues; and that an hearty Prayer directed to God through Chriſt would gain more Favour from them, than if it had been directed to themſelves. As any good Chriſtian would ſooner relieve a poor Man whom by Chance he found earneſtly breathing out his Wants to God in Secret, than if he had begged Relief of himſelf.

3. We ſee plainly therefore what a Gainful Trade may be driven in the maintaining of the Invocation of Saints and of Image-worſhip. And if ſome ſuch like Prop did nor uphold that myſterious Conceit of Tranſubſtantiation and the Idolatry thereon depending, aſſuredly ſo huge an Extravagancy, and ſo repugnant to Scripture, and contrary to all Senſe and Reaſon, would not have the Poſſibility of being any Part of that Idea of Antichriſtianiſm which I am a-deſcribing: For it could never get into the Church of Chriſt upon its own Score, but as it ſerved ſome other End or Deſign; at leaſt it could not be retained there, when once ſeriouſly ſifted, unleſs it were found very advantagious to the Maintainers thereof.

4. What Self-ends therefore, will you ſay, can be ſerved by the Pretence of the Power of doing ſo ſtupendious a Miracle, as the changing the Bread in the Euchariſt into the very Body or Corporeal Preſence of Chriſt? Why certainly very great ones, and mightily advantagious to the Prieſt. For he that is ſuppoſed to have the Power by pronouncing four or five Words to make Chriſt Jeſus, who is God Bleſſed for ever, perſonally and corporeally preſent, cannot be well imagined to be ſtreightned ſo in the Effect of his Intention, but that, Chriſt's perſonal Preſence being thus procured, he will bring to paſs thoſe very Deſigns the Prieſt intended in procuring it. As very few doubt but that he that can raiſe a Spirit to be as it were Θεὸς ἀπὸ μηχανῆς in an hard Streight, can procure of the Spirit to aſſiſt to that End for which he was raiſed.

Wherefore ſuppoſing the Prieſt has Power to bring this real Θεὸς ἀπὸ μηχανῆς down into Coporeal Preſence by ſuch a divine Charm, as they would make it; who can ſuſpect but that Chriſt being bodily there, he will aſſiſt, favour and effect any allowable End for which the Prieſt by Virtue of the Words of Conſecration brought him thither? I ſay, Chriſt being thus really and Corporeally there, (Body, Soul, and Divinity) and being thus viſibly and perſonally offered up by the Hands of the Prieſt, in the Opinion of the People, for the Procurement of this or that Favour vour of God; they cannot at all doubt but that he, having ſuch a Pledge in his Hand, will not fail of obtaining any thing, that is not plainly ſinful, at the Hands of God. For if he has thus palpably given him his own Son, how can he withhold any thing from him? Certainly, they that believe the Prieſt in the Firſt, cannot eaſily misbelieve him in the Second.

5. Wherefore the Prieſt might ſafely pretend that by Virtue of this Offering up Chriſt really and perſonally in the Maſs, and of his Direction of the Intent of his own Action therein, this Sacrifice will be available for both the Living and the Dead, for the Sick and for the Sound, for both Man and Beaſt; that he can thereby deliver Souls out of Purgatory, free Men from the Plague, heal Cattel, drive away Fevers, or prevent the Tooth-ach, recover loſt Goods, cure the Soreneſs of the Eyes, give Victory againſt a Man's Enemies, procure a good Husband or Wife, and what not?

Wherefore the Sacrificer being conceived to be inveſted with ſo mighty a Power; if he will but be ſo free and acceſſible, as to be perſwaded upon Occaſions to make Uſe of it either for Love or Money, may he not certainly have his Choice? Whence it is plain, that if the Prieſthood would enrich themſelves upon this Account, it is entirely in their Power; and that they would receive Money for ſuch holy Performances and ſo pious Uſes, is not uneaſie to be imagin'd. And therefore it is no hard Stroke in this Picture I draw of Antichriſtianiſm, to ſuppoſe that the Opinion of Tranſubſtantiation may be ſtoutly and tenaciouſly held up, for the upholding and increaſing the Wealth of an Antichriſtian Prieſthood. For if the Opinion be falſe, as moſt certainly it is, it is alſo the Mother of Idolatry; and therefore the Founders or Abettors thereof may be juſtly termed Antichriſtian, eſpecially it being ſuppoſed that it is maintained for the Love of filthy Lucre.

6. But it may not be Wealth only that is the End and Deſign of this monſtrous Doctrine, but the Exaltation of their Perſons into a greater Eſteem and Honour than can well agree to a mere Man.

For to transform a Piece of Bread into the real Perſon of Chriſt, is little leſs than to create our Creator. And if the Bleſſed Virgin, for being the Mother of God, does in their Judgment deſerve what they call ὑπερδουλεία, a Kind of Worſhip little inferiour to Divine Honour, ſuch as we give to God himſelf; what Reſpect muſt they think themſelves worthy of that fancy themſelves the Creators of that very God of which the Virgin Mary is ſaid to be the Mother?

Certainly it would puzzle Men to conceive a Way of Expreſſion of ſufficient Honour and Reſpect for ſuch a Wonder-working Prieſthood, who in this one Miracle, which yet is ordinarily and eaſily done by them, (though our Saviour was fain to groan for it when he raiſed Lazarus from the Dead) who, I ſay, in this one Miracle, of changing the dead Element of Bread into the living Body and Perſon of Chriſt, do out-do all the Miracles that Chriſt ever wrought, by this Creating of him who was the Worker of all thoſe Miracles, and that even then when he does not ceaſe to be; and (which is another great Miracle) without making the Bread ſeem to any of our Senſes any thing altered from what it was before. What Honour or Privilege may not they claim as due to themſelves, that aſſure the People that they are the ordinary Workers of ſo ſtupendious, ſo incomprehenſible, and ſo impoſſible a Prodigy?

7. Verily they that have derived upon them ſo boundleſs and miraculous a Power, which exceeds, nay is repugnant and contrary to, the ſtrongſt Laws of Phyſicks, Logick and Metaphyſicks, can it ſeem any more than a modeſt Claim in them to challenge an Exemption from all Politick and Poſitive Laws alſo, unleſs of their own making?

For how holy, how ſacred a Perſon muſt he ſeem to the World, who ſo eaſily and ſo frequently can work ſo aſtoniſhing a Miracle? And therefore how uncomely a thing would it be that the Secular Powers ſhould pretend any Dominion over one that is endued with ſo Divine a Power? Παραπλήσιον γὰρ κἂν τῷ Διὶς ἄρχειν ἀξιοῦεν· For it is as if they would take upon them to give Laws to God himſelf, (as Ariſtotle ſpeaks of his Heroically virtuous:) ὥσπερ γὰρ θεὸν ἐν ἀνθρώποις εἰκὸς εἶναι τὸν τοιοῦτον, For it is fit that ſuch an one ſhould be as a God amongſt Men, that is to ſay, ſuch an one that is ſo eminently and ſuperlatively virtuous as he there deſcribes. What then muſt he be accounted that is thought to have a Power (which is a more ſenſible Object of the Peoples Admiration) either equal or ſuperior to that of God himſelf; Polit. lib. 3.

who,

who, as ordinarily wiſe Men conclude, cannot do any thing that implies a Contradiction to be done?

Wherefore if the degenerated Chriſtian Prieſthood could perſwade the People that they had the Power of doing ſo huge and incomprehenſible a Miracle, that tends ſo infinitely to the Advancement of their Eſteem; it could be no Wonder that they were zealous Maintainers of the Impoſture, it conciliating to them, with ſuch as believe it, ſo mighty Credit and Reſpect, and ſaving them the Labour of that harder Way of winning it, to wit, by unblemiſhed Sanctity and Exemplarity of Life, and by a true and ſound Knowledge in the Myſteries of the Religion they profeſs.

8. Wherefore though the Pretences and Excuſes for the Invocation of Saints, the Worſhipping of Images, and the Adoring of the Hoſt be ſlight and trivial; yet we ſee the Self-ends of theſe Idolatrous Practices may be very ſubſtantial and palpable: but both put together make up that Antichriſtian Fraud (and aſſuredly it is an eminent one) that is diſcoverable in this firſt and chief Limb of Antichriſtianiſm, which is the Introduction of Idolatry into the Church of Chriſt.

CHAP. XVI.

1. That Idolatry is the higheſt and moſt peculiar Injury that can be committed againſt God. 2. That giving Religious Honour to Saints or Angels, is really a reproaching them and blaſpheming them. 3. The exceeding great Miſchief done to the Soul of Man by Idolatry. 4. That Idolatry turns Men into bloody Wolves and Bears. 5. And is the Mother and Nurſe of the fouleſt Impurities. 6. That it is the Source of all manner of Wickedneſs, and eternal Death to the Idolater. 7. The great Miſchiefs it doth to the Church of Chriſt. 8. How the Church is leſſened by Idolatry at home. 9. And the ſpreading thereof hindred abroad. 10. And conſequently the whole World injured thereby.

1. WE will now briefly conſider the Miſchief of this horrid Enormity, which reaches either to God, (as much as any Miſchief can reach him) to the Saints, to the Idolaters themſelves, to the Church, or to the reſt of the World.

The Sin of Idolatry is the moſt properly injurious to God of any Sin, it ſo peculiarly touching the Right of his Honour or Worſhip: which Honour he will not give to any other, nor ſuffer to be taken from him. And indeed it is highly reaſonable it ſhould be reſerved entire to himſelf, no other Tribute being competible to him but this. For God, who is that Infinite Fulneſs of Perfection, can want nothing; but we having all received of his Fulneſs, and poſſeſſing nothing but therefrom, it is according to the Senſe of that eternal Law of Reaſon and ingenuous Gratitude, as well as according to the expreſs Injunction of the ſacred Precepts of Scripture, that there ſhould be proper Homages of Divine Honour peculiarly due to ſo Infinite a Benefactor, which to alienate or prophane by applying to any Creature, ought to be reputed the moſt accurſed and execrable Sacrilege that can be committed.

This Robbing therefore of God of his Honour, of which he every where profeſſes himſelf ſo jealous, and ſo wrathful a Revenger, is the higheſt Affront or Injury that can be committed againſt that glorious Majeſty of Heaven. Which Point is ſo confeſſedly true, that it is needleſs any further to purſue it.

2. The next ſeems more Paradoxical, That by the Exceſs of Honouring and Worſhipping of the Saints we ſhould injure them and abuſe them, or by giving them over-much Reſpect become guilty of Diſ-reſpecting them. And yet it is in very Truth ſo, if examined to the Bottom. For the zealous and careful yielding of that Honour which is done to them, implys our Belief or Opinion of their Acceptance: but for them to accept of that Honour or Worſhip that is due to God, (as all Religious and Divine Worſhip is) is to be Rebels and Traitors to the Divine Majeſty, uſurping, or at leaſt accepting of His Rights and Prerogatives, and, inſtead of being truly Saints and faithful Subjects of Chriſt and his Heavenly Kingdom, to be tranſformed into Titans and Giants, or Children of Lucifer, that would aſcend the Throne of God, and divide his Empire amongſt themſelves.

Wherefore whoſoever pretend that the Saints accept of ſuch Homages or Services as are perform'd to them, do in effect proclaim to all the World that they are proud and and vain-glorious, nay, that they are Traitours and Rebels againſt God; and thus inſtead of honouring them, do really injure them, reproach them, and blaſpheme them.

3. The Miſchief that is done to the Idolaters themſelves is very great and obvious to obſerve; Image-Worſhip and Saint-Worſhip debaſing the Mind, and making it ſuperſtitious and puſillanimous, begetting in it a craſs or groſs Conceit of things, making the Spirits courſe and carnal and leaning towards corporeal Matters; ſo that the Exteriority and Palpability of the Exerciſe of their Affections in this ſort toward Divine Things, inclines them with a greater Proneneſs and Readineſs to be tranſpoſed upon other viſible Objects, and to fall quickly from careſſing and embracing cold Statues and Images, and ſuch like ſenſible and palpable Entertainments of their Devotions, to the courting of warm Fleſh, and to the polluting themſelves with ſuch Sins of Uncleanneſs as the ancient Pagan Idolaters were ſignally guilty of.

For indeed all ſuch ludicrous and ſuperficial Religion muſt needs leave the Body of Sin entire and untouched, and the inward Mind dead and ſtarved; ſo that the full Reins will be given to every Impetuoſity of the Fleſh, and foul Luſt and bloody Wrath and Zeal for thoſe Idols of Fornication (as it fares in enraged Gallants in the Behalf of their Miſtreſſes) muſt rule and over-run all. The Craſsneſs, I ſay, of theſe Superſtititions leaves the Mind unmortified and unilluminated, but raiſes a Zeal for them both ignorant, bloody, and barbarous. Which, methinks, is a moſt ſad Condition for any Soul to be found in.

4. But that this beſtial Rage accompanies the Love of Idols, (to omit ſeveral Examples in Scripture) is a Truth largely writ and teſtified by the Blood of thoſe innumerable Companies of the primitive Martyrs, who with ſo much Reproach and ſo many kinds of Tortures were put to Death for deſpiſing or oppoſing the antient Pagan Idolatry, as is confeſſed by all. And Idolatry, whether Pagan or Chriſtian, will naturally diſpoſe them that are really devoted to it to the like cruel Fury and Madneſs. And though the Cruelty of the Bear or Wolf ſeems more the Miſchief of them that ſuffer by them, than the Evil of thoſe Beaſts themſelves; yet for that Circe that metamorphoſes Men into theſe ſalvage Shapes, few or none do doubt but that ſhe injures their humane Bodies. What a miſchievous Circe then is Idolatry, that transforms the Mind into ſuch beaſtly Salvageneſs?

5. And as for Uncleanneſs; that it is ſo cloſe an Attendant upon the Worſhip of Idols, is alſo a Truth very often intimated in holy Scriptures: as in the Epiſtle to the Romans, where the Apoſtle expreſly affirms, that becauſe the Heathen changed the Truth of God into a Lye, and worſhipped and ſerved the Creature more than the Creator (or rather beſides the Creator;) for this Cauſe God gave them up to vile Affections; the Women changing the natural Uſe into that which is againſt Nature, and the Men likewiſe leaving the natural Uſe of the Women, and burning in their Luſt one toward another, Men with Men working that which is unſeemly, and receiving in themſelves that Recompence of their Error that was meet. Chap. 1. 20, 27. Alſo in the firſt Book of the Kings, upon the mentioning of the Building High-places and Images, preſently is ſubjoined, That there were alſo Sodomites in the Land, &c. Ch. 14. 24. The Places are ſo many and ſo obvious where even unnatural Uncleanneſſes are link'd together with Idolatry, that it would be needleſs, as well as tedious, to recite them. And therefore it is a very ſuſpicable thing, that where Idolatry ſeizeth moſt on the Church of Chriſt, all manner of Uncleanneſs will there be moſt rife alſo.

6. But, methinks, I am too favourable in my Charge againſt Idolatry, while I ſeem to reſtrain the Miſchief of it only to Uncleanneſs and Cruelty. For the Author of the Book of Wiſdom does not ſtint the Effects thereof to theſe, but enlarges them alſo to Diſſimulation, Theft, Unfaithfulneſs, Tumults, Perjury, and what not? * For the worſhipping of Idols, ſaith he, not to be named, is the Beginning, Cauſe, and End of all Evil. * Ch. 14. 16, 27. And St. Paul in the above-named Epiſtle makes it the Fountain of all manner of Vices and Wickedneſſes: which he doth not raſhly, but very rationally conclude. For even as they did not like to retain God in their Knowledge; ſo God, ſaith he, gave them over to a reprobate Mind, to do thoſe things that are not meet; Being filled with all Unrighteouſneſs, Fornication, Wickedneſs, Covetouſneſs, Maliciouſneſs; full of Envy, Murther, Debate, Deceit, Malignity, Whiſperers, Back-biters, Haters of God, deſpightful, proud, Boaſters, Men of evil Machinations, diſobedient to Parents, devoid of Judgment, Covenant-breakers, without natural Affection, implacable, unmerciful. Rom. 1. 28, 29. So great a Deluge of Wickedneſs breaks in upon Men by their being addicted to Idolatry. For Apoſtatizing from God by this hainous Sin, God alſo forſakes them, as the Apoſtle intimates.

And beſides, The Sottiſhneſs of Idolatrous Worſhip, that calls out the Affections to ſuch groſs and unfitting Objects, does naturally lay the Senſe of better things aſleep, and extinguiſh the true Life of Religion, which is the renewing the Mind into the Image or Similitude of God and Chriſt; which conſiſts in an holy and peaceable Love, and in a pure, chaſt, and unpolluted Spirit, unſpotted of the vain Deſires of this preſent World. Whence the Introduction of Idolatry into the Church of Chriſt muſt needs be the overflowing it with all manner of Vice and Wickedneſs. But that Conſideration belongs rather to the next Point, The Miſchief that redounds to the Church from Idolatry; to which I ſhall immediately paſs, after I have but briefly intimated one Miſchief more which falls upon the Idolater himſelf, and of which I
Rev. 21. 8. think he will be moſt ſenſible, and it is only this; That he ſhall have his Portion in the Lake that burneth with Fire and Brimſtone, which is the ſecond Death, that is to ſay, that eternal Death and Deſtruction that will aſſuredly attend all ſuch Enemies of God.

7. That Miſchief that accrues to the Church from Idolatry I have partly hinted already, namely, that it is the moſt likely way to debauch her with all other manner of Vices, and does ipſo facto transform her, who ſhould approve herſelf the pure Spouſe of Chriſt, into the abhorred Condition of an Harlot. To which you may add thoſe great Agonies and Aggrievances of Spirit that the true Members of Chriſt are caſt into by beholding ſuch abominable Practices; beſides their perſonal Unſafety, and Danger of barbarous Perſecutions, and thoſe hard Trials and diſquieting Solicitudes that naturally will attempt them, as they are Men conſiſting of mortal Fleſh, and liable to all the Evils it expoſes them to; and finally the actual Injuries, Reproaches, Impriſonments, and multifarious Deaths that would certainly fall upon the ſincereſt Part of the Body of Chriſt, for Oppoſing, or Refuſing to partake with others in their Idolatrous Abominations.

8. And yet this is not all: There is ſtill a very grand Miſchief behind, and exceeding conſiderable, done to the Church by this fearful Sin of Idolatry; and that is, The hindrance of her Spreading and Propagating herſelf in the World.

It is part of our Chriſtian Faith, as we make Profeſſion of it in the Nicene Creed, That there is One Catholick and Apoſtolick Church. Which implys that the Church has a Right to be Catholick, to be univerſally ſpread over the Face of the Earth; and that the true and proper Character of this Catholick Church is to be Apoſtolical: That whatſoever Nation or People, or part of any Nation or People, profeſs that Doctrine and Diſcipline which was delivered by Chriſt and his Apoſtles, become immediately thereby part of the Catholick Church; and thoſe that profeſs and enjoin Doctrines and Practices that are Anti-Apoſtolical, run the Hazzard of loſing the true Title of Catholick, and of making themſelves indeed no part of the Church of Chriſt. And certainly Idolatry is as Anti-Apoſtolical, as contrary to the Apoſtolick Doctrine, as any thing can be.

Wherefore the Introduction thereof into the Church of Chriſt is the reſcinding ſo many Souls from the Body of the Church as are perſwaded to entertain it. Whence it is manifeſt that Idolatry is as it were a Gangrene in the Church or Body of Chriſt, and eats ſo much away from it as it ſeizes upon, leaving them to become Fuel for the Fire of Hell, unleſs they repent.

9. But this is not the ſole Miſchief of this kind done to the Church by Idolatry, viz. The ſtreightning the Extent thereof by the Divulſion of thoſe that were her true Members; but as conſiderable as this is The Prevention or Hindrance from making them Members that otherwiſe might be perſwaded thereto. For it is very viſible that letting in of Idolatry into the Church of Chriſt, will for ever, while it there continues, exclude both Jew and Turk out of it, who are deſervedly ſo great Abhorrers of Idolatry. To ſay nothing of the Idolatrous Heathens themſelves, to whom it would be ridiculous to preach, as the Apoſtles did, to turn from dumb Idols to ſerve the living God, whenas they might eaſily ſee aforehand, that it would be but the turning from their wonted Idols to the ſerving of new ones.

It is a fearful thing therefore to profeſs the Church Catholick, and yet by Introduction of Idolatry to ſtreighten it at home, and hinder the Propagation of it abroad by ſuch horrible Scandals.

10. Which is not only a Miſchief to the Church herſelf, in curbing her Growth and eclipſing her Glory; but a ſad Diſaſter to the whole World, (which is the laſt Evil iſſuing therefrom:) it being to them the moſt certain Pledge of Everlaſting Happineſs, to become Members of the Catholick Church of Chriſt; of which there is little Hope in either Jew, Turk, or Heathen, that are either judicious or conſcientious, while this ſtumbling-block is in their Way, and that they cannot profeſs Chriſtianity without the Allowance and Practice of Idolatry. Which in my Apprehenſion ought to be reputed a very ſad Calamity upon Earth.

Thus we have ſeen a competent Deſcription of the firſt main Limb of Antichriſtianiſm, namely, Idolatry, brought into the Church of Chriſt, under Pretence of Honour to him and the Saints; with a Diſcovery of the Falſeneſs and Unwartantableneſs of that Doctrine and Practice, and the groſs Fraud and grand Miſchiefs that accompany it,

CHAP. XVII.

1. That a Multitude of ſlight Obſervances may amount to an intolerable Burthen. 2. That no Religious Obſervance can be ſlight while it has an Obligation upon the Conſcience. 3. Though this general Eſtimate of the Burthen of Superſtition from Obligation of Conſcience and Multitude of Obſervances might ſuffice, yet he will add a more particular Draught of this Limb of Antichriſtianiſm. 4. Of Anointings, and of the Multiplicity of Sacerdotal Ornaments. 5. The Pretence and Self-endedneſs in theſe Ornaments and Anointings. 6. The Miſchief ariſing from theſe kind of Ceremonies to Prieſt and People. 7. A more full Deſcription of their Publick Service. 8. That Reſpect to the Prieſt is better ſought and more certainly found in the Power of Life and Doctrine, than in any Hiſtrionical Pomp. 9. Which is ſo unſatisfactory to the ſerious, that it may hazzard their Departure. 10. The Opinion of a miraculous Power in Religious Veſtments. 11. The Falſeneſs and Fraud of this Opinion. 12. The ill Conſequence thereof.

1. THE next Limb of Antichriſtaniſm is, The burthening and entangling Mens Minds with Scrupuloſities in either unneceſſary or hurtful Obſervances and Opinions, laying an equal or greater Yoke on Believers, by Reaſon of the Multitude of theſe Rites and ſuperſtitious Conceits, than Judaiſm it ſelf did upon the People of the Jews, and thereby fruſtrating that End of Chriſt's Coming, which was, To put a Period to ſuch burthenſome and unprofitable Ordinances, and to conciliate to himſelf a Church that ſhould worſhip the Father in Spirit and in Truth.

Which Burthenſomneſs, as I have already intimated, may ariſe merely from the Multitude of theſe Ceremonies, though the things may ſeem ſlight conſidered ſingly and in themſelves; as Feathers, that are ſingly light, may by their Number grow heavier than a Maſs of Lead: And what a Man may ſometime do out of Idleneſs or Wantonneſs, to wit, ſtoop to take up a Straw, or to divide Clay or Dirt into Squares or Oblongs; yet to be kept cloſe to this Task, how little different is it from that vile Ægyptian Bondage of being condemned to the perpetual making of Bricks or gathering of Stubble?

2. Beſides that every Toy to which there is once a Religious Obligation girds hard with thoſe that are ſerious and conſciencious. And ſuch Followers Chriſt expects, and therefore neither he nor his Apoſtles would burthen them with any thing but what was neceſſary. But we are exhorted rather to ſtand faſt in that Liberty wherewith Chriſt has made us free, and not to ſuffer our ſelves to be brought under the Bondage of any ſervile and unprofitable Burthens of Superſtition. And our Saviour Chriſt rebuking the Phariſees tells them plainly, that they worſhipped God in vain, while they taught for Doctrines the Commandments of Men: Foraſmuch as laying aſide the Commandments of God, they held the Traditions of Men, as the Waſhing of Pots, and Cups, and brazen Veſſels, and the like. Gal. 5. 1. Mark 7.

Wherefore if our Saviour Chriſt was ſo tender in the behalf of his Diſciples, that he would not have them ſuperſtitiouſly enſnared, no not in ſo commendable and eaſie an Obſervance as the waſhing of the Hands ever before they did eat; certainly it is utterly againſt his Mind to have his Followers intangled and enthralled in an innumerable Multitude of leſs uſeful Ceremonies: Which, be their Nature what they will, yet if by their Numeroſity they equalize the Burthen of the Judaical Rites, this general Eſtimate is ſufficient to diſcover it to be no inconſiderable Limb of Antichriſtianiſm, in what Church ſoever ſuch an Enormity ſhall appear.

3. Which I ſpeak not, as if I found it beyond my Skill to pourtray this Limb of Antichriſtianiſm more articulately, with ſtronger Sinews and more full and ſolid Muſcles. Such a Draught therefore of Ritual Ordinances and dogmatical Obſervances I will now draw, as I dare appeal to any indifferent Judge, whether it will not prove an eminent Part of that Myſtery that plainly oppoſes and defeats the purpoſed Ends of the Coming of Chriſt into the VVorld; which aſſuredly were to free his Followers from Sin and Superſtitious Slavery.

4. And truly obſerving how tender and careful our Saviour is in keeping off the leaſt Taint of Superſtition from his Diſciples about waſhings and eatings of Meat, and how expreſly he affirms to them in that excellent Parable, That nothing Mark 7. that enters into a Man defiles the Man; it will be eaſie thence to infer, that much leſs any thing that hangs upon him, or is about him, can Sanctifie or make him holy.

Whence in the firſt Place, though I do not lay the greateſt Streſs on it, If we ſhould ſuppoſe the Chriſtian Prieſts to heap to themſelves ſeveral Sorts of conſecrated Garments for greater Ornament and Sanctimony, inſomuch that every Prieſt's Veſtments would vie in Number with the Veſtments of Aaron the High-Prieſt, and imitate alſo his in Analogy, his Breaſt-plate, his Ephod, his Robe, his broidered Coat, his Mitre and Girdle; and the Biſhops, not content with theſe, ſhould add for the further adorning themſelves (as if they had a Mind to out-do the Ceremonial Habiliments of Aaron himſelf) ſix more holy Ornaments, nay I will ſuppoſe nine more; beſides the conſecrating of theſe Prieſts with holy Oyl on their ſhaven Crowns and in their Hands, which become thereby ſo ſanctified, that the more devout would eagerly and zealouſly kiſs the Hand of the Prieſt ſtrait after his Ordination, hoping thereby to partake more fully of his Devotedneſs and Sanctity: What were this, I ſay, but to Judaize under Chriſtianity, and to illaqueate the Minds of Men with ſuch Superſtitions as our Saviour Chriſt came to ſet them free from? Which Intimation is ſufficient to ſhew the Falſeneſs and Groundleſneſs of ſuch an Oeconomy in the Church.

5. But as for the Pretence for ſuch kind of Aaronical Ornaments, I can imagin none, unleſs it be the Imitation of the Levitical Laws, which is a very bad one; thoſe Laws being aboliſhed by Chriſt. Beſides that the Robes of Aaron were of a more * profound and important Signification than to be imitated upon any ſlight or ſuperficial Deſign: as well they as other Moſaical Figures being preſcribed according to a certain Pattern exhibited by God in the Mount; which being the Shadows of things to come, do naturally vaniſh in this Meridian and Vertical Sun-ſhine of the Goſpel. And therefore to bring in ſo many New Shadows, is to re-envelop the Church with Darkneſs, and divert us from the rightly Underſtanding of the Meaning of the Old; which aſſuredly were all Types of that more full Knowledge of Jeſus Chriſt, and of that inward and ſpiritual Sanctity we have in him.

* Appendix to the Defence of the Philoſophick Cabbala, Ch. 5. Sect. 2, 3, 4.

But that Advantage which this erroneous Prieſthood might ſeek to it ſelf herein is this; That by theſe Hiſtrionical Diſguiſes and peculiar Adornings they may become more honourable in the Eyes of the People, who are much ſtruck with outward Shews, I mean the ſimpler Sort of them; and that their Perſons may be accounted very holy, whoſe Ordination is with ſuch pompous Ceremony, and whoſe ſacred Unction makes it in ſome Sort to vie with the Coronation of Princes. Could they be more through-paced in the Imitation of that great high-Prieſt of the Jews, and adorn themſelves with what in Analogy ſhould Anſwer to his * Urim and Thummin, that is, Illumination of Mind and Sincerity of Heart; that indeed would be an happy Emulation, and would abſolve them from an over-rigorous Purſuance of the reſt.

* See the Preface General to the Collection of my Philoſophical Writings; Sect. 3.

6. But ſo it is according to our Hypotheſis, that inſtead of ſo great a Good there follow theſe Inconveniences: That this Sacerdotal Pomp and Gayneſs to thoſe Prieſts that underſtand aright the Nature of Chriſtianity is both a Scandal and a Burthen; but to thoſe that do not reliſh Chriſtianity in the right Senſe of it, it is to them an Occaſion of inſufferable Pride and Conceitedneſs, and of great Security and Neglect of thoſe true and indiſpenſable Endowments of the Chriſtian Prieſthood, of that Anointing which will teach them all things, even that of the Holy Spirit of God, which is not lodged in conſecrated Garments, but in thoſe purer Habits of the Mind, in the inward Man wholly and throughly dedicated to God, by perfect and real Abrenunciation of himſelf, and of the Fleſh, the World and the Devil, by entirely giving up ones ſelf to the ſincere Love of God and his Neighbour, bour, to Purity and Sobriety of Life, and to unfeigned Humility and Self-denial. Which real Accompliſhments ſhould be the Foundation of Reſpect to the Chriſtian Prieſthood, not thoſe exteriour Ornaments that may be the Covers of a Beaſt or Devil.

1 John 2. 27.

And laſtly, for the People themſelves; As ſome are liable to be miſerably deceived by thoſe external Pomps, ſo others to be much offended; I mean thoſe who are more ſeriouſly ſet upon the real Duties of Chriſtianity, and find their wholeſome Appetite mock'd, not fed, with thoſe outward Shews in the publick Service of God.

7. Which we ſhall better underſtand, if we make a more plenary Repreſentation of their publick Worſhip, and add to the Conſecrated Garments of the Prieſt the dedicating of an unknown Tongue to their publick Prayers and Offices, to the great Diſedification of the People. What Spectacle could one behold more Antichriſtian? "To ſee a Man in thoſe ſacerdotal Diſguiſes, all of them conſecrated and dedica- "ted to the Purpoſe, himſelf having had both Head and Hands anointed with holy "Oyl, ſtanding in an anointed Church, and at an anointed Altar, with his anoin- "ted Chalice and other anointed Utenſils; whoſe Church-yard is holy by the Con- "ſecration and Benediction of ſprinkled Holy-water, for the frighting the Devils "from hanting that conſecrate Ground, and moleſting the Sleep of the Bodies of "the Dead; nay, whoſe very Bells of his Steeple are Chriſtned and Chriſmati- "zed for the chaſing away the foul Fiends out of the Air at the Departure of a "Soul, by their tolling or ringing: To ſee him in his holy Poſtures now at the "one End of the Altar, now at another; now turning his Face toward the Peo- "ple, now his Back-ſide; one while holding up his Hands, another while holding "them down, another while a-croſs at his Breaſt; now making with his Hand a "ſingle Croſs, now two or three Croſſes together; now ſitting, then ſtanding, and "another while ſtooping and kiſſing the holy Altar; now ſpeaking aloud, then "muttering to himſelf in a lower Tone, but always in a Tongue that is not at "all underſtood by the People: To ſee, I ſay, ſuch a Sight as this, and to compare it with that of our Saviour, The Hour cometh and now is, when the true Worſhippers ſhall worſhip the Father in Spirit and in Truth; for the Father ſeeketh ſuch to worſhip Him; It would neceſſarily extort from the Spectator this juſt Cenſure, That theſe are either falſe-Worſhippers, or our Saviour's Prediction not true, or elſe the Completion thereof paſt in the Simplicity of the Primitive times; or rather that if he would find theſe true Chriſtian Worſhippers, he muſt ſeek them ſome where elſe: for here is neither Spirit, nor Truth, nor intelligible Language, but all more dark and blind and dumb than in the very Midnight Shadows of the Moſaical Diſpenſation. John 4.

8. And therefore (as I was a-going to conclude) as the more ſottiſh People will be liable to be even brutiſhly amazed and amuſed by this unintelligible and unedifying Pomp and Spectacle, and be made the more obnoxious to all the Frauds and Tyrannies of this unchriſtian, though over-much Anointed, Prieſthood; ſo the more naſute will be tempted to look upon it but as a Kind of Circumforaneous Masking or Mumming, nor eaſily be perſwaded that what is ſo Hiſtrionical or Stage-play-like is ſerious in any thing but in what the other Stage-players are, which is in the emunging the People of their Money.

Wherefore it would not be any Wonder to ſee theſe better-ſpirited Chriſtians abhor from theſe Shews, as being ſo perfectly oppoſite to the ancient Plainneſs and Simplicity of the Primitive Teachers, who, as our Saviour himſelf, ſpake and did all things bonâ fide, and did not diſtance themſelves from their Flocks and Charges by any gariſh Pomp and Multitude of ſanctimonious Dreſſings, but being even as they were, in a manner, ſaving that they were greater Examples of Faith, of Humility, of brotherly Kindneſs, of Contempt of the World, of Patience, and of Power of Speech, and effectual Exhortation, and Conviction of Mens Minds for the corroborating their Belief, and enflaming their Affections with the Love of true Righteouſneſs and Holineſs, (which was an unimitable and indeleble Character of their Chriſtian Prieſthood) kept and commanded the Hearts of the Believers by this Authority of the Spirit diſcovering it ſelf in the Power of Reaſon and ſincere Rhetorick, and ſealed and tied all cloſe to them by what indiſſoluble Cord of a reverential and reſpectful Love, which acru'd to them by the Purity and Unexceptionableneſs of their Converſation; they teaching (as it was ſaid of our Saviour) with Authority, and not as the Scribes, who taught, but did not.

9. The Reflexion upon which excellent Patterns will ſtrongly tempt the better-ſpirited People to look upon theſe ſacerdotal Pomps and Diſguiſes as a Kind of Superſtitious and Hypocritical Mummery, and to urge them in the Earneſtneſs of their Zeal to condeſcend to approach nearer to them, and to lay aſide their Masks and Vizards, and to deal faithfully and apertly, and to declare to them the Truth of Chriſt, and the good Will of God as it is revealed in his Word; for they profeſs they are willing to embrace it and to follow it, may they but underſtand it; nay they are hungry and thirſty after it, but find no Food nor Comfort in dumb Shows: which if they will refuſe to do, they are thoſe that cannot admire this Way, but rather abhor it, and muſt leave it, and ſeek ſuch Paſtors as will deal with them in Plainneſs and Simplicity of Heart.

For aſſuredly ſuch groſs and worſe than Judaical Corruptions in a Church would force the moſt ſerious Believers to forſake the Community thereof, and drain it, as much as is poſſible, of the ſincereſt and beſt-diſpoſed People of Chriſtendom. And this I think is no ſmall nor contemptible Miſchief; the Departure of Lot being a Fore-runner of the raining Fire and Brimſtone upon Sodom.

10. But I have not yet evolved all the intangling Superſtitions that may lie wrapt up into theſe Religious or conſecrated Veſtments and Habits.

For it is not impoſſible but that they may befool the credulous with the Belief of ſome miraculous Virtue abiding in them by the Power of Conſecration or Benediction of the Prieſt or Biſhop. As that, for Example, they have the Virtue of recovering Men from Diſeaſes; of fraying away the Devil and chaſing him out of the poſſeſſed; of procuring Remiſſion of Sins, both as to Guilt and Puniſhment, by the putting them on; and of ſaving a Soul from Damnation, and ſending her ſafe to the Bliſſes of Paradiſe. So wonderful Power lies hid under theſe Religious Habiliments. Which Conceits notwithſtanding are ſo ridiculouſly groundleſs, that he deſerves to be laught at that would ſeriouſly go about to confute them.

11. But ſome ſmall Pretence for the Truth of them may haply be fetched from that Paſſage in the Acts, concerning the miraculous Virtue of the Body of St. Paul, That from his Body were brought unto the ſick Handkerchiefs and Aprons, and the Diſeaſes departed from them, and the evil Spirits went out of them; and from the Virtue of Chriſt's Garment, the Touch of whoſe Hem cured the Woman of her bloody Iſſue.

Acts 19.

But we are to conſider That Chriſt was the Son of God, and Paul a choſen Veſſel, and thoſe firſt times were choice and peculiar times of the Church, that required ſuch miraculous Aſſiſtances from God for the planting of the Chriſtian Faith: that Miracles are for the Unbeliever, not for thoſe that already believe; and that thoſe Cloaths came from or hung upon ſuch Bodies as were really anointed with the Holy Ghoſt, and that in a full Meaſure; not rubbed or ſmeared in the Hands or on the ſhaven Crown with a little Ointment, that gives only an extrinſecal Sanctity, fills no Man with the holy Spirit, much leſs to ſuch height that he can work Miracles.

Wherefore to make the People believe that the Habits of either Prieſts or Monks have any ſuch Virtue in them, is nothing but an Abuſe of them into a mighty Opinion of the Sanctity of thoſe Perſons, the Touch of whoſe very Cloaths is of ſo great Virtue and Sanctity. I ſay, the End of this Impoſture is nothing elſe but the extolling and magnifying the Prieſt and other Religious Orders of the Church, unleſs this Eſteem carry along with it alſo ſome pecuniary Advantages.

12. But the evil Conſequence is the Cheating and Seducing of the People into a Feebleneſs of Spirit, and a Neglect (I ſay not, of the Advice of the Phyſician, but) of his Counſel who ſpeaks to us to buy of him white Rayment, that we may be clothed, and that the Shame of our Nakedneſs may not appear: or that of St. Paul, to put on the whole Armour of God; to be ſtrong in the Lord, and in the Power of his Might; to gird our Loyns about with Truth, and to put upon us the Breaſt-plate of Righteouſneſs, to take unto us the Shield of Faith, and the Sword of the Spirit, which is the Word of God; praying always with all Prayer and Supplication in the Spirit.

Rev. 3.

Epheſ. 6. 11.

For this Furniture aſſuredly is infinitely more powerful againſt the Approach of the Devil or Diſeaſes, than all the holy Habiliments that the Wardrobe of the Church can produce; and will ſooner quench all the fiery Darts of the Wicked, than whole Pots of Holy-Water ſquirted againſt him.

CHAP.

CHAP. XVIII.

1. Of the Enchanting or Exorcizing of Water, Oil, Salt, Wax-candles, &c. with a general Intimation of the Miſchief thereof. 2. Of the Exorcizing of a Golden Roſe and Lamb of Wax. 3. That the uſing of the Name of the true God in theſe Exorciſms does not hinder but that they may be properly termed Enchantments. 4. Other Inſtances of their being Charmers and Magicians; with an Anticipation of an Objection. 5. The Falſhood, Fraud, and Miſchief of theſe Exorciſms. 6. The Derivation or Diſtribution of theſe Exorcized Elements into ſeveral Superſtitious Uſes. 7. Of the Suppoſal of the Infant's being poſſeſs'd, and of Baptiſmal Spittle. 8. Of Extreme Unction, and other Superſtitious Practices upon the dying Man. 9. As alſo upon his Corps laid out. 10. The Fraud and Miſchief of theſe Practices.

1. THE Mention of Holy-Water puts me in Mind of another Claſſis of Superſtitions, which might be invented contrary to the Faithfulneſs and Simplicity of the School of Chriſt; to the illaqueating of Mens Conſciences, and miſplacing their Dependences upon Creatures more than the Creator, and to the extinguiſhing of that comfortable inward Senſe of his Inviſible, but Omnipotent, Omnipreſence, by interpoſing theſe vain and viſible Objects, which have neither Force nor Allowance for thoſe Uſes they pretend to; I mean, the Exorcizing or Enchanting (if you will) of certain Natural Elements, without any Warrant of Holy Scripture, to endue them with a Supernatural Power.

As if, for Example, the Prieſt ſhould pretend by the Exorcizing of the Creature of Salt by the Living, True, and Holy God, to make it become an Holy and Exorcized Salt, for the Health of both Body and Soul to as many of the Believers as receive it; and for the chaſing away of every evil Phantaſm and unclean Spirit, by the Aſperſion thereof: And ſo by the Exorcizing of the Creature of Water in the Name of the Holy Trinity, to endue it with a Virtue of chaſing away the Devil and Diſeaſes, and every diſquieting thing, out of an Houſe by the Sprinkling thereof, and ſhould recommend the Uſe thereof for the beſprinkling their Chambers ever and anon therewith, as alſo their ſick Folks, their Fields and Vineyards, for Health and Increaſe. The Exorcizing of Wax-Candles into a Virtue of putting to flight the Prince of Darkneſs with all his Retinue, and of making them run away with Fear and Trembling from whatever place they are lighted in. The Exorcizing of the Creature of Oil by God the Father Omnipotent, the Creator of all things, that whoſoever uſes it, the Troops of the Devil may be put to flight, and that he may never be bit by the Old Serpent. Alſo the Exorcizing of Herbs or the Boughs of Trees; the Exorcizing of Bells and the Prieſtly Veſtments: Is it not apparent that all theſe, and as many more elſe as can be invented of this Nature, are mere Juggles and Impoſtures?

2. But the Impoſture would be more grateful and compleat, if we had ſome fine Thing conſecrated, that were more portable, and yet of a more univerſal Influence, as alſo more durable and permanent than moſt of the former. And therefore the Shape of ſome holy Plant or Animal thus Exorcized would be of ſovereign Uſe and Content, the Roſe of Sharon, or the Lilly of the Valleys, the Dove or Lamb, whoſe Names are ſacred to every Chriſtian Ear.

Wherefore a Golden Roſe, impregnated with Joy and Gladneſs from the Benediction of the Holy High-prieſt of this Church, and full of the Fragrancy of Remiſſion of Sins, Increaſe of Faith, (though the Effect be never found) Divine Protection and all Proſperity, were a Poſie to wipe the Noſe of a Prince withal. And ſo the gentle Lamb made of ſome more flexible Matter, and elegantly limb'd, ſuppoſe out of Wax, but exorcized into Powers and Virtues little inferior to thoſe of that Lamb of God that takes away the Sins of the World, as being made able by a certain ſacred Exorciſm or Benediction to preſerve them that bear it about with them from all the Aſſaults of the Fleſh, the World, and the Devil, from Peſtilence, Famine, and ſudden Death, from all Perils by Land and Sea, from Lightning, from Tempeſts, and from Abortion, were a Preſent for an Emperour or Empereſs.

Several ſuch Inſtances as theſe might be excogitated, all which I muſt pronounce to be againſt the faithful Plainneſs and true Power of the Goſpel of Chriſt, and to entrench upon the Reverence of the Name of God, and to be a Treſpaſs of the Third Commandment, Thou ſhalt not take the Name of the Lord thy God in vain.

3. Againſt which Precept I make account thoſe Forms of Conjuration do evidently offend that are found in Books of Magick, as in Cornelius Agrippa and Petrus de Abano, where thoſe Divine Appellations, Jah, El, Adonai, Elohim, Elohe-Zebaoth, Elion, Sadai, and the like, are made the Elements of their vain and reprobate Art. Which is a manifeſt Argument that the Prieſt's Exorcization in the Names of God and his holy Attributes does not excuſe him from the Guilt of Enchantment, ſince the Magicians themſelves uſe the Names of the true God therein.

And as for the more general Notion of Enchantment, Agrippa defines it to be nothing but The Conveyance of a certain mirificent Power into the thing enchanted, by Virtue of the Words and Breath of the Enchanter. Nor will the Phraſes or Paſſages of Scripture excuſe the Prieſt from this Impiety, ſince this is both preſcribed and practiſed by theſe Magicians. Their Pentacles which they hang about their Necks when they conjure (which they, forſooth, for the greater Grace, call the Pentacles of Solomon) are adorned and fortified with ſuch Tranſcriptions out of holy Scripture.

Whence it is plain, if any one would take Notice of all the ſpecial Characters of ſuch an Apoſtate Church as I am a-deſcribing, he could not omit, amongſt other Titles, to brand them with the Name of Enchanters or Sorcerers.

4. Which they might deſerve upon other Scores, which we have already intimated; as in that they teach People certain Prayers in an unknown Tongue, which they direct them to ſay for ſuch and ſuch Purpoſes. For what are theſe but Charms? And the making of Jeſus of Nazareth, (who was above ſixteen hundred Years ago crucified at Jeruſalem) upon the uttering of a few Words, perſonally to appear Fleſh and Blood and Bones, all mantled over with the thin Cloathing of certain Panaceous Species, or looſely-hanging Accidents, is a Piece of Magick above the Witch of Endor's and all the Hiſtorical Records of Necromancy in the World. All which Pretenſions being ſo Epidemical or general in this Church we do characterize, Who can miſs of notifying them by the Style of a Society of Magicians or Enchanters?

For in that they are mere Pretences, and have no real Effect, will not excuſe the Deſert of ſo goodly a Title, the Profeſſion and Endeavour giving the Practiſers ſufficient Right thereto. As he that has been caſting his Angle a good part of the Day into the River, and brings home no Fiſh, may yet be rightly ſaluted Mr. Fiſherman or Mr. Angler at his Return, though not without ſome kind of Scommatiſm at the bottom: And he that profeſſes Phyſick, and has, it may be as yet, cured none, (but ſuch as would have recovered as well without him) though killed many, is notwithſtanding by all Men termed a Phyſician. And generally what Men affectedly pretend to, though they cannot perform it, may juſtly by way of Scommatical Reproach be entred into the Particulars of their Character, for the making up the whole Tale of their Shame and Reproof.

5. What Grounds they might make ſhew of for ſuch Incantations as theſe, I muſt confeſs I cannot ſo eaſily find. For the Blood of the Paſchal Lamb wherewith the Iſraelites ſprinkled the Lintel and two Side-poſts of their Doors, was not charmed firſt to convey a Virtue into it of frighting away the deſtroying Angel, but was merely a preſent Sign, as alſo a Type of the Sprinkling of the Blood of Chriſt, who was a Lamb without Spot, was to be ſacrificed in future Ages for the Sins of the World. Nor were the Water and Aſhes of the Heifer mingled together with any Exorciſm or Enchantment that we read of in Scripture. Nor did Eliſha charm the Salt before he caſt it into the Waters to heal them, but he uſed it as a Circumſtance only or Sign in the Healing of them: which Ceremonies Chriſtianity has nothing to do withal, nor is there any Reaſon to bring in any more of the ancient Types or Figures than are already made uſe of by his Choice who was unerrable.

The Ground therefore of ſuch Uſages is none at all: But the Pretence to ſuch Power as this, ſo ſtrangely and marvellouſly to enchant things to ſuch mighty Uſes, would make much for the Honour of the Prieſt, who cannot but hereby ſeem μέγας τις, a very Great and Adorable Perſon to the credulous People, and theſe exorcized Commodities would be ready Money with as many as had Belief in them.

But the worſt is, Faith and Temperance would be look'd leſs after, and Pots of Holy-water and enchanted Lambs of Wax would ſtop thoſe inward living Springs of the Spirit of God in the Heart, and help to extinguiſh that Senſe of Innocency, than which which there is not a greater Tower of Defence to a believing Chriſtian againſt all the fiery and thundring Artillery of the Prince of the Air.

6. Theſe be the moſt groſs and fundamental Superſtitions, that look like Magick or Sorcery, which yet might be derived and deduced into various Uſes and Practices; as in the Viſitation of the Sick, in Extreme Unction, in Funerals or Burials, in Chriſtenings, Churchings, and Marriages, where Holy-water, Exorcized Oil and Candles might be frequently made uſe of, and ſome of them truly not without ſome conſiderable Trouble; as in Anointing the Sick, their Eyes, Ears, Noſes, Mouths, and Hands, nay their Feet and the Reins of their Back: the latter whereof may cauſe troubleſome Conteſts betwixt natural Modeſty and religious Zeal in thoſe that have a penitent Senſe of the Tranſgreſſions of thoſe Parts.

The Conjuring the Devil alſo out of the Infant that is to be baptized would ſeem a frightful thing to the Infant himſelf, if he underſtood in what an ill Plight the Prieſt ſuppoſes him, while he makes three Exſufflations upon his Face, and uſes an Exorciſtical Form for the ejecting of the foul Fiend, who is imagined very ſaucily preſumptuous to take ſuch timely Poſſeſſion of him, to whom he could not but ſee that Chriſt Jeſus had apparently a better Right, as being the Off-ſpring of them who were already his, the Child being born of Chriſtian Parents. But here may come in alſo (beſide other Ceremonies) the Uſe of the Holy Oil for the anointing him on the Fore-head and Breaſt, the putting upon him white Veſtments, and into his Hand an holy Candle. And, which is by far more holy than Oil or Candle, the Prieſt's own Spittle is alſo to ſanctifie his Ears and Noſtrils by a gentle Smearing thereof on thoſe Places. And laſtly, that all may be ſound and wholſome, the holy Salt may alſo be put into the Mouth of the Child, that his Words, when he can ſpeak, may be the more ſavoury.

Thus may the Uſe of the firſt conſecrated Elements, you ſee, go far, and make the Chriſtian Sacrament of Baptiſm exceed in Ceremony the Judaical, nay their Circumciſion it ſelf: whenas the Uſe of that one Element of Water were ſufficient, and One Dipping as ſignificant of the Unity of the Godhead as Three are of the Trinity. Yet ſuch large and prolix Shadows might Chriſtianity caſt, when the Sun of Righteouſneſs grows towards his ſetting in the Church.

7. And it is much if ſomething might not appear affrightful to the Women in this approaching Darkneſs. For though it be a gay thing for the Prieſt to be thought to have ſo much Power over the Stygian Fiend, as to Exorcize him out of the Infant; yet it may be a ſad Conſideration with ſome melancholick Women laden with Superſtition, to think they are never brought to Bed, but they are delivered of a Devil and Child at once; and that if their Child ſhould die before Baptiſm, the Devil having got bodily Poſſeſſion of him, will certainly carry him thither where the greateſt Affection of a Mother dares not ſo much as deſire to give him a Viſit. Which indeed would argue the Neceſſity of ſpeedy Baptiſm to the height, but withal would depreſs the afflicted Mind of the melancholick Mother with unſpeakable Anxiety.

The Delinition alſo of the Infant's Ears and Noſtrils with the Spittle of the Prieſt may ſometimes ſtrike harſhly upon the Spirits of the more delicate; but it makes much for the Opinion of his Sanctity, whoſe ſpumeous Excrement is of ſo ſacred a Virtue, and will gain alſo the Prayers of all Women in the Town, that he may ever be an heal and ſound Man, free of all loathſome and contagious Diſeaſes.

8. But it were very unequal if the Load of Superſtition ſhould be laid wholly upon tender Infancy and our firſt Entrance into this World. Surely that ſevere Goddeſs will make them feel her weight alſo in ſome meaſure who are in a way of departing out of it. And truly that Ceremony of Extreme Unction, that pretends to make the Paſſage more Glib, to a Man not ſuperſtitious would make it more rough and troubleſome.

The Ripping up their Breaſt alſo by that ſharp Tool of neceſſitated Confeſſion, and then an over-reaching Satisfaction excited to the Advantage of this or that holy Order, or the Uſes of the Church, will eaſily diſtract the Mind of the dying Penitent betwixt the Care of his own Soul and the Proviſion for his dear Wife and Poſterity. But frequent Aſperſions of Holy-water ſhall be his dilute Comfort; and he ſhall have before his Eyes ſo long as he enjoys the Light, Aſſiſtants more cold and dead than thoſe that have lien four Days in the Grave; the Image, ſuppoſe, of Chriſt on the Croſs, another of the Virgin Mary, and a third of the Saint to whom he had particularly devoted himſelf; where he may, if he will, ſalute the Virgin's Idol in the very Words in which the Angel Gabriel once did her. But if he would lay aſide his civil ſhall I ſay, or rather ſuperſtitious Complements and ſpeak the Truth, he might take up the Complaint of Job, touching theſe liveleſs Companions, Miſerable Comforters are ye all.

his

However in the Interim, what the frequent Sprinkling of Holy-Water can do, and making Croſſes on his Breaſt and Forehead, or the urging upon him the Belief of every Tittle the Church has defined to be true, (the Soul now ſo near her Departure being more quick-ſighted in thoſe abſtruſe Myſteries) or the Promiſe of Prayers and Oblations when he is in the other State, ſhall not be wanting for the Eaſe of his Soul: which in his breathing of it out, if he ſhould commend into the Hands of our Lady, inſtead of our Lord Jeſus, who is God every-where ready to ſave, that Precept from the Prieſt would be flatly againſt the expreſs Commandment of God, and it would prove a ſad Cataſtrophe of his Life to the dying-man, to ſpend his laſt Breath in ſo foul a Sin as Idolatry.

9. But however, as if all had been rightly performed, the Body may be laid out in a decent Manner, and a Croſs put in the Hand of the Deceaſed, reſting upon his Breaſt, or at leaſt his Hands be laid a-croſs inſtead thereof, and Holy-water be duely ſprinkled upon him; which whatever Virtue it may have to chaſe the Devil from the Corps, yet it will ſcarce waſh his Soul clean from that laſt Sin he committed, nor guard the Houſe from being haunted with Birds of ſeveral Colours and Feathers, that ever ſmell out a comfortable Refection from the Fall of every ſuch Carcaſs. So great a Pother and Clatter may Superſtition make as well at the Exit as Entrance of Men into this mortal Life.

10. In the midſt of ſuch Formalities as theſe, I muſt confeſs the Prieſt cannot but ſeem a Man of marvellous Might and Power to the ignorant By-ſtanders, ſuch as have been nuzzl'd up in the Belief of theſe Supeſtitions, he adminiſtring ſuch preſent and conſpicuous Remedies for the Comfort of the Sick, as the Fiend-fraying Holy-water, the Images of the Bleſſed Virgin and Tutelar Saint, holy Wax-candles, and the like, guarding the very Corps, by the Power of the Croſs and the Sprinkling of that Exorcized Element, from all the Incurſions of the Enemy and every evil Phantaſm. But the dying Perſon, What Benefit he can take by the having his Mind diſtracted and called out to theſe dead Shows, I muſt confeſs I underſtand not, nor can conceive but that they are an Hinderance to that more pure and collected Paſſage of the Soul into Bliſs; and are, to the Spectators of theſe Solemnities, the Occaſion of neglecting thoſe better and more inward Amulets againſt the Terror of Death and Fear of the Devil.

Such I mean as the Renovation of their Minds into the Living Image of Chriſt, and the triumphing over the Power of Sin through the taking up his Croſs in the mortifying all our evil Concupiſcences in our Life-time, and the arriving thereby to the comfortable Joys and Refreſhments of the Spirit, and to a permanent and habitual Senſe of the Mercy of God through a lively Faith in Chriſt Jeſus, (wherein we cannot miſs of the Aſſurance of the Remiſſion of our Sins;) which are the moſt ſaving and moſt holy Waters that we can ſolace our ſelves with, or eaſe the Grief and Agony of our Minds withal, the moſt precious Oil or Balſam that can be poured upon an afflicted Conſcience. The Breathing after which excellent Condition is naturally ſtopped and ſtifled by a vain Belief in theſe external Shows, and by the relying on theſe multifarious Enchantments of a ſuperſtitious and impoſturous Prieſthood, who would bear Men in hand that they can carry a Soul through ſafe to Heaven by exorcized Elements and Magical Artillery levied againſt the external Aſſaults of the Devil; not conſidering in the mean time, that the Radication and Growth of Sin and Diſobedience makes the Soul herſelf in a manner become a Devil, and will neceſſitate her to undergo the Fate of that accurſed Crue.

CHAP.

CHAP. XIX.

1. The Burthen of Spiritual Cognation, and exceſſive Numeroſity of Holy-days. 2. Perpetual Abſtinence from Fleſh in ſome Religious Orders. The Fraud and Miſchief thereof. 3. The Burthen of vowed Cœlibate. 4. The more dangerous Purpoſes thereof. 5. The ordinary Services done by the Monaſticks to this Antichriſtian Power we deſcribe. 6. That its Eſtabliſhment is much corroborated by the Intereſt of Monaſteries. 7. And enriched by being Heir to all Profeſſors of Cœlibate. 8. The great Miſchiefs of Cœlibate. 9. Of Flagellation. 10. The Ineffectualneſs thereof, Hypocriſie of the Penitent, ſalvage Pride of his Church, and the Miſchiefs reſulting therefrom. 11. Of Pilgrimages and Jubilees. 12. An Enumeration of ſeveral other Antichriſtian Auſterities.

1. BUT we have leapt thus from one extreme of Man's Life to the other, whenas there are ſeveral things yet to be conſidered which may make the middle Space thereof tedious and entangled, may be unneceſſary Hinderances to him in his Affairs of the World, may be ſore Afflictions and Vexations to his Body, or diſturb his Mind with grievous and ſad Perplexities. I will hint only ſome few Inſtances of each.

As, for Example, if Perſons by being Witneſſes at a Chriſtening ſhould contract thereby ſuch a Cognation as, though it be ſpiritual, yet, according to the Canons of this Church we deſcribe, ſhould hinder Marriage betwixt all the Kindred of the Child that is chriſtened and their own; what Straitneſs muſt theſe Conceits cauſe in the marrying of a Son or Daughter, whole Neighbourhoods neceſſarily contracting ſuch Spiritual Affinities by doing Chriſtian Offices one for another? The Plot whereof could be nothing elſe but to drain Mens Purſes of Money for the procuring of Diſpenſations from unneceſſary Laws and Reſtrictions,

The Number alſo of Holy-Days may be ſo many, and the Obſervation of them ſo ſuperſtitiouſly and ſo ſtrictly commanded, that it may be an unſpeakable Burthen to the Generality of the People, thoſe eſpecially who live by their Labour, and muſt ſtarve when they cannot work. But the Deſign is the ſame as before. For Multitude and Frequency of Tranſgreſſors brings in Mulcts and Fees to the Eccleſiaſtick Officers; though the ſmalleſt Penalties muſt be very cruel that are wrung from ſuch poor Labourers as have but from Hand to Mouth.

2. Again, ſuppoſe a conſiderable Number of Men were tied up to the Abſtinence from Fleſh all the Days of their Lives, by a Riligious or rather Superſtitious Rule they are under, in ſuch Sort that Death were more eligible unto them than to taſt of Fleſh, by Reaſon of that hold their Vow had taken upon their Conſciences: What an Iron Yoke would this be upon ſo many Chriſtian Souls: How moped and frantick muſt ſuch Monaſtick Severities of Diet, of Lodging and Watching make ſeveral of them that are entangled in the ſlaviſh Fetters of this Babyloniſh Captivity? For which there is no Pretence, but that they are ſo good-natured that they are reſolved to merit not only for themſelves but for others, and that many ſuch Rivulets concurring together may fill up that Treaſure of Merits which the Church muſt have the keeping of, to ſell at a good Rate to thoſe Virgins that want Oyl in their Lamps.

This is the publick Fraud: but the private is a certain Hypocriſie in theſe Men, whereby they often ſhake off the indiſpenſable Yoke of Chriſt and the Rule of his Word, by over-valuing of, or craftily hiding themſelves under, the Self-choſen Sanctity of theſe Antichriſtian Rules. And a further Miſchief is, that the Conceit of Meriting thus for themſelves and others puffs them up with Pride and Inſolence, and makes them thereby more abominable than they who are under no ſuch peculiar Rules or Orders of Religion.

3. But there is another Abſtinence, which urged with like Severity and Strictneſs would be equally burthenſome to the Generality of Men, if not more, and is an Inſtitute that ſeems expreſly contrary to the Mind of the * Apoſtle, who makes it a Character of a Church Apoſtatizing from the Purity of Chriſtianity, as he does the other alſo, namely, that of Abſtinence from Meats; but this is The forbidding to marry. Which Prohibition is not only againſt the expreſs Law of God, but of Nature alſo, who, unleſs in ſome few, (who may have a peculiar Gift of Chaſtity) is a ſevere Exacter of this Tribute to the common upholding of Mankind. But as for all others, by them Marriage cannot be well omitted, without very high Penalties inflicted by that Nemeſis that is interwoven in the very Law of Nature thus tranſgreſſed, which I will leave to Phyſicians more accurately to diſcourſe.

* 1 Tim. 4.

Wherefore, I ſay, to make Prohibitions againſt Marriage, ſuppoſe to all Prieſts and Deacons, and to an infinite Number of Religious Orders of Men beſides, reſtrained to the Rules of a Monaſtick Life, and to make ſuch Vows as theſe equally if not more ſacred than the very Bonds of Wedlock, would be upon Chriſtendom as Antichriſtian a Yoke as almoſt any Servitude whatſoever can be deviſed; and would put Men and Women, that were ſeriouſly ſet to obſerve it, but ſuprized in the undertaking it, (by either ſuperſtitious Menaces, or fraudulent Glozings and Promiſes) into ſuch Agonies of Mind and Afflictions and Diſtempers of Body, that the Burthen would be altogether unſupportable.

4. But yet this Deſign would be ſure to be driven on in a Church rancidly Antichriſtian, it being of ſo great Advantage for the Eccleſiaſtical Powers. For there being nothing there deviſed with Faithfulneſs, but for the Intereſt of the Church; let them that are ineptly ſerious under theſe Monaſtick or Cœlibate-Vows be pricked as much as they will, as long as there will be held no Breach of this Obligation but by taking of a Wife, ſwarms of Men will come under the Profeſſion, who becoming in ſuch a peculiar Religious Way the Members, or rather vowed Subjects, of the Antichriſtian High-Prieſt, are thereby really the Military Strength of his Hierarchical Empire, and being hardly or leudly brought up, may at a dead Lift ſerve his Deſigns in a more carnal or ſecular Warfare,

But in the Interim, ſuch of this Note as are made more mad by Solitude and Superſtition may of their own Accord, or by Virtue of their Vow of Obedience to their Superiors, being called thereto, approve themſelves forward and zealous Aſſaſins for the ſtabbing or poiſoning of Kings, or diſpatching any one that appears conſiderable againſt the Intereſt of this Church of Apoſtaſies. Such a dangerous Brood of Serpents and Vipers may crawl out into the World from the ſolitary Duſt and Shades of theſe Monaſtick Caverns, who may embitter the People, and poiſon the Hearts of Subjects againſt their Sovereigns, and, like the African Jaculi, ſtrike through the Breaſts of Princes in a ſudden Surprizal, and ſpill their ſacred Blood upon the Ground.

5. But this Uſe is more remote, and lies next to the Bottom. That is more overly and expoſed to Sight, That the Profeſſion of ſo hard a Task as totally to abſtain from the greateſt Pleaſures of the Fleſh, upon a Deſign of a more certain Merit of the Joys of Heaven, and withal to be ſo clad as makes a Shew of being mortified to all the Delights of this World, upon a firm Expectation of thoſe future Contents in that to come, cannot but work much upon the ſimple and credulous, as if theſe were the moſt ſerious and earneſt Soliciters of Religion that one can hope to meet withal, and that that Church muſt undoutedly be true of whom they profeſs themſelves the devoted Members: and therefore being very numerous, and at Leiſure ſingly to aſſault every one, they would prove the moſt apt Inſtruments to captivate or detain the World under this Antichriſtian Power we deſcribe, that any one can imagin.

6. The multiplied Convents therefore of ſuch Angelical Fraternities, how can they but be ſo many Fiſh-ponds digged out for the draining out the Wealth of the reſpective Nations and Provinces wherein they are made? Where every one will be forward to help them in common that petend to poſſeſs nothing in particular, nor to uſe any thing but for mere Neceſſity or for pious Uſes, they being ſo wholly caſtrated and mortified to the World. But profeſſing a Life ſo Seraphical, and gaining to themſelves even a Glory with Men beyond what other Atchievements of the World will eaſily procure, their Convents may prove honourable Harbours of Retirement even to the nobler Sort of Perſons who are otherwiſe misfortunate in their Affairs, or whoſe Birth exceeds the Proportion of their Riches, Which Accommodations ſo largely extended is ſuch a binding Intereſt with all Sorts of People, that it is no ſmall Eſtabliſhment, according to humane Prudence, to the Safety of this Antichriſtian Polity we ſpeak of.

7. To all which you may briefly add, (for I would not be over-large) that ſo degenerate a Profeſſion of Cœlibate in this degenerate Church tends much to the enriching thereof, it naturally falling to her Share to be Heir, theſe devoted Members of her neceſſarily dying without any Iſſue they may own. To ſay nothing of what Money may come into the Holy Pontifical Purſe, when it is a thing of Moment to diſpenſe with any ones Vow of Cœlibate.

 of

Theſe may be the Self-ends that may be aimed at by this Antichriſtian Prohibition of Marriage, againſt the Law of God and the Directions of the Holy Apoſtles of Chriſt Jeſus.

8. But the Miſchiefs which I ſhall briefly intimate are manifold. For thoſe that are ſurprized in their Vows, and ſeriouſly reſolved, but naturally unfit, to keep them, there attends them a tedious Servitude under indiſcreet or at leaſt ſevere Governours, and an irkſome and ſickly Solitude. But as for others, the Iſſue is foul and noiſom in them, even to the turning of this falſe Church into a true Sodom and a Cage of unclean Birds.

For this Hypocritical Profeſſion of an Angelical Chaſtity with them will but be the Mother of Adultery, Sodomy and Fornication, and of the bloody and remorſeleſs Murthering of poor Infants as ſoon as they come out of the Womb, or more timely if they can rightly hit on it.

To which you may alſo add the weakening and unpeopling of Chriſtendom, and making it leſs able to oppoſe their Foreign Enemies: This falſe Eccleſiaſtical Polity, which I am now a-delineating, being more ſolicitous how without Control to domineer and tyrannize over rhe Lay-party, than to ſecure the common Chriſtianity from the Inrodes and Invaſions of Unbelievers. But, as our Saviour ſaid of old, The Thief cometh not but to ſteal and to kill and to deſtroy; and therefore it is no Wonder if he have no Care nor Forecaſt for the Safety and Preſervation of the Sheep.

9. But there is yet an harder Burthen that Superſtition may invent, and be eitheir added to ſome of the Monaſtick Orders, or impoſed as Penance, or voluntarily inflicted on a Man's Self out of a blind intoxicating Zeal, the Practice being applauded by this not Mother, but Stepdame Church, and it is in a Word Flagellation or Wipping a Man's ſelf cruelly and bloodily for a Religious Satisfaction, or elſe for Merits. A Cuſtom ſo harſh and Salvage, that it is more befitting the Altar of Diana Taurica than the Temple of Chriſt, and has no Precedent unleſs in thoſe Religions which were of the Devil's own ſetting up, whoſe Sport was his Tyrannizing over poor deſpiſed Mankind. Such a Paſtour as this is not only a Clipper but a Flayer of his Sheep, and exquiſitely oppoſite to his Spirit who promiſed his Followers that his Yoke ſhould be eaſie, and his Burthen light.

10. But ſuch Hardſhips as theſe, tho' they make a ſpecial Shew in the Fleſh, yet they tend nothing to the right chaſtiſing and ſubduing of the Corruptions of the Spirit, and are but like the whipping the Cart and letting the Horſes go free. That Chaſtiſement that reaches to Amendment of Life, and the bringing the Inward Man under the Obedience of Chriſt, is a reſolute Denial of acting according to any of the Suggeſtions or Deſires of the Fleſh. This will wound the ſinning Principle in us more home, and will really heal the Soul in the Concluſion. But the other cannot well be countenanced but upon an Hypocritical Affectation of a pompous Kind of Severity, wherein this falſe Church may oſtentate her own Power over the Minds and Bodies of Men, and take a ſecret Joy in the Reliſh of this wonderful Empire ſhe has got over the World, even to a vile kind of Bondage and Vaſſalage.

But in the mean time ſuch American Cruelties as theſe may well hazzard the Life or Health of the abuſed Penitents, and will not fail to bring a very loathſome Reproach upon the School of Chriſt, making it look like ſalvage Paganiſm and the Synagogue of the Devil.

11. That alſo were a Kind of Paganical Injury put upon deceived Souls, and a great Weariſomeneſs and Drudgery to the Body, to be engaged in long Pilgrimages to ſalute this or that Saint's Image for better Reconciliation. But the Offerings tend to the enriching of that Church, and the Reſort of Pilgrims to the enriching of the Town, and thereby to the conciliating of the Affections of the Towns-men to ſo gainful a Religion.

But in the mean time the Pilgrims Affairs at home are left at ſixes and ſevens, his Children to the ſole Government of his Wife, and his Wife to the Overſight of the Ghoſtly Father, and what other humane Viſitants ſhall put in for her Comfort in her Husband's Abſence.

To Pilgrimages might be added Jubilees at the great Metropolis of this Apoſtatized Church, which though not ſo frequent, yet at their Celebration would be frequented from the remoteſt Parts of Chriſtendom with Multitudes of devout Strangers, upon Belief of Pardon of their Sins for ſo holy a Voyage. But the End and Inconveniencies of this Solemnity would be much the ſame with thoſe of Pilgrimages, ſaving that this is more peculiarly deſigned for the repleniſhing of the High-prieſt's Coffers.

12. It were an endleſs Buſineſs to reckon up all the Manners of ſuperſtitious Moleſtations which might be invented for the Bodies of deceived and inſlaved Chriſtians, under the Pretence of fulfilling the Laws of Chriſtianity and of the Church: Such as Going a conſiderable Way bare-footed and bare-headed; The putting themſelves into cold congealing Springs, the Water guſhing upon their bare Breaſts; The rolling themſelves in Beds of Ice and Snow; The creeping upon their bare Knees on flinty Cauſeys, to the Cutting of their Skin and Fleſh, and making all run with Blood; The wearing of Hair-cloth next their Skin, and a Girdle of Nails and Needles; with many ſuch like tragical Extravagancies, concerning which I have nothing new to take Notice of, but that they are quite contrary to the ingenuous Spirit that breaths in true Chriſtianity, and (as I ſaid before) do too much aſſimilate the Religion of Chriſtians to the bloody Superſtitions of barbarous Pagans.

CHAP. XX.

1. The Burthen of afflictive Opinions. 2. The diſtracting Puzzles of a Soul intangled with multifarious Superſtitions and Conceits. 3. The Illaqueations of Religious Vows. 4. Intanglements ariſing from a Superſtitious Truſt in certain ſurmiſed Virtues in the Maſs. 5. Vexatious Scrupuloſities concerning the Intention of the Prieſt in adminiſtring the Sacraments.

1. BUT to let paſs theſe Incommodations of the Body; Chriſtianity may be made very uneaſie and uncomfortable by ſeveral Rackings and Diſtractings of the Mind, by unneceſſary Obligations of the Conſcience, by entangling Conceits and Opinions: which alſo being innumerable, it were to no purpoſe to go about to reckon up all. But ſome few obvious ones I ſhall venture to name; ſuch as The ſuppoſed Duty of Worſhipping the Croſs, the Images or Reliques of Saints; The Conceit of Communion of Merits; The Intanglement of Vows; A ſuperſtitious Truſt in the Euchariſt, and in the Power of the Prieſt's Intention in that and other Sacraments; The Belief of the Neceſſity of Auricular Confeſſion, and of the Aſſent to every of the ſmalleſt Points of Doctrine held by the Church, though there be no Footſteps thereof in the Scripture, nor any ground in Reaſon; The excruciating Fear of a worſe than Pagan Purgatory; and finally The neceſſity of Penal Satisfaction and Merit.

A Man may pronounce theſe Words without bliſtering his Tongue; but if he once imbibe them as Principles obliging the Conſcience, and be ſuperſtitiouſly intangled in them, he will ſleep as uneaſily by reaſon of the Unſettledneſs of his Mind, as if his Bed were ſtrowed with chopped Hairs or pulverized Glaſs. There is no Redemption of the Quiet of his Spirit but by taking of a luſty Draught of that ſoporiferous Potion that will make him repoſe himſelf wholly on the Faith of his Prieſt, to ſay and to do juſt as he will have him without any Diſquiſition or Reaſoning, and ſo to metamorphoſe himſelf from a rational cautious Man into a mere paſſive Aſs for the falſe Prophet to ride upon.

2. But if he were ſeriouſly ſet to promote his own Happineſs upon the account of his own Judgment and Diligence, How would he be diſtracted in the Multiplicity of the Objects of his Devotion? For if it be ſo meritorious to viſit the Shrine of one Saint, it will be the Neglect of his own Salvation to omit another. And if the Saints be ſo ambitious as to be pleaſed by our religious Invocation of them, the invoking One, may it not bring upon us the Diſpleaſure of the Reſt who are pretermitted? And if I make One of them my Patron, Why may I not ſuſpect that I have thereby made the Reſt mine Enemies by ſlighting them, were they thus deſirous of Divine Honours as we conceit them?

And

And as concerning their holy Reliques that are offered to be kiſſed by the Devout, What Pangs of Conſcience may there ariſe for our not cordially committing our Lips to the meaner and more unlovely ſort of them? How can a Man ſleep quietly, being ſtung with the Senſe of ſo irreligious a Piece of Incivility, ſuppoſe it were but to an holy foul Handkerchief or ſome other old yellow Linen?

There being ſo mighty Power alſo in an exorcized Croſs for Conſervation of Health both of Soul and Body, and for the driving away every evil Phantaſm, (and the like Reaſon there is of Reliques) What Conflicts of Mind muſt this cauſe in the ſeriouſly Religious, who, having been able, has not all this time purchaſed ſuch a Safeguard to himſelf and his Houſe; or, being pinched betwixt the Senſe of Poverty and quick Urgencies of Devotion, cannot reſolve whether he had beſt purchaſe it or no, or when he has, is at a loſs how many times a Day he ſhould crouch and creep to it, to draw that ſecret Virtue from it which was lodged therein by an holy Enchantment or Exorcization of the Prieſt?

The ſame Reaſon there is of Holy-Water (how often to be ſprinkled) and of Exorcized Boughs, and the like. And for the Communion of Merit by being incorporated into this or that holy Sodality or Fraternity, How anxious would it make a Man of his Choice, that he may be beſt ſupplied, and how ambitious of entring into as many as he can?

3. And for the Entanglement of Vows, How eaſie were it for Men to be caught in them, as a Woodcock in a Net? What an harſh and ſlaviſh thing is it to be under the Vow of unlimited Obedience to one that I am not ſure but may command me (under the Pretence of an Allowance from an infallible Power) to act what in my own Conſcience is againſt the Law of God, of Humanity, and of Nature? What various Occaſions alſo there may be of making ſundry raſh Vows, according to ſeveral Paſſions, Exigencies, and Importunities, in a Church where they are ſo much in faſhion, and the Performance tends to the enriching thereof, (as alſo the being abſolved from the Vow made, by ſpecial Diſpenſation) I will not here inſiſt upon; for theſe things are infinite.

4. There might ariſe great Incumbrances of Thought alſo from a Superſtitious Truſt in the Virtue of the Euchariſt abuſed for ſuch Ends as it was never intended for. It is ordinarily called Maſs. And if it had ſuch Virtue and Efficacy as this Church would pretend, as of the delivering of Souls from Puniſhment in the other State, and for proſperous Succeſs in this; for ſafe journeying by Sea or by Land, on Horſe-back or on Foot; for Women that are barren, big, or bringing forth; for Fevers and Tooth-aches; for Hogs and Hens; for Recovery of loſt Goods, and the like; What multifarious Miſ-givings of Mind and Anxieties of Conſcience would iſſue from thence in thoſe who more carefully conſidered theſe Virtues and Privileges?

Wherefore where it is believed that by the Power of thoſe Five Words of Conſecration, Chriſt does condeſcend to give himſelf into the Hands of the Prieſt bodily and perſonally, to be lifted up and offered to his Father, for the Succour and Safety of the Good-man's Sheep or Poultry, or other meaner Concerns; How can the ſaid Honeſt Man be quiet in his Thoughts, believing the irreſiſtible Importunity of ſo ſtupendious a Sacrifice, and the ſure Effect thereof, (which will be more certain in Matters of more Conſequence, Are you not of more Value than Sparrows?) if he have not his Recourſe to the Prieſt as far as his Purſe-ſtrings will ſtretch (and his Conſcience will be often racked and ſtretched to ſave his Purſe-ſtrings) upon every occaſion of the Sickneſs of his Cattle, the Delay of his Wife's Belly, in the Danger of Child-breeding or Child-bearing, in his or any of his Family's Travelling, and the like, for fear he be acceſſory to any of thoſe Misfortunes that may befal them for want of timely applying himſelf to ſo certain Means of Prevention; and if the Miſcarriages prove Tragical, fancy his Neglect the Sin of Murther? Mat. 10. 31.

Nay, How can Men with a good Conſcience abſtain from ſpending themſelves to their very Skin, in laying out Money for Maſſes for all their Friends and Kindred, and then make ſtrict Enquiry amongſt the Poor that may be neglected in that point? Or at leaſt, How can they ſhun being miſerably diſtracted betwixt the Fear of impoveriſhing themſelves, and the Compaſſion they bear to them that they fancy may be tormented in the other World for want of ſome ſuch Relief?

Such ſuperſtitious Surmizes as theſe will indeed bring Griſt to the Mill in plenty for them that infuſe them into the Heads of the People; but will grind and grate ſo hard againſt the Believers of ſuch Principles, that they muſt live very ill at Eaſe under this Load of a falſe and adulterate Religion.

*

5. Which

5. Which will again be hugely increaſed by another ſuperadvenient Incertainty, and will cauſe a greater Diſſettlement and Wavering in all ſuch Deliberations, where their Propenſions would otherwiſe carry them with more Confidence to the Succours of Religion and the Aſſiſtance of her Sacraments. For ſuppoſing their Effect depended on the Intention of the Prieſt, our own both Coſt and Devotion were utterly loſt, if he out of Malice or Remiſsneſs ſhould have his Intention diverted from the Work. Which though it tend immenſely to make the Prieſt great and formidable, and a little God upon Earth, as having the Power, if not of damning, at leaſt of making the Salvation doubtful of as many as depend upon the ſincere Exerciſe of his Function, in Baptizing, Adminiſtring the Sacrament of the Lord's-Supper, and in abſolving them from their Sins, (which that he may diſcharge faithfully, Men will be obliged not only to give him his Dues or Wages, but to honour him by all manner of Obſervance, leſt he ſhould doe them or theirs ſome everlaſting remedileſs Miſchief;) yet it were a Plague and Fret of Mind beyond all Expreſſion to the poor credulous Laity, that were made to believe that God had put the Power out of his own and, Hand unleſs his Subſtitute would and intended it ſhould be ſo, that the Almighty himſelf could not implant one into the Body of the Church, nor the Party implanted partake of the Grace ſignify'd by the Lord's-Supper, nor receive expreſs Abſolution for his Sins, though all things upon his own pious Deſire were externally adminiſtred aright, and by one profeſſedly in holy Orders. Which muſt needs perplex the Religioniſt with a perpetual Uncertainty of his own and others Salvation.

CHAP. XXI.

1. Of the Neceſſity of Anniverſary Confeſſion. 2. Of Sacerdotal Abſolution. 3. What is meant by Binding and Looſing, and to what manner of Perſons Remiſſion of Sins is committed. 4. Eraſmus his Gloſs upon that Text of St. John. 5. As alſo Hugo Grotius his, whence Auricular Confeſſion and Abſolution prove groundleſs. 6. A Voluntary Confeſſion and in general uſeful in the Church in ſome Circumſtances, and in order to particular Abſolution from the Prieſt. 7. As alſo a more particular Confeſſion, if voluntary. 8. The Self-ends of this Church in exacting ſo punctual a Confeſſion from Men. 9, 10. The Slavery and Miſchief of ſuch kind of Confeſſions. 11. The infinite Vexation to the conſciencious and ingenuous from the obtruding upon them incredible and impoſſible Opinions.

1. ABſolution puts me in Mind of the Pretence of Neceſſity of Confeſſing once a Year at leaſt (and that to the Prieſt of the Pariſh) all a Man's Sins, not only actually committed, but the very Purpoſes, Deſires, or Propenſions to the committing of them. Which might rightly be called Carnificina Conſcientiarum indeed, and is as baſe a Piece of Servitude, and to as ill Purpoſe, as if that all the modeſt Maids and grave Matrons in the Pariſh ſhould ſtrip themſelves ſtark naked, and in that manner humble themſelves before their Prieſt once a Year: Which would look like a Piece of unſupportable Tyranny.

And yet this extorted Confeſſion upon Pain of Damnation not to conceal any thing, is not the ſtripping of a Man to his naked Body, but the ſtripping him of his Body, that they may ſee his naked Heart, and ſo by the force of this Superſtition break into thoſe Secrets which it is the only due Privilege of God Almighty to be acquainted with, who is the only rightful καρδιογνώστης, and can neither receive any Hurt by ſeeing the moſt inward Motions of his own Handy-work, nor will, knowing whereof we are made, do us any; but will judge with Equity in all things, nor will deſpiſe the Work of his own Hands.

2. The Pretence for this Confeſſion is the Neceſſity of Abſolution by the Prieſt, which if a Man, through his own Neglect, have not, he muſt be undoubtedly damned. But that any ſuch Abſolution is neceſſary, unleſs upon the Caſe of juſt Excommunication, cannot be made out by either Scripture or Reaſon. For when it is ſaid to Peter, to the Church, or to the Apoſtles, Whatſoever ye bind in Earth ſhall be bound in Heaven; or, Whatſoever ye looſe in Earth ſhall be looſed in Heaven; and Whoſe ſoever Sins ye remit, they are remitted unto them; and whoſe ſoever Sins ye re- tain, they are retained; It is impoſſible the Meaning ſhould be, Remit or Retain, Bind or Looſe, whether right or wrong, I will ratifie all Above, whatever the Succeſſors of my Apoſtles ſhall do, nor ſhall any Remiſſion of Sins be ratified without them, though they ſucceed only in the external Profeſſion, and partake not of the ſame Spirit with their Predeceſſors. Wherefore ſo large and accurate a Commiſſion cannot belong to any but either to the Apoſtles themſelves, or to Men of a true Apoſtolical Spirit, who are entirely of one Mind with God, and therefore can do only what is Right.

Mat. 18. 18.

Joh. 20. 23.

tain

It being ſo rare therefore and ſo difficult a thing to find ſuch a Confeſſor, it is an Argument ſuch an Abſolution is not neceſſary: For neither God nor Nature are wanting in Neceſſaries. But the Binding by Excommunication, and the Looſing anſwering thereto, is of another Conſideration, and concerns the external Oeconomy of the Church.

3. But to ſpeak truly, That Phraſe of Binding and Looſing, above cited out of Scripture, ſeems not ſo much to reſpect Perſons as Things. For it is ὃ ἐὰν δήσῃς and ὅσα ἐὰν δήσητε, not ὃν and ὃς or ὅσους, whatſoever, not whomſoever, and reflects upon the known Phraſes of the Jews, who called that which was declared unlawful אסור ligatum, but that which was allowed as lawful they called מותר ſolutum. And therefore that Paſſage does not reſpect Abſolution from Sin, but the making of Laws and Inſtitutes for the Church by the Apoſtles, which Chriſt ſays he would ratifie in Heaven.

But that other place (John 10.) of remitting and retaining Mens Sins does undoubtedly reſpect Abſolution from Sin. But mark to what manner of Men this Power is committed. As my Father ſent me, ſo ſend I you, (now Chriſt was ſent full of Grace and of the Power of the Holy Ghoſt) and therefore he breathing upon them, ſays, Receive the Holy Ghoſt, and did moſt certainly impart it to them. And thereupon is derived upon them that Authority, Whoſe ſoever Sins ye remit, they are remitted; and whoſe ſoever Sins ye retain, they are retained.

4. Whence Eraſmus excellently upon the Place; Qui ex his poſterioribus criſtas erigunt, & Tyrannidem quandam ſibi vendicant, cur non meminerunt eorum quæ mox præceſſerunt? Toti turgemus mundano Spiritu, & tamen placemus nobis authoritate commiſſâ remittendi aut retinendi peccata. Tuere authoritatem, ſed cura ut adſit Spiritus per quem Chriſtus tribuit authoritatem. Which plainly implys that where this Spirit is not, the Authority is not; and that a Man cannot rationally be either comforted by the Remiſſion, or diſmay'd by the retaining of Sin, when it is from ſuch Ghoſtly Fathers as are devoid of the Spirit of Chriſt.

5. Moreover Hugo Grotius does ſoberly and with Judgment, I conceive, interpret this place, of Remiſſion of Sins by Baptiſm, or Reception again into the Communion of the Church, if any be lapſed after Baptiſm; but the Retaining of Sins to be Non-admittance of theſe into the Church who are not yet penitent Believers, or the Excommunicating them out of it upon a Lapſe worthy ſo great a Cenſure. But what is this to an Anniverſary Abſolution which muſt neceſſitate and ſqueeze out ſuch an unneceſſary and unreaſonable Confeſſion? St. James ſaith, Confeſs your Sins one to another: whoſe Style was ill directed, if it had been ſuch an indiſpenſable Duty to confeſs unto the Prieſt, and in ſuch a manner as has been deſcribed, ſo frequent, ſo punctual.

This Anniverſary Provolution therefore of a Penitent upon the Floor at the Feet of a formal Confeſſor, with Eyes and Hands devoutly lifted up toward him ſitting in his Majeſty, is no part of true Chriſtian Diſcipline, but (as Eraſmus has well intimated) a Piece of Antichriſtian Tyranny; it being a thing very loathſome and burthenſome to be bound to unboſom a Man's ſelf to him of whoſe Judgment, Friendſhip, or Fidelity we can have no Aſſurance; and very intolerable to be forced to ſpeak of ſuch things as we do not allow our ſelves to think of, and that before ſuch as we may probably ſuſpect will conceive ſome ſinful Pleaſure by the Diſcourſe of them.

6. The Injunction therefore of ſuch a punctual Confeſſion has no ground at all in either Scripture or Reaſon. For neither did the Apoſtles nor Chriſt himſelf require any ſuch particular and compleat Enumeration of Mens Sins, nor left in Charge with their Succeſſors to do ſo. And it is ſufficient more generally to confeſs them with a ſerious Profeſſion of Deteſting and Reſolution of leaving them: wherein if the Penitent will diſſemble, he may as well diſſemble the Number and Circumſtances of his Sins. So little Pretence can there be from hence of this Injunction.

But

But if he profeſs his Sorrow and ſtedfaſt Reſolution of Amendment, and by reaſon of ſome Weakneſs or Melancholy cannot lay ſuch faſt Hold upon the Promiſe of Remiſſion upon unfeigned Repentance, without this viſible and palpable Seal ſet thereto, of Sacerdotal Abſolution; I do not ſee but a Prieſt anointed with the Spirit of Chriſt, and full of holy Compaſſion to a penitent Member of his Church, may rightfully and profitably, by that Authority which was derived upon the Apoſtles and their Succeſſors, and by that Divine Power that aſſiſts the ſincere Exerciſe of his Miniſtry, ſeal to him the Remiſſion of his Sins, by Pronouncing his Abſolution, and ſo reſtore to Peace his diſquieted Mind; his Sins being as certainly pardoned as if Chriſt himſelf in Perſon had abſolved him, He in ſuch a Caſe as this aſſuredly ratifying in Heaven whatever is here tranſacted upon Earth. Which I ſuppoſe, Grotius himſelf will not deny, nor conceive at all claſhing with his Interpretation of St. John, he not pretending thoſe he mentions the only Occaſions of Remitting or Retaining of Sins, but the moſt notable.

7. And as this Voluntary Confeſſion in general to the Prieſt in order to the Penitent's Abſolution is uſeful and commendable; ſo likewiſe a Voluntary Unboſoming a Man's ſelf in a more particular way to ſuch an one as he could truſt, and can preſume fit and able for his Office, to the end that he may have a more perfect Underſtanding of the State of his Soul, and thereby adminiſter more ſutable and effectual Counſel, is a thing queſtionleſs of very good Conſequence.

8. But to extort from every Believer every Year, or oftener, a punctual Enumeration of all his Tranſgreſſions in thought, Word and Deed, with all their Circumſtances, were but a vile and diſ-ingenuous Pretence of inſinuating into all Mens Boſoms, for the getting out their Secrets, of which the Prieſt may make his private Advantage, or communicate to the Church-Politicians ſuch Matters as will tend to the ſtrengthening of their diſtinct Intereſt, which is, The conſerving or promoting that Honour, Wealth, and Power, which they affect in the World.

And truly by this Means the Secrets not of this Man or that Woman, but of whole Families and Cities, nay of whole Provinces and Kingdoms, and of all Chriſtendom, may flow together into that common Ciſtern, or, if you will, Sea of Eccleſiaſtick Intelligence: which is the very Eye of Action, and the Soul of Conduct in all Affairs.

9. But though this would be a ſweet Morſel to this Pſeudo-Clergy we are now deſcribing, it would be very ſour Sauce to the Laity; not only in that it is a ſoul Badge of an inevitable Bondage upon them, to be conſtrained upon Pain of Damnation, at leaſt once by the Year to caſt themſelves down upon the Ground before them that are ſo many Fathom ſunk into the Earth themſelves, and to reproach themſelves by ripping up their own Faults accurately and punctually before ſuch as they have no Aſſurance of either their Candour, Judgment, or Friendſhip (and for a Man to balk his own Prieſt in this Caſe would be to brand him, and ſo make one of his chiefeſt Neighbours his greateſt Enemy:) I ſay, beſides the external Slavery of the Buſineſs, and the doing of a Ceremony which may go ſo much againſt the Hair even with good and ingenuous Spirits, a Man may be obnoxious to very great Dangers and Miſchiefs.

For he that has the Office of hearing Men thus accurately and neceſſarily accuſing themſelves once a Year at leaſt, has a greater Opportunity of injuſtly defaming them (by ſome tacit Inſinuations or ſomewhat expreſſer Notices) than is fit to be put into the Hand of any Man that is not a Saint upon Earth: of which ſort we ſuppoſe, in this Polity we ſpeak of, extremely few.

10. Interrogatories alſo from ſuch Confeſſors may, in greateſt likelihood, prove to Young-men and Women Leſſons of Sin and Luſt; and the knowing of the Secrets of Families, the Seeds of infinite Contentions betwixt Neighbours, and alſo betwixt thoſe of the ſame Families. For it will be a hard thing for thoſe that by this Shriving of Perſons, know much of their Intereſt and Diſ-intereſt, to hold their itching Fingers from acting or intermedling in their Affairs, or to reſtrain their inflamed Minds from the ſoliciting the Chaſtity of ſuch Parties as they find hopeful and coming; or not to be officious Intelligencers or Game-finders for ſuch as purſue the Pleaſures of Venus.

Beſides that the Vainneſs of their Penances, which yet ſhould appear to bear a juſt Weight or Proportion to the Sin it ſelf, may harden Men into a Conceit that there is no great Hurt in Sinning, and teach them to eſteem the Tranſgreſſing of the Law of God as a thing ſlight, cheap, and trivial. Whereas if the only Penance of of Sin were the Pain of forſaking it, urged upon them from the certain Expectation of that moſt direful Judgment to come; though no other Condition but that were annexed to Abſolution; it would doubtleſs make Men more ſenſibly feel the Weight of Sin, and make them make the greater Speed to get from under the Burthen of it. But to draw to an End.

11. That alſo will pinch very hard, eſpecially upon the more Intellectual or Rational Complexions, namely, To be bound in their Conſcience upon Pain of Damnation to hold whatſoever the Church profeſſes to be true, while ſhe in the mean time obtrudes ſuch things upon Mens Belief as have no Ground neither in Reaſon nor Scripture. For even in things that are diſputable either Way it is the Fate of ſome Men notwithſtanding to be in a manner invincibly inclined to conceive this Part to be true rather than the other. What Struggling and Conflicting therefore muſt he undergo to hold to the Authority of the Church againſt ſuch ſtrong and fatal Sentiments of his own Mind?

But if the Church ſhould be thus dogmatical not only in Things that may, according to the Senſe of the Generality of Men, be either Way, but conclude and require the Belief of ſuch things as are point-blank againſt either Scripture or Reaſon, and are impoſſible according to the Faculties of all Men, who are unprejudiced, to be true; as, That one and the ſame Body may be wholly and entirely in a thouſand Places at once, and at a thouſand Miles diſtance betwixt all thoſe Places; That we may worſhip a graven Image, and the like; how unevenly muſt theſe Conditions of Salvation ſit upon the Spirit of him that is not a mere Sot? What Reciprocations of Belief and Misbelief, of Hope and Deſpair of Salvation muſt ſuch an one be tortured with, that holds that his Share in Eternal Bliſs depends upon the hearty Belief of the truth of the Church in all things, when what ſhe propounds, according to all his Faculties is not only unlikely, but impoſſible to be true?

CHAP. XXII.

1. The dreadful Figment of Purgatory. 2. That by this affrightful Fable the whole Moles of Superſtition hitherto deſcribed is made infinitely more weighty and burthenſome. 3. The Antichriſtian Doctrine of Chriſt his Satisfaction reaching only to the Freeing us from the Guilt of Sin, not the Puniſhment. 4. The multifarious Drudgery and Slavery this Doctrine and that Figment of Purgatory caſts Men into. 5. A Confutation of the ſaid Doctrine and Figment. 6. That it is impoſſible that the Sincerely-minded in this Life ſhould find either Hell or Pugatory in the other. 7. That there is no Ground for this Antichriſtian Purgatory in either Scripture or Fathers. 8. The groſs Fraud and grand Miſchief of this Fiction. 9. The Concluſion of the Deſcription of this ſecond Limb of Antichriſtianiſm.

1. AND now in the laſt Place of all, to make up the full Weight of this Antichriſtian Yoke and Burthen, ſuppoſe there were added the Fear of a more than Pagan Purgatory, as I ſaid; that is to ſay, Suppoſe the Church ſhould determine That no Souls, unleſs ſuch as are abſolutely pure and perfect in this Life, (of which Rank there are either really none, or if there were, they would not be ſo immodeſt as eaſily to account themſelves ſo) ſhould upon their Departure out of this Body go into any eaſeful or bleſſed Condition, but into a State little different from the Torments of Hell, ſaving that they are not perpetual, but may be for many and many Years, unleſs ſome Care be taken to relieve them and reſcue them who are in this ſad and diſmal Place: which I ſuppoſe they would ſet out with all Extremity of Horror to the rude People, telling them of many ſad and ghaſtly Apparitions, who with wan Countenances and mournful Tones have made known their extreme Diſtreſs in this infernal Houſe of Correction, and have implored their Aſſiſtance in praying and paying for them as much as they could, that they might find Eaſe.

2. Nor would they forbear the exaggerating this unſupportable Calamity by all imaginable Mythology: as namely, That the Souls of Men were ſeen in a Viſion, by ſome holy Man of God or other, to be tortured in wonderful Manners; ſome ſtanding up to the Knees, others to the Navel, otherſome to the Arm-pits, others to the very Chin, in a Stream of Fire and Brimſtone: that others are run through with Rods of Iron, and roaſted againſt the Fire like Geeſe upon a Spit, the foul infernal Fiends in the mean time ſome blowing up the Coals with their black Mouths, or to ſave their own Breath, with a large Pair of brazen Bellows, others lading up the Greaſe that fries out of the roaſted Souls and pouring it upon them again ſcalding hot: that others are ſcourged with Whips of red hot Wires, others fried in Frying-pans, others racked and turned round upon a Wheel full of hot burning Hooks: that othets had their Bowels torn out with the fiery crooked Stings of huge over-grown Toads and Serpents; and laſtly, that others are put into Veſſels of hot ſcalding Metals: Theſe diſmal Chambers of Death re-echoing in the mean time from their hollow Roof the mournful Howlings and hideous Shriekings of theſe tormented Ghoſts.

Theſe or ſuch like terrible Fancies of things did they but imbue the Minds of the People withal, the Belief of them certainly could not but ſcrew the whole-Rack of this burthenſome Superſtition, which I have been all this time deſcribing, to the higheſt Pitch that the Wit of Man can invent; nor could the Flames of this Purgatory fail to prove that very Fire in which theſe Slaves and Vaſſels of the Myſtical Pharaoh and his hard Task-maſters (I mean that Apoſtate High-Prieſt with the reſt of his adulterate Hierarchy which I am delineating) ſhould droyl and ſweat in, for the finiſhing their impoſed Tales of Brick to build theſe Sons of Pride their Pyramids and Palaces.

3. Wherefore being ſtript and ſpoiled of all theſe comfortable Succours that the true Faith in Chriſt Jeſus does afford Men, and being made to believe that the Paſſion and Satisfaction of Chriſt takes away only the Guilt of Mortal Sins, not the Eternal Puniſhment; but yet, which is a great Favour, that by the Power of the Keys this Eternal Puniſhment is turned into temporary, which every one is bound to undergo, and ſatisfie either in this Life ot that which is to come, and that either in his own Perſon or by ſome other, that is, He is bound to do or ſuffer ſuch things himſelf, or others for him, as the Church ſhall appoint or accept for Satisfaction; which alſo is to be underſtood of venial Sins; and laſtly, that the Spots and Filth of Sin inhering in our Nature muſt wholly be purged out by Satisfactions and Penalties, which if it be not fully done in this Life, it muſt be perfected by the Expiation of Fire in the other: I ſay, if the People ſhould be deluded by ſuch Antichriſtian Doctrine as this, and have the ſweet and eaſie Yoke of Chriſt taken off from their Neck, (which conſiſts only in Sincerity, to the beſt of our Power, to live according to the plain and indiſpenſable Law of Chriſt, and wherein we fail, to be aſſured that both the Guilt and external Penalty is taken away through the Interceſſion of Him who is our Advocate with the Father, and a perpetual Propitiation for our Sins) but inſtead of this eaſie and ingenuous Service, ſhould be fettered and held faſt in that Ægyptian Bondage we have deſcribed; into what a World of Slavery and Drudgery would miſtaken Mortals be haled?

4. How would they be forced to beſtir themſelves by theſe hard Task-maſters! what trotting from Church to Church, from Shrine to Shrine! what Howling and Muttering before this Saint's Image and that Saint's Image! what knocking of Breaſts and kiſſing of cold Pavements! what Faſtings and Watchings, not for Correction, but Satisfaction! what long ſtretching Pilgrimages from Country to Country, and from one End of the Earth to the other! what Prayers and Oblations to make the Image, or at leaſt the Prieſt, to ſmile! what Kiſſing of unſavory Reliques! what Vows of Cœlibate, and Abſtinence from Meats! what Flagellations and Excoriations of the Body! what Nundinations of Pardons and Indulgencies! what Awe and Servility to the Prieſt! what ſtrict Obſervation of Faſts and Feſtivals! what vexatious Scrupuloſities about needleſs Opinions! what abject Poſtures and ruful Looks in forced Confeſſions! what covering themſelves with Religious Habits! what Impriſoning and Confining to Nunneries and Cloiſters, to Solitudes and Hermitages! what creeping of dying Men into Monks Cowls, and rowling in Beds of Aſhes! what Beſprinkling with Holy-water! what Anointing and beſmearing with enchanted Oyls! what haſtening to enrol themſelves in this or that holy Fraternity, to ſhare in their Merits! what ſhaving and paring away of Childrens Portions for hired Maſſes and Prayers, to ſing the dying Man's Soul out of this imaginary Purgatory! In Fine, what endleſs Circuits of Drudgery and Labour of Body and Mind does this Ægyptian Tyrant put his Slaves unto under the Laſh of this one torturing Conceit, "That the Death of Chriſt is not for the Remiſſion

"ſion of Puniſhment, but of Guilt only; and that he that would go to Heaven "muſt travel thither upon his own proper Coſt and Charges, muſt ſatisfie in his "own Perſon for his Faults and Corruptions in ſuch Ways as this adulterous Church "has preſcribed!

Which is no true Method of freeing Souls from the Pains of Purgatory, but of the inſlaving them (as I have ſaid) to a worſe than Ægyptian Bondage, and condemning them to gather ſtubble and make Bricks, to work and drudge to hold up the Wealth and Magnificency of this imperious Pharaoh and his cruel Task-Maſters. Which is a Servitude as abominable and Antichriſtian as can be invented or imagined. For it does abſolutely change the Condition and Nature of Chriſtian Religion (than which there is nothing more free and ingenuous, and more profeſſedly oppoſed to the Yoke of the Moſaical Law) into a poor, pitiful, ignorant and ſervile Pedagogy, and makes it not only exceed the Burthen of Moſes, but (which I cannot too often inculcate) the very Bondage of Ægypt it ſelf.

5. But though this Figment of Purgatory would be a very profitable Invention for the increaſing of the Wealth and Power of this Pſeudo-Clergy, and bring vaſt Revenues to their Church; there being a like Fear of it and Deſire to be rid of it, in Princes and Peaſants, in Gentle and Simple; yet it cannot be denied by any, but ſuch as are paſt Shame, but that it is a mere Figment, and has no Grounds of Truth at all in it, nay is contrary to what is moſt certainly true.

For it is aſſuredly true, and any good Chriſtian may plainly feel it to be ſo, that Chriſt has ſatisfied as well in Reſpect of Puniſhment as Guilt; and it is perfect Nonſenſe, that the Sincerely-minded ſhould be juſtified by the Merits of Chriſt's Paſſion and the Excellency of his Perſon, (he being that innocent Lamb of God that takes away the Sins of the World) that is to ſay, in a forenſal Senſe be eſteemed as juſt, and yet be handled and treated as Sinners. For it is as if a Man ſhould be acquitted and yet puniſhed for the ſame Crime, at the ſame Court, than which nothing is more fooliſh or incongruous.

Wherefore it is manifeſt that there can no external Puniſhment abide the ſincere Soul after this Life, (for I cannot pronounce any thing in the Behalf of the Unſincere, but that Hell it ſelf is their Portion,) no Fire, no Whips of Furies or Devils to afflict them, no infernal Bailifs or horrid Purſivants of Purgatory to arreſt them; but they may paſs free through all Guards and Scouts of the inviſible Regions, and not one dare to offer to moleſt them.

6. And ſurely, that he that was ſincere-hearted in this Life, and did not only believe in Chriſt, but to the beſt of his Power and Skill followed his Precepts, and had a real Enmity againſt all the Appearances of Sin whenſoever they aſſaulted him, nor could be overtaken or overcome by the Importunity of his Body without Sorrow, Regret or Indignation; that this Man ſhould carry in himſelf any tormenting Hell or Purgatory in his Freedom from the Body, is verily a thing impoſſible and unconceivable.

For he being freed from that with which he was ſo often forced to tugg, and in the midſt of his greateſt Conflicts his Life being comfortable to him through the Sence of his own Sincerity and through the Aſſurance of the Love of God in Chriſt Jeſus, what can Death be to ſuch a Man but Life from the Dead? He that in Patience can poſſeſs his Soul in a Priſon, cannot fail to enjoy himſelf in the freſh Air; and he that can walk upright in Fetters, may eaſily, if he will, dance for Joy when he is out of them. So little Fear is there of any ſuch Mormo's or Bug-bears to the ſincere Chriſtian when he has paſſed out of this mortal Life.

7. Some Pretence indeed they may have for Purgatory from that Paſſage of St. Paul, If any Mans Work be burnt, he ſhall ſuffer Loſs, but himſelf ſhall be ſaved; but yet ſo, as by Fire: which is the only Place in Scripture which makes any Show for them. But yet if it were meant of a Purgatory-fire after this Life, it will not at all ſerve their Purpoſe, as neither thoſe ſeveral Paſſages of the Fathers do, which ſeem to make this Way; which would be too prolix a Buſineſs to enter into. But the Interpretation which Scaliger and Hugo Grotius give of the Place is ſo genuin and natural, and ſo little inferring any ſuch Purgatory-fire, that this Ground will prove very lubricous to the Builders upon it. For σωθήσεται and ὡς διὰ πυρὸς Scaliger and Grotius expound thus, That he ſhall eſcape, but ſo as out of the hot Fire, it being nothing but a proverbial Expreſſion ſignifying the great Danger he will be in. Σώζεσθαι ὡς διὰ πυρὸς eſt proverbiale ad ſignificationem ſummi periculi. So that the Senſe is nothing but this, He will hardly eſcape the dreadful Judgment of God. 1 Cor. 3. 15.

As for Origen's ἡ μετὰ βασάνε κάθαρσις ψυχῶν, and the like Expreſſions of the Fathers, they will never eſtabliſh ſuch a Purgatory as theſe Maſters of Miſchief would erect in the Univerſe, who make ſure that no Man may do any thing meritorious in this Condition, nor make any Progreſs in Grace and Holineſs, for all the very Fire is called Purgative or Purgatory. For this would beat down the Price of Pardons and Indulgencies, make Men careleſs of hiring Maſſes for the dead, and take away all that coſtly Sollicitude from Friends for their deceaſed Kindred, if they were conceived to be in a Capacity by their own Demeanour and careful Management of their Affairs in the other World to wind themſelves out of Trouble.

8. But how weak ſoever their Proofs were for Purgatory, their Motives to profeſs their Belief thereof would ſurely be very ſtrong; this Figment making all the reſt of their Frauds take more certain Effect with Men, they being hereby affrighted into a facil and fooliſh good Humour of parting with any thing, even to the impoveriſhing of themſelves and their Poſterity, ſo that thoſe may be ſatisfied who pretend they have the Keys of this Priſon of Purgatory, and may be perſwaded either to excuſe them from ever entering into it, or, if they muſt enter into it, to deliver them out of it as timely and ſpeedily as may be.

But the grand Miſchief of this cheating Invention is a blaſphemous Affront to the Merits and Satisfaction of our dear Saviour, and a Tyrannical Oppreſſion of the Conſciences of the ſimple; but ſo great a Scandal to the more Naſute, that it were a ſtrong Temptation to them to misbelieve the whole Sum of Religion, or any State at all of the Soul after Death, but that ſhe is mortal and periſhes with the Body; theſe falſe Apoſtles having abuſed the Belief of the Doctrine of her Survival after the Death of the Body ſo groſsly and rancidly, merely to the advancing their own Eſtates in this Life, and to the wallowing in Wealth, Honour and ſenſual Pleaſures.

9. This is a competent Draught of the ſecond Limb of Antichriſtianiſm, which conſiſts In the heaping together a Number of troubleſome and unwarrantable Superſtitious Conceits and Obſervances, whereby the Yoke of Chriſt would be made far more grievous than the Diſpenſation of Moſes, yea whereby the Servitude of Chriſtians would be little inferior, if not greater, than the Slavery of the Iſraelites in the Land of Ægypt and in that Houſe of Bondage, as it is ſtyled peculiarly in the Scripture. And therefore I think this particular Conſtitution of things, which I have deſcribed, may very well go for a conſiderable Member of Antichriſtianiſm.

BOOK II.

CHAP. I.

1. The Poſitive Ends of the Goſpel which the reſt of the Limbs of Antichriſtianiſm do expoſe. 2. That to lay claim to a Right of Infallible Interpretation of the Laws of Chriſt is a Supplanting of his Kingly Office. 3. An Inſtance of that Danger in the Gloſſes of the Phariſees. 4. Several Places of Scripture alledged to prove the Church Infallible. 5. The firſt general Anſwer to theſe Allegations, by demanding whether the Promiſe of Infallibility be to the Whole Church, or to Part. 6. The Second, by demanding whether the Promiſe be Abſolute, or Conditional. 7. A Third, That the Promiſe cannot be Univerſal touching all Objects that may be conſidered. 8. A particular Anſwer to the Firſt place of Scripture. 9. An Anſwer to the Second and Third. 10. Infallibility a Promiſe only to the firſt Founders of the Chriſtian Church. 11. What the Meaning of The Pillar and Ground of Truth. 12. A further Expoſition of that Paſſage of Paul to Timothy. 13. That if underſtood of the Univerſal Church, it may be meant only of it in the Apoſtles times. 14. And that the like may be ſaid of the laſt Allegation.

WE have now done with thoſe Members of Antichriſtianiſm that oppoſe the Privative Ends of the Goſpel of Chriſt, which were, The Removing of Idolatry and the Burthen of Superſtition out of the World: we come now to the Poſitive End thereof, which in general is The Advancement of the Divine Life, and this either Perſonally in Chriſt, or by way of Propagation in his Members, the Church. Thoſe Divine Honours and Offices the Perſon of Chriſt is advanced to, and are moſt obvious to take notice of, are thoſe of King, Prieſt, and Prophet; the oppoſing or ſupplanting of which cannot but be ſo many abhorred Parts of this wicked Antichriſtianiſm, whoſe Image we are now endeavouring to ſet out in its genuin Colours.

2. As concerning the Firſt therefore of theſe: Suppoſe any Man, or Company of Men, under Pretence of being the true Viſible Church ſucceſſively deſcending from Chriſt and his Apoſtles, ſhould take upon them to be the Infallible Interpreters of the Law of Chriſt, and teach that all Men were to embrace and ſubmit to their Gloſſes, ſeem they never ſo harſh, never ſo improbable, nay, if you will, never ſo impoſſible; and declare it a mortal Sin for any to doubt of their Determinations in this kind: This ſurely were a plain Oppoſing or utter Supplanting of the Kingly Office of Chriſt, and the quite Taking away His Exerciſe of Sovereignty, which cannot otherwiſe be exerciſed than by Commands and Decrees; which when a King has publiſhed, if another have Power to interpret them any way, as he pleaſes, the Kingly Power will really be in the Interpreter, and not in the King; I ſay, this pretended Right and Power of Infallibly Interpreting does in very truth make the Interpreter King, and the King a vain Shadow or Cypher.

Aſſuredly no Earthly Prince would think himſelf truly Sovereign over his People, if all the Injunctions and Edicts he made were not to bear the eaſie, natural Senſe which he intends them in, but to be drawn to ſome other Meaning by any Exception, or Evaſion, or any forcible Interpretation that ſome forreign Potentate ſhould put upon them. Wherefore whoſoever pretends a Right and Infallibility in the Interpreting the Law of Chriſt, does in effect make Chriſt no Law-giver, and conſequently no King nor Governour in his Church; than which, What can be more groſsly Antichriſtian?

3. Cui jus eſt interpretandi, hujus Sententia pondus habet legis Divinæ, is a Saying, which although * Eraſmus has put into the Mouth of a mean Perſon, yet is a great Truth. And our Saviour knew, and has noted the miſchievous Abuſe of this Preſumption ſo plainly in that Inſtance of the Phariſees, (who could interpret away the Force of that Command, Honour thy Father and thy Mother, by ſaying it was Corban) that it is impoſſible he ſhould allow of any viſible Interpreter with ſuch an unlimited Right as ſome contend for, to the Abuſe of his Church, and the taking his Kingly Office out of his own Hands. For he has there obſerved, That the Phariſees had had made the Word of God of none effect through their Traditions, that is to ſay, through their Exceptions, Qualifications, and Interpretations of it.

* In his Ἰχθυοφορία. Mat. 15. 6.

*

4. But they will pretend that Chriſt hath made his Church Infallible; and if they be ſo, he himſelf will really reign in them, they interpreting alway according to his Mind. And that he has made his Church Infallible, they will pretend to appear plainly out of ſuch Places of Scripture as theſe: * That the Gates of Hell ſhall not prevail againſt her; and again, * I will ask the Father, and he will give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever, even the Spirit of Truth which the World cannot receive, &c. Again, * When he, the Spirit of Truth, is come, he will guide you into all Truth. To which add that of St. Paul to Timothy, where he ſeems to call the Church the Pillar and Ground of Truth. And laſtly, that to the * Epheſians, where Chriſt is ſaid to have given ſome, Apoſtles, and ſome, Prophets, and other ſome, Evangeliſts, and other ſome, Paſtors and Teachers; for the perfecting of the Saints, for the Work of the Miniſtry, for the edifying of the Body of Chriſt; till all come in the Unity of the Faith, and of the Knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect Man, unto the Meaſure of the Stature of the Fulneſs of Chriſt: That we henceforth be no more Children, toſſed to and fro, and carried about with every Wind of Doctrine, by the Sleight of Men, and cunning Craftineſs whereby they lie in wait to deceive; But ſpeaking the Truth in Love, may grow up into him in all things, which is the Head, even Chriſt.

* Mat. 16.
* John 14.
* John 16.
* 1 Tim. 3. 15.
* Chap. 4.

Let theſe Paſſages then be their Letters Patent, their grand pretended Commiſſion of Infallibly Interpreting, and never Erring in any Determinations or Concluſions, and we ſhall eaſily diſcover that it is a mere Pretence.

5. For I demand whether this Promiſe of Infallibility be to the Whole viſible Church in Succeſſion, or ſome Part. That it is not an Abſolute, Inconditionate Promiſe to the Whole is plain, in that the Parties of Chriſtendom differ ſo much in matters of Belief as they do. But if it be to ſome Part, Where is the Nomination of that Part in theſe Promiſes whereby their Right of Interpreting may appear to the World? There is no Particular Church ſpecified there, neither Greek nor Roman, neither Muſcovian nor Armenian, nor that of Preſter John, nor any other Church elſe. Whence it is plain that no Particular Church can have any Claim or Right to any ſuch Privilege.

Again, ſuppoſe ſome Particular Church had a Promiſe, How does it appear that the Promiſe is Inconditionate to this Particular Church, and that it is not upon ſuppoſal that they will ſeriouſly and ſincerely apply their Mind to find out the Truth, and purifie their Souls from all thoſe worldly and ſenſual Impediments thereto? For this Spirit of Infallibility cannot lodge in a Body that is ſubject unto Sin: For Purity of Heart and Life is the very Light and Cryſtalline Organ, the very Eye of the Soul; and to think of a Privilege of Infallibility without Holineſs, is like the imagining of a Promiſe to ſee without Light or Eyes.

Wherefore it is ſuch an hypocritical Conceit, that a Man cannot well tell whether it be more to be lamented or laughed at, for a Church to pretend that God has an irreſiſtible Deſign of making them Infallible in every Punctilio of Controverſie, and yet not of making them Holy and Good. But it is a Sign they contemn or abhor true Goodneſs as being contrary to their corrupt Natures, but greatly deſire the Privilege of Infallibility as being agreeable to their natural Pride, and the Boaſt thereof a moſt fit Inſtrument to bring about all their deceitful Devices. And therefore we might add to this, That it is queſtionable whether the Promiſe be to any Church viſible, but to ſuch as the Apoſtles were, called, choſen, ſanctified, and faithful regenerate Men; for none but theſe are truly the Church of Chriſt; and if he make his Promiſe good only to ſuch as are his true Church, it is ſufficient.

7. Moreover, be this Promiſe Conditionate or Inconditionate, we cannot but be ſure that this Infallibility is not Univerſal as to all Objects whatſoever. And therefore to meddle with ſuch things as are not neceſſary to Salvation nor really edifying, were to go beyond their Warrant or Commiſſion, and thereby to forfeit, or at leaſt to have no Benefit of, the promiſed Aſſiſtance.

8. But let us particularly examine the Texts of Scripture themſelves. The firſt whereof infers no more than this, That the Church of Chriſt ſhall never ceaſe to be, that Death ſhall never be able to prevail againſt her, neither to extirpate her out of this World, or hinder her of a glorious Immortality in the World to come. For πύλαι ᾅδου ſignifies no more than ᾅδης, Death, or Abolition, or The State of the Dead. But this may be true of the Church, though it were not Infallible: So weak is this firſt Allegation.

9. As

9. As for the Second, it were well for the Alledgers of it if it were only weak; for it is ſtrong againſt themſelves, and makes much for our Hypotheſis, who conceive this Infallibility to be Conditional. For read the whole Context entire, and it runs thus, If ye love me, keep my Commandments; κἀγὼ ἐρωτήσω, and I will ask the Father, &c. which plainly implies there is a Condition, That they muſt love Chriſt and keep his Commandments, if they expect that Spirit which will abide with them for ever, (that is, as long as they lived; for ſo the Word ordinarily ſignifies in Scripture.) And it is further added, that it is ſuch a Spirit as the World cannot receive: Which therefore does ſtrongly imply that it reſides not in thoſe who are worldly and carnally-minded. Which Conditionality of the Promiſe is alſo inſinuated in the Third place alledged, When the Spirit of Truth is come, he will lead you, or guide you, into all Truth; that is, he will lead you as a Man, not hale you or drag you as a Stone, or a brute Beaſt, which is not a free Agent. So that we ſee plainly that this Infallibility is Conditional where-ever it is.

And though I doubt not but the Condition being performed, the Promiſe will be made good to all Men as far as it is neceſſary to their Salvation; yet theſe Places are not the beſt that may be produced to that purpoſe, the Promiſe being not General here, but directed to certain particular Men in ſuch Circumſtances, as it is evident that it is meant to them in particular, and does not infer any Succeſſion. For the Men that he ſpeaks to there he decyphers to be ſuch as he was preſent with, and ſhould be put in mind by the Paraclet what he had ſaid to them when preſent; Joh. 14. 16, ſuch as were ſorrowful upon the Occaſion of his unexpected Departure; with other 17. like circumſcribing Circumſtances that cannot belong to any Succeſſion of Men, but were proper to the Apoſtles to whom he then ſpake.

10. As indeed Infallibility it ſelf ſeems a Promiſe moſt proper to them, they being to lay the Foundations of the Church, and to build the Houſe of God; which they having done in Terms plain enough, as to all things neceſſary to Salvation, the Promiſe of Infallibility needs reach no further; the Church for ever hereafter being ſafe, provided ſhe keep but cloſe to what is plainly delivered by the firſt Founders of her, nothing elſe need be obtruded upon Believers by way of infallible Impoſition.

11. And as for that Fourth Citation, where the Church ſeems to be called The 1 Tim. 3. 15. Pillar and Ground of Truth: If we admit of Cameron and Capellus their ingenious Conjecture upon the place, viz. That [The Pillar and Ground of Truth] is to be disjoined from the precedent Words, by a Colon at leaſt; and underſtand alſo what follows [without Controverſie great is the Myſtery of Godlineſs] to be only a Parenthetical Elogium of the Myſtery of the Goſpel, into which the Apoſtle was tranſported upon Conſideration of thoſe weighty Points thereof which he was a-delivering, God mani- 1 Tim. 3. 16. feſt in the Fleſh, &c. ſo that The Pillar and Ground of Truth may be the Preface to the grand Points of the Chriſtian Truth, which, that Parentheſis being ſuppoſed, do immediately follow; according as it was uſual with the Jews to prefix before ſuch Fundamentals of Knowledge the Title of יסוד ועמוד החכמות Fundamentum & Columna Sapientiæ: this Paſſage will be wholly diſenabled from making any Shew of Proof for what it was alledged.

12. But if you will adjoin this Title to the Church, it was the Epheſian Church where Timothy reſided, which has vaniſhed long ago. And what other Church then, unleſs every Particular Church, can urge this place for Infallibility? which Experience of contradicting one another does openly confute. Beſides that the Style it ſelf of [Ground and Pillar] may not ſignifie certain Performance, but the Duty what they ought to perform: As when the Apoſtles are called the Light of the World, and the Salt of the World; which only ſignifies what they ought to be, not what Mat. 5. 13, they were neceſſitated to be: For thoſe that ought to be thus, may notwithſtand- 14. ing hide their Talent, or grow unſavoury through their own Fault; as it fared in Judas, and in all his Succeſſion of falſe Apoſtles, which call themſelves the Servants, but are the Betrayers, of the Lord Jeſus.

13. But laſtly, Suppoſe that the Church then in general were here underſtood; it does not follow, That becauſe that Primæval and Apoſtolical Church ſhould by a peremptory Deſign of Providence have engraven upon it or exhibit to the World as Articles of Belief nothing but what was true, that the Church in Succeſſion ſhould always do the like. For there was a certain ſpecial Care and Vigilancy overruling in the firſt Beginnings of the Church, that all things might be true and ſolid, and the firſt Eſtabliſhment firm and ſound; but that being done, which was ſufficient for the After-carrying on the Affairs of the Church in a right way by free free Agents, the Succeſs ſhould afterwards lie upon their Induſtry and Fidelity, at leaſt ſo far as that by no miraculous and ſupernatural Force they ſhould be aſſiſted or driven on to keep things pure and intemerate. And that was ſufficient for the Church, I think, which is thought ſufficient for every particular Man, namely, That the Chriſtian Doctrines and Precepts being faithfully laid down in the Evangeliſts and other Writings of the Apoſtles, they might (that uſual Grace of God which is not irreſiſtible aſſiſting them) frame their Lives and Beliefs accordingly in thoſe things that are plain: And all are ſo that are neceſſary to Salvation. Which Rule if it had been kept to, no Error had crept into the Church to this very Day.

Which laſt Anſwer will contribute ſomething towards an Anſwer to the laſt Place alledged; for it ſeems only to contain a Deſcription of a ſpecial Proviſion of God for the rightly ſettling his Truth in the firſt Ages of the Church. To which purpoſe he appointed not only Paſtors and Teachers, (which Functions continue ſtill) but Apoſtles having a particular Miſſion from Chriſt himſelf, who breathed into them the Spirit of Truth; as alſo Prophets and Evangeliſts, Men in a ſpecial Manner inſpired and aſſiſted to erect the Fabrick of the Church according to the Will and Purpoſe of Chriſt, who then in an extraordinary manner did ſuperviſe all by a miraculous Aſſiſtance of his Spirit. And therefore whatever was wrote for the Publick Uſe of the Church, while any of thoſe unto whom our Saviour Chriſt ſaid that the Spirit ſhould abide with them for ever, which ſhould lead them into all Truth, were alive, or was approved by them, is really of certain and infallible Authority; but what-ever After-Inventions or Super-additions there were in the Church, they are to be meaſured by this unerring Rule.

Theſe Unerring Paſtors therefore and Teachers, Apoſtles, Prophets, Evangeliſts, were not a Promiſe to all Succeſſions, but an extraordinary Gift, as the Text it ſelf imports, which Chriſt at that time, namely, at his ſolemn Coronation or Triumph aſcending above all Heavens, that he might fill all things, caſt down as a Royal Largeſs upon his Church, for the ſpeedy Compleatment of her, for her growing up into the Unity of the Faith and Knowledge of Chriſt, and that ſhe might not be carried about with every Wind of Doctrine, but adhere to that only that was delivered by thoſe Heavenly-inſpired and Miraculouſly-aſſiſted Miniſters of the Goſpel. The Acknowledgment whereof, I conceive, had been the only ſure Means to keep the Church in Unity for ever; whenas the pretending to an Infallibility in the ſucceeding Church, where indeed it was not, and the taking upon them thereupon to impoſe things with equal Authority to the Apoſtles themſelves, would naturally prove the Fountain of all Error, Schiſm, and Confuſion.

Eph. 4. 10.

CHAP.

CHAP. II.

1. That the ſafe Conveyance of the Apoſtolick Writings down to us by the Church does not infer her Infallibility. 2. That the Plainneſs of Scripture in Points neceſſary to Salvation, takes away the Want of an Infallible Judge. 3. That the Scripture not pointing to any Infallible Judge, nor any faithful Keeper of Traditions, does ipſo facto declare her ſelf the only ſufficient Guide. 4. That there is not only no want of an Infallible Judge, but better there ſhould be none. 5. That the Want of Infallibility does not take away the Authority of the Church, it being the Duty of every Perſon in things really diſputable to Compromiſe with her. 6. That though a Viſible Judge be neceſſary in Civil Cauſes, yet it is nothing ſo in Points of Religion. 7. That every private Man has not only a Liberty, but a Command, to judge for himſelf in Matters of Faith. 8. The ſaid Right or Privilege demonſtrated alſo by Reaſon. 9. That the Reaſon or Judgment of every private Man is not a private Spirit in that reproachful Senſe that ſome ſpeak it. 10. That the Claim to a Right of Judging for one's ſelf in Points of Faith, does not make a Man ſuperiour to his Church, 11. Nor yet equal; 12. Nor implies that he thinks himſelf wiſer than his Church, but rather more careful of his own eternal Concerns. 13. That it is not his private Wiſdom he ſticks to, but the Wiſdom of God known to all that are not wilfully blind. 14. That the Church is not Infallible, proved from the Example of the Jewiſh Church. 15. That there is the ſame Reaſon of the Chriſtian. 16. That the Want of an Infallible Interpreter is no ſuch Loſs to the Common-People. 17. That their Aſſurance of the Truth of the Scriptures by the Spirit, is a Tenet not ſo ſuperciliouſly to be exploded as ſome make a Shew of. 18. That this Spirit is properly the Spirit of Truth, diſtinguiſhable from that of Knowledge and Wiſdom. 19. The notorious Fraud and exceſſive Miſchief of this Pretence of Infallibility.

1. BUT being worſted thus in Scripture they will pretend Demonſtrations in Reaſon, (upon the Preſumption they are the true viſible Church, ſucceſſively deſcended from Chriſt and his Apoſtles) That Infallibility is for ever intailed upon them.

As firſt, That unleſs the Church were ſucceſſively Infallible, we could have no certain and Infallible Belief of the Holy Scriptures, which are avouched to be ſuch by the Church. But I briefly anſwer, That ſuppoſing this ſucceſſive Church were a truſty and undoubted Conveyer of the Copies of the Holy Scriptures uncorrupted, yet it doth not follow that they muſt be Infallible Interpreters of theſe Scriptures; no more than the faithful Conveyance of Plato's and Ariſtotle's Writings to all Poſterity implies that the Conveyers thereof are Infallible Interpreters of them. For they might preſerve the Writings of either by a diligent comparing of Copies upon every Tranſcription; beſides that there might be a ſpecial Watchfulneſs of Providence over theſe Holy Writings, for the Conſervation of them from any material Blemiſhes, as being ſo exceeding neceſſary for the Continuance of thoſe Truths that were publiſhed by ſuch Men as (accordingly as I have already intimated) were Divinely and Infallibly inſpired.

And that there were ſuch Writings, ſufficient for the Conveyance of the Knowledge of Chriſt, written by them that were infallible Witneſſes of the Truth, and that we may be aſſured that thoſe which commonly bear the Title of them are they, I have without any Recourſe to the Infallibility of the Church ſo plainly demonſtrated in my Explanation of the Myſtery of Godlineſs, that I think it needleſs to ſay any thing further of it in this place. Book 7. chap. 10. and 11.

2. In the ſecond place they will pretend, That the Church muſt be Infallible, or elſe there will want an Infallible Judge of Controverſies; nay there will not be ſo much as any Authority in the Church to order the Affairs thereof. But the Auſwer is eaſie and brief; That there is no Want of any ſuch Infallible Judge, and therefore not of the Church's Infallibility; for the Scripture is a ſufficient Rule of Faith to all that have Underſtanding, whether learned or unlearned, in things neceſſary to Salvation: and That the Belief and Practice of theſe will carry a Man ſafe to Heaven.

The Spirit of God therefore is the only Infallible Judge here, and has declared as plainly as any ſucceſſive Judges can, in thoſe things that are neceſſary to Life and Salvation, what is to be believed and to be done: which if we believe and practiſe in particular, and do alſo in general and implicitly believe and ſtand in a Readineſs to obey the reſt of the Scripture, when the Senſe thereof appears to us, we are in a ſafe Condition, and need not doubt but it will go well with us in the other State. For it is manifeſt that what is neceſſary, is plain in the Word of God to all Men; otherwiſe Salvation were not ſufficiently revealed to the World, and what we above recited out of St. Paul were not true, nor the Providence of God ſufficiently watchful in the laying the firſt Foundations of his Church.

3. For if the Scripture were not a ſufficient infallible Evidence of all neceſſary Truths, God would have afterwards raiſed other Perſons of Apoſtolical Purity in Converſation, and with the like Power of working Miracles, to have made a Supplement to the former, (which yet was never done;) or elſe thoſe other neceſſary Truths, taught indeed by the firſt Apoſtles, but not written by them, had been committed to Tradition: which had been a very lubricous and perillous Way, and unlikely to be taken by Divine Providence.

But if any ſuch Way had been taken, certainly the Scripture it ſelf, in which all Men are agreed, would have pointed it out to us, (as alſo if there had been any Interpreter inſtituted) that there might be infallibly communicated to us what remains neceſſary to our eternal Safety. But the Scripture being ſilent herein, it openly declares it ſelf to be ſufficient to all ſuch as with Sincerity and Care apply themſelves to the underſtanding of it: as certainly every Man, conſidering that his Eternal Salvation lies upon it, will be enforced to do in his own Behalf; whenas if others interpret for him, they may do it more remiſly or more fraudulently.

4. Beſides that, it is a very unskilful and inept Deſire that there ſhould be any ſuch infallible Judge, that has concluded all Controverſies to our Hands already. For that would prevent or foreſtal that Privacy and Peculiarity of Converſe which God has with thoſe Souls that are more dear to Him, who does in a ſpecial Manner aſſure them of ſuch Concluſions as are not to be reached at by every Hand. But when the infallible Determination of the Church has paſſed, all Mens Aſſurances will be alike, and God will have, as it were, diſarm'd himſelf and given the Staff out of his own Hands. Whereas on the contrary there being no external infallible Judge for the interpreting obſcure Places in Scripture, God's Right of his diſpenſing his ſpecial Favours is preſerved, and Men of a more devout aud intellectual Spirit are divinely employed, and earneſtly engaged to extraordinary Piety and Holineſs, that they may win the Favour of that inward infallible Interpreter, even of that Holy Spirit, which the World cannot receive, and by the Light of his Aſſiſtance, be enabled to reach the true Senſe of thoſe Writings which himſelf dictated to the Apoſtles and other Holy Men of God.

5. And laſtly, That the Want of Infallibility will take away the Authority of the Church, is a very weak Inference. For her Authority is entire in the urging thoſe Truths and Duties in Scripture that are plain to all Men, even to ſuch as do not in the leaſt Dream that they are infallible: And verily thoſe that are thus plain are ſuch as are the moſt uſeful for our ſafe Conduct to Heaven. And for thoſe Doctrines that be more obſcure, if they be withal uſeful and edifying, as alſo Rites and Ceremonies, the Church has Authority, though ſhe be not infallible, to declare them and appoint them. Let all things be done decently, and in Order. But how ſhe is to behave herſelf to Diſſenters, having ſpoke of that more copiouſly elſewhere, I ſhall not here ſo much as touch upon it.

1 Cor. 14. 40.

I will only add, That in things that are really diſputable I conceive it is the Duty of every one, whatever his private Judgment and Inclinations otherwiſe would be, to compromiſe with the Authority of the Church, and for Peace and Order Sake to ſuffer himſelf not unwillingly to be concluded by their Determinations.

6. Now what has been already ſuggeſted will ſerve to null or enervate a third Sophiſm. For it ſeems a plauſible Objection againſt the Scripture alone being ſufficient to guide us and rule us without a publick and infallible Interpreter, That this were as if one ſhould contend that the Law alone in civil Matters were ſufficient without a publick Judge. For beſides what we above inſinuated, That a plain Law (and ſuch we averre the Scripture to be in Matters neceſſary to Salvation) may want no Judge, where the Conſcience finds it ſelf upon Pain of Eternal Damnation obliged to underſtand it aright; we further ſuggeſt, That the urging or preſſing of the Law of Chriſt by a publick Miniſter, Interpreter, or Declarer of the Sentence of his Law, ſo far as it is plainly his to all unprejudiced Underſtandings as well unlearned as learned, is not denied by thoſe that contend that the Scripture pture is the ſole Rule of Faith. And for my own Part (as I ſaid before) in places that are not thus plain, if ſuch Interpretations be made as are not repugnant to other plain Texts of Scripture, but tend to the Promotion of the Ends of the Goſpel, which I have elſewhere ſpecified, I hope no Man ſhall offend God, but do his Duty to the Church, in compromiſing with them in their Sentiments of things in ſuch Circumſtances as theſe. For they are ſuppoſed conſcienciouſly and in the Fear of God to have interpreted the Scripture, and not for their own Ends or carnal Satisfaction in any thing. And queſtionleſs in this Caſe they can ſhew their Commiſſion, and that they act by Authority. Let all things be done to Edification. 1 Cor. 14. 26

But that, becauſe every civil Controverſy muſt be determined by a Judge, therefore there muſt be an infallible Determinative Judge of all the nice and unprofitable Controverſies that emerge amongſt Chriſtians about Scripture and Religion, is but a weak and lame Illation. For civil Controverſies cannot be undecided without Injury to ſome Party: but no Man is injured by not having thoſe unprofitable, at leaſt unneceſſary, Queſtions determined; for they may hold their ſeveral Opinions without wronging one another, if they will but keep to that known Law of Chriſt, that Royal Law of Charity. Nay the deciding ſuch Controverſies by a pretended infallible Judge were a vaſt Wrong to one Party, it galling their Conſciences, and ſtreightening their Liberty, and making the Way to Heaven narrower than Chriſt has made it. For ſo does this infallible Judge that impoſes his Determinations on Men upon Pain of Eternal Damnation. But God of his Infinite Wiſdom and Mercy has not given the leaſt Intimation for any ſuch Uſurpation. And therefore this infallible Judge being not appointed by God, and being unappointable by Man, the Scripture alone, and not theſe pretended infallible Deciſions, muſt be the Rule of our Belief.

7. The fourth and laſt Pretence is, That unleſs the Senſe of Scripture be determined by the Infallibility of the Church, every private Spirit muſt be judge of the Meaning thereof: nay and, which is worſe, be Judge of the Church, and thereby ſuperiour to the Church: than which nothing can be more wild and extravagant.

This ſeems a big Difficulty at firſt: But I anſwer, That every particular Man ſhould judge for himſelf, he has a Commiſſion from the very Word of God, nay, I may ſay, a Command: As where he is bid to try all things, and to hold that which is good; as alſo, not to believe every Spirit, but to try the Spirits whether they be of God; and in another Place, to be ready to give a Reaſon of his Faith. The Berœans alſo are commended for Searching the Scripture, and trying whether the things that Paul, even an inſpired and choſen Veſſel of God, had taught them, were true or no. But for any one Man or any Company of Men to be appointed by God Authoritatively and abſolutely to be Judges for others in Matters of Faith and Religion, we do not find any where in Scripture or in Reaſon any ſuch Commiſſion given unto them; but we are rather admoniſhed to take Heed how we be led hoodwinkt by any, leſt the blind leading the blind, both fall into the Ditch. 1 Theſſ. 5. 21. 1 John 4. 1. 1 Pet 3. Acts 17. Matt. 15. 14.

8. But not Scripture only, but Reaſon it ſelf does plainly commiſſionate private Spirits, as they call them, to judge for themſelves. For theſe Pretenders to Infallibility do it only upon the boaſt that they are the true ſucceſſive Church from the Apoſtles: but unleſs they will be above all Meaſure ridiculous, they muſt convince the Reaſon of him whom they would make a Proſelyte to their Church, that their Church is that true and Apoſtolical one. For to ſay ſo without Proof, is a Madneſs to be hooted at by all Men: But to go about to prove it, is to appeal to the private Reaſon of him they would convince. And if he be a Chriſtian already, though not of their Church, the common acknowledged Principles are the Holy Scriptures, in arguing from which the Diſputant appeals to him he would bring over, if his Interpretation or Allegation of them be not true and ſolid. But if he be an Infidel or Pagan, he is to uſe Reaſons to prove the Truth and Authority of the Scriptures themſelves: Which is ſtill an Appeal to the Conſcience of him that is to be gained to the Church, whether what is offered to him be true or falſe. And that which is offered to him being the whole Chriſtian Faith, (for that is it which makes a true Church) it is plain that his Reaſon and Conſcience is appealed unto, whether the whole Sum of the Credenda in Chriſtianity is not true. That is to ſay, Though the Church, and he that argues in the Behalf of the Church, have already judged and firmly concluded that the Chriſtian Faith is a true Faith in the whole and in every Part, and make no Appeal from their own Judgment in Reference to themſelves; yet in Reference to the Party they would convince, they appeal to him if the Grounds of their Belief be not ſolid, and ſo imply and acknowledge that he is Judge for himself in these Affairs, call that in him a private Spirit or what you please.

9. But I do not know but it may be too reproachfully called a private Spirit, at least in these Men that are sincere and simple-hearted, who have no private Designs but to know the Will of God and to do it, and it is the Will of God all Men should do so, and the Spirit of Man * is said to be the Lamp of the Lord; and that which judges according to the κοιναὶ ἔννοιαι, the common Notions of Reason in all Men, and has not lost the * τὰ πατρικὰ σύμβολα, those common Characters and ingenuous Sentiments of indispensable Truth and Morality which the Father of Lights has of old sealed upon the Soul, and which are hardly obliterated quite in any, and are necessarily continued, and that vigorously, in the Sincere; I say, such a Life or Spirit as this judging in a Man is very hardly to be called a private Spirit, it judging according to the Universal Sense of humane Nature, and so as every one judges when he is unbiassed. Nay, if this will not serve, I say that the Judgment which is thus made is the Judgment of that Universal King and Law-giver, the Eternal Son of God; it is his Sentence in these Cases, but writ in the Tables of our Hearts, and pronounced by our Mouths as by the Præco of a Court. So far is it from being the Judgment of a mere private Spirit.

* Prov. 20.

* Psell. περὶ ἐνεργείας δαιμόνων.

But that rather is the Judgment of a private Spirit, though it should bear the Title of an infallible Church, which is decreed not according to the plain Texts of Scripture, so as all unprejudiced Men would certainly understand them, nor according to those indeleble Characters of Truth which Christ the Eternal Logos has writ in the Rational Souls of all Mankind; but according to partial Interest and depraved Desires. The Sentence of Thousands, nay of Millions, of such Judges is more the Verdict of a private Spirit, than the Judgment of the meanest private Man that pronounces from such Principles as I have declared.

10. Now for that odious Imputation of making a Man superiour to the Church, by laying Claim to a Judgment of Discretion; I say, he lays Claim to no more than is of necessity given him, as I have already demonstrated. For if there be an Appeal to the Reason and Conscience of a private Man in the endeavouring to convince him, he is ipso facto made Judge; and if to be Judge in this Sense is to be Superiour, he is necessarily Superiour. But I see no Necessity that his being Judge thus for himself makes him Superiour to his Church. Indeed if he judged for his Church, he were thereby their Superiour; but judging for himself only, he usurps no Superiority over the Church; but only is obedient to him that is Superiour to both, that is, to Jesus Christ, following his plain Injunctions and Precepts, whether written in the outward Word, or legibly engraven upon the Table of his Heart. To follow therefore the plain and inevitable Dictates of his own Conscience, which is the Tribunal of God, is not to exalt a Man's self above the Church, but to submit a Man's self to God, and exalt Him above all.

11. Nor does a Man herein equalize himself to his Church; in that he does not define for others, but for himself, and professes himself in the mean time ready to obey the visible Church in all things as are not repugnant to the express Precepts of God and Christ, and to those immutable Characters of Truth which he has imprinted upon the Souls of all Men, and which are there to be found, unless gross Violence and Interest has obscured or obliterated them.

12. Nor (in the last Place) does he make himself wiser than his Church; which were also an odious Imputation: But without Immodesty it may be thought that a private Man may be more sollicitous of his own important Concerns, and more faithful to his own Eternal Interest, than many thousand Men put together; and that therefore though he may not have so much Learning and Wit as these, yet he may conduct his own Affairs more safely than if they were put into their Hands; especially they that pretend to be Guides to Heaven for others, seeming to be wholly taken up with the things of this World, as if they had forgot their intended Journey. It is not therefore a Boast of Wisdom above the Church, but a careful Sollicitude touching such things as the wise Men of the World do not usually trouble themselves much about, that may embolden some private sincere-hearted Christian to dissent from some Dictates of the Church; professing himself in other things as weak and childish as they please; remembring that Doxology of our Blessed Saviour, I thank thee, O Father, Lord of Heaven and Earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto Babes: Even so, Father, for so it seemed good in thy Sight.

Matt. 11.

13. Final,

13. Finally, this Wiſdom which they adhere to is plainly and evidently not the Dictate of their own private Spirit (which to oppoſe to the Church, were indeed to make a Man's ſelf wiſer than the Church) but the plain and perſpicuous Teſtimonies of the Word of God, and the common and indubitable Notions of univerſal humane Nature, writ by the Finger of that Eternal Wiſdom which created all things, on the Spirits of all Men that be in their Wits, and therefore is a plain and legible Copy of that Wiſdom: So that he that adheres thereto does not prefer his own Wiſdom before the Wiſdom of the Church, but ſubmits himſelf faithfully to the Wiſdom of God, to which the Church alſo ought to ſubmit, and not to efface, as much as in them lies, thoſe imprinted Characters of Truth out of the Souls of Men, thereby to enſlave them to themſelves, and to the corrupt Intereſt of their Kingdom of Darkneſs and groſs Impoſture.

14. But I have been more copious than was needful or intended in confuting this Dream of Infallibility. We might have made ſhorter Work of it, and ſuddenly evinced the Folly of that Pretence, by actual Errours that have been in the Church of God. As ſurely the Church of the Jews was as really the Church of God as the viſible Chriſtian Church, and has as magnificent Promiſes as it, in Iſaiah. For what is ſpoke Chap. 54. rebounds upon the Church of the Jews firſt, as Grotius has obſerved; and there it is ſaid, That they ſhall all be taught of God, and that with everlaſting Kindneſs God will have Mercy upon them: And yet this Church was in ſo groſs a Miſtake, that the Governours and Grandees thereof knew not their Meſſiah when he was come into the World, but put Him to a moſt ſhameful Death.

But even in thoſe times when there was a more palpable Reſidence of God's miraculous Power with them, they erred very hainouſly; as in the worſhipping the Golden Calf in the Wilderneſs, as alſo in the ten Tribes worſhipping thoſe in Bethel, nay apoſtatizing all to the worſhipping Baalim ſaving ſeven Thouſand, which were ſo few in Reſpect of the reſt, that Elijah took himſelf to be left alone. And Ahab conſulting the Prophets, found by woful Experience that four hundred of them propheſied falſe, and only Micajah true. And * Jeremy complains of his times; A wonderful and horrible thing, ſaith he, is committed in the Land, The Prophets propheſy falſely, and the Prieſts bear Rule by their Means, and my People love to have it ſo; and what will you do in the End thereof? * Ch. 5. 30, 31.

That is alſo a ſmart Monition of his, * Truſt you not in lying Words, ſaying, The Temple of the Lord, The Temple of the Lord, &c. For all which they do that call themſelves The Temple of the Lord is not right, as appears in the ſame Chapter, where they are accuſed of committing Idolatry openly in the Cities of Judah and in the Streets of Jeruſalem; which could not be, had they not fallen into the Hands of blind and erroneous Guides, which might cauſe them to ſtumble in their Ways from the ancient Paths, and yet in the mean time take up that preſumptuous Boaſt, That the Law ſhall not periſh from the Prieſt, nor the Counſel from the wiſe, nor the Word from the Prophet, no not then when they were imagining Miſchief againſt the true Prophets of the Lord; as you may ſee Jeremy 18. * Ch. 7. 4.

But * Micah ſays plainly, That the Prophets that are only for eaſie times and for good Chear, Night ſhall be upon them, and they ſhall have no Viſion; and it ſhall be dark unto them, that they cannot divine, and the Sun ſhall go down over the Prophets, and the Day ſhall be dark over them: That ſuch Seers ſhall be aſhamed, and Diviners confounded, as having no Anſwer from God, And * Eſay complains that the Watch-men of the City are blind, that they are all ignorant dumb Dogs that cannot bark; ſleeping, lying down, loving to ſlumber, greedy Dogs which can never have enough, Shepherds that cannot underſtand, looking to their own Ways, every one for his Gain from his Quarter. Thus clear is it that the Church of the Jews, though it was in ſuch a ſpecial Manner eſpouſed to God, was not ſecure from, but did actually fall into very great Errors. * Ch. 3. 6. * Ch. 56. 10, 11.

15. And the Chriſtian Church has no greater Aſſurance, but if Avarice, Pride and Senſuality ſeize upon the Guides thereof, ſhe may alſo fall into as great Errors and Blindneſs. The Apoſtle ſaith, Let him that ſtands, take heed leſt he fall. And it might have been a ſeaſonable Warning to the Church of Chriſt betimes, which was not only tottering, but almoſt univerſally lapſed into that over-ſpreading Hereſy of Arianiſm, to reflect upon herſelf, that while ſhe does ſtand, ſhe ſtands upon her good Behaviour; and that ſhe is not ſo infallibly wiſe, but that ſhe may be ſurprized with Error, and over-run therewith, unleſs true and unfeigned Holineſs clear her Eyes, and keep her from being benighted in ſuch Miſts of Darkneſs. 1 Cor. 10. 12.

* And

And truly if she was above twelve hundred Years ago so obnoxious to Error, it is high time for her to awake and consider if after so many Ages of Ease and Wealth and Honour and Affluency of all things, she has not grown fat and kicked, and cast the Commandments of God behind her back, and brought in a mere carnal Law of her own devising, more sutable to the Will of the Flesh and to the carrying on of her own worldly Interest. But it is sufficient in this Place to have demonstrated She may err; in what she has erred to define, is beyond the Scope of my present Discourse.

16. We have fully defeated that Figment of pretended Infallibility, whose Downfall our Opposers have no Colour to bewail, unless in the Behalf of the common People, who are illiterate; as if they would hereby be made uncapable of any Certainty of Belief, and consequently of Salvation, by Reason they have no infallible Grounds to build on, this of the Church's Infallibility being taken away.

But they may remember that we have already acknowledged sufficient Certainty in that which the Universal Church agrees in, and has agreed in in all Ages, and that is the Scripture. Such an Universal Tradition as the Scripture has is acknowledged a firm Foundation; which the Church may be unfailing Conveyers of down to Posterity without being infallible Interpreters thereof. The Unfailingness of which Conveyance notwithstanding, I must confess, may be a more intricate Business than what every vulgar Man can make out to himself; though infinitely less hard than to prove That the Church that would appropriate him to their Community, is Infallible.

Nay, I must confess, I do not know how it were possible that a Church should so much as prove it self a Church, much less an infallible Church, without the Scripture. And therefore the Belief of the Scripture seems to be the most immediate of all, as * he says well; Nam qui de fide & authoritate Divinarum Scripturarum dubitat, quomodo, quaso, credet Ecclesiæ, quæ nullam habet sine eadem Scriptura authoritatem?

* Cæl. Secund. Curio against Floribellus.

17. And therefore I cannot explode that by any means which is so superciliously derided by some, namely, That it is the Spirit of God that does assure us of the Truth of Scriptures more than any thing else whatsoever. For our Saviour saith, None cometh to me but whom my Father draweth. My Sheep hear my Voice, and I know them, and they follow me. Wherefore there is a discerning Spirit in those that appertain to Salvation, whether it be the Voice of God and Christ or no. For the true Shepherd goeth before, and the Sheep follow him, because they know his Voice; but they follow not a Stranger, but flee from him, because they know not his Voice; as our Saviour in this Place discourses most excellently. I say therefore, the Voice, the Call, the Whistle (if you will) of the true Shepherd are the Holy Scriptures, which by an immediate Sense they are assured to be the Call of the Shepherd, and are at this Day to them that belong to the Election of God, as the Voice of Christ and his Apostles when they were upon Earth, the Power of whose Speech assisted by the Spirit did lead Men captive into that Faith that worketh Salvation.

John 6. & cha. 10.

John 10. 4. 5.

And without all Question the same Word of Salvation still, which is in those Holy Records, seriously and zealously urged by Men of a sincere Faith and upright Belief, without any mingling of it with humane Devices, will have the same Effect upon the Multitude; and as many as are fitted will be won to an unshaken Belief of the Truth of Christianity, as it is exhibited to us in the Holy Scriptures. For they of themselves have the Light and Life and very Breath of Christ and his Apostles wrapt up in them, to the exciting the vulgar Sort to a firm and lively Faith, though many subtil Sophisters of the Kingdom of Darkness might by crafty and perverse Reasoning intangle them and non-plus them in outward Discourse. And therefore they are kept safe in the Belief of the Scripture by the Power of that Spirit in them, in Virtue whereof there is that indissoluble Harmony and Concord betwixt their Spirits and the Scripture, though they cannot defend themselves by humane Literature, nor by the Acuteness of Reason and Depths of Philosophy.

18. Which Spirit residing in them, and giving them this solid and firm Discernment betwixt the Testimony of God and the Traditions and Doctrines of Men, I think I may safely and properly call the Spirit of Faith, as it is considered nakedly in it self, and separate from the Spirit of Knowledge and of Wisdom. Which Distinction of σοφία, γνῶσις and πίστις, Origen of old has taken Notice of in his Book against Celsus, upon that Text of St Paul. And truly I think the Gloss is marvellous solid; namely, That the chiefest and greatest Gift of the Spirit is that Divine Wisdom, whereby a Man is in a great Measure able to comprehend the Reasons ſions and more deep Philoſophical Grounds of the Truth of the Chriſtian Myſtery: The Next is Knowledge, ſuppoſe of Antiquity, Hiſtory, the comparing of Propheſies, and Helps of the exterior humane Literature, the liberal Arts and Languages: The Third is Faith, which is alſo compriſed in the other, but is a Gift which is as well general as more neceſſary, whoſe Nature is ſuch as I have deſcribed already; namely, An immediate Adherence to the Word of Truth compriſed in the Scripture, through the Power of that Spirit that reſides in Sincere and Well-meaning Souls, that have a ſavoury and ſenſible Fear of God, and are ready to go where he calls them. For theſe by an ineffable Sympathy of their Hearts with the Veracity of the Voice of Chriſt ſounding in the Scriptures, will be ſure to follow their true Shepherd's Call, though they turn off from the Voice of the Stranger and Hireling, who comes not into the Sheep-fold but to rob, and kill, and ſteal.

Lib. 6.

Whence we further ſee, that this pretended Infallibility of the Church in reference to the Scripture, is as well uſeleſs as falſe, and much as if the Moon ſhould take upon her to witneſs for the Sun that he ſends out Light; which every one that is not blind will neceſſarily ſee, though the Moon were under the Horizon. So the holy Children of God, choſen and faithful, will feel and taſte, clearly ſee and diſcern, that the Scripture is the Truth of God by that Light which is in it, that correſpondeth with that Spirit derived from the Father of Lights which he has liberally ſhed into their Hearts: Which, as I ſaid, is the Spirit of Faith, and the ſure Portion of every Member of Chriſt, whether they can make out things by Knowledge and deep Reaſon or no. And if they be aſſaulted by Cavillers, it is their Prudence to ſend ſuch to their Fellow-members to whom God has given alſo the Spirit of Knowledge or of Wiſdom: or it may be more prudent to let them go as they came, they being not worthy to give any the Trouble of Diſcourſe, who put Queſtions not with Deſign of being ſeriouſly edified and inſtructed in the Truth, but for Captiouſneſs, Contention and a conceited Hope of puzzling him by whom they make Show as if they deſired to be informed.

19. The fraudulent End that this Pſeudo-Chriſtian Church might drive at in this peremptory Boaſt of Infallibility is very conſpicuous, as alſo the miſchievous Events thereof. For what could this tend to but the making this Antichriſtian Power abſolute, that they might, without any one's Whinching, decree and declare what-ever would tend to the Encreaſe of their own Honour and Wealth, ſeem it never ſo contrary to common Reaſon, to the expreſs Word of God and the Precepts of Chriſt? For the Sentence is Infallible, let it look never ſo ſtrangely and repugnantly to any Rule that we might think right.

Wherefore this Power might even do what it pleaſes, change Times and Laws, even the Law of God it ſelf, and fling the Houſe of God out at Windows, as the Proverb is. For who has any thing to ſay againſt that Power which he is already perſwaded is Infallible? And to ſpeak ſummarily, and than which nothing greater can be ſaid, The Admittance of this Infallibility is the Excluſion of Chriſt from his Kingdom and Throne, and the ſetting up a mere Mortal, a maſterleſs Man of Sin, or a Pack of Sons of Belial, to ſway his Scepter for him in the World. This alone is enough, if it would take, to ſupplant the Government of Chriſt upon Earth.

CHAP.

CHAP. III.

1. That the keeping the Law of Christ in an unknown Tongue is an Undermining or Opposing of his Sovereignty. 2. As also the Reproaching and Vilifying his Law. 3. Their fraudulent Pretence of hiding the Scriptures, with a Vindication of their Usefulness and Excellency. 4. The vilifying of the Laws of Christ, by setting far less Penalties upon the Transgression of them than of the inconsiderable Institutes of the Church. 5. That their rigid Impositions are against the Kingdom of Christ; as also the Reading of Legends instead of his Law in Churches. 6. The Dispensing also with the Divine Laws: The Fraud and Mischief thereof. 7. The treasonable Pretence of this Power's being Absolute by Right of Succession in Christ's Seat. 8. The evil Effect of this Pretence discoverable in several Institutes contrary to the written Laws of Christ. 9. As also in nulling those Laws which he has engraven upon our Mind, as he is the Eternal Word. 10. The bloody opposing the Sovereignty and Kingdom of Christ in Murthering his faithful Subjects.

1. BUT there are other ways also of lifting the Government from off Christ's Shoulders. As first, Suppose They should keep the Law of God in an unknown Tongue, and not let any one read it in the Language they understood: nay be so careful that the very Prayers that are used in Publick, and the Celebration of the holy Eucharist, should be unintelligible, lest the Power of some Passages of Scripture that may occur in the Publick Service should unhinge Men from the blind Obedience they are held in under this Antichristian Usurpation.

2. To which you may add, what indeed might better have preceded, a Revilement of the Law of Christ, as a Book full of nothing but dangerous Obscurities, a Lesbian or Leaden Rule to be bended any way, a Nose of Wax, a dead Letter, a Farrago of casual or occasional Writings, which were penned not by any Divine Appointment, but only pro re natâ, and as fortuitous Exigences moved the Prophets or Apostles to write them: And where they would speak most modestly, to say it is an insufficient Law or Rule, and therefore must be made up by Institutes of their own Invention, or what they will please to obtrude upon the World for Traditional Doctrines and Usages. I say, thus to Revile the Law of Christ, is indeed to null it, and thereby to null his Sovereignty over his Church, and to betray it into the Hands of a Stranger, to deal with them as he pleases, and to change Times and Laws and Customs in such sort, that there may be nothing found left in Christianity, that may any way thwart the Intereſt of these Usurpers.

3. In brief therefore thus it may be, They may pretend the Scripture obscure all over, because it is so in some places. But we have already sufficiently urged that there is enough clear of it to enlighten the Single-hearted in the way of eternal Salvation. But upon the Pretence of the uncertain Sense of some Passages, they may remove all away; that those Passages that would plainly discover and reprove their false Doctrines and Practices might not come into the sight of the People. For (as a Father has well noted) Verbum Dei est Lucerna, ad quam fur deprehenditur; and our Saviour Christ of old, They hate the Light, because their Deeds are evil.

But that Imputation of the Scripture's being writ occasionally, it is as weak as impious and blasphemous. As if the Spirit of God would not assist the Apostles most when Occasion called for it; or as if he were to study how to inspire them and illuminate them, and could not do it extempore, or upon emergent Occasions, but would be taken unprovided. These things savour of gross Carnality and Ignorance of the very Nature of God and his Holy Spirit, which Christ promised should not fail to be with them for ever, for the right settling of the Affairs of the Church; that is to say, that it would not desert them so long as they lived, and acted in the Ministry and Service thereof: Which therefore must make the Scripture very precious and of inestimable Value to all sincere Believers.

Wherefore any one Paragraph of the Epistles of St. Paul, to whom Christ appeared, and called from Heaven, and commissioned to be an Apostle, to lay the Foundation and first Structure of his Church, ought to be preferred before many thousands of pretended Infallible Councils, who could never shew any such extraordinary Commission to prove themselves Infallible. For God by that miraculous Appearing to Paul from Heaven, and so appointing him to be an Apostle, did proclaim to all the

the World that he would infallibly assist him; and that therefore what was imparted to the World by him should be a Law irreversible to Christendom. Whence the Nulling of the Authority of St. Paul's Writings were the Abrogating of the very Law of Christ, which were a most rebellious and blasphemous Enterprize against the Sovereignty of Christ himself.

4. But there is also another way of Undermining or Subverting the Rule and Sovereignty of the Son of God, and that is, An undervaluing his Laws in proportion of Penalties laid upon the Transgression of them and of some slighter humane Ecclesiastick Institutes. As surely these would be very Antichristian Instances of this kind, namely, If Absolution for him that kills his Father, or lies with his Mother, should be five or six times cheaper than of him that takes two Orders in one Day, or is Ordainned without Letters dismissory: Or that to be Ordained out of the Set-times of the Year should have a Penalty ten times greater than Lying with a Man's own Mother, or, if you will, but equal to the deflowering of a Virgin, the lying with a Man's own Sister, Murther, Perjury, Sacrilege, Simony, revealing Confession, keeping a Concubine, lying with a Woman in the Church; but equal, I say, to all these Nine put together. What could vilifie the indispensable Law of God and Christ more, than to make so many Transgressions, and so hainous, less than the not Observing of that Trifle of humane Tradition, To Ordain only at such Times of the Year?

5. And certainly all rigid Impositions of such things as are not necessary nor very requisite, are a Violation of the Form and Polity of the Kingdom of Christ, whose Design was to afford his Members all just and reasonable Easements, not to lay any weighty or unprofitable Yoaks, or Burthens upon 'em. For these are not the Tokens of the Kingdom of Christ, but infamous Marks of the Tyranny of Antichrist. But of this we discoursed when describing the second Limb of this ugly Image, and therefore shall not at present insist any further thereon. But this would be a more congenial and more conspicuous Vilification of the Word of God, namely, if instead thereof there were read in the Churches finely-devised Fables to entertain the People withal. As if they were wiser than the Wisdom of God himself, and could entertain the People more edifyingly with such incredible and ridiculous Stories, than with the Discourses of Christ Jesus, and sober and easily-intelligible Histories of Truth, that Divine Providence has recorded for the Instruction of his Church.

6. Dispensations also against the Law of Christ, whether written in the Word of God, or comprized in the Sacred Law of Nature, which is but the Transcript of that Law in the Eternal Logos, Christ according to his Divinity, were also an Antichristian Defeating of Christ's Rule and Sovereignty: as also would be the Interpretation of the serious Injunctions of Christ as if they were not Præcepta, but Consilia, not Commands, but Advice left to us to follow if we would, or to let alone if we pleased; whenas Christ plainly declares, that he that breaks the least of these Commandments, and teaches Men so to do, shall be called the least in the Kingdom of Heaven. What then would it be to dispense with Perjury, Treason, Murther, Incest, Adultery, Sodomy, and other such hainous Crimes? What were it but the utter taking away the Law of Christ, and destroying his Kingdom upon Earth? Mat. 5.

The Fraud and Self-endedness of which easy Anarchy is only to fill the Net full, though it be only of rotten Sticks and Dirt, so long as out of this Dirt they can extract Silver. But the Mischief is, that the Riches of this false Church would flow and rise with the Height of the Abominations and Transgressions of rich Sinners, till a Deluge of Wrath wash away this Deluge of Sin from off the Face of the Earth. But those in the Interim that are so fooliish as to believe these Dispensations, and think they are come into a fair Liberty of Spirit, having found so facil ghostly Fathers, will thereby most certainly become the Bond-slaves of Sin, which in the Conclusion will as certainly deliver them up to Eternal Death.

7. But what Plea or Pretence, will you say, may there be made of acting Religiously, while they act thus Enormously, in letting the Reins loose to all manner of Wickedness to them that will go to the Price of so great a Liberty? Why yes. This Antichristian Power might pretend that all that Power which is in Christ (tho' it be plainly a Casting Christ out of his Royal Throne) is derived upon him or them as his Rightful Successors. But Christ being the Absolutely-supreme Power may do whatever he will, and dispense with his own Laws as he pleases: Wherefore this Antichristian Power, pretending to be or have the very same Power, may dispense with the Laws of Christ as it pleases, especially for the enriching the Church; for all such Interest cannot be otherwise than holy and pious. Which yet is such an Imagination, that nothing can be more Treaſonable againſt the Regal Office of Chriſt, nor more deſtructive of his Kingdom.

8. The Effect of which villainous Principle would alſo certainly appear in this Synagogue of Satan or Antichriſt, and we ſhould find Laws and Inſtitutes quite contrary to the Laws and Decrees of the Son of God. As certainly ſuch as theſe would be; namely, Sundry ſorts of Idolatry, ſuch as I have inſtanced in already, and need not repeat, and have noted the Frauds and Self-ends in the Practice of them; The teaching for Doctrines the Commandments of Men, which is expreſly againſt our Saviour's own Command, and of which I have given ſundry Examples in my * ſecond Branch of Antichriſtianiſm; The with-holding the Cup from the Laity, notwithſtanding the Inſtitution of the Lord's-Supper by Chriſt himſelf does ſo plainly injoin the communicating both of Bread and Wine, Drink you all of this; and St. Paul again, following the Example of Chriſt, Let a Man examine himſelf, and ſo eat of this Bread, and drink of this Cup: which indefinite Command ſurely includes all. But the drinking of the Cup being made the Privilege of the Prieſt only, it magnifies his Condition hugely, and makes the poor Laity feel and acknowledge their Diſtance, how unholy and how removed from God they are in compariſon of the Prieſthood. This would be the true Reaſon, though they might pretend (for I think they have nothing better to pretend) the Length of the Lay-mens Beards; which I ſuppoſe they would willingly cut off, provided they might by ſo doing take away all Occaſion from the Prieſts of Depriving them of their due Share in ſo holy a Sacrament.

Book I. ch. 12.

* Book I. ch. 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22.

Mat. 26, 27.

1 Cor. 11. 28.

Again, The ſerving of God in the Church in an unknown Language, praying to him and praiſing him, and reading the Scripture in a Tongue the People underſtand not, is, evidently againſt the Directions of St. Paul in this Particular, and againſt that more univerſal and indiſpenſable Law, Let all things be done to Edifying. The ſame account is alſo to be made of the Worſhipping of Angels, which the ſame Apoſtle does expreſly ſpeak againſt; and likewiſe the forbidding to marry, and the abſtaining from Meats upon a Religious Account, with ſeveral other ſuch. All which being expreſly againſt the Commands or Laws of Chriſt, it were a moſt reproachful and traitorous Affront to him, the true Head of the Church, and a plain Declaring againſt the Right of his Sovereignty, thus to make any Laws or Inſtitutes ſo contrary to thoſe himſelf has eſtabliſhed.

1 Cor. 14.

1 Cor. 14. 26.

Col. 2. 18.

1 Tim. 4. 3.

9. As were alſo the nulling at any time what-ever binds according to the Univerſally-known Laws of God and Nature: For theſe are the Laws of Chriſt, as he is the Eternal Logos. And therefore where any are bound by ſolemn Oath in publick Contracts or Covenants lawfully taken, or are legitimately married, and have committed no Offence that might void the Bonds of Wedlock; to pretend to have a Power to diſpenſe with, or to null theſe Contracts and Oaths, or to legitimate ſuch Marriages as are contrary to the Laws of God and Nature, This alſo would certainly be a manifeſt Affronting the Sovereignty of Chriſt, and the Power thus practiſing would diſcover it ſelf plainly Antichriſtian.

10. And laſtly, to fill up the Meaſure of this abhorred Limb of Antichriſt which we are Depainting; If this pretended Infallible Power ſhould commit cruel Slaughters and Maſſacres upon the true Subjects of Chriſt, ſuch as are Innocent and Guiltleſs of any Wrong againſt any Man according to the Law of God and Nature, but are (as I ſaid) really the true Subjects of Chriſt; were not this Practice palpably Antichriſtian? Which Sentence againſt them would be very hard, if it ſhould run but thus, Let them be put to Death without Mercy, though they be the true Subjects of Chriſt Jeſus.

How deviliſhly Antichriſtian then muſt that Act be that condemns them to Death for that very thing that makes them the true Subjects of Jeſus Chriſt, that is to ſay, becauſe they faithfully adhere to the indiſpenſable Laws of their Lord and Maſter? And in what a State of manifeſt Hoſtility againſt Chriſt's true and faithful Subjects muſt this Power be, that ſo profeſſes and practiſes, that if they could find out any of them, and that if it lay in their Power to deſtroy them, they would root them from off the Face of the Earth, or attempt to ſubdue them by all imaginable Penalties and Cruelties, by Impriſonments, Tortures, Fire and Faggot, and what not? And all this (which makes the Crime infinitely more execrable) under a Pretence of doing Service to Chriſt Jeſus, whoſe deareſt and ſincereſt Members they thus barbarouſly perſecute and deſtroy.

This

*

This one Limb alone of Antichriſtianiſm, I mean this vafrous and bloody Treaſon againſt the Holy Majeſty of Chriſt and his true and living Members, has ſuch a Weight of Wickedneſs with it, that it is even enough of it ſelf to make almoſt an entire Antichriſt.

CHAP. IV.

1. Sundry particular Oppoſitions againſt the Prophetick Office of Chriſt, which may be the Characters of that grand Pſeudo-prophet that was to come into the World. 2. That the Spirit of Prophecy is not to be monopolized by any one Perſon, but is free. 3. An Excerpt out of Cælius Secundus Curio to that purpoſe. 4. The Silencing the Dictates of thoſe common Notions implanted in humane Souls, the higheſt Affront to the Prophetick Office of Chriſt that can be. 5. Several Abſurdities propounded as Inſtances of that Tyranny over the immutable Principles of Humane Underſtanding, with the Detection of that eminent Falſe-prophet thereby. 6. That it is infinitely more likely that this pretended Prophet ſhould be Fallible, than the foregoing Abſurdities True. 7. That the Slaying of the Prophets, 8. Together with the above-mentioned Oppoſitions againſt the Prophetical Office of Chriſt, make up a conſpicuous Limb of Antichriſtianiſm.

1. BUT we will further conſider this Antichriſtian Oppoſition in reſpect to Chriſt's Prophetical Office. Where we ſhall diſpatch very briefly, ſeveral of thoſe Practices againſt the Kingly Office of Chriſt equally reflecting upon his Prophetical. As firſt, The pretending the holy Oracles of God are ſo obſcure that the People can make nothing of them, and then upon that Pretence violently with-holding them from them, upon Pain of Death not to meddle with them againſt the Mind of the Church: This would make Chriſt a Prophet without Predictions or Inſtructions, as I have noted above; which therefore would be a grand Injury to him, as he is that Great Prophet of God ſent into the World. The Prohibiting alſo the Reading of ſuch Expoſitions of Scriptures as are writ by plain and ſincere Followers of Chriſt, who have Interpreted with Skill and Faithfulneſs the more uſeful Places of Holy Writ: This alſo would be an Antichriſtian Reſiſtance of him in his Prophetick Office; but that the utter Stifling of the Spirit of Prophecy in his true Members, if they could perſwade them that there is already an Infallible Prophet and Interpreter, whoſe ſole Meaning is the true Senſe of the Scripture, and that Scripture it ſelf is nothing without it, and that none has either Authority or Capacity to Interpret but he.

What an egregious Pſeudo-prophet then, think you, would this be, who takes upon him to ſpeak nothing but Oracles and infallible Truth, while he ſpeaks and defines, and acts ſuch things as I have hitherto deſcribed, Multifarious Idolatries, Inſupportable Superſtitions, and moſt impudent Annulments of the plain and expreſs Laws and Doctrines of Chriſt? Who therefore ever can, if this great Pſeudo-prophet do not, prove the famed Antichriſt indeed, that monopolizes the Right of Propheſying to himſelf alone, that he may the better deceive the whole World; and will be Infallible, that is to ſay, unfailingly inſpired, that this extravagant Boaſt may the more palpably diſcover him to be that eminent Falſe-prophet that Chriſtendom has ſo long expected and feared?

2. Such a pretended Monopoly of the Power of Propheſying as this is diametrically oppoſite to that Liberty of the Spirit of Prophecy which is the Gift of Chriſt the Eternal Wiſdom of God, which is excluded no where but out of a wicked and polluted Heart, out of every Soul that is ſubject unto Sin: otherwiſe that Spirit is deſcribed in the Book of Wiſdom, that it is not in the Power of any Potentate to confine it to himſelf.

For it is a Lover of that which is Good, Quick, which cannot be letted or hindred, ready to do Good, kind to Man, ſtedfaſt, ſure, having all Power, overſeeing all things, and going through all Underſtanding, pure and ſubtil Spirits. For Wiſdom is more moving than any Motion; ſhe paſſeth and goes through all things by reaſon of her Pureneſs. For ſhe is the Breath of the Power of God, and a pure Influence flowing from the Glory of the Almighty: therefore can no defiled thing touch her. For ſhe is the Brightneſs of Chap. 7. v. 22, the everlaſting Light, the unſpotted Mirrour of the Power of God, and the Image of his Goodneſs: And being but One ſhe can do all things, and remaining in her ſelf ſhe maketh all things New; and in all Ages entring into holy Soul, ſhe makes them Friends of God and Prophets.

What one Man therefore or Company of Men can pretend that the Gift of Propheſying is entailed on them only, unleſs they were the only Pure and Undefiled? Or rather, What Ground or Aſſurance have they that themſelves can propheſie aright, they living in Sin, in Luxury and in all worldly Impurities?

3. It is nobly concluded of Cælius Secundus Curio againſt Floribellus: Neque enim vera Dei cognitio, verúſque cultus, unius aut Familiæ, aut Gentis, aut Sectæ propria eſſe poteſt; ſed quicunque ſenſu immortalitatis tanguntur, ii ad ſe eandem pertinere exiſtimare debent. Poterat quidem Judæorum Gens Circumciſionem externam, Aaronis Familia Sacerdotium, alias item Ceremonias ſibi jure quodam vendicare; ſed divinam & internam Circumciſionem, vivas illas animi veráſque Hoſtias, æternas Naturæ leges, quas in hominum animis Jova Opt. Max. à principio inſculpſerat, omnium mortalium ſententiis comprobatas, ſibi nec Judæi, nec Græci, nec Romani, nec ulla præterea Natio, quaſi propria vendicare potuerunt.

And immediately after ſpeaking more particularly of Chriſtian Religion as it is revealed in Scripture, Ac nè illud quidem verè dici poteſt, quod quidam putant, ſummam Religionis quaſi Hæreditariam ad unum aliquem veniſſe, ſic ut pro libidine ſua interpretari, addere, demere, mutare, ſtatuere, abrogare aliquid in ea poſſit. Neque enim idcirco Leges divinitus latæ ſunt, Religióve patefacta, quò in eam mortales jus haberent; ſed ut omni ſtudio, curâ, labore, diligentiâ colerent, ejúſque dignitatem tuerentur.

4. Wherefore as concerning thoſe Eternal and Immutable Rules of Divine Reaſon which God has engraven upon every Man's Spirit, and come in as freely as the Light of the Sun into their natural Eyes, and without which what-ever Prophecies there are or Inſtructions in the Holy Writ, it were impoſſible for us to be aſcertained of the Truth of them, or indeed of any Meaning of them; I ſay, upon pretence of an imperious Infallibility to deface theſe Divine Characters of the Soul, or to command them Silence, or to give them the Lie, would be an Act of the moſt notorious Falſe-prophet, and moſt contradictious to the Prophetick Office of Chriſt, (whether you reſpect his Humanity or Divinity) that can ever manifeſt himſelf in the World.

5. As for Example, If this impudent Oracle ſhould declare, "That one and the "ſame Individual Body can be in ſeveral Places at one and the ſame Moment of "Time, yea in Infinite Places, in a manner, and at vaſt Diſtances at once; That "that may be Made or Created which is already in Being; That the real and ſen-"ſible Mode of a Subject may ſubſiſt ſeparate from that Subject, as, ſuppoſe, Mo-"tion or Hardneſs, where there is nothing Moved or Hard; That what we have Aſ-"ſurance of by all our Senſes, and by the Senſes of all Men conſtantly, the Object "being at a due Diſtance, and the Medium fitted, and the Organs rightly diſpoſed, "may notwithſtanding all this be falſe; That the ſame Body at the ſame time may "be bigger and leſſer than it ſelf; but an Inch diſtant from me, and a thouſand "Miles diſtant from me, at once; That one and the ſame Perſon may be many thou-"ſand Miles abſent from himſelf, and that he may both ſit ſtill and make a Journey "to himſelf at the ſame time; That an entire organized Body may be wholly in e-"very Part thereof, all of it in the Eye, and conſequently every Part in every Part, "the comely Parts in thoſe on Which Nature has beſtowed leſs Comelineſs; That an "entire Body may be divided, and yet not into two Parts (ſuppoſe) but into two "Wholes, and both the ſame with the divided entire Body; That the ſame Body "may be now at Athens, and after at Thebes, and yet not paſs any Medium direct or "circuitous to come thither; That a Man may ſwallow every Atom of his own "Body at once into his Belly, Limbs, Back, Belly, Head, and Mouth and all; That "one and the ſame individual Perſon may be of different Ages at once, above thirty "Years old, and yet not above three Hours old at the ſame time; That Religious "Worſhip, even that which is Latria, may be given to Images, and yet without "Idolatry; That Chriſt may ſatisfie for the Faults of Men, and yet they remain "obnoxious to the Penalties due for thoſe Faults; with ſeveral others of that "kind.

I ſay, whoſoever, upon pretence of being Prophet-general to the World, ſhould lift up his Head on High and utter ſuch Infallible Contradictions as theſe in the Name of the Lord of Hoſts, or ſuch Oracular Definitions as muſt of neceſſity be falſe unleſs leſs it be true, we need not ſpend time in asking him, Art thou he, or do we look for another? But may aſſuredly conclude that he is that eminent Falſe-prophet expected of old, who does Antichriſtianly oppoſe himſelf againſt the Spirit of Truth, which Chriſt has imparted to the World, partly by writing thoſe immutable and infallible Rules of common Reaſon in the Souls of Men; and partly by thoſe Holy Writings which he has left to his Church, recorded by Inſpired Men and Prophets; and laſtly, by a ſpecial Converſe with more holy and ſanctified Souls, to whom he does in a more certain and aſſured way than ordinary impart his Spirit of Illumination, as appears out of what we have cited out of the Book of Wiſdom, and might be proved out of ſundry other places of the Canonical Scripture.

6. And now whereas ſuch a Falſe-Prophet as this has nothing to defend himſelf from the Suſpicion of being an Impoſtor, but the Peremptory and Impudent bearing Men down that he is Infallible; it is but ſeaſonable to appeal here to the World, Whether it be not infinitely more likely that this one Man, or Company of Men, or Succeſſion of either, doing no real Miracles to extort Belief, nor living better, nor ſo well as other Men, ſhould be Fallible and ſubject to Error, or given to Deceit, than that the above-cited abſurd Concluſions ſhould be true. For neither he nor they can be Infallible, if theſe be real Falſities, as undoubtedly they are.

7. Add unto all this, That if this Pſeudo-prophetick Power ſhould ſerve the true Prophets of Chriſt and faithful Witneſſes as the falſe Prophet did Micajah, ſtrike them on the Cheeks, nay cruelly perſecute them and kill them, (dealing ſo with them as the Jews did of old with our dear Lord and Maſter, who complained, But now you ſeek to kill me, a Man that has told you the Truth which I have heard of God) Would they not prove themſelves to be that Jeruſalem that has become an Harlot, and of whom our Saviour has predicted, That it cannot be that a Prophet periſh out of Jeruſalem? She muſt be the Executioner. O Jeruſalem, Jeruſalem, thou that killeſt the Prophets, and ſtoneſt them that are ſent unto thee, Art not thou that myſtical City of Hypocrites, the falſe Houſe of God, Sodom and Ægypt, where our Lord alſo was Crucified as well as the Prophets before him, and his holy Witneſſes after him? For the falſe Jeruſalem, the adulterate Church, is ambitious to monopolize to her ſelf the Trade of Blood and of Slaying of the Prophets and Witneſſes of God. But this may ſeem too vehement an Excurſion.

John 8. 40.

Luke 13. 33.

8. The Thing that I contend for is this; That that Polity that uſurps this Authority to themſelves, and does all theſe Indignities, Injuries and Cruelties, and uſes all theſe unlawful Means which I have noted, for the ſtifling of the Spirit of Truth, inſomuch that Chriſt neither in his own Perſon, nor in thoſe Holy Records he has recommended to the World, nor in his living Inſtruments which he extraordinarily directs and aſſiſts, is permitted to admoniſh and inform Men what is the right Way, and what thoſe indiſpenſable Duties to be done; that that Polity, I ſay, that behaves it ſelf thus, does therein notoriouſly Antichriſtianize, that is, oppoſe Chriſt in his Prophetick Office as much as any Antichriſt can do; and that the being thus minded, and acting after this manner is an undoubted and conſpicuous piece of the craſſeſt Antichriſtianiſm.

CHAP.

CHAP. V.

1. That the Pretence of Repeating the Oblation of the real Body of Chriſt is a Derogation to the Excellency of Chriſt's Prieſthood. 2. Fuller Aggravations of this wicked Affront. 3. A Prevention of a Subterfuge. 4. Another more dangerous Aſſault againſt the Prieſthood of Chriſt, and the main End of his Suffering. 5, 6. The making the Blood of Chriſt available to take away the Guilt of Sin only, and not the Puniſhment, how ſalvagely Antichriſtian. 7. Further Aggravations of this deſpightful Piece of Antichriſtianiſm. 8. That there can be nothing more fundamentally Antichriſtian than it. 9. That the Crime, conſidering the Circumſtances, ſeems worſe than that of Judas; with the Fraud of this Wickedneſs. 10. As alſo the great Miſchief thereof. 11. Injuries againſt the Mediatorſhip of Chriſt. 12. An Anſwer to ſome ſlight Pretences. 13. A further Confutation of ſuch Antichriſtian Errors and Miſpractices. 14. The Fraud and Miſchief of multiplying Mediators. 15. A ſpecial Miſchief done thereby to our Growth in Grace and Holineſs.

1. LET us now decypher what Antichriſtian Oppoſition may be made againſt the Sacerdotal Office of Chriſt. There is one main and ſignal Privilege of the Prieſthood of Chriſt, which is apparently and expreſly ſet down by the Author to the Hebrews, and look'd upon as a ſpecial Dignity and Perfection thereof, Heb. 9. Nor yet that he ſhould offer himſelf often, as the High-prieſt entreth into the Holy place every Year with the Bood of others: For then muſt he often have ſuffered ſince the Foundation of the World; but now once in the End of the World hath he appeared to put away Sin by the Sacrifice of himſelf. And as it is appointed for Men once to die, but after this the Judgment: So Chriſt was once offered to bear the Sins of many, &c. And again, chap. 10. And every Prieſt ſtandeth daily miniſtring and offering oftentimes the ſame Sacrifices, which can never take away Sins: But this Man after he had offered one Sacrifice for Sins for ever, (which a little before he calls the Offering of his Body once for all) ſate down at the Right-hand of God, &c. Which Words do plainly declare, That the Excellency of that true Offering of that Eternal High-Prieſt, when he offered up his Body to his Father to reconcile the World unto God, is ſuch, as that it needs no Repetition; Salvation being perfected in that one Act of Chriſt as to the Matter of Propitiation for Sins.

Whence it would follow, That the pretending that Chriſt is really and actually offered up as a Propitiatory Sacrifice for the Quick and the Dead by the Hands of the Prieſt in the Celebration of the Euchariſt, were a foul Derogation to the Perfectneſs of that one Oblation of our Tranſcendent High-prieſt Chriſt Jeſus, when he offered himſelf up to his Father for an Atonement for the Sins of the whole World. I ſay, this preſumptuous Conceit of offering him up really and bodily in every Celebration of the Lord's-Supper, were an hainous Anticriſtian Affront againſt the Sacerdotal Excellency of Chriſt.

2. Which Figment is ſtill the more vile and filthy, if we conſider with what courſe Abuſes of the Perſon of Chriſt, and with what villainous and barbarous Injuries it muſt neceſſarily be conceived to be accompanied: How often by the mere Power of that Quinque-verbal Charm we above-mentioned, he muſt be forced to fall into the Hands of Sinners, though uttered with no Devotion toward him at all; for elſe the whole Company might be conſtrained to commit the groſſeſt Idolatry imaginable, even as groſs as the moſt barbarous Nations ever did commit. But if he come into the Prieſt's Hands, he is betrayed into worſe Uſages than Jeremy of old that was let down into the miry Dungeon.

A Man's Fancy would abhor to follow whither they ſend that which they ſay is the King of Glory, the living and real Body or Perſon of Chriſt. Which horrid and naſty Servitude he is put to, not once or twice, nor in one of theſe ſtinking miry Priſons at once, but in many Thouſands at the ſame time, and weekly, nay, it may be, daily, for many hundreds of Years together.

What Deſpight and Mockery therefore would it be for to keep their Churches clean and adorned, to burn Incenſe and ſweet Odours, to have all things lightſome and ſplendid, againſt the Lord whom they ſeek come into his Holy Temple; and yet as ſoon as he is come, not to permit him to have the common Enjoyment of theſe ſumptuous Preparations, but, as it were in Mockery and Deſpight, (as I ſaid) to to clap him up into a Dungeon more foul and miry than that of the afflicted Prophet? And when he is more gently entreated, yet to encloſe him in a Pyx like a reprieved Priſoner, that they may afterwards let him out occaſionally into the tainted Mouths and Bodies of expiring Men? As if Chriſt propheſied falſe upon the Croſs when he ſaid, It is finiſhed; when there was ſuch an inexhauſted Reſidue of loathſome Drudgery behind for him to undergo.

3. Theſe things are very ugly and unworthy, which though they be not in the Power of any Man to do againſt Chriſt, yet in that they profeſs to do them, they acknowledge they would do them if they could; and therefore do really vilify him and reproach him, as they that hang up or otherwiſe execute an eſcaped Criminal in effigie, declare their Mind as much as if they had really executed it upon his Perſon.

But this horrid Reproach againſt the Perſon of Chriſt is ſtill the more aggravable, if they be ſo barbarouſly ſerious in imprinting it on the Minds and Beliefs of Men, that they will lay violent Hands on them that deny it, and ſlay them. Can a Man excogitate a more induſtriouſly-managed Blaſphemy againſt that Holy Tabernacle of the Godhead, the Body of the Lord-Jeſus, than this? Or deſire a firmer Proof of their Readineſs to uſe the Body of Chriſt ſo courſely and cruelly if they could, when they do not ſtick to murther thoſe that deny it to be in their Power ſo to do, though they had never ſo great a Mind to do it?

4. But though they fall ſhort of their Malice or Preſumption here, yet they may aſſault the ſacred Office of Chriſt's Prieſthood with a more dangerous and miſchievous Attempt, exceeding ungrateful and reproachful, a Poiſon that would eat out the very Marrow and Sweetneſs of the Chriſtian Religion, and damp and obſcure the Grace and Glory of the Sacerdotal Function of the Lord-Jeſus, and fruſtrate and evacuate the main End of his Sufferings, which was to ſatisfie the Wrath of God for the Sins of the World, by making himſelf a Propitiatory Sacrifice for them; that ſo many as believed in Chriſt Jeſus, according to the gentle Tenour of that New-Covenant which He made in his Blood for Remiſſion of Sins, endeavouring to follow his Precepts according to that Light and Strength which ſhall be orderly or gradually imparted to them, might be ſure of the Favour of God, being juſtified by Faith in the Paſſion and Merits of Chriſt, and not by any Works or Merits of their own.

For that this is the Tenour of the New Covenant, and the true Sum of that moſt acceptable and joyful News of the Goſpel, is abundantly evident through all the Writings of the Apoſtles: namely, That being juſtified by Faith, in a forenſal Senſe, that is, acquitted and aſſoiled from the Guilt of all our Sins, as well as in ſeveral Meaſures, according to our ſeveral Ages and Growths in Chriſtianity, ſanctified and purified from them, (which Aſſoilment from Guilt does neceſſarily imply Immunity and Security from Puniſhment) we might, as the Apoſtle ſpeaks, have Peace with God through our Lord Jeſus Chriſt. This aſſuredly is the very Nature and Genius of the Evangelical Diſpenſation, and the ſweeteſt and the moſt refreſhing Flower to decayed Mortals in all this Garden of God, and the peculiar Endearment of ſincere Souls to be loyal and obedient Children and unfeigned Lovers of his Son Jeſus. Rom. 5. 1.

5. Whence it will follow, That there can be nothing more ſalvagely and barbarouſly Antichriſtian than to root out this comfortable Plant, this Tree of Life out of God's Paradiſe, the Church. For ſuch is the Croſs of Chriſt, on which that holy Propitiatory Sacrifice did hang; the Influence of whoſe Death is a cooling Balſam that heals the Wounds and Stings of a troubled Conſcience, which the more ſincere, many times, the more diſtreſſed. And therefore the Atonement of our dying Saviour conſidered in his Soul-melting Paſſion is exhibited to her as her only and proper Cure.

Nothing therefore more deſpightfully can be invented againſt the Value and Uſe of that ineſtimable Blood which our ever-to be-adored High-Prieſt ſhed upon the Croſs for the ſecuring our Peace, than to miſinterpret the Efficacy thereof, as if it had the Virtue of only taking away the Guilt of our Sins, but that if we will be free from the Puniſhment, we muſt labour out that by our own Merits and Satisfactory Penances. This is to turn the intended Sweetneſs of the Chriſtian Diſpenſation into a Stygian Sourneſs, the joyful and glorious Day of the Goſpel into a cloudy Ægyptian Night, (wherein dwells nothing but Horrour and Servitude)

Peace

Peace of Mind into Perturbation, and to make the Blood of the Son of God more vile than that of Bulls and Goats.

6. Wherefore it is manifeſt, That to teach that we are not juſtified by Faith, but by Works and Penances, which we muſt ſuffer as ſuch, that is to ſay, as Satisfactory Penances, and not by Way of Correction and Emendation of Life, ſuch Hardſhips as may be medicinal and curative of what-ever Depravations of Nature we labour under, but merely (as I ſaid) for Satisfaction of Sin committed, as if ſo be the Sacrifice and Satisfaction of Chriſt upon the Croſs were not ſufficient to atone the Wrath of God, without every Man ſuffer for himſelf alſo the Puniſhments from which Chriſt came to free us, that with a more ingenuous Love and comfortable Liberty of Spirit from all ſuch Bondages of the Law and ſlaviſh Anxieties we might ſerve Him in a true and living Way, in real Holineſs and Righteouſneſs; I ſay, to teach ſuch Doctrine as this, would be plainly to ſupplant and oppoſe the Sacerdotal Office of Chriſt in that eminent Act and genuin Iſſue thereof (the Oblation of himſelf for the Sins of the World, and the making our Pacification with God) than which nothing can be excogitated more Antichriſtian.

7. Which ſtill will appear more hideous if we conſider the Extent that the Neceſſity of theſe Penances may be conceived to have, not diſturbing the Peace only of this Life, but purſuing us alſo, like the Poetical Furies, with Whips and Torches, to plague us and torment us in the other State, as we have * already deſcribed: As if what-ever Blemiſh or Miſcarriage of this frail Life has happened could not be expiated, no not by the Blood of the Eternal Son of God, but every Man muſt pay his own Debt in the other World to the utmoſt Farthing. Which aſſuredly makes the Sufferings of Chriſt of none Effect, and is quite againſt the Senſe of a Propitiatory Sacrifice.

* Book I. Ch. 22.

Is this he of whom the Prophet Eſay in that melodiouſly-mournful Burthen ſo ſweetly and comfortably complains, He was wounded for our Tranſgreſſions, he was bruiſed for our Iniquities; the Chaſtiſement of our Peace was upon Him, and with his Stripes we are healed? No, ſays this ungrateful and perfidious Antichriſtian Power, every Man ſhall be healed with his own Stripes, and bear the Burthen of his own Iniquity; he ſhall be whipt, and ſtript, and wear Hair-cloath next his Skin, take long and tedious Pilgrimages, creep upon his bare Knees on flinty Cauſeys, faſt and watch, not for Correction and Emendation of Life, but for Satisfaction for his Sins already committed, as if the Son of God had never ſatisfied for them.

Ch. 53.

And this he ſhall ſuffer not only in this Life, but the Fire of Purgatory, which is a temporary Hell, (and muſt torment Men as long as they pleaſe to define) ſhall be kindled about him in the other World; which nothing ſhall extinguiſh but the full Payment for the whole Score, (for if not for all, why for any?) a plenary Satisfaction made, not by Chriſt, but his own ſelf, or any Friend elſe that will do him the Favour. For he is taught to decline the Merit and Satisfaction of Chriſt, who was only able to ſatisfy for us, and who did it unhired and unrewarded by us; and to flie to any one, may it but bring a Piece of Money in to the Church, rather than to him.

8. Can there be then any thing more fundamentally and eſſentially Antichriſtian than thus to ſlight and caſt away, or fraudulently for filthy Lucre to ſuppreſs and conceal, the precious Fruit of the Paſſion and Merits of ſo ſufficient and loving a Saviour, and make Men believe that they are to be ſaved by their own Merits, and to ſatisfie both here and hereafter for their own Sins; whenas it is a thing both impoſſible and needleſs, and diametrically oppoſite to the Meaning and Deſign of the Death and Paſſion and complete Satisfaction made by our bleſſed Saviour himſelf.

9. This Doctrine ſeems abominable enough of it ſelf; but if we conſider upon what Grounds and with what Circumſtances it may be foiſted into the Church by that Antichriſtian Power we are a-deſcribing, it will be yet infinitely more hateful and execrable. Judas betrayed Chriſt for a Piece of Money into the Hands of them that crucified Him, for which his Memory is accurſed to all Poſterity: And yet Chriſt was betrayed but to that which he was willing to undergo, namely, He willingly underwent the Wrath of God, that he might ſhelter us from it, which was the very End of his Agony and Paſſion.

Now ſuppoſe this falſe Church we are depainting ſhould for a Piece of Money betray the very End and Deſign of Chriſt's Paſſion, and quite fruſtrate and evacuate it; were were not Chriſt worſe betrayed here than by Judas himſelf? For Judas betrayed Him but to what he had a Mind to, that he might be an Oblation to God for the Remiſſion of Sins to all Believers: But this Antichriſtian Church, fruſtrating him of the End of his Suffering, more barbarous than Judas, betray the Saviour of the World to an unwilling Death, and diſappoint him of that Prize for which alone he parted with his deareſt Blood; and are more truely the Murtherers of this juſt One than the very Jews that crucified Him, robbing Him of that which was the Life in his Death, and prized by Him above his own Life, that is to ſay, His being a ſufficient Sacrifice and Atonement for the Sins of the whole World.

Which holy and weighty Article of the Chriſtian Faith that Church which barters away for Gain, to ſcare the People into the Belief of a Neceſſity of Buying Pardons and Indulgences, of Hiring Prieſts to ſing their Souls out of Purgatory, of Redeeming themſelves by Sums of Money from cruel impoſed Penances, muſt needs in this Point Antichriſtianize in the higheſt and moſt hainous Manner againſt the Sacerdotal Office of Chriſt that can be imagined.

10. This is the wicked Fraud they commit, and the Miſchief is not unproportionable. For by the perſwading of Men that they are juſtified by their own Merits, and muſt ſatisfie for themſelves for all their Sins and Offences, either in this Life or that which is to come, or both, nay indeed in both, unleſs they die ſo perfect as no modeſt Man will ever imagin himſelf, they either put the Minds of the ſerious upon an intolerable Rack of Sollicitude about the Torments of Purgatory, which they affrightfully ſet out to be of the ſame Nature, though not of the ſame Continuance, with thoſe of Hell; or ſwell the Minds of the Vain-ſpirited with unwholeſome Tumours of Pride, upon Conceit of ſuch Merit as never was nor ever can be in any Man living that is a mere Man; and, laſtly, deface the peculiar Glory of Chriſt and his Religion, in which there does really breath nothing but Sweetneſs and Pity and tender Compaſſion; our Head and Sovereign, the Lord Jeſus, ſuſtaining thoſe great Torments both of Mind and Body on the Croſs, to ſet his People free, that they might ſerve him in a Way of Love and Ingenuity, contrary to that bloody and cruel Vaſſalage in which Satan aforetimes had enſlaved the World.

Wherefore this falſe Church by the Fiction of Purgatory and the bloody and cruel Penances impoſed on the Flock of Chriſt, by mercileſs Flagellations and Excoriations of the Fleſh, more like the Prieſts of the Devil, that old Tyrant, than like the Miniſters of the Goſpel of the Son of God, would make Chriſtendom of one Hue again with ancient Paganiſm, and ſell the Children of Iſrael into a ſecond Ægyptian Bondage to be afflicted and oppreſſed under thoſe hard Task-Maſters: which State of things how groſly Antichriſtian it is, I have already abundantly noted.

11. But yet there is a further Oppoſing of Chriſt's Sacerdotal Office, and that very conſiderable, as he intercedes and mediates for us with God, Concerning which the Scripture is very expreſs, as in the former Caſe, That Chriſt was offered but once, ſo in this, That our Mediator is but one. For there is one God, and one Mediator between God and Men, the Man Chriſt Jeſus, who gave himſelf a Ranſom for all, to be teſtified in due time. Where not only the Doctrine is aſſerted, That there is but one Mediator, but the Reaſon ſubjoyned, Who gave himſelf a Ranſom for all. Which being peculiar to him alone, there can be no Mediator betwixt God and Man but he: And the Merits of his Paſſion and all the Perfections of his Life are of ſo infinite Virtue, as being the declared Son of God, that to join the Merits of any Saints or Angels with his in this Behalf, would be a reproachful and blaſphemous Derogation to the Supereminency of his Condition. 1 Tim. 5, 6.

Wherefore the Right of Mediatorſhip upon Point of Merit being Chriſt's alone, it muſt of Neceſſity be an Act of Antichriſtianiſm, and an open Injury againſt Chriſt's Perſon, to join any other with Him in that Office; as if he himſelf were not ſufficient, but were ſo weak and unable for that Function, that he wanted Coadjutors.

12. As for thoſe Allegations, That God will ſpare a City for fifty Righteous in it; and that he would protect Jeruſalem for his Servant David's Sake, becauſe he did that which was Right in the Eyes of the Lord; and that he will be merciful to thouſands of them that love Him and keep his Commandments; No Reaſoning from theſe Scriptures will reach the Matter in Hand. For theſe are all about Temporal Concernments; and the Fate of the Righteous would be involved in that of the wicked in the firſt Inſtance. As for that of David, he is acknowledged a Type of Chriſt; but the Sun being up, the Night is fled away. Nor do I ſee that any thing can be inferred out of that of Exodus, but that the Posterity of the just, if they continue so, shall be continued. These therefore are but Pretences and can never reach the Case that I would decypher, which is this; That we should put up our Prayers to this or that Saint, intreating them that they would intercede for us, as if they had the same Privilege that Christ has, who is God as well as Man, and therefore is every where ready to hear us, and whose Merits are of infinite Value whereby he may prevail with the Father.

13. Wherefore this is manifestly to rob Christ of his Honour and Privilege, to presume that the Saints have a kind of Omnipresence or Omniscience, which is only proper to him: As also in a solemn Religious Way at the Altar and in the Temple of such or such a Saint to pray to God in the Merits of these Saints to grant this or that Petition, were it not to proclaim openly that there is a Deficiency in the Merits of Christ our great Mediator, when we thus seek Refuge in the Names and Merits of others?

How Antichristian then would it be if they should prefer some Saint, suppose the Virgin Mary, before Christ himself, in their Addresses to her, beseeching her that she would command her Son in the Virtue of that Duty he owes to his Mother; if they should give unto her the Title of the Queen of Heaven, the Mother of Mercies, their Life, their Hope, the Light of the Church, their Advocate and Mediatress; nay should turn all the Psalms of David into Petitions or Praises to her, only putting Domina instead of Dominus, Lady instead of Lord? I say, what an Antichristian Figment would this be, to make the humble Virgin to justle thus with the Son of God for the Sovereignity of Heaven and the Mediatorship general of the whole World? Not to mention the making of whole Swarms of other Mediators upon the Account also of their own Merit. For if it be not upon Account of their own Merits and Sufferings, (though they could not merit nor suffer any more than would serve for themselves) why should they make them Mediators? But if their Merits add any thing to the Merits and Sufferings of Christ, how was he a perfect High-Priest, or his Merits perfect?

Wherefore it is manifest that to make other Meritorious Mediators besides Christ, is an Antichristian Reproach and Calumny against the Perfection and Excellency of Christ's Mediatorship.

14. But the wicked Fraud of this Invention may be the multiplying of Offerings to those new and appropriate Intercessors, who, being well bribed, will plead the Cause of their Clients very zealously in the Court of Heaven; or at least this Antichristian Priesthood may make them believe so, who has sold away the only Mediatorship of Christ as well as the Virtue of his precious Death and Passion, for a Piece of Money; not considering the grievous Mischiefs that may come upon the Church by multiplying of Patrons and Mediators.

For how easily are the heedless People lulled asleep in Security by thinking they have such a sure Friend of this or that Saint, which they have peculiarly chosen to themselves for their Patron, whom they honour with certain superstitious Ceremonies, and think they so oblige him thereby, that live they as they list, they will notwithstanding get safely to Heaven, though let in at some Back-door by such a special Friend there, who will be ready to receive them? Whenas our Saviour Christ has told them aforehand, that unless a Man be born again, he cannot enter into the Kingdom of God; and that those whose Lives are unreclaimed, he will not own, but command them to depart as Workers of Iniquity.

How easily are they hereby drawn off from that Faith and Reliance they ought to have on God and Christ, expecting even Sanctification and Redemption from that which cannot save? How basely is their Mind depressed to low Thoughts, which ought to be lifted up to God alone? How subject to be immersed into the coursest and grossest Degrees of Idolatry, whilst they without any stop Conceit That the Temple, the Altar, the Priest with all his holy Vestments, the Festival and all the holy Offerings are dedicated and designed to the Honour of that Saint whom they make their Patron and Advocate?

15. And lastly, How will that excellent and most powerful Instrument of our Sanctification and Renovation of our Minds into the lovely Image of the Lord Christ, I mean, the Cross and Passion of our only Mediator, and the pious Meditation thereon, whereby our Souls might effectually be engaged to follow his Steps in all things, and serve him out of an unfeigned Love, How will this excellent Instrument, I say, be made useless and ineffectual, by this Diverting the Minds of Men to some other selfſelf-choſen Patron, or by diſtracting them amidſt the Variety of ſo many Mediators, (which are wholly inſignificant as to any Service or Furtherance of real Sanctity) that that due Love and Loyalty which is owing only to Chriſt, and which were the very ſaving Life of our Souls, and the Purification of our Hearts, and requiſite Preparation for an eternal Commerce with him in his Heavenly Kingdom, would be hugely diminiſhed and made languid, or elſe quite loſt? Which is a Damage and Miſchief plainly incomputable and irreparable. I ſay, The Derivation of our Devotion and pious Affection from Chriſt into ſo many By-ſtreams, and upon ſuch Objects from which there is infinitely leſs Obligation and Urgency upon us to become good and holy, is no leſs than the Hazzard or Forfeiture of our eternal Salvation.

It is plain therefore that the Oppoſing and Supplanting the Ends and Uſefulneſs of the Sacerdotal Office of Chriſt in ſuch ſort as I have declared, would be a very conſiderable part of that Idea of Antichriſtianiſm which I endeavour to deſcribe.

CHAP. VI.

1. The Oppoſing of Chriſt in his Three noted Offices how hainouſly Antichriſtian. 2. An Enumeration of other Titles of Chriſt. Oppoſition againſt him as he is the Truth. 3. As he is the Light. 4. As he is the Life. 5, 6. Oppoſition to his Divinity by equalizing Saints and Angels to him. 7. Yea by preferring what is but a Creature before him. 8, 9, 10. Oppoſition againſt his Paternal Title by Injuries and Cruelties to his Children. 11. Oppoſition to him as he is Prince of Peace. 12. By needleſs Definitions in Points of Opinion. 13. By taking away the Obligation of Oaths. 14. By making War with the Saints.

1. THUS have we delineated unto you the Nature of this Antichriſtian Oppoſition in theſe Three generally-noted Offices of Chriſt, which even alone conſidered, one would think enough to make up a compleat Antichriſt, that is to ſay, ſo to corrupt any Eccleſiaſtick Power, as truly and fully to denominate it Antichriſtian. But yet this Antichriſtianiſm may be further diſplayed by more particular Oppoſitions to other Titles of Chriſt. We will not be curious to name all, nor ſo tedious as to inſiſt long upon any which we ſhall further name, they being reducible ſome way or other moſt of them to ſome one of thoſe Three Offices we have already inſiſted on.

2. The moſt notable of theſe Titles are theſe; The Truth, The Light, and The Life, in the New Teſtament; and in Iſaiah The mighty God, The everlaſting Father, and The Prince of Peace. This is the Style, theſe are the ſacred Titles of Chriſt: And therefore any Power pretending to ſucceed him, and to have Right and Authority to Rule for him here on Earth, ſo far forth as they contradict and oppoſe theſe Titles of Chriſt in their Management of things, ſo far forth they do diſcover themſelves Antichriſtian. Chap 9.

As now if this pretended Power ſhould traffick much in Lying Legends and Figments, in Falſe Miracles, and Cunningly-deviſed Fables, which the Apoſtle proteſts againſt, to lead about the People with Fraud and Guileſulneſs, to engraft ſuch Opinions in their Minds as would moſt of all widen their Purſes, in ſuch manner as I have had already Occaſion more particularly to deſcribe; and alſo to darken all with a Multitude of Ceremonies, which are but Shadows of the Truth, if they be that: Such a Conſtitution of things as this, does plainly diſcover it ſelf to be Antichriſtian, and to oppoſe that Title of Chriſt which ſtyles him The Truth. Without are Murtherers and Sorcerers, and every One that loveth and maketh a Lie: That is not ſo remarkably ſpoken in the Apocalyps for nothing. And it is worth the noting alſo in Daniel*, that Antiochus, who is generally look'd upon as a Type of Antichriſt, is ſaid to caſt down the Truth to the Ground. Rev. 22. 15. * Chap. 8.

3. The next Title is, The Light, which is a figurative Title, and ſignifies Wiſdom and Knowledge; and indeed upon the Matter is but a ſymbolical Expreſſion of the former. For Truth and true Wiſdom are one and the ſame thing; but in that it irradiates and informs the Minds of others, it is more eſpecially called Light. And Chriſt is ſo called both in that he enlightens every Man that comes into the World according to his Divine Nature, and in that he was the Light of the Gentiles and the Glory of his People Iſrael, in his exterior Perſonal Manifeſtation to the World.

Wherefore to endeavour to keep the People in a worſe than Ægyptian Darkneſs under Pretence of raiſing their Devotion to God, when the Plot is to have them wholly at their own Devotion, and to abuſe them and miſlead them as they pleaſe, it were plainly to Antichriſtianize againſt this ſecond Title of Chriſt, The Light, and
Iſa. 42. 6. to defeat the End of his Coming into the World, which was to be a Light to lighten the Gentiles, and to bring them that ſit in Darkneſs out of the Priſon-houſe. And
Mat. 5. 14. Chriſt has entailed this Title alſo upon all his true Followers and Succeſſors; Ye are the Light of the World. What then are they that are not only not ſhining Lights themſelves, but induſtrious Abettors and Promoters of Darkneſs and Ignorance, and diligent Hinderers of any true Light that may be let into the Church from others?

4. The Third Title of Chriſt is, The Life, as it is written in St. John's Goſpel, In him was the Life, and the Life was the Light of Men. Which Life, I conceive, St. Paul deſcribes very ſavourly, when he ſaith, That the Kingdom of Heaven is not Meat, nor Drink, but Righteouſneſs, and Peace, and Joy in the Holy Ghoſt. Chriſtianity therefore is a Diſpenſation of inward Life flowing out into all laudable and uſeful Actions; not a Babel of confuſed and intangling Opinions and unprofitable Obſervances, a Heap of Ceremonies and Conceits, but a ſteddy Abode in God, who is Love, and will teach us and inable us from an enward Senſe of Life to love him with all our Hearts and all our Souls, and our Neighbour as our ſelves; which is the moſt eminent Fulfilling of the whole Law.

Wherefore inſtead of this holy Diſpenſation of the Spirit and Life, if there were introduced a rigid Adherence to empty Opinions and unedifying Obſervations of multifarious Ceremonies, this would be an Antichriſtian Treſpaſs againſt this Third Title of Chriſt, while we thus ſubſtitute inſipid Theories and dead Formalities in the Place of the Power and Life of Godlineſs.

5. The Fourth Title is, The mighty God, and the Divinity of Chriſt is an acknowledged Article of our Faith, and ſo choice a Prerogative of his Perſon, that whatſoever does derogate from this, infringe or weaken it, cannot but be deemed conſiderably Antichriſtian. Such therefore muſt be the Building of Temples and Altars, the Burning of Incenſe, and religious Invocations and Prayers to Saints or Angels.

Nay, though there were no Prayers put up to them, the ſolemnly Repoſing the Reliques of Saints in any Church or Chappel, and making them therewith the Patrons or Tutelar Genii as it were of ſuch a City or Province, were no leſs than Idolatry, and a Superſtition much like that of the antient Pagans in their Teleſms and Palladiums, and their Dii Tutelares, whoſe Preſence they conceited to be detained by theſe ſuperſtitious Ceremonies, and ſo made them Patrons and Protectors of their Cities and Countries. Wherefore if the Chriſtians, by religiouſly Repoſing the Reliques of this or that Saint in this or that City, ſhould be ſo ſuperſtitiouſly Conceited as to Repoſe a Truſt in the Aid of theſe Saints from Peſtilence, from War, from Thunder, from Earthquakes or the like, believing them powerful and benign Protectors of the Place; this undoubtedly were a kind of Religious Worſhip done to them, and could not be leſs than the Sin of Idolatry.

For all ſuch Faith and Repoſe upon any particular inviſible Power is Idolatrous, as well as Invocation, becauſe it as well ſuppoſes in that particular inviſible Power what is only proper to God. For there is no Certainty of the Preſence, and conſequently of the Aſſiſtance, of an inviſible Power in any one Place, unleſs the Nature of that Power be to be in all Places at once. And therefore he that puts his Truſt for Aid and Aſſiſtance, in ſuch a ſort as I have deſcribed, in a particular inviſible Power, makes that inviſible Power Omnipreſent or Omniſcient, which are the incommunicable Attributes of God, and thereby commits Idolatry, as I have above more fully argued in the like Caſe.

6. The mere Truſting therefore in Saints as Patrons and Protectors of ſuch and ſuch Places, as well as the Building of Altars, Burning of Incenſe to them, or Invoking them, derogates from the only-aſſured Patronage and powerful Divinity of our Bleſſed Saviour. For by theſe Divine Honours we Equalizing ſuch Patrons or Mediators as theſe to the Only-begotten Son of God, make him leſs than he is, and but like them; that is to ſay, make him unlike himſelf, obſcure the Peculiarity of his Divinity, and diſclaim his Godhead; μὴ κρατοῦντες τὴν κεφαλὴν, as the Coloſ. 2. * Apoſtle ſpeaks, letting go our true Head, and putting our ſelves under another Chieftain.

Chieftain. For there is only One that is capable of this Divine Honour, which therefore if we give to any other, we act the Part of that Antichriſt who is deſcrib'd or defined by the denying the Father and the Son: For the Father and the Son are One. 1 John 2. 22.

Such an Arguing as this God ſeems to imply in his Expoſtulation with the Iſraelites in the Wilderneſs; O ye Houſe of Iſrael, have ye offered to me Victims and Sacrifices by the Space of forty Years in the Wilderneſs? Yea, ye took up the Tabernacle of Moloch, and the Star of your God Remphan, Figures which ye made to worſhip them. The Senſe of which aſſuredly is this; That though the Iſraelites did ſacrifice, as they thought, or did pretend, their uſual Sacrifices to God, according to the Law of Moſes, during their Abode in the Wilderneſs; yet becauſe they ſerved and acknowledged other Gods beſides him, he infers (and that truly and juſtly, even according to the Humane Faculties) that they really did not ſerve him at all, that is, did not acknowledge him to be what he was, the only True God. And therefore they erring in the Apprehenſion of the Excellency of that Object to which Divine Worſhip is due, as if it were ſo mean that there could be many ſuch, did not direct their Worſhip to him, but to a Fancy or Idol of their own making, to which they prophanely attributed the Name of Jehovah. For the true Jehovah was not ſo vile a Being as there could be any Partakers of Divine Honour with himſelf. Acts 7.

And ſo it is with Chriſt, who is the ſame True God bleſſed for ever. He that gives Divine Honour, which is due to him alone, unto Saints or Angels, diſclaims his Divinity, and makes him but as one of them. This would be one Antichriſtian way of Undermining his Godhead, by equalizing mere Creatures unto him.

7. But there is another Way, or rather the ſame Way, but in an higher Degree, and conſequently more Antichriſtian; and that is, the Preferring that which is but a mere Creature, though a bleſſed and glorious one, before him or above him. As for Example, if either Fraud or blind Devotion ſhould exalt the ever-bleſſed Virgin, not only to that Divine Honour of having Temples and Altars erected to her with Prayers and Invocations of her, as in the Worſhip of the reſt of the Saints and Angels, but that theſe Honours ſhould be done much more frequently and more magnificently to the Virgin Mary than to Chriſt himſelf; that is to ſay, that there ſhould be more Temples and Altars, and more ſumptuous, erected to her than to Chriſt Jeſus, more Devotions, Prayers and Offerings made to her than to him, a greater Acknowledgment of Mercy and Goodneſs from her, than from him who poured out his Life in the bitter Agonies of his bloody Paſſion for the Salvation of the World; and, laſtly, a Superiority and Authority over Chriſt, be aſcribed unto her, to command him to do this or that by virtue of that Duty he owes unto her.

Certainly if this be not againſt the Divinity of Chriſt, nothing can be, thus to make him inferior to a deceaſed Woman, even him that is perfect God as well as perfect Man. For it is plainly to Undeifie him, if I may ſo ſpeak, and to declare him to be no God at all. Which is as Antichriſtian an Outrage againſt the Divinity of Chriſt as can be imagined.

For who is Antichriſt if he be not that denies the Father, and the Son who is One and Equal with the Father? And who denies the Godhead of both Father and Son, but he that pronounces the Mother of Chriſt according to the Fleſh to be greater than them both, as certainly he does who affirmeth her to be greater than either? 1 John 2. 22.

8. The Fifth Title is, The everlaſting Father. The Seventy tranſlate it πατὴρ τοῦ μέλλοντος αἰῶνος, meaning, I ſuppoſe, the World under the Meſſias. The Efficacy of which Title I conceive the Myſtery of Regeneration to reflect upon; Chriſt regenerating us into his own Image by the inward Working of his Eternal Spirit. All things that the Father hath are mine: (and it is no wonder, he being one with the Father) therefore ſaid I, that he (the Spirit) ſhall take of mine, and ſhew it unto you. Wherefore Chriſt regenerating the World which was to come by the Operation of his Eternal Spirit, he was rightly and fitly ſtyled πατὴρ τοῦ μέλλοντος αἰῶνος, The Father of the World to come, or if you will, The everlaſting Father, as being ſo in his own Eſſence, and begetting Children to endleſs Eternities. John 16. 15.

Of this Myſtery he treated in his Converſe upon Earth with his ſecret Diſciple Nicodemus: Unleſs a Man be born from Above, he cannot enter into the Kingdom of God. Marvel not that I ſaid unto thee, that we muſt be born from Above. The Wind bloweth where it liſteth, and thou heareſt the Sound thereof, but thou knoweſt not from whence it comes, nor whether it goes: ſo is every one that is born of the Spirit. No unregenerate Man is acquainted with the Senſe of the firſt Riſe and Motion of the John 3. 5, 7.

Spirit, nor underſtands whither thoſe Actions and Speeches tend that proceed therefrom. But it is ſo with theſe as is ſaid in the Apocalyps of the hundred forty four thouſands, who by virtue of their New-birth ſung a new Song which none could learn but the hundred forty four thouſands which were redeemed from the Earth, by being born from Above, as our Saviour ſpake to Nicodemus. Theſe are the true Iſraelites, in whoſe Mouth is found no Guile, and who, by the Guidance of that Spirit by which they are regenerate, follow the Lamb whereſoever he goes. Chap. 14.

9. Wherefore Chriſt being to his true Church ſo real a Father, by a true and living Regeneration and Renovation of their Minds by his Spirit into ſuch holy Sentiments as appertain to all thoſe that are indeed the Sons of God; to treat them ſo as if they were mere Images made of Wood or Stone, or rather dead Matter to be carved upon, and have the Inſcription of any thing that a pretended Infallible Power ſhall be pleaſed to engrave upon them; this is an high Antichriſtian Affront againſt the Paternity of Chriſt: as if he did not beget Living Children, who have as certainly the Senſe of Diſcernment in Spiritual Things as any Animal Birth has in Natural; but that the Number of his Elect were but a certain Tale of Billets, Brick or Stone, to be hewen or carved, or any way ordered, according to the Petulancy and Imperiouſneſs of a Self-willed Power, who, under a Pretence of an infallible and unfailing Succeſſion that muſt be in the Church, has ſtept into the place of Chriſt.

Maxima debetur puero reverentia.....

is moſt true concerning every Child of God. For there is that Divine Senſe in them, againſt which whatſoever is unholy and unſavoury will grate very hard and unpleaſantly, and what is falſe will be found by them very diſharmonious both to thoſe immutable Principles of Truth in their unprejudiced Minds, and alſo to the written Oracles of God, which were penned down by the ſame Spirit by which this genuin Off-ſpring of Chriſtians are regenerated.

Wherefore, as I ſaid, to uſe theſe as if there were no Life, no Spirit, no Senſe or Diſcernment in them, but that they muſt as paſſively, without any Conviction or Appeal to any thing in themſelves, bear the Dictates of this uſurping Power we deſcribe, as a Table-book or Paper-Book, which is irreſiſtibly writ upon by that Hand that pleaſes, is an enormous Injury againſt Chriſt, as he is the everlaſting Father and holy Regenerator of his true Church into his own Life and Likeneſs. But to murther and maſſacre theſe Children of his becauſe they do ſo ſtoutly and exactly Patriſſare, ſo conſcienciouſly and carefully tread in their Father's Steps, and witneſs his Truth to the World; I leave it to the Conſcience of any Man to judge if there can be imagined any thing more helliſhly Antichriſtian againſt the Paternity of Chriſt than that. For what can be more hoſtile and contrary to a Father than to murther his genuin Children, and for that very Reaſon, becauſe they ſo lively reſemble him, and ſo faithfully adhere to their Father's virtuous Practices and Principles?

10. I might add alſo that the over-exerciſing of the Minds and Bodies of Men in the multifarious Obſervances of external Ceremonies, and making them often to dance or trot from one ſuperſtitious Performance to another, might be a Diſappointment of the Divine Birth, as the over-much exerciſing of Women in Dancing or what other Feats of Activity or ſore Labour makes them often miſcarry in that Child-bearing that is Natural. But I will not inſiſt upon theſe things.

11. The Sixth and Laſt Title is, The Prince of Peace. In which Principality or Authority if any ſhould claim Succeſſion, and yet adminiſter the Affairs of Chriſt's Church ſuch a way as will naturally, if not neceſſarily, fill it full of Broils and Contentions; this Power would certainly be a Supplanter of the Peaceable Government of Chriſt, and be the Author of an Antichriſtian Tyranny and Confuſion. As for Example, If this uſurping Power ſhould coin new Articles of Belief for their own Benefit, contrary to the known Principles of Scripture and Reaſon, and require the Profeſſion of theſe from the Church of Chriſt, as alſo appoint ſuſpected Obſervances, ſmelling Rank of Idolatry and Superſtition; it were in a manner impoſſible but that it ſhould cauſe vaſt Rendings and Tearings in the Church, and fill the World full of Strife and Oppoſition.

Alſo if they ſhould make it their Buſineſs to define the Senſe of Scripture by a more determinate Meaning than there were uſe of in the Church, and put their Determinations and Expoſitions upon Men as neceſſary Points of Belief; This would alſo make much againſt the Peaceableneſs of the Church, Men being in a manner fatally propending to think this or that way in things that are not neceſſary to Salvation to be determined either. There would needleſs Violence therefore be done to the Conſciences of Men, thereby to ſet the World on Fire. Whenas what is general, is large and unitive and takes all in, and gives them leave to live peaceably one by another without Juſtling or Crowding.

*

12. But the Folly and Fraud of this Curioſity would be the Endeavour of gaining or rather extorting Reſpect from the People, and of making their Function ſeem Conſiderable, and their Learning Great, and their Judgments Unerrable, and that they may feel their Authority, and make others to feel it, though to the great Diſcontent and Diſſettlement of the Church of Chriſt. As if their Living exemplarily, and Urging the Performance of what is plain in Scripture, and keeping an orderly Diſcipline in thoſe things, would not gain them more Reſpect, and make them more Honourable both in the Eyes of God and Man: or as if they would not appear more infallible by inſiſting in his Steps who is the Way, the Truth, and the Life, than by groſſely croſſing this Way, or going out of it for ſome By-Advantages of the World: The Diſcovery of which Frauds muſt needs make them odious to all Men. And laſtly, as for their having their Authority felt, Chriſt has ſhewed them the Way, if they would follow it; He taught as having Authority, and not as the Scribes; for they ſay, and do not. Mat. 7. and Chap 23.

13. This is one Way of Antichriſtianizing againſt that ſacred Title of Chriſt, The Prince of Peace. There is another more vile and execrable than that Heart could imagin that is not acquainted with the Depths of Satan; and that is, If this Antichriſtian Power we deſcribe ſhould take ſo much upon them as to Abſolve the Princes of Chriſtendom from their Oaths and Covenants they make one to another upon their Terms of Peace, as alſo to Abſolve Subjects from their Oaths of Allegiance to their Sovereigns; Were not this to break a-pieces all the Bonds of Unity that not only Religion, but the Laws of Nature do afford, thus to deſtroy the Sacredneſs of an Oath, which to all Men is the end of all Strife? How then can that Power challenge a Right of Succeſſion to the Prince of Peace, which takes away from the World the chiefeſt Tie of Peace that humane Affairs are capable of? Heb. 6. 16.

14. And laſtly, that bloody Poſition of taking away Mens Lives for Miſtakes in Opinion, when notwithſtanding they are otherwiſe unblameable in Faith and Converſation, and unfeigned Profeſſors of Chriſtian Truths that are evidently revealed in the Word of God; nay, to take away their Lives for not doing and holding things quite contrary to the expreſs Word of God written both in our inward Souls and in the Holy Scripture, as I have in ſeveral Inſtances declared in this Deſcription of Antichriſtianiſm; What were this but to hang out the bloody Flag againſt the true Church of Chriſt, and to proclaim open War againſt them, to bid Battel againſt them that are inrolled into the Company of the Lamb, and are the profeſſed Soldiers of the Prince of Peace? Whoſe Oppoſers therefore, in ſuch a ſort as I have intimated, cannot but be that Apocalyptick Beaſt that makes War with the Saints, or that Mother of Harlots who is drunk with the Blood of the Martyrs of Jeſus. So little Doubt would there be of this laſt Oppoſition's proving an Antichriſtian Character of the deepeſt Dye. But of this Subject more hereafter. Chap. 3. Sect. 8. Chap. 13. 7. Chap. 17. 6.

CHAP.

CHAP. VII.

1. That any Conſtitution of things that naturally oppoſes and ſuppreſſes the Divine Life is Antichriſtian in the higheſt Meaſure. 2. Such as Idolatry, Superſtition, and all the above-mentioned Oppoſitions to Chriſt's Offices and Titles. 3. The Opinion of a Virtue in the Sacraments ex opere operato, and of the Needleſsneſs of our Attention to our Devotions. 4. Dumb Shows, and the reſting in the mere doing of a Religious Duty, be it from what Principle it will. 5. Eaſy Abſolutions and ſlight Penances. 6. Plenary Indulgences purchaſed by Money from Eccleſiaſtical Authority. 7. A general Note prefixed touching the Miſchiefs of the ſeveral Oppoſitions againſt the Divine Life. 8. The Plauſibility of the Suppoſition of an Eccleſiaſtick Power and Pomp more than Imperial. 9. The Weakneſs of the Grounds for the ſaid Suppoſition. 10. The conſequential Miſchief thereof, in driving the Minds of Church-men from the Study of Truth and Holineſs. 11. Tea in making them oppoſe every thing that is True and Holy, if it oppoſe their Deſigns of Ambition and Avarice. 12. That ſuch a Luciferian Power as this were the very Ruin of the Kingdom of Chriſt upon Earth. 13. And the Turning of his Church into a mere Mart or Fair.

1. THus expreſly and clearly have we delineated the Image of Antichriſt in his Oppoſing of Chriſt in his Offices, and in Running quite counter to the moſt ſacred Titles that do adorn his Perſon. We come now to the Divine Life as it is propagable in the World, and for which Chriſt was pleaſed to take our Nature upon Him, and to lay down his Life for us; That he might purchaſe to himſelf a glorious Church, not having Spot or Wrinkle or any ſuch thing, but that it ſhould be holy and without Blemiſh.

Epheſ. 5. 27.

Which being the very End of Chriſt's Coming into the World, of the Suffering all thoſe Hardſhips during his Pilgrimage here on Earth, and of ſubmitting himſelf to the ſhameful and unexpreſſibly-painful Death of the Croſs; for any to oppoſe, ſupplant, or any ways to defeat this ſo ſerious and earneſt Deſign of his by any countenanced Method or Conſtitution of things, would certainly be Antichriſtian in the higheſt Meaſure.

Let us now therefore conſider diſtinctly and articulately the moſt material Ways of oppoſing or ſupplanting this Deſign, laying before us in View ſuch depraved Laws, Conſtitutions or Practices in a Church, as either tend to the extinguiſhing the Divine Life in general, or are more particularly directed againſt the Root or Branches thereof, namely, either againſt Faith, that is to ſay, the ſtedfaſt Belief of the Sum of Chriſtianity, or elſe againſt thoſe ineſtimable Graces of Humility, Purity and Charity.

2. For the depainting of this Oppoſition againſt the Divine Life in general, I need not put my Pencil into any new Colours. Thoſe multifarious Ways of Idolatry and Superſtition which I have noted in the firſt and ſecond Limb of Antichriſtianiſm, and which carry Men's Minds out to external Exerciſes that profit nothing, but elude the right Intention of Zeal and Devotion which ſhould better our Spirits and make us more inwardly and vitally holy and righteous, theſe do certainly of their own accord lay aſleep or ſuffocate the Life of God in the Soul, and like falſe Food either poiſon or ſtarve it.

Book I. ch. 12 17, 18. &c.

Thoſe Oppoſitions alſo that were againſt the Offices of Chriſt; the vilifying his Law, the Removing it from the Eyes of the People, or the Reading of it and their publick Service in an unknown Tongue; the Interpreting his ſerious Commands for ſlight Advices left to our Pleaſure to follow or forbear; falſe Gloſſes put upon the Oracles of God by pretended infallible Interpreters; the defeating that mighty Engine of Obedience to Chriſt, which is the affectionate Meditation upon his Death and Paſſion, his direful Sufferings for us, by diverting of our Thoughts and diſtracting them by ſeveral inſignificant Objects, pety Advocates and Patrons, that run away with our Devotions, and rob Chriſt of his Honour, and our Souls of the chief Means of their Sanctification and Salvation: Theſe, with ſeveral other Particulars I might inſtance in, are plain Antichriſtian Aſſaults and Oppugnations of the Divine Life in general, and have altogether ſuch a Tendency as to weaken and deſtroy the whole Power of Religion.

3. To which you may add thoſe ungodly Surmiſes, That it is ſufficient to number over our Devotions without fixing our Mind upon what we ſay; and that a more a more hovering and general Attention will ſerve the Turn, our particular Thoughts wandring to what elſe we pleaſe; That the Sacraments confer Grace ex opere operato; it being the very Difference betwixt the Sacraments of the old Covenant and the new, that the Former confer Grace ratione operis operantis, the Latter ratione operis operati; and that any inward good Motion is not requiſite in him that receives the Sacraments: What can more relaxate thoſe earneſt Breathings and hearty Aſpirings of our Souls towards a real Renovation of our Natures into true Holineſs and Righteouſneſs, than ſuch corrupt Conceits as theſe?

4. The Feeding alſo the People with dumb Shows, inſtead of ſearching their Conſciences and exciting their Zeal by intelligible Exhortations or Forms of Devotion that will re-mind them of their Duty, and imprint upon them the Senſe of ſuch holy things as they ſtand in Want of, and inflame their Deſire after them; this alſo would be a Defrauding of the Divine Life of that Food which it ſhould be encreaſing and nouriſhed by. As alſo would be that Conceit generally of all Acts of Religion, that the Duty of the Act is done if the Act be but externally done, be the Principle what it will, though it neither proceed from nor reach to that Fountain of Life which ought to be ebullient in every Regenerate Chriſtian, and without which no Man can reaſonably eſteem himſelf regenerate. Certainly ſuch Opinions, Cuſtoms and Uſages as theſe muſt needs wear out true and living Holineſs out of the World.

5. And yet we may conceive a further Antichriſtian Poiſon, that will wonderfully damp and benum Men in all their Endeavours after true Sanctity; and that is eaſie Abſolution and ſlight and almoſt trifling Penance after formal Confeſſion. For Confeſſion, which is ſo rigorouſly extorted by this Antichriſtian Church I am now deſcribing, being accompanied with a Conceit that upon their Abſolution and Performance of impoſed Penances they are then right and ſtraight, and in as ſecure a Condition as if they had never ſinned; the juſt Chaſtiſements of their offended Conſciences being ſlaked by the ſoft and falſe Interpoſal of the Prieſt's pretended Authority to abſolve where God has bound, (as certainly every one is bound over to that eternal Doom at the laſt Day, let the Prieſt pretend the Power of looſing him here as much as he will; and he ſhall anſwer for what he has done in the Fleſh, which no Abſolution nor Penance can clear him from, unleſs he really forſake his wicked Ways, and become a ſincere Convert to God;) I ſay, from this Conſtitution of things touching Abſolution and Penance, it muſt needs follow that the Reins will be let looſe on the Necks of all Men, they being given to underſtand what a ſlight and trivial thing it is to ſin againſt God, when they can have their Reconcilement upon ſuch eaſie Terms. Whenas it would be a greater Aw upon Men's Spirits to let them be condemned or acquitted by their own Conſciences, being ſo well aſſiſted by the Word of God and the Light of Reaſon and Nature to lay the Law againſt them, and never to leave urging them till they have emerged into a competent Sincerity of Heart: Which when they have arrived to, Chriſt within them and his Word without them will abſolve them and give them Peace of Mind; and, if need be, they may alſo receive Abſolution from ſome ſober and faithful Prieſt, whoſe Honeſty and Exemplarity of his Life has fitted him for ſo ſerious a Function, as I have intimated above, where I had ſlipt aforehand into this Argument.

6. But the moſt outragious Antichriſtian Effort againſt the Divine Life would be the Perſwaſion that upon the paying of certain tolerable Sums of Money, and doing ſome ſlight Superſtitious Performances or other, they ſhall obtain by Virtue of the ſupreme Eccleſiaſtick Authority plenary Indulgencies and Pardons for vaſt Numbers of Years, and the Certainty of freeing themſelves or their Friends from Purgatory.

As, for Example, ſuppoſe that ſome Churches, or, if you will, many, may have purchaſed from the Eccleſiaſtick Sovereignity a Perpetuity of plenary Indulgence, ſo that he that prays before ſuch an Altar in this Church ſhould have free Remiſſion of all his Sins paſt, and Security from Puniſhment. But this is a ſmall Matter in regard of what follows. Suppoſe that ſuch a Piece of Devotion at ſome other Altars, and in ſome other Churches would procure the Pardon of Sin and Puniſhment for twenty, thirty, fifty, or an hundred thouſand Years; and that the Saying of ſuch and ſuch Prayers at ſuch an Altar would deliver a Soul out of Purgatory; that the Bowing at the Name of Jeſus may procure toties, quoties, twenty Years Pardon; that the mere Stooping to kiſs a Croſs on the Pavement of a Church, an Indulgence or Pardon for all a Man's Sins; that the Pattering over ſo many Prayers, eſpecially if there be the Weight of ſome conſecrated Medal, as an Agnus Dei or the like, annexed to them, will ſave a Soul out of Purgatory; that one Salutation of the bleſſed Virgin ſhall gain eighty Years Par-

CHAP. VII.

1. That any Conſtitution of things that naturally oppoſes and ſuppreſſes the Divine Life is Antichriſtian in the higheſt Meaſure. 2. Such as Idolatry, Superſtition, and all the above-mentioned Oppoſitions to Chriſt's Offices and Titles. 3. The Opinion of a Virtue in the Sacraments ex opere operato, and of the Needleſsneſs of our Attention to our Devotions. 4. Dumb Shows, and the reſting in the mere doing of a Religious Duty, be it from what Principle it will. 5. Eaſy Abſolutions and ſlight Penances. 6. Plenary Indulgences purchaſed by Money from Eccleſiaſtical Authority. 7. A general Note prefixed touching the Miſchiefs of the ſeveral Oppoſitions againſt the Divine Life. 8. The Plauſibility of the Suppoſition of an Eccleſiaſtick Power and Pomp more than Imperial. 9. The Weakneſs of the Grounds for the ſaid Suppoſition. 10. The conſequential Miſchief thereof, in driving the Minds of Church-men from the Study of Truth and Holineſs. 11. Yea in making them oppoſe every thing that is True and Holy, if it oppoſe their Deſigns of Ambition and Avarice. 12. That ſuch a Luciferian Power as this were the very Ruin of the Kingdom of Chriſt upon Earth. 13. And the Turning of his Church into a mere Mart or Fair.

1. THus expreſly and clearly have we delineated the Image of Antichriſt in his Oppoſing of Chriſt in his Offices, and in Running quite counter to the moſt ſacred Titles that do adorn his Perſon. We come now to the Divine Life as it is propagable in the World, and for which Chriſt was pleaſed to take our Nature upon Him, and to lay down his Life for us; That he might purchaſe to himſelf a glorious Church, not having Spot or Wrinkle or any ſuch thing, but that it ſhould be holy and without Blemiſh.

Eph. 5. 27.

Which being the very End of Chriſt's Coming into the World, of the Suffering all thoſe Hardſhips during his Pilgrimage here on Earth, and of ſubmitting himſelf to the ſhameful and unexpreſſibly-painful Death of the Croſs; for any to oppoſe, ſupplant, or any ways to defeat this ſo ſerious and earneſt Deſign of his by any countenanced Method or Conſtitution of things, would certainly be Antichriſtian in the higheſt Meaſure.

Let us now therefore conſider diſtinctly and articulately the moſt material Ways of oppoſing or ſupplanting this Deſign, laying before us in View ſuch depraved Laws, Conſtitutions or Practices in a Church, as either tend to the extinguiſhing the Divine Life in general, or are more particularly directed againſt the Root or Branches thereof, namely, either againſt Faith, that is to ſay, the ſtedfaſt Belief of the Sum of Chriſtianity, or elſe againſt thoſe ineſtimable Graces of Humility, Purity and Charity.

2. For the depainting of this Oppoſition againſt the Divine Life in general, I need not put my Pencil into any new Colours. Thoſe multifarious Ways of Idolatry and Superſtition which I have noted in the firſt and ſecond Limb of Antichriſtianiſm, and which carry Men's Minds out to external Exerciſes that profit nothing, but elude the right Intention of Zeal and Devotion which ſhould better our Spirits and make us more inwardly and vitally holy and righteous, theſe do certainly of their own accord lay aſleep or ſuffocate the Life of God in the Soul, and like falſe Food either poiſon or ſtarve it.

Book I. ch. 12 17, 18. &c.

Thoſe Oppoſitions alſo that were againſt the Offices of Chriſt; the vilifying his Law, the Removing it from the Eyes of the People, or the Reading of it and their publick Service in an unknown Tongue; the Interpreting his ſerious Commands for ſlight Advices left to our Pleaſure to follow or forbear; falſe Gloſſes put upon the Oracles of God by pretended infallible Interpreters; the defeating that mighty Engine of Obedience to Chriſt, which is the affectionate Meditation upon his Death and Paſſion, his direful Sufferings for us, by diverting of our Thoughts and diſtracting them by ſeveral inſignificant Objects, pety Advocates and Patrons, that run away with our Devotions, and rob Chriſt of his Honour, and our Souls of the chief Means of their Sanctification and Salvation: Theſe, with ſeveral other Particulars I might inſtance in, are plain Antichriſtian Aſſaults and Oppugnations of the Divine Life in general, and have altogether ſuch a Tendency as to weaken and deſtroy the whole Power of Religion.

3. To which you may add thoſe ungodly Surmiſes, That it is ſufficient to number over our Devotions without defixing our Mind upon what we ſay; and that a more a more hovering and general Attention will ſerve the Turn, our particular Thoughts wandring to what elſe we pleaſe; That the Sacraments confer Grace ex opere operato; it being the very Difference betwixt the Sacraments of the old Covenant and the new, that the Former confer Grace ratione operis operantis, the Latter ratione operis operati; and that any inward good Motion is not requiſite in him that receives the Sacraments: What can more relaxate thoſe earneſt Breathings and hearty Aſpirings of our Souls towards a real Renovation of our Natures into true Holineſs and Righteouſneſs, than ſuch corrupt Conceits as theſe?

*

4. The Feeding alſo the People with dumb Shows, inſtead of ſearching their Conſciences and exciting their Zeal by intelligible Exhortations or Forms of Devotion that will re-mind them of their Duty, and imprint upon them the Senſe of ſuch holy things as they ſtand in Want of, and inflame their Deſire after them; this alſo would be a Defrauding of the Divine Life of that Food which it ſhould be encreaſing and nouriſhed by. As alſo would be that Conceit generally of all Acts of Religion, that the Duty of the Act is done if the Act be but externally done, be the Principle what it will, though it neither proceed from nor reach to that Fountain of Life which ought to be ebullient in every Regenerate Chriſtian, and without which no Man can reaſonably eſteem himſelf regenerate. Certainly ſuch Opinions, Cuſtoms and Uſages as theſe muſt needs wear out true and living Holineſs out of the World.

5. And yet we may conceive a further Antichriſtian Poiſon, that will wonderfully damp and benum Men in all their Endeavours after true Sanctity; and that is eaſie Abſolution and ſlight and almoſt trifling Penance after formal Confeſſion. For Confeſſion, which is ſo rigorouſly extorted by this Antichriſtian Church I am now deſcribing, being accompanied with a Conceit that upon their Abſolution and Performance of impoſed Penances they are then right and ſtraight, and in as ſecure a Condition as if they had never ſinned; the juſt Chaſtiſements of their offended Conſciences being ſlaked by the ſoft and falſe Interpoſal of the Prieſt's pretended Authority to abſolve where God has bound, (as certainly every one is bound over to that eternal Doom at the laſt Day, let the Prieſt pretend the Power of looſing him here as much as he will; and he ſhall anſwer for what he has done in the Fleſh, which no Abſolution nor Penance can clear him from, unleſs he really forſake his wicked Ways, and become a ſincere Convert to God;) I ſay, from this Conſtitution of things touching Abſolution and Penance, it muſt needs follow that the Reins will be let looſe on the Necks of all Men, they being given to underſtand what a ſlight and trivial thing it is to ſin againſt God, when they can have their Reconcilement upon ſuch eaſie Terms. Whenas it would be a greater Aw upon Men's Spirits to let them be condemned or acquitted by their own Conſciences, being ſo well aſſiſted by the Word of God and the Light of Reaſon and Nature to lay the Law againſt them, and never to leave urging them till they have emerged into a competent Sincerity of Heart: Which when they have arrived to, Chriſt within them and his Word without them will abſolve them and give them Peace of Mind; and, if need be, they may alſo receive Abſolution from ſome ſober and faithful Prieſt, whoſe Honeſty and Exemplarity of his Life has fitted him for ſo ſerious a Function, as I have intimated above, where I had ſlipt aforehand into this Argument.

6. But the moſt outragious Antichriſtian Effort againſt the Divine Life would be the Perſwaſion that upon the paying of certain tolerable Sums of Money, and doing ſome ſlight Superſtitious Performances or other, they ſhall obtain by Virtue of the ſupreme Eccleſiaſtick Authority plenary Indulgencies and Pardons for vaſt Numbers of Years, and the Certainty of freeing themſelves or their Friends from Purgatory.

As, for Example, ſuppoſe that ſome Churches, or, if you will, many, may have purchaſed from the Eccleſiaſtick Sovereignity a Perpetuity of plenary Indulgence, ſo that he that prays before ſuch an Altar in this Church ſhould have free Remiſſion of all his Sins paſt, and Security from Puniſhment. But this is a ſmall Matter in regard of what follows. Suppoſe that ſuch a Piece of Devotion at ſome other Altars, and in ſome other Churches would procure the Pardon of Sin and Puniſhment for twenty, thirty, fifty, or an hundred thouſand Years; and that the Saying of ſuch and ſuch Prayers at ſuch an Altar would deliver a Soul out of Purgatory; that the Bowing at the Name of Jeſus may procure toties, quoties, twenty Years Pardon; that the mere Stooping to kiſs a Croſs on the Pavement of a Church, an Indulgence or Pardon for all a Man's Sins; that the Pattering over ſo many Prayers, eſpecially if there be the Weight of ſome conſecrated Medal, as an Agnus Dei or the like, annexed to them, will ſave a Soul out of Purgatory; that one Salutation of the bleſſed Virgin ſhall gain eighty Years Pardon; That the Saying a certain ſhort Prayer, devoutly looking on the Picture of Chriſt, ſhall obtain ten thouſand Days of Pardon, and the Saying of others no leſs than ten hundred thouſand Years; and for the Looking on a certain Crucifix, ſix thouſand Years of Pardon.

Theſe Intimations would be infinite, I have produced ſo much already as implies ſuch a Conſtitution in a Church, as nothing can be more oppoſite to or deſtructive of that Life and Holineſs Chriſt came to plant in the World, and therefore cannot but be judged very foully Antichriſtian.

7. The Falſeneſs and Unjuſtifiableneſs of theſe Proceedings I need not go about to evince, they being ſo damnable at firſt Sight: nor point at the Fraud, it being ſo conſpicuous; which is, as I have above intimated in like Caſes, the Emunging of the People of their Money: And the Miſchief is here the Oppoſition or Extinction of the Divine Life, as it will be likewiſe in the Root and Branches. So that we need hereafter note no other Miſchiefs than will be comprized in the Subject we ſhall be upon, the Miſchiefs being expreſſed in the very Titles of the Argument. Which I thought fit here to note once for all; and would proceed to the delineating of the next Limb of Antichriſtianiſm, did there not one Conſideration more offer it ſelf to my Mind, that would help to make the State of the Church very Stepdame-like to any Offers toward Growth and Increaſe in Life and Godlineſs. Which Suppoſition is this.

8. Let us imagin that either a mighty Party of the Eccleſiaſticks had plotted it ſo, or the Ambition of one Biſhop with ſome few Adherents, being back'd with Opportunities, and wanting no Wit, Policy, nor Induſtry, had brought it about to be ſo, that he and his Succeſſors ſhould be declared, and by a very conſiderable Part accepted for, the Univerſal Biſhop of the World, ſhould be eſteemed of an Authority more ſacred, high and glorious than of any Emperor or Potentate upon Earth: that there ſhould be ſubſtituted under him ſeveral Orders, ſome of very high-degree, which ſhould be, as it were, ſo many Eccleſiaſtick Princes, equal in a Manner for Pomp and Splendour to the Kings of the Earth; beſides Patriarchs, Metropolitans, and many other very rich and illuſtrious Ranks of the Prieſthood, the Church in the interim abounding with ſundry Sorts of very creditable and profitable Preferments to bear out all.

Why, thus far, you will ſay, is very good News, and it were deſirable it were ſo indeed, That Religion being the moſt ſacred and precious thing in the World, thoſe that are in a more ſpecial Manner the Supporters and Pillars thereof ſhould be the moſt richly ſplendid and adorned.

9. I do confeſs ſo a Man would think at firſt Sight. For it ſeems but a Reſpect to God, whoſe Servants they are by a more peculiar Dedication. But by the ſame Reaſon our Churches ſhould be as well the moſt ſplendid as the moſt ample Buildings, eſpecially there being no Danger of infecting theſe Walls of Stone with either the Senſe of Pride or any other uncomely Paſſion.

But ſuppoſe that theſe pretended living Stones of the Temple of God were as unexcitable to Pride or Luſt as the dead Stones of the Walls of a Church; though this extreme Glory and Pomp and exceſsful Affluency of the World might do them no Hurt as to their Manners, yet I belive they would profeſs they found little good in it, unleſs it were in being Treaſurers for the Poor, (which would be ſomething a ſecular Employment) or in giving Teſtimony to the World, that Chriſtian Happineſs conſiſts not in theſe Things; which yet the World would not think them ſerious in, unleſs they did actually quit them. And for the external Pomp and Splendidneſs of their own Perſons, it is credible they would declare that if the Houſes of God, I mean the external Churches, were at leaſt decently, if not in ſome Caſe glorioufly, adorned, their Eyes could better view that and with more Pleaſure than any Imperial Ornaments on their own Head and Back, which they could not well ſee without the Help of Looking-glaſſes.

This would be a greater Pleaſure to them, as alſo to ſee no Poor but ſuch as were wholeſomely and handſomely apparrell'd, not ſo ſqualidly and forlornly that they appear as ungrateful Eye-ſores in Providence.

But to make rich Miters and coſtly Habiliments for a St. Peter or St. Paul, were not indeed to make a Coat for the Moon, but (which is as ridiculous) to make a golden Cope for the Sun, as if his native Splendour did not out-ſhine all ſuch artificial Ornaments. The Gorgeouſneſs of Apparrel may make the Perſon that wears it to be gazed or ſtared upon; but unſpotted Holineſs and Virtue will make the Poſſeſſor thereof truly reverenced and adored.

10. This

10. This exceſſive Grandure therefore in the Governours of the Church, though they were as holy as the Apoſtles themſelves, would not ſeem neceſſary, or requiſite, nor, it may be, at all deſirable. But as for thoſe that are not of ſuch an Apoſtolical Spirit, as the Generality of the World are not, or rather very few are, that of St. John having continued true in all Ages in a manner, ὁ κόσμος ὅλος ἐν πονηρῷ κεῖται, The whole World lies ſoaked in Wickedneſs; in theſe this glorious ſetting out, this fair and glittering Morning will aſſuredly very ſuddenly prove a foul Day. 1 John 5. 19.

There being therefore ſuch Temporal Prizes to be aimed at, ſuch ſeveral Sorts and Degrees of Dignities, to the very Top of the higheſt Sovereignty over the World, all Mens Spirits will be inflamed with the Deſire and Purſuit of what lies ſo temptingly in their View, and that helliſh Fire of Ambition will be the very Life and Soul of the Church; all her Activity and Motion deriving it ſelf from that hateful Principle. Whence it will follow that nothing but the name of Spirituality will be left, the Minds of the Clergy being totally drawn off from meditating what is True, Holy, and Edifying, and quite drown'd and immerſt in the Affairs of the World.

For ſuch are alſo Eccleſiaſtick Preferments, when they are ſought after to ſatisfie the Luſt of the Eyes, the Luſt of the Fleſh, and the Pride of Life.

11. Nor will this Miſchief ſtop here, I mean in the Neglect of Holy and Divine Meditation, and of either uſeful or generous Enquiries after Truth; but every one being exalted in the Conceit and Apprehenſion of his own Place and Dignity, eſpecially he whoſe Superiority is ſo vaſt as to pretend to be the Univerſal Biſhop of Chriſtendom, and higher than all the Kings of the Earth, they will be driven on ſo far with that furious Spirit of Ambition, that they will not only neglect, but oppoſe, every thing that is Sacred and Holy, if it ſtand in Competition with any deviſed Method of getting in Riches to the Church, that they may Lord it, and carry it out bravely, every Man in his reſpective Office and Dignity.

Wherefore the genuin Simplicity of Chriſtian Religion ſhall be corrupted and adulterated, and Laws and Articles deviſed by this Infallible Prieſthood, that are point-blank againſt the Laws of Chriſt and the immutable Rules of ſound Reaſon: The Ears of all Men will be filled with deceitful Figments and gainful Lies, ſuch as we have already produced many Inſtances of; the Merits of Chriſt's Paſſion vilified and maimed; Truth and Juſtice baniſhed, perſecuted and oppreſſed; the Old and New Teſtament made but a dumb and dead Letter that has no Senſe nor Information in it, but all Dictates muſt be immediate from the Church that is reſolved to dictate nothing that is againſt her worldly Advantage: that is to ſay, The two Witneſſes muſt be ſlain, and their Carcaſſes lie Breathleſs in the Streets; otherwiſe thoſe that dwell on the Earth (not thoſe that are redeemed from the Earth, and have their Converſation in Heaven) will not be able to rejoice in ſuch a meaſure, and to ſend Gifts to one another, that is, mutually ſupport and promote one another's Intereſt, and merrily ſhare the World amongſt themſelves. Apoc. 11.

12. It is plain therefore that ſuch a Luciferian Polity as this would of its own Nature claſh with the Kingdom of Chriſt, and totally defeat that Grand Deſign of the Goſpel, which is the Renewing of the World in true Righteouſneſs and Holineſs. For thus even thoſe which ſhould be the Salt of the Earth will of all Men become the moſt unſavory; every Man's Judgment being bribed by either the preſent Poſſeſſion or earneſt Expectation of ſuch vaſt and extravagant Preferments; of which there being ſo many Degrees, the Minds of the Ambitious will find no Reſt till they come to the higheſt that is poſſible, and therefore will be neceſſarily entangled and taken up with worldly Projects, even as long as they live, and that with great Vehemence and Sollicitude; the Objects ſeeming ſo great, and making ſo glaring a Show in their Fancies. And Ambition and Pomp in all Ranks rendring them indigent of Money, no inferior Candidate can attempt the corrupting of the Superior Authority without Succeſs, and every one betime will get as much of Church-preferment as he can, to be able to buy more.

Wherefore by Law or Diſpenſation, Men ſhall be inabled to hold not only many Benefices, but Biſhopricks, beſides other Dignities in the Church; by which means no Shepherd will be able to attend his own Flock, but, inſtead of feeding them with wholeſome Doctrine, will help the Devil to infuſe the worſt Poiſon that can be conveyed into Mens Minds, namely, That the whole Buſineſs of Religion is but a Device to enrich the Prieſt. Thus neceſſarily and unavoidably by their Abſence and Silence will they preach and inculcate Atheiſm and Infidelity into their ſcandalized don; That the Saying a certain ſhort Prayer, devoutly looking on the Picture of Chriſt, ſhall obtain ten thouſand Days of Pardon, and the Saying of others no leſs than ten hundred thouſand Years; and for the Looking on a certain Crucifix, ſix thouſand Years of Pardon.

Theſe Intimations would be infinite, I have produced ſo much already as implies ſuch a Conſtitution in a Church, as nothing can be more oppoſite to or deſtructive of that Life and Holineſs Chriſt came to plant in the World, and therefore cannot but be judged very foully Antichriſtian.

7. The Falſeneſs and Unjuſtifiableneſs of theſe Proceedings I need not go about to evince, they being ſo damnable at firſt Sight: nor point at the Fraud, it being ſo conſpicuous; which is, as I have above intimated in like Caſes, the Emunging of the People of their Money: And the Miſchief is here the Oppoſition or Extinction of the Divine Life, as it will be likewiſe in the Root and Branches. So that we need hereafter note no other Miſchiefs than will be comprized in the Subject we ſhall be upon, the Miſchiefs being expreſſed in the very Titles of the Argument. Which I thought fit here to note once for all; and would proceed to the delineating of the next Limb of Antichriſtianiſm, did there not one Conſideration more offer it ſelf to my Mind, that would help to make the State of the Church very Stepdame-like to any Offers toward Growth and Increaſe in Life and Godlineſs. Which Suppoſition is this.

8. Let us imagin that either a mighty Party of the Eccleſiaſticks had plotted it ſo, or the Ambition of one Biſhop with ſome few Adherents, being back'd with Opportunities, and wanting no Wit, Policy, nor Induſtry, had brought it about to be ſo, that he and his Succeſſors ſhould be declared, and by a very conſiderable Part accepted for, the Univerſal Biſhop of the World, ſhould be eſteemed of an Authority more ſacred, high and glorious than of any Emperor or Potentate upon Earth: that there ſhould be ſubſtituted under him ſeveral Orders, ſome of very high-degree, which ſhould be, as it were, ſo many Eccleſiaſtick Princes, equal in a Manner for Pomp and Splendour to the Kings of the Earth; beſides Patriarchs, Metropolitans, and many other very rich and illuſtrious Ranks of the Prieſthood, the Church in the interim abounding with ſundry Sorts of very creditable and profitable Preferments to bear out all.

Why, thus far, you will ſay, is very good News, and it were deſirable it were ſo indeed, That Religion being the moſt ſacred and precious thing in the World, thoſe that are in a more ſpecial Manner the Supporters and Pillars thereof ſhould be the moſt richly ſplendid and adorned.

9. I do confeſs ſo a Man would think at firſt Sight. For it ſeems but a Reſpect to God, whoſe Servants they are by a more peculiar Dedication. But by the ſame Reaſon our Churches ſhould be as well the moſt ſplendid as the moſt ample Buildings, eſpecially there being no Danger of infecting theſe Walls of Stone with either the Senſe of Pride or any other uncomely Paſſion.

But ſuppoſe that theſe pretended living Stones of the Temple of God were as unexcitable to Pride or Luſt as the dead Stones of the Walls of a Church; though this extreme Glory and Pomp and exceſsful Affluency of the World might do them no Hurt as to their Manners, yet I belive they would profeſs they found little good in it, unleſs it were in being Treaſurers for the Poor, (which would be ſomething a ſecular Employment) or in giving Teſtimony to the World, that Chriſtian Happineſs conſiſts not in theſe Things; which yet the World would not think them ſerious in, unleſs they did actually quit them. And for the external Pomp and Splendidneſs of their own Perſons, it is credible they would declare that if the Houſes of God, I mean the external Churches, were at leaſt decently, if not in ſome Caſe glorioufly, adorned, their Eyes could better view that and with more Pleaſure than any Imperial Ornaments on their own Head and Back, which they could not well ſee without the Help of Looking-glaſſes.

This would be a greater Pleaſure to them, as alſo to ſee no Poor but ſuch as were wholeſomely and handſomely apparrell'd, not ſo ſqualidly and forlornly that they appear as ungrateful Eye-ſores in Providence.

But to make rich Miters and coſtly Habiliments for a St. Peter or St. Paul, were not indeed to make a Coat for the Moon, but (which is as ridiculous) to make a golden Cope for the Sun, as if his native Splendour did not out-ſhine all ſuch artificial Ornaments. The Gorgeouſneſs of Apparrel may make the Perſon that wears it to be gazed or ſtared upon; but unſpotted Holineſs and Virtue will make the Poſſeſſor thereof truly reverenced and adored.

10. This

10. This exceſſive Grandure therefore in the Governours of the Church, though they were as holy as the Apoſtles themſelves, would not ſeem neceſſary, or requiſite, nor, it may be, at all deſirable. But as for thoſe that are not of ſuch an Apoſtolical Spirit, as the Generality of the World are not, or rather very few are, that of St. John having continued true in all Ages in a manner, ὁ κόσμος ὅλος ἐν πονηρῷ κεῖται, The whole World lies ſoaked in Wickedneſs; in theſe this glorious ſetting out, this fair and glittering Morning will aſſuredly very ſuddenly prove a foul Day. 1 John 5. 19.

There being therefore ſuch Temporal Prizes to be aimed at, ſuch ſeveral Sorts and Degrees of Dignities, to the very Top of the higheſt Sovereignty over the World, all Mens Spirits will be inflamed with the Deſire and Purſuit of what lies ſo temptingly in their View, and that helliſh Fire of Ambition will be the very Life and Soul of the Church; all her Activity and Motion deriving it ſelf from that hateful Principle. Whence it will follow that nothing but the name of Spirituality will be left, the Minds of the Clergy being totally drawn off from meditating what is True, Holy, and Edifying, and quite drown'd and immerſt in the Affairs of the World.

For ſuch are alſo Eccleſiaſtick Preferments, when they are ſought after to ſatisfie the Luſt of the Eyes, the Luſt of the Fleſh, and the Pride of Life.

11. Nor will this Miſchief ſtop here, I mean in the Neglect of Holy and Divine Meditation, and of either uſeful or generous Enquiries after Truth; but every one being exalted in the Conceit and Apprehenſion of his own Place and Dignity, eſpecially he whoſe Superiority is ſo vaſt as to pretend to be the Univerſal Biſhop of Chriſtendom, and higher than all the Kings of the Earth, they will be driven on ſo far with that furious Spirit of Ambition, that they will not only neglect, but oppoſe, every thing that is Sacred and Holy, if it ſtand in Competition with any deviſed Method of getting in Riches to the Church, that they may Lord it, and carry it out bravely, every Man in his reſpective Office and Dignity.

Wherefore the genuin Simplicity of Chriſtian Religion ſhall be corrupted and adulterated, and Laws and Articles deviſed by this Infallible Prieſthood, that are point-blank againſt the Laws of Chriſt and the immutable Rules of ſound Reaſon: The Ears of all Men will be filled with deceitful Figments and gainful Lies, ſuch as we have already produced many Inſtances of; the Merits of Chriſt's Paſſion vilified and maimed; Truth and Juſtice baniſhed, perſecuted and oppreſſed; the Old and New Teſtament made but a dumb and dead Letter that has no Senſe nor Information in it, but all Dictates muſt be immediate from the Church that is reſolved to dictate nothing that is againſt her worldly Advantage: that is to ſay, The two Witneſſes muſt be ſlain, and their Carcaſſes lie Breathleſs in the Streets; otherwiſe thoſe that dwell on the Earth (not thoſe that are redeemed from the Earth, and have their Converſation in Heaven) will not be able to rejoice in ſuch a meaſure, and to ſend Gifts to one another, that is, mutually ſupport and promote one another's Intereſt, and merrily ſhare the World amongſt themſelves. Apoc. 11.

12. It is plain therefore that ſuch a Luciferian Polity as this would of its own Nature claſh with the Kingdom of Chriſt, and totally defeat that Grand Deſign of the Goſpel, which is the Renewing of the World in true Righteouſneſs and Holineſs. For thus even thoſe which ſhould be the Salt of the Earth will of all Men become the moſt unſavory; every Man's Judgment being bribed by either the preſent Poſſeſſion or earneſt Expectation of ſuch vaſt and extravagant Preferments; of which there being ſo many Degrees, the Minds of the Ambitious will find no Reſt till they come to the higheſt that is poſſible, and therefore will be neceſſarily entangled and taken up with worldly Projects, even as long as they live, and that with great Vehemence and Sollicitude; the Objects ſeeming ſo great, and making ſo glaring a Show in their Fancies. And Ambition and Pomp in all Ranks rendring them indigent of Money, no inferior Candidate can attempt the corrupting of the Superior Authority without Succeſs, and every one betime will get as much of Church-preferment as he can, to be able to buy more.

Wherefore by Law or Diſpenſation, Men ſhall be inabled to hold not only many Benefices, but Biſhopricks, beſides other Dignities in the Church; by which means no Shepherd will be able to attend his own Flock, but, inſtead of feeding them with wholeſome Doctrine, will help the Devil to infuſe the worſt Poiſon that can be conveyed into Mens Minds, namely, That the whole Buſineſs of Religion is but a Device to enrich the Prieſt. Thus neceſſarily and unavoidably by their Abſence and Silence will they preach and inculcate Atheiſm and Infidelity into their ſcandalized Charge. For if the Salt it ſelf become thus unſavory, What better can become of that which it is to ſeaſon? Will not Lewdneſs and Irreligion overflow all?

13. To be ſhort, All Mens Minds upon the Reckoning being inflamed with Pride and Ambition, and no Man's Ambition being to be ſerved without Money; the Temple of God will, as in times paſt, be filled with Buyers and Sellers, and the Church become a very Mart or Fair, the Eccleſiaſtick Polity a City of Merchandiſes, and every particular Church a Merchant's Ship or Veſſel of Traffick, amidſt the Populoſity of the World, which the Prophetick Style reſembles to many Waters.

But I will harp no longer on this String. I have already made a Deſcription full enough of ſuch a Conſtitution or Frame of the Church as would in an univerſal manner oppoſe or diſappoint the Planting or Growth of the Divine Life, whereby it does ſufficiently ſhew it ſelf to be extremely Antichriſtian.

CHAP. VIII.

1. That ſuch a Frame of Things as naturally tends to the Extinguiſhing of Faith is highly Antichriſtian. 2. That A Trade of Worldlineſs in the Spiritual Guides is one Part of this Frame. 3. And a Self-ended Policy in all the Doctrines and Practices of this Church, another. 4. Thirdly, The Profeſſion of Uncertainty and Obſcurity in the Chriſtian Faith. 5. Fourthly, The neceſſity of being in a Church where there is no Interruption by Miſordination. 6. Fifthly, The bearing Men down that Diſſent in any thing takes away Certainty in all things. 7,---12. Sixthly, Lying Miracles. 13,---16. Seventhly, A Rabble of incredible Reliques. 17. Eighthly, Traſubſtantiation. 18. How naturally it ſuper-induces Atheiſm. 19. What a Bundle of Impoſſibilities it is. 20. That the pretended Infallibility of the Church is infinitely too light to weigh againſt it. 21. Nor can it be made Credible by the Countenance of feigned Miracles. 22. Several Characters of them that are excluded the Holy City, comprized in this preſent Limb of Antichriſtianiſm.

1. WE will now proceed to thoſe main Parts of the Divine Life, the Root and the Branches. Where it is obvious to take Notice that what deads the Root, whereby the whole Tree muſt neceſſarily wither, cannot but be Antichriſtian to the higheſt Pitch. Wherefore if I deſcribe ſuch a Management of Affairs in the Church as naturally tends to the Extinguiſhing of Faith, which is the neceſſary Root of the other Divine Graces, no Man will doubt but that I have delineated a very conſiderable Limb of Antichriſtianiſm.

2. Of which the firſt Point is what we laſt of all touched upon: Such a Frame of Government, and ſuch Sublimities of Dignities, as would lapſe the Church, and immerſe it into the World, and thereby make them that ſhould be the Salt of the Earth, an unſavory Maſs, and of a ſecular, dead, inſipid Spirit, reliſhing nothing of the Kingdom of God, but wholly taken up with the Profits and Promotions of this preſent Life. For they would thereby look ſo like Unbelievers themſelves, that they would ſtagger the Faith of all thoſe under them, and make them think that there was nothing to be expected after this Life, becauſe their Leaders and Guides lived ſo exactly according to that Principle, That there is nothing to be expected hereafter.

3. Secondly, The Exquiſiteneſs of their Order and Policy in managing the Affairs of their Eccleſiaſtick Empire, if it did ſurpaſs all the Cunning and Induſtry of Secular Princes, and if all thoſe Doctrines and Duties which were moſt urged and moſt frequently came into Practice were of ſuch a Nature as did plainly tend to the either Honour, Power, or Profit of the Prieſthood; This, I ſay, would ſtrike very far towards the making the World Infidels, or Believers of nothing but this, That the Sum of our Religion is but a witty Invention of ſo many fictitious Stories, Doctrines, Precepts and Ceremonies, which would ſerve to hamper the Conſciences of Men, and make the World more Governable; but ſo ſhaped out by the Prieſts, as made moſt for their worldly Advantage. And ſuch we have already deſcribed the Tenents and Doctrines of this Church to be, continuedly diſplaying the Frauds and Self-endedneſs of all their Errors and Miſpractices, and need not here again repeat them.

4. Thirdly,

4. Thirdly, This alſo would oppoſe the Chriſtian Faith, To make the Nature of it ſuch, that it muſt be always doubtful. Of which I muſt confeſs I know not what may be the Fetch, unleſs it be to keep Mens Minds, as ſome deceitful Phyſicians and Surgeons do their Bodies, in ſuch an unſound and valetudinarious Condition, that they may have the more frequent Recourſe to them, and depend the more upon them: or becauſe they mix ſome things in Religion neceſſarily to be believed, which it is impoſſible they ſhould be firmly believed by any but Fools. And thus the true and ſolid Points of Chriſtianity, ſuch as have ſufficient Evidence to convince any Man of Reaſon, muſt be reputed obſcure and uncertain for being found in the Company of ſuch groſs Falſities or Uncertainties, which yet pretend to an equal Right of entire Reception with the cleareſt Truths.

And further, It is no wonder that ſuch a Church as places whatever Certainty there is of Faith upon her own Infallibility, as if that were the Ground of it, ſhould derive both an Opinion and Profeſſion of the Uncertainty of Belief upon her Nurſelings; they having no better Ground than what we have ſo plainly demonſtrated already to be hollow and ruinous.

But it is their only Shift and Rufuge, to make their Infallibility the Ground of Belief, the Matters they propoſe to be believed having no Recommendation either from Scripture or their own Nature to be embraced. And therefore things being thus uncertain at the bottom upon their Principles, they muſt inſtead of a firm and ſolid Faith be content with an obſcure and uncertain one. Which is indeed the deſtroying of Chriſtian Faith, and the ſubſtituting of a mere vertiginous Fluctuation of Mind in lieu thereof.

5. Fourthly, That Principle alſo tends to the ruining of Faith, which ſuppoſes That without right Succeſſion of Biſhops and Prieſts there is no true Church, and therefore no true Faith; and that this Succeſſion may be interrupted by rhe Miſordination or Miſconſecration of a Prieſt or Biſhop, the Perſons thus Ordained or Conſecrated being Atheiſts or Jews, or Ordained by them that are ſo, or do out of Malice not intend what they ought in the Sacrament of Orders, as ſome call it. Which were a Conceit able to turn all Men Scepticks concerning their State in Religion; but is a Poſition abſolutely againſt inward Senſe and Reaſon. As if a Man could not feel in his own Conſcience whether he believed or not the Truths of Holy Scripture, without he were firſt aſſured that he was a Member of that Church that had an uninterrupted lawful Succeſſion of the Prieſthood from the Apoſtles times till his own. Whenas there is nothing more immediate to a Man than inward Senſe, which it is not in the Power of any Sophiſtry ever to confute.

6. Wherefore though this Poſition may be ſpightfully levelled againſt the Certainty of Faith, yet the Execution it can do upon the Conſiderate is very inconſiderable and ſmall: much like that peeviſh Suppoſition of the Neceſſity of Unity of Opinion; as if thoſe Churches that did differ in any thing, had the Certainty of nothing. An excellent Hypotheſis indeed, were it but true, and ſuch as would effectually recommend the Uſefulneſs of an Infallible Judge of Controverſies, if he could be had for Love or Money, by whom they might cloſely compact the Parts of the Church Catholick together, as with Cramps of Iron.

But there is no ſuch Force in the Theorem, which will of it ſelf fall aſunder into Duſt, if we conſider it can ſtand upon no other Terms than what will ſupplant the Truth of all Reaſon and Religion in the World; the whole World being divided in their Judgments and Concluſions concerning both. Whence it is plain that the Attempt, though weak, tends to the bringing in univerſal Scepticiſm in all things. In which Deluge the Chriſtian Faith would be alſo drowned, and periſh with all other Truths, there being no Ark left to take Sanctuary in, and to be ſafe from the Working and abſorptive Waves of this reciprocating Euripus.

7. But fixthly, and I ſhall now inſtance in what is not only ill-meant, but muſt needs have a ſucceſsful Efficacy for making the World Atheiſts or Infidels; and that is, The Glutting of them with lying Miracles, and gulling of them with Deluſions and couſening Devices, call them pious Frauds, or by what other fine Names you pleaſe. For the Falſehood being once diſcovered in ſuch a Church as requires to be believed more upon their own Authority and Infallibility than upon the Credibility of the Matters which they propound, I ſay, if they once be taken tardy in Forgeries and guileful Fictions in any Points, eſpecially ſuch as tend to their own Profit, How can this fail of ſhaking or rather ruining the whole Frame of Belief, to the very Foundations? How ruinous then muſt the Chriſtian Faith be, where ſuch Lies and Figments are frequent, and almoſt as frequently diſcovered by thoſe that are more naſute? Certainly Atheiſm and Infidelity muſt break in upon ſuch a Church as the Sea upon the Cutting of the Banks.

8. That I may the better be underſtood, I will give you ſome brief Inſtances of theſe impudent Figments. As for Example, "If they ſhould have the Face to tell the "People, that ſuch a Saint, when his Head was ſtruck off, walked four or five Mile "with it in his Hand, only reſting himſelf every Mile's End to take Breath at his "open Weaſand-Pipe. That another Saint being hoſpitably entertained at the Ex-"pence of the Lives of a Cow and a Calf, reſtored them again to Life, and that they "were both of them found the next Day in their Maſter's Meadows. That by ano-"ther Saint the Devil was ſeen behind the Altar buſily writing down Mens Sins in a "Parchment, which being ſomething too ſcant, he ſtretched with his Teeth, and "his Hold ſlipping, knocked his Head againſt the Wall. That a certain She-Saint "being ſwallowed by a Dragon, ſhe making a Croſs in the Dragon's Belly, burſt "him in Pieces, and ſo was delivered. That a Biſhop having cut off his own Hand "upon its being polluted by the Kiſs of ſome over-affectionate Female, it was ſud-"denly ſet on again, and healed by Prayers addreſſed to the Bleſſed Virgin. The "like whereof happened to another Saint whoſe Legs were cut off at the Knees: "and to the Head of another, which being cut off, ſprung up and grew on again, "but lopt off the ſecond time, by its Fall gave the Riſe to a Fountain or Well. "And laſtly, that another She-Saint being by Ropes to be haled to Execution, was "ſo ſtrong upon Croſſing her ſelf, and Calling upon the Virgin Mary, that a whole "Team of Oxen could not drag her to the place.

9. But I have not yet done. That alſo would be a delicious Figment concern-ing ſome Saints, that they have had perſonal Converſe with the Virgin Mary, and that ſhe has been ſo kind to ſome, that ſhe has emptied her Breaſts into their Mouths on their Sick-beds, to their unſpeakable Comfort. It were likewiſe a good rouſing Miracle, and bigger than Belief, that a certain Holy Houſe of the Virgin's ſhould be carried out of Paleſtine into Italy by an inviſible Hand through the Air. Surely the Angels of God would be very worthily employ'd in removing ſuch Stone-Work and Timber-Work. For a Crucifix alſo to take ſome fifty Miles Journey through the ſame Element in a Night, were a pretty Figment to furniſh out the Faith of Fools. The Speaking alſo of Crucifixes would help to make up the Number of theſe either Deluſions or Incredibilities.

10. To which miraculous Loquacity you may add thoſe more ſilent Fictions of Dreams; The making of Marriages betwixt Chriſt and ſome Women-Saints; The making Images to rowl their Eyes, to weep alſo, and to ſweat; The Hiſtrioni-cal Scenes of exorcizing upon Compact betwixt the feignedly Poſſeſſed and the Ex-orciſt; Fictitious Stories to ſet out the wondrous Virtue of the Maſs, and the great Holineſs thereof: As that the firſt Words that have been ſpoken by Infants have been, To Maſs, To Maſs; That it has fed the Abſent, when they have faſted twenty Days; ſtruck the Chains miraculouſly from the Legs of Captives: That at every Clinking of the Money, at an Offertory, in the Baſon, a Soul Leaps out of Purga-tory: That the Hoſt being taken by one not faſting, has transformed him into the Shape of an Horſe or Swine.

There might be alſo fine Devices for the magnifying of the Holineſs of the Prieſt, in making ſuch things as come from his Body ſeem to have the Virtue of Scaring away the Devil: As ſuppoſe the Devil be made to appear more impatient when the Prieſt's Glove, Hoſe, Girdle, or Shirt be applied to any Part of the Poſ-ſeſſed; which may be ex pacto, as well as in the conciliating the Opinion of ſuch Virtues in the Image or Reliques of this or that Saint. But how ſtupendiouſly Bleſ-ſed and Holy muſt that Prieſt ſeem to be, who could make the People believe that he was himſelf poſſeſſed with the Bleſſed Trinity! And how Sacred muſt that She-Saint appear, betwixt whom and Chriſt Jeſus there was that Dearneſs of Affection and near Friendſhip, that they wore one another's Hearts interchangeably, Chriſt's Heart being conveyed into her Body, and her Heart into his!

11. The Counterfeiting alſo of Apparitions were a trim way to cut off the Belief of their ever having been any true one. And therefore it would be a very Antichriſti-an Piece of Knavery for any Prieſt to uſe any ſuch Deceits and Jugglings under what pious Pretence ſoever: As by putting on ſome Hiſtrionical Accoutrements to act the Part of an Angel, or of the bleſſed Virgin deſcending from Heaven in Glory, or of ſome Ghoſt from the Infernal Parts with wan and ghaſtly Looks, and cold and earthly Hands; and in theſe Diſguiſes to viſit the Perplexed, for either the corroborating of them in the Belief of that Religion which they have already entertained, or for the Recommendation of that Religion they endeavour to proſelyte them to. Another Example of which kind would be, the Contrivance of moving Lights in Church-yards, by faſtning Wax-Candles on the Backs of Crab-fiſhes, which muſt be interpreted the unquiet Souls of them that are tortured in Purgatory, and ſeek Relief by the Prayers and Offerings of good People.

12. To which you may add, the ſetting out the State of Purgatory with ſuch extravagant Poetical Fabuloſities, [as the Roaſting of Souls againſt the Fire, Frying them in Frying-Pans, the Pulling them in Pieces with hot Pincers, the Fleſh from the Bone, the Baptizing them in flaming Pitch and Brimſtone, and ſcalding Metals; their being bit by the venomous Teeth of great Serpents; their being transformed into Black-horſes; the pouring down the Throats of theſe Ghoſts melted Money, and then forcing them to vomit it up again, that it may be again poured in by theſe officious Fiends; with many ſuch incredible Schemes of Torture, from which there is appointed no Deliverance but by Pardons, Maſſes, Oblations, and the like, that is to ſay, without ſome worldly Benefit accrewing to the Church:] Certainly ſuch a Deſcription as this of Purgatory, or a Third place, muſt naturally engender a Misbelief of all Three, and make Men think there is neither Heaven nor Hell after this Life, but that all are but Figments and Inventions, for the Benefit of the Prieſt, eſpecially, as I have already intimated, theſe things being taught in that Church who make their own Credit and Authority the main, if not only, Prop of Faith.

13. But I will alſo deſcribe a ſeventh Way, which is marvellouſly effectual to extinguiſh the Chriſtian Faith amongſt Men; and that is an immenſe Heap of incredible Reliques which might be obtruded upon their Beliefs; the reverential Sight whereof bringing in a daily Gain to the Church, would be a plain Demonſtration they will not ſtick to lie for their Advantage: which if they do very groſly and deprehenſibly here, How can it fail of ruining Faith in all other Matters of Religion?

But this Point is better underſtood by certain Inſtances. "As if, for Example, "they ſhould pretend to ſhew that very Hay that was in the Cratch wherein our "Saviour was laid, and more than one Tail of the Aſs on which he rode in Tri"umph to Jeruſalem: The Stones alſo that killed St. Stephen, as well as the Arrows "whereby St. Sebaſtian was wounded. If they ſhould pretend to ſhew the Virgin "Mary's Smock, as well as Joſeph's Pantofles and Breeches; ſome of the five Barley"loaves and two Fiſhes with which Chriſt fed five thouſand Men in the Wilder"neſs; ſome of the Blood and Water that flowed out of his Side at his Suffering; "as alſo ſome of that very Ground that Chriſt ſtood upon when he aſcended into "Heaven: The Hair and Blood of St. John Baptiſt, and the Hair-cloath that he wore: "The Table upon which Chriſt did eat his laſt Supper, the Stool which he ſate upon, "and the Towel wherewith he wiped his Diſciples Feet.

14. "The Picture of Chriſt painted upon a Wall by the Finger of God, and ano"ther drawn by Nicodemus whilſt the Jews were beating of him: The Fore-skin "alſo of Chriſt, his Navel-ſtring, and Secundine in which he was wrapt in the "Womb: Alſo Chriſt's Handkerchief, and the Shirt which the bleſſed Virgin made "for him: as likewiſe the Cradle in which he was rocked.

15. "Furthermore the Virgin Mary's Veil with which ſhe uſed to cover her Head, "her Comb, her Hair, her Girdle, her Needles, Sowing-thread, and Work-basket; "nay the very Houſe in which ſhe dwelt and wrought, tranſported (as I ſaid be"fore) out of Paleſtine into Italy by the Hands of Angels: The Reed with which "they ſmote Jeſus, the Rope with which they haled him to Execution, the very "Spunge alſo with which the Jews gave him Vinegar mingled with Gall to drink, "and ſome of the Coin for which Judas betrayed him, nay the very Lantern he "uſed in that Work of Darkneſs, and the Dice wherewith the Soldiers play'd for "Chriſt's ſeamleſs Coat. Moreover the pure Blood of Chriſt, and the Milk of Ma"ry his Mother kept in Glaſſes.

"The Pillar alſo at which Chriſt was whipped, and the Stairs or Steps on which he "went up into the Judgment-hall, and ſome of the Thorns wherewith he was crown"ed. An Image of the Virgin Mary made by St. Luke, to which an Angelical Statue "of Marble was ſeen often to bow. The paring of the Nails of a livlng dead "Crucifix; and the lively Picture of Chriſt made by himſelf by the preſſing only of "a Napkin to his Face when he ſweat.

Figments are frequent, and almoſt as frequently diſcovered by thoſe that are more naſute? Certainly Atheiſm and Infidelity muſt break in upon ſuch a Church as the Sea upon the Cutting of the Banks.

8. That I may the better be underſtood, I will give you ſome brief Inſtances of theſe impudent Figments. As for Example, " If they ſhould have the Face to tell the " People, that ſuch a Saint, when his Head was ſtruck off, walked four or five Mile " with it in his Hand, only reſting himſelf every Mile's End to take Breath at his " open Weaſand-Pipe. That another Saint being hoſpitably entertained at the Ex- " pence of the Lives of a Cow and a Calf, reſtored them again to Life, and that they " were both of them found the next Day in their Maſter's Meadows. That by ano- " ther Saint the Devil was ſeen behind the Altar buſily writing down Mens Sins in a " Parchment, which being ſomething too ſcant, he ſtretched with his Teeth, and " his Hold ſlipping, knocked his Head againſt the Wall. That a certain She-Saint " being ſwallowed by a Dragon, ſhe making a Croſs in the Dragon's Belly, burſt " him in Pieces, and ſo was delivered. That a Biſhop having cut off his own Hand " upon its being polluted by the Kiſs of ſome over-affectionate Female, it was ſud- " denly ſet on again, and healed by Prayers addreſſed to the Bleſſed Virgin. The " like whereof happened to another Saint whoſe Legs were cut off at the Knees: " and to the Head of another, which being cut off, ſprung up and grew on again, " but lopt off the ſecond time, by its Fall gave the Riſe to a Fountain or Well. " And laſtly, that another She-Saint being by Ropes to be haled to Execution, was " ſo ſtrong upon Croſſing her ſelf, and Calling upon the Virgin Mary, that a whole " Team of Oxen could not drag her to the place.

9. But I have not yet done. That alſo would be a delicious Figment concerning ſome Saints, that they have had perſonal Converſe with the Virgin Mary, and that ſhe has been ſo kind to ſome, that ſhe has emptied her Breaſts into their Mouths on their Sick-beds, to their unſpeakable Comfort. It were likewiſe a good rouſing Miracle, and bigger than Belief, that a certain Holy Houſe of the Virgin's ſhould be carried out of Paleſtine into Italy by an inviſible Hand through the Air. Surely the Angels of God would be very worthily employ'd in removing ſuch Stone-Work and Timber-Work. For a Crucifix alſo to take ſome fifty Miles Journey through the ſame Element in a Night, were a pretty Figment to furniſh out the Faith of Fools. The Speaking alſo of Crucifixes would help to make up the Number of theſe either Deluſions or Incredibilities.

10. To which miraculous Loquacity you may add thoſe more ſilent Fictions of Dreams; The making of Marriages betwixt Chriſt and ſome Women-Saints; The making Images to rowl their Eyes, to weep alſo, and to ſweat; The Hiſtrionical Scenes of exorcizing upon Compact betwixt the feignedly Poſſeſſed and the Exorciſt; Fictitious Stories to ſet out the wondrous Virtue of the Maſs, and the great Holineſs thereof: As that the firſt Words that have been ſpoken by Infants have been, To Maſs, To Maſs; That it has fed the Abſent, when they have faſted twenty Days; ſtruck the Chains miraculouſly from the Legs of Captives: That at every Clinking of the Money, at an Offertory, in the Baſon, a Soul Leaps out of Purgatory: That the Hoſt being taken by one not faſting, has transformed him into the Shape of an Horſe or Swine.

There might be alſo fine Devices for the magnifying of the Holineſs of the Prieſt, in making ſuch things as come from his Body ſeem to have the Virtue of Scaring away the Devil: As ſuppoſe the Devil be made to appear more impatient when the Prieſt's Glove, Hoſe, Girdle, or Shirt be applied to any Part of the Poſſeſſed; which may be ex pacto, as well as in the conciliating the Opinion of ſuch Virtues in the Image or Reliques of this or that Saint. But how ſtupendiouſly Bleſſed and Holy muſt that Prieſt ſeem to be, who could make the People believe that he was himſelf poſſeſſed with the Bleſſed Trinity! And how Sacred muſt that She-Saint appear, betwixt whom and Chriſt Jeſus there was that Dearneſs of Affection and near Friendſhip, that they wore one another's Hearts interchangeably, Chriſt's Heart being conveyed into her Body, and her Heart into his!

11. The Counterfeiting alſo of Apparitions were a trim way to cut off the Belief of their ever having been any true one. And therefore it would be a very Antichriſtian Piece of Knavery for any Prieſt to uſe any ſuch Deceits and Jugglings under what pious Pretence ſoever: As by putting on ſome Hiſtrionical Accoutrements to act the Part of an Angel, or of the bleſſed Virgin deſcending from Heaven in Glory, or or of ſome Ghoſt from the Infernal Parts with wan and ghaſtly Looks, and cold and earthly Hands; and in theſe Diſguiſes to viſit the Perplexed, for either the corroborating of them in the Belief of that Religion which they have already entertained, or for the Recommendation of that Religion they endeavour to proſelyte them to. Another Example of which kind would be, the Contrivance of moving Lights in Church-yards, by faſtning Wax-Candles on the Backs of Crab-fiſhes, which muſt be interpreted the unquiet Souls of them that are tortured in Purgatory, and ſeek Relief by the Prayers and Offerings of good People.

12. To which you may add, the ſetting out the State of Purgatory with ſuch extravagant Poetical Fabuloſities, [as the Roaſting of Souls againſt the Fire, Frying them in Frying-Pans, the Pulling them in Pieces with hot Pincers, the Fleſh from the Bone, the Baptizing them in flaming Pitch and Brimſtone, and ſcalding Metals; their being bit by the venomous Teeth of great Serpents; their being transformed into Black-horſes; the pouring down the Throats of theſe Ghoſts melted Money, and then forcing them to vomit it up again, that it may be again poured in by theſe officious Fiends; with many ſuch incredible Schemes of Torture, from which there is appointed no Deliverance but by Pardons, Maſſes, Oblations, and the like, that is to ſay, without ſome worldly Benefit accrewing to the Church:] Certainly ſuch a Deſcription as this of Purgatory, or a Third place, muſt naturally engender a Misbelief of all Three, and make Men think there is neither Heaven nor Hell after this Life, but that all are but Figments and Inventions, for the Benefit of the Prieſt, eſpecially, as I have already intimated, theſe things being taught in that Church who make their own Credit and Authority the main, if not only, Prop of Faith.

13. But I will alſo deſcribe a ſeventh Way, which is marvellouſly effectual to extinguiſh the Chriſtian Faith amongſt Men; and that is an immenſe Heap of incredible Reliques which might be obtruded upon their Beliefs; the reverential Sight whereof bringing in a daily Gain to the Church, would be a plain Demonſtration they will not ſtick to lie for their Advantage: which if they do very groſly and deprehenſibly here, How can it fail of ruining Faith in all other Matters of Religion?

But this Point is better underſtood by certain Inſtances. "As if, for Example, "they ſhould pretend to ſhew that very Hay that was in the Cratch wherein our "Saviour was laid, and more than one Tail of the Aſs on which he rode in Tri"umph to Jeruſalem: The Stones alſo that killed St. Stephen, as well as the Arrows "whereby St. Sebaſtian was wounded. If they ſhould pretend to ſhew the Virgin "Mary's Smock, as well as Joſeph's Pantofles and Breeches; ſome of the five Barley"loaves and two Fiſhes with which Chriſt fed five thouſand Men in the Wilder"neſs; ſome of the Blood and Water that flowed out of his Side at his Suffering; "as alſo ſome of that very Ground that Chriſt ſtood upon when he aſcended into "Heaven: The Hair and Blood of St. John Baptiſt, and the Hair cloath that he wore: "The Table upon which Chriſt did eat his laſt Supper, the Stool which he ſate upon, "and the Towel wherewith he wiped his Diſciples Feet.

14. "The Picture of Chriſt painted upon a Wall by the Finger of God, and ano"ther drawn by Nicodemus whilſt the Jews were beating of him: The Fore-skin "alſo of Chriſt, his Navel-ſtring, and Secundine in which he was wrapt in the "Womb: Alſo Chriſt's Handkerchief, and the Shirt which the bleſſed Virgin made "for him: as likewiſe the Cradle in which he was rocked.

15. "Furthermore the Virgin Mary's Veil with which ſhe uſed to cover her Head, "her Comb, her Hair, her Girdle, her Needles, Sowing-thread, and Work-basket; "nay the very Houſe in which ſhe dwelt and wrought, tranſported (as I ſaid be"fore) out of Paleſtine into Italy by the Hands of Angels: The Reed with which "they ſmote Jeſus, the Rope with which they haled him to Execution, the very "Spunge alſo with which the Jews gave him Vinegar mingled with Gall to drink, "and ſome of the Coin for which Judas betrayed him, nay the very Lantern he "uſed in that Work of Darkneſs, and the Dice wherewith the Soldiers play'd for "Chriſt's ſeamleſs Coat. Moreover the pure Blood of Chriſt, and the Milk of Ma"ry his Mother kept in Glaſſes.

"The Pillar alſo at which Chriſt was whipped, and the Stairs or Steps on which he "went up into the Judgment-hall, and ſome of the Thorns wherewith he was crown"ed. An Image of the Virgin Mary made by St. Luke, to which an Angelical Statue "of Marble was ſeen often to bow. The paring of the Nails of a living dead "Crucifix; and the lively Picture of Chriſt made by himſelf by the preſſing only of "a Napkin to his Face when he ſweat.

16. What

16. "What would the World ſay to the Credibility of three Tuns of Teeth drawn "from the Jaws of one Saint? To the producing of the very Dagger and Shield with "which St. Michael was armed when he fought with the Devil, and a Feather that "might then haply fall out of one of the Angel's Wings? What to the Shewing of "the Skull of a Saint's Head at one Place, his Hair in another, his Jaw-bone in ano-"ther, his Forehead in a fourth, and yet his whold Head in a fifth? What to the "Fore-skin of Chriſt ſhewn alſo in five ſeveral Places at once? What to ſome Dozens "of Nails wherewith Chriſt was nailed to the Croſs, and as many Pieces of the Croſs "as would load a Cart to carry them; and as many Glaſſes of the Virgin's Milk as "would fill all the Veſſels in a Country-Dairy? How can ſuch groſs Impoſtures as theſe but wipe the Prieſts Lips clean of all Credit and Belief, and caſt the World into deſperate Atheiſm and Infidelity?

17. But Eighthly and Laſtly, The moſt Incredible of all Incredibles and the greateſt Impoſſibility of all Impoſſibilities were that pretended Myſtery of Tranſubſtantiation: which being urged with the like Neceſſity and Aſſurance of Truth that any thing is urged by this Antichriſtian Church, whoſe Picture I am a-drawing, will do the moſt fatal Execution upon the Chriſtian Faith that any thing imaginable can do. For ſuppoſing this the moſt Fundamental Article of their Creed, or, if you will, the moſt precious and the moſt ſeriouſly-urged Fundamental of them all, and the very Hinge of almoſt all their Publick Devotion and God-ſervice; if this fail or break, all muſt of neceſſity fall to the Ground. For if the Church be found ſo ſhameleſly falſe in a Point ſo important as this, it does immediately follow that ſhe will thenceforth never be believed in any thing.

Wherefore they whoſe Belief was either wholly or mainly ſupported by the ſeeming Greatneſs of her Authority, this Failing by the eaſie Diſcovery of ſo groſs a Falſehood, (and yet by her moſt earneſtly and moſt ſeriouſly avowed for Truth,) the Faith of every ſuch Man muſt alſo neceſſarily fail, unleſs by ſome ſpecial Grace of God aſſiſting his Conference with the Perſons or Writings of ſome better-inſtructed Chriſtians, which he may haply meet with in this vaſt Wilderneſs he wanders in, he be ſtopt from ſplitting himſelf a-pieces from this dangerous Precipice he ſtands on, and from the plunging himſelf into the Mire of Atheiſm and Unbelief.

18. For undoubtedly if he have no other Help but this Pſeudo-chriſtian Synagogue, though he may be awed by their external Laſh from profeſſing his Infidelity, yet it will be impoſſible for him to hinder the Tacit Growth of it in his own Soul; but he will naturally diſguſt and diſclaim all hearty Commerce with Religion, and even loath it as a Pack of Lies.

Wherefore it is impoſſible but this Congregation of Impoſtors and Deceivers (which I am ſetting forth in the trueſt Colours I can) ſhould ſwarm with Multitudes of grown and obdurate Atheiſts. For the Impoſture we ſpeak of now being ſo ſignal, and the Diſcovery ſo eaſie and obvious, How can it chuſe but be diſcovered even by Multitudes of People?

For the Account comes only to this, Whether it be more likely that the Church for her own Advantage (which I perceive ſhe does every-where eagerly and ſtiffly purſue) may knowingly and wittingly impoſe upon me, or at leaſt miſtake in her own Judgment, (of the Infallibility whereof I have no Proof but her own Boaſt, when it is in the mean time her Intereſt to boaſt ſo) I ſay, the Account comes only to this, Whether it be more likely that ſhe may practiſe Fraud, or fall into a Miſtake out of ſome blind Superſtition; or that by the uttering of Five Words a Prieſt ſhould have ſuch a Power as to turn a Piece of Bread into a Man, the Bread according to all my Senſes being as much Bread as it was before. Which is a double Miracle, and greater than ever was yet done in the World conſidered but thus far; and almoſt as great a Miracle that any one ſhould believe it.

19. But there are ſtill greater, I cannot ſay Miracles, but down-right Impoſſibities. As firſt, "That this Bread is not turned into a Man that was to be, but that "was already in being: Which is the hardeſt Non-ſenſe that can be offered to the "Mind of Man to think upon. And yet, in the ſecond Place, the Bread is ſo turned into a Man, that is to ſay, into the Man Chriſt, that he is entirely in every Place "where this conſecrated Bread ſeems to be, that is, in many thouſands of Places at "once at very large Diſtances: Which is as perfect a Contradiction as any can be pro-"poſed, That one and the ſame Body ſhould be entirely diſtant from it ſelf. For "how can it be One, being thus divided from it ſelf; ſince Unity conſiſts in Indiviſion, "and Self-Unity certainly is Self-Indiviſion? Wherefore if there be one Self at Ox- "ford,

*

" Oxford, ſuppoſe, and another at Cambridge at the ſame time, it is impoſſible it ſhould " be one and the ſame Perſon; their Diſtance or Diviſion demonſtrating them two di- " ſtinct ones. And thirdly and laſtly, From this falſe Suppoſition; That one and the ſame " Body may be at the ſame time in ſeveral Places, it will alſo follow, That one and the " ſame Perſon or Body may be at the ſame time wholly within it ſelf and wholly with- " out it ſelf, wholly above it ſelf and wholly beneath it ſelf, on the right Hand of it ſelf " and on the left Hand of it ſelf: That it may be one Body, and yet many Bodies at " once, or rather no Body, but a Spirit, or, to ſpeak more truly, Nothing: That " one and the ſame Perſon may meet himſelf and complement himſelf, may at the " ſame time move and reſt, lie along and walk, be many Miles abſent from his Friend " and preſent with him at once, may be now in Heaven and then in a Moment " on the Earth, without paſſing any of the Regions betwixt; with many ſuch like In- congruities, which we having above noted, it is needleſs any longer here to inſiſt upon.

20. It is already plain enough that Tranſubſtantiation, or the turning of the Bread into the very Body of Chriſt, is encumbred with ſo many and ſo manifeſtly groſs Impoſſibilities and eaſily deprehenſible, that the Impoſſibility of the Church's either ignorantly erring or voluntarily impoſing upon Men for her own Gain, can bear no Weight at all to turn the Scales in her Behalf; but there will be ſuch an irreſiſtible Moment of theſe apparrent and plain Contradictions of this ſo boldly obtruded Article of the Church, I mean this of Tranſubſtantiation, that the Weight thereof will naturally ſink all her Sons that but a little conſider of it (if nothing better than their Church help them and buoy them up) into the abhorred Pit of Infidelity firſt, and then of Hell.

21. For there is no plaiſtering over ſuch Impoſſibilities (which are deprehended to be ſuch according to the Univerſal and Immutable Laws of Reaſon) by feigned Miracles, to give Countenance thereto. As if they ſhould make ſuch Stories as theſe; " That the Sacrament being ſtruck with a Dagger, did bleed: That when the Bread, " as was thought, was taken out of the Mouth of the Communicant, it proved Fleſh " in the Fingers of the Prieſt: That the Hoſt has dropt many Drops of Blood upon " the Corporal, as it has been taken into the Prieſt's Hands: That it has flown out " of his Hands round about the Church, dropping Drops of Blood on the Marble " Pavement all the Time of its Flight: That a lovely fair Child has been ſeen ſome- " times to appear out of the conſecrated Bread; and the like. For theſe Stories could not evince the Truth of that which is impoſſible to be true, but would argue their own Falſeneſs by the End of their Producement. For commonly Liers back Lies with Lies.

22. And now I think I have deſcribed ſo plentifully and punctually this particular Limb of Antichriſtianiſm, which is oppoſite to the Root of the Divine Life, Faith, that nothing can be conceived wanting to the Perfection of ſuch a Contrariety, nor any Man doubt but that Church which is thus deſcribed is really one and the ſame with that which is excluded out of the New Jeruſalem, as being oppoſite to her Inhabitants.

For from ſuch a Conſtitution of things as I have here in this Member of Antichriſtianiſm ſet forth, it will plainly follow, that the profeſſed Sons of this falſe Church (as thoſe in the * Apocalyps) muſt be δειλοὶ ἄπιστοι καὶ ψευδεῖς, and οἱ ποιοῦντες καὶ φιλοῦντες ψεῦδος· that is to ſay, They muſt either be Men whoſe Spirits are intimidated with ſuperſtitious Fables, which are the δειλοὶ the fearful and the οἱ φιλοῦντες ψεῦδος, ſuch as love to hear Lies, and believe vain things out of a Sottiſhneſs and Imbecillity of Mind, and brutiſh Simplicity; or elſe they muſt be ἄπιστοι, Unbelievers and Atheiſts, though they externally for their own Peace Sake ſubmit to the Orders of their Church; or, laſtly, they muſt be the ψευδεῖς, or οἱ ποιοῦντες ψεῦδος, ſuch as forge Lies, and help to deceive the People with multifarious Falſehoods and Impoſtures. Which being the Characters of that Church which is oppoſite to the Holy City, it is a farther Indication that in the putting together theſe things that do ſo diametrically oppoſe or undermine the Chriſtian Faith, we have truly deſcribed a notorious Limb of Antichriſtianiſm.

* Chap. 21. & Chap. 22.

CHAP.

CHAP. IX.

1. Humility the proper Characteriſtick of the Perſon and Spirit of Chriſt. 2. The Affectation of an Eccleſiaſtick Sovereignity contrary to this Divine Grace. 3. The Pretence for this Ambition, That the viſible Church being One, requires one viſible Head; with the Anſwer thereto. 4. Further Reaſons to prove the Church wants no viſible Head beſides Chriſt. 5. That this one Head Chriſt Jeſus, and one Apoſtolick Law, does make the Church ſufficiently One. 6. That there is no juſt Pretence for any ſuch Claim of being this Univerſal Head in any Biſhop. 7. But that Ambition may purchaſe ſuch a Title by wicked Practices. 8. The Method of this Univerſal Biſhop's Enſlaving the Clergy to himſelf, and Undermining the Secular Powers. 9. His Frauds againſt the Emperour and other Princes. 10. A further Deſcription of the Frauds, Rapine and Pride of this Univerſal Paſtor, and of his Uſurpation in a Manner of the whole Power of the Empire.

1. WE proceed now to the Deſcription of as lively Oppoſition as we can to the firſt Branch of Divine Life, namely, Humility; which being ſo ſpecial a Characteriſtick of the Nature and Genius of Chriſt's own Spirit, and ſo pronounced by himſelf in his own Perſon when he was upon Earth (Learn of me, for I am humble and meek;) that which is perfectly oppoſite to this muſt needs be exquiſitely Antichriſtian in all Manner of People, but eſpecially in thoſe that do in a more peculiar Way preſume themſelves to be Succeſſors of Chriſt and his Apoſtles, whom he of old premoniſhed of Pride and Lordlineſs, and Affectation of Superiority, ſaying, The Kings of the Gentiles exerciſe Lordſhip over them, and they that are great exerciſe Authority upon them: But it ſhall not be ſo among you, &c.

Mat. 11. 29.

Luke 22.

Mark. 10.

Which Leſſon Peter remembred, and diligently endeavoured to tranſmit it to others, where he adviſes the Paſtors to feed the Flock of God that is among them, taking the Overſight thereof, not by Conſtraint but willingly; not for filthy Lucre, but of a ready Mind; neither as being Lords over God's Heritage, but being Enſamples to the Flock. How contrary therefore to this would it be, if ſome pretended Supreme Paſtor (whom others in their ſeveral ſubordinate Capacities would in Proportion naturally imitate) ſhould not only Lord it over his Flock, but tyrannize over Kings and Emperours, and Lucifer-like place himſelf in the ſame Throne with God and Chriſt, or rather diſplace them, and domineer abſolutely according to his own Will, treading under Foot the expreſs and plainly-promulgated Laws of God?

1 pet. 5. 2, 3.

2. Let us therefore dip our Pencil a little deeper in ſome of thoſe Colours which we made Uſe of in the Deſcription of that Member of Antichriſtianiſm which was oppoſite to the Divine Life in general, and pourtray out more fully ſuch an Eccleſiaſtick Polity as will appear moſt oriently Luciferian and Antichriſtian, and moſt diametrically oppoſite to that holy Humility that was recommended by Chriſt to his Succeſſors. We will therefore ſuppoſe, as before, ſome one Prelate, that has got the Start of the reſt, to put in for the Title and Authority of Univerſal Biſhop: which whoſoever does was declared by Gregory the Great himſelf the Fore-runner of Antichriſt, the Fore-runner of that Rex Superbiæ cui Sacerdotum præparatur Exercitus. Which is a Sign that in Gregory's Judgment Antichriſt was not to be born of the Tribe of Dan, but of the Tribe of Levi; whom we will further ſuppoſe to lay about him for the obtaining of this Levitical Sovereignity, and for the Advancement of his Epiſcopal Chair ſucceſſively, in ſome ſuch Manner as follows.

3. Firſt, he will pretend that it is unfit that the viſible Catholick Church being One, ſhould not be united under One viſible Head. Which Reaſoning yet, though it make a pretty Show at firſt Sight, being cloſely lookt into, will vaniſh into Smoak: For this is but a quaint Concinnity urged in the Behalf of an Impoſſiblility. For the erecting ſuch an Office for one Man, which no one Man in the World is able to perform, implies that to be poſſible which is indeed impoſſible. Whence it is plain that the Head will be too little for the Body, which therefore will be a Piece of miſchievous Aſymmetry or Inconcinnity alſo. No one Mortal can be a competent Head for that Church which has a Right to be Catholick, and to over-ſpread the Face of the whole Earth. There can be no ſuch Head but Chriſt, who is not mere Man, but God inveſted in humane Nature, and therefore is preſent with every Part of his Church and every Member thereof at what Diſtances ſoever.

But

*

But to ſet ſome one Biſhop over the whole Church, were to ſuppoſe that great Biſhop of our Souls abſent from it, who has promiſed he will be with her to the End of the World; and, you may be ſure, not an idle Spectator, but a careful Feeder and Governour of their Souls who do really believe in Him and unfeignedly obey Him.

4. Nor does the Church-Catholick on Earth loſe her Unity hereby; for ſhe is under One common Head of the whole Church as well Triumphant as Militant, which (to come nearer to the Objection) is a viſible Head of his Church to thoſe that can approach his Court, in that glorious Metropolis in Heaven; where undoubtedly he is to be ſeen ſitting on his Sapphire Throne in great Majeſty and Glory, and where his true Subjects in a ſmall Space of time may either ſee him themſelves, or at leaſt converſe with them that have frequent Recourſe unto him and wait in his Preſence.

And no Man, I think, will ſay that any large Empire has an Inviſible Head, becauſe the Emperour himſelf has placed his Palace in the chiefeſt Province of his Empire, and never comes within the View of ſome Parts of his Dominion, and Multitudes of Men never ſee him, as never having the Opportunity of viſiting thoſe Parts where the Emperour's Court is. Whereas Jeſus Chriſt, the Head of his Church, was ſeen here on Earth for a good Space, as alſo viſibly to travel hence into the higher Regions of his Kingdom, and in due time will viſibly return hither again, to take Account of the Adminiſtratours of his Affairs in theſe lower Provinces. Wherefore Chriſt is a more viſible Head in his large Empire than any Emperour in his: So evident is it that there wants no One viſible Head of the Church, beſides Chriſt himſelf.

5. But yet notwithſtanding all this, this ambitious Patriarch I deſcribe will bear the World in Hand, that it is very fit there ſhould be One viſible Head of the Church Univerſal, which ſhould ſucceed Chriſt, or rather ſome one whom he would pretend to be Prince of the Apoſtles, and that his Seat is that Apoſtolical Seat, and that there is a Neceſſity for Unity in the Church, and for ſlaking all Controverſies there ſhould be ſome one ſuch; though the Plea to any indifferent Man cannot but ſeem very weak and frivolous. For, as I have already intimated, the Church will be ſufficiently One by being under that One Head Chriſt Jeſus, and under One Law, which is the Word of God; which has been already proved ſufficiently plain in all things neceſſary to Life and Salvation. But for other things, whether Ceremonies or Conceits, they do not at all break the Unity of Chriſt's Kingdom, but it will be truly and conſpicuouſly his, ſo long as it profeſſes the Faith of his Apoſtles? let them otherwiſe uſe what Difference of Rites they will, or differ as much as they can in unneceſſary Opinions: provided always that none of theſe Rites or Opinions be really and plainly againſt the Apoſtolical Doctrines, which are the univerſal and irreverſible Law of Chriſt's Empire upon Earth. For thus the Church-Catholick being in this Sort variegated in Externals, will yet be viſibly the Spouſe of Chriſt, though ἠμφιεσμένη ποικίλῳ, though cloathed with a Veſtment of various Flower-work and Colours.

6. But for this high-flown Patriarch to pretend that his Seat is this Infallible and All-deciſive Apoſtolical Seat, is a Plea that can have nothing ſolid at the Bottom. For if there had been any ſuch Prelation of ſome one of the Apoſtles over the reſt, it were of that great Moment (if ending of Controverſies in all ſucceeding Ages be of that Moment) that it would have been recorded in the Scripture, and would have ended or prevented all Diſceptations amongſt the Apoſtles themſelves or any others concerning them. But quite contrary St. Paul declares that he is in nothing inferiour to the chiefeſt Apoſtles; which plainly implies an Equality amongſt them all. 2 Cor. 11.

Beſides, if it were ſo that ſome one Apoſtle had an Authority or Headſhip over the reſt, and had once his Reſidence in ſuch a particular See; it does not follow that he that ſucceeds him in that See ſhould ſucceed him in that Headſhip, or at all in his Apoſtleſhip, but only in his Biſhoprick: Nor is it credible that if this Prime and Oecumenical Apoſtle had deſigned his immediate Succeſſour to the ſame Latitude of Juriſdiction, that the claim ſhould not be made and acknowledged by the Univerſal Church in thoſe more innocent and morigerous times. Of ſo little Weight are ſuch Pretences as theſe.

7. But if ſuch pretty Sophiſms will not ſerve the Turn, ſince Ambition has inflamed the Patriarch's Spirits, he will leave no Stone unmoved to accompliſh his Deſire; and what Sophiſtry cannot do, muſt be effected, though by the courſeſt

Methods of either worldly or infernal Policy. That they may therefore obtain this abſolute Eccleſiaſtick Sovereignty, the Succeſſours in this pretended prime Apoſtolical See we will ſuppoſe to ſtick at nothing: But that they will forge or counterfeit Canons of Authentick Councils, and make them ſpeak for the Supremacy of their Patriarchate; that they will countenance, abbet or allow Treaſons and Murthers, though upon Emperours, and Empreſſes, Kings and Queens, and their whole Poſterity, by ſome intruſted Inſtrument of State, whoſe Ambition inſtigated him thus bloodily to aſſaſſinate his Liege Sovereign, that he might ſucceed him in his Kingdom or Empire. Whereupon notwithſtanding, by paraſitical Fawning, Conniving, or Allowing, nay by Congratulating the Succeſs of ſo beaſtly an Enterprize, theſe eager Candidates for the Eccleſiaſtick Empire will not ſtick to endeavour to gain the good Will of this new Uſurper, though his Hands be yet reeking with Blood, that they may thereby obtain of him this glorious and beneficial Title of Univerſal Biſhop; nor upon the obtaining thereof forbear any Cruelties to ſuch Biſhops as will detrect this new impoſed Yoke.

8. Which Prize they having once gotten, we ſuppoſe they will not ſtick here, but will ſtill by Craft encroach upon the Secular Power. For this Univerſal Biſhop will plauſibly require an Oath of Obedience from all other Biſhops in what Kingdoms ſoever; which is no leſs Wickedneſs than to enſnare them in a Way to Treachery and Perfidiouſneſs to their own Sovereigns, and to make them indeed Betrayers of their own Liberty: For they being thus looſened and alienated from their proper Princes, are made indeed the More firm to this great Patriarch Oecumenical, but withal his ſurer Vaſſals to be dealt with in Impoſitions and Fees and what-ever other Injunctions, as he pleaſes.

For we ſuppoſe they will alſo wring out of the Secular Prince's Hand (upon Pretence of their being the higheſt Sovereignty in Eccleſiaſtick Affairs) the Right of Inveſtitures, thereby to make all Biſhops leſs dependent on the Temporal Sovereignty, and more endeared to the Apoſtolick See, but ſtill more enſlaved thereto, as I noted before, and without Remedy, if oppreſſed thereby, whether by removing all conſiderable Appeals out of the Biſhop's Court reſpective into that Apoſtolick Judicature, or by what other Aggrievances ſoever. But the Aggrievance of Appeals alone is ſo great, as if all Chriſtendom were ſet on the Rack, or, if you will, torturouſly drawn together with the Cramp, to fit the Tranſaction of Affairs to the forced Univerſality and Intereſt of this Vicar-general of Chriſt. And yet it will be ſo according to this Hypotheſis, to maintain the Pomp and Ambition of one univerſal Domineering Prelate.

They will alſo get the whole Body of the Clergy exempt from all Secular Judicatures; they being, indeed, by theſe ſucceſsful Devices made properly the Subjects of this Eccleſiaſtick Monarch. But by this Feat they do moſt groſly defraud all Secular Potentates of as many Subjects as there are Men of Religious Orders in Chriſtendom, they being ipſo facto made the Subjects of this King of Pride, (as Gregory in a Divinatory Rapture called him,) and not to be tried at any Secular Tribunal, no not for Murther, Robbery, Houſe-breaking, or what other Crime ſoever. Which Immunity, as it cannot but make them proud and inſolent to the Laiety, as they call them; ſo muſt it, as I noted before, more throughly enſlave the Clergy to this Eccleſiaſtick Tyrant. For they can rationally expect no Succour from thoſe Princes whoſe Sovereignty they have ſlipt from under, and conſequently from under their Protection, by theſe Religious Tricks and Frauds, and therefore lie wholly at the Mercy of him whom the Greatneſs of his Title and Pontifical Pomp, exceeding ſo infinitely his juſt Revenues, muſt make a ſevere Exacter of Tribute from them that are moſt appropriately under his Power, and thereby put them to unworthy Shifts and Sharkings upon the People by pious, or rather impious, Slights and Frauds, he ſending out and diſperſing theſe Birds of his in numerous Flocks, to be his hungry Pick-peny's throughout the whole Paſtorage of the Empire.

9. Thus great a Pride proportionably fed with the Injury of others, and eſpecially of the Biſhops and other Clergy whom this Tyrannical High-prieſt would pill and poll as he pleaſes, is diſcoverable already in the Draught we are a-making of this Member of Antichriſtianiſm. But it would be ſtill heightened, if we ſhould imagin further Extravagancies. As ſuppoſe, if this Univerſal Prieſt ſhould not be content to be Supreme Biſhop but put in to out-top the Emperour himſelf in Dignity and Authority, and ſhould moſt wretchedly and treacherouſly watch a ſafe Occaſion (as, ſuppoſe, while the Imperial Forces are generouſly and faithfully employed to beat the common Enemy out of Christendom, whether Turks or Saracens) to raise War against the Emperour and his Adherents in those parts nearest his own See, to beat him thence, to make Room for an Opportunity of Nimming away some Share of the Empire to himself.

ed

*

Certainly it were an high Strain of Ambition that could move any to such Devilish Practices. What then were it for this cunning Prelate to send this or that Prince on holy Expeditions, on Purpose to cheat them of their Dominions, or fleece them of their Revenues? What to absolve great Ministers of State and all the Subjects of a Prince from their Oaths of Fidelity, and that for no other Cause but merely for his own Interest? To take upon him to depose the true Sovereign, and set up another, the liege Subject of the deposed, and who had no Right at all to the Crown, for hope of a Recompence proportionable to the Greatness of his extravagant Presumption, and for to enrich himself by the Ruins of the injured? To be adored as an Omnipotent Plenipotentiary that may do any thing, and to have his Clients fall down and kiss his Feet, and his Servants to carry him on their Shoulders in Procession like the ancient Idols of Babylon?

10. Nay, what shall we say to this Holy Man's utterly Ruining of the Western Empire to enrich himself with the Rubbish? What to the Forging Deeds of Gift or Donations, to cover over the Odiousness of his Rapine? What to the Leaving in a manner no Empire at all but what is Sacerdotal, raising it above all Kings, Emperours, and Christian Princes whatsoever? And this atchieved by such Persons as were the most wicked of any that bore the Name of Sovereign Holiness? Whereby we may be the better assured of the Antichristianism of the Constitution, it being brought about and established by impure Sorcerers, Murtherers, and Poisoners of Princes.

That Power therefore which one single Luciferian Prelate shall thus procure, by Frauds and Rapines, by Robbing Kings of their Rights, by Subverting States and Kingdoms, by the Inveagling the Sons of Emperours into Treason, Rebellion and Parricide, by Absolving Subjects from their Oaths of Fealty, by Involving Christendom in War and Bloodshed, by that insolent Presumption of Excommunicating Emperours and Potentates, (they not offending, yea firmly adhering to the Law of Christ) and by Disposing of their Dominions as he pleases; if this, I say, be not a right Idea of that signal Antichristian Power perfectly opposite to that Equity, Sweetness, Meekness and Lowliness of Spirit which was so conspicuous in Christ Jesus, even in his highest Triumph on Earth, I cannot, nor, I think, any one else, imagin what it is.

We omit here all that Rack of Mind and Torture of Conscience that the unmeasurable Sublimity of this Prince of Pride might put all Christendom upon by his vexatious and superstitious Opinions and Ceremonies, invented only for the procuring Fewel to feed and maintain the Grandure and Pomp of so stately a Magnifico. All Mens Minds must be ground with Sollicitude, and their Purses emptied to fill up and swell out the fastuous Tumour of this Prince-riding Patriarch. Of which Theme having spoken sufficiently in my Description of the second Limb of Antichristianism, it was enough to mention it only here.

CHAP. X.

1. The wicked Method of raising the Power of this Supreme Pastour to this Hight, a Demonstration of the Excess of Ambition. 2. His blasphemous Usurpation or Acceptation of the Divine Titles. 3. His barbarous Insultation over Excommunicated Kings and Emperours. 4. The Excess of Homage done to him by the greatest Personages. 5. His Exalting himself above God in Point of Jurisdiction, 6. His Elation of himself above him in Point of Honour or Precedency. 7. Other Instances of that kind of Pride. 8. His Exaltation of himself above God even in the very House of God literally so called.

1. WE have already wrought up this Image of Antichristianism in the Power of One particular Priest or Patriarch so high, as that by Hook or by Crook he has wriggled himself into the Pretence, if not Possession, of Absolute Sovereignty over all the Potentates of Christendom, Which being acquired by such wicked Means, it must needs be that a more than Hellish Fire of Ambition lies at the Bottom; which will will betray it ſelf yet more fully in theſe viſible Flames; namely, Certain exorbitant Titles and Prerogatives this Son of Pride is adorned with, his barbarous Inſultations over ſubdued Princes and Emperours, and the extravagant Homages and Services done to his Perſon in publick Solemnities.

2. As for Example, What can be more blaſphemouſly Antichriſtian than to ſuffer himſelf to be decked with the Spoils of the Divine Attributes, "To be ſtyled Our Lord "God, Optimum, Maximum, & Supremum Numen in Terris, A God on Earth, A viſible "Deity; To have declared that his Tribunal and that of God is all one; That his "Power is abſolute; That what he does, he does as God, and not as Man; and "that all muſt ſubmit to his Decree, as being infallible; That he is all, and above all; "That he has the Diſpoſing of Kingdoms to whom he will, can pull down one, and "ſet up another; That he can do all that God can do clave non errante; That he "can change the Nature of Things, make ſomething of nothing, make Injuſtice Ju-"ſtice, and Wrong Right; That all Laws are in his Breaſt; That he can diſpenſe "with the Canons of the Apoſtles and with the new Taſtament it ſelf; That he is "the Cauſe of Cauſes; That it is Sacrilege to doubt of his Power; That he has a "Dominion over Angels, Purgatory and Hell; That he is the Monarch of the "World, and exceeds the Imperial Majeſty as much as the Sun does the Moon; and "That he is to be adored by all the Potentates upon Earth? This is one blazing Eruption out of this infernal Ætna of Luciferian Ambition.

3. The ſecond was his haughty Inſultation over excommunicated ond ſubdued Princes. As for Example, "It were moſt ſalvagely Antichriſtian, for this Triumphant "Patriarch after Excommunication, and Submiſſion to his Power, thereupon to make "one Emperour to wait ſome Dayes together Bare-foot, and clad in Canvaſs, with "his Empreſs, for Abſolution at his Gate, and that in the midſt of Winter; to "make him reſign his Imperial Ornaments; and after all this to depoſe him, and give "his Empire to another: To make another proſtrate himſelf publickly in the Church, "and in this Proſtration to ſet his Foot on the Emperor's Neck, as if he were cru-"ſhing an Adder or Snake: To crown another, not with his Hands, but with his "Feet, and then with the ſame Feet to kick the Crown from off the Emperour's "Head: To make one Prince reſign his Crown, and live ſome Days as a private "Perſon, and then, upon Condition of becoming a Vaſſal to his High-prieſtſhip, to "permit him to receive it again at his Legat's Hands, lowly kneeling at his Feet: "To make another, by way of Penance, to go creeping along his Holy-Highneſſes "Palace upon his Hands and Knees, with a Collar about his Neck like a Dog: To "whip another ſtark naked in an open Cathedral, every Monk or Religious Perſon "beſtowing a certain Number of Laſhes on him. Certainly ſuch groſs Uſage as this of Emperours, Kings and Princes, cannot but be the Indication of a Pride and Elation of Mind plainly Diabolical.

4. But what ſpeak we of Penances, when we may draw ſo odious a Draught out of ordinary expected Homages and Obſervances? We will therefore ſuppoſe that, according to the known Ceremonies of this Sacerdotal Court, "when his Holy-"highneſs, Univerſal Head of the Church, will be ſomething ſtill higher by getting "on Horſe-back, that the Emperour or King that is preſent muſt of Duty hold his "Stirrup as he gets up; or if his Will is upon ſome Occaſion to be tranſported in a "Chair of State, that the Emperour and King are to ſubmit their Neck to the Yoke, "and take up this Stately-man in his Chair on their Shoulders. When this grand-"Prelate alſo goeth to Dinner, the Emperour or King there preſent muſt have the "Honour impoſed upon them to ſerve him with Water and a Towel to waſh his "anointed Hands. For which Service they ſhall be permitted to ſit down at Table "after Attendance till the firſt Courſe be ſerved. The Emperour's Place alſo in an "Oecumenical Council ſhall be at this High-prieſt's Feet, like a good Son of Gama-"liel. And finally, whereſoever this Oecumenical Patriarch goes, the People ſhall fall "down on their Knees, or if they do not that Worſhip willingly and glibly, be "knock'd down upon them by his rigid Guard, thoſe grim Extorters of the A-"doration of this ſtupendous Idol.

5. This Tenour of Ceremonies will plainly place this High-Prieſt many Degrees higher than the Princes of the Earth, be they Kings or Emperours, or what other Potentates ſoever. But we will now draw a Stroke or two of ſuch an Elation or Haughtineſs of Spirit in Point of Ceremony and Precedency, as may make him juſtly ſeem to affect a Sovereignty above that of God himſelf. Of which Affectation we have given ſubſtantial Examples as touching Power, in that he was ſuppoſed to cancel the Laws of God, and to ſubſtitute in their Place ſome gainful Decrees of his own. Which is a perfect exalting himſelf above God in Point of Authority and real Juriſdiction.

Laws

6. And for Point of good Manners, and Ceremony, if we ſhould imagin that thoſe things which himſelf and his Adherents give the higheſt Religious Worſhip to were yet caſt lower than this Supreme Prelate, were it not to take Precedency of the moſt High God? As, for Example, if the Croſs, which they judge Latria due to, were caſt ſo low as this High-prieſt's Feet, were not he then higher than what the higheſt kind of Divine Honour is due to? But this, you will ſay, perhaps, will but make him equal with God.

But the Hoſt or conſecrated Bread is already ſuppoſed to be eſteemed by this Pſeudo-chriſtian Church the very Body of Chriſt, or his corporeal Perſon; that is to ſay, that where this is, Chriſt, true God, is truly and corporeally preſent in his own Perſon, as truly and really as he is in Heaven. If therefore this Perſon of Chriſt which is ordinarily called the Holy Sacrament, ſhould be leſs reſpected than the High-prieſt that conſecrated it, it is plain that he were exalted above it.

Wherefore, for Example, If in ſolemn Proceſſions this High-Prieſt ſhould appoint the Ceremonies in ſuch ſort, as that this Sacrament, that is to ſay, according to them, the real Perſon of Jeſus, ſhould be placed amongſt the leſs noble Part of the Pomp, but the High-prieſt himſelf in the midſt of the moſt illuſtrious Princes; that Jeſus Chriſt ſhould be carried on an Horſe, but the High-prieſt on the Shoulders of Kings and Potentates; that a mean Servant of the Sacriſt ſhall lead the Horſe that carries Chriſt Jeſus, but, if the High-prieſt be on horſe-back at that time, ſome Prince or Emperour; that the Canopy over Jeſus Chriſt ſhall be carried only by Citizens of the City, but the Canopy of the High prieſt by great Nobles or Embaſſadours: Were not this plainly and palpably to take place of God Almighty himſelf, and to be ſo proud an Oecumenical Patriarch, as to prefer himſelf before the Eternal Father and Maker of the Univerſe?

7. Which might be done alſo in more ordinary Journeyings; if this High-prieſt, ſuppoſe, ſhould appoint Jeſus Chriſt to ride on an ordinary Gennet led by an ordinary Stable-groom, and to go before, (there is Precedency indeed) but amongſt the Baggage of his Retinue, (Calones, Lixas, & Curteſannas) to be an Harbinger of his holy Highneſſe's Coming; himſelf in the mean time marching fairly on, accompanied with Patriarchs, Archbiſhops, Biſhops, and ſuch like Perſons of Quality.

Surely this would ſuggeſt to any muſing Man a very deep Conceit or profound Meditation, to wit, how one and the ſame Perſon according to his circumſcribed bodily Preſence ſhould, at one and the ſame time, ride on Horſe-back here on Earth diſgracefully and contemptibly amongſt thoſe Scullions and Curteſans, and yet ſit in a Throne of Majeſty and Glory in the higheſt Heavens, incircled with the Praiſes and Adorations of the Holy Angels.

But be that how it will, it is in the mean time very manifeſt that this ſublime Prieſt is ſo far out in good Manners, as well as in Uſurpation of real Right of Juriſdiction, that he does elate himſelf above God himſelf, according to his own Conceſſion, or Doctrine of his Church, in appointing thus to himſelf more Honour than to the Itinerant Perſon of Chriſt.

8. To all which we might further add this Suppoſition alſo, That this High-prieſt at his Inauguration into this Supreme Office might be placed upon the Holy Altar of Chriſt in ſome chief Church of his Metropolis, the Feet of his Chair of State trampling upon the Sacred Throne of the Body of Chriſt, and there receive Adoration from his Eccleſiaſtick Princes and the gazing and amazed People.

But I think I have already drawn the Effigies of ſo perfect an Antichriſtian Pride, that nothing need be added thereto, nor the leaſt Scruple left, but that he that exalts himſelf thus high cannot but be that Man of Sin, which ſits in the Houſe of God, and exalts himſelf abeve all that is called God. 2 Theſſ. 2.

CHAP.

CHAP. XI.

1. That the Pride of this Superlative Head will diffuſe it ſelf alſo into its Members. 2. Further general Incentives to this Vice in this uſurping Prieſthood. 3. Peculiar Incentives thereto in ſome great Dignities. 4. The Singularity of Habits, and Way of living in ſome Religious Orders, an Occaſion of Pride. 5. The Pretence of meriting in theſe Orders an high and hateful Inſtance of this Vice. 6. That ſuch an elated Pſeudo-Clergy as this might well go for that Man of Sin that exalts himſelf above every thing that is worſhipped. 7. And be emblamatized in the Deſcription of the Leviathan, who is called the King of the Children of Pride.

1. NOr can we imagin the Head ſo diabolically proud, but this Poiſon muſt diffuſe it ſelf into all the Body, and ſwell up all the Members thereof in ſome Sort or other. For though this High-prieſt have a great Power over his Clergy themſelves, to tax them and fleece them; yet they would all of them be not a little puffed up to conceit themſelves parts of that Body whoſe Head is ſo tranſcendently raiſed above all the Princes of the Earth; over whom he having once uſurped the Tyranny, and being warm and well ſettled in his Power, he may haply be the more eaſie and beneficial to his own Tribe. Beſides, their being exempted from all Secular Powers muſt needs elate their Minds, and make them haughty and domineering, and prone to be injurious, they being able to recoil to ſuch Judges as will be Parties for them.

2. Moreover the Power of receiving Auricular Confeſſion is a mighty ſubjugative and inſulting Privilege over the poor proſtrate Laiety at the Feet of their Confeſſors. And that diſtinctive Privilege of the Euchariſtick Cup peculiar to the Prieſt muſt needs make the Lay-men lear or lounge aloof off and look maimedly on't, as acknowledging ſo vaſt a Diſtance betwixt them and the Prieſthood. All which things tend naturally to the ſwelling up of this Clergy. How then can they bear that Conceit of the Power of creating their Creator, and of being ſuch Prieſts as offer the very Body of Chriſt for a Propitiation, and therefore in this Regard may conceit themſelves in ſome Senſe ſuperiour to Chriſt himſelf? Theſe are common to the whole Body Sacerdotal.

3. But there are alſo Conſiderations peculiar, though to great Numbers; as thoſe that are Sacerdotal Princes and great Perſons in this Church have a peculiar Inſtigation to this Vice. For it were eaſy to fancy that this mighty High-prieſt may create Eccleſiaſtick Potentates under him, which may be Co-aſſeſſors and Sharers with him in this Spiritual Domination over the World; he creating them with ſome ſuch Form as this, Eſtote Fratres mei, & Principes Mundi: which muſt needs raiſe up their Spirits to an high Pitch of Pride.

But many Ranks inferior to theſe, and yet equal to Secular Princes and Nobles, ſuch as may have the Pomp or Accommodation of * ἵππων [illegible]δῶν καὶ σωμάτων, that is to ſay, of Horſes and Coaches, and Lackeys or Pages to attend them or run by them, may make up a numerous Company of theſe Children of Pride: who yet bearing the Titles of Paſtors and Overſeers of the Flock of Chriſt, overſee them in no other Senſe than of overlooking and contemning them; they being placed ſo high above them, that they have not any Mind or Ability of humbling themſelves ſo low as to feed them, but rather to flay them and lord it over them.

* Rev. 18. 13.

4. And laſtly, for thoſe that are yet more numerous, which we may ſuppoſe to have put on the Vizard of a more peculiar Holineſs, liſting themſelves under the Title and Conduct of this or that Saint, and making a Show of Humility by wearing ſome uncouth and Sordid Habit, and ſeeming ſeparate from the World by retiring into lazy and populous Monaſteries, and mortified to the Pride and Glory of it, while they ſeek the Praiſe and Admiration of Men by ſetting a Badge of ſpecial Sanctity on themſelves by their peculiar Habiliments and extravagant Method of living; I confeſs it were a Miracle to me, if this ſelf-choſen Sanctity of theirs, conſiſting in Meats and Drinks and abſtaining from Marriage, and the like, did not ſo puff them up in their carnal Conceits, that they may deſervedly be look'd upon as the moſt genuin Subjects of this King of Pride.

5. Beſides that the very Pretence to this By-courſe of Life may be very impudently turgent to the modeſt Senſe of any ſober and truly-ſanctified Chriſtian, who cannot not but eſteem it preſumptuous to ſtand upon their own Merits, and plead their Right to Heaven upon what they could any way do here on Earth for ſo ineſtimable and ineffable a Reward. What an high Luciferian Rant then were it in theſe Spiritual Undertakers to pretend that they can do not only their own Task, but the Tasks of others alſo?

In which Pretence there is compriſed two of the moſt hateful Specimens of Pride that can be excogitated: namely, the vilifying of the All-ſufficient Merits of Chriſt, as if they were imperfect and defective, and not able to ſupply the Wants of all Men to whom God would be propitious, but they muſt be eeked and patched out by the Supplements of Self-weening Wretches; and then an Over-eſtimation and ridiculouſly-heightned Conceit they have of their own Power, Strength, and Sanctimony, that they can do more, and that by way of Merit, than will ſerve their own Turns, or than God requires at their hands. Whenas we are expreſly taught by the Holy Scripture to ſay, That when we have done all we can, we are unprofitable Servants; and, that, Salvation is by Faith, not by Works, that no Man may boaſt. Luke 17. 10. Eph. 2. 9.

6. Wherefore we will look upon this High-Prieſt and Univerſal Head of this Pſeudo-chriſtian Clergy, together with all the ſeveral Religious Ranks and Orders under it, and by devout and ſubmiſſive Acknowledgment ſodered and cemented to it and influenced by it, all plumped up with one common Spirit of Pride and Senſe of Ruling and Domineering over the Perſons and Conſciences of the Laity, and highly conceited of themſelves by reaſon of theſe carnal and external Shews of Sanctity and Supereminency above the reſt of the World, which conſiſts only in Anointings, in Habits, in Abſtinence from Meat, and the like, which are poor and beggerly Elements, but yet bloating and ſwelling with a ſecret Poiſon thoſe that reliſh them and eſteem them and are intereſſed in the Obſervation of them; I ſay, we will look upon all theſe from the higheſt to the loweſt as one Body of one Head, and all joyned together as one Man of Sin, who having one Spirit and Mind againſt the Law of God and Chriſt, do exalt themſelves againſt and above both; though ſome in one manner, others in another. But they having one Mind and Will, and Joint-Conſent, are all acceſſory to all the Miſchief, and are ſuch a Draught and Repreſentation of Antichriſtian Pride, as nothing can be more, or more abſolute. This is he that * beholdeth all high things, and is the King of the Children of Pride; the higheſt and moſt notorious Example of a proud and elated Polity as ever yet appeared in the World. *Job 41. 34.

7. And I think the Text it ſelf may not be miſapplied, there being that great Affinity betwixt Antichriſt and the Devil. And it may be greater betwixt him and ſome Expreſſions of the Text deſcribing the Leviathan, than betwixt the ſaid Expreſſions and his Corrival, for the Honour of being typified therein. His Scales are his Pride ſhut up together as with a cloſe Seal. One is ſo near another that no Air can come betwixt them. They are joined one to another, they ſtick together that they cannot be ſundred.* Which we will ſuppoſe to be the very Boaſt of this Pſeudo-Chriſtian Polity; That they are, as it were, all of one Piece, firmly joyned each Part to another, tho' not by any Tye of Ingenuity and Love, but riveted and nailed together by the Iron Hand of Neceſſity and Tyrannical Force; Fear of Extremity, Joint-Intereſt, and Oaths of abſolute Obedience to an Infallible Power, holding them as cloſe together as theſe brazen Shields or ſealed Scales of the Leviathan. *Verſe 15, 16, 17.

And now if we conſider the Head of this Monſter, His Eyes are ſaid to be * like the Eye-lids of the Morning, that is, very lofty and ſupercilious, ſplendid and glorious, as we have already deſcribed the Pomp of this Superlative Head to be. But * out of his Mouth go burning Lamps, and Sparks of Fire leap out. Out of his Noſtrils goeth Smoak, as out of a Seething Pot or Caldron. His Breath kindleth Coals, and a Flame goeth out of his Mouth. That is to ſay, He ſets all the World on Fire in his Pride and Wrath, by his wicked Incendiaries and Emiſſaries, that run like Lightning at his Command into all Quarters of the Empire: Or, in a pretended Religious Rage againſt the Oppoſers of his Sovereign Holineſs, he thunders out Excommunications againſt Princes, and ſo kindles War and Diſcord, and involves all in Flames and Blood. And laſtly, to ſet out the obſtinate Immutableneſs of this Polity in their Dogmatiſms and their remorſeleſs Martyring and Torturing them that ſubmit not to them, it is ſaid, that * his Heart is as firm as Stone, and as hard as the neather Milſtone. *Verſe 18. *Verſe 19, 20, 21. *Verſe 24.

But as it is ſaid of Pharoah King of Ægypt in the Pſalms, Thou brakeſt the Heads of Leviathan in Pieces, and gaveſt him to be Meat to thy People in the Wilderneſs, namely, to the Iſraelites, to whom all things fell out in Types and Figures: So * Iſaiah has foretold that the time will come when the Earth ſhall diſcloſe her Blood, and ſhall Pſalm 74. 14. *Chap. 26. 21.

Chap. 27. 1. no more cover her ſlain. In that Day the Lord with his Sore, and Great, and Strong Sword (even with that ſharp Sword that goeth out of his Mouth) ſhall puniſh Leviathan, the piercing Serpent, even Leviathan that crooked Serpent, (and ſhall meet him in all his fraudulent Windings and Obliquities) and ſhall ſlay the Dragon that is in the Sea, that is to ſay, that dwells betwixt the two Seas, as Grotius interprets the watry Leviathan, in the Pſalms, of Pharoah King of Ægypt, becauſe his Dominion was extend-Verſe 2, 3. ed betwixt two Seas. In that Day ſing ye unto her, A Vineyard of Red Wine; I the Lord do keep it, I will water it every Moment, leſt any hurt it, I will keep it Night and Verſe 6. Day. He will cauſe them of Jacob to take root, Iſrael ſhall bloſſom and bud, and fill the Face of the World with Fruit. But this was an Excurſion more than I intended.

CHAP. XII.

1. An Antichriſtian Frame oppoſite to the Divine Grace of Purity deſcribed in general. 2. That the Numerouſneſs of Feſtivals joyn'd with a dead and ſpiritleſs Exerciſe of Worſhip leads to Impurity: 3. As alſo the Vow of Cœlibate in unmortified Monks and Prieſts. 4. The Opportunities of their Order and Function. 5. The Opinion of Fornication being no Sin, and Adultery a leſs one than the Breach of the Vow of Single-life. 6. Eaſie Rates for Pardons and Indulgences in theſe Vices. 7. Slight Penances. 8. The Dedicating a conſiderable part of the Year to wild Extravagancies under Masks and Vizards. 9, 10. Concubines allowed to Prieſts. 11. The pompous Equipage of Courteſans, and the Supreme-Paſtor's receiving Tribute from their Trading. 12. The Example of this High-prieſt and his Clergy. 13. The Rifeneſs of Sodomy near his Palace: 14. And its ſpreading thence into the remoteſt Parts of his Dominion. 15. That an Eccleſiaſtick Polity in this Condition were the Myſtical City of Sodom, and characterized in thoſe Apocalyptick Catalogues under the Titles of Πόρνοι, Ἐβδελυγμένοι, and Κύνες.

1. WE will now return to the Purſuit of the Matter in hand, and paſs on to the next Antichriſtian Oppoſition; and that is againſt the Second Branch of the Divine Life, which is Purity. Where omitting to ſpeak of Hypocriſie, which is one kind of Impurity, and which cannot ſcape being very frequent in ſuch a Religion as I have hitherto deſcribed, that conſiſts ſo much in outward Shows and ſuperficiary Formalities; we will direct our Pencil to the drawing of ſuch an Image of Impurity as is more groſs and fulſome, the chief Parts whereof are Fornication, Adultery, and Sodomy. I ſay therefore, that if the very Frame and Complexion of Eccleſiaſtick Polity or Doctrine were ſuch as did naturally either neceſſitate or encourage ſuch Uncleanneſſes as theſe, Were not this a palpable Antichriſtian Oppoſing of that Chriſtian Purity unto which we are all called?

2. And ſuch a Frame I conceive were this that I now ſhall delineate, beginning with ſmaller things firſt. We will ſupoſe therefore a great Number of Holy-Days, wherein Men ſhall be reſtrained from ſecular Affairs and working in their honeſt Vocations; and that the Exerciſe of their Religion on thoſe Days, as it takes up no conſiderable time, (unleſs it be in ſome ludicrous Pomps) ſo to be of that Nature that it does not touch or penetrate the Hearts of Men at all, nor ingraft the Fear of God in them, nor really mortifie them from the Luſts of the Fleſh; they being only Spectators of dumb Shows, as it were, and Hearers of a Publick Service they underſtand not one Syllable of; and when this is done, think they have done enough, and, it may be, do not that neither, nor any Secular Work upon pain of the high Diſpleaſure of the Church, but may be more ſecurely found in a Tavern, Ale-houſe, or Baudy-houſe, than working on their Trades.

Wherefore I demand, concerning Men of unmortified Minds, who have no Opportunity of being fore-armed againſt the Aſſaults of the Fleſh by a Searching and Intelligible Service of God in Publick, or a Soul-convincing Miniſtry, but are neceſſitated to be idle; what theſe Men can fall more naturally into than Tippling and Drinking and Exceſs, which joyned with this impoſed Idleneſs muſt needs carry them to ſuch Acts of Filthineſs as Opportunity will offer them. It is a known Aphoriſm, That Idleneſs is the Mother of Naughtineſs.

Oti

Otia ſi tollas, perière Cupidinis arcus,
Contemptæq; jacent & ſine luce faces.
Hæc ut ames faciunt, hæc quæ fecêre tuentur,
Hæc ſunt jucundi cauſa cibúſque mali.

And therefore the Numeroſity of Feſtivals, joyned with a dead and ſpiritleſs Form of Religious Worſhip, where the Aſſiſtants are but as it were the Spectators of a dumb Show, as I ſaid before, What can this be but the School of Lewdneſs, and the Nurſe of Luſt and Impurity?

3. Again, ſuppoſe an Order of Men, and that Numerous, that feed and fare diliciouſly, eat and drink of the beſt, ever Idle, and living only of other Mens Labours, that are neither in Purſuit of more ſubtile and bewitching Studies of Philoſophy and noble Theory, to carry away the Redundance of their Strength, and to exhauſt their Spirits, nor any Searching and Conſuming Pangs of Devotion; but only patter over their Offices and Set-prayers as an external Duty, in which, if they be underſtood, there may be little that will ſo affect the Mind as to maim the Body at all; ſuppoſe, I ſay, theſe Men, notwithſtanding their Ability and Fitneſs for the Functions of Virility, ſhould by an irrevocable Vow (taken raſhly and indiſcreetly, contrary not only to the Law of God, but to that of their own Nature and Complexion) be condemned to perpetual Cœlibate: What can be the natural Event thereof but frequent Fornications, or Adulteries, or foul Acts of Sodomy?

Wherefore Monks, or Prieſts, or be they what they will that are tyed to this Law in theſe Circumſtances, cannot fail (unleſs by a Miracle) to attempt at leaſt the Tranſgreſſing, if they do not frequently de facto tranſgreſs, the Laws of God or Nature, and fill the Chriſtian World with the unſavory Reek and Fume of their Filthineſſes. And it is likely they might find their Game the more eaſily amongſt the Female Votaries, if they were ſuppoſed alſo without conſulting their own Tempers to have offered themſelves, or elſe by the Circumventions and Importunities of others to have been contrived into Monaſteries.

4. But imagin theſe were more recluſe, yet the World is wide enough; and if that be true that is ſo commonly ſaid, Caſta eſt quam nemo rogavit, they being ſo well furniſhed, and having but little to do but to ſtudy ſuch Artifices, it will not be hard for them to compaſs their Prize. Nay they need not ſtudy Opportunities, they being offered to them in ſome parts of their Religious Function, as in the Privacy of Auricular Confeſſion. So ſtrong would Temptation be, though the Power of Conſcience and the Fear of Puniſhment were yet entire.

5. But ſuppoſe ſome of the Learned ſhould pronounce ſimple Fornication no Sin, as well as Adultery a leſs one than the Breach of the Vow of Cœlibate; how chearfully would theſe well-appointed Monaſticks go about their Work then? and how much more eaſily would all Unmarried, both Males and Females be tempted to the ſatisfying of their Luſts in this ſingle kind of Lewdneſs?

6. But if this will not be ſo fully apprehended, or firmly believed, we will ſuppoſe ſtill more Cordials behind, and higher Provocatives to Luſt: Such large Indulgences, ſuch eaſie Rates for Diſpenſations and Abſolutions, from that unholy High-prieſt, we have ſo often mentioned, not only for ſimple Fornication and Adultery, but for Rapes upon Virgins, for the groſſeſt Inceſt, for Lying with one's Neece, nay with his Siſter or own Mother; that no Man could be much diſmay'd at the fouleſt Acts of Filthineſs, when he has once conſidered at what a ſmall Value that infallible Judge of Controverſies has rated them; nor abſtain from indulging to himſelf any pleaſing Luſt, being ſo countenanced and ſo well encouraged by this indulgent Father Oecumenical or Catholick Mitio of the Church.

7. Slight Penances alſo would be another great Animation to this Sin of Uncleanneſs. As if ſo be ſome ſmall Alms, or a few Prayers repeated ſo many times over, or going round the Stairs of a Market-Croſs, or a little Faſting, or the like, would be a Compenſation for ſuch foul Miſcarriages in a Lay-man, and ſome two or three Months Excluſion from the Church for a Prieſt, though taken in the Act of Adultery.

8. But we may imagin yet further Artifices of Debauching the World without bidding them in expreſs Terms to be naught. As if, for Example, a conſiderable part of the Year, ſuppoſe a twelfth or ſixth part, were ſolemnly ſet a-part for one continual Feſtival of wild Frolicks and Revellings, it being permitted for ſo long time together under Masks and Vizards to commit any Villanies or Outrages that the Laſciviency of their own lawleſs Fancy ſhall ſuggeſt; as if, becauſe their Faces are hid from Men, their Perſons and Actions were alſo concealed from God: Were not this a mere Method of fleſhing Men in Lewdneſs and Wickedneſs, and of inſtilling into them that vile Principle, That Virtue and Vice are but empty Names, and that any thing may be done by the Permiſſion or Connivence of Authority? Nay to ſuggeſt in too ſignificant an Hieroglyphick, That there is no God, and That Sin would be nothing but for the Shame of Men?

9. This alſo would be no ſmall Countenance to Whoredom, to ſet an Example of that Liberty in thoſe who ſhould be more exquiſite Patterns of Chaſtity and Continence and Mortification of the Luſts of the Fleſh; I mean the Prieſts who are the moſt immediate Guides of the People. If therefore in proceſs of time the Corruption of this Church came to that Height, that theſe Holy-anointed Men of God might, by the Allowance of the Laws of their High-prieſt, have their Concubines to ſolace themſelves with, which, not being Wives, come as near to the Condition of Harlots as Four Pennies to a Groat; Would not this be a great Stumbling-block in the Eyes of the People, both Males and Females, to cauſe them to fall headlong into Sin, they ſeeing him that is their immediate Guide to Heaven ſo boldly to take along with him an allowed Whore for his intimate Companion? For Chriſtian Religion admits of no ſuch thing as a Concubine. Every one is to be the Husband of one Wife, but not any the Husband of a Concubine; that ſounds againſt common Senſe.

10. Wherefore every Young-Man in the Pariſh having ſo Authentick an Example of Fornication in his Ghoſtly-guide, who is ſo ſacred a Perſon that he is not to be touched by any Officer of the Civil Magiſtrate, who is ſo Holy as to be deemed a fit Interceſſor in the Behalf of the People above at the High-altar in the Sanctum Sanctorum, the People in the mean time being left behind in the Body of the Church, as the Iſraelites of old at the Foot of the Hill when Moſes went up to ſpeak with God in private on the Top of Mount Sinai; whoſe Lips are ſo ſanctified that they only (and not the prophane Beards of the Lay-men) may kiſs the Holy Cup, nay drink all off, and then wipe the Chalice clean when he hath done, leſt any Drop ſhould be left to quench the Thirſt of any longing Lay-man or Lay-Woman's Curioſity; and laſtly, whoſe Breath is ſo omnipotent, as by the Recital of Five Words to create the Maker and Creator of all Mankind; if ſo holy and magnificent a Perſon as this, will every Youth of the Pariſh ſay, (with the young Blade in the Comedy) may play ſuch looſe Pranks with one that is not his Wife; Ego homuncio hoc non faciam? ego verò illud faciam, ac lubens. Thus naturally will they be invited and encouraged by this important Example of the Prieſt, to commit Folly in every Village, Town and City in the Kingdom. And ſo great a Scandal will this falſe Church not ſtick to give, rather than put herſelf in a leſs Capacity or Probability of being Heir or Executreſs upon the Death of her Prieſts.

11. And for this High-prieſt himſelf, he might contribute not a little to this Debauchery of Chriſtendom, if under his own Noſe, I mean in his own See, or Metropolis of the Empire, he ſhould be too favourable and remiſs in Puniſhing and Repreſſing the Boldneſs of this Vice; as, if he ſhould ſuffer known Curteſans to paſs the Streets with a Magnificency of Equipage equal to the greateſt Ladies, courted, and accompanied even at Noon-time of the Day (ſpectante populo) with Clergy-men of the higheſt Rank and Degree, without the Correcting ſo groſs an Enormity: This certainly were a competent Advantage and Furtherance towards the bringing the Game into Credit.

But ſuppoſe alſo his Sanctity ſhould vouchſafe to accept of part of the Gains of theſe Nuns of Venus, to encreaſe his Revenues thereby; Would not that be a further Confirmation of the Lawfulneſs of that Sport, and a publick Signification to the World, that Men need not trouble themſelves ſo much to hold out the Siege againſt the Importunity of the Luſts of the Fleſh, ſince his Sanctity's own ſelf has come to fair Terms in that Point, and will patiently ſuffer theſe Workers of Impurity to ſet up Shop in numerous Companies, even in his own Epiſcopal See, provided they pay but their Annual Tribute, and thereby acknowledge his Sacred High-prieſtſhip the Supreme Sannio of the City? This were indeed to be a Perſecutor of Marriage, and a Patron of Brothells, as one ſpeaks well in this Caſe.

For what greater Patronage can they Deſire than his Suffrage and Allowance that is or would be held the Univerſal Infallible Judge in Religious Cauſes at leaſt, and whoſe very Title or Inſcription is Holineſs? And that he does allow them, it is plain, plain, in that he accepts, if not extorts, part of their Gains from them. Whenas the true Holy One of Iſrael would not accept of the * Hire of a Whore, though it were a Free-Will Offering; becauſe he would ſhew his Averſation from all ſuch Uncleanneſſes. But it is impoſſible any Man can be knowingly and wittingly or ex pacto Sharer in the Gains, upon Condition of Silence or Connivence or abetting any way the Wickedneſs that brings in the Gain, but he muſt be ipſo facto a Sharer in the Wickedneſs it ſelf. Which being ſuppoſed in this High-prieſt, it is conſequent thereto that he looks upon this Nundination of Venus, I mean the Trade of Baudery, not to be wicked, and thereby lets the whole World looſe to Debauchery and Lewdneſs. *Deut. 23. 18.

12. Which they would be ſtill the more haſtily precipitated and ſunk into, if they were ſurrounded with a Multitude of Votes from the inferior Religious Orders, their impudent Actions and unſavoury Speeches giving Witneſs generally for the Trivialneſs of this Sin, if any at all. For we ſuppoſe they make it a Sin ſcarce in any thing but this; That they muſt confeſs it to the Prieſt, (that the Prieſthood may have the better Hank over the Laity, and feel their own Miſ-practices lie more eaſie upon their Minds, by finding others like themſelves) muſt acknowledge his Authority, and ſtand to his Courteſie, in a Buſineſs wherein I have already deſcribed him very civil and humane.

We will therefore ſuppoſe the Generality of the Clergy of this falſe Church foul and impure in Actions, Words, and Behaviour; and, that nothing may be wanting to the heightning of this Idea of Antichriſtianiſm in this Point we are upon, (and you may, if you will, ſuppoſe the ſame in others) the High-prieſt himſelf as ill, if not worſe, than any of the reſt, for Whoredoms, Adulteries, and Inceſts. Which things certainly muſt have a wicked Influence for the Debauching all that part of Chriſtendom that can have any Reſpect for, or owe any Homage to, this Sacerdotal Sovereignty.

13. Finally, that there may be nothing wanting to fill up the Meaſure of this Antichriſtian Pollution or Impurity we do deſcribe, we will further ſuppoſe thoſe Regions and Principalities that border neareſt to the See of this Supreme Prieſt to be a ſecond Pentapolis for the moſt hainous of all Uncleanneſſes, I mean Sodomy it ſelf.

Nay that the High-Prieſts themſelves ſhall be ordinarily ſo unholy, that they ſhall be accounted tolerable, if not Praiſe-worthy, provided they content themſelves with what ever illicit Pleaſures they can enjoy from Women, Maſculine Venerie being ſo frequent even in the Heads of this Apoſtatized Church; and That to be Pathicks were the next Step to the higheſt Eccleſiaſtick Preferments, or at leaſt no Stop at all thereto; That this foul Sin of Gomorrah is grown ſo much in requeſt, that Eccleſiaſtick Princes pride themſelves in ſhewing their Wit and Eloquence in ſetting forth the Pleaſures of that Vice, and Precellency of it above any Enjoyments from the Female Sex, and Publiſh ſuch beaſtly Diſcourſes with Security and Impunity from the Head of this unholy and unwholeſome Synagogue; who notwithſtanding would thunder againſt the Breach of a Monaſtick Vow, or any Doctrine tending thereto, with Fire and Lightning; and it may be ſuppreſs any honeſt Satyr made to diſparage the Hainouſneſs of that fulſome Crime of Sodomy, nay diſpenſe with whole Families upon ſmall Pretences in ſo execrable a Trade of Wickedneſs.

14. And laſtly, That partly by the emboldening Examples of this High-Præſul's Court, and partly by the ſtrong Temptations and Importunities of a Monaſtick Life, (Idleneſs and ineffectual Forms of Devotion leaving the Body utterly unmortified, nay more foul and luſtful than in ordinary Secular Men; and their Secluſeneſs from Women, permitting them no other Way to diſcharge their filthy Burthens than by abuſing themſelves with Mankind) we will further ſuppoſe that this noiſom Poiſon has ſpred it ſelf generally in this falſe Chriſtendom, and that ſundry Monaſtries would abound with this Sin of Gomorrah, this impure Heat piercing from that Mouth of Hell, the High-prieſt's Palace, to the more cold and Northern Climes of his Antichriſtian Dominion.

15. Wherefore the very Frame and Conſtitution of this Pſeudo-chriſtian Polity being ſuch, as of its own Nature is prone to bring forth ſo foul and poiſonous Fruits as theſe, even the Fruits of Sodom and the Apples of Gomorrah; and we ſuppoſing that it does actually bring forth ſuch Fruits, even the uncleaneſt Works of the Fleſh, Fornication, Adultery, Inceſt, and Sodomy it ſelf in ſo plentiful a manner: How can we doubt but that this is a conſiderable Limb of Antichriſtianiſm, or of Antichriſt himſelf, where they are found, I mean this groſs Impurity ſo conſpicuouſly oppoſite to the ſecond Branch of the Divine Life; and that this Polity thus infected (if that may be ſaid to be Infection which is but the natural Flower or Fruit of the intrinſecal Conſtitution of a thing) with theſe ſeveral Kinds of Uncleanneſs, is that very City, Antichriſtian in the higheſt meaſure, which is myſtically called Sodom as well as Ægypt, and whoſe Inhabitants are excluded out of the Holy City (the New Jeruſalem) as perfectly oppoſite thereto, and whoſe Portion is the Lake that burneth with Fire and Brimſtone, which is the ſecond Death?

Rev. 11.

In which Black Liſt of the Damned, there are reckoned up amongſt others * οἱ πόρνοι, Whores and Whore-mongers, be it ſimple Fornication, Adultery, or Inceſt; as alſo οἱ ἐβδελυγμένοι, which Grotius interprets ἀρσενοκοῖται, and μαλακοὶ, Abuſers of themſelves with Mankind, and Pathicks; to which anſwers οἱ κύνες, Dogs, in the other Catalogue Chap. 22. The Fury of the Luſtfulneſs and Obſcœnity of Dogs making them promiſcuouſly attempt one another without Diſcrimination of Sex.

* Rev. 21.

And this may ſerve briefly for a Deſcription of that Limb of Antichriſtianiſm that oppoſes that Branch of the Divine Life which is Chriſtian Purity.

CHAP. XIII.

1. The Excellency of Charity, and that it is the very Life and Soul of the Polity of Chriſt. 2. A Deſcription of the Nature of Chriſt's Kingdom, out of Scripture. 3. A Collection of the Properties of his Government, out of the fore-cited Predictions; and that they are all the Effects of Charity. 4. To which the Kingdom of Antichriſt is oppoſite. 5. The Oppreſſion of the Poor and Needy by this Antichriſtian Polity. 6. The Defrauding Men of their Eſtates, upon a falſe Pretence of Hereſie. 7. The Impoſition of barbarous Penances. 8. Their unparallel'd Pride. 9. Their raiſing of vile Calumnies againſt the Profeſſors of the Truth, as the Pagans of Old did againſt the Primitive Chriſtians. 10. Several Inſtances of theſe Antichriſtian Calumnies.

1. THE laſt Branch of this Divine Life is Charity; which is the Summity, the Top-branch, the Flower, nay the very Quinteſſence of Chriſtianity, and the Life and Soul of that amiable and comfortable Polity and Kingdom of Chriſt which was predicted in the Holy Scriptures, and ſhould moſt immediately be ſeated in Eccleſiaſtick Perſons; the Gravity, Meekneſs and Exemplarity of whoſe Converſations, and the Influence of their powerful Doctrine and comfortable and equitable Diſcipline, reaching to a more exquiſite Emendation of Mens Manners than the Civil Laws do ordinarily aim at, (that is to ſay, to the making Men more ſober and more pure in their Converſe, more fair and tolerable in their Exactions, more liberal and compaſſionate toward the Poor, more faithful and ſincere, more favourable and candid one to another than Political Laws can render them) ſhould erect that Kingdom of Chriſt upon Earth, which would really prove the great Joy and Happineſs of all the Nations of the World, according to their Deſire and Expectation. For there is indeed nothing more deſirable than Chriſt's Kingdom, which we pray every Day that it may come, according to thoſe Deſcriptions thereof that are found in the Prophets and Pſalms.

Pſal. 72.

2. He ſhall judge the Poor of the People, he ſhall ſave the Children of the Needy, and ſhall break in pieces the Oppreſſor. He ſhall come down like the Rain upon the mown Graſs, as Showers that water the Earth. In his Days ſhall the Righteous flouriſh, and abundance of Peace ſo long as the Moon endureth. And a little after in the ſame Pſalm, He ſhall ſpare the Poor and Needy, and ſhall ſave the Souls of the Needy: He ſhall redeem their Souls from Deceit and Violence, and precious ſhall their Blood be in his Sight.

*Chap. 42.

*And in Iſaiah it is ſaid of him, A bruiſed Reed ſhall he not break, and ſmoaking Flax ſhall he not quench, till he hath brought Judgment into Victory. And again in the

* pſal. 45.

* Pſalms, Gird thy Sword upon thy Thigh, O moſt Mighty: with thy Glory and thy Majeſty. And in thy Majeſty ride on proſperouſly becauſe of Truth, Meekneſs, and Righteouſneſs: and thy Right-hand ſhall teach thee terrible things, namely, to break in pieces the Oppreſſor, and to put the fraudulent Man to open Shame. Alſo in * Zachary, Rejoice greatly, O Daughter of Sion, ſhout, O Daughter of Jeruſalem. Behold, thy King cometh unto thee: He is Juſt, and having Salvation, lowly, and riding upon an Aſs, and upon a Colt the Foal of an Aſs.

* Chap. 9.

And

And again in * Isaiah, He shall feed his Flock like a Shepherd, he shall gather the Lambs with his Arm, and carry them in his Bosom, and shall gently lead those that are with Young. And in another place more copiously describing the Kingdom of Christ, * With Righteousness, saith he, shall he judge the Poor, and reprove with Equity, for the Meek of the Earth; and he shall smite the Earth with the Rod of his Mouth, and with the Breath of his Lips shall he slay the Wicked. And Righteousness shall be the Girdle of his Loins and Faithfulness the Girdle of his Reins. The Wolf also shall dwell with the Lamb, and the Leopard shall lie down with the Kid, and the Calf and the Young Lion, and the Fatling together, and a Little Child shall lead them; and the Cow and the Bear shall feed, their Young Ones shall lie down together, and the Lion shall eat Straw like an Ox. And a Sucking Child shall play on the hole of the Asp, and the weaned Child shall put his Hand on the Cockatrice Den. They shall not hurt nor destroy in all my holy Mountain: For the Earth shall be full of the Knowledge of the Lord, as the Waters cover the Sea.

* Chap. 40.

* Chap. 11.

To all which you may add, That Christ with his Church in the Revelation is all along represented under the Hieroglyphick of a Lamb, that harmless and peaceable Creature; and in Daniel under the Type of a Man, whenas the rest of the Kingdoms are there typifi'd by wild Beasts. Which plainly intimates that the Kingdom of Christ is not a Kingdom of Belluine Ferocity, but of Reason, Humanity, and tender Loving Kindness.

3. According therefore to this Description of the Kingdom of Christ, it is plainly a Kingdom of Peace and Love, the Empire of that Divine Virtue of Charity, and discovers it self in the defending, righting and easing of the Poor; in the Lowliness and Meekness of the Governours; and in the Truth and Faithfulness of them, in managing their Affairs without any Guile or Deceit; in the Unity and friendly Conversableness of People; in the Cessation of War and Hostility; and in the Protection of the Saints of God from Persecution and Slaughter. All these Happinesses are included in the Reign of Christ according to the above-cited Predictions; and are all of them the Effects of Charity, as St. Paul has described that Grace from the excellent Fruits thereof.

For Charity is kind, full of Acts of Humanity; seeketh not her own, much less what belongs to others, either out of Envy or Covetousness. Charity is not puffed up with Pride and High-mindedness: has no Pleasure in Unrighteousness or Deceitfulness, but rejoyceth in Truth and Faithfulness. Charity does not easily think Evil of Men, or unseemly behave herself out of the bad Opinion she conceives of them in Matters of Morality or Religion. Charity is so far from exciting others to War, that she is hardly provoked to Anger, but is Patient and Long-suffering; so far from Persecuting and Murthering the Good, that she will not be over-severe to those that are no better than they should be. For Charity beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things; so far is she from Persecuting, Imprisoning, from Racking and Killing of Innocent and Good Men (that are endued with the true Fear of God) upon worldly Jealousies and Suspicions, that is to say, for fear the Spreading of the Truth of the Gospel should bear down their usurped Empire of Idolatrous Tyranny and Superstition.

1 Cor. 13.

4. Having therefore so clear a View of the Nature and Properties of Charity, and of the Condition of the Reign of Christ in his Church, whose Dominion is founded in the Law of Love; it will not be hard to draw the Picture of an Antichristian Polity so far forth as it is opposite to this last Branch of the Divine Life, which is that transcendent Grace of Charity.

Let us suppose therefore a Company of Men that pretend to succeed Christ and his Apostles (who if they be his legitimate Successors, they should succeed him also in the Graces of his Spirit) to be quite contrary, in the Administration of the Affairs of the Church, to that Description of the Kingdom of Christ out of the Prophets and Psalms; would not this of a Truth prove a most palpable and remarkable Limb of Antichristianism?

5. As suppose first, for Example, Whereas our Saviour Christ is described as one that does redeem the Souls of the Poor and Needy from Oppression and Wrong; if the Frame of this Polity that his pretended Successors set up in the World were a Yoke upon the most simple-meaning People greater than that of Judaism, and a Servitude and Bondage more intolerable than that of Ægypt, as I have above described it, as both burthening and afflicting their Consciences, and also wearying their Bodies, and emptying their Purses by Mulcts for such Offenses as are neither against the Law of God nor any Duty we any way owe to our Neighbour, but only against such ſuch ſuperſtitious Inſtitutes as were made by the Ignorance of ſome and the cunning Craft of others, who multiply unneceſſary Laws, that they may enjoy the Sweet of the Penalties, and ſuck away the Blood and Suſtenance of the poor Labouring-man, as often as they catch him in theſe Nets: were not this Point-blank contrary to that Part of the Deſcription of Chriſt's Kingdom that conſiſts in the protecting and eaſing of the Poor and oppreſſed.

Book I. ch. 19, 20, 21, 22.

6. It were moſt certainly a very unchriſtian thing, and a ſhrewd Sign that thoſe were not the true and genuin Succeſſors of Chriſt, that did not prevail ſo much upon the Civil Government, that Vaſſalage and Slavery and ſquallid and deplorable Poverty ſhould be chaſed away, for the Glory of the Goſpel, and the Honour of the Kingdom of Chriſt, which is ſuppoſed to be where-ever the Goſpel is received: But for theſe pretended hypocritical Succeſſors to be Inſtruments and Aſſiſtants to the enſlaving of the World, for the partaking of the Spoil, or rather to erect a Spiritual Polity to enſlave all, and bring the moſt inſupportable Servitude of Body, Soul, and Eſtate, ſuch as Paganiſm could ſcarce ever ſhew the like, certainly this muſt be very highly Antichriſtian.

For indeed what can be more ſalvagely oppreſſive in Reference to the very Eſtates of Men, than to frame ſuch a Religion, upon the Pretence of their Infallibility, as is perfectly repugnant to the plain Word of God and immutable Rules of Reaſon; depraving of things ſo for their own worldly Advantage, as I have abundantly ſet out, to bring in a more ample Revenue to feed the Pride and Luxury of this falſe Church? And then when they have thus groſly perverted the Truth of God, to declare that they who will not ſay Amen to their Lies and Forgeries, have no more Right to their own Eſtates than a Thief or Robber to what he has got by unlawful Spoil: and therefore accordingly not only to hinder them from any publick Employments of either Profit or Credit, but diſable them from making of Wills, and their Heirs from inheriting their Eſtates, and awing them from laying Claim to their Patrimonies, leſt their Father's Hereſie be intailed upon them whether they will or no.

7. To which Antichriſtian Barbarities you may add alſo the ſcornful and cruel Penances they put upon them that do ſubmit themſelves to their Church; making them go in Proceſſion in contemptible Diſguiſes, or elſe enjoyning them to march in their Shifts, Bare-foot and Bare-leg, and to whip their own Bodies in the Sight of the People as they go along. How unlike, nay how utterly contrary, is this to that Meekneſs and Sweetneſs that is deſcribed in the Diſcipline and Government of the Kingdom of Chriſt? But we need not inſiſt upon theſe things, we have treated ſufficiently of them already.

8. Now upon the ſecond Particular, viz. that Humility and Lowlineſs which is alſo one Fruit of Charity, and by which the Perſon and Rule of our Saviour is deſcribed in the ancient Prophecies: We have ſhewn the Antichriſtian Deteſtableneſs of the Oppoſite to this Virtue already in the firſt Branch of the Divine Life, and need add nothing more thereto.

9. The Third Character of Charity is, her delighting in true and faithful Dealing amongſt Men. The Oppoſites to which are eaſily diſcoverable. To ſay nothing therefore of the manifold Frauds which we have already taken Notice of all along in this our Deſcription of Antichriſtianiſm, this certainly muſt be very Antichriſtian and uncharitable, namely, To miſrepreſent Men's Actions and Opinions in publick Speeches or Writings, nay to invent notorious Lies and Fictions to the Diſparagement of Men's Perſons and Doctrines, and ſuborn Men to write them, and divulge them to the World for Truths. Which is to do ſo as was the Cuſtom of thoſe who were under the Dragon, that old Serpent and falſe Accuſer of the ancient primitive Chriſtians, whom they aſperſed and calumniated as Worſhippers of the Sun, becauſe they put up their Prayers with their Faces toward the Eaſt; as Man-Sacrificers, and as Eaters and Drinkers of humane Fleſh and Blood, becauſe of their calling the Euchariſtick Bread and Wine the Body and Blood of Chriſt, they underſtanding it only in a myſtical or ſymbolical Senſe. For profeſſing with St. Paul, There is neither Male nor Female in Chriſt, but that both have equal Admiſſion into his eternal Kingdom, That they had no Regard to Sexes, but were vile Sodomites and Abuſers of themſelves with Mankind. For meeting together to ſerve God in private in Grotts and Caves of the Earth for Fear of Perſecution, That they were Conſpirators againſt the Roman State and Empire. And laſtly, for their reverently receiving the Elements of Bread and Wine at their holy Communions, That they were Worſhipper, of Ceres and Bacchus.

10. In like Manner we may imagin that this Pſeudo-chriſtian Church may raiſe and ſpread abroad amongſt the vulgar ſuch perverſe Calumnies againſt the true Members of Chriſt: as namely traducing them for Atheiſts, or at leaſt Arians, becauſe they will not acknowledge the Divinity of a conſecrated Piece of Bread; reporting them as Manichees, becauſe they do not hold the Power of the Church to be ſuperior to that of Emperors and Kings, (to make thereby but one Sovereignty in the Church) but affirm the Secular Power independent thereon. As if the holding theſe two diſtinct Powers were, forſooth, the holding the two Principles of the Manichees; defaming them for Beſom-Riders or Witches, becauſe they have by Reaſon of hard Perſecution been driven to inhabit deſert and mountainous Places; or upon their Meeting more privately in Houſes by Night, to impute to them ſome ſuch horrid and villainous Practices as were of old reported of the primitive Chriſtians, that the Candle being put out they committed Inceſt and all Manner of Uncleanneſs in the Dark, nay that they killed their own Children in theſe concealed Aſſemblies of theirs. To accuſe them of reviling the Saints, merely upon their profeſſing it unlawful to invoke them; or of blaſpheming the bleſſed Virgin, becauſe they hold it unfit to worſhip her. To tax them of Diſobedience to the Magiſtrate, only becauſe of their perſiſting in the ſincere Profeſſion of that Faith that is conſonant to the Doctrine of Chriſt and his Apoſtles. And, laſtly, to father upon them what abominable Actions they pleaſe, and, ſpeaking without a Metaphor, to gag the Mouths of the thus accuſed and ſlandered, that they may not anſwer for themſelves to clear themſelves in the Audience of the People: Nay to rack Men till their very Bowels break out of their Belly, to force them to acknowledge themſelves or their Party guilty of ſuch villainous Crimes as it is incredible their very Perſecutors ſhould in good Earneſt ſuſpect them of, merely to get a Pretence from ſuch an extorted Confeſſion to verifie their wicked Slanders to the World, and to make the harmleſs and innocent Profeſſors of the Truth of the Goſpel to be odious and hateful in the Eyes of all Men.

Certainly, if this be not diametrically oppoſite to that Part of Charity that diſcovers it ſelf in true and faithful Dealing, nothing can be excogitated that is ſo.

CHAP. XIV.

1. The Nick-naming of the true Chriſtians by the odious Title of Hereticks, with their barbarous Injuries thereupon. 2. That Hereſie and Schiſm are Sins againſt the truly Catholick and Apoſtolick Church. 3. What is meant by One Catholick and Apoſtolick Church. 4. What is that hainous Sin of Hereſie. 5. What Schiſm. 6. That while Men are ſincere Members of the Apoſtolick Body, they can be neither Hereticks nor Schiſmaticks. 7. The Hypocritical and Schiſmatical Niceneſs of this Antichriſtian Church in forbearing to joyn in any Religious Duty with any Member of the truly Apoſtolick Body. 8. Their fraudulent Purpoſe in foſtering this Schiſmatical Niceneſs and Unſociableneſs.

1. BUt we will alſo take Notice of that which will be ſo uſually caſt upon the Diſſenters from this falſe Church, that it will be ſcarce accounted any Reproach done to them, but rather Civility or at leaſt Juſtice; and that is, the ſo freely Nick-naming them by the Style of Hereticks and Schiſmaticks. Which yet in their own Judgment I ſuppoſe not to bear ſo little Weight with it, whenas their real Eſtimate is diſcoverable by their Proceedings, they deeming an Heretick ſo odious and contemptible, that he is not worthy of the common Privileges of Mankind, and of that Protection that the Laws of humane Society do afford to all Men; that he ſhall not have the Security of a Promiſe though confirmed by Oath; Foraſmuch as Faith is not to be kept with Hereticks. Not to mention here that they have made the Penalties of Hereſie capital. Which how juſtly, though a Man were an Heretick in the Matters of Belief, provided it were not out of Pride and Conceitedneſs, but out of invincible Ignorance, I will not here diſcuſs.

2. It will be of greater Uſe to conſider what is real Hereſie or Schiſm; that the ſincere and knowing Chriſtian may not be reproached, nor the leſs skilful affrighted with theſe Bug-bears. Thoſe that make ſo great a Cry againſt the Hainouſneſs of theſe Sins, their Zeal and Rhetorick would be more uſefully placed, if they would be ſo faithful as to give us a right Notion of them; otherwiſe while they pretend to be ſo induſtriouſly deſirous of Peace and Unity in the Church, they may but give thereby greater Occaſion of Diſſentions and Animoſities. For to make more things Hereſies and Schiſms than there really are, is indeed to create more Quarrels and Controverſies than there need be. I will acknowledge as ſoon as any, that Hereſie and Schiſm are very grievous Crimes, even of the deepeſt Die; but then it muſt be truly Hereſie or Schiſm, not what-ever the Peeviſhneſs, or Intereſt, or Prejudice of a domineering Party will be pleaſed to call ſo, under the Pretence that they are that One Catholick Church, from whoſe Doctrine (be it never ſo falſe or corrupt) for One to diſſent muſt be Hereſie, and to ſeparate from their Communion (be their Practices never ſo idolatrous) Schiſm. No certainly, thoſe high Sins of Hereſie and Schiſm are not againſt this or that particular Synagogue, be they never ſo numerous, but againſt that ancient and truly Catholick and Apoſtolick Church; and he that ſins againſt her Unity, ſins againſt his Creed, which has taught us to ſay, I believe one Catholick and Apoſtolick Church. Which Words becauſe they may be abuſed to the making of the Church look leſs Catholick and One than it is, I ſhall offer an eaſie Reſolution of the Senſe of them.

3. I conceive therefore that the Object of our Belief in this Clauſe of the Creed are theſe three Propoſitions.

Firſt, That the Church of God wherein Eternal Salvation is to be had is but One; that is to ſay, That a Man cannot be ſaved in any Religion, as ſome too raſhly and wantonly conceit, but that there is one only Way of Salvation which is revealed to God's true Church, under which all muſt come before they can be ſaved.

Secondly, That this Church of God is now a Catholick Church, not Topical or National, as in the Commonwealth of the Jews of old, but a Church that has a Right to ſpread over the Face of the whole Earth, and is deſigned ſo to do by Providence, as is expreſſed in ſeveral Paſſages of the Prophets. From the riſing of the Sun to the going down of the ſame, my Name ſhall be great amongſt the Gentiles: in every Place Incenſe ſhall be offered unto my Name, and a pure Offering: as * Malachy Chap. 1. has foretold. And David in the ſecond Pſalm, Ask of me, and I will give thee the Heathen for thine Inheritance, and the utmoſt Parts of the Earth for thy Poſſeſſion.

Thirdly and laſtly, That this One Catholick Church is neither to be ſtretched ſo wide as to be acknowledged there where the Apoſtolical Doctrine, the Faith and Practice delivered and commanded by Chriſt or his Apoſtles is oppugned and contradicted, and quite contrary Doctrines and Practices brought in; nor to be made ſo narrow, as that ſuch Companies of Men ſhould not be allowed to be Part of this Catholick Church, amongſt whom notwithſtanding the Apoſtolical Doctrines do obtain, and Primitive Practices of the Church ſet on Foot by the Apoſtles or Chriſt himſelf are in Uſe: That is to ſay, The adequate Character of this One Catholick Church is, that it rejects nothing of the Apoſtolical Doctrines and imitable Uſages, which were commanded by Chriſt or by his Apoſtles to the Church, nor teaches or inſtitutes any thing that is Point-blank oppoſite therto, or to the Word of God to which Chriſt and his Apoſtles give Teſtimony.

That therefore is the true Catholick Church in the whole, and in every particular Company of it, which has for its viſible Laws and Uſages, whereby it ſelf becomes alſo viſible, the Laws and Uſages of Chriſt and his Apoſtles, and nothing contradictorious thereunto.

This, I hope, will be acknowledged by all Men the moſt eaſie and genuin Senſe of this Article of the Chriſtian Creed that the Words are capable of.

4. And hence I think a Man may eaſily diſcover what that Hereſie is that is juſtly to be deemed ſo hainous a Sin, namely, That it is a Diſſent from the Catholick Church even in thoſe things that are in it Apoſtolical. For by them alone, they being entire and uncontradicted in her, does ſhe diſcover herſelf to be that One and only Catholick Church of Chriſt. And this would be an hainous Sin indeed againſt that Authority ſhe has to inſtruct and imbue the World with this ſaving Truth; I ſay, to diſſent from any Part of this Apoſtolick Doctrine out of a Spirit of Contradiction and Self-conceitedneſs, would be Hereſie in the moſt loathſome Circumſtances that can be imagined.

And the next Degree to this would be the Diſſenting from the Catholick Church in ſuch things as they generally agree in, though they be not expreſly any Part of the Apoſtolick Do-

Doctrine, but in the mean time not plainly diſſonant to the Word of God nor to the immutable Notions of humane Underſtanding.

And the third and laſt Degree is to diſſent from the Determinations of a Man's own particular National Church in the like Circumſtances with the former.

Theſe ſeem to have ſomething an over-near Affinity with what we have defined moſt properly and primarily to be Hereſie. But conſidering that even Oecumenical Councils may erre, and that Scripture in Things neceſſary to Salvation is ſufficiently plain, and the Affairs and the Genius of particular Nations exceeding different and changeable, and General Councils very hardly and ſlowly to be congregated; I muſt not be over-haſty to call a Diſſent here, no not from an Oecumenical Doctrine or Uſage, by ſo harſh a Denomination as Heretical, there being no Entrenchment made thereby upon the Apoſtolical Laws and Doctrines. But to diſſent from, or not to ſubſcribe to the Determinations of what Church ſoever that are plainly repugnant to the Doctrines Apoſtolical, were not only not Heretical, but Heroical; eſpecially if the Diſſent is likely to be attended with any perſonal Inconveniences to the Diſſenter.

5. And now for Schiſm, there is much-what the ſame Judgment to be made hereon as on Hereſie. For it is plain that Schiſm truly ſo called is A Separation from the Catholick Church, or from any National Church which is Part thereof, even then when ſhe approves her ſelf to be Catholick, that is to ſay, even then when ſhe is Apoſtolick, or though ſhe be Apoſtolick, and offer no Opinions and Uſages but ſuch as are conformable to the Uſages and Doctrines of Chriſt and his Apoſtles. To ſeparate from the Church in ſuch Circumſtances as theſe, I confeſs were a great and damnable Sin. But for one to ſeparate from the Church in other things upon an invincible Suſpicion that the conſenting to or doing this or that were ſinful and diſpleaſing to God, (though thoſe Opinions might be true, and Practices harmleſs in themſelves) this I conceive though it make a Man materially a Schiſmatick, yet he is not formally ſo, and he that does ſo is rather to be pitied than reproached.

But if he ſeparate from that Part of the Church (if it can be ſtill a Part of the Church that does ſo) which impoſes Opinions and Practices plainly repugnant to the Precepts of Chriſt and his Apoſtles; Separation in this Caſe need not be pitied, nor ought to be reproached, but highly commended and applauded. And that Voice will warrant them that calls for ſuch ſober Separatiſts, Come out of her, my People, leſt you partake of her Sins and of her Plagues. For the Coming out here would be really the Going in to the Church, and the ſtanding ſtill, the abiding disjoyned therefrom; as one ſpeaks very ſmartly and truly, Is Eccleſiæ non jungitur qui ab Evangelio ſeparatur. Rev. 18.

6. Wherefore from this true and determinate Apprehenſion of things it is manifeſt how outragiouſly and Antichriſtianly uncharitable this falſe Church would be againſt the true Members of Chriſt, in calling them Hereticks and Schiſmaticks, and Renders and Tearers in Pieces of the Unity of the Church; whenas in Truth they are ſo far from being Hereticks, that they are the faithful Witneſſes of Jeſus, and the only ſincere Members of the Apoſtolick Body, and keep to that one Foundation of which Chriſt is the chief Corner-ſtone, and are ſo far from being Schiſmaticks in their Separation from ſuch a Church as I have deſcribed, where groſs Idolatry and Superſtition has over-flown all, that by ſeparating they have redeemed themſelves out of this Babyloniſh or Ægyptian Captivity, and returned to that City that is at Unity or one with it ſelf, and muſt never vary, I mean, that one and only true Catholick Church, as being truly Apoſtolick. For if it be true, That he is not joyned to the Church that is ſeparate from the Goſpel; I think it will be true alſo, that He that is ſincerely joyned to the Goſpel cannot be ſeparate from the Church. And therefore this Noiſe of tearing and rending the Church, is but an unjuſt and clamorous Accuſation of Men, that feel their own uſurped Power and Intereſt to ſhake, as if it would break in ſunder at this Reſurrection of the true Apoſtolick Church, and Chriſt's Recovering the Power into his own Hands for the raiſing that promiſed and long-expected Kingdom of Righteouſneſs upon Earth.

7. And yet, in the fourth Place, though this falſe Church be thus perfectly Antichriſtian, as I have deſcribed, groſly Idolatrous and wretchedly Superſtitious, and thus ſhrilly clamorous and querimonious againſt the Rending of the Unity of the Catholick Church, as ſhe will phraſe it; notwithſtanding all this, we will ſuppoſe her ſo Hypocritically nice and ſcrupulous, that ſhe will not contaminate herſelf with joyning in Divine Service with thoſe of the true and Apoſtolick Church, though there be nothing in their Service but what is Apoſtolical; no not ſo much as join in the Lord's-Prayer, or giving Thanks at Meat, nor ſay Amen to the ſhorteſt Ejaculation or Doxology that Occaſion ſhould put into the Mouth of thoſe that appertain to the Apoſtolick Body; nor ſay Grace themſelves, for fear theſe Apoſtolicks ſhould join with them, or add their Amen.

And yet, forſooth, this Synagogue of Deceivers is ſo zealous and induſtrious for the keeping up of the Unity of the Catholick Church as nothing can be more, when in the mean time they are ſo full of Rancour and Railing againſt theſe Hereticks, as they call them, that they will ſtyle them (and indeed any Church beſides their own) the Church of the Devil; and pronounce that God is not God, if he do not damn them; and will forbid their Nurſelings to ſo much as wiſh a Requiem for their Souls when they are departed this Life.

8. But this is only a noiſy and Hiſtrionical Swaggering in compariſon of what follows anon. In the mean time their deviliſh Fraud in the Purſuance of this Unſociableneſs in any Divine Duty, betwixt them whom they pleaſe to term Hereticks and thoſe of their own Church, is very conſpicuous; viz. for fear Commerce in Religious Matters ſhould give them the Knowledge of the Truth, who are held to this falſe Church by nothing but by believing of Lies: I mean not only ſuch as were long ago framed for the Advantage of their Church, but ſuch Miſ-interpretations and Falſhoods as they poſſeſs their Nurſelings with againſt thoſe whom they call Hereticks; whoſe Doctrines they falſify, and traduce their Carriage as they pleaſe, and by this interdicting Converſe with them, keep them in that vile Opinion of them, which they have infuſed by their baſe Calumnies.

Beſides that, by this Scrupuloſity in Communicating with them in any Religious Duty, they oſtentate the great Sanctity of their own Phariſaical Church, as I intimated before, and ingender an Hatred and Deteſtation of all that are oppoſite: which Plots and Practies in thoſe who talk ſo much for Peace and Unity in the Church is a double Iniquity, and the higheſt Breach of Charity that comes not yet to Blows. But ſhe was certainly the Whore that called ſo remorſleſly for the dividing of the Child, not the genuin Mother. And that muſt be an Adulterate Church moſt aſſuredly, that would have Chriſtians differ wherein they profeſs themſelves all agreed, and clove in ſunder wherein they would naturally join together, and that is in the Apoſtolical Doctrines and Practices.

CHAP. XV.

1. What Incendiaries to War and Plotters of abhorred Murthers theſe falſely-pretended Succeſſors of Chriſt are. 2. Their Butcherly Cruelty to the Sheep of Chriſt's Fold. 3. Inſtances of prodigious Barbarities upon them for their very Faithfulneſs to their Saviour and Redeemer. 4. The Numerouſneſs of them that have thus ſuffered, with ſome particular Kinds of Cruelty. 5. More Inſtances of this Diabolical Barbarity. 6. All the Elements made Inſtruments of the Wrath and Fury of this Antichriſtian Power. 7. Moſt beaſtly and unnatural Examples of this Antichriſtian Salvageneſs.

1. BUT there are yet behind more palpable Diſcoveries of this Antichriſtian Contrariety to that Divine Virtue of Charity, the Royal Law, as I have already ſaid, of the Kingdom of Chriſt, which is deſcribed from the Peace and Security of Eſa. 11. 9. them that live under it, That there ſhall none hurt nor deſtroy in all God's holy Mountain.

5. In the Fifth place therefore, How plainly Antichriſtian would it be in them who pretend to be in a more ſpecial manner the Succeſſors of Chriſt, if they ſhould prove Incendiaries to War, and buſie Engineers of Deſtruction in Chriſtendom, witty in Cruelty and Revenge, barbarous in Execution; mercileſs to the Poor, hating them even for their Poverty ſake; Poiſoners of Princes; and even by that Bread wherewith they would pretend to feed their Souls to Everlaſting Life; and the High-prieſts themſelves, the Heads of this Antichriſtian Polity, either the Contrivers or Applauders of ſuch villainous Poiſonings and Murthers?

6. 2. But Sixthly and Laſtly; The cruel and bloody Perſecution of the True and Living Members of the Kingdom of Chriſt, only for their faithful Adhering to the Plain Plain and Undoubted Commands of their Heavenly Sovereign, who is ſtyled King of Kings and Lord of Lords, this certainly muſt be the moſt ſignal and capital Antichriſtianiſm that any Polity can be corrupted with, and the moſt groſsly and viſibly oppoſite both to the Nature of Charity, which beareth all things, and endureth all things, which will not be over-ſevere to the Wicked, much leſs cruel to the Good; and alſo to the Deſcription of Chriſt's Government, who is ſaid to redeem the Souls of the Needy from Deceit and Violence, and that their Blood is precious in his Sight. He ſhall feed his Flock like a Shepherd, He ſhall gather his Lambs with his Arm, and carry them in his Boſom. This is the genuin Spirit of the true Chriſtian Paſtors, whether of high or low Degree, to be thus tenderly affected toward their Sheep. pſalm 72. Eſay. 40.

But ſuch as thwack them and beat them, and violently drive them, inſtead of leading them by an Evangelical Call and going before them in a Way of Chriſtian Example, theſe are not Shepherds, but Butchers, and will eaſily drive them to the Shambles, and ſee their Throats cut without Remorſe.

3. Perſecution therefore of the Saints of God, even for thoſe things they approve themſelves to be Saints in, as in refuſing to worſhip Images, or to commit any other Act of Idolatry, in plainly and ſimply Profeſſing the Truth of the Goſpel, and living according thereto, conſciencioufly abſtaining from all ſuch things as it has declared unlawful; This is as manifeſt a Limb of Antichriſtianiſm as any can be exhibited to our View; and were indeed notoriouſly Antichriſtian, though it proceeded no further than to a partial Loſs of Goods, Impriſonment, and Death without any further odious and aggravating Circumſtances.

"But to be ſtripped ſtark naked of all a Man has to perfect Beggery; not to be "committed to a common Priſon, but to be thruſt into ſome loneſome and loath-"ſome Cell or Dungeon, upon moiſt Straw or Flags ſtinking with Dung or Ordure, or "elſe without this Tapiſtry, the Floor of it ſelf being ſoft and miry enough, that "they may ſeem to need no Pillow, and it may be alſo ſo ſtrait that they ſcarce "have room enough to lie at their length.

And then for their manner of Death, when they are called unto it, How unjuſt and barbarous were it, to have their Integrity and Sincerity to their Saviour to be reckoned a Crime more Capital than Theft and Murther, and therefore be puniſhed with a ſeverer Death? Hanging or Heading not ſerving the Turn, but they muſt undergo that Death which is moſt torturous and dreadful. "Fire and Faggot muſt "be the Reward of their conſtant and faithful Obedience to their dear Redeemer, "and it may be with ſome extraordinary Circumſtances: they not diſpatching them "with that Favour that they do Murtherers of Fathers or Murtherers of Husbands, "or Conjurers and Contractors with the Devil; but lengthening their Torments "by the malicious Artifice of Pulleys, dipping them in, and then pulling them up "again out of the Flames, as if they were ducking them in the Water rather than "torturing them in the Fire. Not ſparing the Women big with Child, no nor the "Child that has been baptized with Fire as ſoon as born into the World, but being "mercifully tranſmitted out of the burſt Womb through the Flames (as untouched "almoſt as the three Children in the fiery Furnace) has been caſt again into that "conſuming Element by the cruel Hands of the abhorred Hangman; ſetting leſs by "the poor innocent Infant of an Heretick, than by the Litter of a Bitch or Young "Kitlings, to whom none will be ſo barbarous as to burn them in the Fire, but com-"mit them rather to the Mercies of that more ſoft and gentle Element of Water.

4. "What ſhall we ſay to the Multitudes of thoſe that are thus Martyred, I mean "not only in Succeſſion, but at a Clap, by Thirties, Fourſcores, and Hundreds at "a time, either at one Common Fire-pyle, or elſe in Barns and Dwelling-Houſes; "ſevere Officers with their Iron Weapons forcing them back as often as the Heat "and Smoak would drive them out to ſeek cooler Air? What to the Racking and "Excarnificating their Bodies, before this laſt Puniſhment? To the Cutting out "their Tongues when they are brought to the Stake, that they may be in an ut-"ter Incapacity of Apologizing for themſelves, of Praiſing God, or Edifying the "People?

5. It were a long Buſineſs to ſet before your Eyes all the Ways that this Antichriſtian Beaſt, this Pſeudo-chriſtian Polity and falſly-pretended Hierarchy of Chriſt, might uſe in wreaking their Spleen upon the faithful Witneſſes of Jeſus, the Living Members of his True Church; What Outrages they and their Officers, or Inſtruments and Adherents, inflamed by the Poiſon of their Zeal, may commit upon the harmleſs harmleſs Flock of Chriſt; ſparing none of either Sex, no not in the moſt compaſſionable Circumſtances; "bringing Women, and that of Great Quality, within three "or four Days after their Delivery out of Child-bed, into an abhorred Priſon, uſing "them with the like cruel Hardſhip they do others; forcing them out of the Straw, as "it is called, to tumble on a Bed of Flags in a raw and noiſome Goal-cabbin; and with-"in a while after ſtretching them ſo on the Rack, and piercing them ſo to the Bone "with the Strings wherewith they tie their Legs and Arms, and ſo ſhattering all "their Body, that they leave them more than half dead upon the Torture.

"Hanging up others even while the Child is coming out of the Womb: Rip-"ping up the Bellies of others, having firſt nailed down their Hands and Feet up-"on ſome Board; and having cut their Children in Pieces, ſtopping their Bleeding "Fleſh into the Mouths of their Mothers: Opening the Wombs of others, and put-"ing their Children of a Year or two old into them, and ſo ſtifling them in their "Mother's Blood: Hanging Men up by their Privities at their own Doors, and "Miniſters of the Town after the ſame manner in their Church-Porches: Scraping "the Hands, Lips, and Crown of ſuch Prieſts as are converted to the true Profeſ-"ſion of the Goſpel, with ſharp Knives or broken Pieces of Glaſs: dragging Men "by their Legs whom they have half killed upon the Rack, like a dead Dog, or ſuch "like Piece of Carrion, they being unable to go themſelves, and thought by the Of-"ficers unworthy to be carried.

6. It were an endleſs Task to reckon up all the Hardſhips that frail Mortality is obnoxious to. All the Elements may be made Inſtruments of the Wrath of this Antichriſtian Power I deſcribe. "Beſides being burnt therefore, and pitched all "over to make the Nidour and Smoak of the Sacrifice more acceptable to their en-"raged Cruelty, Multitudes may be drown'd in Rivers, Men and Women, even in "their Parturiency, being forcibly driven into the Stream. Others may be benummed "or ſtifled to Death in froſty or ſmoaky Air, Branches of Trees being ſet on fire at "the Mouth of the Caverns where they had taken Shelter: And laſtly, others be "buried alive in the Earth, ſending out deep Groans from under the Ground.

"To be ſtript ſtark naked, and to be beat with Rods of Iron, is alſo extreme hard "meaſure; as alſo to have their Arms and Legs ſo pierced with the twiſting of "Cords, as to make deep Furrows in the Fleſh for Worms to breed in it, and con-"ſume it.

7. "What ſhall we ſay to the Flinging of the Young Children of Hereticks to be "eaten by Hogs, and to the boiling of others alive in Caldrons? To the Forcing of "Children to be the Executioners of their Parents, and the Parents ſometimes of "their own Children, Mothers being conſtrained to caſt their own Infants into the "Waters? To the Pulling out Mens Eyes, and Cutting off their Hands, and ſo ſend-"ing them out to grope their Way in the wide World? To the Flaying ſome, Roaſt-"ing others alive, and half Killing others on purpoſe that they may linger long in tor-"turous Pains? What to the Ripping the Bellies of other-ſome, to take hold of one "End of the ſmall Guts, to faſten it to a Tree, and then force the poor Man to go "round, to wind his Guts about the Tree, to try the Length of them? What to "the Abuſing of the Bodies of the Dead? To the making Candles of their Greaſe, "and the Selling their Fat to the Apothecaries? What to the laying of the Bodies "of Men and Women the one upon another in an immodeſt Poſture, and to the ſend-"ing out their Boys with Whips to laſh off Mens Privities as they lie dead in the "Field? And, laſtly, What to the barbarous Inſulting over the Heads of murther-"ed Miniſters openly at the Market-Croſs, Disfiguring their Faces, Slitting up their "Mouths, and Cutting their Noſes, and out of a mad and frantick kind of Zeal box-"ing them about the Ears, though to the benumming of their own Hands, upon the "dead Fleſh? So wild and ſalvage are they whom this Spirit of Antichriſtianiſm does inſpire.

*

CHAP.

CHAP. XVI.

1. A new Scene of Diabolical Outrages done to the innocent Flock of Chriſt. 2. That they are all to be imputed to this Antichriſtian Synagogue, though not particularly appointed by them. 3. A Deſcription of an Infernal Tribunal coloured over with the ſpecious Title of The Holy Inquiſition. 4. The Demeanour of theſe Infernal Jndges to the Accuſed. 5. The ſalvage Uſage of the Sentenced Party by the grim Executioner. 6. A new Addition to the former Torture. 7. The Torment of the Hollow Trough. 8. And Pan of Charcoal. 9. That this Exemplary Cruelty in theſe Spiritual Judges influencing all the Inſtruments and Adherents to their Church makes her guilty of all the Military Outrages alſo.

1. BUT I am weary of Figuring out ſuch ſad and tragical Scenes of Things; τὸ κακὸν ἄπειρον, the Modes of Villainy are Infinite. There ſeems nothing more deteſtable than that Cruelty of Cannibals that eat Man's Fleſh. "But how "far ſhort would it fall thereof, if we ſhould ſuppoſe that the Inſtruments and Ad- "herents to this Antichriſtian Power did riot it with the Brains of Men, and ſet up- "on the Table the Dugs of Women fryed like Tripes, whom they firſt raviſh, "and then cut off their Breaſts with ſome Parcel of thoſe Parts which Modeſty will "hardly permit to name?

"What ſhould we think of Stabbing a Man on the Soles of his Feet and at his "Ears, Cutting off his Genital Parts, Frying the Wound with the Flame of a Candle, "for his greater Torment, and for Stopping the Blood? What of the Tearing his "Nails off with hot Pincers, to make him Renounce his Religion, and to Recon- "cile him to this Pſeudo-Chriſtian Synagogue? What of Spiting naked Women "through their Pudenda, and ſo carrying them for ſome Space on their Shoulders on "long Poles? What of Stripping off the Skin of a Man's Arms and Legs in long "Slices like leathern Points, leaving him to ſtarve in this ſad Condition in Priſon? "What of Dragging by the Feet at the Tail of a Mule through the Streets, the "Body beating againſt the Stones, and the People flinging Brick-bats at him as he "paſſes by their Doors? What of Cramming Gun-powder into the Mouths and "Throats of Men, and then ſetting it on Fire to tear their Heads in Fitters? "And what laſtly of this beaſtly and barbarous Cruelty, to pull the Eyes of a Man "out, and to cut off his Yard, and thruſt it into his Mouth, and to expoſe him thus "mangled unto the View of the People two or three Days together, and in Con- "cluſion to flay him alive, and hang the Quarters of his Skin at the chief Windows "in the Town?

Could there be any thing more damnably Antichriſtian than ſuch Outrages as theſe againſt the innocent Lambs of Chriſt, whom this falſe and imperious Church diſguiſes with the odious Name of Hereticks? Concerning whom they inſtruct their bloody Inſtruments, that they are not worthy to live, nor to die an eaſie Death, nor to have Chriſtian Burial; but that their naked Bodies are to be expoſed to the Rage and Hunger of greedy Swine and Dogs.

2. And truly, though theſe Cruelties, all of them which are here deſcribed, are not ſuppoſed to be appointed particularly by the Ghoſtly Fathers of this grand Hypocritical Synagogue: yet their Inſtruments, Agents, and Adherents being informed by them that all that are not of this Church are Hereticks, and that all Hereticks are worſe than Dogs, and to be uſed worſe if we have a Mind to it, nay, that it is Meritorious to Abuſe them thus, and that their Tormenting them in this manner, and Killing of them with this Barbarity, will free themſelves from the Fire and Torments of Purgatory; it is plain that all this Antichriſtian Salvageneſs and Cruelty is to be laid at the Door of theſe Ghoſtly Fathers themſelves. Which will be ſtill more manifeſtly their due, if they be ſuppoſed to have Influence upon the other, not only by their Antichriſtian Doctrine, but by the Authentickneſs of their Example.

3. As if, for Example, we ſhould frame ſome ſuch Suppoſition as this, That there were a Court of Judicature ſet up, for the enquiring after, and examining all ſuſpected of Hereſie, for the Puniſhing them accordingly when they are diſcovered; and that ſome Holy Perſons of this Church ſhould be Judges in this Sacred Conſiſtory, this this Holy Inquiſition; but their Proceedings for Point of Cruelty and Injuſtice not inferior to any thing that we have yet named: Would not this be a Sign or Watch-word, as it were, to all the Adherents to this Deviliſh Religion to uſe the Enemies of it as cruelly as Opportunity will permit, or the natural Bitterneſs of their own Spirits ſuggeſt?

Let us imagin therefore a Tribunal, though not ſo juſt, yet more ſevere (or rather more cruel) than that of thoſe Judges of Hell, Minos and Rhadamanthus, and, that it may be more like theirs, to be in ſome ſubterraneous Room, (that the Cries and Groans of the Tormented may not pierce the Ears of the People) where all things are tranſacted in that more impure Light and Stench of Links and Torches, held by Aſſiſtants and Officers as grim of Aſpect as the Infernal Furies; and that the Proceedings of this Court are infinitely more unrighteous than thoſe of Hell, theſe Holy Judges having unlimited Power, any vile Perſon being admitted for a Witneſs againſt the Suſpected, and they making no matter whether the Accuſation be by Word of Mouth or by Tickets caſt in before this Sacred Conſiſtory; for without any perſonal Appearance or Confronting one another, the Proceſs is to be framed, without Party, without Witneſs, and without other Law than the Pleaſure of theſe Spiritual Judges or Infernal Spirits.

4. Now when the Suſpected or Accuſed have deſcended into theſe Shades of Death, we will ſuppoſe theſe Subterraneous Judges to begin with ſome terrifying Premonitions and Comminations, mingling ſome Hypocritical Exhortations and Proteſtations, as if they would waſh their Hands clean, as Pilate of old, of the innocent Blood they are about to ſpill.

But if the Party will not accuſe himſelf by the Terrour of theſe Threats, that they may notwithſtanding take away his Life in ſuch a torturous Way as they think fit for Hereticks, (yea though he ſhould freely confeſs that which they call Hereſie, yet if he will not betray all of the ſame Opinion that he either knows or ſuſpects) he is preſently ſentenced to undergo ſuch Agonies and Trials, as theſe cruel Monſters of Men ſhall pleaſe to adjudge him to.

5. "Wherefore there is ready at hand the grim Executioner in a black Diſguiſe ſo "horrid as makes him look more like a Devil than a Man; who ſeizing upon the "ſentenced Parties, be they Men or Women, Married or Virgins, of mean Rank or "of noble Quality, firſt ſtrips them naked, to ſatisfie the luſtful Eyes of theſe Holy "Leachers: which to the modeſt Maids and grave Matrons muſt be a Torment worſe "than Death it ſelf. After this he binds their Hands eight or ten times about with "Cords; theſe cruel and luſtful Villains on the Bench commanding him to bind one "round harder than another, and then with a ſmaller Line their Thumbs, and then "to faſten the Parties Hands and Thumbs to a Pulley that hangs on a Gibbet. After "this to hang Weights of Iron or Lead at their Feet, at firſt, ſuppoſe, about five "Pound, and to twitch them up by the Rope till their Head touches the Pulley. In "which pitiful Poſture they are called to and bawled at by theſe ſalvage Judges to "confeſs what they would have them. And thus they hang in this exquiſite Tor-"ture a good Space of Time.

"And if the Party will confeſs nothing, nor betray his Friends, the true Profeſſors "of the Goſpel, and faithful Servants of Jeſus, they let him down indeed, but to "hoiſe him up again with a double Weight of Iron at his Feet; the ſalvage Judges "commanding the Hangman to let the Rope go up and down with many ſhort "Checks or Stops, that the Weight of the Iron may rend every Joint of his Body one "from another. Which intolerable Pain, if it cauſe the Party to ſhreek and cry out, "(as it muſt needs) theſe grim Benchers ſhall drown the Noiſe with Roaring and "Railing at him, and calling him Dog and Heretick for ſo obſtinately (that is, ſo faith-"fully) refuſing to betray himſelf and his Friends.

"Which if he perſiſt in, they will let him down again, and add ſtill more Weight "to his Heels, and an higher Torment to his whole Body; putting this poor Mem-"ber of Chriſt to theſe unſupportable Tortures for at leaſt two or three Hours to-"gether; and, it may be, as they ſhall think fit, ſome three Days after, when his "Joynts are moſt ſore, bring him to ſuffer the ſame Extremities of Torment again, "nay repeat it at great Diſtances, if Life will endure it, five or ſix times over.

6. And this I think were a Cruelty little inferior to any we have hitherto intimated in all our barbarous Suppoſitions. But let us add another Scene ſomewhat different. "The Stripping them as before, but then the Binding of their Hands be-"hind them, and Hanging them at the Pulley, together with the Girding of their Thighs

"Thighs ſo hard, as alſo their Legs, with ſtrong Cords, and forcing the Strings by "Plugs of Wood thruſt betwixt, ſo deep into the Fleſh, that they reach near the "very Bone: In which intolerable Torment they will keep them two or three "Hours together.

7. "Or elſe, which is more cruel, if it be poſſible, to gird both Thighs, Legs "and Arms with ſtrong ſmall Cords, as before, ſo hard that they ſink out of ſight "into the Fleſh to the Bone; but withal to lay the Party along with his Face up-"wards on a great hollow Trough having a Croſs-bar in the midſt, with his Back "reſting on that Bar, to his unſpeakable Diſeaſement; ſpreading over his Mouth "and Noſtrils a fine Lawn, upon which they pouring out Water in a ſmall, but "high-falling, Stream, drive the Lawn into his Mouth and down the furtheſt part "of his Throat: which can put him in no leſs Agony than they are that are fetch-"ing their laſt Gaſp. And what Violence is done to him by that ſofter Engine, I "mean the fine Linen when it is twitched out of his Mouth, the Blood and Water "that comes with it doth copiouſly witneſs; one would think it brought up the "very Entrails with it out of the Body.

8. And laſtly, to make an end, That that Element that is moſt mercileſs may not ſeem to be forgotten by theſe wicked Engineers of Cruelty, it were eaſie to imagin, that they may make uſe of great Charkcoal-Pans of Iron full of hot Coals, "forcing the Captive's Feet as near as they pleaſe, and baſting them with Lard, to "make the Pain of Scalding more exquiſite. Which Torture can be little leſs than that of Roaſting Men alive at the Fire.

9. Certainly if the Religious Orders of a Church in a Form of Juſtice, and upon Pretence of Piety and Zeal againſt Hereticks, can commit theſe aſtoniſhing Outrages and Acts of Barbariſm againſt the faithful Followers of Chriſt; How can their Example fail of being a School of univerſal Cruelty for their Adherents againſt all ſuch whom they ſhall look upon as Hereticks? And they are taught all are ſo that are not of their Church. And therefore the Guilt of all theſe tragical Cruelties which are done upon the true Members of Chriſt, though not immediately by the Eccleſiaſticks themſelves, but by military Men, whoſe Inſtructers and Examples they are, is moſt righteouſly laid upon this bloody Prophet-murthering Synagogue her ſelf, this cruel and imperious Harlot drunk with the Blood of the Saints and with the Blood of the Martyrs of Jeſus; as well ſhe may, upon ſuch Principles as I have ſuppoſed her to be of, and rage even to immenſe Maſſacres, which may exhauſt thouſands, yea an hundred thouſand at a Draught.

CHAP. XVII.

1. That this Oppoſition againſt the Divine Grace of Charity is a moſt ſubſtantial Limb of Antichriſtianiſm; and the Character of them without the Holy City. 2. That that repeated Catalogue of abhorred Titles in the Apocalyps is plainly a Synopſis of the main Characters of the Antichriſtian Polity we deſcribe. 3. The Confirmation of the Truth of our Idea of Antichriſtianiſm therefrom. 4. A ſummary Repreſentation of this Idea in the Oppoſitions and Defeatments of the Privative Ends of the Goſpel, as alſo of thoſe noted Offices of Chriſt. 5. Even of his Divinity and other holy Titles. 6. Alſo of the Divine Life both in its Root and its Branches. 7. A Parable to ſet out the Salvage Injuſtice and Cruelty of this Antichriſtian Synagogue. 8. The Apodoſis of the Parable. 9. That we have ſet out the Idea of the moſt real and eſſential Antichriſtianiſm that can be; with an Anſwer to what may be objected to the contrary. 10. That it is that very Antichriſtianiſm that is foretold in the Prophets, the clearing whereof neceſſitates us to an Inſpection into them before we make any punctual Application of our Idea to the Apoſtaſie of the Church.

1. THat this laſt Limb therefore of our Deſcription, compriſed in ſuch things as are notoriouſly oppoſite to that Heavenly Virtue of Charity, is a very ſubſtantial Limb of Antichriſtianiſm, I think it is impoſſible for any one to doubt: And therefore it is no Wonder that the chief Character thereof which is writ in Letters of Blood, I mean that of Bloody Perſecution, which I laſt of all inſiſted upon, is entred into that black Liſt of Names which are excluded out of the Rev. 22. Holy City of God; Without are Dogs, and Sorcerers, and Fornicators, and Murtherers, and Idolaters, and every one that loves and makes a Lie. Which I doubt not but is a Synopsis of the chief Oppositions to the Holy City, or Body of Christ; and therefore what can this other Body be but the very Body of Antichrist.

2. And I look upon that brief Comprehension of those detestable Titles as the more considerable and more exactly computed, because the same Sum, though not the same Words, seems to be reckoned up in * two several Places; in which tho' the Words differ, yet reckoning one thing with another, we shall find the same Extent of Sense taken in. For Κύνες and πᾶς ὁ ποιῶν καὶ φιλῶν ψεῦδος are of equal Extent with δειλοὶ, ἄπιστοι, ἐβδελυγμένοι and ψευδεῖς.

* Rev. 21. 8. and 22. 15.

For, as I had Occasion to note above, πᾶς ὁ φιλῶν ψεῦδος will answer to δειλοὶ, such Persons being understood in both as are seducible by false Doctrines and feigned Legends contrary to both the Word of God and common Sense, and have their Spirits intimidated and basely enslaved and befooled with superstitious Falsehoods and Lies. And then πᾶς ὁ ποιῶν ψεῦδος answers to ψευδεῖς, and in both are understood such as coin false Doctrines for the Profit of their Church, and invent lying Legends, and obtrude Suppositious Reliques upon the People to pick a Peny out of their Purses, And lastly, ἄπιστοι and ἐβδελυγμένοι are both included in Κύνες, Dogs. Ἄπιστοι, which intimates Unbelief of Religion, is included in Κύνες as they are Brutes, Religion being the Property of a Man. Ἐβδελυγμένοι, or abominable, for masculine Venery, is included also in Κύνες, but with a particular Respect to their Species, the Dog being so furiously lustful as to spend promiscuously upon eitheir Sex.

And now for the rest of the Titles in each Catalogue, φαρμακεῖς and φαρμακοὶ are all one, saving the Terminations of the Words, which alters not the Sense at all: but πόρνοι, φονεῖς, εἰδωλολάτραι exquisitely the same, And therefore the Synopsis is plainly the same in both Places.

3. Wherefore enslaving Superstition, Infidelity or Atheism, Foul Uncleanness of either Kind, Lying Legends, and Doctrines false even to Impossibility and to the plain contradicting of Scripture, the worst of Murthers, the bloody Persecution of the Saints, professed Sorcery or Incantation, or a Pretence of doing more wonderful things than the greatest Magicians of Ægypt, and lastly, gross Idolatry and open Image-worship; all these, I say, being as well noted, and so signally, to be the Oppositions of the Holy City, which is the pure Church of Christ, as so execrable in the Sight of God as expresly to be doomed or sentenced to be cast into the Lake that burns with Fire and Brimstone; I conceive that my Idea of Antichristianism being made up chiefly out of these Parts, and explicitely comprising them all, besides other particulars of the like Nature, it cannot be denied but that it is a true and perfect Idea thereof even upon the Testimony of Holy Writ.

4. But I dare briefly appeal to any Man's Reason that has imbibed but the first Rudiments of Christianity, and knows but common Sense, and has read any ordinary Catechism, has the least Spark of Grace in his Heart, or any Relish of what is holy and Divine, whether the Nature of those things of which I have composed this Idea of Antichristianism be not essentially and intrinsecally Antichristian.

For, to take again a compendious View of what we have more largely exspatiated in, and thereby to give Judgment more safely on the whole Matter; what Hypothesis can be framed more Antichristian than this? That a Pack of Men (fancy them as numerous as you please) should hold together under one domineering Head, that would trample upon Princes, and tread upon the Necks of Emperours, and kick their Crowns off with his Foot, and under Pretence of being Successors to Christ and his Apostles, (though Christ told the boasting Jews (who yet were unquestionably the Posterity of Abraham) that they were of their Father the Devil, because they did his Works) claim notwithstanding an Infallibility of Judgment and Right of ordering all the Affairs of the World in Reference to Christ's Spiritual Kingdom; but yet in the mean Time in very Truth seek nothing but the Encrease of their temporal Honour and Power; and to this End undermine and defeat the whole Design of the Gospel, not acting according to the Laws of Christ, but making such Institutes and countenancing such Practices and Customs as, bring in most Wealth for the Support of the Magnificence of this Tyrannical Highpriest, that takes it to be but his due to ride upon the Necks of Princes. And therefore every gainful Sin, and serviceable to this Purpose, shall be made a Law, (though never so Point-blank against the Laws of God and Christ) and all those sacred Purposes of Christ's Coming into the World shall be trod upon for a Foot-stool to lift this Pack of Impoſtures into the Throne, that they may the better trample upon all the People of the Earth.

this

That is to ſay, Whereas Chriſt, by his Goſpel, came to ſilence Idolatry throughout the World; theſe Deceivers, for their own Advantage and Profit, will ſet up openly in their Churches as groſs Image-worſhip as ever was amongſt the Heathen. Whereas Chriſt came to free the People of God from the Yoke and Burthen of Moſaical Ordinances; theſe Oppreſſors of Mankind will load their Bodies and Conſciences with more numerous and tedious Superſtitions and Ceremonies than ever Moſes commanded, and put them to a Drudgery and Slavery worſe than the Ægyptian Task-maſters did the Children of Iſrael in their ſoreſt Bondage.

Whereas Chriſt was given to the World by his Father to be an abſolute King, from whoſe Decrees there can be no Appeal, nor any Annulment or Diſpenſation with his Laws; a perfect High-prieſt, who by the Sacrifice of himſelf once made, and ſelf-effectual Interceſſion, is an all-ſufficient Reconciler of us to God; a Prophet and Teacher, whoſe Inſtructions and Predictions are all infallible Oracles: This King of Babylon (for ſo I will call this tyrannical Seducer) with his Hypocritical Aſſiſtants, ſhall pretend that Chriſt has given up his Kingdom to them, and that they have the very ſame Power that Chriſt himſelf, can diſpenſe with or abrogate thoſe Laws he has made, or appoint new Laws quite contrary to them, or have Authority to put what Senſe upon them they pleaſe: which is the utter nulling of Chriſt's Authority as he is Law-giver and King, and the greateſt Treaſon and the moſt contemptuous that can be committed againſt his Heavenly Majeſty. This falſe High-prieſt with his ſeveral Orders of Levites, as if that one offering of the Body of Chriſt, which he himſelf made once, were not ſufficient for the Atonement of the World, nor yet his ſole Interceſſion, in Virtue of his Infinite Merits and Paſſion, available for our Reconciliation with God, pretend (to the high Diſhonour and Vilification of Chriſt's own Offering himſelf up once) to offer him up in their own Hands really and bodily every Day in a Manner; and, as if the Interceſſion of Chriſt and his own ineſtimable Merits were of themſelves maimed and defectuous, clap to them, to piece them out, the Merits and Interceſſion of mere Mortals, ſuch as could merit for none but for themſelves, nor indeed have got to Heaven but upon the ſole Merits of their loving Saviour, whom they are made thus to confront in his incommunicable Office. And laſtly, This falſe Prophet with the reſt of his devoted Impoſtours, to the End that their own Lies and Miſleadings of the People may not be diſcovered, but withal to the unſufferable Reproach of that great and true Prophet the Lord Jeſus, and the unſpeakable Injury of his cordial Followers, withhold thoſe lively Oracles delivered by him and his Apoſtles from the Knowledge of Men, not without groſs Revilements and Diſparagements caſt upon thoſe Holy Writings: than which nothing can be more outragious againſt the Prophetick Office of Chriſt.

5. Again, Whereas the Divinity of Chriſt is plainly and punctually and of ſet Purpoſe aſſerted in Scripture, to aſſure us of the Allowableneſs of that Religious Worſhip we do to him; it being his peculiar Royalty or Prerogative, as being not mere Man, but God; nay his Godhead being aſcertain'd to us by that Argument of Adoration due to him, Worſhip him all ye Gods: yet this perfidious Antichriſtian Hierarchy will not ſtick to undermine this Prerogative, and, as much as in them lies, to proclaim to the World that he is no more than mere Man; for, as if they had found an allowed Inſtance of Men-worſhip in him, they will give Religious Worſhip to hundreds of Saints as well as to himſelf. Whereas Chriſt is deſcribed in the Prophets as the Prince of Peace; theſe falſely pretended Succeſſors of his, or rather the Seed of Satan, who was a Man-eater and Murtherer from the Beginning, will prove themſelves Fomenters of Diſſentions and Commotions, and Cauſers of Embroilments of Nations and Kingdoms in War, upon their politick and pragmatical Machinations for the unjuſt Intereſt of their own holy Crew. Whereas Chriſt was the Light of the World; theſe will ſtudy to keep the World in Ignorance, that they may the better tyrannize over them and enſlave them. And whereas Chriſt profeſſed himſelf to be the Truth; theſe will make it their Buſineſs to fill the World with Falſities and Lies, ſo they be but ſo contrived as is moſt fit for the holding up their Intereſt, Pomp and Power in the World.

6. And thirdly and laſtly, Whereas the chief and moſt indiſpenſable End of Chriſt's Coming here upon Earth was to enliven the World with that Life which is truly Holy and Divine, wherein are compriſed thoſe four Heavenly Graces of Faith, Humility, Purity and Charity; as for the firſt, This Pſeudo-chriſtian Church, by Reaſon of the Multitude of their lying Miracles and groſs Legends and falſified Reliques, their incredible Stories of Purgatory, and ſhameleſs Impoſſibility of Tranſubſtantiation, (all which tend to the Profit and Intereſt of theſe Seducers) bring things to ſuch a Paſs, that if all the Counſels of Hell were laid together, they could not invent any thing more deſtructive to Chriſtian Belief, and more miſchievouſly inſinuating that Religion is only a Fiction found out to inrich the Prieſt and make him powerful and honourable.

And then for Humility; Their Supreme Patriarch being ſo very high, and wrought to that high-pitch by ſuch Frauds and Forgeries, by abetting and countenancing ſuch Treaſons, Murthers and Villainies, by raiſing ſuch Seditions and Confuſions in Chriſtendom; and this Sacerdotal Monarchy exerciſed with that Haughtineſs and unparallel'd Pride, this Supreme Levite ſo groſly and rudely treading upon the Necks of Princes, and making the greateſt Emperors his Foot-ſtool in his Diſpleaſure, and his Sedan-Men or Chair-Carriers when he is at Peace with them; and the whole Conſtitution of their Hierarchy, in the ſeveral Pomps and Degrees thereof, being rather a fiery Rack of inflaming Ambition to ſet all Men's Spirits on the Tenter-hooks in their reaching after the bewitching Prizes which are ever flaring in their Eyes, than an allowable Frame of a modeſt Order of Government to keep up wholeſome Diſcipline in the Church; can we imagin any Complexion of things more contrary to the Spirit of Humility than this?

And then again for Purity; For this lofty High-prieſt to ſtoop ſo low as to ſet his Seal to the Allowableneſs of Fornication, by receiving an annual Tribute from the Whores of his Metropolis; and to enjoyn Cœlibate to his Prieſts, as if he meant to drive them into the Nets, that theſe Nuns of Venus may never want Trading; to fill the World with Monaſticks, and to ſet light by all Kinds of Debauchery, ſo that the Laws of the Church be obſerved; is the moſt effectual Method imaginable to make Chriſtendom a Cage of unclean Birds, and ſo quite to wither or lop off that Branch of the Divine Life which we call Purity.

And now, laſtly, for Charity: What can be more contrary thereto, than to interweave into Law or Religion not only what is naturally unjuſt, but moſt barbarouſly cruel; not only Killing thoſe who are innocent, but Torturing to Death with the moſt ſalvage Torments even thoſe who are the moſt dear and faithful Members of Chriſt, and even for that very Reaſon, becauſe they approve themſelves to be ſo; and that which will make the Barbarity of theſe Succeſſors of the Devil ſtill more odious, they enſnaring Men in the Point of that Myſtery which was the Pledge of the greateſt Love of Chriſt that could be expreſſed, and was intended for the moſt endearing and agglutinating Cement of all thoſe that are called by his Name, that they ſhould upon this very Score be united to one another with the ſincereſt Love and Affection that is poſſible? Now therefore that this ſacred Pledge of Love and Amity and Unity in the Church, I mean the Sacramental Body and Blood of Chriſt, (which is a lively Commemoration of that ineffable Love of his to his Church in laying down his Life for us) ſhould be made the main Engine and Artifice of entrapping, and afterwards of cruelly torturing and butchering his moſt faithful Members; what more horrid, more execrable, and more Antichriſtian Abuſe can there be of our Lord Jeſus, or what Hoſtility againſt him more damnable or Diabolical?

Nay what Conſpiracy againſt humane Nature can be more tragical or direful, or what ſo palpable a Plot to make Mankind mere Slaves and Vaſſals, and to take away from them that Privilege by which alone they are diſtinguiſhable from brute Beaſts?

7. "Suppoſe there were a numerous Crew of odly-habited People, inhabiting a "certain vaſt Wood or Wilderneſs, that would give themſelves ſome fantaſtick "Title, to make the better Show of Sanctity, as, ſuppoſe, The Knights of the Holy "Grove, or The Prieſts of the infallible Spirit, or the like; and ſhould take up a Re"ſolution amongſt themſelves to be accounted Unerring in whatſoever they unani"mouſly averred for true; and ſhould agree together and determine (for the gain"ful vending of ſo marvellous a Commodity) that there is ſo great Virtue in ſuch "a Form of certain Magical Words, which they know how to uſe, that if one of "their Sacred Order ſpeak them over any of thoſe pure, white, round Pebbles which "eaſily are found in Rills and Brooks, ſtraight-way this little Stone, though it re"tain ſtill the ſame Colour, Magnitude, Figure and Hardneſs that it had before, "yet (ſo wonderful is the Myſtery) is moſt aſſuredly turned into an Eagle, whence "this Kind of Stone alſo is called the Eagle-ſtone. "Up-

"Upon which Suppoſition, let us further imagin that theſe Infallible Knights, meet"ing (as it is uſual) Travellers upon the Way, and declaring this wonder-working "Power of their Order, and ſhewing them one of theſe Stones, and having ſaid the "Charm over it, proteſting that it is really become an Eagle (though it be not "viſibly changed at all from what it was before) may ſometimes light upon ſome
"honeſt hearted Paſſenger that may flatly deny the Exploit, and contend that the "inchanted Stone is no Eagle, but a Stone ſtill. VVhereupon we will ſuppoſe that "theſe Knights of the holy Grove blowing their Bugles will cauſe whole Swarms of "that ſacred Order to come out of the Wood, who ſhall avouch upon the Honour
"of their infallible Knighthood that the Miracle is really performed, and that which
"this incredulous Stranger contends to be ſtill a Stone, is in very Truth that Royal
"Bird of Jupiter. But that ſuch ſhould be the honeſt-ſtoutneſs and plain-heartedneſs
"of the environed Stranger, that notwithſtanding all this he ſhould perſiſt in his for"mer Opinion, alledging that he cannot believe that to be an Eagle, wherein he "can diſcern neither Bill nor Talons, Head nor Foot, Wing nor Tail, Bone nor "Fleſh, but is in every thing as much Stone as before; and that therefore they
"ſhall never perſwade him of this magical Tranſmutation, their being no Proof
"thereof but their own Teſtimony, and that Point-blank againſt the manifeſt Evi"dence of Senſe and Reaſon. Whereupon if theſe Knights of the Grove, putting on "a grim Vizard of enraged Zeal in behalf of their own Traffick and Reputation,
"ſhould fall upon this innocent Man, and ſlay him, ſeizing upon what he has, his "Money, Cloaths and Gelding, as lawful Booty; would not theſe Knights or Prieſts
"of the infallible Spirit be accounted in the Judgment of all the World a Pack of "bloody Impoſtours, a Crew of High-way-men, conſpiring to rob and ſpoil honeſt
"Paſſengers that go that Way?

8. What then ſhall we think of thoſe numerous Swarms of this pretended Infallible Church we have deſcribed, that will be ready to quarrel with any Chriſtian Paſſenger in his Pilgrimage through the Wilderneſs of this World, if he deny the Tranſubſtantiation of a round white Wafer into a perfect Man, when a Prieſt has ſaid certain Words over it, though the Wafer, upon the moſt exquiſite Examination of our Senſes, be not changed one Jot from what it was before? Yet upon the Boaſt of the Infallibility of this Church, a Man muſt believe it againſt all Senſe, Scripture and Reaſon, or elſe die the moſt cruel kind of Death that Malefactors are ever put to. Who cannot but look upon ſuch a Pack of Men as theſe as not only Antichriſtian, but Anti-humane, tanquam juratos humani generis hoſtes, an accurſed Company of bloody Thieves and Robbers, and ſworn Conſpirators againſt the Sons of Adam, who with Might and Main endeavour to maul them and martyr them, to ſubdue them and enſlave them both Body and Soul, and more cruelly to tyrannize over them than it is fit for any Man to do over brute Beaſts?

Can any thing be imagined more Antichriſtian than this, or more contrary to that Noble and Divine Spirit of Charity and ſweet Benignity that was ſo conſpicuous in the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, who is ſo frequently in Scripture ſtyled the Son of Man, as to whom appertains that expected Kingdom of Peace, of holy Love and of Humanity?

9. Wherefore from this ſhort Draught I think any one may diſcern that I have given a very true and faithful Idea of that which is real and eſſential Antichriſtianiſm; and truly I think to the higheſt Pitch imaginable. For to excuſe the Matter in ſaying, that this Pſeudo-chriſtian Church does not openly deny Chriſt or his Goſpel, does not perſecute every one that bears the Name of a Chriſtian, and, laſtly, does not ſet up Images to the Deities of the Pagans, Mars, Venus, and the reſt: to theſe I briefly anſwer.

To the Firſt, That it were not their Intereſt to deny the whole Truth of the Goſpel; for then their Power and Credit would fail in the World: But it were the Intereſt of the Church of God they did ſo; and therefore they are the worſt Enemies that can be, doing more Miſchief under the Colour of Friendſhip than any declared Enemy can. Beſides that there are pregnant Proofs in the Scripture, that Antichriſt is to be a Chriſtian in external Profeſſion, not a Pagan or any other Alien from the Church.

To the Second, That their not killing all that are called Chriſtians, ſhews that their Malice and Cruelty is more exquiſitely oppoſed and directed againſt Chriſt himſelf, in that their Spight is only againſt his true and ſincere Members. For thoſe that are ſpared are not truly Chriſt's Servants, but this High-prieſt's Vaſſals, or at leaſt are taken to be ſo by him, elſe they could not eſcape his Fury; ſo that his Oppoſition to Chriſt is only more judicious and adequate, not leſs fierce nor malicious.

And to the laſt, That they worſhip the Images or Perſons, not of Venus, or Neptune, or Mars, but of the Bleſſed Virgin, St. Peter, St. Paul, &c. Suppoſe a mighty Potentate, and as Virtuous as Mighty, ſhould put out ſevere Edicts againſt Adultery and carnal Fornication; and that ſome guilty of the Fact ſhould Apologize for themſelves to their Prince on this wiſe, "It is true indeed, Great Sir, that we have committed Fornication, but we beſeech you to take notice of the Excuſableneſs or Juſtifiableneſs of the Circumſtances. For we are not ſuch groſs and courſe-grain'd Fornicators as defile themſelves with any Fleſh, but only ſuch as we have (and that upon high Deſert) a very great Reſpect for, and entire Love to, and that the rather for their near Relation to your Highneſs, namely, your Daughters, Siſters, and Neeces, and others that are more near than ordinary. Would not ſuch an Apology as this enrage the Prince with greater Wrath againſt their wicked Lewdneſs?

How odious then and ridiculous would ſuch a Plea be touching this Spiritual Fornication with the neareſt Relations and Friends of our Bleſſed Saviour? Can Spiritual Adultery, which is Idolatry, committed upon the Bleſſed Virgin, upon St. John and others, be more tolerable than upon Diana, Apollo, and other Mortals canonized by the Heathen?

Nay indeed, Would not this latter be but only ſimple Fornication, or Adultery, (there being no Averſation in ſuch unſanctified Perſons from the Receiving of Divine Honours) but the former an execrable Rape, they committing Idolatry or Spiritual Fornication againſt the Wills of theſe Holy Saints they thus blaſpheme and abuſe?

So that I ſee not the leaſt Reaſon left to doubt but that I have decyphered the Idea of the moſt perfect and moſt deteſtable Antichriſtianiſm that can be.

10. And thus having fully perfected the Draught of the Idea of Antichriſtianiſm, I might, according to the Method I intimated, make Application thereof to the State of the Church apoſtatized thereinto.

But becauſe ſome Men are ſo very hardly brought off to believe that any Degeneracy of the Chriſtian Church, ſo long as they do ſtill formally profeſs Jeſus to be the Chriſt, can amount to the Production of that famous and ſignal Antichriſt the Prophecies ſeem to point at, whom they with all Peremptorineſs contend to be an open Denier of Jeſus, and as expreſs an Aſſertor of himſelf to be the expected Meſſias, no pretended Succeſſor nor Diſciple of the true Chriſt; I think it very convenient, before I proceed to the Application of my Idea of Antichriſtianiſm, to make a more exquiſite Search, into the Prophecies, and thence to demonſtrate (as I hope) with unexceptionable Evidence, That ſuch an Antichriſt for the main, as is repreſented in that Idea, is alſo prefigured or fore-told by the Holy Prophets, that is to ſay, ſuch an one as, doing ſuch abominable Villainies as I have inſtanced in, yet profeſſes himſelf to be Part, nay Chief, of the Body of Chriſt, which is his Church.

For unleſs I do this, I know that ſuch is the ſhuffling Diſpoſition of Ignorance and Falſhood, that they will think they can evade all by ſaying, That I have indeed made an operoſe Deſcription of A true Idea, but not of The true Idea of Antichriſtianiſm, ſuch as my Title pretends to: that is to ſay, That the Church does indeed very naughtily, and in ſome Senſe Antichriſtianly, in theſe Miſcarriages; but it will not amount to the making up the Antichriſt properly and ſignally ſo called, and pointed unto by the Predictions of the Prophets.

Which therefore we are neceſſitated to ſearch into before we go any further; and are the more eaſily induced ſo to do, the Method being indifferently natural either way. For the firſt intended Method was, after this Deſcription of the Idea of Antichriſtianiſm, to make punctual Application thereof to the Apoſtatized Condition of the Church; to diſcover who is de facto that grand Antichriſt; and then to apply the Prophecies to the Events, to ſhew that they alſo do indigitate the ſame that my Idea does diſcover. My preſent purpoſed Method is, After this Deſcription of the Idea of Antichriſtianiſm, to make Search into the Prophecies; to find out that their Prefigurations of Antichriſt are in the main Strokes (for neither are the Prophecies concerning Chriſt Predictions of all his particular Actions) moſt manifeſtly anſwerable to the Idea we have given, and that the Antichriſtianiſm which they foretel of is a Degeneracy or Apoſtaſie of the Church ſtill formally profeſſing Chriſtianity, accordingly as we have deſcribed things in our Idea: and then, in the laſt place, to make a more punctual Application of our Idea of Antichriſtianiſm, thus juſtified by the Agreeableneſs it hath with the Prophetick Predictions, unto the Apoſtatized State of the Church for ſo many Ages to our own Times. Which will be a more plenary Eviction of the ſtupendious Veracity of the Prophecies. And it is as good and natural a Method to prove the Truth of the Prophecies by the Fulneſs of the Events, as to illuſtrate the Nature of the Events by the Application of the Prophecies.

But in the mean time there will be a Neceſſity in this preſent Search to have Recourſe unto Events, in ſome ſort or other; For who can explain a Prophecy without any Recourſe to Events? But all the Hiſtory we need to have Recourſe to being either ſuch as is diſtinct from any part of this Idea we have delineated, (and therefore to be brought into View in the Interpreting of ſuch Paſſages as require it) or elſe being but a general Knowledge of thoſe Limbs of Antichriſtianiſm I have deſcribed, of which ſcarce any are ignorant or unperſwaded of for the main; we may without the leaſt Confuſion or Obſcurity (partly by referring to this Idea in things that want no Proof, and partly by producing Hiſtory where Occaſion requires) apply our ſelves to our intended Search into the Prophecies for a more full Demonſtration of the Truth of our Idea of Antichriſtianiſm. Which having finiſhed, we ſhall make a more punctual Application thereof, for the more undeniably Convincing the Guilty, and for the Clearing the Innocent from all ſuch unjuſt Aſperſions as may be thrown upon them.

The End of the Firſt Part.

SYNOPSIS PROPHETICA;

OR,

THE SECOND PART

OF THE ENQUIRY

INTO THE MYSTERY

OF

INIQUITY:

CONTAINING

A COMPENDIOUS PROSPECT

INTO THOSE

Prophecies of the Holy Scripture,

WHEREIN

The Reign of ANTICHRIST,

OR THE

Notorious Lapse or Degeneracy of the Church

In all those Points comprised in

The Idea of ANTICHRISTIANISM,

Is Prefigured or Foretold.

Theognis.

Ἄνθρωποι τὰ μάταια νομίζομεν, εἰδότες οὐδέν·
Θεοὶ δ' ἃ μὴ σφέτερον πάντα τελοῦσι νόον.

DANIEL 4.

This Matter is by the Decree of the Watchers, and the Demand by the Word of the Holy Ones.

LONDON, Printed by Joseph Downing in Bartholomew-Close, 1706.

ILIADOS LIBER
SECUNDUS

SYNOPSIS PROPHETICA:

OR A

COMPENDIOUS PROSPECT

INTO THE

PROPHECIES

IN THE

HOLY SCRIPTURES

TOUCHING THE

ANTICHRIST

To come.

BOOK I.

CHAP. I.

1. That the Antichriſtianiſm we have ſo punctually deſcribed in our Idea, and is for the general ſo notoriouſly known to have over-run the Church, is in truth a kind of Pagano-Chriſtianiſm. 2. That it is incredible that there ſhould be no Divine Predictions of ſo conſiderable a Change. 3. The Ill-ſpent Pains of thoſe Interpreters who endeavour to obſcure ſuch Predictions by diſtorting them to other uſeleſs Meanings. 4. Whether this Great Antichriſt be propheſied of in the Epiſtle of St. John, under that very Name. 5. That Barchocab, if applicable at all to the Text, may be a Type of this famous Antichriſt. 6. That the Mention of thoſe many Antichriſts in St. John was occaſioned from the Fame of that Great Antichriſt predicted in Daniel. 7. That there is much-what the ſame Reaſon of the Slowneſs of Chriſtians in diſcovering the true Antichriſt, as of the Jews in diſcovering the true Chriſt. 8. That a fraudulent and hypocritical Oppoſer of Chriſt may be as real and conſiderable an Antichriſt as an open declared Enemy; as alſo St. John's Deſcription as eaſily applicable to him. 9. The inept Niceneſs of Declining the Name of Antichriſt; and that the Title was put upon this great Enemy of the Church by the ancient Fathers occaſionally from this Epiſtle of St. John. 10. Certain Conſiderations propoſed touching the Obſcurity of the Prophetick Style.

1. WE have ſufficiently diſcovered to what a great Meaſure the Church of Chriſt may Degenerate, or rather Apoſtatize, from the Purity of the Goſpel into that abhorred Condition of Antichriſtianiſm, and yet retain the external Profeſſion of Chriſtianity; uſing indeed the Name and Hiſtory of Chriſt and his Apoſtles, but introducing thereupon ſuch a Face of Idolatry and Heatheniſh Superſtition and barbarous Cruelty againſt the true Servants of Chriſt, that by thoſe whoſe Judgments are more Free and Piercing, ſuch a State of the Church cannot but be deemed rather a Revival of Paganiſm than an uninterrupted Succeſſion of true Chriſtianity in the World; or, to uſe the ſofteſt Language that the Truth of the thing will admit

THE SECOND PART

SYNOPSIS PROPHETICA:

OR A

COMPENDIOUS PROSPECT

INTO THE

PROPHECIES

IN THE

HOLY SCRIPTURES

TOUCHING THE

ANTICHRIST

To come.

BOOK I.

CHAP. I.

1. That the Antichriſtianiſm we have ſo punctually deſcribed in our Idea, and is for the general ſo notoriouſly known to have over-run the Church, is in truth a kind of Pagano-Chriſtianiſm. 2. That it is incredible that there ſhould be no Divine Predictions of ſo conſiderable a Change. 3. The Ill-ſpent Pains of thoſe Interpreters who endeavour to obſcure ſuch Predictions by diſtorting them to other uſeleſs Meanings. 4. Whether this Great Antichriſt be propheſied of in the Epiſtle of St. John, under that very Name. 5. That Barchocab, if applicable at all to the Text, may be a Type of this famous Antichriſt. 6. That the Mention of thoſe many Antichriſts in St. John was occaſioned from the Fame of that Great Antichriſt predicted in Daniel. 7. That there is much-what the ſame Reaſon of the Slowneſs of Chriſtians in diſcovering the true Antichriſt, as of the Jews in diſcovering the true Chriſt. 8. That a fraudulent and hypocritical Oppoſer of Chriſt may be as real and conſiderable an Antichriſt as an open declared Enemy; as alſo St. John's Deſcription as eaſily applicable to him. 9. The inept Niceneſs of Declining the Name of Antichriſt; and that the Title was put upon this great Enemy of the Church by the ancient Fathers occaſionally from this Epiſtle of St. John. 10. Certain Conſiderations propoſed touching the Obſcurity of the Prophetick Style.

1. WE have ſufficiently diſcovered to what a great Meaſure the Church of Chriſt may Degenerate, or rather Apoſtatize, from the Purity of the Goſpel into that abhorred Condition of Antichriſtianiſm, and yet retain the external Profeſſion of Chriſtianity; uſing indeed the Name and Hiſtory of Chriſt and his Apoſtles, but introducing thereupon ſuch a Face of Idolatry and Heatheniſh Superſtition and barbarous Cruelty againſt the true Servants of Chriſt, that by thoſe whoſe Judgments are more Free and Piercing, ſuch a State of the Church cannot but be deemed rather a Revival of Paganiſm than an uninterrupted Succeſſion of true Chriſtianity in the World; or, to uſe the ſofteſt Language that the Truth of the thing will admit admit of, it cannot be judged pure and unadulterate Chriſtianity, but a kind of Pagano-Chriſtianiſm, the Pagan Rites, Idolatries and Superſtitions being practiſed upon Chriſtian Objects, and this Paganiſm in this pretended Chriſtianity being maintained with as ſerine Cruelty as Paganiſm it ſelf was in the Time of the Heathen Emperors. It remains now, according to our propoſed Method, to ſearch into the holy Oracles, to find out Whether ſuch a kind of Antichriſtianiſm as I have deſcribed be not prefigured therein; and Whether ſo horrible a Mutation in the Church of Chriſt, which for the general it is apparent (even in the Judgment of all that are not wilfully blind) has for theſe many Ages ſeized upon the Church, was not predicted of old by the Prophets, or Apoſtles, or by both.

2. For it ſeems to me a wonderful thing and altogether incredible, That God, who was ſo careful and watchful over the Church of the Jews, foretelling their Captivities and Returns out of Captivity, and fore-advertiſing them in a manner of all their Affairs of Importance by the Mouths of his Prophets, ſometimes many hundred Years before, ſhould leave the Church of Chriſt for ſo great a Number of Ages without Ephod and without Teraphim, without Prophets or timely Predictions what Things would betide her in the Decurſion of ſo long a Space as twelve or thirteen hundred Years together, to let her be bewildred thus in ſo endleſs a Night, and leave her floating upon the Waves without any Cynoſura to ſtear by. Wherefore I do not doubt but Chriſt has been ſo faithful to his Spouſe, that he has left ſome Oracular Records wherein a Man may read, if he come with unprejudiced Eyes, in a very legible Character, the State and Condition of the Church, and this grand Apoſtacy of it, with the moſt notorious Circumſtances thereunto appertaining; that is to ſay, He ſhall find in a manner all thoſe Heads of Antichriſtianiſm which I have inſiſted upon, intimated ſome way or other, and charged upon that Church eſpecially which Hiſtory has found ſo guilty thereof.

3. Which thing I being ſo fully perſwaded of in my own Judgment, cannot without a great Meaſure of Grief or Indignation reflect upon the miſpent Pains of ſome Learned Pens, who have endeavoured to pervert all thoſe illuſtrious Prophecies (whether in Daniel, the Apocalyps, or other places) that do forewarn the People of God of this grand Degeneracy of the Church, unto ſome other Senſe and Meaning, though never ſo forced and frivolous, though never ſo ſtrained and inconſiderable; thereby obſcuring both the glorious Providence of God, of whoſe Watchfulneſs over his Church, the true and eaſie Senſe of theſe Prophecies is a moſt ample Witneſs, as alſo hindering that Benefit which was to accrue to us by the right Underſtanding of theſe holy Prefigurations and Predictions, which if rightly interpreted would be of wonderful great Virtue, for the Reclaiming of the World and Converting of Chriſtendom to that Ancient and Apoſtolick Purity as well in Practice as Doctrines from which they have ſo long time ſwerved.

Wherefore out of a due Senſe of the Honour of God and the Intereſt of the Kingdom of the Lord Jeſus, I hold it fit to bring into View all thoſe Prophecies as well of the Old as New Teſtament that have been by the Ancients underſtood of this Antichriſtian Apoſtaſie, and with an unprejudiced Freedom and Impattiality to unfold the Meaning of them. Which I hope I ſhall do with that Plainneſs and Simplicity of Evidence, offering ſo unforced, ſo eaſie and ſo natural a Senſe of things, and ſo coherent with undubitable Principles, that there is no Man that is not groſly prejudiced, but will receive full Satisfaction concerning the true Meaning of theſe Divine Oracles.

4, I muſt confeſs that it is hard to produce any Text of Scripture wherein this Apoſtatized State of the Church is undoubtedly foretold under the very Name of Antichriſt, though that Name be found more than once in the Epiſtles of St. John. But though ſome do, yet I dare not contend that this Antichriſt or Antichriſtianiſm which I have hitherto deſcribed is ſo clearly pointed at in every one of thoſe places. Not only Grotius, but Mr. Mede himſelf underſtands thoſe Antichriſts of the Pſeudo-Chriſts that our Saviour foretells of in Matthew, which ſhould ſtart up before and after the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, which was the ἐσχάτη ὥρα, the laſt Hour of the Jewiſh Common-wealth. But ἐσχάτη ὥρα ſignifying no more than καιρὸς ἔσχατος, (for עת is indifferently rendred ὥρα or καιρὸς) and the Fourth Kingdom in Daniel being the laſt, the Time of that Kingdom may be alſo intimated by ἐσχάτη ὥρα. Whence that in St. John * [My little Children, it is the laſt Hour, and as you heard ὅτι ὁ ἀντίχριστος ἔρχεται, that that famous Antichriſt will come, even now there are many Antichriſts, whereby we know it is the laſt Hour] may bear this Senſe upon Suppoſition the Prediction diction is ſomewhat Elliptically ſet down; namely, That the laſt Time in Daniel's Kalendar of his Four Kingdoms, that is to ſay, the laſt Kingdom, was then a running on, which is the Roman, during which Kingdom the Little Horn, which here is called Antichriſt, ſhall come upon the Stage. This is ὁ ἀντίχειτος (ſaith he) that famous Antichriſt whom you have heard of out of Daniel, but this is a greater Diſtance off. Wherefore to ſpeak what more nearly concerns you, Even now there are many Antichriſts, which not Daniel, but our Saviour foretold of, whereby again we know it is the laſt Hour; but I mean not of the Four Kingdoms of Daniel, but of the Jewiſh Common-wealth, according as our Lord has predicted. Or more briefly thus; My Little Children, it is the laſt Hour, that is to ſay, the laſt Kingdom of the Four, namely the Roman: and as you have heard that that famous Antichriſt will then come, viz. in that laſt Hour; ſo alſo now in the laſt Hour of the Jewiſh Polity there are many Antichriſts, whence we may aſſuredly gather it is the laſt Hour thereof, theſe many Antichriſts, according to Prediction, attending this laſt Hour, as that one famous Antichriſt that.

In ſome ſuch Senſe as this, I do confeſs that that Antichriſt or Antichriſtianiſm which I have hitherto treated of may be by very Name intimated in this Text of Scripture, though I ſhall quarrel with no Man that would interpret it otherwiſe. Grotius expounds this famous Antichriſt, of whom they might have heard, of Barchocab. But there being no Mention of any one famous Impoſtor above the reſt in our Saviour's Predictions in Matthew, it is very ſuſpicable that this Rumor was raiſed out of the Prophecy of Daniel touching that little miſchievous Horn; which certainly is a Prophetick Figure of that eximious Antichriſt that was to come.

5. The ſame Author alſo interprets τίς ὅτιν ὁ ψεύστης; of Barchocab, and renders it Quis poteſt eſſe major impoſtor? and I belive very rightly. For it were a dilute Buſineſs for the Apoſtle to deſcribe Antichriſt only by the bare Denial of Jeſus his being the Chriſt, that great King, Prieſt, and Prophet ſent of God to whom all Nations ſhould flow. For ſuch Antichriſts are all Infidels, which are innumerable. Wherefore ſuch a Denier of Chriſt is here intimated as by playing the Impoſtor and by making of himſelf Chriſt, or by putting of himſelf into the Place of the True Chriſt, which is Jeſus, denys Jeſus to be the Chriſt, and ſo by denying him, denys him that ſent him, and witneſſed of him that he was his beloved Son whom all ſhould hear. Such an Antichriſt was Barchocab eſpecially, who by making himſelf the Meſſias, did thereby plainly deny that Jeſus was he.

But as there were eximious Types of Chriſt amongſt the People of the Jews, and ſuch as one and the ſame Prophecies touch as well as Chriſt himſelf; ſo it is obvious to conceive that there might alſo Antichriſts ariſe among the ſaid People, to whom all things befell in Figures, which were Types of the famous Antichriſt in the Chriſtian Church, and that one and the ſame Text might point at both, as it is not hard to conceive that this does.

For as for that great Antichriſt which I have deſcribed in my Idea of Antichriſtianiſm, it is plain that he puts Jeſus out of his Kingly, Prieſtly, and Prophetick Office, Uſurping all that himſelf, or Conferring it upon others, as is there copiouſly declared. Wherefore he making himſelf ſo abſolute an Head of the Church, he does ipſo facto cut off Jeſus from being Head of the ſame, and thereby diſcovers himſelf to be that notorious Antichriſt in Chriſtendom; and by denying that Jeſus is that Supreme King, Prieſt, and Prophet to whom all are to liſten and obey, whoſe Decrees and Words are an immutable Law, he does thereby deny alſo the Father that ſent him, as much as any other Antichriſt amongſt the Jews can be imagined ever to have done. For which of them was ever ſaid to have profeſſed himſelf an Atheiſt?

6. Which things duely conſidered will inable us with eaſe to underſtand alſo the Meaning of what is writ in the fourth Chapter of this Epiſtle of St. John, where he ſaith, That every Spirit that confeſſes that Jeſus is the Meſſias come in the Fleſh, is of God; and every Spirit that does not confeſs that Jeſus is the Meſſias come in the Fleſh, is not of God: and this is that Spirit of Antichriſt which you have heard ſhall come, and is now already in the World. The vulgar Latin hath it, Et hic eſt Antichriſtus de quo audiſtis quoniam venit, & nunc jam in mundo eſt. Which implies they read not ὃ ἀκηκόατε, but ὃν ἀκηκόατε ὅτι ἔρχεται, Of which Antichriſt you have heard that he ſhall come, And he adds, καὶ νῦν ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ ἐστὶν ἤδη, like that of St. Paul, Τὸ γὰρ μυστήριον ἤδη ἐνεργεῖται τῆς ἀνομίας· where the Futurity of a more notorious Antichriſt is not excluded in neither Place. In this Paſſage of St. John, Grotius again underſtands the Impoſtor Barchocab; but the Ancients, even the Romaniſts themſelves, the famous Antichriſt tichriſt of the Fathers. Whence it is confeſſedly true both from Grotius and the Romaniſts, that ſuch a Denier of Jeſus his being the Meſſias or Chriſt come in the Fleſh is underſtood as is an Impoſtor, and boaſts himſelf to be that Chriſt, whereby he plainly denies Jeſus to be him; as I noted upon the former Text.

And the Senſe of both may be this, namely, That whereas thoſe to whom St. John wrote had received a Rumour or Fame of that eximious Antichriſt that was to come into the World in the laſt time, occaſioned (I doubt not) from Daniel's Prophecies of the little Horn and of that King of Pride that would exalt himſelf above all; the Event of theſe Prophecies being further off, though at laſt certainly to come, he fixes their Minds upon ſuch Antichriſts as were nearer at hand; and who, though but the Types and Figures of that great Antichriſt to come ſome Ages after, were yet of more Concernment to them to take Notice of: but in the interim deſcribes Antichriſt ſo, that though it does more palpably point at theſe Types of the future Antichriſt, yet the Deſcription, more narrowly ſearched into, takes faſt hold alſo on that great Antichriſt himſelf, foraſmuch as it is implied, that it is One who by way of Impoſture puts himſelf into the Place of Jeſus, who is the true Chriſt, that King, Prieſt and Prophet appointed by God, to whom all muſt ſubmit. Which not only Barchocab and ſuch falſe Meſſiaſſes in the Jewiſh Common-wealth have done, but he that has ſo made himſelf the Head of the Church as to null the Laws and Doctrines of Chriſt is deprehended to do the like alſo.

7. I muſt confeſs the Oppoſition and Intruſion of this grand Antichriſt among Chriſtians is more oblique and more ſubtil, than the Claim of thoſe falſe Meſſiaſſes amongſt the Jews: but we are withal to take Notice that the Chriſtians Meſſias or Chriſt is more ſpiritual than what the Jews expected, and therefore it is no Wonder that their Antichriſt be of another Nature; not a groſs and violent Invader of the Empire of Chriſt, but a more cunning Impoſtor and inſinuating Hypocrite who ſhould pretend that whatever he has to do was in Order to the Spiritual Kingdom of Chriſt.

Nor are we to marvel that Chriſtendom has been ſo ſlow-ſighted in diſcovering this Antichriſt after he was come; the ſame thing happening to them that did formerly befall the Jews, who could not diſcern their Meſſias even then when he daily converſed before their Eyes. For both theſe Miſtakes aroſe from a like Prejudice and falſe Prenotion of things: the Jews decyphering in their Minds ſuch a Meſſias as ſhould conquer Kingdoms for them, and make them a rich and potent People upon Earth; (ſo craſs and external a Conceit had they of his Power and Office) and the Chriſtians prefiguring ſuch an Antichriſt as would caſt away the external Profeſſion of Chriſt, and directly and profeſſedly oppoſe him in his Kingdom.

8. But fraudulent and hypocritical Oppoſition is as true and a more miſchievous Oppoſition than that which is open and direct. And he that calls another Lord and King, but profeſſes at the ſame time that he has a Power of abrogating his Laws, and of making what Laws he liſts himſelf, and of forcing this Prince's Subjects to obey them, this Man has really made himſelf King. And therefore he that takes upon him the Power to null the Laws of Chriſt, and makes new ones of his own for the Rule of Chriſtendom, he in like Manner makes himſelf Chriſt, and is a more eminent Antichriſt than Barchocab, whom Grotius would bear us in Hand to be the Man indigitated by St. John in theſe Words, The Antichriſt of whom you have heard that he ſhall come; whenas I have already noted that they had no News of any one eminent Antichriſt but from the little Horn in Daniel, and that King of Pride that exalts himſelf above all that is called God.

And truly all thoſe dreadful Particularities compriſed in the Deſcription of Antichriſt in St. John will be found in this Man of Sin. For in making himſelf Chriſt, which he certainly does interpretatively, he does therewithal deny Jeſus to be him, who is the Giver of a Law indiſpenſable by any Power upon Earth, his Decrees being the Decrees of the Eternal Son of God. Wherefore he that takes upon him the Power of contradicting, of nulling and diſpenſing with theſe Doctrines and Decrees, does thereby deny that Jeſus is the Son of God; and he that denies the Son, denies alſo the Father that ſent Him.

This Senſe, I think, will appear very plain to any indifferent Judgment; and I need not inſiſt any longer thereon, having intimated ſomething to the ſame Purpoſe before. Only I will ſuggeſt how ordinary it is in Scripture to charge the Sinner directly with what he perpetrates but interpretatively. As where God ſays, the Iſraelites did not ſacrifice to Him in the Wilderneſs: which is true only interpretatively, foraſmuch as they ſacrificed alſo to other Gods, and ſo did not ſacrifice to Jehovah the true God, He

Amos 5. 25. See Idea Antichriſt. Book 2. chap. 6. ſect 6.

*

He being ſo matchleſs a Perfection that he is uncapable of any Corrival or Copartner in Religious Worſhip; which they doing to others, they interpretatively diſowned Jehovah to be what he was, and therefore ſacrificed not to him, no not when they pretended it, but to a Figment of their own Fancy. So Jeremy accuſes the Jews of ſuch Stupidity as if they had ſaid to a Stock, Thou art my Father, and to a Stone, Thou haſt begotten me: which Charge notwithſtanding is only true interpretatively, foraſmuch as they did Religious Worſhip to Stocks and Stones, and thereby acknowledged them to be God, the Father of all Mankind and Creator of the World. And laſtly, in this very Epiſtle St. John ſays that he that denies that Jeſus is the Chriſt, denies both the Father and the Son. But who ever heard that Barchocab or any other Jewiſh Pſeudo-chriſt directly denied God that was the Father of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt? Several like Examples occur in Scripture, which are ſo obvious that it is needleſs to produce them. Theſe may ſerve for a Pledge of the Reaſonableneſs of our Interpretation. Jer. 2. 27.

9. But ſuppoſe we ſhould give up this Cauſe for loſt as to St. John's Epiſtle, and acknowledge that this eminent Antichriſt, that has reigned thus long in Chriſtendom, is not pointed at in any Place of that Writing; it will follow, I confeſs, that this Antichriſtian Power which we have ſo amply deſcribed in our other Treatiſe is no where in Scripture called Antichriſt; and ſo that corrupt High-prieſt with his apoſtatizing Clergy will be exempted from the Infamy of being branded with that very Name by the Finger of God himſelf: but in the mean time I cannot but deem this as ridiculous a Piece of Niceneſs and Shyneſs thus to abhor from Names, when the things thereby ſignified are ſo conſpicuous in the Party, as if ſome Monſter of Men of twelve Cubits Stature ſhould conceive a great Indignation at the being called Gigas, but think himſelf not at all injured by the Appellation of Dodecapechys; whenas a Man on this Side of twelve Cubits Stature may fitly and juſtly be ſtyled Giant.

But for my own Part, I think it was more for compendium than for any greater Diſgracefulneſs of the Title, that that Perſon or Body politick which was really become Antichriſtian was vulgarly called Antichriſt, rather than The Whore of Babylon, The two horned Beaſt, The Man of Sin, and the like; which Titles are no leſs odious, though leſs compendious. And it is obſervable that thoſe Texts of Scripture, upon which the ancient Fathers have written, a Prophecy of Antichriſt, let us ſuppoſe them to have fetched the Title from whence you will, (though I doubt not but they had it from this Epiſtle of St. John) are to Admiration fit and applicable to thoſe Events we ſee before our Eyes in the Roman Hierarchy.

If therefore we will ſtand to the Nomenclature of the ancients, thoſe Prophecies which they interpreted of Antichriſt being found plainly and undoubtedly to concern that degenerate Body of Chriſtendom, there is all Reaſon that the ſaid Body with the Head thereof ſhould be noted by that more general and compendious Appellation.

10. But for the making out that wonderful Fitneſs and Applicableneſs of theſe Prophecies, it is a Buſineſs more operoſe and laborious, and will be the more ſucceſsfully attempted if we prepare the Way by ſome Conſiderations concerning the Obſcurity of the Prophetick Style, eſpecially in Daniel and the Apocalyps; as namely, Wherefore this Obſcurity is, and then, Wherein it conſiſts, and laſtly, What is the beſt Way to clear and familiarize the ſame unto us.

tichriſt of the Fathers. Whence it is confeſſedly true both from Grotius and the Romaniſts, that ſuch a Denier of Jeſus his being the Meſſias or Chriſt come in the Fleſh is underſtood as is an Impoſtor, and boaſts himſelf to be that Chriſt, whereby he plainly denies Jeſus to be him; as I noted upon the former Text.

And the Senſe of both may be this, namely, That whereas thoſe to whom St. John wrote had received a Rumour or Fame of that eximious Antichriſt that was to come into the World in the laſt time, occaſioned (I doubt not) from Daniel's Prophecies of the little Horn and of that King of Pride that would exalt himſelf above all; the Event of theſe Prophecies being further off, though at laſt certainly to come, he fixes their Minds upon ſuch Antichriſts as were nearer at hand; and who, though but the Types and Figures of that great Antichriſt to come ſome Ages after, were yet of more Concernment to them to take Notice of: but in the interim deſcribes Antichriſt ſo, that though it does more palpably point at theſe Types of the future Antichriſt, yet the Deſcription, more narrowly ſearched into, takes faſt hold alſo on that great Antichriſt himſelf, foraſmuch as it is implied, that it is One who by way of Impoſture puts himſelf into the Place of Jeſus, who is the true Chriſt, that King, Prieſt and Prophet appointed by God, to whom all muſt ſubmit. Which not only Barchocab and ſuch falſe Meſſiaſſes in the Jewiſh Common-wealth have done, but he that has ſo made himſelf the Head of the Church as to null the Laws and Doctrines of Chriſt is deprehended to do the like alſo.

7. I muſt confeſs the Oppoſition and Intruſion of this grand Antichriſt among Chriſtians is more oblique and more ſubtil, than the Claim of thoſe falſe Meſſiaſſes amongſt the Jews: but we are withal to take Notice that the Chriſtians Meſſias or Chriſt is more ſpiritual than what the Jews expected, and therefore it is no Wonder that their Antichriſt be of another Nature; not a groſs and violent Invader of the Empire of Chriſt, but a more cunning Impoſtor and inſinuating Hypocrite who ſhould pretend that whatever he has to do was in Order to the Spiritual Kingdom of Chriſt.

Nor are we to marvel that Chriſtendom has been ſo ſlow-ſighted in diſcovering this Antichriſt after he was come; the ſame thing happening to them that did formerly befall the Jews, who could not diſcern their Meſſias even then when he daily converſed before their Eyes. For both theſe Miſtakes aroſe from a like Prejudice and falſe Prenotion of things: the Jews decyphering in their Minds ſuch a Meſſias as ſhould conquer Kingdoms for them, and make them a rich and potent People upon Earth; (ſo craſs and external a Conceit had they of his Power and Office) and the Chriſtians prefiguring ſuch an Antichriſt as would caſt away the external Profeſſion of Chriſt, and directly and profeſſedly oppoſe him in his Kingdom.

8. But fraudulent and hypocritical Oppoſition is as true and a more miſchievous Oppoſition than that which is open and direct. And he that calls another Lord and King, but profeſſes at the ſame time that he has a Power of abrogating his Laws, and of making what Laws he liſts himſelf, and of forcing this Prince's Subjects to obey them, this Man has really made himſelf King. And therefore he that takes upon him the Power to null the Laws of Chriſt, and makes new ones of his own for the Rule of Chriſtendom, he in like Manner makes himſelf Chriſt, and is a more eminent Antichriſt than Barchocab, whom Grotius would bear us in Hand to be the Man indigitated by St. John in theſe Words, The Antichriſt of whom you have heard that he ſhall come; whenas I have already noted that they had no News of any one eminent Antichriſt but from the little Horn in Daniel, and that King of Pride that exalts himſelf above all that is called God.

And truly all thoſe dreadful Particularities compriſed in the Deſcription of Antichriſt in St. John will be found in this Man of Sin. For in making himſelf Chriſt, which he certainly does interpretatively, he does therewithal deny Jeſus to be him, who is the Giver of a Law indiſpenſable by any Power upon Earth, his Decrees being the Decrees of the Eternal Son of God. Wherefore he that takes upon him the Power of contradicting, of nulling and diſpenſing with theſe Doctrines and Decrees, does thereby deny that Jeſus is the Son of God; and he that denies the Son, denies alſo the Father that ſent Him.

This Senſe, I think, will appear very plain to any indifferent Judgment; and I need not inſiſt any longer thereon, having intimated ſomething to the ſame Purpoſe before. Only I will ſuggeſt how ordinary it is in Scripture to charge the Sinner directly with what he perpetrates but interpretatively. As where God ſays, the Iſraelites did not ſacrifice to Him in the Wilderneſs: which is true only interpretatively, foraſmuch as they ſacrificed alſo to other Gods, and ſo did not ſacrifice to Jehovah the true God, He

Amos 5. 25. See Idea Antichriſt. Book 2. chap. 6. ſect 6.

He being ſo matchleſs a Perfection that he is uncapable of any Corrival or Copartner in Religious Worſhip; which they doing to others, they interpretatively diſowned Jehovah to be what he was, and therefore ſacrificed not to him, no not when they pretended it, but to a Figment of their own Fancy. So Jeremy accuſes the Jews of ſuch Stupidity as if they had ſaid to a Stock, Thou art my Father, and to a Stone, Thou haſt begotten me: which Charge notwithſtanding is only true interpretatively, foraſmuch as they did Religious Worſhip to Stocks and Stones, and thereby acknowledged them to be God, the Father of all Mankind and Creator of the World. And laſtly, in this very Epiſtle St. John ſays that he that denies that Jeſus is the Chriſt, denies both the Father and the Son. But who ever heard that Barchocab or any other Jewiſh Pſeudo-chriſt directly denied God that was the Father of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt? Several like Examples occur in Scripture, which are ſo obvious that it is needleſs to produce them. Theſe may ſerve for a Pledge of the Reaſonableneſs of our Interpretation. Jer. 2. 27.

9. But ſuppoſe we ſhould give up this Cauſe for loſt as to St. John's Epiſtle, and acknowledge that this eminent Antichriſt, that has reigned thus long in Chriſtendom, is not pointed at in any Place of that Writing; it will follow, I confeſs, that this Antichriſtian Power which we have ſo amply deſcribed in our other Treatiſe is no where in Scripture called Antichriſt; and ſo that corrupt High-prieſt with his apoſtatizing Clergy will be exempted from the Infamy of being branded with that very Name by the Finger of God himſelf: but in the mean time I cannot but deem this as ridiculous a Piece of Niceneſs and Shyneſs thus to abhor from Names, when the things thereby ſignified are ſo conſpicuous in the Party, as if ſome Monſter of Men of twelve Cubits Stature ſhould conceive a great Indignation at the being called Gigas, but think himſelf not at all injured by the Appellation of Dodecapechys; whenas a Man on this Side of twelve Cubits Stature may fitly and juſtly be ſtyled Giant.

But for my own Part, I think it was more for compendium than for any greater Diſgracefulneſs of the Title, that that Perſon or Body politick which was really become Antichriſtian was vulgarly called Antichriſt, rather than The Whore of Babylon, The two horned Beaſt, The Man of Sin, and the like; which Titles are no leſs odious, though leſs compendious. And it is obſervable that thoſe Texts of Scripture, upon which the ancient Fathers have written, a Prophecy of Antichriſt, let us ſuppoſe them to have fetched the Title from whence you will, (though I doubt not but they had it from this Epiſtle of St. John) are to Admiration fit and applicable to thoſe Events we ſee before our Eyes in the Roman Hierachy.

If therefore we will ſtand to the Nomenclature of the ancients, thoſe Prophecies which they interpreted of Antichriſt being found plainly and undoubtedly to concern that degenerate Body of Chriſtendom, there is all Reaſon that the ſaid Body with the Head thereof ſhould be noted by that more general and compendious Appellation.

10. But for the making out that wonderful Fitneſs and Applicableneſs of theſe Prophecies, it is a Buſineſs more operoſe and laborious, and will be the more ſucceſsfully attempted if we prepare the Way by ſome Conſiderations concerning the Obſcurity of the Prophetick Style, eſpecially in Daniel and the Apocalyps; as namely, Wherefore this Obſcurity is, and then, Wherein it conſiſts, and laſtly, What is the beſt Way to clear and familiarize the ſame unto us.

* CHAP.

CHAP. II.

1. Why Prophecies are wrapt up in ſome conſiderable Obſcurity. 2. An indiſpenſable Neceſſity of theſe Kinds of Involutions in Regard of Man's free Will. 3. As alſo in Regard of the Enemies of the Church, both Men and Devils. 4. A Recital of ſuch Schemes and Figures wherein this Obſcurity does moſt-what conſiſt. 5. What Dioriſmus is, with ſeveral Examples of numeral Dioriſms. 6. That it ſeems moſt ſafe to expound the * five Months of the Locuſts according to this Figure. 7. The Reaſon of the Uſe of numeral Dioriſms. 8. From whence alſo ſome Light is offered toward the Underſtanding the Reaſon of the uncertain Deſignation of * ἡτοιμασμένοι εἰς τὴν ὥραν καὶ ἡμέραν καὶ μῆνα καὶ ἐνιαυτόν. 9. Examples of Proportional Dioriſms. 10. As alſo of Specifical Ones.

* Rev. 9. 5. & 10.

* Verſ. 15.

1. THat Prophecies are delivered in obſure Ambages, we need neither admire, nor ought to complain, there being ſo evident Reaſon for it and ſo juſt. For it is very fit that that Knowledge that is ſo far removed above humane Capacity ſhould be received with that humble and profound Veneration, which Obſcurity and Myſteriouſneſs conciliates to all Truths, but is moſt due to them that are the greateſt and the moſt beyond our natural Reach, as this of Prophecy is. Beſides that this Obſcurity does not a little bridle or oppoſe that Precipitant Fervour and Heat wherewith Men are uſually carried to the Knowledge of things to come. Which though it fall to the Shares of very few to be immediate Receivers of; yet if any one be, all Men are ready to throng and croud to him, out of that natural Curioſity and Deſire of being inſtructed concerning future Events. Upon which fiery and prurient Itch after the Knowledge of Futurities Providence has caſt this Bridle of hard and Ænigmatical Uttering of Prophetical Predictions; as he has the Laws of natural Shame and Modeſty, beſides ſuperinduced Inſtitutes of Religion and humane Policy, upon that impetuous Propenſion of experimenting the Pleaſures of the Nuptial Bed, that ſo ſtrong Inclinations may not be gratified without the Ceremony of ſome tedious Attendance and Expectation thereof. And certainly it may be that this Expectation and Hope, being a Kind of Prelibation of Enjoyment, may in both Caſes lengthen out the Pleaſure.

2. But there is alſo a great Neceſſity of this Obſurity which we have not yet hinted, and that is, That theſe Divine Predictions concerning the Church of God may not be eaſily or at all underſtood by thoſe that are to be the Fulfillers of them, till the appointed time come, when it may be without Prejudice to the true Church; that is to ſay, That things are not to be ſo clearly prefigured as would bear too hard againſt that free Principle in Man whereby he does (unleſs thus miraculouſly called to from Heaven) determine his Ways according to his own Pleaſure. For ſo plain a Divine Prediction as ſhould certainly inform the Party that he ſhould do ſuch an Act as would tend to his Shame and Deſtruction, or be a Badge or Mark conſpicuous and infallible to all the World that he was that odious Perſon that ſo ill a Fate muſt attend; would without all doubt (unleſs God ſhould uſe a ſtrong Force upon him to make him fulfil the Prophecy) cauſe him to decline the Fulfilling of it merely for his own Honour and Security, and make him omit any ſuch Circumſtances as he is prefigured by, to the End that he may deface the Characteriſticks of his own Perſon in the Prophecy.

As for Example, If St, John had ſaid expreſly, that by the Two-horned Beaſt and by The Whore of Babylon he did underſtand a Succeſſion of Biſhops of Rome with their whole Hierarchy adhering thereunto; it would be an hard thing to conceive that this Oecumenical Prelate would not, to hide his Shame, have been tempted to change his Seven-hilled See, that he might not ſeem to be the Man at whom the Prophecy pointed. At leaſt they would never have wrote Myſterium upon the Pope's Crown, as it is on the Whore of Babylon, if they had been aware that his Holineſs had been ſo much concerned in that Viſion. Nor can we imagin that, if inſtead of Six hundred Sixty ſix, Twenty five had been ſaid to be the Number of the Beaſt, the Church of Rome would have affected that Number ſo much as they have. And many more ſuch Inſtances may be produced.

But God could hardly be ſaid to leave Man in the Hand of his own Counſel, and let him act freely according to his own Nature, if he ſhould have uttered theſe Divine

Oracles concerning future things in ſo plain and naked a Manner, and yet brought about the fulfilling of them.

3. Beſides this, The Knowledge of future things concerning the Church communicated to the Enemies thereof may tend to her Prejudice; it being ordinarily unſafe to let an Adverſary get Intelligence of our Conſultations and Purpoſes.

Which is not only true in Reſpect of Men, but of thoſe inviſible Enemies of the Church, who ever attempt her and oppoſe her under the Conduct of the Prince of the Powers of the Air, who are the great Abettors and Aſſiſters of the Children of Diſobedience. An eximious Inſtance whereof is that taken Notice of by Mr. Mede out of St. Auſtine; How the Devil (who of old had ſo much Skill in Mathematicks as to puzzle the Athenians by the Problem of doubling the Cube) computing the Proportion betwxit the outward Court of the Temple and the Inward, which it ſeems he found to be as 1260 to 365, or thereabout, preſently concluded, That Chriſtianity would continue but 365 Years in the World, and that then Paganiſm would up again: And therefore adorning the Credit of his own Oracles by this ſtoln, but miſunderſtood, Prediction out of the Apocalyps, gave it out accordingly, that thereby he might hinder Men's Converſion to the Faith of Chriſt. Which I think is Argument enough to perſwade us how neceſſary it is that the Holy Prophecies ſhould be wrapt up in Ænigmatical Coverings, and be made of uncertain Interpretation by undeterminable Lubricities, till either Events, or ſome faithful Interpreter more than ordinarily aſſiſted by God, ſhall give their clear Solution.

4. Now for the Art of obſcuring Predictions wherein it conſiſts; though I will not undertake the Declaration of the whole, yet I will bring in as great a Share thereof as may, at leaſt, ſuffice for our preſent Deſign: which I ſhall compriſe in the Explication of theſe few prophetick Figures or Schemes, which I will venture to call Dioriſmus, Hylaſmus, Henopœia, Zoopœia, Iſraeliſmus, Ellipſis, Metalepſis, Homonymia, Paronomaſia, Antichroniſmus, Icaſmus; moſt of which do as well embelliſh and adorn the external Cortex of Prophecies, as conceal and cover the more precious and inward Senſe of them.

5. Dioriſmus is ſuch a Scheme of the Prophetick Style as poliſhes the outward Letter with an appearing Senſe of a very exact and determinate Account of things either as to Number, Proportion, or Specification. Which does the more ſtrongly ſtrike the Fancy, as an Object ſettled and unmoved makes a ſtronger Impreſs upon the Sight than that which is flitting, as ordinary Experience tells us. So any determinate Conception does more vigorouſly and palpably affect the Mind than what is more general and undeterminate.

An Example of the firſt Kind of this Figure I conceive is that, Apocal. 2. Ye ſhall have the Affliction of ten Days. Where I muſt confeſs I could never imagin that ſpoken otherwiſe than figuratively by a Dioriſmus, (ſo long as I did literally underſtand theſe Epiſtles) and to be a modeſt Subinſinuation of the moſt perfect and full Perſecution, as is intimated from the following Words, Be thou faithful unto Death, &c. See Vatablus and Druſius upon the Place, who produces ſeveral Examples of Ten being put for Many. Which Senſe if the Ten Horns on the Beaſt be ſuppoſed to have, there is no Abſurdity in admitting that Meaning; though I do not condemn their Induſtry that are ſo ſolicitous to find juſt Ten and no more. For it may the more potently convince the obſtinate, while others may be ſatisfied that that Condition is only intimated of the Empire when it was divided into a conſiderable Number of Kingdoms or Principalities enjoying Sovereign Power within themſelves.

And that the Hundred fourty four Thouſand with the Lamb on Mount Sion are not to be conceived juſt ſo many or ſo few, any one will grant that obſerves that the Number 144 is only the Square of 12, and therefore, according to the Mode of the ancient Cabbala, ſignifies ſymbolically the Apoſtolicalneſs of that Company, but not their determinate Number, no more than 666 the Number of them that follow the Beaſt.

I ſuſpect alſo that thoſe 7000 Names of Men ſaid to be ſlain in that great Earthquake, Apocal. 11. is ſpoken only by Way of a prophetick Dioriſmus; but what the genuin Senſe is I ſhall take Notice in its proper Place.

I will caſt in a fourth Example: The 1260 Days, they being but the Diduction of thoſe larger Meaſures of three Times and an half, or of forty two Months, into more numerous Parts, it is not irrational to ſuſpect that it was rather for the varying of the Phraſe and for the poliſhing of the external Frame of the Prophecy by ſuch a determinate numbring of thoſe times or Months into 1260 Days, than that it

CHAP. II.

1. Why Prophecies are wrapt up in ſome conſiderable Obſcurity. 2. An indiſpenſable Neceſſity of theſe Kinds of Involutions in Regard of Man's free Will. 3. As alſo in Regard of the Enemies of the Church, both Men and Devils. 4. A Recital of ſuch Schemes and Figures wherein this Obſcurity does moſt-what conſiſt. 5. What Diorismus is, with ſeveral Examples of numeral Diorisms. 6. That it ſeems moſt ſafe to expound the * five Months of the Locuſts according to this Figure. 7. The Reaſon of the Uſe of numeral Diorisms. 8. From whence alſo ſome Light is offered toward the Underſtanding the Reaſon of the uncertain Deſignation of * ἡτοιμασμένοι εἰς τὴν ὥραν καὶ ἡμέραν καὶ μῆνα καὶ ἐνιαυτόν. 9. Examples of Proportional Diorisms. 10. As alſo of Specifical Ones.

* Rev. 9. 5. & 10.

* Verſ. 15.

1. THat Prophecies are delivered in obſure Ambages, we need neither admire, nor ought to complain, there being ſo evident Reaſon for it and ſo juſt. For it is very fit that that Knowledge that is ſo far removed above humane Capacity ſhould be received with that humble and profound Veneration, which Obſcurity and Myſteriouſneſs conciliates to all Truths, but is moſt due to them that are the greateſt and the moſt beyond our natural Reach, as this of Prophecy is. Beſides that this Obſcurity does not a little bridle or oppoſe that Precipitant Fervour and Heat wherewith Men are uſually carried to the Knowledge of things to come. Which though it fall to the Shares of very few to be immediate Receivers of; yet if any one be, all Men are ready to throng and croud to him, out of that natural Curioſity and Deſire of being inſtructed concerning future Events. Upon which fiery and prurient Itch after the Knowledge of Futurities Providence has caſt this Bridle of hard and Ænigmatical Uttering of Prophetical Predictions; as he has the Laws of natural Shame and Modeſty, beſides ſuperinduced Inſtitutes of Religion and humane Policy, upon that impetuous Propenſion of experimenting the Pleaſures of the Nuptial Bed, that ſo ſtrong Inclinations may not be gratified without the Ceremony of ſome tedious Attendance and Expectation thereof. And certainly it may be that this Expectation and Hope, being a Kind of Prelibation of Enjoyment, may in both Caſes lengthen out the Pleaſure.

2. But there is alſo a great Neceſſity of this Obſurity which we have not yet hinted, and that is, That theſe Divine Predictions concerning the Church of God may not be eaſily, or at all underſtood by thoſe that are to be the Fulfillers of them, till the appointed time come, when it may be without Prejudice to the true Church; that is to ſay, That things are not to be ſo clearly prefigured as would bear too hard againſt that free Principle in Man whereby he does (unleſs thus miraculouſly called to from Heaven) determine his Ways according to his own Pleaſure. For ſo plain a Divine Prediction as ſhould certainly inform the Party that he ſhould do ſuch an Act as would tend to his Shame and Deſtruction, or be a Badge or Mark conſpicuous and infallible to all the World that he was that odious Perſon that ſo ill a Fate muſt attend; would without all doubt (unleſs God ſhould uſe a ſtrong Force upon him to make him fulfil the Prophecy) cauſe him to decline the Fulfilling of it merely for his own Honour and Security, and make him omit any ſuch Circumſtances as he is prefigured by, to the End that he may deface the Characteriſticks of his own Perſon in the Prophecy.

As for Example, If St, John had ſaid expreſly, that by the Two-horned Beaſt and by The Whore of Babylon he did underſtand a Succeſſion of Biſhops of Rome with their whole Hierarchy adhering thereunto; it would be an hard thing to conceive that this Oecumenical Prelate would not, to hide his Shame, have been tempted to change his Seven-hilled See, that he might not ſeem to be the Man at whom the Prophecy pointed. At leaſt they would never have wrote Myſterium upon the Pope's Crown, as it is on the Whore of Babylon, if they had been aware that his Holineſs had been ſo much concerned in that Viſion. Nor can we imagin that, if inſtead of Six hundred Sixty ſix, Twenty five had been ſaid to be the Number of the Beaſt, the Church of Rome would have affected that Number ſo much as they have. And many more ſuch Inſtances may be produced.

But God could hardly be ſaid to leave Man in the Hand of his own Counſel, and let him act freely according to his own Nature, if he ſhould have uttered theſe Divine

*

Oracles concerning future things in ſo plain and naked a Manner, and yet brought about the fulfilling of them.

3. Beſides this, The Knowledge of future things concerning the Church communicated to the Enemies thereof may tend to her Prejudice; it being ordinarily unſafe to let an Adverſary get Intelligence of our Conſultations and Purpoſes.

Which is not only true in Reſpect of Men, but of thoſe inviſible Enemies of the Church, who ever attempt her and oppoſe her under the Conduct of the Prince of the Powers of the Air, who are the great Abettors and Aſſiſters of the Children of Diſobedience. An eximious Inſtance whereof is that taken Notice of by Mr. Mede out of St. Auſtine; How the Devil (who of old had ſo much Skill in Mathematicks as to puzzle the Athenians by the Problem of doubling the Cube) computing the Proportion betwxit the outward Court of the Temple and the Inward, which it ſeems he found to be as 1260 to 365, or thereabout, preſently concluded, That Chriſtianity would continue but 365 Years in the World, and that then Paganiſm would up again: And therefore adorning the Credit of his own Oracles by this ſtoln, but miſunderſtood, Prediction out of the Apocalyps, gave it out accordingly, that thereby he might hinder Men's Converſion to the Faith of Chriſt. Which I think is Argument enough to perſwade us how neceſſary it is that the Holy Prophecies ſhould be wrapt up in Ænigmatical Coverings, and be made of uncertain Interpretation by undeterminable Lubricities, till either Events, or ſome faithful Interpreter more than ordinarily aſſiſted by God, ſhall give their clear Solution.

4. Now for the Art of obſcuring Predictions wherein it conſiſts; though I will not undertake the Declaration of the whole, yet I will bring in as great a Share thereof as may, at leaſt, ſuffice for our preſent Deſign: which I ſhall compriſe in the Explication of theſe few prophetick Figures or Schemes, which I will venture to call Dioriſmus, Hylaſmus, Henopœia, Zoopœia, Iſraeliſmus, Ellipſis, Metalepſis, Homonymia, Paronomaſia, Antichroniſmus, Icaſmus; moſt of which do as well embelliſh and adorn the external Cortex of Prophecies, as conceal and cover the more precious and inward Senſe of them.

5. Dioriſmus is ſuch a Scheme of the Prophetick Style as poliſhes the outward Letter with an appearing Senſe of a very exact and determinate Account of things either as to Number, Proportion, or Specification. Which does the more ſtrongly ſtrike the Fancy, as an Object ſettled and unmoved makes a ſtronger Impreſs upon the Sight than that which is flitting, as ordinary Experience tells us. So any determinate Conception does more vigorouſly and palpably affect the Mind than what is more general and undeterminate.

An Example of the firſt Kind of this Figure I conceive is that, Apocal. 2. Ye ſhall have the Affliction of ten Days. Where I muſt confeſs I could never imagin that ſpoken otherwiſe than figuratively by a Dioriſmus, (ſo long as I did literally underſtand theſe Epiſtles) and to be a modeſt Subinſinuation of the moſt perfect and full Perſecution, as is intimated from the following Words, Be thou faithful unto Death, &c. See Vatablus and Druſius upon the Place, who produces ſeveral Examples of Ten being put for Many. Which Senſe if the Ten Horns on the Beaſt be ſuppoſed to have, there is no Abſurdity in admitting that Meaning; though I do not condemn their Induſtry that are ſo ſolicitous to find juſt Ten and no more. For it may the more potently convince the obſtinate, while others may be ſatisfied that that Condition is only intimated of the Empire when it was divided into a conſiderable Number of Kingdoms or Principalities enjoying Sovereign Power within themſelves.

And that the Hundred fourty four Thouſand with the Lamb on Mount Sion are not to be conceived juſt ſo many or ſo few, any one will grant that obſerves that the Number 144 is only the Square of 12, and therefore, according to the Mode of the ancient Cabbala, ſignifies ſymbolically the Apoſtolicalneſs of that Company, but not their determinate Number, no more than 666 the Number of them that follow the Beaſt.

I ſuſpect alſo that thoſe 7000 Names of Men ſaid to be ſlain in that great Earthquake, Apocal. 11. is ſpoken only by Way of a prophetick Dioriſmus; but what the genuin Senſe is I ſhall take Notice in its proper Place.

I will caſt in a fourth Example: The 1260 Days, they being but the Diduction of thoſe larger Meaſures of three Times and an half, or of forty two Months, into more numerous Parts, it is not irrational to ſuſpect that it was rather for the varying of the Phraſe and for the poliſhing of the external Frame of the Prophecy by ſuch a determinate numbring of thoſe times or Months into 1260 Days, than that it did challenge our Expectation to be ſatisfied to a Prophetick Day wherein the Event foretold ſhould happen; one Day in ſo many, and in Matters of ſo voluminous a Tranſaction, being not conſiderable and of ſmall Uſe, the Epocha alſo being uncertain from whence the time exactly is to commence. Beſides what Mr. Mede has hinted, that varying of the time into Months and into Days reſpects the Works of Light and the Works of Darkneſs: and therefore their Continuance who are under the Principality of Light is reckoned by Days; but theirs who are under the Principality of Darkneſs, the Moon being the Governeſs of the Night, is reckoned by Months.

Wherefore a Man might not without Ground imagin that there may be a Latitude of reckoning in this Solution of the Three Times and an half, or the forty two Months, into one hundred and twenty ſix Decads of Days, as well as there is in thoſe Times and Months; and that any Variation, above or within, that exceeds not a Decad, breaks no Squares; Divine Prophecies being not for the Oſtentation of God's Omniſciency, (for who knows not but that he can compute Events to the ſmalleſt Moment of an Hour?) nor yet for the gratifying of the Exceſs of humane Curioſity, but for the Uſe and Exerciſe of his Church.

The Witneſſes alſo lying unburied in the Streets of the great City three Days and an half is an eximious Example of this Numeral Dioriſm; but the Meaning may be the ſame with three times and an half, as I have elſewhere intimated.

Rev. 9, 6. And laſtly, the five Months allotted to the Locuſts for tormenting Men, I muſt confeſs upon better Conſideration I do ſuſpect to be a Dioriſmus alſo, and to ſignifie merely ſymbolically, not Arithmetically. For the Continuation of the Saracenical Kingdom (I mean of that more notable Interval thereof from the Beginning of the Caliphate of the Abaſidæ at Bagdad to the taking of that City by Togrulbeck) is neither exactly twice five Months of Years; nor this doubling of the five Months ſufficiently grounded from the time being twice mentioned in the Prophecy, (for the mentioning of the ſame Number twice in Prophecy or Hiſtory does not warrant the Addition of them to make up a new Sum, as if it were a Bill of Particulars;) nor, laſtly, is it likely that the Spirit of God would indigitate three hundred Years by thoſe twice five Months, whenas the Duration of the Saracens Empire was much longer, as well as the Continuation of the Caliphate at Bagdad not adequate.

See Mr. Mede's Comment Apocalypt. upon Chap. 9.

That Infeſtation of Italy by the Saracens from the Year 830 to 980 had been more plauſible, if it had been commenſurate; but it extends beyond the Year 980. For Anno 1001 the Saracens are expelled Capua by Otho, and in the next Year they beſiege Salernum, in the Year 1008 they are raiſed from the Siege of Barium and Capua, in the Year 1017 they invade Italy again; beſides other Fights and Troubles afterwards.

But this is enough to ſhew, That five Months of Years will not be well applicable to their Moleſtation of Italy neither, though I think Mr. Mede has made things look as handſomely as they are capable of. But the Attempt was as well needleſs as unſucceſsful. For there is exactly no determinate Time intended by theſe five Months, but it is only an elegant Dioriſm reſpecting the Type, which are Locuſts, whoſe Continuance in Life not reaching to the Space of a Year, it was fit, by an Antichroniſmus, to number by Months. And what Number fitter than Five? Not only becauſe it may be a Symbol of Incompleteneſs, (as Ribera ſuggeſts, and thoſe Locuſts are ſaid only to Torment, not Kill) but alſo in reſpect of the Length of their Life, which, according to Plinie, Ariſtotle, and other Naturaliſts, is in all likelihood about five Months. So that the Solution of the Myſtery of theſe Numbers is not merely into ſuch an Antichroniſmus, where the figurative Number will determinate the true, but alſo into a Dioriſmus, where this Accuracy is expreſſed in the Cortex, but not intended in the inward Meaning. Which Scheme is here uſed with a ſpecial Elegancy by Reaſon of the Reflection it has upon the noted Time of the Continuance of thoſe Creatures which are the Type.

7. But why theſe kind of Dioriſms are made uſe of, and why there is not the ſame Accuracy in the inſide of theſe Prophecies as there is engraven on the outſide, is a Problem too curious to enquire into, but not altogether inextricable with thoſe that are well aſſured of the Cabbaliſtick Style, and alſo throughly conſider how ſhy Providence is of bearing too hard againſt that free Principle in Man, by neceſſarily determining what is more naturally left looſe to play of it ſelf, and uſe its own free Agency.

8. Which alſo may give an Account of the Manner of Expreſſion of that Period of Time from the taking of Bagdad by Togrulbeck to the ſacking of Conſtantinople by by Mahomet the ſecond. For though the Interval of Time be juſt 396 Years, as Mr. Mede has made good out of Elmachinus the Arabian Hiſtorian; yet the Expreſſion of it in the Prophecy, * οἱ ἡτοιμασμένοι εἰς τὴν ὥραν καὶ ἡμέραν καὶ μῆνα καὶ ἐνιαυτὸν, may, as generally Interpreters obſerve, ſignifie no more than their Readineſs at the time appointed, whether at Day, Month, or Year. For by τὴν ὥραν in all likelihood the Prophecy meant not that Part of Time which we call an Hour, but τὸν καιρὸν, which the Article prefixed may intimate, it being prefixed to it only. And the Senſe might have been, Ready at the Time appointed, whether Day, Month, or Year, that is to ſay, at any time. But the Event is ſo exact and conſpicuous, that I doubt not but the Meaning is, Ready εἰς τὸν καιρὸν, namely, καὶ ἡμέραν καὶ μῆνα καὶ ἐνιαυτὸν, Ready at that Seaſon that is indigitated by both a Day, and a Month, and a Year, which would be no Indication at all but by adding of them together; which then make up 396 Days, which ſtylo Prophetico are ſo many Years. Which anſwers exquiſitely to the Event, and therefore is a ſure Stake to fix down this Prophecy of the Euphratean Horſemen to the Affairs of the Turkiſh Empire. Whereby, as alſo by the Deſcription of the Breaſt-plates of theſe Horſemen, we know to what Ages of the World this Prophecy appertains, and conſequently that of the Locuſts. Whence the noting of their Time more than by way of Dioriſm for the adorning of the Prophecy, was the more needleſs. * Apocal. 9. 15.

9. Examples of Proportional Dioriſms are ſuch as theſe, Apoc. 8. The third part of the Trees was burnt up, The third part of the Ships was deſtroyed, The third part of the Sea became Blood: And Chap. 12. The third part of the Sun was ſmitten, and the third part of the Moon, &c. Where Third does not ſignifie the Proportion of that which was ſmitten to that which did eſcape, but the Empire at large which was ſmitten is indigitated by this Number. Which Form of Speaking has a Smack of the Cabbaliſtick Genius, who uſe Numbers for the Symbols of Things, as I have already noted. So the tenth Part of the City is not the Tenth of the City that then was, but of a City whoſe Extent bore but the Proportion of a tenth Part to what it had been, as Mr. Mede has carefully computed.

To this Head you may alſo refer that Apoc. 18. Double unto her double according to her Works, and Fill unto her double. Which is ſo definitely ſpoken as if ſhe ſhould be repay'd with as much more as ſhe had injured others; but the Senſe is only that ſhe ſhould be pay'd home for all her injurious Dealings.

10. Examples of Special Dioriſms are ſuch as uſual Synecdoches are that put the Species for the Genus, which being a more determinate Object ſtrikes the Fancy ſtronglier and with fuller Gratification. Thus is the Imagination more loudly alarm'd by being informed that a ſuch a Thing or Perſon ſhall be burnt or conſumed with Fire, than if it were only ſaid they ſhould periſh, or be conſumed, and not ſpecifie the Manner. So to make War is more determinate and ſpecifick than to Oppoſe, and to be Beheaded than ſimply to Die or be Killed, and to be Slain more ſpecifick than to be Deſtroyed: and laſtly, King is a more ſpecifick Term and more fully ſtrikes upon the Fancy than Supreme Magiſtrate, or whatever other Appellation that is more general, and conſequently more dilute. Which Examples of this third Kind of Dioriſmus occur up and down in the Apocalyps, and indeed every where in the Prophets.

CHAP. III.

1. Hylaſmus what it is, with the Kinds thereof. 2. Eximious Examples of each Kind. 3. What the firſt and chiefeſt Kind of Henopœia. 4. That one ſingle Beaſt ſignifies a Body Politick, demonſtrated out of Daniel. 5. That a Succeſſion of Iudividuals is repreſented by one Individual. 6. That one Individual Beaſt repreſents a Kingdom or Body Politick from its Riſe to its Fall. 7. That one ſingle Man or Woman does alſo repreſent a Body Politick in the Prophetick Style. 8. The ſecond Kind of Henopœia, what it is, and whether Deuteropleroſis is to be refer'd thereto. 9. What Zoopœia, with Examples thereof. 10. A ſecond kind of Zoopœia proved and illuſtrated from Examples.

Hylaſmus is a Prophetick Scheme bearing ſtrongly upon the Fancy by exhibiting craſs and palpable Objects, ſuch as in Logick would bear the Notion of Subject or Matter. The firſt Kind is coincident with Metonymia Subjecti; as when when a City is put for the Inhabitants, or a Temple for them that worſhip therein. Examples of this kind are frequent every where.

To the ſecond Kind I would refer ſuch Repreſentations as are from Buildings, Pavements and the like, which are indeed Compact of craſs and palpable Materials, but are Myſtical or Spiritual Symbols of quite another thing. Examples of this Kind are the Inward and Outward Court of the Temple, the one Symmetral, the other Aſymmetral; which ſignifies the Chriſtian Church, one while in her Purity, another while in her Apoſtaſie to Idols. So the Holy City troden down by the Gentiles ſignifies the Chriſtian Church over-run with Gentiliſm. So that πόλις in this Caſe is an Emblem of πολιτία or a Body Politick, as Temple may be of the living Church of Chriſt.

2. An eximious Example of this kind of Hylaſmus is the Deſcription of Jeruſalem, Apoc. 21. with its high Wall and twelve Gates, and by a Prophetick Dioriſm the Meaſure of the City is concluded twelve thouſand Furlongs, and the Wall an hundred fourty four Cubits; and the Materials are Gold and Pearls and precious Stones. And yet this City ſo Hylaſtically ſet out has a moſt Spiritual Meaning, and ſignifies nothing elſe but the Church of Chriſt reduced again to Apoſtolical Purity.

But the moſt notable Inſtance of a Prophetick Hylaſmus is the Deſcription of the Temple by Ezekiel, to which I cannot ſay but this of St. John alludes in ſeveral Paſſages: And that it is an Hylaſmus, and not a literal Deſcription, I think any one will eaſily grant that does but peruſe the 47 Chapter.

Laſtly, The Deſtruction of the City Babylon in the Apocalyps is alſo a remarkable Example of this Scheme: but though in the general it appertain to this ſecond kind of Hylaſmus, yet things are there ſet out very much by the former Kind, which is a Metonymia Subjecti, not continentis, as before, but occupantis, the Objects of their Spiritual Negotiations being ſo craſsly diſcovered and deſcribed.

3. The next Prophetick Scheme is Henopœia, and the moſt graceful, but withal as much obſcuring as any. And the firſt and chiefeſt Kind thereof is this, The Collection of a Multitude of Individuals into the Show of one Individual, as alſo of a Succeſſion of Individuals or Multitudes into the Show of one ſtanding Individual. This is an ancient Method of delivering Myſteries, as any one will diſcern if he throughly perpend the Nature and Truth of the ancient Cabbala. Which that both Daniel and St. John, I may add St. Paul too, have imitated in their Prophecies, I think is eaſily to be evinced.

4. Touching the Collection of a Multitude into the Show and Repreſentation of one Individual, it is plain in Daniel; for one individual Lion there denotes the whole Kingdom of the Babylonians, one Bear the Kingdom of the Medo-Perſians, one Leopard the Kingdom of the Greeks, and the fourth Beaſt the Roman Kingdom. It is true it is ſaid, The four Beaſts are four Kings; but the vulgar Latin has it, four Kingdoms, as alſo Theodotion, and the Text ſays expreſly, that the fourth Beaſt is the fourth Kingdom upon Earth. So the Ram and the Goat in the eighth Chapter, (according to Grotius his own Interpretation out of the Hebrew Idiom) though they be ſaid to be Kings, are Kingdoms. And whereas it is written, And the rough Goat is the King of Græcia, and the great Horn that is betwixt his Eyes is the firſt King; unleſs this Goat either ſignify a Succeſſion of Kings, or a Kingdom, it is not Senſe; yea, though Succeſſion, yet it will be very harſh Senſe to make the great Horn the firſt King, and the Body the reſt. Wherefore unleſs we would diſtort things beyond all meaſure, the Body of the Goat muſt ſignifie the Kingdom of Græcia, as the Horns the Supreme Power; conſonantly to what Grotius has written, and I doubt not but his Interpretation is true. And I think that ſcarce any one can be ſo weak, but upon the Reading of Daniel he will be aſſured that in Prophetick Figurations one individual Beaſt ſignifies a Multitude of Men ordered together into the Body of a Kingdom.

Dan. 7.

5. But as the great Horn of the He-Goat is ſaid to be the firſt King, ſo the four Horns undoubtedly ſignified four ſucceeding Kings in this divided Kingdom in their divided Series; ſo that four Succeſſions of Individuals, ſo far as they would laſt, were repreſented under the Show of four ſingle Individuals, namely thoſe four Horns. And truly when it is apparent that one Individual Beaſt repreſents the Succeſſion of a Multitude for many Ages together, (who are Mortal as well as ſingle Men) coagmentated into the Body of one Kingdom, it were a very nice and humorſome thing to ſtick at the Succeſſion of ſingle Perſons being repreſented under the Show of one Head or Horn.

6. And

6. And that one and the ſame Beaſt ſtands for a Kingdom or Empire from its Riſe to its Fall, is plain both in Daniel and the Apocalyps. For the four Beaſts are ſaid to riſe out of the great Sea, Dan. 7. and the Deſtruction of the Fourth is ſet down in the ſame Chapter, who is ſuppoſed to tread down the Third, as the Third is after declared to vanquiſh the Second in the following Chapters. And in the Apocalyps the Riſe of the Beaſts there is ſet down, as alſo their Deſtruction in the Lake of Fire and Brimſtone. Whence it is evident that one individual Beaſt repreſents not only a Multitude of Men under one Government, but the Succeſſion of this Multitude for many Ages, even till it ceaſe to be ſuch a Multitude; and conſequently the ſucceſſive Sovereignty of this Multitude muſt be thus far repreſented (be it in one or many) by the Head or Horns of ſuch Beaſts, unleſs we can fancy a Polity without an Head, which would not be a Polity, but Anarchy.

7. Nor are irrational Creatures only made Henopoetick Types of a Multitude collected into one Government, but alſo Rational: As it is evident in the Woman in the Wilderneſs, which it were ridiculous to underſtand of ſome one ſingle Woman, and not of the Body of the Church, whoſe true and living Head is Chriſt Jeſus. The Woman alſo in Eſdras ſignifies Sion, or the People of God; and it may be the Man there Coming out of the Sea has ſome ſuch Senſe. For why may not one Man ſignifie a People or Multitude as well as one Woman? And it is plain that the People of Iſrael is called the Son of God, (Iſrael my Son, my Firſt-born.) And therefore the Son of Perdition* and that Man of Sin need not ſignifie one ſingle Man or a Succeſſion of ſingle Men, but a Body Politick under one Head of miſchievous Contrivances. By the like Henopœia alſo ὁ ψευδοπροφήτης, the falſe Prophet, ſignifies not one ſingle Perſon, or the Succeſſion of ſuch ſingle Perſons, but a Collection or Body of Deceivers combining together under one Government. Theſe things are ſo eaſie and ſo obvious, that I am afraid I ſhall ſeem to have inſiſted over-long upon them. * 2 Theſſ. 2.

8. I will only note a ſecond Kind of Henopœia, which is alſo of uſeful Conſideration, and that is when things of different Natures are compriſed under one Type. We have a very warrantable Inſtance of this Way of Interpreting Prophecy, Apoc. 17. where the Angel does declare that not only Seven Kings, but Seven Hills are couched under the Symbol of the Seven Heads of the Beaſt. According to this Analogy it may not be unſafe to interpret Babylon both of the City of Rome and of the Hierarchy; the Two Witneſſes, of the Old and New Teſtament, of them under the Legal and Evangelical Diſpenſation, and of Magiſtracy and Miniſtry; the Horns of the two-horned Beaſt, of the two Imperial Patriarchates, of the two Horns of the Biſhop's Mitre, and of the two-fold Power of Binding and Looſing. Which ſecond kind of Henopœia need not ſeem new nor ſtrange, the ancient Pythagoreans and Cabbaliſts concealing and crowding together under the Symbol of one ſingle Number many and multifarious Notions. Under this Head alſo we may perhaps not unfitly enumerate a third Kind of Henopœia, namely, Where diverſe Events, and diſtinguiſhed by diſtant Times, are ſignifyed by one Prophetical Type, which may be called Deuteroplerôſis. This, foraſmuch as it is ſo frequently to be met with in the Prophecies of the Old Teſtament, I think it no Abſurdity to ſuppoſe, that it is alſo ſometimes to be found in the New.

9. Zoopœia is the Typifying out ſome inanimate thing by what has Life, be it Perſon, or any other living Creature, or part of that Creature. In which Senſe the Seven Hills being ſignify'd by the Seven Heads of the Beaſt is a Zoopœia. As alſo it would be if we underſtood the Two Witneſſes* of the Two Books of the Old and New Teſtament, and the Word of God riding the White-horſe*, of the whole Bible. But I ſhall in its due place intimate that theſe are but collateral Senſes, and reducible to a more primary one by an Henopœia. The making of * Hell to lacquay by him that rides the Pale-horſe, ſeems a more abſolute Zoopœia: as alſo that Gen. 4. The Voice of thy Brother's Blood crieth unto me from the Ground; where the Actions of Life are given to the Blood of a dead Man. * Rev. 11. * Rev. 19. * Rev. 6. 8.

10. But we will here take notice alſo of a ſecond Kind of Zoopœia, which may ſeem leſs harſh and moſt elegant; and that is, when free Actions are attributed to free Agents, of which notwithſtanding they may be no more the Cauſes than if they were inanimate Beings, or not in Being at all. According to this Figure is that of Virgil, in the Mouth of Æneas ſlaying Turnus,

* Pallas

——— Pallas te hoc vulnere, Pallas
Immolat, & pœnas ſcelerato ex ſanguine ſumit.

Pallas being dead is ſaid to ſlay Turnus, though he did nothing here towards the Slaying of him, but what he ſuffered only gave Occaſion to Æneas to take Revenge.

According to which Figure of Speech a more large Alluſion or Parable might be raiſed. As if Æneas inſtead of Slaying one ſingle Man had ſacked a City, put Man, Woman, and Child to the Sword, burnt their Houſes, and left them as an Heap of Stones in Revenge of the Death of Pallas; he might ſay of his Friend now dead, that it was he that inflamed the Courage of the Soldiers to ſcale the Walls; that it was he that gave out that Juſt, though Severe, Edict of Slaying Man, Woman, and Child; that it was he that burnt down their Houſes, and laid their City level with the Ground; and, laſtly, that it was he whom they deſervedly found a more miſchievous Enemy to them after his Death than while he was living. Certainly this Figure of Speech would be very intelligible, and withal bear along with it an extraordinary Height of Rhetorick and Elegancy.

Revel. 6. 9. According to this Scheme is that Example in Scripture of the Souls crying under the Altar, O Lord, how long, &c. Which is nothing but a Parable ſignifying that their Death required Vengeance from the Juſtice of God. Eæ animæ (ſaith Grotius) corpore ſolutæ multò magis quàm ſanguis mortem toleratam teſtantur. For he had ſaid before, Sanguis Abelis vindictam poſcit, ſic & animæ Martyrum. Wherefore there is acknowledged a Zoopœia in both Caſes.

Alcazar alſo upon the place, Idem eſt dici Animas petere vindictam ac dici earum ſanguinem illam petere. To which Senſe alſo ſpeaks Tychonius, as you may ſee in Ribera. All which will make good this ſecond Kind of Zoopœia, which attributes free and living Actions to free Agents, which in reſpect of them notwithſtanding are no free Actions, but neceſſary Conſequences that reſult from ſomething that theſe Perſons have ſuffered or do ſuffer. Which is a Prophetick Scheme worthy the taking notice of.

CHAP. IV.

1. Iſraeliſmus what it is. 2. That the Reaſon of the frequent Uſe thereof is the Sacramentalneſs of the Jewiſh Church in Reference to the Chriſtian, as appears in their Tabernacle and רביד. 3. In the braſen Serpent, Manna, ſtrucken Rock, and fiery Law. 4. In the High-prieſt's Robes, in his entring once a Year into the moſt Holy, and in the Jews worſhipping toward the Mercy-ſeat. 5. In their Bondage in Ægypt, and in their Eſcape through the Red Sea. 6. What is properly a Prophetick Ellipſis. 7. What the Meaning of the Apocalyptick Book being written within and without. 8. The Difference of a Prophetick Ellipſis illuſtrated by Example. 9. Homonymia what it is, and in what it differs from an Henopœia of the ſecond Kind. 10. What a Prophetick Paronomaſia is. 11. What Metalepſis, with the Proof and Examples thereof. 12. Antichroniſmus what it is, together with the Riſe thereof. 13. That the three Days and an half of the unburied Witneſſes put for three times and an half is apparently reſolvible into this Figure. 14. What Icaſmus is, and that the Frequency of this Figure does not ſo obſcure Prophecies but that they are as intelligble as ordinary Heraldry. 15. What Iconiſmorium Metallaxis is.

1. I*Sraeliſmus* is a Prophetick Scheme exceeding frequent, eſpecially in the Apocalyps, which is a ſpeaking of the Affairs of the Chriſtian Church under the Names and with Alluſion to ſuch Places, or Perſons, or Things, as did of old concern the Iſraelites and People of the Jews, and that in a myſtical or ſpiritual Meaning * Which is ſpiritually called Sodom and Ægypt. From whence is alſo inſinuated that the Plagues on this Myſtical Ægypt, and the Burning of this Spiritual Sodom, muſt be underſtood myſtically and ſpiritually.

*Rev. 11. 8.

2. The Frequency of this Scheme is not to be wondered at, if we conſider that the People of Iſrael were one great and entire myſterious Type or Sacrament of the Church

*

Church of God ſuch as it ſhould be under Chriſt: According as St. Paul has written, * That all things befell them in Figures, but are recorded for our Sakes upon whom the Ends of the World are come. * 1 Cor. 10.

And truly it is a marvellous and enraviſhing Spectacle to conſider how at once the Church of Chriſt is repreſented by the People of Iſrael in the Wilderneſs, and how their whole Camp was but one living and moving Sacramental Image of Chriſt and his Body, in the moſt concerning Points of our Religion. For what was that Tabernacle and the דביר from whence God ſpake, but an Emblem of the λόγος his tabernacling in our Fleſh? For the Pythagoreans called this Body of ours σκῆνος, as * St, Peter alſo σκῆνωμα, While I am in this Tabernacle, ſaith he, ἐν τῷ σκηνώματι τούτῳ. And St. John ſpeaking of the λόγος ſaith, Καὶ ὁ λόγος σὰρξ ἐγένετο, καὶ ἐσκήνωσεν ἐν ἡμῖν, And the Word was made Fleſh, and placed his Tabernacle amongſt us, even as he did in the Wilderneſs dwell with his People there in a Tabernacle while they dwelt in Booths. And therefore I do wonder that the Jews ſhould ſcruple more the doing Divine Worſhip toward the moſt holy Body of the Meſſias than toward the Dabir or Mercy-ſeat, or toward the Tabernacle of God. But that only by the Bye. That the Tabernacle of God amongſt the Jews living in Tabernacles was a Type or Sacrament of the Incarnation of Chirſt is manifeſt. * 2 Ep. ch. 1.

3. But the braſen Serpent erected in their Camp, was ſuch a Type of Chriſt's Hanging on the Croſs, and the Uſe of it to them ſo exquiſitely analogical to that we Chriſtians make of looking upon Chriſt's Crucifixion when we are ſtung with the Senſe of either the Guilt or Poiſon of Sin, that it would even aſtoniſh one with Amazement to conſider what an unexpreſſible Vigour and Life of Repreſentation does reſult from this ancient Figure or Shadow, that ever moved along with the Camp of Iſrael in the Wilderneſs for the Healing them when they were bit with fiery flying Serpents, as the crucified Jeſus does us when we find our ſelves wounded with Sin.

The Manna alſo of which the Children of Iſrael did eat in the Wilderneſs, was it not a Type of eating that true Bread that came down from Heaven, even the Body of Chriſt, which is the daily Food of the Faithful? And the Rock that was ſtruck, out of which came Water, was it not an apparent Emblem of the Blood of Chriſt, out of whoſe Side came Blood and Water? The giving of the Law alſo with Flaſhings of Fire, was it not plainly a Fore-runner of the Law of Chriſt which was divulged by his Apoſtles, upon whom fiery Tongues deſcended; and is indeed that Law of the Spirit, which, as Eſdras does interpret, is like unto Fire, by which the wicked are to be conſumed, as that Viſion ſeems to import? 2 Eſd. 13. 38.

4. And for the Divinity of Chriſt, is it not plainly emblematized upon the Robes of Aaron, which do ſo exquiſitely reſemble the Univerſe, and therefore can be the Cloathing of none but God? And laſtly, his Onely Mediatorſhip and Apotheoſis after Death (for it would be endleſs to inſiſt upon all) were they not alſo lively repreſented, the one by the High-prieſt's entering alone into the moſt Holy to intercede for the People, the other by the Tabernacle and Mercy-ſeat toward which the Jews were to worſhip, as is plain from that in the Apocalyps? For to this, in the Chriſtian Diſpenſation, ſucceeds the Humane Nature of Chriſt; he is the Ἱλαστήριον or Mercy-ſeat, and his Body the Temple towards which we are to direct our Eyes, accordingly as it is written, I ſaw no Temple there, but God Almighty and the Lamb is the Temple thereof. And ſuch a Temple as certainly may be worſhipped towards with as little Suſpicion of Idolatry as ever the Temple or Mercy-ſeat was amongſt the Jews. Revel. 21.

5. Wherefore the People of the Jews being ſo illuſtrious and copious a Sacrament of all things appertaining to the Chriſtian Church, it is no Wonder that thoſe Viſions that concern the State thereof are ſo full of Alluſions to what befel that People. Amongſt which Accidents their Bondage in Ægypt is of famous Note, and therefore often alluded to in the Apocalyps; and their paſſing through the Red Sea, where that Tyrant Pharaoh was overthrown, ſo lively a Symbol of the Church's getting from under that ſervile Yoke of the Romiſh Hierarchy by their Recourſe to the Blood of Chriſt, by which they are juſtifi'd and freed from that blind Bondage they were held in under thoſe hard Task-maſters, that the Concinnity is marvellous to conſider, the Type being ſo clear a Prophecy of what has happened within theſe laſt Ages in breaking from that Tyrannical Bondage of the Italian Pharaoh. But ſuch Inſtances as theſe are infinite.

6. The next obſcuring Scheme is Ellipſis, which is an Omiſſion of ſome Word or Words which are requiſite to determine the Senſe. Examples of Ellipſes occur every where in the old Teſtament, in the Pſalms, Job, and other Books. But by an an Ellipsis here I understand not merely the Defect of something to make up the full Sense, but such an artificial Defect as shall make the Sense seem complete without the Supplement understood. For that seems to be the Genius of these Apocalyptick Visions especially, that they are made so as to seem very trim and Expres, very complete and articulate in the very outward Cortex, as a Book that has some pleasing Embellishments on the Back-side, as well as the History of Truth within.

7. Which I little doubt but may be alluded to in that Expression concerning this Volume of Visions, that it was * written within and without, according to the ancient Manner of the Cabbalistick Mysteries. Touching which Traditions Parmenides had got that Principle, Διτὴν τε εἶναι φιλοσοφίαν, τὴν μὲν κατ' ἀλήθειαν, τὴν δ' κατὰ δόξαν· That there is a twofold traditionary Knowledge, the one Truth, (it is called אמת in Daniel in Counterdistinction to his Ænigmatical Visions) the other Types or Parables accommodate to the Conceit and Gust of the Vulgar.

*Revel. 5. 1.

St. Hierom also, Rupertus and several others understand this being written within and on the back-side, of a Literal and Mystical Sense. Grotius pretends the Text is not rightly comma'd, but reads it thus, γεγεμμένον ὄπισθεν, κ) ὄπισθεν κατεσφραγισμένον, &c. Written within, and sealed on the back-side: As if there were any Books written on the back-side and sealed within. So unfortunate an Interpreter of the Apocalyps is the Great Hugo even in lesser Matters. But to return to the Matter in hand.

8. The Difference of those two Kinds of Ellipses we have described may be seen in these Examples. Exod. 3. where Moses asking God his Name, he returns this Answer, I am that I am: which is an Elliptical Speech, and fully supplied, is, My Name is I am that I am. Something like this is that also in the * Apocalyps, Grace to you and Peace ἀπὸ τὸ ὢν, κ) ὁ ἦν, κ) ὁ ἐρχόμενος· which were more full ἀπὸ τὸ ὀνομαζομένε ὃ ὢν κ) ὁ ἦν κ) ὁ ἐρχόμενος· But these Ellipses are such that they discover the Defect of what is to be supplied. Of which sort also is that, Rev. 18. v. 13. κ) ἵππων κ) ῥεδῶν κ) σωμάτων. Which Place has very much puzzled some Interpreters, not understanding that there is here a Prophetick Ellipsis. (But what is the genuin Meaning of this Place, is elsewhere declared at length.)

*Chap. 1. 4.

But sometimes it is not so, as Apocal. 17. 8. The Beast which thou sawest, was, and is not, and shall ascend out of the bottomless Pit, and go into Perdition. And a little after, When they behold the Beast that was, and is not, and yet is. Which seems a smooth entire Sense in the exterior Cortex of the Prophecy, whenas no good Sense at all can be made of it unless there be conceived some such Ellipsis as before; Τὸ θηρίον ὃ ἦν κ) οὐκ ἔστιν, and, βλέποντες τὸ θηρίον ὅτι ἦν κ) οὐκ ἔστιν παρέσται. But to have been thus expres had laid this Mystery over-open, which ought to be in a greater measure concealed, and therefore it was thus carefully lock'd up in this Prophetick Ellipsis. Of which Text more fully in its proper place.

9. Homonymia is the Diversity of Significations in one and the same Symbol, whereof one alone is to be understood, else it were coincident with an Henopœia of the second Kind. Which Homonymia may fall out ex accidenti, (and is then of no greater Difficulty than that ordinary Homonymia of Words, whose Sense the Consideration of the Contexture of things will determine;) or else it may be intended of set Purpose to make up a more graceful Insculpture upon the external Cortex of a Vision. As in the Vision of the Witnesses, I suspect that the three Days and an half that they lie dead in the Street do not signify, as in the Beginning of that Vision, three Years and an half, but three times and an half, that is 1260 Years. Nay that they do signify so, I do confes I do more than suspect, and am indeed well assured in my own Judgment of the Truth thereof. But whether there be any likelihood of their signifying also three Years and an half, Events will better determine. Which if they did agree, there would not be a simple Homonymia in this Symbol of three Days and an half, but an Henopœia of the second Kind.

10. As for Paronomasia, we need not spend much Time about it, after we have declared, that it is not here to be restrained to that Sense wherein it is used by Rhetoricians, but is of so large a Signification, that wherever the Meaning of a Prophecy is to be explain'd or more fully understood by any manner of either Similitude or Identity of Names, or allusory Signification thereof, this Alluding to the Similitude or Identity of Names, or to their Signification, is to be called a Prophetick Paronomasia. And indeed according to this general Notion of a Prophetick Paronomasia, are the Expositions of Mr. Mede, where he thinks that the Army from about Euphrates under the Sixth Trumpet are all called Horsemen, because the Turks are by the Greek Historians for the most part call'd Persæ, (Persians). Now

Persa

Perſæ, which comes from פרס, ſignifies Horſemen. And by the He-Goat in Dan. 8. he thinks Alexander the Great is prefigured, with an Alluſion to αἴξ a Goat, from whence the Macedonians are called Ægeadæ; and here there is a Simple Alluſion to the Signification of Names. But what he ſays of the Ram, which is the Type of the King of the Perſians, belongs rather to the Reſemblance or Similitude of the Names themſelves. For איל, which ſignifies a Ram, does not much differ in Sound from the Beginning of the Word עילם which is the Name of Perſia. The Reſemblance of the Word Ἀπολλύων to Ἀπόλλων, in Grotius, is much more apparent, and that alſo which I remark'd in Abaddon to אב-אדון. And again in Grotius that of the Word Epheſus to Ἔφεσις, Smyrna to Σμύρνα Myrrha, Sardis to Sarda, Thyatira to θύειν ἀτειρέα. But in Pergamus, Philadelphia, and Laodicea, there is not only a Similitude of Names but an Identity; and whereas theſe are proper Names of Places, their Signification is alluded to as if they were Appellatives. There is verily a great Plenty of theſe Prophetick Paronomaſia's in the Epiſtles to the Seven Churches, wherein all the Proper Names, whether of Men or Places, as is to be ſeen in our Expoſition, ſo fitly agreeing with the Prophetick Senſe, that is peculiar to each Epiſtle as it exhibits ſuch a Period of the Church; this I ſay, is a moſt evident Proof that ſuch Paronomaſia's were uſual with the Prophets, and is ſufficient to convince any Man that is not of a very dull or ſceptical Underſtanding.

11. Metalepſis is a Prophetick Scheme whereby an Effect or Event is transferred or communicated to ſome eminent Perſon merely, or at leaſt mainly, becauſe the Place and Time is coincident with his; and there is the ſame Reaſon of Things. This Scheme I muſt confeſs is very Poetical, but not unelegant nor unuſual. Like to this is that of Virgil,

Candidus auratis aperit cùm cornibus annum
Taurus——— and again,
Libra dies ſomnique pares ubi fecerat horas.

Where Taurus and Libra, becauſe they are in Conjunction with the Sun, have attributed to them or transferred upon them thoſe Effects which really are the Sun's only and not theirs.

But that there is ſuch a Metalepſis as I have deſcribed in the Prophetick Style, that one Example of the Rider of the Red Horſe in the * Apocalyps will make good, who is armed with a great Sword in his Hand, and is ſaid to take Peace from the Earth: Whenas nothing elſe is ſignified, but that in this Emperor's time there would be very furious Killing and Slaying of Men in the Empire, though by no Fault of his. For it is ſaid, ἵνα ἀλλήλους σφάξωσιν thèy ſhall kill one another, as if the Text on purpoſe did caſt in that Key for the Opening the Meaning of the Viſion, as Mr. Mede has judiciouſly obſerved. Whoſe Interpretation of the Firſt Six Seals is ſo ſolid, that it is impoſſible, I think, taking all things together, for any unprejudiced Reader not to be aſſured of the Truth of them. Whence it is that I am ſo well aſſured of this preſent Prophetick Figure I have ſet down. *Chap. 6. 4.

12. Antichroniſmus, is an obſcurative Scheme in Prophecy which ſets down one Meaſure of Time for another; as a Week for Seven Years, as in Daniel, a Month for Thirty Years, a Day for a Year. Which Figure ſeems to be uſed in the Apocalyptick Viſions not only for Concealment ſake, but for Proportion and Decorum, that the external Cortex of the Prophecies may not want their τὸ πιθανὸν, that winning and pleaſing Credibility of Story.

Wherefore theſe Antichroniſmi are a neceſſary Conſequence of that Prophetick Henopæia, that contracts vaſt Empires and other Bodies Politick with their long Succeſſions into the Figure or Shape of a Beaſt or ſingle Perſon; whence, that the Duration of their Lives may not be over-proportionated to their Nature, it was neceſſary to declare their Continuance alſo under a Diſguiſe, putting Days for Years. For their living may be ſhortened by ſeveral Accidents; but to tell of a Beaſt or a Woman or of two Witneſſes that ſhould live 1260 Years, would not keep the Decorum of λόγος πιθανὸς, but would look like an incredible Narration.

13. As it would alſo that the dead Bodies of the two Witneſſes ſhould lie unburried in the open Streets of the City for three Years and an half; whenas they would ſtink in the Space of four Days, as is noted in the Body of Lazarus. How harſh then had it been to have repreſented the Bodies of the Witneſſes lying dead in the Streets for 1260 Years together? Wherefore though their lying thus ſlain and unburied an Ellipſis here I underſtand not merely the Defect of ſomething to make up the full Senſe, but ſuch an artificial Defect as ſhall make the Senſe ſeem complete without the Supplement underſtood. For that ſeems to be the Genius of theſe Apocalyptick Viſions eſpecially, that they are made ſo as to ſeem very trim and Expreſs, very complete and articulate in the very outward Cortex, as a Book that has ſome pleaſing Embelliſhments on the Back-ſide, as well as the Hiſtory of Truth within.

7. Which I little doubt but may be alluded to in that Expreſſion concerning this Volume of Viſions, that it was * written within and without, according to the ancient Manner of the Cabbaliſtick Myſteries. Touching which Traditions Parmenides had got that Principle, Διττὴν τε εἶναι φιλοσοφίαν, τὴν μὲν κατ' ἀλήθειαν, τὴν δ' κατὰ δόξαν· That there is a twofold traditionary Knowledge, the one Truth, (it is called אמת in Daniel in Counterdiſtinction to his Ænigmatical Viſions) the other Types or Parables accommodate to the Conceit and Guſt of the Vulgar.

*Revel. 5. 1.

St. Hierom alſo, Rupertus and ſeveral others underſtand this being written within and on the back-ſide, of a Literal and Myſtical Senſe. Grotius pretends the Text is not rightly comma'd, but reads it thus, γεγραμμένον ὄπισθεν, καὶ ὑπὸ σφραγισμένον, &c. Written within, and ſealed on the back-ſide: As if there were any Books written on the back-ſide and ſealed within. So unfortunate an Interpreter of the Apocalyps is the Great Hugo even in leſſer Matters. But to return to the Matter in hand.

8. The Difference of thoſe two Kinds of Ellipſes we have deſcribed may be ſeen in theſe Examples. Exod. 3. where Moſes asking God his Name, he returns this Anſwer, I am that I am: which is an Elliptical Speech, and fully ſupplied, is, My Name is I am that I am. Something like this is that alſo in the * Apocalyps, Grace to you and Peace ἀπὸ τοῦ ὁ ὢν, καὶ ὁ ἦν, καὶ ὁ ἐρχόμενος· which were more full ἀπὸ τοῦ ὀνομαζομένου ὁ ὢν καὶ ὁ ἦν καὶ ὁ ἐρχόμενος· But theſe Ellipſes are ſuch that they diſcover the Defect of what is to be ſupplied. Of which ſort alſo is that, Rev. 18. v. 13. καὶ ἵππων καὶ ῥεδῶν καὶ σωμάτων. Which Place has very much puzzled ſome Interpreters, not underſtanding that there is here a Prophetick Ellipſis. (But what is the genuin Meaning of this Place, is elſewhere declared at length.)

*Chap. 1. 4.

But ſometimes it is not ſo, as Apocal. 17. 8. The Beaſt which thou ſaweſt, was, and is not, and ſhall aſcend out of the bottomleſs Pit, and go into Perdition. And a little after, When they behold the Beaſt that was, and is not, and yet is. Which ſeems a ſmooth entire Senſe in the exterior Cortex of the Prophecy, whenas no good Senſe at all can be made of it unleſs there be conceived ſome ſuch Ellipſis as before; Τὸ θηρίον ὃ ἦν καὶ οὐκ ἔστιν ἦν καὶ οὐκ ἔστιν, and, βλέποντες τὸ θηρίον ὅτι ἦν καὶ οὐκ ἔστιν καὶ πάρεσται. But to have been thus expreſs had laid this Myſtery over-open, which ought to be in a greater meaſure concealed, and therefore it was thus carefully lock'd up in this Prophetick Ellipſis. Of which Text more fully in its proper place.

9. Homonymia is the Diverſity of Significations in one and the ſame Symbol, whereof one alone is to be underſtood, elſe it were coincident with an Henopœia of the ſecond Kind. Which Homonymia may fall out ex accidenti, (and is then of no greater Difficulty than that ordinary Homonymia of Words, whoſe Senſe the Conſideration of the Contexture of things will determine;) or elſe it may be intended of ſet Purpoſe to make up a more graceful Inſculpture upon the external Cortex of a Viſion. As in the Viſion of the Witneſſes, I ſuſpect that the three Days and an half that they lie dead in the Street do not ſignify, as in the Beginning of that Viſion, three Years and an half, but three times and an half, that is 1260 Years. Nay that they do ſignify ſo, I do confeſs I do more than ſuſpect, and am indeed well aſſured in my own Judgment of the Truth thereof. But whether there be any likelihood of their ſignifying alſo three Years and an half, Events will better determine. Which if they did agree, there would not be a ſimple Homonymia in this Symbol of three Days and an half, but an Henopœia of the ſecond Kind.

10. As for Paronomaſia, we need not ſpend much Time about it, after we have declared, that it is not here to be reſtrained to that Senſe wherein it is uſed by Rhetoricians, but is of ſo large a Signification, that wherever the Meaning of a Prophecy is to be explain'd or more fully underſtood by any manner of either Similitude or Identity of Names, or alluſory Signification thereof, this Alluding to the Similitude or Identity of Names, or to their Signification, is to be called a Prophetick Paronomaſia. And indeed according to this general Notion of a Prophetick Paronomaſia, are the Expoſitions of Mr. Mede, where he thinks that the Army from about Euphrates under the Sixth Trumpet are all called Horſemen, becauſe the Turks are by the Greek Hiſtorians for the moſt part call'd Perſæ, (Perſians). Now

Perſæ, which comes from פרס, ſignifies Horſemen. And by the He-Goat in Dan. 8. he thinks Alexander the Great is prefigured, with an Alluſion to αἴξ a Goat, from whence the Macedonians are called Ægeadæ; and here there is a Simple Alluſion to the Signification of Names. But what he ſays of the Ram, which is the Type of the King of the Perſians, belongs rather to the Reſemblance or Similitude of the Names themſelves. For איל, which ſignifies a Ram, does not much differ in Sound from the Beginning of the Word עילם which is the Name of Perſia. The Reſemblance of the Word Ἀπολλύων to Ἀπόλλων, in Grotius, is much more apparent, and that alſo which I remark'd in Abaddon to אב-אדון. And again in Grotius that of the Word Epheſus to Ἔφεσις, Smyrna to Σμύρνα Myrrha, Sardis to Sarda, Thyatira to θύειν ἀπειρέα. But in Pergamus, Philadelphia, and Laodicea, there is not only a Similitude of Names but an Identity; and whereas theſe are proper Names of Places, their Signification is alluded to as if they were Appellatives. There is verily a great Plenty of theſe Prophetick Paronomaſia's in the Epiſtles to the Seven Churches, wherein all the Proper Names, whether of Men or Places, as is to be ſeen in our Expoſition, ſo fitly agreeing with the Prophetick Senſe, that is peculiar to each Epiſtle as it exhibits ſuch a Period of the Church; this I ſay, is a moſt evident Proof that ſuch Paronomaſia's were uſual with the Prophets, and is ſufficient to convince any Man that is not of a very dull or ſceptical Underſtanding.

11. Metalepſis is a Prophetick Scheme whereby an Effect or Event is transferred or communicated to ſome eminent Perſon merely, or at leaſt mainly, becauſe the Place and Time is coincident with his; and there is the ſame Reaſon of Things. This Scheme I muſt confeſs is very Poetical, but not unelegant nor unuſual. Like to this is that of Virgil,

Candidus auratis aperit cùm cornibus annum
Taurus——————— and again,
Libra dies ſomníque pares ubi fecerat horas.

Where Taurus and Libra, becauſe they are in Conjunction with the Sun, have attributed to them or transferred upon them thoſe Effects which really are the Sun's only and not theirs.

But that there is ſuch a Metalepſis as I have deſcribed in the Prophetick Style, that one Example of the Rider of the Red Horſe in the * Apocalyps will make good, who is armed with a great Sword in his Hand, and is ſaid to take Peace from the Earth: Whenas nothing elſe is ſignified, but that in this Emperor's time there would be very furious Killing and Slaying of Men in the Empire, though by no Fault of his. For it is ſaid, ἵνα ἀλλήλους σφάξωσιν thèy ſhall kill one another, as if the Text on purpoſe did caſt in that Key for the Opening the Meaning of the Viſion, as Mr. Mede has judiciouſly obſerved. Whoſe Interpretation of the Firſt Six Seals is ſo ſolid, that it is impoſſible, I think, taking all things together, for any unprejudiced Reader not to be aſſured of the Truth of them. Whence it is that I am ſo well aſſured of this preſent Prophetick Figure I have ſet down. *Chap. 6. 4.

12. Antichroniſmus, is an obſcurative Scheme in Prophecy which ſets down one Meaſure of Time for another; as a Week for Seven Years, as in Daniel, a Month for Thirty Years, a Day for a Year. Which Figure ſeems to be uſed in the Apocalyptick Viſions not only for Concealment ſake, but for Proportion and Decorum, that the external Cortex of the Prophecies may not want their τὸ πιθανὸν, that winning and pleaſing Credibility of Story.

Wherefore theſe Antichroniſmi are a neceſſary Conſequence of that Prophetick Henopæia, that contracts vaſt Empires and other Bodies Politick with their long Succeſſions into the Figure or Shape of a Beaſt or ſingle Perſon; whence, that the Duration of their Lives may not be over-proportionated to their Nature, it was neceſſary to declare their Continuance alſo under a Diſguiſe, putting Days for Years. For their living may be ſhortened by ſeveral Accidents; but to tell of a Beaſt or a Woman or of two Witneſſes that ſhould live 1260 Years, would not keep the Decorum of λόγος πιθανὸς, but would look like an incredible Narration.

13. As it would alſo that the dead Bodies of the two Witneſſes ſhould lie unburied in the open Streets of the City for three Years and an half; whenas they would ſtink in the Space of four Days, as is noted in the Body of Lazarus. How harſh then had it been to have repreſented the Bodies of the Witneſſes lying dead in the Streets for 1260 Years together? Wherefore though their lying thus ſlain and unburied was the fitteſt and moſt lively Repreſentation of that Condition that thoſe that are repreſented under the Figure of the two Witneſſes were to be in for 1260 Years together; yet that the Laws of the τὸ πρέπον and τὸ πιθανὸν of Story might be obſerved, it was requiſite that theſe 1260 Years ſhould be diſguiſed under the Symbol of three Days and an half. Which ſignifying the ſame that three times and a half, (for יום and עת are promiſcuouſly uſed the one for the other) and theſe three times and an half ſignifying 1260 Years, both the Truth which the Prophecy aims at is faithfully conveyed, and that decorous Embelliſhment in the external Cortex of the Prophecy punctually obſerved. And that not only by contracting the time, but alſo by annexing it to the End of the 1260 Days by a λεμματοσυνέχεια, which is in Latine as much as Corticis Continuatio.

And that this Prophetick Figure, which I call Antichroniſmus, is not a mere Supposition of mine, but a ſolid Truth, I have already made good in my Myſtery of Godlineſs, and ſhall further demonſtrate even with mathematical Certitude out of my Joint Expoſition of the 17 and 13 Chapters of the Apocalyps.

Book 5 ch. 15

14. Icaſmus, is a Prophetick Scheme that bears by far the greateſt Part in all the Viſions of Daniel and St. John, and is nothing elſe but the Repreſentation of things and Events by ſuch Symbols as bear ſome Similitude with the things and Events they ſtand for. Which Symbols being many, make the Skill of interpreting Prophecy more difficult, but not at all deſperate, as ſome delicate Wits would fancy to themſelves, and pretend an Horror and Affrightment at the uncouth Mention of ſuch variouſly-ſhaped Beaſts, and at the Clatter of their Horns: whenas if they would be pleaſed to lay aſide their Niceneſs, they might underſtand that theſe Hieroglyphicks of Prophecy might with far more Eaſe be made familiar to them than the Knowledge of Heraldry or Blazonry, which is no ſuch profound and unconquerable Study.

15. To Icaſmus, Iconiſmi are to be referred, as alſo Iconiſmorum Metallaxes. Now Metallaxis Iconiſmi is, when in the ſame Matter the ſame Iconiſm is not obſerved from the Beginning to the End of the Prophecy. Of this complex Figure there are two illuſtrious Examples in the Apocalypſe; the One in thoſe two Witneſſes, who are firſt ſaid to phopheſie cloathed in Sackcloth, and afterward to lie ſlain in the Streets of the Great City, and ſo lying to be ſeen by thoſe of the People, and Kindreds, and Tongues, and Nations. The other Inſtance is in that immenſe Aſſembly or Conflux almoſt of all Mankind divided into three Parts, of which the firſt Part ſeems to ſtand up for God, the Other for the Dragon, a Third for the Beaſt and falſe Prophet; but firſt they are repreſented as if they were three Armies gathered together in a Place call'd Armageddon, and afterwards as one Great City divided into three Parts by an Earthquake. But of this I will ſay no more.

Rev. 11.

Rev. 16.

CHAP. V.

1. The great Uſefulneſs of an Alphabet of Prophetick Iconiſms. 2. What the beſt Way of attaining to the right Senſe of them. 3. What Weight the Onirocriticks of the Ancients may caſt in toward the determining their Meaning. 4. That there is the ſame Reaſon of the Signification and Interpretation of Dreams as there is of Viſions, provided they be merely Typical and not Complexional. 5. Angels; Their Miniſtery in all Affairs of Providence a noted Suppoſition both in the ancient Cabbala and in the Apocalyps. 6. Aſcenſion into Heaven. 7. Air, the ſpecial Region of Devils. 8. Balances. 9. Beaſt; Θυρία Idolatrous Kingdoms. 10. The Reaſon of the Lamb's ſignifying one ſingle Perſon, and of wild Beaſts noting Idolatry as well as Cruelty. 11. Blaſphemy, That it ſignifies Idolatry made out both upon the Account of Reaſon, Uſe of Scripture and Authority of Interpreters. 12. Blood. 13. Bow and Arrows; Buildings; Burial.

1. WE have ſhewn wherein the Obſcurity of Prophecy does mainly conſiſt, and by the Explication of the foregoing Figures have already done ſomething toward the making of the Skill of Interpreting eaſie to us. But there being ſo many and ſo various Examples of the laſt Scheme, we hold it needful to bring the moſt conſiderable of them into one Alphabet, and to ſet down the Signification of them. Which being taken Notice of will much conduce to the eaſie Spelling out the true Meaning of all Ænigmatical Prophecies in Scripture. For what * Ariſtotle ſaies ſaies of Ænigmatical Dreams, is true alſo of theſe Kind of Viſions. Τεχνικώτατός ἐστι ἐνυπνίων ὁσὶς δύναται τὰς ὁμοιότητας διαφεῦν, τὰς δὲ ἐνυπνιαστὰς κρίνειν πάντες δύνανται. That he is the moſt artificial Interpreter of Dreams that is beſt at diſcerning Similitudes and Reſemblances, but for ſuch Dreams as exhibit to the Fancy the things themſelves; every one can judge of them.

* In his Περὶ τῆς ἕξεως τοῦ ὑπνου Magna lib. cap. 2.

Now the Viſions of Daniel and Apocalyps are not of the Nature of Ἐνύπνια, but Ἐνύπνια αἰνιγματώδη, repreſenting things under Symbols or Similitudes. And therefore to have a ſettled and determinate Meaning (and that upon ſolid and rational Grounds) of ſuch Symbols and Iconiſms muſt needs contribute much to the inabling us with Eaſe and Succeſs to interpret theſe Prophecies, or to make us underſtand and approve or with Judgment diſapprove of the Interpretations of other Men.

2. And for my own Part I know no ſolider Method of ſettling and ſecuring to our ſelves the true Senſe of theſe Symbols, than by attending what the Scripture it ſelf declares of them, and by ſtrictly obſerving what Reaſon will unforcedly ſuggeſt or ſpy out concerning their Significancy and Repreſentativeneſs of things. To which if we add the Suffrages of them that have wrote of Onirocriticks, whether moſtwhat out of their own Reaſon and Obſervation, as Artemidorus profeſſes, or, (which is more to our Purpoſe) have made a Collection of the moſt ancient Writings of that kind, ſuch as Achmetes the Son of Seirim has provided us; it cannot but much ſtrengthen our Aſſurance of the Meaning of ſuch Iconiſms.

3. And that of Achmetes more eſpecially, being the Onirocriticks of three famous Interpreters of the Kings of India, Perſia, and Ægypt, and therefore withal ſo ancient and ſo Eaſtern, is the more probable to have a greater Cognation with the Prophetick Schemes of the Holy Writ. The firſt of theſe is Syrbacham, Interpreter to the King of India: but he does Chriſtianize ſo frequently and ſo palpably, that we may juſtly ſuſpect his Antiquity, yea conclude for a Certain that he hath lived ſince the Coming of Chriſt. The ſecond is Baram, Interpreter to Saaniſan King of Perſia; and the laſt Tarphan, Interpreter to Pharao King of Ægypt. The Uſe of whoſe Interpretations is approved even by Expoſitors of quite different Ways, Grotius I mean and Mr. Mede, who has the Honour of firſt breaking the Ice in this Buſineſs.

4. Nor is there any Scruple for that theſe are the Interpretations of Dreams, and not of Viſions: For beſides that there is great Affinity betwixt Viſions and Dreams, they being both Fantaſms impreſſed on the Imagination, not by any free Act or Excitation of our ſelves, but in a Way merely paſſive, the external Senſes alſo being in a Manner conſopite in both, (whence theſe ἐνύπνια are called alſo ὁράματα in Achmetes;) the Queſtion is not concerning the Principle from whence, or the Manner how theſe divinatory Impreſſes come, but what they repreſent or ſignifie: which if it be granted, that they prefigure rightly and unforcedly ſuch or ſuch things in Dreams, it is manifeſt that they will do the ſame in Viſions. For I ſpeak of ſuch Impreſſes as have not the Nature of the Effects of Complexion or of any other natural Cauſe, but of a mere Type or Prefiguration.

Wherefore it will not be impertinent to adjoyn ſometimes the Suffrage of theſe Onirocritical Writers to what Weight we produce out of Scripture and from Reaſon, for the interpreting of ſuch Symbols or Iconiſms as we ſhall compriſe in our Prophetick Alphabet; which I ſhall now exhibit to view.

5. Angels. There is ſuch frequent Mention of the Miniſtry of Angels in the Apocalyps, and their Preſidency there ſo prefixed to every thing, that I cannot omit to take Notice of this Scheme amongſt the reſt, though peradventure it does not fall ſo right under the Notion of an Icaſmus, they being rather the Inſtruments of Divine Providence than the Emblem of it. But if we reflect upon their vulgar Repreſentation, (which doubtleſs took its Ground from the Moſaick Cherubims) how well they are appointed with Wings for the quicker Diſpatch of thoſe Services that are expected of them, they are a not obſcure Symbol of that Wiſdom that is *ſaid to be more quick and moving than any Motion, and to reach from one End to another mightily and ſweetly to order all things. * Wiſd. 8.

But that Angels are in theſe Apocalyptick Viſions ſo conſtantly and particularly ſet over every Negotiation of Divine Providence, is exceeding conſonant to the Senſe of Daniel, (as in that great Change of Nebuchadnezzar's Condition which is ſaid to come to paſs by the Decree of the Watchers, עירין, the Greeks would ſay φύλακες, Excubitores or Vigiles, by which are underſtood Angels) and alſo to the Senſe of

was the fitteſt and moſt lively Repreſentation of that Condition that thoſe that are repreſented under the Figure of the two Witneſſes were to be in for 1260 Years together; yet that the Laws of the τὸ πρέπον and τὸ πιθανὸν of Story might be obſerved, it was requiſite that theſe 1260 Years ſhould be diſguiſed under the Symbol of three Days and an half. Which ſignifying the ſame that three times and a half, (for יום and עת are promiſcuouſly uſed the one for the other) and theſe three times and an half ſignifying 1260 Years, both the Truth which the Prophecy aims at is faithfully conveyed, and that decorous Embelliſhment in the external Cortex of the Prophecy punctually obſerved. And that not only by contracting the time, but alſo by annexing it to the End of the 1260 Days by a λεμματοσυνέχεια, which is in Latine as much as Corticis Continuatio.

And that this Prophetick Figure, which I call Antichroniſmus, is not a mere Supposition of mine, but a ſolid Truth, I have already made good in my Myſtery of Godlineſs, and ſhall further demonſtrate even with mathematical Certitude out of my Joint Expoſition of the 17 and 13 Chapters of the Apocalyps.

Book 5 ch. 15

14. Icaſmus, is a Prophetick Scheme that bears by far the greateſt Part in all the Viſions of Daniel and St. John, and is nothing elſe but the Repreſentation of things and Events by ſuch Symbols as bear ſome Similitude with the things and Events they ſtand for. Which Symbols being many, make the Skill of interpreting Prophecy more difficult, but not at all deſperate, as ſome delicate Wits would fancy to themſelves, and pretend an Horror and Affrightment at the uncouth Mention of ſuch variouſly-ſhaped Beaſts, and at the Clatter of their Horns: whenas if they would be pleaſed to lay aſide their Niceneſs, they might underſtand that theſe Hieroglyphicks of Prophecy might with far more Eaſe be made familiar to them than the Knowledge of Heraldry or Blazonry, which is no ſuch profound and unconquerable Study.

15. To Icaſmus, Iconiſmi are to be referred, as alſo Iconiſmorum Metallaxes. Now Metallaxis Iconiſmi is, when in the ſame Matter the ſame Iconiſm is not obſerved from the Beginning to the End of the Prophecy. Of this complex Figure there are two illuſtrious Examples in the Apocalypſe; the One in thoſe two Witneſſes, who are firſt ſaid to phopheſie cloathed in Sackcloth, and afterward to lie ſlain in the Streets of the Great City, and ſo lying to be ſeen by thoſe of the People, and Kindreds, and Tongues, and Nations. The other Inſtance is in that immenſe Aſſembly or Conflux almoſt of all Mankind divided into three Parts, of which the firſt Part ſeems to ſtand up for God, the Other for the Dragon, a Third for the Beaſt and falſe Prophet; but firſt they are repreſented as if they were three Armies gathered together in a Place call'd Armageddon, and afterwards as one Great City divided into three Parts by an Earthquake. But of this I will ſay no more.

Rev. 11.

Rev. 16.

CHAP. V.

1. The great Uſefulneſs of an Alphabet of Prophetick Iconiſms. 2. What the beſt Way of attaining to the right Senſe of them. 3. What Weight the Onirocriticks of the Ancients may caſt in toward the determining their Meaning. 4. That there is the ſame Reaſon of the Signification and Interpretation of Dreams as there is of Viſions, provided they be merely Typical and not Complexional. 5. Angels; Their Miniſtery in all Affairs of Providence a noted Suppoſition both in the ancient Cabbala and in the Apocalyps. 6. Aſcenſion into Heaven. 7. Air, the ſpecial Region of Devils. 8. Balances. 9. Beaſt; θυρία Idolatrous Kingdoms. 10. The Reaſon of the Lamb's ſignifying one ſingle Perſon, and of wild Beaſts noting Idolatry as well as Cruelty. 11. Blaſphemy, That it ſignifies Idolatry made out both upon the Account of Reaſon, Uſe of Scripture and Authority of Interpreters. 12. Blood. 13. Bow and Arrows; Buildings; Burial.

1. WE have ſhewn wherein the Obſcurity of Prophecy does mainly conſiſt, and by the Explication of the foregoing Figures have already done ſomething toward the making of the Skill of Interpreting eaſie to us. But there being ſo many and ſo various Examples of the laſt Scheme, we hold it needful to bring the moſt conſiderable of them into one Alphabet, and to ſet down the Signification of them. Which being taken Notice of will much conduce to the eaſie Spelling out the true Meaning of all Ænigmatical Prophecies in Scripture. For what * Ariſtotle ſaies ſaies of Ænigmatical Dreams, is true alſo of theſe Kind of Viſions. Τεχνικώτατός ἐστι κριτὴς ἐνυπνίων ὅστις δύναται τὰς ὁμοιότητας θεωρεῖν, τὰς δὲ εὐθυονειρίας κρίνειν παντός ἐστι· That he is the moſt artificial Interpreter of Dreams that is beſt at diſcerning Similitudes and Reſemblances, but for ſuch Dreams as exhibit to the Fancy the things themſelves; every one can judge of them.

* In his Περὶ ποιητικῆς ὃ ἐστιν Μαρτίνου, cap. 2.

Now the Viſions of Daniel and Apocalyps are not of the Nature of Εὐθυονειρίαι, but Ἐνύπνια αἰνιγματώδη, repreſenting things under Symbols or Similitudes. And therefore to have a ſettled and determinate Meaning (and that upon ſolid and rational Grounds) of ſuch Symbols and Iconiſms muſt needs contribute much to the inabling us with Eaſe and Succeſs to interpret theſe Prophecies, or to make us underſtand and approve or with Judgment diſapprove of the Interpretations of other Men.

2. And for my own Part I know no ſolider Method of ſettling and ſecuring to our ſelves the true Senſe of theſe Symbols, than by attending what the Scripture it ſelf declares of them, and by ſtrictly obſerving what Reaſon will unforcedly ſuggeſt or ſpy out concerning their Significancy and Repreſentativeneſs of things. To which if we add the Suffrages of them that have wrote of Onirocriticks, whether moſtwhat out of their own Reaſon and Obſervation, as Artemidorus profeſſes, or, (which is more to our Purpoſe) have made a Collection of the moſt ancient Writings of that kind, ſuch as Achmetes the Son of Seirim has provided us; it cannot but much ſtrengthen our Aſſurance of the Meaning of ſuch Iconiſms.

3. And that of Achmetes more eſpecially, being the Onirocriticks of three famous Interpreters of the Kings of India, Perſia, and Ægypt, and therefore withal ſo ancient and ſo Eaſtern, is the more probable to have a greater Cognation with the Prophetick Schemes of the Holy Writ. The firſt of theſe is Syrbacham, Interpreter to the King of India: but he does Chriſtianize ſo frequently and ſo palpably, that we may juſtly ſuſpect his Antiquity, yea conclude for a Certain that he hath lived ſince the Coming of Chriſt. The ſecond is Baram, Interpreter to Saaniſan King of Perſia; and the laſt Tarphan, Interpreter to Pharao King of Ægypt. The Uſe of whoſe Interpretations is approved even by Expoſitors of quite different Ways, Grotius I mean and Mr. Mede, who has the Honour of firſt breaking the Ice in this Buſineſs.

4. Nor is there any Scruple for that theſe are the Interpretations of Dreams, and not of Viſions: For beſides that there is great Affinity betwixt Viſions and Dreams, they being both Fantaſms impreſſed on the Imagination, not by any free Act or Excitation of our ſelves, but in a Way merely paſſive, the external Sences alſo being in a Manner conſopite in both, (whence theſe ὀνείρατα are called alſo ὁράματα in Achmetes;) the Queſtion is not concerning the Principle from whence, or the Manner how theſe divinatory Impreſſes come, but what they repreſent or ſignifie: which if it be granted, that they prefigure rightly and unforcedly ſuch or ſuch things in Dreams, it is manifeſt that they will do the ſame in Viſions. For I ſpeak of ſuch Impreſſes as have not the Nature of the Effects of Complexion or of any other natural Cauſe, but of a mere Type or Prefiguration.

Wherefore it will not be impertinent to adjoyn ſometimes the Suffrage of theſe Onirocritical Writers to what Weight we produce out of Scripture and from Reaſon, for the interpreting of ſuch Symbols or Iconiſms as we ſhall compriſe in our Prophetick Alphabet; which I ſhall now exhibit to view.

5. Angels. There is ſuch frequent Mention of the Miniſtry of Angels in the Apocalyps, and their Preſidency there ſo prefixed to every thing, that I cannot omit to take Notice of this Scheme amongſt the reſt, though peradventure it does not fall ſo right under the Notion of an Icaſmus, they being rather the Inſtruments of Divine Providence than the Emblem of it. But if we reflect upon their vulgar Repreſentation, (which doubtleſs took its Ground from the Moſaick Cherubims) how well they are appointed with Wings for the quicker Diſpatch of thoſe Services that are expected of them, they are a not obſcure Symbol of that Wiſdom that is *ſaid to be more quick and moving than any Motion, and to reach from one End to another mightily and ſweetly to order all things. * Wiſd. 8.

But that Angels are in theſe Apocalyptick Viſions ſo conſtantly and particularly ſet over every Negotiation of Divine Providence, is exceeding conſonant to the Senſe of Daniel, (as in that great Change of Nebuchadnezzar's Condition which is ſaid to come to paſs by the Decree of the Watchers, עירין, the Greeks would ſay φύλακες, Excubitores or Vigiles, by which are underſtood Angels) and alſo to the Senſe of the ancient Cabbala, that makes the Number Seven a Symbol of the Sabbatiſm of God, (wherein he reſts from his Works) and calls that Number φυλακῆτις in Relation to this Employment of theſe Excubitores or Vigiles, theſe holy Angels whom God imploys in the Adminiſtration of his Providence.

6. Aſcenſion into Heaven. A Kingdom or Polity being ſo expreſly reſembled to the World or Vniverſe, (as we ſhall ſee under that Title) it is an eaſie Analogy to parallel the Heavens to the High-places and Dignities of it. According to this Senſe is that of * Eſay, How art thou fallen from Heaven, O Lucifer, Son of the Morning! For thou haſt ſaid in thy Heart, I will aſcend into Heaven, &c. Aſpiraveras ad ſummam Dignitatem, ſo Vatablus. And Achmetes, Ἐι ϑ ἴδῃ τις ὅτι ἁβῆται ὡς ἐν τῷ ἀεϱνῷ, ὀνομασϑὲς ἔϛαι ϗ μέγας· Onirocrit. c. 161. And in the following Chapter, Ἐι ϑ ἴδῃ ὁ βασιλεὺς ὅτι ἀνήπτατο εἰς τὸν ἀεϱανὸν, ἐυρήσει ὕψος ϗ ὄνομα πλέον τῶν ἄλλων βασιλέων. And a little further, Ἐὰν ἴδῃ ὁ βασιλεὺς ὅτι ἀνελϑὼν ἐκάϑισεν ἐν ἀεϱανῷ, μείζονα χώϱαν ἧς ἔχει ϰαπαϰυϱεύσει· Thus Achmetes out of the Writings of the Indians, Perſians, and Ægyptians. All which does expreſly declare that Aſcending into Heaven ſignifies the Acquiſition or Increaſe of Political Dignities and Honours.

* Chap. 14.12

7. Air. That the Air is taken for the Place of the Empire of the Devil, appears from Epheſ. 2. And you, who were dead in Treſpaſſes and Sins, wherein in times paſt you walked according to the Courſe of this World, according to the Prince of the Power of the Air, the Spirit that now worketh in the Children of Vnbelief; that is to ſay, in Infidels, ſuch as have not ſubmitted themſelves to the Kingdom of God, but ſerve Idols and walk after the Luſts of their own Mind. Upon which Place Druſius out of חרשה מנחה, Sciendum à terra uſque ad Expanſum omnia plena eſſe turmis ac præfectis. According to which Opinion of the Hebrew Rabbins the Apoſtle again ſpeaks, Chap. 6. For we wreſtle not againſt Fleſh acd Blood, but againſt Principalities, againſt the Rulers of the Darkneſs of this World, πϱὸς τὰς ϰοσμοϰϱάτοϱας τῦ σϰότους τύτυ, againſt thoſe that hold faſt the Rule of this lower World, this dark caliginous Air; πϱὸς τὰ πνεύματα τῆς πονηϱίας ἐν τοῖς ἐπουϱανίοις, againſt wicked Spirits or Devils in theſe Aereal Places. For ἀεϱανὸς here is but to the ſame Senſe that Expanſum is in מנחה חרשה, the Space from the Clouds downward, as it is limited Gen. 1. Elſe how could theſe wicked Spirits be ſaid σειϱαῖς ζόφυ ταϱταϱωθῆναι, and δεσμοῖς ἀϊδίοις ὑπὸ ζόφον τηϱεῖσθαι, as both Peter and Jude declare of them?

But enough of this, and the rather, becauſe where Air occurs in the Prophetick Viſions in this Senſe we have ſpoken of, it is rather an ordinary Metonymy than an Icaſmus.

8. Balance. That a Balance ſhould ſignifie Juſtice, is obvious to any one to conceive, it being a main Inſtrument of commutative Juſtice, and a fit Emblem of exactly weighing out and ſharing all things, or rather diſpenſing all things accurately. Achmetes out of the Indian Onirocriticks, chap. 15. Ἐὰν τις ἴδῃ ϰατ' ὄναϱ ζυγὸν ἐ πάπῳ τινὶ ϰαθιζόμενον, τῦτο εἰς πϱόσωπον νοείτω ϰϱιτῦ. I omit to tranſcribe how he refers the πλάσιγγες, the Scales to the Ears of the Judge, and the Weights in theſe Scales to the Arguments pleaded on both Sides for him to ponder with an indifferent Hearing. And again in the ſame Chapter, Ἐὰν τὸ ζύγιον ἴδῃ δεξιὸν ϗ ϰαθαϱὸν, νοείτω ὅτι ὁ ϰειτὴς τῦ τόπυ δίϰαιός ἐϛιν· and more particularly he deſcants upon the Condition of the Scales and Beam: but here is enough already to ſhew how confeſſed an Emblem a Balance is of Juſtice. And he inſinuates the ſame of the τὰ μόδια, of Meaſures.

9. Beaſt. What a plain Reſemblance there is betwixt a Body Politick and a living Creature St. Paul copiouſly declares, 1 Cor. 12. And it is a thing moſt eaſie to conceive, that as in a Creature that has Life there are diſtinctly-framed Parts, ſo ordered one in Reference to another, that they are all to be moved for the good of the whole by that Power that reſides in the Brain in Virtue of the Spirits pervading throughout: ſo in a Polity, that there are ſeveral Orders and Ranks of Men held together by one common Law, (which is as the Life and Spirit of the Body Politick) and to be moved and directed for the common good by the Command and Appointment of the Sovereign Power which is the Head of this Kingdom or Polity. Wherefore it is no Wonder that Men or Nations thus framed into a Body Politick, which is called a Kingdom, be repreſented in Daniel under the Reſemblance of חיון, that is חיות, living Creatures. but ſuch as are rightly tranſlated by the Septuagint θηϱία, Feræ, wild Beaſts, they being ſuch that appear in thoſe Viſions. Of which Grotius upon Dan. 7. where there is Mention of the four great Beaſts aſcending out of the Sea; Ideo Beſtiæ, ſaith he, quia Idololatrica erant Imperia, ut notat tat hîc Jacchiades. But not for their Idolatry only, but alſo for their bloody Tyranny, as the ſame Grotius has noted excellently well upon Matth. 20. where Chriſt declaring that he that would be greateſt and firſt in his Kingdom muſt be the Miniſter and Servant of the reſt, and not κατακυριεύειν, or κατεξουσιάζειν, not lord it or ſwagger it over his Inferiours, as the Rulers of the Gentiles do; Hæc oppoſitio, ſaith he, oſtendit cur apud Prophetas Imperia mundi, Beſtiarum; Regnum Chriſti, Hominis imagine, depingantur. Where by Beſtiæ we are to underſtand while Beaſts, as the Word uſually ſignifies, and in that Senſe will exactly anſwer to the Seventy's θηρία, (from whence the Latine Word Feræ (which always ſignifies wild Beaſts) is derived by turning θ into φ according to the Æolick Dialect. Otherwiſe the Kingdoms of the World might be called Ζῶα, as the four Beaſts in the Apocalyps (which allude to the Camp of Iſrael diſtributed into four Quarters, as the famous Mr. Mede has rightly obſerved) are called, and not θηρία, that being a very unfit Title for any Polity where Humanity and Equity bear Sway.

10. But much leſs fit would it be for the true Body of Chriſt, but leaſt of all for the Lamb himſelf; nor the Lamb a fit Prophetick Repreſentative of one ſingle Perſon, but that Chriſt had got that Title before, being called by John The Lamb of God that takes away the Sins of the World, as being indeed that Paſchal Lamb whoſe Blood is the Salvation of his People. Wherefore unleſs there be ſome ſuch Bar as this, (which is an Inſtantia Monodica) it is moſt aſſuredly true, That an Animal or Beaſt in the Prophetick Style ſignifies not one ſingle Man, but a Company, Polity, or Kingdom. For how can they be ſaid to have Horns and Heads, and thoſe Horns and Heads be expreſly by an Angel from Heaven interpreted of Kings, if the whole Beaſts did not ſignifie, not ſingle Perſons, but Kingdoms?

But why theſe wild Beaſts ſhould imply Idolatry as well as Cruelty in their Type, the Reaſon lies a little deeper, but yet is not fathomleſs, which I conceive is this: Becauſe idolatrous Worſhip is lodged within the Verges of the mere Beſtial or Animal Nature, as may appear from what I have wrote in my Myſtery of Godlineſs, Book 2. chap. 10. to which, for Brevity Sake, I refer the Reader.

11. Blaſphemy. Blaſphemy for Idolatry is alſo an Icaſmus, and the Analogy is diſcernible enough. For what reproachful Words are concerning God to the Ears, the ſame is the Worſhipping of Images or any Creature with Religious Worſhip to the Eyes. For by either Way is declared that which is a Contumely and Vilification of God. And therefore it is no Wonder that the Prophetick Style affecting an artificial Concealment ſubſtitutes one Kind of Blaſphemy for another, that Blaſphemy which is διὰ λόγων ἢ ῥημάτων for that which is διὰ πραγμάτων ἢ τρόπων, as Chryſoſtom diſtinguiſhes of Divine Predictions.

But it is obſervable that the Scripture alſo in ſeveral Places terms Idolatry Blaſphemy. As in Eſay, I will recompenſe into their Boſoms your Iniquities and the Iniquities of your Fathers together, ſaith the Lord, which have burnt Incenſe upon the Mountains, and blaſphemed me upon the Hills: the Septuagint have it ὠνείδισάν με, which is manifeſtly the ſame with ἐβλασφήμησαν, which certainly was not διὰ λόγων, but διὰ πραγμάτων, by their Acts of Idolatry. Qui colunt Idola quaſi Deos, exprobrant Deo arrogantiam Divinitatis, ſaith, Cornelius A Lapide. The like expreſs Paſſage is in Ezekiel; Thus ſaith the Lord God, Yet in this your Fathers have blaſphemed me, in that they have committed a Treſpaſs againſt me: namely, when I brought them into the Land for the which I lifted up my Hand to give it to them, then they ſaw every high Hill and all the thick Trees, and they offered there their Sacrifices, and thereby preſented the Provocation of their Offering, &c. which the ſame Interpreter again expounds of their Idolatries, as alſo Gaſper Sanctius. Again, Deuter. 31. When they ſhall have eaten and filled themſelves and waxen fat, then will they turn to other Gods and ſerve them, and provoke me; ſo our Tranſlation: but the Hebrew has it ונאצוני, which is properly they will blaſpheme me; as it is tranſlated by the Seventy in Eſay 52. 5. כל־היום שמי מנאץ, διὰ παντὸς ὄνομά μου βλασφημεῖται. As alſo נאצה is rendred Ezek. 35. 12. Ἤκουσα τῆς φωνῆς τῶν βλασφημιῶν σου. נאצותיך is the Word in the original.

Laſtly, it is obſervable alſo that in Pſalm 69. 9. where the Prophet David ſays, The Reproaches of them that reproached thee οἱ ὀνειδισμοὶ τῶν ὀνειδιζόντων σε, (which is the ſame as if it had been αἱ βλασφημίαι τῶν βλασφημούντων σε) are fallen upon me, the Chaldee Paraphraſt interprets it of that Reproach which God receives by communicating his Worſhip unto Idols, whenas yet it is expreſſed by Blaſphemy or contumely of Words, for ſo ὀνειδισμὸς ſignifies. Wherefore ſeeing the Children of Iſrael are ſaid in their prevaricating in the Worſhip of God, and turning to Idols, to blaſpheme; it is very

Chap. 65. 7.

Chap. 20. 27.

Verſ. 20.

ry eaſie to conceive, by the Rule of Conjugates, that this Idolatry of theirs may well be called Blaſphemy.

Accordingly therefore Alcazar interprets the Names of Blaſphemy, in the Apocalyps, on the ſeven Heads of the Beaſt, of the Temples of Idols; and Grotius paraphraſes γέμον ὀνομάτων βλασφημίας, Plena diis qui ità dicebantur in veri Dei injuriam. So eaſily is it acknowledged on all Hands, that Blaſphemy may be put for Idolatry. And it is the moſt happy and ſignificant Icaſmus that can be, nothing expreſſing the deteſtable Nature of Idolatry ſo well as it. For Idolatry is as abſolute a Subſannation and Vilification of God as Malice could invent, and as ill as if they ſhould call him by the Names of all that baſe liveleſs Matter that they make their Images of, and proclaim him no better than it: For they giving Divine Worſhip to it, make it equal to him. And this Blaſphemy is proportionable in the Worſhip of other more worthy Objects that are not God: for they are infinitely worthleſs in compariſon of him, and therefore it is an infinite Reproach and horrid Blaſphemy againſt God to worſhip any thing beſides him.

12. Blood. That Blood is an Hieroglyphick of Slaughter, Providence it ſelf ſeems to take for granted in præmitting that Prodigie of Raining Blood before the Eruptions of War and Bloodſhed, as Hiſtory reports, and all Men naturally interpret.
Heb. 12. 4. And where the Apoſtle ſays, Ye have not yet reſiſted unto Blood, the Meaning is, unto Death, be it myſtically or naturally meant. But even there where Death is meant Ezek. 33. 8. myſtically, there is Mention of Blood: As when the Prophet is charged to Denounce to him that ſins againſt the Law of God with an High-hand, that he ſhall ſurely die, ſpeaking of eternal Death; yet, upon the Omiſſion of this Warning, it is ſaid, that his Blood ſhall be upon the Prophet. And Chap. 14. 19. even natural Death, where there is no Effuſion of Blood, is ſo expreſſed; Or if I ſend Peſtilence into the Land, and pour out my Fury upon it in Blood, to cut off from it Man and Beaſt. Upon which Grotius rightly out of the Chaldee Paraphraſt, Omne mortis immaturæ genus Sanguis Hebræis. Blood therefore ſignifies Death, and bloody, dead; becauſe, as it is written, In the Blood thereof is the Life thereof. And anſwerably to this
* Oniroc rit. c. 103. * Achmetes, according to the Senſe of the Ægyptians and Perſians, τὸ αἷμα δύναμις τῦ ἀνθρώπυ ἡ ζωή ἐστι· where the letting out his Blood muſt be his Death; and in Analogy, the deſtroying the Strength of any thing, or that Power or Virtue whereby it is what it is, is the Death of that thing, not conſidering whether it be Animate or Inanimate.

13. Bow and Arrows. They naturally ſignifie the Aiming or Levelling at ſome thing, and the Hitting the Mark, the Enjoying the Scope of our Enterpriſes: But it may more peculiarly refer to Victory in War, and the rather becauſe they are Oniroc rit. 249. warlike Weapons. Achmetes out of the Onirocriticks of the Ægyptians and Perſians, Ἐὰν ἴδῃ τις ὅτι ἐπέχει βέλη ἢ τόξα, ἐπιχαρήσεται ὅτι τοῖς ἐχθροῖς αὐτῦ· If a Man dream he holds in his Hand Bow and Arrows, he ſhall victoriouſly inſult over his Enemies.

Buildings. Achmetes according to the Senſe of the Indian Interpreter, Εἰ ὑ ἀπὸ μαρμάρυ ἢ λίθυ τὸ πῖσμα, ὁ ἰδὼν ἔσαι πολύζωος, ἢ ὁ πλῦτος αὐτῦ ἀκαταμάχητ@. If one dream he is in an Houſe of Marble or Stone, it imports Long-life, and Riches where Thieves cannot break through nor ſteal.

Burial. For a dead Body to be Unburied, it may have a two-fold Signification, either of a more infamous Death, or of Hope of Recovering into Life. According to Chap. 6. 3. the firſt is that of Eccleſiaſtes, If a Man beget an hundred Children, and live many Years, and his Soul be not filled with Good, and alſo that he have no Burial; I ſay, that an untimely Birth is better than he. Otherwiſe not to be buried may ſignifie only that what the Viſion portends will not be quite finiſhed; Burial being the Conſummation of all, even of Death it ſelf. Whence Leonas Syrus Dreaming that he was dead, but not Artemidor. lib. 4. c. 84. buried, Artemidorus interprets it of that Event, viz. that he was victorious, but not crown'd. But Menander of Smyrna Dreaming alſo that he was buried, was alſo crowned Victor at the Olympick Games. Wherefore not to be buried, in Viſions that portend Good, is Bad; in thoſe that portend Bad, is Good. And Achmetes expreſly, according to the Senſe of the Indian Interpreters, Ἡ σήψις ἐν ταφίων εἰς ἐλπίδα σωτηρίας κρίνεται· If there be any thing wanting whereby the Interrement is hindred, it ſignifies Hope of Recovery to Life.

CHAP.

CHAP. VI.

1. Candle. 2. Character. 3. Clouds of Heaven. 4. Crown of precious Stones. 5. Darkneſs; Day; Death. 6. Deſart. 7. Dragon, a Figure of the Devil according to the ancient Cabbala, and then of the chief Polities that oppoſe the Church. 8. Drunkenneſs. 9. Eagle; Earth-quake. 10. Eclipſes. 11. Eye, an Hieroglyphick of Counſel and Prudence. 12. Fiſhing; Fiſhing dead in the Sea. 13. Fire, the different Significations thereof. 14. Fire from Heaven, its exact Significancy of Excommunication. 15, 16. Fleſh, two notable Significations thereof. 17. Floud; Fornication; Frogs. 18. Gemms and precious Stones; God.

1. Candle. Candle ſeems to ſignifie the proſperous State of Things in this World. Job. 18. Yea the Light of the Wicked ſhall be put out, and the Spark of his Fire ſhall not ſhine: The Light ſhall be dark in his Tabernacle, and his Candle ſhall be put out. And Chap. 29. O that I were as in Months paſt, as in the Days when God preſerved me; when his Candle ſhined upon my Head, and by his Light I walked thro' Darkneſs. The like proſperous Succeſs the Pſalmiſt alſo denotes by the ſame Figure, Pſal. 18. 28. For thou wilt light my Candle, the Lord my God will make my Darkneſs to be Light; in his Song of Thankſgiving for his Deliverance out of the Hand of Saul. Aſtrampſychus and Nicephorus, Φωσφόρος εἰδεῖν πραγμάτων δηλοῖ φάος.

And Artemidorus, lib. 2. c. 9. Λύχνος ὁ καιόμενος ἐν οἰκίᾳ λαμπρός, ἀγαθός· φόσκησιν γὰρ σημαίνει καὶ ἀφορίαν πᾶσιν. A Candle ſeen burning bright in the Houſe portends good, the Increaſe of Riches and Plenty. Laſtly, Achmetes, according to the Meaning of the Ægyptians and Perſians, Εἴ τις ἀνῆψε λαμπάδα καὶ φέρει αὐτὴν, εἰ μὲν ὄζει βασιλεὺς ὁ ἰδὼν, εἰς δόξαν καὶ νίκας, καὶ ὅλεθρον ἐχθρῶν κρίνεται· εἰ δὲ τὸ κοινὸν εὑρήσει ἀξίωμα ἀνάλογον τῆς λαμπάδος. And in the ſame Chapter again he ſaith, That the lighting up of Lights ſignifies Joy and Chearfulneſs, χαρὰν καὶ εὐφροσύνην. but the Extinction of them againſt a Man's Will, θλῖψιν ἀπὸ ἐχθρῶν ἀναλόγως τῷ σκότους, Affliction and Diſtreſs from a Man's Enemies proportionable to the Darkneſs.

2. Character. That Servants and Soldiers received Marks upon their Foreheads and Hands, whereby it might be known to whom they did belong, is beyond all Controverſy, with thoſe who are acquainted with Antiquity, there being ſufficient Teſtimony thereof in Authors. See what is congeſted in Mr. Mede and Grotius upon Apocal. 13. But in the Prophetick Style it does not imply that there is any viſible Mark in the Hand or on the Head of thoſe that are ſaid to be marked, but only that there is an open Profeſſion of belonging to them whoſe Mark they are ſaid to receive. For they are only Types of Propriety, and are no more to be conceived to be really impreſſed upon them that are ſaid to bear them, than thoſe whole Kingdoms of Men, that are called Beaſts in the Prophetick Style, are to be imagined to be Metamorphoſed into Bears or Leopards. For all theſe are Typical Attributes, not Real.

3. Clouds of Heaven. In the Scripture-phraſe they ſeem to ſignify Power and great Glory. Achmetes, Chap. 194. Ἐὰν ἴδῃ ὁ βασιλεὺς ὅτι κάθηται ἐν νεφέλαις ἀχώμενος ἔνθα θέλει, ἐχθρῶν δεσπόσει, καὶ εὑρήσει νίκας καὶ χαρὰς ἀπροσδοκήτους, according to the Mind of the Perſians and Ægyptians. And Chap 162. according to the Ægyptians, Perſians, and Indians, Εἰ δὲ ἴδῃ ὁ βασιλεὺς ὅτι ἀνήπτατο ὡς τὸν ἀέρανον ἔνθα οἱ ἀστέρες, ἀρήσει ὕψος καὶ ὄνομα πλέον ἢ ἄλλων βασιλέων. And again in the ſame Chapter, Ἐὰν ἴδῃ ὅτι ἀνελθὼν ἐπάθησεν ἐν ἀέρανῷ, μείζονα χάριν ἢ ἔχει καταπειθήσει. The Senſe of all which is this, That the Riding upon the Clouds and Aſcending into Heaven ſignifies honourable Proſperity, and Succeſs againſt our Enemies, and Enlargement of Power and Dignity.

4. Crown of Gemms and precious Stones. Achmetes out of the Onicroriticks of the Indians, Chap. 247. Ἐὰν ἴδῃ ὅτι ἐπέθη ἐν τῇ κεφαλῇ αὐτοῦ στέφανος ἐκ τιμίων λίθων καὶ μαργαριτῶν, ἀναλόγως τοῦ κόσμου καὶ τοῦ κάλλους τοῦ στεφάνου, ὅσος ἂν εἴη, ἀρήσει πλοῦτον καὶ ὕψος καὶ δόξαν. Where the Force of the Interpretation bears moſt upon the Gemms or precious Stones, they being the Emblems of Riches, High Dignities and Honour. They have alſo a more myſtical Meaning in this very Chapter, and ſignify τὴν δογμάτων τῶν θείων λαμπρότητα, the Brightneſs of Divine Doctrine or Truth. But Chap. 248. they are only interpre-ry eaſie to conceive, by the Rule of Conjugates, that this Idolatry of theirs may well be called Blaſphemy.

Accordingly therefore Alcazar interprets the Names of Blaſphemy, in the Apocalyps, on the ſeven Heads of the Beaſt, of the Temples of Idols; and Grotius paraphraſes ναὸν ὀνομάτων βλασφημίας, Plena diis qui ità dicebantur in veri Dei injuriam. So eaſily is it acknowledged on all Hands, that Blaſphemy may be put for Idolatry. And it is the moſt happy and ſignificant Icaſmus that can be, nothing expreſſing the deteſtable Nature of Idolatry ſo well as it. For Idolatry is as abſolute a Subſtannation and Vilification of God as Malice could invent, and as ill as if they ſhould call him by the Names of all that baſe liveleſs Matter that they make their Images of, and proclaim him no better than it: For they giving Divine Worſhip to it, make it equal to him. And this Blaſphemy is proportionable in the Worſhip of other more worthy Objects that are not God: for they are infinitely worthleſs in compariſon of him, and therefore it is an infinite Reproach and horrid Blaſphemy againſt God to worſhip any thing beſides him.

12. Blood. That Blood is an Hieroglyphick of Slaughter, Providence it ſelf ſeems to take for granted in præmitting that Prodigie of Raining Blood before the Eruptions of War and Bloodſhed, as Hiſtory reports, and all Men naturally interpret. Heb. 12. 4. And where the Apoſtle ſays, Ye have not yet reſiſted unto Blood, the Meaning is, unto Death, be it myſtically or naturally meant. But even there where Death is meant Ezek. 33. 8. myſtically, there is Mention of Blood: As when the Prophet is charged to Denounce to him that ſins againſt the Law of God with an High-hand, that he ſhall ſurely die, ſpeaking of eternal Death; yet, upon the Omiſſion of this Warning, it is ſaid, that his Blood ſhall be upon the Prophet. And Chap. 14. 19. even natural Death, where there is no Effuſion of Blood, is ſo expreſſed; Or if I ſend Peſtilence into the Land, and pour out my Fury upon it in Blood, to cut off from it Man and Beaſt. Upon which Grotius rightly out of the Chaldee Paraphraſt, Omne mortis immaturæ genus Sanguis Hebræis. Blood therefore ſignifies Death, and bloody, dead; becauſe, as it is written, In the Blood thereof is the Life thereof. And anſwerably to this * Achmetes, according to the Senſe of the Ægyptians and Perſians, τὸ αἷμα θάνατος τῦ ἀνθρώπε ἀν ζωὴ ἔσι· where the letting out his Blood muſt be his Death; and in Analogy, the deſtroying the Strength of any thing, or that Power or Virtue whereby it is what it is, is the Death of that thing, not conſidering whether it be Animate or Inanimate.

* Onirocrit. c. 103.

13. Bow and Arrows. They naturally ſignifie the Aiming or Levelling at ſome thing, and the Hitting the Mark, the Enjoying the Scope of our Enterpriſes: But it may more peculiarly refer to Victory in War, and the rather becauſe they are Oniroc. 249. warlike Weapons. Achmetes out of the Oniroc riticks of the Ægyptians and Perſians, Ἐὰν ἴδῃ τις ὅτι ἐυρέτει βέλη καὶ τόξα, ἐπιχαρήσεται ὅτι τοῖς ἐχθροῖς αὐτῦ· If a Man dream he holds in his Hand Bow and Arrows, he ſhall victoriouſly inſult over his Enemies.

Buildings. Achmetes according to the Senſe of the Indian Interpreter, Εἰ ὁ ἀπὸ μαρμάρε ἢ λίθε τὸ πτίσμα, ὁ ἰδὼν ἔσαι πολύζωος, καὶ ὁ πλέτος αὐτῦ ἀκαταμάχητος. If one dream he is in an Houſe of Marble or Stone, it imports Long-life, and Riches where Thieves cannot break through nor ſteal.

Burial. For a dead Body to be Unburied, it may have a two-fold Signification, either of a more infamous Death, or of Hope of Recovering into Life. According to Chap. 6. 3. the firſt is that of Eccleſiaſtes, If a Man beget an hundred Children, and live many Years, and his Soul be not filled with Good, and alſo that he have no Burial; I ſay, that an untimely Birth is better than he. Otherwiſe not to be buried may ſignifie only that what the Viſion portends will not be quite finiſhed; Burial being the Conſummation of all, even of Death it ſelf. Whence Leonas Syrus Dreaming that he was dead, but not Artemidor. lib. 4. c. 84. buried, Artemidorus interprets it of that Event, viz. that he was victorious, but not crown'd. But Menander of Smyrna Dreaming alſo that he was buried, was alſo crowned Victor at the Olympick Games. Wherefore not to be buried, in Viſions that portend Good, is Bad; in thoſe that portend Bad, is Good. And Achmetes expreſly, according to the Senſe of the Indian Interpreters, Ἡ στέρησις ἐν ταφίων εἰς ἐλπίδα σωτηρίας κρίνεται· If there be any thing wanting whereby the Interrement is hindred, it ſignifies Hope of Recovery to Life.

CHAP.

CHAP. VI.

1. Candle. 2. Character. 3. Clouds of Heaven. 4. Crown of precious Stones. 5. Darkneſs; Day; Death. 6. Deſart. 7. Dragon, a Figure of the Devil according to the ancient Cabbala, and then of the chief Polities that oppoſe the Church. 8. Drunkenneſs. 9. Eagle; Earth-quake. 10. Eclipſes. 11. Eye, an Hieroglyphick of Counſel and Prudence. 12. Fiſhing; Fiſhing dead in the Sea. 13. Fire, the different Significations thereof. 14. Fire from Heaven, its exact Significancy of Excommunication. 15, 16. Fleſh, two notable Significations thereof. 17. Floud; Fornication; Frogs. 18. Gemms and precious Stones; God.

1. Candle. Candle ſeems to ſignifie the proſperous State of Things in this World. Job. 18. Yea the Light of the Wicked ſhall be put out, and the Spark of his Fire ſhall not ſhine: The Light ſhall be dark in his Tabernacle, and his Candle ſhall be put out. And Chap. 29. O that I were as in Months paſt, as in the Days when God preſerved me; when his Candle ſhined upon my Head, and by his Light I walked thro' Darkneſs. The like proſperous Succeſs the Pſalmiſt alſo denotes by the ſame Figure, Pſal. 18. 28. For thou wilt light my Candle, the Lord my God will make my Darkneſs to be Light; in his Song of Thankſgiving for his Deliverance out of the Hand of Saul. Aſtrampſychus and Nicephorus, Φωσφόρος εἰδεῖν πραγμάτων δηλοῖ φάος.

And Artemidorus, lib. 2. c. 9. Λύχνος ὁ καιόμενος ἐν οἰκίᾳ λαμπρὸς, ἀγαθὸς· σημαίνει γὰρ εὐπορίαν πᾶσιν. A Candle ſeen burning bright in the Houſe portends good, the Increaſe of Riches and Plenty. Laſtly, Achmetes, according to the Meaning of the Ægyptians and Perſians, Εἴ τις ἀνῆψε λαμπάδα καὶ φέρει αὐτὴν, εἰ μὲν ὅτι βασιλεὺς ὁ ἰδὼν, εἰς δόξαν καὶ νίκας, καὶ ὅλεθρον ἐχθρῶν κρίνεται· εἰ δὲ τὸ κοινὸν εὑρήσει ἀξίωμα ἀνάλογον τῆς λαμπάδος. And in the ſame Chapter again he ſaith, That the lighting up of Lights ſignifies Joy and Chearfulneſs, χαρὰν καὶ χαροποίησιν. but the Extinction of them againſt a Man's Will, θλῖψιν ὑπὸ ἐχθρῶν ἀναλόγως τῷ σκότους, Affliction and Diſtreſs from a Man's Enemies proportionable to the Darkneſs.

2. Character. That Servants and Soldiers received Marks upon their Foreheads and Hands, whereby it might be known to whom they did belong, is beyond all Controverſy, with thoſe who are acquainted with Antiquity, there being ſufficient Teſtimony thereof in Authors. See what is congeſted in Mr. Mede and Grotius upon Apocal. 13. But in the Prophetick Style it does not imply that there is any viſible Mark in the Hand or on the Head of thoſe that are ſaid to be marked, but only that there is an open Profeſſion of belonging to them whoſe Mark they are ſaid to receive. For they are only Types of Propriety, and are no more to be conceived to be really impreſſed upon them that are ſaid to bear them, than thoſe whole Kingdoms of Men, that are called Beaſts in the Prophetick Style, are to be imagined to be Metamorphoſed into Bears or Leopards. For all theſe are Typical Attributes, not Real.

3. Clouds of Heaven. In the Scripture-phraſe they ſeem to ſignify Power and great Glory. Achmetes, Chap. 194. Ἐὰν ἴδῃ ὁ βασιλεὺς ὅτι κάθηται ἐν νεφέλαις ἀρόμενος ἔνθα θέλει, ἐχθρῶν δεσπόσει, καὶ εὑρήσει νίκας καὶ χαρὰς ἀπροσδοκήτους, according to the Mind of the Perſians and Ægyptians. And Chap 162. according to the Ægyptians, Perſians, and Indians, Εἰ δὲ ἴδῃ ὁ βασιλεὺς ὅτι ἀνήπτατο ὡς τὸν οὐρανὸν ἔνθα οἱ ἀστέρες, ἀρήσει ὕψος καὶ ἄνομα πλέον τῶν ἄλλων βασιλέων. And again in the ſame Chapter, Ἐὰν ἴδῃ ὅτι ἀνελθὼν ἐκάθισεν ἐν οὐρανῷ, μείζονα χάριν ἧς ἔχει καταχωεισθήσει. The Senſe of all which is this, That the Riding upon the Clouds and Aſcending into Heaven ſignifies honourable Proſperity, and Succeſs againſt our Enemies, and Enlargement of Power and Dignity.

4. Crown of Gemms and precious Stones. Achmetes out of the Onicroriticks of the Indians, Chap. 247. Ἐὰν ἴδῃ ὅτι ἐτέθη ἐν τῇ κεφαλῇ αὐτοῦ στέφανος ἐκ τιμίων λίθων καὶ μαργαριτῶν, ἀναλόγως τῷ κόσμῳ καὶ τῷ κάλλει τῷ στεφάνῳ, ὅσις ἂν εἴη, ἀρήσει πλεῖστον καὶ ὕψος καὶ δόξαν. Where the Force of the Interpretation bears moſt upon the Gemms or precious Stones, they being the Emblems of Riches, High Dignities and Honour. They have alſo a more myſtical Meaning in this very Chapter, and ſignify τὴν δογμάτων τῶν θείων λαμπρότητα, the Brightneſs of Divine Doctrine or Truth. But Chap. 248. they are only interpreted of worldy things, according to the Mind of the Ægyptians and Perſians: Ἀλλ' ἐὰν ἴδῃ ταῦτα, viz. Pearls and precious Stones, ὅτι ἐυπόρηκε that he has got abundance of them, ὁρίσει πλῆτον ἀνάλογον καὶ δόξαν, he ſhall find proportionable Riches and Honour.

5. Darkneſs. See Candle and Eye.

Day. See Time.

Death. Death is a Diſſolution of Body and Soul, and therefore properly belongs only to a natural Animal; but by Analogy may be transferred to all Bodies Politick, which the Prophetick Style repreſents under the Figure of Animals or ſingle Perſons, whether by the ſimple Appellation of Man or Woman, or elſe by the Addition of ſome ſuch Marks or Conditions of Man or Woman, as Whore, Wife, Witneß, or the like. Now what Life and Spirit is to a natural Animal, that is Rule and Power to figurative Perſons or Animals in the Prophetick Senſe, which are Bodies Politick. And therefore as the Loſs of the natural Life is the Death of the one, ſo the Loſs of the analogous Life is the Death of the other. And becauſe there is a Spirit in all things, even in thoſe things that are inanimate, the Fading or Vaniſhing of that Spirit may be ſaid analogically to be the Death of thoſe things. Inſtances are innumerable. I will only add, that as in the Hebrew Idiom not to be is the ſame as to be dead; ſo in Analogy any thing that is not what it was, namely, any thing that is changed from its former Condition, this Change thereof may go for a Kind of Death; as Death is ordinarily ſaid to be a Change.

6. Deſart. That by Deſart is meant Paganiſm, Alcazar pronounces with great Confidence, ſpeaking of the Woman in the Wilderneß; In qua Locutione (ſaies he) notandum eſt per Deſertum proculdubio figurari Gentilitatem. For which Opinion he produces a Cloud of Witneſſes, Clemens Alexandrinus, Origen, Ambroſius, Baſilius, Hieronymus, Gregorius, Hilarius, Heſychius, &c. The Reaſon of which Hieroglyphick I conceive is this; The Idolatry of the Pagans was much in Woods and Groves and on the Tops of Mountains and vaſt Places; and the Names of their Dæmons שדים and שעירים have Reference to the Fields and Deſarts. Beſides that Idolaters do almoſt never emerge above the Pitch of the mere Animal Life, and their Worſhip and Devotion is little higher than that of the Elephant or Cercopithecus.

7. Dragon. The Hebrew Word is תנין and ſignifies Draco or Serpens, and alſo Cetus, as being the great Serpent or Dragon of the Sea. And accordingly the Seventy render התהנינים התנולים Gen. 1. That it is a Figure of the Devil, the ancient Cabbala of Moſes may aſſure us; and it may be, though ſome one Chief amongſt the Devils may there be principally denoted, yet the Serpent there may have a Prophetick Henopæia in it, and ſignifie the whole Principality of Satan, that Kingdom of Darkneſs which has been ever in Oppoſition againſt the Kingdom of God: and therefore it is no Wonder that thoſe Kingdoms that have in ſuch a ſpecial Manner afflicted the Church, have been repreſented under this Figure, as Ægypt and the Roman Empire.

Eſay 51. Awake, awake, put on Strength, O Arm of the Lord, awake as in the Ancient Days, in the Generations of old. Art not thou he that hath cut Rahab, (that is, Ægypt, ſee Forerius) and wounded the Dragon? Which is Pharaoh, as Ezekiel plainly ſpeaks out.

Chap. 29. I am againſt thee, Pharaoh King of Ægypt, the great Dragon that lieth in the midſt of the Rivers. And for that he lies thus in the Rivers, he is called Leviathan, as if he were a Water-ſerpent or a Whale. Pſalm 74. Thou breakeſt the Heads of Leviathan in Pieces, and gaveſt him to be Meat to thy People in the Wilderneſs. ראשי לויתן Heads of Leviathan; as if this Leviathan, as the Dragon in the Apocalyps, had more Heads than one.

Theſe Conſiderations plainly intimate to us, That the Seven headed Serpent in the Apocalyps, which is the Roman State or Kingdom, is ſo repreſented not only in Regard of that old Serpentine Form that tempted our firſt Parents, but has a Reflexion alſo upon that Tyrannical Kingdom of Ægypt which is typified under the Image of a Dragon and Leviathan; and that not only Rome Pagan has a Share in this Type, but Rome Pagano-chriſtian. For all the Seven Heads are from the Body of the Dragon; and the Beaſt that was, and is not, and yet is, is as well the Dragon as not the Dragon, and therefore is as well Ægypt (and I wiſh I could not ſay more) as the Church of God, or the Kingdom of his Son Jeſus.

8. Drunkenneſs. It is taken ſometimes for the being ſo filled and intoxicated with the Pleaſures and Affluences of this World, as to be regardleſs and ſenſeleſs of the things of God. Eſay 29. Stay your ſelves and wonder, cry ye out and cry: They are drunken, but not with Wine; they ſtagger, but not with ſtrong Drink. For the Lord has has poured upon you the Spirit of deep Sleep, and hath closed your Eyes; the Prophets and the Rulers, the Seers hath he covered. Such a remiss Stupor and Drunkenness does the Prosperity of this World often cast Men into. Achmetes from the Indian Interpretations, Cap. 111. Ἐάν τις ἴδῃ ὅτι ἐμεθύσθη οἴνῳ, ἀρούσι πλοῦτον καὶ ἐξουσίαν ἀνάλογον τῆς μέθης. If any one dream he is drunk with Wine, Riches and Power will flow in to him proportionably to his Drunkenness. And he affirms the like in the following Chapter according to the Ægyptians and Persians. There is also a Drunkenness from the Cup of Affliction, which is often intimated in the Scriptures.

9. Eagle. Esay 40. 31. But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their Strength; they shall mount up with Wings as Eagles, they shall run and not be weary, they shall walk and not be faint. And Exod. 19. 4. Ye had seen what I did to the Ægyptians, and how I bare you on Eagles Wings, and brought you unto my self. Artemidor. lib. 2. Cap. 20. Ὀχεῖσθαι ἀετῷ πένησι μὲν ἀγαθόν· ἀναληφθέντες γὰρ ὑπό τινων πλουσίων ὠφεληθήσονται ὑπ' αὐτῶν. For poor Men to dream they ride upon an Eagle, it is good; for it signifies they will be supported and well relieved by the Rich.

Earth-quake. So we usually turn the Greek Word σεισμὸς, but it signifies also more generally any Shaking or Concussion; as Heb. 12. 26. Ἔτι ἅπαξ ἐγὼ σείω οὐ μόνον τὴν γῆν, ἀλλὰ καὶ τὸν οὐρανόν· where the Author says this σεισμὸς signifies the removing of those things that are shaken. Hagg. 2. 21. Speak to Zerubbabel Governour of Judah, saying, I will shake the Heavens and the Earth, and I will overthrow the Thrones of Kingdoms, and I will destroy the Strength of the Kingdoms of the Heathen. Ἰδοὺ ἐγὼ σείω, &c. And this is a plain μετάθεσις τῶν σαλευομένων. The like Ruin and Overturning of things is set out, but by what is the Effect of σεισμὸς, an Earth-quake properly so called, Jer. 4. 24. I beheld the Mountains, and lo they trembled, and all the Hills moved lightly. Which, verse 26, he interprets as Haggai before, I beheld, and lo the fruitful Place was a Wilderness, and all the Cities thereof were broken down, &c.

Achmetes out of the Indian, Persian, and Ægyptian Onirocriticks, Ἐὰν ἴδῃ τις βασιλεὺς ὅτι ἐσείσθη ἡ πόλις αὐτοῦ ἢ ἡ γῆ αὐτοῦ, εἰς πόλεμον ἐθνῶν καὶ ὀλεθρίαν κατ' αὐτοῦ κρίνεται. Artemidor. lib. 2. c. 46. Γῆ κινουμένη τὰ πράγματα τοῦ ἰδόντος κινηθήσεσθαι σημαίνει. χάσματα δὲ καὶ σεισμοὶ καὶ συμπτώσεις πάντας ἀνθρώπους ἀδικοῦσι, καὶ διαφθείρουσιν αὐτοὺς ἢ τὰ ὑπάρχοντα αὐτῆς. The Meaning whereof is, That by Earth-quakes are signified Wars, Slaughter of Men, and Subversion of Fortunes and Estates. But this is so easie an Iconism, that it was needless to produce so many Testimonies.

10. Eclipses. The Eclipses of the Luminaries what they mean, will easily be understood, if we consider what the Sun and Moon are in the Political Universe. For certainly they are the highest Dignities in that Heaven. Of which more under their proper Titles. In the mean time it shall suffice briefly to note out of Achmetes, that according to the Indian, Persian, and Ægyptian Onirocriticks, If the Sun be ἀφώτιστος καὶ ἄνευ ἀκτίνων, without Brightness (in such an Hue, I suppose, as Virgil describes, and without Rays, τὸ πάθος καὶ ἀδοξία εἰς πρόσωπον ὅτι βασιλέως, that inglorious Obscurity and Duskishness is referred to the Person of the King, and implies an Imminution of his Glory. Ἐὰν δὲ ἴδῃ τις ὅτι τοῦ ἡλίου ἐγένετο ἔκλειψις, θλῖψιν καὶ πόλεμον ἐχθρῶν εὑρήσει ὁ βασιλεύς· But if the Sun be eclipsed, he will be afflicted and oppressed by War.

Cùm caput obscurâ nitidum ferrugine tinxit)

The same Judgment they give of the Moon and Stars, if they be ὀλιγόφωτα, ἀφώτιστα, or σκοτειναί, Τὸ πάθος εἰς λαὸν καὶ τοὺς ἄρχοντας βασιλέως κρινέτω. See Cap. 167, 168. These things are too easie to insist upon, and will be necessarily acknowledged, it being once granted That the Universe is a Prophetick Emblem of a Kingdom or Polity, as we shall clearly shew in its due Place.

11. Eye. The Light of the Body, saith our Saviour, is the Eye. And Aristotle, Ὁ νοῦς ἐν ὀφθαλμῷ, νοῦς ἐν ψυχῇ, That the Eye of the Soul is the Understanding or Intellect. So that it is plain that the Eye is an Iconism of Knowledge, as Darkness and Blindness is of Ingnorance; an Expression frequent in the Scripture. * Topic. l. 1. c. 14.

But there is also a peculiar Fitness of Significancy of humane Policy and Prospection in the Eye; that Organ of the Body being not only in the Head, but the chief Guide of it and the whole Body, as being able to reach further by far and to act more quick than any other Sense whatsoever. Wherefore Prospicere in Longinquum, that is to say, wisely to consult afore-hand for the rightly managing Affairs, and to contrive Counsels so as makes most for the future Safety of things, ted of worldy things, according to the Mind of the Ægyptians and Perſians: Ἄλλῳ ἐὰν ἴδῃ ταῦτα, viz. Pearls and precious Stones, ὅτι ἐυπόρησε that he has got abundance of them, ἀρήσει πλῆτον ἀνάλογον καὶ δόξαν, he ſhall find proportionable Riches and Honour.

5. Darkneſs. See Candle and Eye.

Day. See Time.

Death. Death is a Diſſolution of Body and Soul, and therefore properly belongs only to a natural Animal; but by Analogy may be transferred to all Bodies Politick, which the Prophetick Style repreſents under the Figure of Animals or ſingle Perſons, whether by the ſimple Appellation of Man or Woman, or elſe by the Addition of ſome ſuch Marks or Conditions of Man or Woman, as Whore, Wife, Witneſs, or the like. Now what Life and Spirit is to a natural Animal, that is Rule and Power to figurative Perſons or Animals in the Prophetick Senſe, which are Bodies Politick. And therefore as the Loſs of the natural Life is the Death of the one, ſo the Loſs of the analogous Life is the Death of the other. And becauſe there is a Spirit in all things, even in thoſe things that are inanimate, the Fading or Vaniſhing of that Spirit may be ſaid analogically to be the Death of thoſe things. Inſtances are innumerable. I will only add, that as in the Hebrew Idiom not to be is the ſame as to be dead; ſo in Analogy any thing that is not what it was, namely, any thing that is changed from its former Condition, this Change thereof may go for a Kind of Death; as Death is ordinarily ſaid to be a Change.

6. Deſart. That by Deſart is meant Paganiſm, Alcazar pronounces with great Confidence, ſpeaking of the Woman in the Wilderneſs; In qua Locutione (ſaies he) notandum eſt per Deſertum proculdubio figurari Gentilitatem. For which Opinion he produces a Cloud of Witneſſes, Clemens Alexandrinus, Origen, Ambroſius, Baſilius, Hieronymus, Gregorius, Hilarius, Heſychius, &c. The Reaſon of which Hieroglyphick I conceive is this; The Idolatry of the Pagans was much in Woods and Groves and on the Tops of Mountains and vaſt Places; and the Names of their Dæmons שרים and שעירים have Reference to the Fields and Deſarts. Beſides that Idolaters do almoſt never emerge above the Pitch of the mere Animal Life, and their Worſhip and Devotion is little higher than that of the Elephant or Cercopithecus.

7. Dragon. The Hebrew Word is תנין and ſignifies Draco or Serpens, and alſo Cetus, as being the great Serpent or Dragon of the Sea. And accordingly the Seventy render התהנינים הגדולים Gen. 1. That it is a Figure of the Devil, the ancient Cabbala of Moſes may aſſure us; and it may be, though ſome one Chief amongſt the Devils may there be principally denoted, yet the Serpent there may have a Prophetick Henopæia in it, and ſignifie the whole Principality of Satan, that Kingdom of Darkneſs which has been ever in Oppoſition againſt the Kingdom of God: and therefore it is no Wonder that thoſe Kingdoms that have in ſuch a ſpecial Manner afflicted the Church, have been repreſented under this Figure, as Ægypt and the Roman Empire.

Eſay 51. Awake, awake, put on Strength, O Arm of the Lord, awake as in the Ancient Days, in the Generations of old. Art not thou he that hath cut Rahab, (that is, Ægypt, ſee Forerius) and wounded the Dragon? Which is Pharaoh, as Ezekiel plainly ſpeaks out.

Chap. 29. I am againſt thee, Pharaoh King of Ægypt, the great Dragon that lieth in the midſt of the Rivers. And for that he lies thus in the Rivers, he is called Leviathan, as if he were a Water-ſerpent or a Whale. Pſalm 74. Thou breakeſt the Heads of Leviathan in Pieces, and gaveſt him to be Meat to thy People in the Wilderneſs. ראשי לויתן Heads of Leviathan; as if this Leviathan, as the Dragon in the Apocalyps, had more Heads than one.

Theſe Conſiderations plainly intimate to us, That the Seven headed Serpent in the Apocalyps, which is the Roman State or Kingdom, is ſo repreſented not only in Regard of that old Serpentine Form that tempted our firſt Parents, but has a Reflexion alſo upon that Tyrannical Kingdom of Ægypt which is typified under the Image of a Dragon and Leviathan; and that not only Rome Pagan has a Share in this Type, but Rome Pagano-chriſtian. For all the Seven Heads are from the Body of the Dragon; and the Beaſt that was, and is not, and yet is, is as well the Dragon as not the Dragon, and therefore is as well Ægypt (and I wiſh I could not ſay more) as the Church of God, or the Kingdom of his Son Jeſus.

8. Drunkenneſs. It is taken ſometimes for the being ſo filled and intoxicated with the Pleaſures and Affluences of this World, as to be regardleſs and ſenſeleſs of the things of God. Eſay 29. Stay your ſelves and wonder, cry ye out and cry: They are drunken, but not with Wine; they ſtagger, but not with ſtrong Drink. For the Lord has has poured upon you the Spirit of deep Sleep, and hath cloſed your Eyes; the Prophets and the Rulers, the Seers hath he covered. Such a remiſs Stupor and Drunkenneſs does the Proſperity of this World often caſt Men into. Achmetes from the Indian Interpretations, Cap. III. Ἐάν τις ἴδῃ ὅτι ἐμεθύσθη οἴνῳ, ἀρχὰς πλοῦτον καὶ ἐξουσίαν ἀνάλογον τῆς μέθης. If any one dream he is drunk with Wine, Riches and Power will flow in to him proportionably to his Drunkenneſs. And he affirms the like in the following Chapter according to the Ægyptians and Perſians. There is alſo a Drunkenneſs from the Cup of Affliction, which is often intimated in the Scriptures.

9. Eagle. Eſay 40. 31. But they that wait upon the Lord ſhall renew their Strength; they ſhall mount up with Wings as Eagles, they ſhall run and not be weary, they ſhall walk and not be faint. And Exod. 19. 4. Ye had ſeen what I did to the Ægyptians, and how I bare you on Eagles Wings, and brought you unto my ſelf. Artemidor. lib. 2. Cap. 20. Ὀχεῖσθαι ἀετῷ πένησι μὲν ἀγαθόν· ἀναληφθέντες γὰρ ὑπό τινων πλουσίων ὠφεληθήσονται ἢ μισθοῦ. For poor Men to dream they ride upon an Eagle, it is good; for it ſignifies they will be ſupported and well relieved by the Rich.

Earth-quake. So we uſually turn the Greek Word σεισμὸς, but it ſignifies alſo more generally any Shaking or Concuſſion; as Heb. 12. 26. Ἔτι ἅπαξ ἐγὼ σείω οὐ μόνον τὴν γῆν, ἀλλὰ καὶ τὸν οὐρανόν· where the Author ſays this σεισμὸς ſignifies the removing of thoſe things that are ſhaken. Hagg. 2. 21. Speak to Zerubbabel Governour of Judah, ſaying, I will ſhake the Heavens and the Earth, and I will overthrow the Thrones of Kingdoms, and I will deſtroy the Strength of the Kingdoms of the Heathen. Ἰδοὺ ἐγὼ σείσω, &c. And this is a plain μετάθεσις τῶν σαλευομένων. The like Ruin and Overturning of things is ſet out, but by what is the Effect of σεισμός, an Earth-quake properly ſo called, Jer. 4. 24. I beheld the Mountains, and lo they trembled, and all the Hills moved lightly. Which, verſe 26, he interprets as Haggai before, I beheld, and lo the fruitful Place was a Wilderneſs, and all the Cities thereof were broken down, &c.

Achmetes out of the Indian, Perſian, and Ægyptian Onirocriticks, Ἐὰν ἴδῃ τις βασιλεὺς ὅτι ἐσείσθη ἡ πόλις αὐτοῦ ἢ ἡ γῆ αὐτοῦ, εἰς πόλεμον ἐθνῶν καὶ ὀλεθρίαν κατ' αὐτὸν κρίνεται. Artemidor. lib. 2. c. 46. Γῆ κινουμένη τὰ πράγματα τοῦ ἰδόντος κινηθήσεσθαι σημαίνει. χάσματα δὲ καὶ σεισμοὶ καὶ συμπτώσεις πάντας ἀνθρώπους ἀδικοῦσι, καὶ διαφθείρουσιν αὐτοὺς ἢ τὰ ὑπάρχοντα αὐτοῖς. The Meaning whereof is, That by Earth-quakes are ſignified Wars, Slaughter of Men, and Subverſion of Fortunes and Eſtates. But this is ſo eaſie an Iconiſm, that it was needleſs to produce ſo many Teſtimonies.

10. Eclipſes. The Eclipſes of the Luminaries what they mean, will eaſily be underſtood, if we conſider what the Sun and Moon are in the Political Univerſe. For certainly they are the higheſt Dignities in that Heaven. Of which more under their proper Titles. In the mean time it ſhall ſuffice briefly to note out of Achmetes, that according to the Indian, Perſian, and Ægyptian Onirocriticks, If the Sun be ἀφώτιστος καὶ ἄνευ ἀκτίνων, without Brightneſs (in ſuch an Hue, I ſuppoſe, as Virgil deſcribes, and without Rays, τὸ πάθος καὶ ἀδοξία εἰς πρόσωπον ὅτι βασιλέως, that inglorious Obſcurity and Duskiſhneſs is referred to the Perſon of the King, and implies an Imminution of his Glory. Ἐὰν δὲ ἴδῃ τις ὅτι τοῦ ἡλίου ἐγένετο ἔκλειψις, θλῖψιν καὶ πόλεμον ἐχθρῶν εὑρήσει ὁ βασιλεύς· But if the Sun be eclipſed, he will be afflicted and oppreſſed by War.

Cùm caput obſcurâ nitidum ferrugine tinxit)

The ſame Judgment they give of the Moon and Stars, if they be ὁλιγόφωτα, ἀφώτιστα, or σκοτειναὶ, Τὸ πάθος εἰς λαὸν καὶ τοὺς ἄρχοντας βασιλέως κρινέτω. See Cap. 167, 168. Theſe things are too eaſie to inſiſt upon, and will be neceſſarily acknowledged, it being once granted That the Univerſe is a Prophetick Emblem of a Kingdom or Polity, as we ſhall clearly ſhew in its due Place.

11. Eye. The Light of the Body, ſaith our Saviour, is the Eye. And Ariſtotle, * Topic. l. 1. c. 14. ὡς ὄψις ἐν ὀφθαλμῷ, νοῦς ἐν ψυχῇ, That the Eye of the Soul is the Underſtanding or Intellect. So that it is plain that the Eye is an Iconiſm of Knowledge, as Darkneſs and Blindneſs is of Ingnorance; an Expreſſion frequent in the Scripture.

But there is alſo a peculiar Fitneſs of Significancy of humane Policy and Proſpection in the Eye; that Organ of the Body being not only in the Head, but the chief Guide of it and the whole Body, as being able to reach further by far and to act more quick than any other Senſe whatſoever. Wherefore Proſpicere in Longitudinem, that is to ſay, wiſely to conſult afore-hand for the rightly managing Affairs, and to contrive Counſels ſo as makes moſt for the future Safety of things, and for the Advancement of the Intereſt of a State, the Eye verily is a fit Emblem of this Skil. Which the Ægyptians ſeem to have intimated in that known Hieroglyphick of theirs, A Scepter with an Eye on the Top of it: where it is plain that the Eye ſignified that Political Skill, Proſpection and Counſel which is neceſſary in rightly managing and ordering Affairs of State, for the greateſt Security and Promotion of them. And that Eyes ſignifie the Adminiſtration of Divine Providence alſo, ſeems to be intimated Zach. 4. 10. on which we have not here time to inſiſt.

12. Fiſhing. Artemidor. lib. 2. c. 14. Λαμβάνειν ἰχθύας ἅμα πολλὰς καὶ μεγάλας, ἀγαθὸν καὶ κέρδος φέρον πᾶσιν· To dream of Catching Fiſhes many and great, is good, and portends Profit to all that dream ſo. Achmetes, c. 178. Ἐὰν ἴδῃ τις ὅτι ἀγκίστρευσεν ἰχθύας ἐν τῇ θαλάσσῃ θηλείας, εὑρήσει πλοῦτον, &c. If any one dream that he catches Fiſhes by Angling in the Sea, he ſhall find Riches, &c.

Fiſh dead in the Sea. Artemidor. lib. 2. c. 18. Ἰχθῦς νεκροὺς ἐν θαλάσσῃ ὁρᾶν δοκεῖν ἢ εἰρεῖν, οὐκ ἀγαθόν· ματαίας γὰρ ἐλπίδας σημαίνουσι, καὶ τὰ προσδοκώμενα οὐκ ἐῶσι τελεσθῆναι· To ſeem to ſee Fiſhes dead in the Sea, is not good: for it ſignifies Diſappointment of our Hope, and that what we expect will not come to paſs.

13. Fire. Fire is a various Symbol, and ſignifies as well good as ill, but always in a Way of Conſumption or Deſtructiveneſs: but when it deſtroys that which is bad, it is good. The Holy Ghoſt it ſelf is aſſimilated to Fire, as the Baptiſt witneſſes of Chriſt, He ſhall baptize you with the Holy Ghoſt and with Fire; ſuch a Fire as is to burn up the Chaff, but ſave the Wheat, as is intimated in the Place. So Malac. 3. But who may abide the Day of his Coming? And who ſhall ſtand when he appeareth? For he is like à Refiner's Fire, and like Fuller's Sope: And he ſhall ſit as a Refiner and Purifier of Silver, and he ſhall purifie the Sons of Levi, and purge them as Gold and Silver; that is, conſume away their Droſs. Manifold Inſtances there are of this Senſe of Fire, but it is needleſs to produce them.

Mat. 3. 11.

But as for Fire in the other deſtructive Senſe, that Signification thereof is ſtill more obvious. I ſhall name one Place for all; Eſa, 66. 15. For behold the Lord will come with Fire, and with his Chariots like a whirl-wind, to render his Anger with Fury, and his Rebukes with Flames of Fire. For by Fire and by Sword will the Lord plead with all Fleſh, and the ſlain of the Lord ſhall be many.

The Fitneſs of the Fire's ſignifying Conſumption or Deſtruction Artemidorus has taken notice of, lib. 2. c. 8. Ἰδεῖν δὲ πυρὸς πᾶσαν ὕλην φθείρειν. And in the ſame Chapter he ſays it ſignifies, if there be a conſiderable Quantity of it ſeen in the Heavens, πολεμίων ἔφοδον, the Incurſion of Enemies, and their coming from that Part in what Quarter of the Heaven it is ſeen. And anſwerably to this Achmetes, according to the Senſe of the Indians, c. 159. Εἴ τις ἐκφὴν ἀπὸ φλογὸς, ἐν πολέμῳ ἐχθρῶν πλήξει· And of the Perſians and Ægyptians, c. 160. Ἐὰν ἴδῃ βασιλεὺς ὅτι οἱ κίονες τῶ παλατίω αὐτῦ ἐφλογίζοντο, βασιλείαν ἄλλα σημαίνει, καὶ ἀπώλειαν τῶν μεγιςάνων ὓς αὐτὸς ἔχησιν. And again, Ἐὰν ἴδῃ ὁ βασιλεὺς ὅτι ἐφλογίσθησαν αἱ τρίχες αὐτῦ, τὸν λαὸν ἐν πολέμῳ ἀπολέσει. And laſtly, that if his Chariot appear to be ſet on fire, ταπεινωθήσεται ἡ βασιλεία αὐτῦ. So deſtructive is the Symbol of Fire every where, and particularly denotes a Deſtruction by War and Hoſtility, as is obſervable out of the preceding Citations.

14. Fire from Heaven. Fire from Heaven and Thunder may very well be the ſame, Ὅτι ὁ κεραυνὸς οὐδέν ἐσιν ἄλλο ἢ πῦρ, as Artemidorus ſpeaks, lib. 2. c. 8. But in Alluſion to Elias his bringing down Fire from Heaven upon thoſe Fifties that were ſent to him from Ahaziah to apprehend him, the Fame of that eminent Miracle may have made the bringing down Fire from Heaven paſs into a proverbial Phraſe, for the doing exceeding great Miracles. This may be good Senſe, but we ſeek for an Icaſmus.

Fire from Heaven, therefore, according to Artemidorus may ſignifie ἀπειλὴν ὑπερεχόντων, the Commination of thoſe that are in Authority; and that very fitly, Heaven being the place of Dignity in the Political Univerſe. But nothing is ſo minacious as that Fire or Lightning that goes before Thunder. What therefore can be more ſignificative of Excommunication than this? eſpecially if conceived to be vibrated from no inferior Officer, but from an Oecumenical Biſhop, the Head of the Church Catholick, who is placed in the higher Regions of this Political Heaven. Which Analogy will be ſtill more exact, if we conſider what Artemidorus obſerves of Thunder, Οὐ γὰρ ὁ κεραυνὸς ἑνοῖ, ἀλλὰ καὶ τὰ ἡνωμένα χωρίζει· For Thunder and Lightning does not unite, but disjoins things that are united. So does Excommunication that rives off a Member from the Church.

And there is ſtill a further Congruity that Excommunication ſhould be called Thunder and Lightning, or Fire from Heaven, in that it is the Commination of Hell fire, of which the Deſtruction of Sodom was a Type, which was burnt by Fire from Heaven

Heaven, as Mr. Mede has judiciouſly obſerved. And what is the laſt Ἐκπύρωσις but Fire from Heaven? To which Deſtruction whoever do take upon them to adjudge Men, may very well be ſaid to bring down Fire from Heaven upon them, which that Thunder-bolt of Excommunication does threaten.

15. Fleſh. By Fleſh is underſtood in Scripture whatſoever is oppoſite to the Spirit, and I mean in a Moral or Myſtical Way, and that is all to be conſumed by the Spirit and by Fire. But more particularly Fleſh ſignifies ſometimes that which they vulgarly call Carnal Ordinances, in ſome ſuch Senſe as that is meant by St. Paul, Are ye ſo fooliſh? having begun in the Spirit, are ye now made perfect by the Fleſh? Where he ſpeaks of the Law of Moſes. And the Author to the Hebrews more expreſly, who ſpeaking of Chriſt, and comparing of Him with the Moſaick Aaron, Who is made (ſaith he) not after the Law of a carnal Commandment, but after the Power of an endleſs Life. And ſtill nearer to our Purpoſe, Chap 9. ver. 10. where he ſpeaks of a Service which ſtood only in Meats and Drinks, and divers Waſhings, and carnal Ordinances impoſed on them until the time of Reformation. By Fleſh therefore may be underſtood all the external Ordinances and Inſtitutes that Men have raſhly heaped upon Chriſtianity, whether merely uſeleſs, or elſe Superſtitious and Idolatrous: for theſe are to the Spirit of Chriſtianity, as the Over-load of a fulſom and over-grown and unwholeſom Fleſh to the Spirit of Man; Ἐπώσιον ἄχθος ἀρέρης. Gal. 3. 3. Chap. 7. v. 16.

16. But there is another Senſe of Fleſh taken much notice of in the Onirocriticks. Artemidor. lib. 3. c. 23. Πλουσίῳ δὲ οὐκ ἀγαθὸν ἐσθίειν ἀπὸ τῶν ἰδίων σαρκῶν, περίρριζον γὰρ ἀναγεγράφθαι τὸν βίον καὶ τὴν ὕπαρξιν τῷ ἐσθίοντι σημαίνει· It is not good for a rich Man to dream he eats his own Fleſh, for it ſignifies the utter Waſting of his Riches or Subſtance. Achmetes c. 283. according to the Indian, Perſian and Ægyptian Interpreters, Εἰ δὲ ἴδοι τις ὅτι κρέας δρακόντων εὗρεν ἢ ἔφαγεν, εὑρήσει πλοῦτον ἀνάλογον ἀπὸ μεγίστου βασιλέως. Like that of the Iſraelites eating the Fleſh of the Leviathan in the Wilderneſs; for the Leviathan or Dragon is the King of Ægypt. And again, c. 285. Εἰ δὲ ἴδοι τις ὅτι ἔφαγε κρέας σκορπίου ὃν ἐφόνευσε, τοιούτου ἐχθρὸν ὑπάρξιν λήψεται. And, laſtly, according to the Indians, c. 87. Ἐάν τις ἴδῃ ὅτι ἡ σὰρξ αὐτοῦ ἐπλεύνασε, χρυσὸν καὶ πλοῦτον ἀναλόγως τῆς σαρκὸς κτᾶται. And compendiouſly and at once, Ἡ σὰρξ ὅλη εἰς πάντα πλοῦτον καὶ χρυσὸν διακρίνεται. Fleſh is univerſally referred to Gold and Riches in the Interpretation of Viſions or Dreams.

17. Flood. See Water.

Fornication. See Whoredom.

Frogs. A Frog is an Hieroglyphick of Imperfection, ſaies Pierius*, according to the ſenſe of the Ægyptian Prieſts: and he makes as if the occaſion thereof was the Obſervation of the half-finiſhed Generation of this Animal out of the Slime of Nilus which he caſts up in his Overflowing, after which this Creature is ſeen half-formed, part Frog, part Mud; as Horus Apollo* alſo expreſly affirms, Ἐπ' ὅτι ὁρᾶται τὸ ἑτέρῳ μέρει ὑγρόν, βατράχῳ, τῷ δὲ λοιπῷ, γεώδει τινὶ ἐμφερές. * Hieroglyph. lib. 29. *Lib. 1. Hieroglyph. 25.

But in that it is thus gendred of Filth and Mire, I ſhould look upon it as a fit Emblem of that Wiſdom which is not from Above, but is ἐπίγειος, ψυχικὴ καὶ δαιμονιώδης, Earthly, Animal, or Senſual, and Deviliſh, and is accompanied with bitter Zeal and Strife in the Heart, as the Apoſtle intimates juſt before, and altogether contrary to that Wiſdom which is from above, which is firſt pure, not bemired with worldly Luſts, then peaceable, not breeding Contention, nor full of Words and Brawlings, like the importunate, harſh, and diſharmonious Coaxations of Frogs, (ſo called in the Greek from that very ungrateful Noiſe, as if βάτραχοι were as much as βοατραχῆς, παρὰ τῆς τραχύτητος τῆς βοῆς, from the Shrilneſs and Aſperity of the Noiſe they make) much leſs forward to War and Bloodſhed, or to the inſtigating of Princes and Men in Power thereunto: which the hoarſe and harſh Coaxation of theſe Creatures may be a fit Symbol of; and the rather, if theſe Trumpeters to War be conceived to be ſuch Men as are as ſoft and unwarlike as theſe naked and ſlimy Animals, no more fit to fight than they, but only to be Trumpters to War and Confuſion, and that for their own Intereſt; the zealous Declamations and Vociferations they make being in behalf of themſelves, as all the Noiſe the Frog makes is with its Tongue turned inwards towards its own Gullet. Whence that Creature ſeems a very lively Emblem of ſuch Wretches as theſe. Artemidor. lib. 2. c. 15. Βάτραχοι δὲ ἄνδρας γόητας καὶ βωμολόχους σημαίνουσιν· Ranæ homines impoſtores & ſcurras ſignificant; which has no ſmall Affinity with our larger Deſcription of them.

18. Gemms and precious Stones. See Crown.

God. In the Hebrew אלהים ſignifies Magiſtrates as well as God: as appears from ſeveral places of Scripture. And Artemidorus has taken notice of the Analogy even from the higheſt Antiquity, lib. 2. c. 37. Κοινὸν δὲ πάντες οἱ θεοὶ λόγον ἔχουσι, θεὸς δεσπότας, πάντας. ὀρθῶς γὰρ ἡ τῦτο τὸ παλαιὸν ἔχει, Τὸ κρατοῦν δύναμιν ἔχει θεῦ. Quicquid dominatur, vim habet Dei. And again, lib. 3. c. 13. Θεὸς εἴ τις ὑπολάβοι γενέσθαι, πλέσιον ὢν, ἀρχὴν μείζην περαγορέυει. Ἔσικε γὰρ τοῖς θεοῖς αἱ οἱ ἄρχοντες δύνανται τὺ μὲ κακῶς τινὰς ποιῆν. If any rich Man dream he is made a God, it prognosticates that he shall obtain a very great Principality: For Princes are in a Power of doing Good and Hurt in a manner equal to the very Gods.

CHAP. VII.

1. Hail, the Signification thereof according to Scripture. 2. And the Ancient Oniro-criticks. 3. Harveſt, the evil and auſpicious Senſe thereof. 4. Head, how clearly ſignificative of Sovereign Power, whether in many or One. 5. Heaven and Earth. 6. Horn. 7. Horſe; Iſlands. 8. King, and Kingdom. 9. That Kinds or Sorts of things are ſometimes expreſſed as if Individuals of the ſame Kind. 10. Leopard; Locuſts. 11. Male-Child; Mark; Meaſure; Mill; Month; Moon. 12. Mountain, the ſeveral Significations thereof.

1. HAIL. Whenas Winds and Storms ſignify Political Commotions and Wars, as is acknowledged by Grotius and all other Interpreters that they do, as in Daniel 7. 2. (where the Four Winds of Heaven are ſaid to ſtrive upon the great Sea) well may a Storm of Hail ſignify War and Incurſion of the Enemy; and eſpecially if they come from the North, the Congealedneſs of this Meteor bearing upon it the Character of that Quarter.

Two eminent Examples of this Prophetick Figure we have in Iſaiah. The Firſt, Chap. 28. Behold, the Lord hath a mighty and ſtrong One, which as a Tempeſt of Hail and deſtroying Storm, as a Flood of mighty Waters overflowing, ſhall caſt down to the Earth violently. The Crown of Pride, the Drunkards of Ephraim ſhall be troden under Feet. Hæc ſignificant (ſaith Forerius) hoſtium adventum, qui univerſum regnum Iſrael devaſtaturi erant. But it is ſo plain it wanted no Interpretation. The other Example is Iſa. Chap. 30. And the Lord ſhall cauſe his glorious Voice to be heard, and ſhall ſhew the Lighting down of his Arm with the Indignation of his Anger, and with a Flame of devouring Fire, with Scattering, and Tempeſts, and Hail-ſtones. For with the Voice of the Lord ſhall the Aſſyrian be beaten down, &c. That is to ſay, The Forces of the Lord will come againſt Aſſur like Thunder and Lightning, and Hail. So plain is it that an Hail-ſtorm is ſignificative of the Incurſion and Aſſault of an Enemy, according to the Style of the Scripture.

2. The like Significancy is alſo acknowledged in the Onirocriticks. Artemidor. lib. 2. c. 8. Ὄμβροι δὲ καὶ λαίλαπες καὶ χειμῶνες ταραχὰς πᾶσι καὶ κινδύνους καὶ ζημίας ἐπάγυσι. The like he ſaith alſo c. 41. which have ſome Similitude with that in Daniel. But to come nearer to the Point concerning Hail, Achmetes out of the Indian, Perſian, and Ægyptian Onirocritical Solutions. c. 191. Ἡ χιὼν, ἢ χάλαζα καὶ ὁ πάγος θλίψεις καὶ μερίμνας καὶ βασάνυς σημαίνυσι. But yet more particularly of Hail, and more to our preſent Purpoſe, Ἐὰν ἴδῃ τις χάλαζαν ἐν τόπῳ πεσῦσαν, ἔφοδον αἰθεῖαν ἐλπίζεται· If one dream that Hail falls on a place, he may expect a through and ſudden Incurſion of the Enemy. And further, Εἰ δ' ἴδῃ ὅτι ἡ χάλαζα ἐλυμήνατο τὴν καλάμην τὲ σίτυ καὶ τῆς κριθῆς, σφαγαὶ ἀνάλογοι γενήσονται τῆς κλάσεως ἐν τῷ τόπῳ ὑπὸ πολέμυ· But if he dream that the Hail hurt the Stemms or Stalks of the Wheat and Barley, accordingly as they are broken, in the ſame Proportion will the Slaughter of Men be in that place by War.

3. Harveſt. That Cutting down of Corn is ſignificative of the Death of Men, appears by that Apparition of Twelve Men ſeeming to mow the Corn-fields with Sythes in Merchia, upon which a Peſtilence followed. But that Mortality that is by War is ſtill more fitly expreſſed thereby. Achemetes, out of the Indian Onirocriticks, Ἐὰν ἴδῃ ὁ βασιλεὺς χώραν θεριζομένην ἢ θεριθεῖσαν, καὶ ἐλογίζετο οἰκείαν εἶναι αὐτὴν, ἀκύστως ταχέως σφαγὴν τῷ λαῷ αὐτῦ· If a King dream he ſees Harveſt reaped in his own Country, he will ſuddenly hear of the Slaughter of his People. This Similitude is alſo uſed in Scripture, Jer. 51. 33. The Daughter of Babylon is like a Threſhing-Floor, it is time to threſh her; yet a little while and the Time of her Harveſt ſhall come.

But

But Harveſt ſometimes has a more auſpicious Senſe, as in that of our Saviour, John 4. 35. Behold, I ſay unto you, Liſt up your Eyes, and look on the Fields; for they are white already unto Harveſt. And he that reapeth, receiveth Wages and gathereth Fruit unto Life Eternal, that both he that ſoweth and he that reapeth may rejoice together.

4. Head. That the Head of a Beaſt in theſe Prophetick Figures ſignifies that Perſon or thoſe Perſons in whom the Supreme Power reſides, is as infallibly to be concluded as the fourth Proportional in Arithmetick, three Numbers being given. For we have three Terms of the Analogy here alſo; viz. a Kingdom and the Sovereignty thereof, and a Beaſt which is the Prophetick Figure of a Kingdom: Wherefore we cannot miſs to ſay, As a Kingdom is to the Sovereign Power thereof, ſo is the Prophetick or figurative Beaſt to the Head thereof; and alternately, As the Kingdom to the Beaſt, ſo the Sovereign Power of the Kingdom to the Head of the Beaſt. Whence we ſee plainly that the Head of a Beaſt anſwers to the Supreme Power, and that whether the Supreme Power be in one ſingle Perſon or in many. For as the Power abſtractedly is not conſidered, ſo neither the Perſons abſtracted from their Power; but both, in Concreto, make up this Head Politick. And therefore if the Supreme Power be not but in many, thoſe many are the Head; and not the leſs one Head for conſiſting of many Perſons, no more than the Body is leſs one Body for conſiſting of many Perſons. Nay, if a Man ſhould follow the Symmetry of his Fancy rather than his Reaſon, a Head of many Perſons to a Body of a vaſt Multitude of Perſons would look more elegantly and proportionably than one ſingle Perſon: As if a Beaſt were made of little wax Bullets ſticking together, a Head of one Bullet put to it would not look ſo conformably as an Head of many Bullets, ſuch as the whole Body conſiſted of.

5. Heaven and Earth. By Heaven and Earth is underſtood the Univerſe, as Grotius has rightly noted upon Geneſis, and abundantly proved upon 2 Pet. 3. 13. But that by Heaven and Earth the Prophets ſometime underſtand a Political Univerſe, that is, a Kingdom or Polity, there needs no further Proof thereof than what is found in Iſai. Chap. 51. 15. I am the Lord thy God, that divided the Sea whoſe Waves roared, the Lord of Hoſts is my Name. And I have put my Words in thy Mouth, and have covered thee in the Shadow of my Hand, that I might plant the Heavens and lay the Foundations of the Earth, and ſay unto Sion, Thou art my People; that is to ſay, to make them that were but ſcattered Perſons and Slaves in Ægypt before, a Kingdom or Polity, to be governed by their own Laws and Magiſtrates. Again Chap. 65. 17. For behold, I create new Heavens and a new Earth, and the former ſhall not be remembred nor come into Mind. But be ye glad and rejoice for ever in what I create; for behold, I create Jeruſalem a Rejoicing, and her People a Joy. Upon which Text Forerius, Decrevi enim novum Orbem condere, by which he means the Kingdom of Chriſt upon Earth, that is, his Church. According to which Senſe alſo he interprets, For as the new Heavens and the new Earth, which I ſhall make, ſhall remain before me, ſo ſhall your Seed and your Name remain: Quam diu duraverit novus Orbis, i. e. Regnum Dei & Eccleſiæ, &c. And Grotius alſo, though he look aſcue, and is very ſhie (himſelf beſt knows the Reaſon) at theſe Places that have been mentioned, yet he cannot abſtain from interpreting the new Heaven and the new Earth, Apocal. 21. of the State of the Church upon Earth. And Dr. Hammond upon 2 Pet. 3. doth expreſly acknowledge the new Heaven and the new Earth there mentioned to have a Political Senſe. Which Notion was very well worth the Clearing, becauſe this general Analogy will make us the better underſtand what the Parts of the Univerſe figuratively ſignifie; as, to be called up into Heaven, or caſt down to the Earth, and the like. Iſa. 66. 22.

6. Horn. Horn alſo as well as Head ſignifies the Supreme Power of a Body Politick, which is reſembled to a Beaſt, it being the higheſt Part of the Beaſt and the Defender of his whole Body. It is the Interpretation of the Angel in Daniel, The great Horn is the firſt King. And the ten Horns are interpreted ten Kings by the Angel in the Apocalyps. For they were the Height and Summity of their reſpective Kingdoms, though in ſome Sort ſubordinate to the ſeventh Head of the Beaſt.

7. Horſe. There is no expreſs Interpretation of that Animal in Scripture. But a generous Horſe with his Rider does naturally emblematize Rule and Command. Which may ſeem alſo hinted to us from that of Pſalm 45. 4. צלח רכב, which is Proſper and ride: which the Seventy turn κατευοδῶ καὶ βασίλευε, Proſper and Reign.

But an Horſe ſignifies alſo any Succeſs or Fortune of him that rides on him. So Achmetes out of the Indian Interpretations, Ἐάν τις ἴδῃ ἐποχούμενον τῆς φάρας, &c. If one dreams that he rides on Pharas (which is a generous Steed) which goes orderly and obediently, he ſhall obtain ἀξίωμα καὶ φήμην, Honour and Renown proportionably to the Beaſt he rides on. And ſo after he deſcants on the Largeneſs, Thickneſs and Length of the Tail, declaring that his Power and Train ſhall be anſwerable; but if bob-tailed or thin of Hair, it ſignifies Defect of Power. The Halting of the Horſe alſo ſignifies Impediments in the Affairs of the Rider; and his Contumacy and Intractableneſs (if he be ἀνυπόπακτος καὶ σκληροχάλινος hard-mouthed) the Rider's both Fault and Affliction. And ſeveral other things in the Horſe are in like Manner referred to him that rides him, c. 152.

and

And again, c. 233. Ἵππος τὸ φάρας τὸ εὐγενὲς εἰς ὕψος καὶ ἀξίωμα κατὰ τὴν τῶν ἠνίων ἐπιθετικὴν κρίσιν. And preſently after, Ἐὰν ἴδῃ τις κατ' ὄναρ ὅτι ἵππῳ εὐθεῖ καὶ κεφαίνοντι φάρας ἐποχούμενος, εὑρήσει φήμην μερίσιμον καὶ ὕψος καὶ ἀιχημοσωὴν ἐνώπιον λαοῦ. And a little after, Εἰ δέ τις ἴδῃ ὅτι ἐποχούμενος τῷ φάρας κατεῖχεν ἀσπίδα, εὑρήσει ἀφοβίαν ἐξ ἐχθρῶν καὶ δωσαμὸν ἀνάλογον τῷ ἵππῳ. And laſtly, Ἐὰν ἴδῃ τις ὅτι ἑκὼν κατῆλθεν ἀπὸ ἵππου φάρας, εὑρήσει ἑκουσίως ἐλάττωσιν ἐξουσίας. Out of all which it is plainly manifeſt that theſe Horſes are the Symbols of the Conditions of their Riders, or of the People over which they are ſet, who are the Beaſt they ride upon. Which will very much facilitate the Underſtanding of the Viſions of the Four Horſes in the Apocalyps, whoſe Riders are eaſily conceived to be Commanders, who are properly called Emperors, and what is ſignified in the Horſes, to reſpect either the Empire or the Emperors themſelves.

Hour. See Time.

Iſlands. That Iſlands may ſignifie Perſons of great Dignity, their Eminency or bearing themſelves above the Planicies of the Sea does naturally intimate to us: But that they may ſometimes ſignifie Temples or Places conſecrate, their being diſterminated from other Land, as theſe holy Edifices are from all other Houſes, may well allure a Man's Imagination to believe. See Mr. Mede upon the Sixth-Seal.

8. King and Kingdom. If King be look'd upon as one diſtinct Kind of Sovereignty, when it is put for Supreme Governour, it may either be an Icaſmus, (for every Supreme Governour is to his Body Politick as a King to his) or elſe a Dioriſmus, which is a Kind of Prophetick Synecdoche, as I have ſaid, ſetting down the Species for the Genus. But if it be ſo, as Mr. Mede ſeems abundantly to have proved (in his Regnum Romanum eſt quartum Regnum Danielis,) that King and Kingdom in the Hebrew is as large in uſe of Signification as Supreme Power and that Body that is ſubject thereto, be it Kingdom or Commonwealth, then to uſe King promiſcuouſly for any Supreme Power, calling him βασιλεὺς, as Apoc. 17. it is only an Helleniſm; and the calling the Seven Heads there Seven Kings needs neither the Solution into a Dioriſmus nor Icaſmus, but only an Henopæia, for thoſe Heads amongſt them which are conceived to be ſuch a Sovereignty as reſides in many.

9. And that they are ſaid to be Seven Kings, and not Seven Sorts of Kings, that is no unuſual Manner of Speech; for we ſay, Four Moral Virtues, Five Senſes, Three Phyſical Principles, Four Paſſions, and the like, for three Kinds and four Kinds of Principle and Paſſions, and ſo of the Reſt. So the Four Beaſts in Daniel that are ſaid to riſe out of the Sea are four Kinds of Beaſts, not Individuals of the ſame Kind. And the Two Witneſſes in the Apocalyps are two ſeveral Kinds of Witneſſes, as Grotius himſelf acknowledges.

But were it not that Uſe has rendred this Form of ſpeaking familiar unto us, to call ſeven Sorts of Kings ſeven Kings were a Dioriſmus, the Speech being more reſtrained and determinate. For an Individual is more determinate than the Species, and the Species than the Genus. So little Difficulty is there in calling ſeven Sorts of Supreme Governours ſeven Kings, as the Text of the Apocalyps does, Chap. 17. 10.

10 Leopard. Achmetes, c. 272. Ὁ πάρδος εἰς ἐχθρὸν ἀδιάλλακτον σημαίνει, A Leopard ſignifies an irreconcilable Enemy. And in the ſame Paragraph he ſaith, If a Commander dreams he fights with this Animal, εὑρήσει πόλεμον μετ' ἐχθροῦ δωσατοῦς καὶ δολίου καὶ ἀποφόβου, Cum hoſte potente, fraudulento & formidoloſo bellum geret.

Locuſts. That Locuſts ſignifie numerous Armies of Men pillaging and deſtroying a Country, is plain from Joel. 1. 6. For a Nation is come up upon my Land, ſtrong and without Number, whoſe Teeth are the Teeth of a Lion, and he hath the Cheek-teeth of a great Lion. He hath laid my Vine waſte, and hath barked my Fig-tree: he hath made it clean bare, and caſt it away, the Branches thereof are made white. By Nation the Jews and Vatablus with others underſtand a Multitude of Locuſts; but that is but the Type. The Perſians and Babylonians, as alſo other Nations that were to lay waſte Judæa, are ſignified thereby, according to Munſter and Clarius. Grotius alſo alſo interprets it of the Armies of Phul and Salmanaſſer. Alſo in the next Chapter, Verſ. 2. the Gloomineſs and Darkneſs of that Day is imputed to the Cloud of Locuſts that flie in the Air; and their ſudden lighting on the Place compared to the Morning ſpread upon the Mountains. And V. 3. The Land is as the Garden of Eden before them, and behind them a deſolate Wilderneſs; namely, by Reaſon of their devouring all the green Herbs where-ever they come. This is the Interpretation of ſeveral Hebrew Expoſitors, as alſo of Vatablus, Caſtalio, Druſius, Liveleius. But Munſter and Grotius expound it of the numerous Armies of the Babylonians and Aſſyrians that were to waſte and deſtroy Judæa.

Achmetes, c. 300. according to the Mind of the Indians, Perſians, and Ægyptians, Καθ' ὅλε ἡ ἀκρὶς ἀπαραλλάκτως εἰς πλῆθος ἐχθρῶν κείνεται· ὅτω δ' γέγραπται, ὅτι δείῳ κελεύσματι ἐκστρατεύονται εἰς ἀπώλειαν τῦ τόπυ. The latter part of which Aphoriſm is to be referred to the Indian Onirocriticks, and does aſſuredly allude to that of Joel. And again, Ἐὰν ἴδῃ τις βασιλεὺς ἢ ἐξυσιαστὴς ὅτι ἐξῆλθον κατὰ τόπυ τινὸς ἀκρίδες, πλῆθος ἐχθρῶν μετ' ἐξυσίας ἐπισδηκάτω ἐκεῖσε, κ) ὅσον ἐλυμήναντο αὐταὶ, τοσῦτον βλάψυσι κ) αὐτοί· If any King or Potentate ſee Locuſts come upon a place, let him expect a powerful multitude of Enemies there; and look what hurt the Locuſts do, the Enemy will do Miſchief proportionably.

11. Male-child. As the Woman that brings forth is not a ſingle Woman, but the Apoſtolick Church; ſo her Child muſt not be a ſingle Perſon, but a Company, Apoc. 12. to which Grotius alſo ſubſcribes. And Andreas upon the Place, Filius maſculus eſt Eccleſiæ populus, the Myſtical Chriſt. Totus enim Chriſtus & Caput & Corpus eſt, as Caſſander* has noted out of St. Auſtin. If υἱὸς ἄῤῥην therefore my be underſtood of a Multitude under one Head, why may not υἱὸς ἀπωλείας, 2 Theſs. 2. 3?

* Caſſandr. Conſult. Art. 7.

Meaſure. See Balance.

Mark. See Character.

Mill. Achmetes, out of the Onirocriticks of the Indians, c. 194. Ἐὰν ἴδῃ τις ὅτι ἔχε μυλῶνα ἀλήθοντα, εὑρήσει ἀγαθὸν κ) ἐυζωΐαν ἐν τῇ ἔργῳ αὐτῦ ἀναλόγως τῷ πάχει κ) τῷ κάλλει τῶν λίθων, &c. If any one dream he has a Mill grinding, he ſhall proſper in his Employment, and live in Affluence proportionably to the Thickneſs and Fairneſs of the Mill-ſtones, &c. And cap. 195. out of the Perſian and Ægyptian Interpretations, Ἐπὶ παντὸς κακόλογε ὁ μύλων εἰς ζωὴν κ) πλῆτον κρίνεται.

Month. See Time.

Moon. See Sun, Moon and Stars.

12. Mountain. Mountain may have ſeveral Significations. As firſt, it may ſignifie the Temples or Holy Places of Idolaters, of which there is frequent Mention in Scripture under the Title of High-places. Jer. 3. 23. according to the vulgar Latin, Verè mendaces erant colles, & multitudo montium; verè in Domino Deo noſtro ſalus Iſrael. Upon which Grotius, Colles illi in quibus Idola colebantur nos deceperunt. Secondly Mountains ſignifie Cities. Iſa. Chap. 13. 2. concerning Babylon, Lift ye up a Banner upon the high mountain. Forerius out of the Chaldee Paraphraſt, ſuper munitionem quæ habitat pacificè. The vulgar Latin has it, ſuper montem caliginoſum. Upon which Grotius, Id ideo, quia vetus Babylon in Paluſteribus locis ſita erat, unde aſcendens vapor urbem obſcurabat. Jer. 51. 25. Behold, I am againſt thee, O deſtroying Mountain, ſaith the Lord, which deſtroyeth all the Earth, and I will ſtretch out my Hand upon thee, and roll thee down from the Rocks. Upon which Munſter, Vocat Babylonem montem ob ædificiorum molem, cùm urbs ipſa in planitie fuerit ſita; and analogically he interprets the Rocks, de præſidiis turrium eminentium. To which Vatablus and Clarius agree expreſly. But all interpret this Mountain of the City Babylon. And Zach. 4. 7. Who art thou, O great Mountain? before Zerubbabel thou ſhalt become a Plain. Grotius interprets it of Babylon caſt down by Cyrus. Thirdly, Achmetes according to the Senſe of the Perſians, Indians and Ægyptians, interprets Mountains of great and wealthy Men, cap. 144 where ſpeaking of Earth-quakes and the things that are overturned by them, Τὸ δὲ ὄρος (ſaith he) ἐφ' ὑψηλὸν ἄνδρα πλούσιον ἀναλόγως τῦ ὄρυς κρίνεται. And laſtly, it ſeems to be ſpoke of a whole Kingdom that is grown great, as Dan 2. where the Stone cut out without Hands becomes a great Mountain, and fills the whole Earth.

CHAP. VIII.

1. Nakedneſs; Paradiſe. 2. Philtre. That οἶνῳ θυμῷ is Virus amatorium. 3. That Magical Words were uſed in the mixing of Philtres. 4. Pillars; Rain; Red. The ſeventh Head of the red Dragon what it intimates, 5. Reſurrection. That to be cut off and ſlain ſignifies alſo Politically. 6. Rivers, what they ſignifie in Reference to the Sea. 7. What in Reſpect of their Limpidity and Irrigation. 8. Saints; Scorpion; Scorched by the Sun. 9. Sea; Serpent; Slain; Slaughter. 10. Sun, Moon and Stars. The ſpiritual Signification of Sun and Moon. 11. A ſecular Signification of them in general. 12. A more particular Signification of them in that Senſe. 13. In what Senſe the King of Babylon is called הילל or Luciſer; and the Weſtern Cæſar a Star in the Apocalyps. 14. A more myſtical Signification of Stars, and what ἀστὴρ πεπτωκὼς ſignifies.

1. NAkedneſs. It is either underſtood ſpiritually, as Apocal. 3. 18. for being deſtitute of Dvine Graces; or elſe in a more vulgar Meaning for Diſtreſs, Poverty and Diſgrace. Achmetes, ἐκ τῆ Ἰνδῶν τῶν γυμνώσεως. Ἐὰν ἴδῃ τις ὅτι ἐγυμνώθη ἀθρόας ἐν τόπῳ τινὶ, καὶ ὅτι ἐφάνησαν τὰ κρυπτὰ αὐτῆ ἐνώπιον λαῶ, φανερωθήσεται καὶ θλιβήσεται μεγάλως. See alſo in ch. 117. more to the ſame purpoſe.

Paradiſe. Achmetes cap. 8. according to the Senſe of the Indian Interpreters, If a Man dream he enters Paradiſe, it fore-ſignifies Salvation to him: Ἀλλὰ καὶ πλέτε κοσμικὴ τῆτο εὐτυχίαν σημαίνει, But it ſignifies alſo Riches and worldly Proſperity. And preſently after, concerning the Fruits of Paradiſe, Ἐὰν δ ἴδῃ τις ὅτι ἔφαγεν ἐκ τῶν καρπῶν τῶν δένδρων, αὐτὸς εὑρήσει ἐν τῇ πίστει αὐτῆ σοφίαν καὶ γνῶσιν· διότι οἱ καρποὶ τῆ παραδείσε λόγοι θεῖοι καὶ ἀγαθοὶ τυγχάνυσι. If any dreams that he hath eaten of the Fruits of Trees, he ſhall find, through his Faith, Knowledge and Wiſdom. Becauſe the Fruits of Paradiſe are divine and uſeful Notions.

2. Philtre. Philtrum is a Love-potion, Virus amatorium, a Compoſition that is to extort Love from the Party that drinks it. Mr. Mede makes that Apocal. 14. 8. of the Wine of the Wrath of her Fornication (which in the Greek is ἐκ τῆ οἴνε τῆ θυμῆ τῆς πορνείας αὐτῆς) to be a Periphraſis of a Philtre: which therefore he renders thus, ex vino veneficii ſcortationis ſuæ. For as the Hebrew Word חמה ſignifies both Wrath and Poiſon, ſo the Greek Word θυμὸς ſignifies the like: as is moſt plain out of that one place, Deuteron. 32. 33. Their Wine is the Poiſon of Dragons, and the cruel Venom of Aſps: which the Seventy render, θυμὸς δρακόντων ὁ οἶνος αὐτῶν, καὶ θυμὸς ἀσπίδων ἀνίατος. There are alſo ſeveral other Places of Scripture to the ſame purpoſe. See Grotius on the Text. Ὁ οἶνος τῆ θυμῆ therefore is as much as Vinum venenatum, in ſuch a Senſe as it may be Virus amatorium. For what other kind of Potion ſhould be in the Hand of a Whore? eſpecially ſuch an one who is ſaid ἐν τῇ φαρμακείᾳ αὐτῆς, by her Sorcery and Enchantment to have deceived the Nations of the Earth, that is to ſay, by her enchanted Cup, ἐν τῷ οἴνῳ τῆ φαρμάκε τῆς πορνείας αὐτῆς. For φάρμακον, ſignifies Venenum as well as θυμός.

3. But that Magical Rites and Charms were uſed in mingling theſe Love-potions, is up and down famed in the Writings of the Poets. As in Juvenal, Satyr. 6.

Hippomanes carménque loquar coctúmque venenum.

And towards the End of that Satyr,

Hic magicos affert cantus, hic Theſſala vendit
Philtra———

Which plainly implies that Philtres are made by Inchantment and Witchcraft. And Virgil concerning the ſuperſtitious gathering of Hippomanes, potent, as it was believed, for this Purpoſe, Georgic. 3. intimates the like;

Hippomanes quod ſæpe malæ legêre Novercæ,
Miſcuerúntque herbas & non innoxia verba.

And, laſtly, Ovid in his De Arte amandi, lib. 2.

Non facient ut vivet amor Medeides herbæ,
Miſtáque cum magicis Marſa venena ſonis.

*

All which Places with ſeveral others do ſufficiently inform us of the Nature of a Philtre, That it is a Magical Potion, and ſuperſtitiouſly mingled according to certain Rites and Laws of Sorcery or Witchcraft, whatever the Ingredients be. And that therefore ὁ δινος τῆς θυμῆς, rendred Vinum Veneficii, or Philtrum, which is Virus amatorium, agrees very well with φαρμακεία, with the Sorcery of the Whore mentioned Apocal. 18. 23. which ſhe being accuſed of, and no other Signs appearing upon her of that Wickedneſs but this Cup in her Hand, it is in all likelihood to be found there.

4. Pillar. Pillars ſignifie Princes or Nobles in a Kingdom, μεγισᾶνας or τὰς μεγίσας τῆς βασιλείας as you may ſee in Achmetes, c. 148. & 160.

Rain. Rain may ſignifie the Refreſhment of pure and heavenly Doctrine. As in Deuteronom. Chap. 32. 2. My Doctrine ſhall drop as the Rain, my Speech ſhall diſtil as the Dew, as the ſmall Rain upon the tender Herb, and as the Flowers upon the Graſs. Alſo Peace and Righteouſneſs through the Goodneſs of the Sovereign Power. Pſal. 72. 6. the Kingdom of Chriſt is ſo deſcribed, He ſhall come down like the Rain upon the mowen Pſal. 68. 9. Graſs, as Showers water the Earth. In his Days ſhall the righteous flouriſh, and Abundance of Peace ſo long as the Moon endureth. So likewiſe Hoſea 10. 12. there is Mention of the Lord's Coming and Raining down Righteouſneſs upon them. Achmetes out of the Indian Solutions, c. 171. Ἡ βροχὴ εἰς αἰτήσεως ἐκπλήρωσιν καὶ εἰς ἔλεον διακρίνεται· Rain is an Emblem of Mercy from God in anſwering our Prayers. And therefore he ſaith, If any one dream that his Field is rained upon, εὑρήσει πλοῦτον καὶ χαρὰν καὶ ἔλεον ἀπὸ θεοῦ, he ſhall find Riches, and Joy, and Mercy from God. And a little after he interprets τὴν βροχὴν καλλαιρὴν to be κοινὴν εὐεργεσίαν. According to which is that of the Pſalmiſt, Thou, pſal. 68. 9. O God, ſenteſt a gracious Rain on thine Inheritance, and refreſhedſt it when it was dry.

Red. That Red does emblematize bloody Cruelty and barbarous Perſecution, is ſo obvious to conceive, that it ſeems needleſs to have noted it. Every one acknowledges that that δράκων μέγας πυρρὸς Apocal. 12. that great Red Dragon with ſeven Heads is ſo called from his Sanguinolency or Cruelty: But that his Seventh Head's growing out of this red Body ſignifies that this Beaſt will be cruel alſo under the Seventh Head, and that this Cruelty it ſelf is Part of the Image of the Beaſt, None that I know of hath hitherto obſerved.

5. Reſurrection. That the Reſurrection of the Dead has a Political Senſe as well as a Theological or Phyſical, may appear plainly from Ezekiel 37. 9. Then ſaid he unto me, Propheſy unto the Wind, propheſy, Son of Man, and ſay to the Wind, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Come from the four Winds, O breath, and breath upon theſe ſlain that they may live. So I propheſied as he commanded me, and the Breath came into them, and they lived and ſtood upon their Feet, an exceeding great Army. That this is to be underſtood in a Political Senſe concerning the Reſtoring of the People of Iſrael to their own Land out of Thraldom and Captivity, is plain from the very Mouth of God himſelf in the following Verſes; Then he ſaid unto me, Son of Man, theſe Bones are the whole Houſe of Iſrael. Behold, they ſay, Our Bones are dried, and our Hope is loſt, we are cut off for our Parts: Therefore propheſy and ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord GOD, Behold, O my People, I will open your Graves, and cauſe you to come out of your Graves, and bring you into the Land of Iſrael, &c. Whence it is plain that to be cut off, to be ſlain, and to riſe from the Dead, has (as I ſaid) a Political Senſe as well as a Natural or Theological; and that Reſurrection is a Recuperation of ſuch Rights and Liberties as have been taken away, and a Deliverance from Perſecution, Affliction and Bondage. Achmetes, cap. 5. according to the Indian Doctrine, Ἐὰν τις ἐν ὀνείρῳ δεδόηται ἀνάστασιν νεκρῶν, ἐν ᾧ τόπῳ θεωρήσῃ τις, ἐκεῖ δικαιοσύνη πεφχθήσεται. And cap. 6. according to the Doctrine of the Perſian Onirocriticks, Ἐάν τις ἴδῃ καθ' ὕπνους νεκρῶν ἔγερσιν, ἐν ᾧ τόπῳ ἡ ὄψις, ἐκεῖ δεσμῶν λύτρωσις καὶ θλίψεων ἀπολύτρωσις ἔσω. And laſtly, according to the Ægyptians, c. 7. Ἐάν τις ἴδῃ καθ' ὕπνους νεκρῶν ἔγερσιν, δεσμίων ἐλευθερίαν καὶ πολέμων παῦσιν σημαίνει. The ſenſe of all which put together is, That the dreaming of Men riſing from the dead ſignifies the Execution of Juſtice, and Deliverance from War, Bondage, and Affliction.

6. Rivers. A River has a double Conſideration. The firſt in Reſpect of its Original from whence it comes and to which it returns; which is hinted Eccleſiaſt. 1. 7. All the Rivers run into the Sea, yet the Sea is not full: unto the Place from whence the Rivers come, thither they return again. According to which Conſideration, ſuppoſing the Sea a Type of the Extent of the Juriſdiction or Empire of any Potentate, as it indeed is, Rivers will ſignifie any Emiſſary-Powers from thence, whether Armies or Provincial Magiſtrates, or what Agents abroad ſoever that are under this chief Power, and ſo act in Reference to it. Theſe may, according to exact Analogy, be called Rivers, becauſe both themſelves and their Affairs have Recourſe to the main Sea, and have always a Regard thereto, namely the Amplitude of that Juriſdiction to which they belong.

Achmetes, c. 178. according to the Mind of the Indians, Perſians, and Ægyptians; Ἡ θάλασσα καὶ ὁ βυθὸς εἰς πρόσωπον τῦ μεγάλυ κρίνονται βασιλέως· καὶ ὥσπερ οἱ ποταμοὶ πάντες βάλλουσιν ἐν αὐτῇ, ὕτω καὶ πᾶς ὁ πλῦτος τῦ κόσμυ εἰσρεῖ ἐν αὐτῷ. The Senſe of which is, That any great King is reſembled by the Sea, I ſuppoſe he means his Kingdom; and as all Rivers run into the Sea, ſo the Wealth of the World to him. And again to the ſame purpoſe, Ἐὰν ἴδῃ ὁ βασιλεὺς ὅτι νέοι ποταμοὶ προσέβαλον εἰς τὴν θάλασσαν ἀσωπήθεις, πλῦτον ἐξ ἐθνῶν μακρόθεν καὶ χαρὰν αὐτὸς λήψεται· That new Rivers running into the Sea ſignify new Revenues accruing to the King or Kingdom from People afar off, ſuppoſe made Provinces by his Power.

7. The other Conſideration of Rivers is their Limpidneſs and Irrigation: but in this Reſpect alſo they have either a Spiritual Senſe or more Mundane. The former appears from what our Saviour had ſaid John 7. 38. He that believes in me, out of his Belly ſhall flow Rivers of Living Water. This he ſpake of the Spirit, which they that believed in Him ſhould receive. The Fruit of which Spirit, as it is communicable to the Generality of the Church, is Righteouſneſs, Peace and Joy; according to that Onirocritical Solution of Aſtrampſychus, Πηγὴ διαυγὴς τὰς νόυ λύει λύπας.

Of this Water our Saviour Chriſt, John 4. Whoſoever drinketh of the Water that I ſhall give him, ſhall never thirſt: but the Water that I ſhall give him ſhall be in him a well of Water ſpringing up into Everlaſting Life. Like that in Iſai. 58. And thou ſhalt be like a watered Garden, and like a Spring of Water whoſe Waters fail not.

But Waters are alſo meant of worldly Affluency: Jerem. 31. 12. Therefore they ſhall come, and ſing in the Height of Sion, and ſhall flow together for the Goodneſs of the Lord, for Wheat, and for Wine, and for Oil, and for the Young of the Flock and of the Herd; and their Soul ſhall be as a watered Garden, and they ſhall not ſorrow any more at all. Achmetes. c. 176. according to the Ægyptian Solutions, Οἱ ἀρδοντες τὴν γῆν ποταμοὶ εἰς τὴν ζωὴν διακρίνονται τῶν ἀνθρώπων· Rivers that water the Soil are interpreted of Man's Livelihood. Ἐὰν ἴδῃ τις τὸν ἄρροντα τὴν γῆν σωπήθως ποταμὸν ξηρανθέντα εὑρήσει ὁ τότε λιμὸν καὶ μέριμναν καὶ θλῖψιν· If one ſees a River that uſes to water the Country dried up, it portends Death, Sorrow and Affliction.

8. Saints. The firſt Style of Saintſhip belongs to the Iſraelites, who were a ſeparate People, ſet apart from other Nations and made holy to the Lord by adhering to that Law he gave them, not contaminating themſelves with the Idolatrous Inſtitutes of the Gentiles. Deuteron. 33. 2. The Lord came from Sinai, and roſe from Seir unto them; he ſhined from Mount Paran, and he came with ten Thouſands of Saints: that is to ſay, (ſaith Vatablus) cum populo Iſrael, quorum fuerunt quidem multa millia; licèt non ſinguli Sancti, tamen ſancta fuerunt millia, quòd Deus illos ſanctificâſſet. & in populum ſuum illos ſibi ſegregâſſet. And further in the following Verſe, Yea he loved the People; all his Saints are in thy Hand. Which is plainly ſpoke of the Iſraelites according to that Senſe in Exodus Chap. 19. v. 5, 6. where they are called a peculiar Treaſure above all People, and alſo a Kingdom of Prieſts and an holy Nation. And this they are ſaid to be, if they obey his voice and keep his Covenant

Whence it is eaſy to conceive that thoſe Chriſtians ſucceed unto this Title that are purely Evangelical, and do not contaminate themſelves by any Idolatrous Practices againſt the Command and Covenant of God; they are Saints in this peculiar and ſeparate Senſe, in that they do not mingle with the Rites of the Gentiles, but keep themſelves intirely to the Commands of that one Maſter, Chriſt. If they do this ſincerely and conſtantly, (and truly there is little doubt of their Sincerity, that did not ſtick to lay down their Lives for the Truth) though they be not ſo wiſe and plauſible according to the Mode of the World, nor devoid of all Blemiſhes of humane Infirmity; yet undoubtedly they are thoſe Saints of which there is ſo frequent Mention in the Apocalyps, and are the true Iſrael of God, under whatſoever Hardſhip or low Condition of Fortune they may be found, to diſguiſe the Worthineſs of their Perſons. For the Witneſſes were to be cloathed in Sackcloath a thouſand two hundred ſixty Days.

Scorpion. See Serpent.

Schorched

Scorched by the Sun. Achmetes, Onirocrit. c. 167. Εἰ δέ τις ἴδοι ὅτι πλεῖστα ἀπέκαυσεν αὐτὸν ὁ ἥλιος, εὑρήσει τιμωρίαν παρὰ τοῦ βασιλέως ἀνάλογον τῆς καυσηρίας· If any one dream that the Sun has ſcorched him much, he will be puniſhed by the King proportionably to that Scorching, according to the Doctrine of the Ægyptians, Indians and Perſians.

9. Sea. Waters ſignifying People, as the Angel tells St. John; the Gathering together of People into one Body Politick, Kingdom or Juriſdiction, may fitly be called a Sea in the Political World, as the Gathering together of the Waters is ſo termed in the Natural, Gen. 1. And the whole Univerſity of Kingdoms or a great Part of them may according to this Analogy be called either the great Sea or Ocean, as is figured out alſo in the Viſion of Daniel, Chap. 7. I ſaw in my Viſion by Night, and behold the four Winds of Heaven ſtrove upon the great Sea. Where by Winds undoubtedly is meant War, as well as by the great Sea a Comprehenſion of ſeveral Kingdoms in which this Bluſter and Tempeſt of War is made, one Kingdom fighting againſt another to enlarge their Dominions.

This Analogy of the Sea is alſo acknowledged in the Interpretations of the Indians, Perſians, and Ægyptians. Achmetes, c. 178. Ἐὰν ἴδῃ τις ὅτι ἐκράτησε τῆς θαλάσσης, ἐπικρατήσει τῆς βασιλείας πάσης· If any dream he is Maſter of the Sea, he will be entire Succeſſor in the whole Kingdom. And ſo likewiſe of the Winds, Ὁ βασιλεὺς ἐὰν ἴδῃ τὴν θάλασσαν σφόδρα ταραττομένην ὑπὸ ἀνέμου γνωρίμου, ἀπὸ τοῦ κατοικοῦντος μέρους ἢ ἀνέμου ἔθνος ταραχθήσεται. If a King ſee the Sea troubled by a Wind from a known Quarter, he will be moleſted by ſome Nation from that Quarter. Εἰ δὲ ἴδῃ γαληνιῶσαν τὴν θάλασσαν, εὐφρανθήσεται ἐν τῇ βασιλείᾳ αὐτοῦ· But if he ſee (viz. in his Sleep) the Sea calm, he will enjoy his Kingdom in Peace: This Interpretation therefore of the Sea will farther confirm that of the Rivers.

Serpent. That notorious Serpentine Shape which deceived Adam and Eve and lapſed them into Rebellion againſt God, cannot but aſſure any one that in Scripture all the Serpentine Kind that are deſcribed in Prophecy do in all Likelihood refer to the Kingdom of the Devil. See Dragon.

Ship. That a Ship as well as a Mill may be an Hieroglyphick of Profit, any one may eaſily conceive, if he think but of Merchandizing. Achmetes, according to the Mind of the Ægyptians and Perſians, c. 180. Ἐὰν ἴδῃ τις ὅτι κτίζει πλοῖα, πλούτου μεγάλου ἀνάλογον τῶν πλοίων ἕξει· If one dream he builds Ships, he ſhall grow rich proportionably to the Nnmber of Ships he builds. But out of the foregoing Chapter, according to the Doctrine of the Indian Interpreters, Ἐὰν ἴδῃ τις ὅτι ἐτεκτόνει πλοῖον ἐμπορευτικὸν, σωμαγωγὴν ἀνθρώπων διὰ μυστήρια ποιήσει. Which is an Interpretation as far fetched as from the Indies indeed. Nor is it eaſie to conjecture why a Ship ſhould intimate the congregating of Men for the Celebrating Religious Myſteries, unleſs we conceive a Ship to repreſent a Temple: Which why we ſhould, I know not, unleſs becauſe they are diſterminated and ſolitary Buildings, as Temples are; not joyned to one another, no more than a Temple to other Houſes. But in that it is ſaid to be πλοῖον ἐμπορευτικὸν, Navis mercatoria, it may be the Profit of the Prieſt from Sacrifices or Offerings to Idols may be alluded to. And whether any darker Receſſes in the Ship may repreſent the Adyta in Temples, I know not. Such Particularities I leave to every Man's Fancy to purſue at Leiſure.

Slain. See Reſurrection.

Slaughter. See Death.

10. Sun, Moon and Stars. The Sun and Moon have either a Spiritual Signification or a Secular. Of the Spiritual Signification of the Sun there is an Example, where Chriſt is called the Sun of Righteouſneſs, as he is by the Prophet Malachi. Alſo the Apoſtle to the Epheſians, Awake thou that ſleepeſt, and ariſe from the dead, that Chriſt may give thee Light. The Moon alſo may have a Spiritual Signification, ſuppoſing it to typifie the Moſaical Diſpenſation: Which it may very well do, both becauſe it is a Light, and a far dimmer Light than that of the Goſpel; as alſo in Alluſion to their New Moons and other Feſtivals of the Jews, the Order of which depended on that Planet. See Mr. Mede on Apocal. 12.

To which you may add, That as the Law of Moſes is compared to the Moon, ſo may the Light of the Goſpel of Chriſt be compared to the Sun. For that the Word of God is compared to Light, is plain from that of David, Thy Word is a Lamp unto my Feet, and a Light unto my Path. And that great Lamp of the Univerſe, the Sun, is the cleareſt Light Men can walk by. Whence that vulgar Expreſſion of the Sunſhine of the Goſpel was framed by very warrantable Analogy; and does further aſſure unto us, that the Light of the Goſpel may alſo be one Spiritual Signification of the Sun. Pſal. 119. 105

11. The Secular Signification of Sun and Moon is when they ſignifie the Power and Glory of this World. And that either generally and at large, as Jerem. 15. 9. Her Sun is gone down while it was yet Day: Which the Targum renders, Their Glory paſſed from them in their Life-time. The Like to which is in Amos 8. 9. I will cauſe the Sun to go down at Noon, and I will darken the Earth in the clear Day. Vatabl. Cùm eritis in ſupremo felicitatis gradu, tunc indè vos dejiciam & infeliciſſimos reddam. Again, Iſai. 60. 10. Thy Sun ſhall no more go down, neither ſhall thy Moon withdraw herſelf: that is to ſay, Thou ſhalt have uninterrupted Glory and Proſperity, as it follows preſently after, For the Lord ſhall be thine everlaſting Light, and the Days of thy Mourning ſhall be ended. In ſuch Places as theſe Sun and Moon have not a Senſe determined to any particular Dignity in a Kingdom, but ſignifie only at large the Glory and Proſperity thereof.

12. But in other Places there may be a more particular Meaning of theſe Lights. For as there is a Political Univerſe as well as a Natural, (as I have already ſhewn) which has its Heaven alſo as well as Earth: ſo there muſt be ſomething anſwering in the Political Heaven to thoſe chief conſpicuous Parts of the Natural, the Sun, Moon and Stars. Whence it will follow, that he that is chief in a Political World muſt be the Sun thereof; as may appear, though in an inferiour Inſtance touching a Body Oeconomical, Gen. 37. 9. viz. the Dream of Joſeph, that the Sun and the Moon and the eleven Stars made Obeiſance to him. Which Jacob unriddling, What is this Dream, ſaith he to his Son, that thou haſt dreamed? Shall I and thy Mother and thy Brethren indeed come to bow down our ſelves to thee to the Earth? Wherefore if theſe Symbols ſignifie ſo diſtinctly in a Family, which is but a Body Oeconomical, much more is it to be expected that it may ſignifie ſo in a Body Politick.

Achmetes, according to the Mind of the Indians, Perſians, and Ægyptians, cap. 167. Ὁ ἥλιος εἰς πρόσωπον βασιλέως κρίνεται ἀπαρχαλλάκτως, καὶ ἡ σελήνη εἰς πρόσωπον τοῦ ἀπὸ τοῦ βασιλέως δευτέρου ἐξουσιαστοῦ. (In the next Chapter he calls him τὸν δεύτερον ἤτοι τὸν ἐλάττονα βασιλέα, the ſecond or leſſer King.) ἡ Ἀφροδίτη εἰς πρόσωπον τῆς Αὐγούστης· καὶ οἱ λοιποὶ τῶν μεγίστων ἀστέρων εἰς τοὺς μεγίστους ἄνδρας τοῦ βασιλέως, whom he calls in the following Chapter τοὺς εὐγενεῖς καὶ πλησίους καὶ τοὺς ἔγγιστα τοῦ βασιλέως. The Senſe of all which is in brief, that in the Interpretation of Viſions or Dreams the Sun immutably repreſents the King, the Moon the next in Power to him, the Planet Venus the Queen, and the reſt of the bigger Stars the Princes or Nobles of the Kingdom.

13. Which is not ſo ſuperſtitiouſly to be underſtood but that, if there were no Queen, any third in Dignity might be repreſented thereby. For this Venus is alſo Lucifer, which the Hebrews call הֵילֵל, under which that mighty King of Babylon is repreſented, Iſai. 14. 12. How art thou fallen from Heaven, O Lucifer, Son of the Morning! how art thou cut down to the Ground, that did weaken the Nations! Which ſeems to be againſt the Analogy of the Onirocriticks, which ſay the Sun ſignifies the King ἀπαρχαλλάκτως. But they do not ſay a Star may not ſignifie him, eſpecially when he is not compared with his own Nobles and Princes, but with other Kings. For a Plurality of Suns is unnatural. Wherefore in that Caſe the Parable is to be made from the Stars only, and the chiefeſt King is the greateſt and moſt glorious Star. Whence when the Roman Empire had two Cæſars unſubordinate to one another, they could not well be called Suns, but Stars, though moſt illuſtrious and glorious ones. Which agrees well with Mr. Mede's interpreting of that great Star that fell at the Sound of the third Trumpet, of the expiring of the Weſtern Cæſareate.

14. But that there is a more myſtical Senſe of Stars alſo, may appear in that Promiſe of Chriſt, * I will give him the Morning-ſtar; tho' I confeſs that a Political Senſe alſo is not here excluded. But where Chriſt ſaith, * I am the Root, and the Off-ſpring of David and the bright and Morning Star, I know not but that may be underſtood in a Political Senſe; for all Kingdoms had not then, nor have yet, ſubmitted unto him. But where Stars ſignifie Angels, that is more Cabbaliſtical. Apocal. 1. 20. The ſeven Stars are the ſeven Angels of the ſeven Churches: According as they ſignifie alſo in Job 38. 7. When the Morning Stars ſang together, and all the Sons of God ſhouted for Joy. As many of which as kept not their Station, but fell into this terreſtrial Pollution, may well be called Fallen Stars, ἀστέρες ἐκ τοῦ οὐρανοῦ εἰς τὴν γῆν πεπτωκότες, Stars fallen from Heaven to the Earth. According to which that Apocal. 9. 1. καὶ εἶδον ἀστέρα ἐκ τοῦ οὐρανοῦ πεπτωκότα εἰς τὴν γῆν is nothing but a Periphraſis of ſome one fallen Angel or Devil, who afterwards is called the Angel of the Abyſs, a great

*Rev. 2. 28.

*Chap. 22. 16.

a great Officer in the Kingdom of Darkneſs. That this is the Senſe is plain, in that it is ſaid, not πίπτουσα, but πεπτωκότα in the preterperfect Tenſe. It may not be impertinent to add what * Horus Apollo ſays of this Hieroglyphick: Ἀσὴρ παρ' Αἰγυπτίοις πότε μὲν θεὸν σημαίνει, ποτὲ δὲ ψυχὴν ἀνθρώπου ἄῤῥενος. Lib. 2. Hieroglyph.

CHAP. IX.

1. Tail; Temple. 2. Throes; Throne of God. 3. Thunder an Iconiſm of Divine Aſſiſtance for the diſcomfiting of the Enemies. 4. Other more myſtical Meanings thereof. 5. Time; Hours; Days. That Day ſignifying a Year is an Icaſmus. 6. The Appropriation of Months and Days to the Story of the Wicked and Righteous, with an Inference from the latter of a Latitude of compute in the 1260 Days in the Apocalyps. 7. Trees; Vintage; Water. 8. White-cloathing; Wilderneſs; Winds. 9. Whore and Whoredom. 10. The exquiſite Analogy Idolatry bears thereunto. 11. Wine-preſs. 12. That it ſignifies alſo Spiritual Deſtruction and Slaughter. 13. Woman and Women. 14. Worſhip; World. 15. That the Prophetick Style is ſo determinately intelligible, that the Endeavour of underſtanding Prophecies is moſt unjuſtly reproached for any inſuperable Difficulties therein. 16. Whether all the minuter Circumſtances of Parables or Symbolical Viſions are to be traced in their Explications, and of the Scheme Lemmatocoſmeſia or Paraphyadia. 17. Certain Rules to try Interpretations of Prophecies by, which are more warrantable and genuine, which leſs.

1. Tail. The Tail of a Beaſt is that Part that follows or comes behind, to which therefore the Train of a great Prince or Potentate will correſpond in Analogy. But, methinks, the Analogy is moſt exact in Serpents of a great Length, who therefore have a long Train following them. But it is ſignificant enough in other Animals alſo, as the Onirocriticks have taken Notice. Achmet. c. 152. Ἐὰν ἴδῃ τις ὅτι ἐπωχεῖτο τοιούτῳ ἵππῳ (he means τῷ φαῤῥας) μέγα, δασὺ, καὶ μακρὸν ἔφιππον ἔχοντι εὑρήσει ἀκολούθους τῆς ἐξουσίας αὐτοῦ ἀναλόγους τῷ πλήθους καὶ μήκους τοῦ ἐφίππου. If any one dreams he rides on a generous Steed, (ſuch as the Perſians called Pharas) having a large Tail, thick of Hair and long, he ſhall have a Retinue or Train of Men or Officers anſwerable to the Fulneſs and Length of the Tail. This Analogy will hold good from Nobles to Princes and Emperors, or any Sovereign Power over a State or Kingdom. In which Caſe their Forces and People are their Train or Tail.

Temple. To omit thoſe more Myſtical or Moral Meanings of Temple, it will be ſufficient to take Notice that it ſignifies ſometimes in the Prophetick Style a People conſecrated and, as it were, appropriated to God by an outward Profeſſion of him, and ſo ſet apart from other Nations, as conſecrated Places are from other Buildings or Plats of Ground. 1 Tim. 3. 15. That thou mayeſt know how to behave thy ſelf in the Houſe of God, which is the Church. And Rev. 3. 12. Him that overcometh will I make a Pillar in the Temple of my God: which both Grotius and Dr. Hammond interpret of the Church viſible; Grotius of the Sardian, Dr. Hammond of the Church Catholick.

2. Throes of Child-birth. The Throes of Child-birth are a Figure or Image of great Endeavours to bring ſomething to paſs, not without much Difficulty, Pain and Danger. And the Compaſſing their End is a Delivery of what they were big with, and a Deliverance from the Pain and Danger they laboured under. There are ſeveral Examples of this Iconiſm in the Prophets. Jer. 30. 6, 7. Wherefore do I ſee every Man with his Hands on his Loyns, as a Woman in Travel, and all Faces are turned into Paleneſs? Alas! for that Day is great, ſo that none is like it; it is even the Day of Jacob's Trouble, but he ſhall be ſaved out of it. Alſo Eſa. 66. 7. Before ſhe travelled, ſhe brought forth; before her Pain came, ſhe was delivered of a Man-child: which Interpreters uſually underſtand of the ſudden Birth of the Church, I mean, of the ſudden Converſion of the Gentiles to it; Grotius, of the Deliverance of Judæa by Maccabæus.

Throne of God. The Throne of God ſignifies a great Throne, a magnificent Throne, according to that uſual Hebraiſm, where Nouns joyned with אל, אלהים or יהוה acquire a Senſe of Excellency, Vehemency or Greatneſs. So the Trees of God, the Cedars of God,

God, the Mountains of God, are great and high Trees, Cedars and Mountains, the Fire of God a vehement Fire, and the like. According to which the Throne of God is an high and exalted Throne, a Royal or Imperial Seat, from whence the Political World is ruled, as God from Heaven rules the whole Universe.

3. Thunder. Thunder and Lightning signifies the Disjection and Dissipation of the Forces of War. Isa. 29. 6. Thou shalt be visited of the Lord of Hosts with Thunder and Earth-quake and great Noise, with Storm and Tempest and the Flame of devouring Fire. And Job 39. 25. He smelleth the Battel afar of, the Thunder of the Captains and their Chariots. It is very frequently used of God's Discomfiting of the Enemies of his Church. 1 Sam. 2. 10. The Adversaries of the Lord shall be broken to Pieces, out of Heaven shall he thunder upon them. Again Chap. 7. v. 10. And as Samuel was offering up the Burnt-offering, the Philistins drew near to Battel against Israel: but the Lord thundred with a great Thunder that Day upon the Philistins, and discomfited them, and they were smitten before Israel. Which whether it be understood figuratively here or naturally, by an Israelism, it will be an Image or Figure of the Deliverance of the Church from her Enemies to all Posterity. David also describes his Deliverance from his Enemies after this Manner, Psal. 18. The Lord thundred in the Heavens, and the Highest gave his Voice, Hail-stones and Coals of Fire. Yea he sent out his Arrows and scattered them, and he shot out Lightnings and discomfited them.

4. But there is also another more Mystical Signification of Thunder; Prophecy or Revelation from God being signifi'd thereby, by Way of Allusion to בת קול Filia vocis, which is one Kind of Prophecy. Such was that Voice from Heaven testifying of our Saviour Christ, Matth. 3. 17. as also Joh. 12. 28. where the People that stood by said, It thundered. See Drusius upon the Place. But besides this, Thunder has of it self a Significancy of Prophecy, the one being the Voice of Heaven, and called the Voice of God; the other an Oracle given forth from God, tho' perhaps not uttered in any external Manner, but made known in the most inward Recesses of the Human Mind, which is the true and living most holy Place of God.

But there is yet another Sense that Thunder may be capable of; as, namely, of some special and signal Promulgation of the Gospel to a People that has not yet either heard of it, assented to it, or rightly believed it; and this by an Allusion to the Law given to the Israelites in Thunder and Lightning: not to say, with some Respect to the Manner of God's Witnessing out of the Clouds to his Son Christ, and declaring of Him, in a Voice of Thunder, that he had glorified Him, and would glorifie Him again. See Fire.

*Joh. 12. 28, 29.

5. Time. That a Time and Times and half a Time in Daniel signifies three Years and an half, we have the Suffrage of Grotius, and indeed no Interpreters that I know dissent in this Matter. But this Figure of Speech is referrible to none of the Prophetick Schemes which I have set down, but is a mere Synecdoche Generis; as Hour is indeed a Synecdoche Speciei, when it is put for an indefinite short time, as it is some times. As 1 Thess. 2. 17. But we, Brethren, being taken from you for a short time, &c. The Greek has it, πρὸς καιρὸν ὥρας. Also Philem. 15. For perhaps he therefore parted for a Season, that thou mightest enjoy him for ever. For a Season is in the Greek πρὸς ὥραν.

This Use of an Hour in the ordinary Style is, as I said, but a Synecdoche Speciei, but in the Prophetick Style there is a Diorismus in it. But as for a Day when it is taken for a Year, it is an Icasmus, their being a Circuit of the Sun in each, and therefore they bear a similitude one to another. From whence it will follow that if one Day will stand for one Year, then in Proportion one Month of Days will stand for Thirty Years.

6. But that numbering by Months is appropriate to the Works of Darkness, as reflecting upon the Circuits of the Moon, which is the Governess of the Night, and Numbering by the Courses of the Sun appropriate to the Works of Righteousness, is, as I have noted already, an Observation of the most famous Mr. Mede, and exactly agrees to the Style of the Apocalyps: where the Continuing of the Beast and the prophaning of the holy City by the Gentiles is reckoned by Months; but the Prophecy of the Witnesses, as also their couragious Undergoing that Martyrdom, and their lying unburied, by Days. The abode of the Woman in the Wilderness is also numbered by Days, and by a time and times and half a time; which, according to this Curiosity of Appropriation, must of Necessity signifie three solar Years and an half; of which notwithstanding they fall short near twenty Days. But Modicum, nec curat Prætor nec Propheta, is better here applied than where Grotius applies it. And hence it is demonstrable monſtrable that there is a concealed or tacit Latitude of twenty Years at leaſt in theſe 1260 Days, which are the ſame with a Time and Times and half a Time; and that the firſt Meaſure may be an Icad. But becauſe the Sixty Sounds, and that is ſilent in this Number, it is not improbable but an Hexecad might, if need were, be taken for the firſt Meaſure or Diviſor of 1260. But that there is a Dioriſmus in the twelve hundred and ſixty Days, I have expreſly taken Notice of above.

7. Trees. That Trees according to their ſeveral Bigneſs and Procerity ſignifie ſeveral Degrees of Men, is plain from that of Zachary, Chap. 11. Open thy Doors, O Lebanon, that the Fire may devour thy Cedars, Houl, O Fir Tree, for the Cedar is fallen, becauſe all the Mighty are ſpoiled. Houl, O ye Oaks of Baſan, for the Foreſt of the Vintage is come down. Thoſe few Words, All the mighty are ſpoiled, are a certain Key to the Parable, and ſhew that the Prophecy does not point at Trees, but Men: and therefore Vatablus and other Interpreters do interpret it accordingly. That Proverbial Lambick,

Δρυὸς πεσούσης πᾶς ἀνὴρ ξυλεύεται, ſounds to this Senſe; and the Onirocriticks of Nicephorus give a further and clearer Suffrage thereto,

Κοπέντα δένδρα πτῶσιν ἀνδρῶν σημαίνει,

And Achmetes, according to the Doctrine of the Perſians, Indians and Ægyptians, does largely inſiſt upon theſe Iconiſms, applying ſeveral Sorts of Trees to ſeveral Qualities of Perſons. See Onirocrit. cap. 151. which yet he does more copiouſly and particularly cap. 200. And laſtly, cap. 165.

To which Purpoſe he alſo ſpeaks in the following Chapter.

Vintage. See Wine-preſs.

Water. That Waters may be the Hieroglyphick of Words and Speech, or of that Doctrine that is conveyed by them, appears from Prov. 18. 4. The Words of a Man's Mouth are as deep Waters, and the well-ſpring of Wiſdom as a flowing Brook. Alſo Chap. 15. 28. The Heart of the Righteous ſtudieth to anſwer, but the Mouth of the Wicked poureth out evil things. But never ſo bad as when it poureth out ſuch Speeches as tend to Strife and Contention, which is like the Cutting a Bank in the Sea and Over-flowing all. Whence it is that the Wiſe Man gives that wholeſome Advice, Leave off Contention before it be meddled withal, for the Beginning of Strife is as when one letteth out Water. See other Significations of Water in River and in Sea. Prov. 17. 14.

8. White-cloathing. By Comparing Nicephorus with Aſtrampſychus, White-cloathing ſhould ſignifie that Honour and Chearfulneſs that ariſes from a Man's Innocency and Integrity.

Aſtrampſychus,

Λευκὴν στολὴν φέλλισον ἐν ὕπνῳ φορῶν.

Nicephorus

Χιτὼν μέλας ἔδειξεν αἰχύνης τρόπον.

Achmetes, according to the Senſe of the Indians, c. 157. Ἐὰν ἴδῃ ἄνθρωπος ὅτι φορεῖ λευκὰ ἱμάτια, εὑρήσει χαρὰν καὶ δόξαν εἰς τὴν πίστιν καὶ ἐν τῷ κόσμῳ. And again, cap. 232. Ἐὰν ἴδῃ τις ὅτι ἐνεδύσατο ἱμάτια λευκὰ καὶ καθαρά, τοσοῦτον ἀποκαθαίρεται πάσης λύπης ἀναλόγως τῆς καθαρότητος καὶ τῆς λευκότητος. according to the Senſe of the Ægyptians and Perſians. I need not add what is ſaid in the Apocalyps, That the White Raiment is the Righteouſneſs of the Saints.

9. Whore and Whoredom. That by Whoredom is ſignified Idolatry, there are infinite Inſtances in the Old Teſtament. Exod. 34. 15. Leſt thou make a Covenant with the Inhabitans of the Land, and they go a-whoring after their Gods, &c. Deut. 31. 16. Behold thou ſhall ſleep with thy Fathers, and this People will ariſe up and go a-whoring after the Gods of the Strangers of the Land, &c. And Ezek. 6. 9. I am broken with their whoriſh Heart which has departed from me, and with their Eyes that go a-whoring after their Idols. That Idolatry therefore is compared to Whoredom is a plain Caſe.

And truly the Reaſon of this Icaſmus is not obſcure, ſince the People of God are his Spouſe, and God calls himſelf their Husband. By which Figure is meant that the higheſt Joy of the Soul of Man is by keeping her ſelf in ſtrict Union with her God, and by being ſincere in his Covenant; as alſo that it is his Duty to be ſo, and that that high Act of Religion and Devotional Love which is due to him ſhould not in any meaſure be diverted upon another, but that the Eye of our Mind ſhould be wholly fixed upon him. This is the Duty of every Rational Soul, whether ſhe be in the exterior Covenant with God or no. And therefore the very Idolatry of the Heathen in this Regard is rightly called Whoredom, as it is in that firſt place of Exodous which I cited. But when ſhe is in external Covenant with God, and God becomes her Husband both jure and de facto, the Whoredom is double.

and

10. We ſee therefore the Analogy betwixt Whoredom and Idolatry. For as in Whoredom that ſpecial Kind of Paſſion and the proper Effects thereof, which are due only to a Legitimate Husband, are derived upon ſome other Perſon; ſo in Idolatry that Summity and Flower of our Divineſt Affection, which is Religious Devotion and Adoration, with the outward Signs thereof due to God alone, are diſcharged and exerciſed upon ſome Creature, whether Idols of Wood and Stone, or any other things which are not God. This is a Fundamental Reaſon of this frequent Iconiſm in Scripture.

To which you may add ſome other few Reſemblances. As the Provocation of God's Jealouſie againſt them eſpecially that be in an exteriour Covenant with him: The ornamental Pompouſneſs in Idolatry, anſwering to the Gariſhneſs of Whores and the Pranking up themſelves to allure their Paramours: The Pronity alſo and Propenſeneſe to fall into this Sin, it being even as natural to this corrupt Condition of the Soul to dote on a viſible Object of Worſhip, as for the Body to incline to the Reaping of thoſe Joys it preſages upon every inticing Object, did not an higher Law forbid it in both Caſes. To which you may further add the Remorſeleſneſs of Conſcience which Men eaſily fall into in both Sins, they rowing down ſo eaſily with the Stream, and their Animal nature being ſo much gratified by them. Such is the Way of the adulterous Woman (in both Senſes) She eateth and wipeth her Mouth, and ſaith, I have done no Wickedneſs. And laſtly, as the being engaged in whoriſh Practices extinguiſhes that Love and Reſpect that is due to a Husband; ſo the being inveigled in Idolatrous Worſhip does quite ſuffocate and dead that Divine Senſe whereby we enjoy God indeed, and know our true Duty to him, and reliſh thoſe indiſpenſable Points of Obedience wherein we are really to Honour him.

Prov. 30. 20.

So deep and weighty a Senſe is there concealed under this one Prophetick Iconiſm, Fornication or Whoredom. Which therefore ſeems to be ſo particularly affected in the Apocalyps, not only by way of juſt Reproach to ſo foul a Sin, but for the Exquiſiteneſs of Signification, it ſo fully and ſo truly emblematizing the Nature of Idolatry.

Wilderneſs. See Deſart.

Winds. See Sea.

11. Wine-preſs. That a Wine-preſs is an Hieroglyphick of great Preſſure and Affliction, yea of Effuſion of Blood and great Slaughter, the Nature of the Thing it ſelf does witneſs, I mean, the preſſing of Grapes till their Blood comes out, as it is called Deut. 32. 14. And thou didſt drink the pure Blood of the Grape. And accordingly Scripture has made uſe of this Emblem, Lam. 1. 15. The Lord hath troden under foot all my mighty Men in the midſt of me, he hath called an Aſſembly againſt me to cruſh my Young Men. The Lord hath troden the Virgin, the Daughter of Judah, as in a Wine-preſs. And Joel. 3. 12. Let the Heathen be awakened and come up to the Valley of Jehoſaphat, for there will I ſit to judge all the Heathen round about. Put in the Sickle, for the Harveſt is ripe; come, get ye down, for the Preſs is full, the Fats over-flow, for their Wickedneſs is great. This is underſtood of the great Slaughter of the Enemies of the Jews in the Valley of Jehoſaphat, ἐν τῇ κοιλάδι Ἰωσαφάτ, as the Seventy render it.

12. But though this Iconiſm of the Wine-preſs ſignifie Slaughter or an abundant Effuſion of Blood, yet we are to remember that Death and Slaughter it ſelf does not always ſignifie Phyſically, but ſometimes Morally. And for my part I do not queſtion but that of Iſai. 63. [Who is this that cometh from Edom, with his dyed Garments from Boſra, &c.? And again, I have troden the Wine-preſs alone, and their Blood ſhall be ſprinkled upon my Garments] what ever other Senſe there is thereof, has ſome ſuch allegorical Meaning as the Fathers have put upon it concerning Chriſt his ſpiritual Victories, as I ſhall have occaſion to inſiſt more largely upon in its due place.

13. Woman

13. Woman and Women. That Woman by a Prophetick Scheme ſignifies not one ſingle Woman, but a Body Politick, I have already taken Notice. For I have heard a Voice as of a Woman in Travel—— the Voice of the Daughter of Sion, Jer. 4. 31. But this Scheme is ſo uſual, that it is needleſs to inſiſt upon Inſtances. Here Sion, that is, the Inhabitants of her, is called both Woman and Daughter. The Second in a Senſe of Delicacy and Nobility, as if we ſhould ſay in Engliſh, The Damſel Sion. But there is another Senſe of Daughter, which is conſpicuous Ezek. 16. where he calls Jeruſalem Harlot, v. 35. Wherefore, O Harlot, hear the Word of the Lord, &c. And does in the Proceſs of the Charge or Complaint declare how Jeruſalem with her Daughters was worſe than her two Siſters, Sodom and Samaria, with their Daughters; who yet notwithſtanding, v. 45. are ſaid to have loathed their Husbands, that is to ſay, to have been Whores and to have committed Idolatry. A Metropolis therefore with the leſſer Towns are Mother and Daughters, and conſequently all Women; but if Idolatrous, ſuch Women as will defile them who joyn with them in publick Worſhip.

But there is yet another Senſe of Woman, not Political, but more Phyſical and Cabbaliſtical, and that is, The Life, Senſe and Reliſh of this Body: This is a Woman that we muſt have a ſpecial Care of being polluted by, through over-paſſionately cloſing with any of her Suggeſtions, or over-deeply ſympathizing with or reſenting of thoſe Pleaſures ſhe would allure us by, and ſo defix our Deſire upon her. For not Idolatry only but all other Enormities ariſe in us from the Liſtening to the falſe Counſel of this domeſtick Eve.

14. Worſhip. That Worſhip or Adoration may be an Iconiſm of Subjection, is plain from the Nature of the Ceremony it ſelf; the Bowing of the Body being a fit Symbol of ſubmitting the Will and Mind to his Power to whom we do this Homage. And that it does ſignifie thus in the Hebrew Idiom, is manifeſt from ſeveral Inſtances. But the very Symbol it ſelf is explained, Gen. 37. where the Sheafs of Joſeph's Brethren are ſaid to make Obeiſance to Joſeph's Sheaf, that is, to worſhip Joſeph's Sheaf; Τὰ δράγματα ὑμῶν προσεκύνησαν τὸ ἐμὸν δράγμα, Your Sheafs worſhiped my Sheaf. Whereupon his Brethren preſently interpreting the Dream ſay unto him, Shall thou indeed reign over us? or, Shalt thou indeed have Dominion over us? that is to ſay, Shall we be your Subjects, or fall under your Dominion? So Iſa. 45. 14. ſpeaking of the Æthiopians and Sabeans to King Cyrus, They ſhall come after thee, ſaith he, in Chains they ſhall come over, and they ſhall fall down unto thee. The Greek has it, προσκυνήσουσί σοι, They ſhall worſhip thee. All which ſignifie Submiſſion and Subjection to his Sovereignty, I will only add one Place more, Gen. 27. the Bleſſing of Iſaac upon Jacob, Let People ſerve thee, and Nations bow down to thee; be Lord over thy Brethren, let thy Mother's Sons bow down to thee. The Word is προσκυνήσουσιν in both Places and ſignifies Obedience or Subjection at large, as is manifeſt.

But ſuppoſe it had not that general Signification of it ſelf, but only denoted that Part of the Duty of Subjection which is Worſhip or Incurvation, it might notwithſtanding ſignifie thus largely, Stylo Prophetico, by a Dioriſmus.

World. See Heaven and Earth.

15. Theſe be the chief Icaſtick Terms that occur in the Prophetick Style; which if they haply prove more in Number than we ſhall have Uſe for in this Diſcourſe, yet I account my Pains not improper in Reference to what I have had Occaſion to treat of in my Myſtery of Godlineſs, beſides their deſireable Uſefulneſs at large for underſtanding the chief Viſions and Prophecies in Scripture. And I hope I have made it appear, partly by this Alphabet of Iconiſms, and partly by my Explication of thoſe preceding Prophetick Schemes, That it is as eaſie a thing to render a Prophecy or Viſion out of this Prophetick Style into ordinary Language, as it is to interpret one Language by another; and that the Difficulty of Underſtanding Prophecies is in a Manner no greater, when once a Man has taken Notice of the ſettled Meaning of the peculiar Icaſms therein, than if they had been penn'd down in the vulgar Speech, in which there are as frequent Homonymies of Words as here there are of Iconiſms; and that therefore it need be no Reproach to any one that he endeavours to underſtand the Prophecies of Scripture, more than the Hiſtories thereof; Prophecy being nothing elſe but an Anticipatory Hiſtory, and, when once fulfilled, as plain an Hiſtory as that which was never propheſied of.

16. Thus far of Prophetick Schemes and Iconiſms; in enumerating of which Laſt I hope I have omitted nothing of any Moment; and as to the Firſt, whether any thing is therein left out that is of any Importance, muſt be left to the Judgment of thoſe who deny that in Interpreting of Parables (and the ſame Account is to be made of Symbolical Viſions, which manifeſtly are Prophetick Parables) ſo accurate a Regard is to be had of every Particular of the Parable in the Application, as that to every little Circumſtance in the Parable, ſomething muſt, according to Analogy, be made particularly to anſwer in the Expoſition. For ſome things they look vpon as παραφυάδες τινὲς, certain Shoots or young Branches growing out from the Subſtance of the Parable, or joined thereto for Ornament, and affirm that in the Application they ought to have either none, or at moſt, but a general Signification, reckoning it to be but an unſignificant and triffling περιεργία if any one labour in ſearch of a more articulate and diſtinct Analogy: As in the Parable of the Grain of Muſtard-ſeed, which, when it is grown up, is the greateſt among Herbs: ſo that the Birds of the Air come and lodge in the Branches thereof. In this, they deem it but an unskilful περιεργία if in the Application any ſhall inquire what that is, which, according to the Analogy, anſwers to the Birds of the Air; theſe having only a general Signification, and being only uſed to illuſtrate the Greatneſs of the Tree. And the ſame they would doubtleſs affirm of that Place in the Apocalypſe, And all the Fouls were filled with their Fleſh, namely, that it ſignifies only the Victory would be Compleat and the Slaughter Great. So in the Parable of the Virgins, Math. 25. v. 9. But go ye rather to them that ſell, and buy for your ſelves. They ſay it would be but an unadviſed thing here to ask, Who thoſe are that in this Parable are ſignified by them that ſell Oil: For that this is only a παραφυὰς of the external Cortex of the Parable, of no other Uſe but to ſignify, that at the Coming of Chriſt they ſhall for certain Reaſons be hindred from Entring into the Celeſtial Joys, who then ſhall not have that in Poſſeſſion, whereby they are made capable of ſo great Happineſs. As for my ſelf, I ingenuouſly confeſs that I am more inclin'd to conſider every minuter Circumſtance of Parables and Symbolical Viſions, and, in the Explications of them, to render an Account thereof. If Men of Gravity and Learning will needs affirm this to be a περιεργον, and that 'tis fit to keep within more modeſt Bounds, I will not much gainſay it. But this being granted, that there are ſome things in Parables and Symbolical Viſions, of which no, at leaſt particular, Reckoning is to be made in the Applications or Interpretations, it is manifeſt that this is a certain Parabolick or Prophetick Scheme; and it is, when ſome Particle of a Viſion or Parable is underſtood to pertain to its external Cortex as an Imbelliſhing or Ornament thereof, of which no Account is to be given in the Explication, unleſs perhaps a general One; which therefore, ſeeing it is conceived thus to ſpring out of, or adhere to the external Cortex as an Ornament, may fitly be called παραφυαδεία or Λημματοκοσμησία, and by theſe Names to be numbred amongſt the Prophetick Schemes. Which to have thus intimated by the Bye, will poſſibly not be unprofitable to thoſe, who do not willingly permit their Mind to be troubled with too many Alluſions and Analogies of things.

Matth. 13. 32.

Chap. 19. 21.

17. It only now remains that we annex a few Rules concerning the Preference of one Interpretation of Prophecy before another, and then conclude.

The firſt Rule.

That Interpretation that keeps cloſe to the approved Examples and Analogy of the Prophetick Style is to be preferred before ſuch as are framed at Pleaſure according to the private Fancy of the Interpreter.

The Ground of this Rule is this, that beſides that it is ſafer to follow an approved Example than to be deſtitute thereof, and wholly lean upon a Man's private Senſe; the very Style of the Prophets being as it were a peculiar Language or Dialect, there is a Neceſſity of Underſtanding things according to the Meaning of their Dialect or Language, and not according to what it would ſound in our own. Which is as fond and ridiculous, as if an Engliſh-man in hearing of Latin ſpoken, where the Word Fur is occaſionally brought in, ſhould think the Furr of an Alderman's Gown were meant; or at the Sounding of πᾶν δρέπανον in Greek ſhould let his Fancy preſently fall into the dripping-pan. And yet as abſonous and incongruous is it to interpret the Iconiſms of the Prophets according to what conceits are either vulgar or peculiar to our ſelves. As if becauſe Vices and Virtues are painted out in the Figure of Women or Beaſts, we ſhould therefore apply that Meaning to the Prophetick Style; whenas they always ſignifie a Body Politick, even in that very Scheme where abſtract Inſcriptions are upon them: as Zech. 5. 7. where the Whore in the Epha is ſaid to be Wickedneſs. By which Woman notwithſtanding Vatablus underſtands the ten Tribes revolted to Idolatry, and other Interpreters expound it to the ſame Purpoſe. And ſo to interpret Hail of Hardneſs of Heart is like the interpreting of Latin or Greek by what they ſound neareſt in Engliſh. This is μεταβαίνειν εἰς ἄλλο γένος, as Ariſtotle ſpeaks, and quite to forget where we are or what we are about.

The

The ſecond Rule.

That Interpretation that keeps one Tenour of Senſe of the ſame VVords, in one and the ſame Viſion eſpecially, is to be preferred before that which varies backward and forward, and takes the ſame Word in as many different Senſes as it occurs in different Places of the Viſion.

To be in many Tales is accounted an infallible Sign of a falſe Story; and to vary the Interpretation of the ſame Word in one and the ſame Viſion, without any ſolid Reaſon, is as great a Demonſtration of Fraud and Forcedneſs in the Interpretation, and that the Interpreter was byaſſed by ſome Deſign or Intereſt, and that he has done Violence to the Text for his own Advantage. As for Example, If one ſhould interpret that Iconiſm of a Beaſt, one while to ſignifie a Kingdom or Empire, another while ſome ſingle Perſon of that Empire, and then again ſome grand Vice thereof; Were not this a mere Botch in compariſon of Interpreting this Beaſt of ſuch a Kingdom or Body Politick in every place of the Viſion? I might inſtance in other ſuch like Shufflings, but this one Intimation ſhall ſuffice.

The third Rule.

That Interpretation that does concern the Affairs of Religion and the Church of God, and is of the greateſt Uſe and Serviceableneſs to us, is a more likely Interpretation and to be preferred before that which leſs reſpects us, but ſeems to make the Spirit of God to have predicted things with little or no Reference to the Uſefulneſs of the Church.

The Truth of this Rule appears not only from the perpetual Examples of Prophecy, where it is rare to find any that do not reſpect the Church of God ſome way or other in a ſpecial Manner, (for even the * Riders of the red, black, and pale Horſes were as it were ſo many Scouts to inform the Church of the ſucceeding Periods of her Affairs) but alſo from the Reaſon of the Thing it ſelf. For if the Number of Prophecies be not limited by this Meaſure, What muſt be the Bounds of them? And if there be any beyond this, Why are there not Prophecies of all Nations and of their Affairs without any Reference to the Church? *Rev. 6.

The laſt Rule.

Thoſe Interpretations are more likely to be true that are ſuggeſted to a Mind unprejudiced and unbyaſſed by any outward Reſpects, than thoſe that are made by ſuch as the Senſe of Intereſt, worldly Hopes or Fears, or any Feud ou diſguſt may put a falſe Biaſs upon, and make the Judgment partial.

The Truth of this Rule is plain at firſt Sight, but I muſt confeſs the Uſefulneſs is more maimed and uncertain. For though it may be apparent enough in many Caſes, that an Interpreter is prejudiced by ſome of thoſe Ways I have intimated; yet becauſe it is very hard to be aſſured of any Man's being entirely free from Prejudice, the Application of the Rule will be found the more difficult. But where certain Demonſtration will not reach, wary Conjecture may claim a Right of Succeeding in its Place. Nor need we be over-ſolicitous concerning the Force or Uſe of this laſt Rule, it reſpecting the Interpreter more than the Interpretation, and arguing rather from the Quality of the Perſon than the Solidity of the Performance; which is better examined by the three foregoing Rules, and other firm Principles of Reaſon and Knowledge.

CHAP. X.

1. The Order and Entrance of his Search into the Prophecies, beginning at the ſeventeenth Chapter of the Apocalyps. 2. That the Seventeenth Chapter and the Thirteenth treat adequately of the ſame Subject, proved by Two Paralleliſms of Agreements. 3. The Paralleliſm of Agreements betwixt the Two-horned Beaſt and the Whore of Babylon. 4. The Paralleliſm of Agreements betwixt the Seven-headed Beaſt with ten Horns in the Thirteenth Chapter, and the Seven-headed Beaſt with ten Horns in the Seventeenth. 5. That the Paralleliſm of the Seven-headed Beaſts in thoſe Chapters is perfectly adequate and exact: And alſo of the Two-horned Beaſt and the Whore, ſaving that her Original is omitted and her Deſtruction mentioned in the Seventeenth Chapter; of both which a ſufficient Account is rendred. 6. The Adequateneſs of theſe Paralleliſms demonſtrated by comparing the Seventeenth and Thirteenth Chapters, ſo as it may appear that the one does wholly imbibe the other, ſaving in what is above excepted. 7. That the Naturalneſs and Unforcedneſs of this Imbibition ſhall be made good by a joint-Expoſition of the two Chapters.

1. WE are now, I hope, competently well appointed to purſue our main Deſign, which is, To trace out in Prophecies of Scripture the Predictions and Prefigurations of this ſad Apoſtatized State of Chriſtendom into that Antichriſtian Condition which it is notoriouſly known to have dogenerated into. Which we ſhall do in the ſame Order which we have obſerved in our Idea of Antichriſtianiſm, beginning firſt with that firſt and moſt eminent Member of Antichriſtianiſm, Idolatry; which we ſhall note through all thoſe Prophecies which we conceive to have pointed thereat, whether in the Old or New Teſtament, beginning at the Seventeenth Chapter of the Apocalyps, which is as it were the Royal Gate which will let us in to view, with the greateſt Certainty and Aſſurance deſirable, all thoſe Scenes of future things which are exhibited either by St. John himſelf, by St. Paul, or Daniel, touching the Church of Chriſt in that State we have deſcribed.

Wherefore it being of ſo great Importance to be well aſcertain'd of the true Meaning of the Viſion of that Chapter, I have thought fit with more than ordinary Diligence (and I hope with proportionable Succeſs) to ſearch into the genuin Senſe thereof; and have, I think, by carefully comparing of it with the Viſion of the Thirteenth Chapter, thereby demonſtrating that both Chapters do adequately treat of the ſelf-ſame things, as alſo by ſtrictly keeping my ſelf to the known Analogy of Prophetick Schemes, wrought out ſuch an undeniable Clearneſs of the Meaning of both thoſe Viſions, that no Man that is not wilfully blind can fail of diſcerning the Truth thereof.

2. That both theſe Chapters have the very ſelf-ſame Subject, and more particularly that the Two-horned Beaſt is the ſame with the Whore of Babylon, and the Seven-headed Beaſt with ten Horns in the Thirteenth Chapter the ſame in all Reſpects with the Seven-headed Beaſt with ten Horns in the Seventeenth Chapter, the manifold Agreements betwixt the firſt Two, and ſecond Two, in theſe two following Paralleliſms will abundantly make good.

3. The Paralleliſm of Agreements betwixt the Two-horned Beaſt and the Whore of Babylon.

Agreement I.

The Two-horned Beaſt and the Whore of Babylon are both the Reſtorers and Promoters of Idolatry in the Empire.

Agreement II.

They both had the Rule and Government over the Seven-headed Beaſt with ten Horns.

Agreement III.

They both aſpired to a Majeſty and Power plainly Imperial.

Agreement IV.

They both were Workers of Miracles, or a kind of Magicians or Sorcerers, and that in reference to reſtoring of Idolatry.

Agreement V.

They are both Pretenders to Sanctity, and make a Show of acting in the Behalf of Chriſt, when indeed they are Introducers of Idolatry and Antichriſtianiſm.

Agreement VI.

They are both cruel and bloody Perſecutors of the Saints and of the Witneſſes of Jeſus.

Agreement VII.

They are both ſo deſcribed as to have a Juriſdiction over the whole Empire, as well Oriental as Occidental.

Agreement VIII.

The Seat of them both is ſo indigitated at firſt, as that it may be underſtood to be as well at New Rome or Conſtantinople as at Old Rome.

Agreement IX.

Both their Seats are afterwards expreſly determined to Old Rome.

4. The Paralleliſm of Agreements betwixt the ſeven-headed Beaſt with ten Horns in the Thirteenth Chapter, and the Seven-headed Beaſt with ten Horns in the Seventeenth.

Agreement I.

They both have ſeven Heads and ten Horns.

Agreement II.

The Bodies of them both are ſet out by the Symbols of Cruelty and Idolatry.

Agreement III.

In both Viſions this Seven-headed Beaſt is a Beaſt that had in ſome Sort ceaſed to be, and was reſtored, and healed, and revived again.

Agreement IV.

The Time of the Death or of the Non-exiſtence of either was not long.

Agreement V.

In neither Viſion this Beaſt is ſo perfectly reſtored as to be utterly the ſame again, but rather the Image of the former; or is ſo the former in one Senſe that it is not in another. Whence it is called The Beaſt that is not, and yet is; or, Was, and is not, and yet is.

Agreement IV.

Both the Beaſts are ſaid to riſe out of the Sea.

Agreement VII.

They are both ordained to Deſtruction, as not being that Kingdom of the Saints that is to laſt for ever and ever.

Agreement VIII.

Of both theſe reſtored Beaſts it is ſaid, that they whoſe Names are not written in the Book of Life ſhall worſhip them and wonder after them.

Agreement IX.

The ſeven Heads in each Beaſt are idolatrous Heads.

Agreement X.

The Beaſts are ſlain or exterminated out of Being in the Sixth Head, reſtored or revived in the Seventh.

Agreement XI.

The ten Horns in neither Beaſt did actually reign in St. John's time.

Agreement XII.

The ten Horns in each Beaſt begin their Reign with the Beaſt.

Agreement XIII.

The ten Horns in each Beaſt give their Strength to the Beaſt.

Agreement XIV.

The Beaſts in each Viſion make War with the Saints.

Agreement XV.

The Saints in each Viſion overcome the Beaſt at laſt.

Agreement XVI.

The Faith and Conſtancy of the Saints is exerciſed by both the Beaſts.

Agreement XVII.

The time of each Beaſt is ſaid to be determined by God, and to be predicted by his holy Prophets.

Agreement XVIII.

The Seat of this Seven-headed Beaſt is not ſet down, (but left free in either Viſion) though the Seat of the Whore and the Two-horned Beaſt be accurately enough determined: which has an admirable Correſpondence with the Event.

5. Theſe be the two Paralleliſms of Agreements: concerning the latter whereof I dare affirm that it is ſo exact and adequate, that the Parallels betwixt the Seven-headed Beaſt in the Thirteenth Chapter and the Seven-headed Beaſt in the Seventeenth exhauſt all in each Chapter concerning that Beaſt. The former Paralleliſm is not ſo accurate, the Original of the twe-horned Beaſt being parallel to nothing in the Whore, and the Deſtruction of the Whore parallel to nothing in the Two-horned Beaſt as he is there deſcribed. Wherefore there is that peculiar in the Viſion of the 17. Chapter, that it treats alſo of the Judgment of the two-horned Beaſt or the Whore. according to the very Title of the Viſion, I will ſhew thee the Judgment of the great Whore. But this is no Argument at all againſt the Identity of their Perſons, eſpecially the Two-horned Beaſt, being alſo to be deſtroyed, and at the ſame time with the Whore, as it is eaſie to be made out by the Apocalyptick Synchroniſms. And as for the Omiſſion of the Original of the Whore to parallel the Original of the Two-horned Beaſt, that is no Argument againſt their Identity neither. Indeed if there had been an Original aſſigned to the Whore different from that of the Two-horned Beaſt, it had been ſomething; but this bare Omiſſion ſignifies nothing but the Art and Accuracy of the very out-ſide of theſe Viſions, which keeps a Decorum in all things. And therefore becauſe it was not ſo ſeemly nor ſutable to ſay, a Woman roſe out of the Earth, (though Brutes did ſo, Gen. 1. 24.) the Mention of her Original was fairly declined, eſpecially ſeeing ſhe is introduc'd riding upon the Beaſt.

6. But whenas a leſſer Number of Agreements in each Paralleliſm (provided there were nothing contrary) could not but have been a ſtrong Preſumption of the Identity of the Subjects of the Viſions in each Chapter, I mean, That the Two-horned Beaſt and the Whore are one, and the ſeven-headed Beaſt in each Chapter the ſame; how fully aſſured muſt we now needs be of theſe Identities the Agreements of theſe two Paralleliſms (thoſe Paſſages only excepted of which I have given ſo fair an Account) perfectly exhauſting the whole Subſtance of each Chapter? Which that it may be more plainly diſcerned, I ſhall oppoſe to your Eyes the whole XVII. Chapter, and to every Verſe in Order ſubjoin what is parallel to it in the XIII. For we ſhall ſee it will imbibe the whole Chapter.

Apoc. Chap. 17.

1. And there came one of the ſeven Angels which had the ſeven Vials, and talked with me, ſaying unto me, Come hither, I will ſhew unto thee the Judgment of the great Whore that ſitteth upon many Waters.

Chap. 13.

Moſt of this firſt Verſe of this Seventeenth Chapter of the Apocalyps is but Introductory to the Viſion, no Part of the Viſion it ſelf, and therefore there needs no Parallel to it in this Thirteenth Chapter. But how the Whore's being placed upon many Waters may ſeem to comply with one of our Parallels, I ſhall note in its due Place, when I come to give a Joint Expoſition of theſe two Chapters.

Chap. 17.

2. With whom the Kings of the Earth have committed (a) Fornication, and the Inhabitants of the Earth have been made drunk with the Wine of her Fornication.

Chap. 13.

*Paralleliſm 1. Agreement 1.

11. ---And he ſpake as a (a) Dragon.

12. And cauſeth the Earth and them that dwell therein to worſhip the firſt Beaſt, whoſe deadly Wound was healed.

14. ----Saying to them that dwell on the Earth, that they ſhould make an (a) Image to the Beaſt who had the Wound by the Sword, and did live.

Chap. 17.

3. So he carried me away in the Spirit into the Wilderneſs; and I ſaw a Woman * ſit upon a ſcarlet-coloured Beaſt, full of Names of (b) Blaſphemy, having (c) ſeven Heads and ten Horns.

Chap. 13,

*par. 1 Agr. 2. a, b paral. 2. Agr. 2.

15. * And he had Power to give Life to the Image of the Beaſt, that the Image of the Beaſt ſhould ſpeak.

c parall. 2. Agr. 2.

2. And the Beaſt that I ſaw was like unto a Leopard, and his Feet were as the Feet of a Bear, and his Mouth as the Mouth of a Lion. 5 And

5. And there was given unto him a Mouth ſpeaking great things and (b) Blaſphemies.

6. And he opened his Mouth in Blaſphemy (b) againſt God, to blaſpheme his Name and his Tabernacle, and them that dwell in Heaven.

1. And I ſaw a Beaſt having ſeven Heads and ten Horns.

Chap. 17

4. And the Woman was arraied in (a) Purple and Scarlet, and decked with Gold and precious Stones and Pearls, having a golden Cup in her Hand, full of Abomination and Filthineſs of her Fornication.

Chap. 13.

12. And he exerciſeth (a) all the Power of the firſt Beaſt before him. a par. 1. Agr. 3.

13. And he doth great (b) Wonders, ſo that he maketh Fire to come down from Heaven on the Earth in the Sight of Men; b par. 1. Agr. 4.

14. And deceiveth them that dwell on the Earth by thoſe (b) Miracles which he had Power to do in the Sight of the Beaſt.

Chap. 17.

5. And upon her forehead was a Name written, (a) Myſtery, Babylon the Great, the Mother of Harlots and Abominations of the Earth.

Chap. 13.

11. And I beheld another Beaſt coming out of the Earth, and he had two Horns like a (a) Lamb, and he ſpake like a Dragon. a par. 1. Agr. 5.

Chap. 17.

6. And I ſaw the Woman drunken with the (e) Blood of the Saints and with the Blood of the Martyrs of Jeſus: and when I ſaw her, I wondred with great Admiration.

Chap. 13.

15. And he had Power to give Life to the Image of the Beaſt, that the Image of the Beaſt ſhould both ſpeak, and cauſe that as many as would not worſhip the Image of the Beaſt ſhould be (a) killed. a par. 1. Agr. 6.

Chap. 17,

7. And the Angel ſaid unto me, Wherefore didſt thou marvel? I will tell thee the Myſtery of the Woman, and of the Beaſt that (a) carrieth her, which hath the (b) ſeven Heads and ten Horns.

Chap. 13.

11. And I beheld another Beaſt coming up out of the Earth, and he had (a) two Horns like a Lamb. a par. 1. Agr. 7.

1. And I ſaw a Beaſt having (b) ſeven Heads and ten Horns. b par. 2. Agr. 1.

Chap. 17.

8. The Beaſt which thou ſaweſt, (a) was, and is not, and ſhall aſcend out of the (b) bottomleſs Pit and go into (c) Perdition; and they that dwell on the Earth ſhall (d) wonder, (whoſe Names were not written in the Book of Life from the Foundation of the World) when they behold the Beaſt that (c) was, and is not, and yet is.

Chap. 13,

2. And the Dragon gave him his Power and his Seat and great Authority.

4. And they worſhipped the (a) Dragon that gave Power to the Beaſt, &c. See alſo Verſe 3. a par. 2. Agr. 3.

1. And I ſtood upon the Sand of the Sea, and I ſaw a Beaſt (b) riſe up out of the Sea. b Par. 2 Agr. 6.

10. He that leadeth into (c) Captivity, muſt go into Captivity: he that killeth with the Sword, muſt be (c) killed with the Sword. c Par. 2. Agr. 7.

3. And all the World (d) wondred after the Beaſt. d Par. 2, Agr. 8.

8. And all that dwell upon the Earth ſhall worſhip him, whoſe Names are not written in the Book of Life of the Lamb ſlain from the Foundation of the World.

3. And I ſaw one of his Heads as it were wounded to (a) Death, and his deadly Wound was (a) healed. a par. 2. Agr. 3.

14. Saying to them that dwell on the Earth, that they ſhould make an (e) Image to the Beaſt which had the Wound by the Sword, and the Beaſt revived. e par. 2. Agr. 5.

15. And he had Power to give Life to the (e) Image of the Beaſt, inſomuch that the Image of the Beaſt ſhould ſpeak.

Chap. 17.

9. And here is the Mind that hath Wiſdom. The ſeven Heads are the (a) ſeven Mountains on which the VVoman ſitteth.

Chap. 13.

a Par. 1. Agr. 8. 11. And I beheld another Beaſt coming up out of the Earth, and he had two Horns like a Lamb, but ſpake as a Dragon.

Chap. 17.

a Par. 2. Agr. 10 b Par, 2. Agr. 4 10. And they are ſeven Kings; five are fallen, and one is, and the (a) other is not yet come: and when he cometh, he muſt coutinue a (b) ſhort Space.

Chap. 13.

1. ---Having (a) ſeven Heads, and upon his Heads the Name of (a) Blaſphemy.

3. And I ſaw one of his Heads as it were wounded to Death, and his deadly Wound was (b) healed.

Chap. 17.

a Par. 2. Agr. 9. b Par. 2 Agr. 7. 11. And the Beaſt that was, and is not, even he is the eight, and is of the (a) ſeven, and goeth into (b) Perdition.

Chap. 13.

1. Having ſeven Heads,---and upon his Heads the Name of (a) Blaſphemy.

10. He that killeth with the Sword, muſt be (b) killed with the Sword.

Chap. 17.

a par. 2. Agr. 11, 12, 12. And the ten Horns which thou ſaweſt are ten Kings, which have received (a) no Kingdom as yet, but receive Power as Kings (a) one Hour with the Beaſt.

Chap. 13.

1. Having ſeven Heads and ten Horns, and upon his Horns ten (a) Crowns.

Chap. 17.

13 Theſe have one Mind, and ſhall give their Strength and Power to the Beaſt.

Chap. 13.

1. I ſaw a Beaſt riſing out of the Sea, (a) having ten Horns.

Chap. 17.

a par. 2. Agr. 13. 14. Theſe ſhall make (a) War with the Lamb, and the Lamb ſhall (b) overcome them: for he is Lord of Lords, and King of Kings; and they that are with him are called and choſen and faithful.

Chap. 13.

a par. 2. Agr. 14. 4. Who is like to the Beaſt? Who is able to make (a) War with him?

7. And it was given him to make (a) War with the Saints, and to overcome them.

16. And he cauſeth all, both Small and Great, Rich and Poor, Free and Bond, to receive a Mark in their Right-hand, or on their Foreheads.

17. And that no Man may (a) buy or ſell, ſave he that has the Mark or the Name of the Beaſt, or the Number of his Name.

b par. 2. Agr. 15. c. par. 2. Agr. 16. 10. He that leadeth into Captivity, ſhall (b) go into Captivity: He that killeth with the Sword, ſhall be (b) killed with the Sword. Here is the Patience and (c) Faith of the Saints.

Chap. 17.

15. And he ſaith unto me, The Waters which thou ſaweſt, where the Whore ſitteth, are (a) Peoples, and Multitudes, and Nations, and Tongues.

Chap. 13.

a par. 2. Agr. 17. 7. And Power was given him over all (a) Kindreds, and Tongues, and Nations.

12. And I beheld another Beaſt come out of the Earth, and he had (a) two Horns like a Lamb, and he exerciſeth (a) all the Power of the firſt Beaſt before him.

Chap. 17.

16. And the ten Horns which thou ſaweſt upon the Beaſt, theſe ſhall hate the Whore, and ſhall make her deſolate and naked, and ſhall eat her Fleſh and burn her with Fire.

Chap. 13.

There is nothing in this Thirteenth Chapter anſwering to the 16 Verſe of the other; but that Verſe anſwers punctually to the main Title of the Viſion, which is The Judgment of the great Whore. But that this Defect is no Prejudice to the Certainty of our Paralleliſm, I have already noted.

Chap. 17.

17. For God has put in their Hearts to fulfil his Will, and to agree and give their Kingdom unto the Beaſt, until the (a) Words of God ſhall be fulfilled.

Chap. 13.

a par. 2. Agr. 17. 5. And there was given unto him a Mouth ſpeaking great Things and Blaſphemies, and Power was given unto him to continue (a) forty and two Months.

Chap. 17.

a par. 1. Agr. 9. 18. And the Woman which thou ſaweſt, is that great City which (a) reigneth over the Kings of the Earth.

Chap. 13.

18. Here is Wiſdom, let him that hath Underſtanding count the [a]Number of the Beaſt; for it is the Number of a Man, and his Number is (a) ſix hundred threeſcore and ſix.

a Par. 1. Agr. 9.

7. Thus you ſee the Two Viſions of the Thirteenth Chapter wholly imbibed into the Viſion of the Seventeenth, excepting the Original of the Two-horned Beaſt, of which I have given an Account already. And that it is naturally drunk in, not daſh'd in by Force, will appear from that Joint-Expoſition which I ſhall make of theſe two Chapters together, interpreting thoſe Verſes or Parts of Verſes of the Thirteenth, which I have ſubnected to each Verſe of the Seventeenth, together with the Verſes they are in order ſubnected to. But before I ſet upon this Task, I will firſt prepare the Way by making good a certain Poſition that is of main Concern and of common Influence for the Clearing and Aſcertaining of the true Meaning of the Viſions in both Chapters. Which I ſhall do as accurately, and yet as briefly, as I can.

CHAP. XI.

1. The great Importance of proving the Seven Heads of the Beaſt to be Seven ſorts of Governours. 2. That the proving of the Seven-headed Beaſt to ſignifie the Idolatrous Roman Kingdom or Empire quatenus Idolatrous, will go far toward the Proof of the former Poſition. 3. That the Seven-headed Beaſt is a Kingdom or Empire. 4. And particularly the Roman. 5. That it is the Idolatrous Roman Kingdom or Empire. 6. That it is this Idolatrous Empire or Kingdom through all thoſe Ages it is Idolatrous. 7. That it repreſents the Roman Kingdom or Empire in thoſe Ages only in which it is Idolatrous. Whence the true Meaning of the ſlaying of the Beaſt, and a further Confirmation of the foregoing Aſſertion, is to be underſtood. 8. That this adequate Repreſentation of the Idolatrous Duration of the Empire implies that no Seven ſingle Perſons can be the Seven Heads thereof. 9. The ſame Concluſion inferred from the Stigmatizing theſe Seven Heads with the Note of Idolatry, whenas more than Seven, nay all, of the Pagan Emperours were Idolaters. 10. Alſo from the ordinary Form of Speech in diſtinguiſhing Animals by the Number of their Parts. 11. And finally from the Certainty of the Seventh Head's being not one ſingle Perſon but a Succeſſion. 12. That whatever Interpretation ſuppoſes theſe Seven Heads Seven ſingle Perſons, is not only falſe, but impoſſible. 13. That it follows from what has been evinced, That this Beaſt in the 17 Chap. of the Apocalyps is the Roman Empire degenerated again into a kind of Paganiſm. 14. As alſo that the Whore of Babylon is not Rome Pagan, but Pagano-chriſtian. 15. And that the Coming of Antichriſt at the very laſt End of the World is a Chimerical Fiction. 16. The true Subject of the Viſions of the 17 and 13 Chapters of the Revelation.

1. THE Poſition which I mentioned, and which is of ſo great Importance, is this; That the ſeven Heads of the Beaſt are not any ſeven ſingle Perſons, whether Emperors or any other Supreme Governours, but ſeven ſorts of Governours ſucceeding one another. Which being cleared, we ſhall then be infallibly aſſured what is the Subject and the genuin Senſe of the Viſions of theſe two Chapters we have in hand.

2. And truly we ſhall ſtrike very far into the Proof of this ſo important a Theſis, if we can but make good this preparatory Concluſion thereto, namely, That the Beaſt with ſeven Heads and ten Horns ſignifies the Idolatrous Roman Kingdom or Empire quatenus Idolatrous, that is to ſay, when and ſo long as Idolatrous, and no farther. The Truth of which Propoſition I ſhall endeavour to demonſtrate gradually and by Parts.

3. Firſt therefore, That by Beaſt is underſtood a Kingdom or Empire, it is needleſs here to repeat, having proved that in my Prophetick Alphabet; as alſo advertiſed in my firſt Rule of Comparing Interpretations of Prophecy, how abſonous and ridiculous it is not to interpret Prophetick Figures according to the approved Meaning and obſervable Uſe of the Prophetick Style. To which, laſtly, you may add, that the Seven Heads of the Beaſt being interpreted Seven Kings in Succeſſion, and the Ten

1. Chap. 5. Sect. 94

Chap. 13.

a Par. 1. Agr. 8. 11. And I beheld another Beaſt coming up out of the Earth, and he had two Horns like a Lamb, but ſpake as a Dragon.

Chap. 17.

a Par. 2. Agr. 10 b Par. 2. Agr. 4 10. And they are ſeven Kings; five are fallen, and one is, and the (a) other is not yet come: and when he cometh, he muſt continue a (b) ſhort Space.

Chap. 13.

1. ---Having (a) ſeven Heads, and upon his Heads the Name of (a) Blaſphemy.

3. And I ſaw one of his Heads as it were wounded to Death, and his deadly Wound was (b) healed.

Chap. 17.

a Par. 2. Agr. 9. b Par. 2 Agr. 7. 11. And the Beaſt that was, and is not, even he is the eight, and is of the (a) ſeven, and goeth into (b) Perdition.

Chap. 13.

1. Having ſeven Heads,---and upon his Heads the Name of (a) Blaſphemy.

10. He that killeth with the Sword, muſt be (b) killed with the Sword.

Chap. 17.

a par. 2. Agr. 11, 12, 12. And the ten Horns which thou ſaweſt are ten Kings, which have received (a) no Kingdom as yet, but receive Power as Kings (a) one Hour with the Beaſt.

Chap. 13.

1. Having ſeven Heads and ten Horns, and upon his Horns ten (a) Crowns.

Chap. 17.

13 Theſe have one Mind, and ſhall give their Strength and Power to the Beaſt.

Chap. 13.

a par. 2. Agr. 13. 1. I ſaw a Beaſt riſing out of the Sea, (a) having ten Horns.

Chap. 17.

14. Theſe ſhall make (a) War with the Lamb, and the Lamb ſhall (b) overcome them: for he is Lord of Lords, and King of Kings; and they that are with him are called and choſen and faithful.

Chap. 13.

a par. 2. Agr. 14. 4. Who is like to the Beaſt? Who is able to make (a) War with him?

7. And it was given him to make (a) War with the Saints, and to overcome them.

16. And he cauſeth all, both Small and Great, Rich and Poor, Free and Bond, to receive a Mark in their Right-hand, or on their Foreheads.

17. And that no Man may (a) buy or ſell, ſave he that has the Mark or the Name of the Beaſt, or the Number of his Name.

b par. 2. Agr. 15. c. par. 2. Agr. 16. 10. He that leadeth into Captivity, ſhall (b) go into Captivity: He that killeth with the Sword, ſhall be (b) killed with the Sword. Here is the Patience and (c) Faith of the Saints.

Chap. 17.

15. And he ſaith unto me, The Waters which thou ſaweſt, where the Whore ſitteth, are (a) Peoples, and Multitudes, and Nations, and Tongues.

Chap. 13.

a par. 2. Agr. 17. 7. And Power was given him over all (a) Kindreds, and Tongues, and Nations.

12. And I beheld another Beaſt come out of the Earth, and he had (a) two Horns like a Lamb, and he exerciſeth (a) all the Power of the firſt Beaſt before him.

Chap. 17.

16. And the ten Horns which thou ſaweſt upon the Beaſt, theſe ſhall hate the Whore, and ſhall make her deſolate and naked, and ſhall eat her Fleſh and burn her with Fire.

Chap. 13.

There is nothing in this Thirteenth Chapter anſwering to the 16 Verſe of the other; but that Verſe anſwers punctually to the main Title of the Viſion, which is The Judgment of the great Whore. But that this Defect is no Prejudice to the Certainty of our Paralleliſm, I have already noted.

Chap. 17.

17. For God has put in their Hearts to fulfil his Will, and to agree and give their Kingdom unto the Beaſt, until the (a) Words of God ſhall be fulfilled.

Chap. 13.

a par. 2. Agr. 17. 5. And there was given unto him a Mouth ſpeaking great Things and Blaſphemies, and Power was given unto him to continue (a) forty and two Months.

Chap. 17.

a par. 1. Agr. 9. 18. And the Woman which thou ſaweſt, is that great City which (a) reigneth over the Kings of the Earth.

Chap. 13.

18. Here is Wiſdom, let him that hath Underſtanding count the [a]Number of the Beaſt; for it is the Number of a Man, and his Number is (a) ſix hundred threeſcore and ſix.

[a] Par. 1. Agr. 9.

7. Thus you ſee the Two Viſions of the Thirteenth Chapter wholly imbibed into the Viſion of the Seventeenth, excepting the Original of the Two-horned Beaſt, of which I have given an Account already. And that it is naturally drunk in, not daſh'd in by Force, will appear from that Joint-Expoſition which I ſhall make of theſe two Chapters together, interpreting thoſe Verſes or Parts of Verſes of the Thirteenth, which I have ſubnected to each Verſe of the Seventeenth, together with the Verſes they are in order ſubnected to. But before I ſet upon this Task, I will firſt prepare the Way by making good a certain Poſition that is of main Concern and of common Influence for the Clearing and Aſcertaining of the true Meaning of the Viſions in both Chapters. Which I ſhall do as accurately, and yet as briefly, as I can.

CHAP. XI.

1. The great Importance of proving the Seven Heads of the Beaſt to be Seven ſorts of Governours. 2. That the proving of the Seven-headed Beaſt to ſignifie the Idolatrous Roman Kingdom or Empire quatenus Idolatrous, will go far toward the Proof of the former Poſition. 3. That the Seven-headed Beaſt is a Kingdom or Empire. 4. And particularly the Roman. 5. That it is the Idolatrous Roman Kingdom or Empire. 6. That it is this Idolatrous Empire or Kingdom through all thoſe Ages it is Idolatrous. 7. That it repreſents the Roman Kingdom or Empire in thoſe Ages only in which it is Idolatrous. Whence the true Meaning of the ſlaying of the Beaſt, and a further Confirmation of the foregoing Aſſertion, is to be underſtood. 8. That this adequate Repreſentation of the Idolatrous Duration of the Empire implies that no Seven ſingle Perſons can be the Seven Heads thereof. 9. The ſame Concluſion inferred from the Stigmatizing theſe Seven Heads with the Note of Idolatry, whenas more than Seven, nay all, of the Pagan Emperours were Idolaters. 10. Alſo from the ordinary Form of Speech in diſtinguiſhing Animals by the Number of their Parts. 11. And finally from the Certainty of the Seventh Head's being not one ſingle Perſon but a Succeſſion. 12. That whatever Interpretation ſuppoſes theſe Seven Heads Seven ſingle Perſons, is not only falſe, but impoſſible. 13. That it follows from what has been evinced, That this Beaſt in the 17 Chap. of the Apocalyps is the Roman Empire degenerated again into a kind of Paganiſm. 14. As alſo that the Whore of Babylon is not Rome Pagan, but Pagano-chriſtian. 15. And that the Coming of Antichriſt at the very laſt End of the World is a Chimerical Fiction. 16. The true Subject of the Viſions of the 17 and 13 Chapters of the Revelation.

1. THE Poſition which I mentioned, and which is of ſo great Importance, is this; That the ſeven Heads of the Beaſt are not any ſeven ſingle Perſons, whether Emperors or any other Supreme Governours, but ſeven ſorts of Governours ſucceeding one another. Which being cleared, we ſhall then be infallibly aſſured what is the Subject and the genuin Senſe of the Viſions of theſe two Chapters we have in hand.

2. And truly we ſhall ſtrike very far into the Proof of this ſo important a Theſis, if we can but make good this preparatory Concluſion thereto, namely, That the Beaſt with ſeven Heads and ten Horns ſignifies the Idolatrous Roman Kingdom or Empire quatenus Idolatrous, that is to ſay, when and ſo long as Idolatrous, and no farther. The Truth of which Propoſition I ſhall endeavour to demonſtrate gradually and by Parts.

3. Firſt therefore, That by Beaſt is underſtood a Kingdom or Empire, it is needleſs here to repeat, having proved that in my Prophetick Alphabet; as alſo advertiſed in my firſt Rule of Comparing Interpretations of Prophecy, how abſonous and ridiculous it is not to interpret Prophetick Figures according to the approved Meaning and obſervable Uſe of the Prophetick Style. To which, laſtly, you may add, that the Seven Heads of the Beaſt being interpreted Seven Kings in Succeſſion, and the Ten

1. Chap. 5. Sect. 9.

Horns Ten Kings at once appertaining to it, it muſt of neceſſity be a Kingdom or Empire.

2. 4. Secondly, That this Seven-headed Beaſt with ten Horns is the Roman Kingdom or Empire, beſides that thoſe Ten Horns anſwerable to the Beaſt with Ten Horns in Daniel (which the Church has conſtantly interpreted of the Roman State) ſeem to defix and determinate the Prophecy to that Senſe, the Whore of Babylon, which is ſaid to ſit on this Beaſt with ſeven Heads, which is univerſally underſtood of Rome, (Alcazar cites at leaſt twenty Interpreters) muſt of neceſſity infer the ſame. And, laſtly, the Interpretation of the Angel, who makes the Seven Heads of the Beaſt to ſignify as well Seven Hills as Seven Kings, does plainly demonſtrate that the Beaſt is Roman, the Hills being the Hills of Rome. For how can the Seven Hills of Rome be ſaid to be the Beaſt's Seven Heads, if the Beaſt were not the Roman Empire?

But that the Seven Hills do denote Rome, Ribera himſelf dares not deny; and Grotius expreſly upon the Text, Noti ſatis Montes ex Poetis & Hiſtoriis, nec ulla poterat ad deſcribendam Roman adferri nota illuſtrior. And it is univerſally the Senſe of all Interpreters. And Biſhop Mountague, who would extend it to the Turkiſh Empire, which has gotten the Poſſeſſion of Conſtantinople, (which Hiſtory has alſo in ſome meaſure noted for her ſeven Hills) yet he does not exclude Old Rome from the Angel's Interpretation. But that the Seven-headed Beaſt cannot be the Turkiſh Empire, we may conclude with Mathematick Certitude; Becauſe it is an Empire that had continued the Succeſſion of Five Heads in St. John's Time, whenas the Turkiſh Empire was not ſo much as in Being by many hundred Years. Nor was there any Empire whoſe Metropolis was famous for Seven Hills but the Roman. Whence we have all deſirable Aſſurance that the Beaſt with Seven Heads and Ten Horns is the Roman Empire.

3. 5. Thirdly, That this Seven-headed Beaſt is the Idolatrous Roman Kingdom or Empire, may appear from ſeveral Indications. As firſt, in that this very Figure of a Beaſt in that Senſe that the Greek Word ſounds, which is θηείον, Fera, does of it ſelf ſignifie an Idolatrous Kingdom or Empire, as I have already made good in my Prophetick Alphabet: which alone were ſufficient to evince this third Part of our Aſſertion.

Chap. 5. Sect. 9.

But beſides this, it is obſervable that in every Viſion wherein this Seven-headed Beaſt is repreſented, there is that which plainly ſpeaks him Idolatrous. As Apocalyps 12. he is called a Dragon or Serpent. Which therefore muſt needs be ſome Pagan Power, or Idolatrous Empire; his Shape being the very Effigies of the Devil, his War againſt the Church of Chriſt, and his Downfal the Exaltation of Chriſt's Kingdom. And Grotius himſelf will acknowledge that this * πυῤῥὸς δεάκων μέγας, this great red Dragon, is Mars the Preſident-Dæmon of the Roman Polity, which was as notoriouſly Idolatrous as Cruel.

* Rev. 12.

Now as it is certain that the red Dragon is the Idolatrous Roman Empire; ſo that the Seven-headed Beaſt in the 13. Chapter is the ſame Idolatrous Empire, is as certainly imply'd, in that it is the Beaſt healed of that deadly Wound it had in its Conflict with the Hoſt of Michael, and in that the Dragon is ſaid to have delivered his Power to this Beaſt, and this Beaſt is termed the Image of the Dragon that was ſo mortally wounded: As alſo chap. 17. the Seven-headed Beaſt there exhibited is ſaid to be the Beaſt that was: and, I pray, who was that but the Dragon? And therefore this Draco redivivus or this Image of the Dragon cannot but be an Idolatrous Empire, or the Empire again becoming Idolatrous.

And, laſtly, leſt the Reader ſhould not be heedful enough to obſerve the Idolatry of the Seven-headed Beaſt in the 13. and 17. Chapters from this Conſideration I have named, the Spirit of God has farther and more expreſly ſtigmatized him with this Note in both thoſe Viſions, placing the Name of Blaſphemy on his Seven Heads in the 13 Chapter, and declaring his Body to be full of the Names of Blaſphemy in the 17, by Blaſphemy meaning Idolatry, as I have abundantly proved in my Prophetick Alphabet.

4. 6. Fourthly, That theſe Viſions exhibit the Roman Empire Idolatrous through all the Time it was ſo or was to be ſo, appears, Firſt, from the general Nature of theſe Prophetick Figures, where a Beaſt ſignifies a Kingdom or Empire, in its entire Succeſſion and Duration, unleſs any thing be intimated to the contrary. Which is clear as well from thoſe Examples in Daniel, where the Four Beaſts ſignifie ſo many Kingdoms in their entire Succeſſions, as alſo from the very Nature of that Prophetick Scheme which we call Henopœia, which always goes along with theſe Iconiſms of Beaſts. For an Henopœia pœia is nothing elſe but a Collection as well of Succeſſion as of Multitude into one individual Form or Shape, be it Humane or Belluine.

See Chap. 3. Sect. 6.

*

Again, in that the Seven-headed Beaſt in the 13 Chapter is ſaid to be the Image of the Dragon, and the ſaid Beaſt in the 17 to be the Beaſt that was, which certainly was the Dragon, this ſhews that thoſe Viſions intend to repreſent the Empire through all the Times of its being Idolatrous, as well as the Times of its Primitive or purely Pagan Idolatry, as of the Image or Reſtauration thereof in a Paganiſh or Idolatrous Kind of Chriſtianity. Or more fully thus: This Seven-headed Beaſt is repreſented under ſome one of his Heads to fight and to be wounded to Death, but after to be revived; alſo to have been for a certain Time, and then to ceaſe to be, but after to be again, and then finally to periſh. Wherefore the whole Duration and Continuance of the Beaſt ſeems to be compriſed therein, divided into two Parts by this Death and Interceaſing of the Beaſt for a time: Of which the plain Senſe is this, The Roman Kingdom or Empire has been and ſhall be a Beaſt, that is to ſay, Idolatrous, for a certain Series of Time, then ceaſe to be ſo for a while, but after be Idolatrous again, and then ceaſe to be ſo for ever. Theſe Prophetick Figures therefore, I mean theſe Beaſts, that exhibit this Senſe, muſt needs imply theſe two entire Parts of Time wherein the Empire is repreſented Idolatrous: as he that divides a Line into Two, divides the whole Line into two Parts.

To all which you may add, That the Seven Heads of the Dragon being repreſented as actually crowned, whenas yet Five were gone in St. John's Time, and but one preſent, and therefore the Seventh not yet in Being; it plainly intimates that the whole Duration and Succeſſion of the Beaſt is here exhibited at once. Which is ſtill more evident, in that the Seventh Head is the laſt, under which the Beaſt periſheth together with that Head, as that Elliptical Text doth certainly imply, Chap. 17. 11. the entire Senſe whereof is this, And the Beaſt that was, and is not, even his Head is the Eighth, and is one of the Seven; and he together with his Head goes into Perdition: as I ſhall have Occaſion more fully to note in its due Place.

Wherefore it is reaſonable to conceive that the firſt Head reaches to the firſt Beginning of the Beaſt, that is, of the Roman Empire, as well as the laſt to its Deſtruction. Nor will I add, that ὁ ἦν καὶ ὁ ἀρχαῖος connoting the Roman Empire as well as the Devil, may alſo connote the Antiquity of the one as well as of the other.

7. Fifthly and laſtly, That the Seven-headed Beaſt repreſents the Roman Empire no further than as idolatrous, (which is the laſt Part of our Aſſertion) will appear from this, That this Prophetick Image or Iconiſm of θηρίον or Fera is not uſed for the Repreſentation of any Empire but what is idolatrous, as I have already intimated: and therefore if it ſhould ſtand for a Kingdom or Empire while it is not idolatrous, it would be like a falſe Affirmation in Words, and prove an Emblematical Slander. The Names of Blaſphemy alſo on his Heads and on his Body make this ſeven-headed Beaſt ſtill more inept to repreſent any Kingdom while it ſtands free from Idolatry; I mean, the Life and Being of the Beaſt is thus inept. 5.

But the Slaughter of the Beaſt, or Extermination of him out of Being, may ſignifie that an Empire that was idolatrous, and conſequently, according to the Prophetick Style, a Beaſt, ceaſes to be ſo ſtill: And conſidering that the Roman Empire, as an Empire, has not yet ceaſed to be, but that it did ceaſe to be idolatrous upon Conſtantine his turning Chriſtian, it is manifeſt that the Beaſt's being ſlain or ceaſing to be is to be underſtood of that State of the Empire. For from Conſtantine's time till the Entrance again of Idolatry into the Empire, the Beaſt in Life and Being was an inept Emblem thereof, and, as I ſaid, a mere Hieroglyphick Slander.

But as the ſlain Beaſt, during the time it lies ſlain, compriſes in it all the time of the Empire's pure Chriſtianity: ſo the Beaſt as yet not ſlain, as alſo after the Slaughter again reſtored to Life, compriſes all that Tract of time of the Roman Kingdom or Empire's Idolatry, as well that before as that after the Flouriſhing of pure Chriſtianity in it. Which is another plain Diſcovery of the Truth of the fourth Part of our Aſſertion.

8. It is abundantly plain therefore from what we have alledged, That the Beaſt with ſeven Heads and ten Horns ſignifies the idolatrous Roman Kingdom or Empire quatenus idolatrous, that is to ſay, when and ſo long as idolatrous, and no longer. Which is one conſiderable Argument to evince that the ſeven Heads of the Beaſt are not ſeven ſingle Perſons ſucceeding one another, but Seven Sorts of ſupreme Governours. For what ſeven Perſons can fill out the time of the Duration of the Empire while idolatrous, and not leave it many hundreds, if not above a thouſand Years, deſtitute of Horns Ten Kings at once appertaining to it, it muſt of neceſſity be a Kingdom or Empire.

2. 4. Secondly, That this Seven-headed Beaſt with ten Horns is the Roman Kingdom or Empire, beſides that thoſe Ten Horns anſwerable to the Beaſt with Ten Horns in Daniel (which the Church has conſtantly interpreted of the Roman State) ſeem to defix and determinate the Prophecy to that Senſe, the Whore of Babylon, which is ſaid to ſit on this Beaſt with ſeven Heads, which is univerſally underſtood of Rome, (Alcazar cites at leaſt twenty Interpreters) muſt of neceſſity infer the ſame. And, laſtly, the Interpretation of the Angel, who makes the Seven Heads of the Beaſt to ſignify as well Seven Hills as Seven Kings, does plainly demonſtrate that the Beaſt is Roman, the Hills being the Hills of Rome. For how can the Seven Hills of Rome be ſaid to be the Beaſt's Seven Heads, if the Beaſt were not the Roman Empire?

But that the Seven Hills do denote Rome, Ribera himſelf dares not deny; and Grotius expreſly upon the Text, Noti ſatis Montes ex Poetis & Hiſtoriis, nec ulla poterat ad deſcribendam Roman adferri nota illuſtrior. And it is univerſally the Senſe of all Interpreters. And Biſhop Mountague, who would extend it to the Turkiſh Empire, which has gotten the Poſſeſſion of Conſtantinople, (which Hiſtory has alſo in ſome meaſure noted for her ſeven Hills) yet he does not exclude Old Rome from the Angel's Interpretation. But that the Seven-headed Beaſt cannot be the Turkiſh Empire, we may conclude with Mathematick Certitude; Becauſe it is an Empire that had continued the Succeſſion of Five Heads in St. John's Time, whenas the Turkiſh Empire was not ſo much as in Being by many hundred Years. Nor was there any Empire whoſe Metropolis was famous for Seven Hills but the Roman. Whence we have all deſirable Aſſurance that the Beaſt with Seven Heads and Ten Horns is the Roman Empire.

3. 5. Thirdly, That this Seven-headed Beaſt is the Idolatrous Roman Kingdom or Empire, may appear from ſeveral Indications. As firſt, in that this very Figure of a Beaſt in that Senſe that the Greek Word ſounds, which is θηείον, Fera, does of it ſelf ſignifie an Idolatrous Kingdom or Empire, as I have already made good in my Prophetick Alphabet: which alone were ſufficient to evince this third Part of our Aſſertion.

Chap. 5. Sect. 9.

But beſides this, it is obſervable that in every Viſion wherein this Seven-headed Beaſt is repreſented, there is that which plainly ſpeaks him Idolatrous. As Apocalyps 12. he is called a Dragon or Serpent. Which therefore muſt needs be ſome Pagan Power, or Idolatrous Empire; his Shape being the very Effigies of the Devil, his War againſt the Church of Chriſt, and his Downfal the Exaltation of Chriſt's Kingdom. And Grotius himſelf will acknowledge that this * πυῤῥὸς δρᾰκὼν μέγας, this great red Dragon, is Mars the Preſident-Dæmon of the Roman Polity, which was as notoriouſly Idolatrous as Cruel.

* Rev. 12.

Now as it is certain that the red Dragon is the Idolatrous Roman Empire; ſo that the Seven-headed Beaſt in the 13. Chapter is the ſame Idolatrous Empire, is as certainly imply'd, in that it is the Beaſt healed of that deadly Wound it had in its Conflict with the Hoſt of Michael, and in that the Dragon is ſaid to have delivered his Power to this Beaſt, and this Beaſt is termed the Image of the Dragon that was ſo mortally wounded: As alſo chap. 17. the Seven-headed Beaſt there exhibited is ſaid to be the Beaſt that was: and, I pray, who was that but the Dragon? And therefore this Draco redivivus or this Image of the Dragon cannot but be an Idolatrous Empire, or the Empire again becoming Idolatrous.

And, laſtly, leſt the Reader ſhould not be heedful enough to obſerve the Idolatry of the Seven-headed Beaſt in the 13. and 17. Chapters from this Conſideration I have named, the Spirit of God has farther and more expreſly ſtigmatized him with this Note in both thoſe Viſions, placing the Name of Blaſphemy on his Seven Heads in the 13 Chapter, and declaring his Body to be full of the Names of Blaſphemy in the 17, by Blaſphemy meaning Idolatry, as I have abundantly proved in my Prophetick Alphabet.

4. 6. Fourthly, That theſe Viſions exhibit the Roman Empire Idolatrous through all the Time it was ſo or was to be ſo, appears, Firſt, from the general Nature of theſe Prophetick Figures, where a Beaſt ſignifies a Kingdom or Empire, in its entire Succeſſion and Duration, unleſs any thing be intimated to the contrary. Which is clear as well from thoſe Examples in Daniel, where the Four Beaſts ſignifie ſo many Kingdoms in their entire Succeſſions, as alſo from the very Nature of that Prophetick Scheme which we call Henopœia, which always goes along with theſe Iconiſms of Beaſts. For an Henopœia pœia is nothing elſe but a Collection as well of Succeſſion as of Multitude into one individual Form or Shape, be it Humane or Belluine.

See Chap. 3. Sect. 6.

*

Again, in that the Seven-headed Beaſt in the 13 Chapter is ſaid to be the Image of the Dragon, and the ſaid Beaſt in the 17 to be the Beaſt that was, which certainly was the Dragon, this ſhews that thoſe Viſions intend to repreſent the Empire through all the Times of its being Idolatrous, as well as the Times of its Primitive or purely Pagan Idolatry, as of the Image or Reſtauration thereof in a Paganiſh or Idolatrous Kind of Chriſtianity. Or more fully thus: This Seven-headed Beaſt is repreſented under ſome one of his Heads to fight and to be wounded to Death, but after to be revived; alſo to have been for a certain Time, and then to ceaſe to be, but after to be again, and then finally to periſh. Wherefore the whole Duration and Continuance of the Beaſt ſeems to be compriſed therein, divided into two Parts by this Death and Interceaſing of the Beaſt for a time: Of which the plain Senſe is this, The Roman Kingdom or Empire has been and ſhall be a Beaſt, that is to ſay, Idolatrous, for a certain Series of Time, then ceaſe to be ſo for a while, but after be Idolatrous again, and then ceaſe to be ſo for ever. Theſe Prophetick Figures therefore, I mean theſe Beaſts, that exhibit this Senſe, muſt needs imply theſe two entire Parts of Time wherein the Empire is repreſented Idolatrous: as he that divides a Line into Two, divides the whole Line into two Parts.

To all which you may add, That the Seven Heads of the Dragon being repreſented as actually crowned, whenas yet Five were gone in St. John's Time, and but one preſent, and therefore the Seventh not yet in Being; it plainly intimates that the whole Duration and Succeſſion of the Beaſt is here exhibited at once. Which is ſtill more evident, in that the Seventh Head is the laſt, under which the Beaſt periſheth together with that Head, as that Elliptical Text doth certainly imply, Chap. 17. 11. the entire Senſe whereof is this, And the Beaſt that was, and is not, even his Head is the Eighth, and is one of the Seven; and he together with his Head goes into Perdition: as I ſhall have Occaſion more fully to note in its due Place.

Wherefore it is reaſonable to conceive that the firſt Head reaches to the firſt Beginning of the Beaſt, that is, of the Roman Empire, as well as the laſt to its Deſtruction. Nor will I add, that ὁ ἦν, ὁ ἀρχαῖος connoting the Roman Empire as well as the Devil, may alſo connote the Antiquity of the one as well as of the other.

7. Fifthly and laſtly, That the Seven-headed Beaſt repreſents the Roman Empire no further than as idolatrous, (which is the laſt Part of our Aſſertion) will appear from this, That this Prophetick Image or Iconiſm of θηρίον or Fera is not uſed for the Repreſentation of any Empire but what is idolatrous, as I have already intimated: and therefore if it ſhould ſtand for a Kingdom or Empire while it is not idolatrous, it would be like a falſe Affirmation in Words, and prove an Emblematical Slander. The Names of Blaſphemy alſo on his Heads and on his Body make this ſeven-headed Beaſt ſtill more inept to repreſent any Kingdom while it ſtands free from Idolatry; I mean, the Life and Being of the Beaſt is thus inept. 5.

But the Slaughter of the Beaſt, or Extermination of him out of Being, may ſignifie that an Empire that was idolatrous, and conſequently, according to the Prophetick Style, a Beaſt, ceaſes to be ſo ſtill: And conſidering that the Roman Empire, as an Empire, has not yet ceaſed to be, but that it did ceaſe to be idolatrous upon Conſtantine his turning Chriſtian, it is manifeſt that the Beaſt's being ſlain or ceaſing to be is to be underſtood of that State of the Empire. For from Conſtantine's time till the Entrance again of Idolatry into the Empire, the Beaſt in Life and Being was an inept Emblem thereof, and, as I ſaid, a mere Hieroglyphick Slander.

But as the ſlain Beaſt, during the time it lies ſlain, compriſes in it all the time of the Empire's pure Chriſtianity: ſo the Beaſt as yet not ſlain, as alſo after the Slaughter again reſtored to Life, compriſes all that Tract of time of the Roman Kingdom or Empire's Idolatry, as well that before as that after the Flouriſhing of pure Chriſtianity in it. Which is another plain Diſcovery of the Truth of the fourth Part of our Aſſertion.

8. It is abundantly plain therefore from what we have alledged, That the Beaſt with ſeven Heads and ten Horns ſignifies the idolatrous Roman Kingdom or Empire quatenus idolatrous, that is to ſay, when and ſo long as idolatrous, and no longer. Which is one conſiderable Argument to evince that the ſeven Heads of the Beaſt are not ſeven ſingle Perſons ſucceeding one another, but Seven Sorts of ſupreme Governours. For what ſeven Perſons can fill out the time of the Duration of the Empire while idolatrous, and not leave it many hundreds, if not above a thouſand Years, deſtitute of Sovereign Power, and ſo make it a Beaſt living ſo many Ages without an Head? than which nothing can be more abſurd.

9. But this is not our only Argument, though it alone may ſeem ſufficient to prove our main Theſis. For it may be further confirmed by reflecting on the Nature and Deſcription of the Seven Heads: for what they are ſet out by ought to be conceived as a Character to diſtinguiſh them from all other Heads of the Beaſt (if there be any beſides them) that are omitted, and to denote that theſe thus characterized are all that are of this Character. And therefore whenas theſe Seven Heads are ſaid to have Seven Crowns upon them, (were it not to diſtinguiſh them from the Seven Hills to which Crowns are not ſo proper) I ſhould demand of them that make theſe ſeven Heads ſeven Roman Emperours, if there were but ſeven Roman Emperors crowned. But I have already anſwered my own Demand, by acknowledging that the ſeven Heads bear ſeven Crowns, to determine the Senſe in that Place to ſuch Objects as it is proper to wear Crowns, namely, ſeven Kings; and that the Fancy may make no Divagation to the ſeven Hills.

But wheras in the following Chapter theſe ſeven Heads (for that they are the ſame that fought with Michael, appears in that one of them is repreſented as wounded to Death in the Battel) are ſaid to have inſcribed upon them the Names of Blaſphemy, that is to ſay, of Idolatry; here I ſeriouſly demand, if there were no more than ſeven blaſphemous or idolatrous Emperours in the whole Roman Succeſſion. And I dare anſwer, without expecting the Conſent of our Adverſaries, that there were. And that therefore Seven ſingle Emperours cannot be underſtood by theſe Seven Heads, but ſeven Sorts of Governours.

* All Seven crowned, Apoc. 12. one of the ſeven wounded, ch. 13. the ſucceſſion of all Seven, ch. 17. Which are all the places where the heads of the Beaſt are mentioned.

10. To which in the ſecond Place you may add, That as in ordinary Speech by a two-footed Animal is underſtood an Animal that has two Feet and no more; as alſo by a four-footed Animal, one that has four Feet and no more: ſo by this ſeven-headed Beaſt is naturally to be underſtood a Beaſt that has Seven Heads and no more; it being ſo * conſtantly repreſented with that Number of Heads and no more. Which cannot be true of the Roman idolatrous Empire, unleſs Seven Sorts of Governours, not that Number of Perſons, be underſtood. For ſeven ſingle Perſons in the whole Tract of the Empire's Continuance will make no better Show than a Tuft of ſeven Briſtles on the Back of the Caledonian Boar; which can neither be painted nor called the Boar with ſeven Briſtles, when there is a whole Row or Ridge of theſe ſetaceous Prickles of the ſame Nature with them that are either mentioned or depainted.

* Apoc 17. 15

11. Laſtly, The Beaſt (as appears plainly from the Text) was ſlain under the ſixth Head, becauſe the Slaughter of him is a * Prediction by St. John, who himſelf lived while the Sixth Head was in being, and the laſt Head is the Head of his Reſtoring or Reviving; and there are but ſeven Heads in all. Wherefore it is plain that the Beaſt was ſlain under the ſixth Head. Nor could the laſt Head be ſaid to be the Head of the Beaſt that was, and is not, and yet is, if it had ſtarted up before the Beaſt was ſlain or before he was reſtored. Wherefore it is plain that his Slaughter was under the ſixth, as it is alſo that the Beaſt revived has but one Head from the Commencement of his Reſtauration to his final Perdition; for there are but ſeven Heads in all.

But now the Slaying of the Beaſt or Making of him ceaſe to be, it is manifeſt that it was the Introduction of Chriſtianity inſtead of Paganiſm into the Empire, and of the Chriſtian Emperors into the Place of the Pagan Cæſars: the Continuance of which State of things is ſaid to be but * a little while in Compariſon of this Succeeding or Reviving Beaſt. (For that it is ſaid to be a little while, as well in Reſpect of the Head which immediately follows, as of that which immediately precedes, I make not the leaſt Queſtion.) But that little while there is none will ſay was ſo little as to be concluded within the Reign of one Chriſtian Emperor, and therefore muſt ſignify a Succeſſion of Emperors purely Chriſtian,

* Revel. 17.

Much more therefore muſt the Seventh Head (which is alſo called the Eighth King, but amongſt the Heads is as well the Laſt as the Seventh) ſignifie a Succeſſion, it being to continue much longer. But for thoſe that make the Return of Idolatry into the Empire more late or not yet, how long will the Reign of that Beaſt that was, and is not, and yet is, be found in their Compute? If the little while be already thirteen hundred Years, how many thouſands muſt the Reign of the revived Beaſt be? So impoſſible is it that the Seventh or laſt Head ſhould be underſtood of any ſingle Perſon but of a Succeſſion; unleſs they will have a Beaſt live ſome thouſands of Years without an Head.

But if the Seventh or laſt Head ſignifie a Succeſſion of Supreme Governours of ſuch a Kind, and not one ſingle Perſon, then muſt the other Six alſo ſignifie ſix Sorts of of Governours, not Six Persons, as any one unprejudiced will easily acknowledge.

*

12. Which Conclusion was worth the Searching into; the firmly establishing it so plainly evincing, that such an Interpretation as implies That the Seven Heads are Seven Successions of different Sorts of Governours, is not only fit and agreeing to the Text, but altogether necessary, and that all other Interpretations that run upon seven Persons are not only false but impossible.

13. Now out of what we have concluded it is further manifest, what is the main Subject of this Vision in this seventeenth Chapter of the Apocalyps, namely, That it is not the Roman Empire purely Pagan; for that had already for the most part passed under the Five first Heads, and was now passing away under the Sixth in St. John's time. Which Sixth Head together with the Beast was slain and ceased to be upon the Roman Empire's receiving Christianity, and the Emperours becoming Christians, and the Christian Religion continuing untainted with Idolatry. For while that was, (and it was so once) the Beast ceased to be, But the Beast exhibited to St. John in this Vision (the Beast which thou sawest was and is not) is the Beast that was, and then ceased to be, but after was to be again, and then was utterly to be destroyed. Which Notes all put together are only competible to the Beast upon his temporary ceasing to be, and is a Name given to him with Regard to that time of his temporary cessation. For then was all that true of him, and is a proper Characteristick of his Nature and Order of Succession, namely, that this is the Beast which was to succeed unto pure Christianity in the Empire. Apoc. 17. 8.

Wherefore it is plain that the Subject of this Vision is the Roman Empire again revived into Idolatry, and so to continue till the final Extirpation of Idolatry out of it: Which is the utter Perdition of the Beast, and the making of him cease to be for ever; as the exterminating of Idolatry out of the Empire for a time was the deadly wounding or killing the Beast for a time, but so as that he revived again in a very lively Image of himself.

14. From whence it will also follow, That the Whore of Babylon cannot be understood of Rome Pagan, but of Rome Pagano-Christian, or of the Roman Hierarchy (taking Roman in the largest Sense) corrupting Christianity with the illicite Doctrines and Practices of Idolatry. For how can Rome Pagan that past under the first Six Heads sit upon the Beast that was, and is not, and yet is; that is to say, upon that Beast that had no Existence before pure Christianity had become the Religion of the Empire, but was afterwards to succeed that State, as a sad Corruption thereof, under the Seventh Head?

Rome-Pagan therefore sat upon the seven-headed Beast under the Succession of the Six first Heads only. At which only time it could rightly be said of the Beast, and simply, That he is. But the incorrupted Christianity being once made the Religion of the Empire, at that time it might rightly be said, That the Beast was, but is not, but that he was again to ascend out of the Abyss, and then after a certain considerable Duration of Time utterly to perish. But during the Time of that corrupted Condition, when Christian Religion became Paganish and Idolatrous, it might rightly be said of the Empire then, That it is the Beast that was, and is not, and yet is. But the Whore is said to ride this very Beast. Wherefore it is not ancient Rome, but the Pagano-christian Harlot, or the Roman Hierarchy, which is the Whore that rides the Beast in this Vision.

15. Nor can the Vision be understood of Paganism grosly so termed, that should again over-run the Roman Empire a little before the End of the World under a Chimærical Antichrist then to appear, (as some are willing to fancy for a Shuffle;) but it is to be interpreted of an Antichristianism that has already seized it; forasmuch as it is said, that the truly Christian Cæsars shall continue but * a short time. Which implies that the Antichristian State will continue a long time in comparison thereof. * Revel. 17.

Wherefore if this Antichristian State is not come, but all is well, and that Pagano-Christian Idolatry has not entred from the Reign of Constantine to this very Day; the Reign of Antichrist will be at least three or four thousand Years long: Which is so monstrous a Consequence, and so point-blank contrary to * sacred Scripture, that the Position must be necessarily false that infers it. *Dan. 7. 25. & ch. 12. 7. Apoc. 13. 5.

16. Wherefore we may safely conclude, That the main Subject of the Vision in this 17*th* Chapter of the Apocalyps, as also of that in the 13*th* (which is in a manner the very same with this) is the State of the Roman Empire corrupted and degenerated from the true and pure Christianity into a Paganish and Idolatrous Condition, by reason of the false Direction, and unskilful or malicious Conduct of those of the Roman man Hierarchy that took upon them to rule the Empire in Matters of Religion: But withal, That this Idolatrous Condition both in the Hierarchy and Empire after a certain Period of time ſhall be changed, and true Chriſtianity overflow all again, and Idolatry never again revive.

This is the Summary Account of theſe Viſions. We will now fall upon the Expoſition of every Particular of each Chapter, whereby this general Account may be ſtill more convincingly demonſtrated.

CHAP. XII.

1. The Scope and Order of this Joint-Expoſition. Ver. I. What is meant by Whore. 2. What by her Greatneſs. 3. That ſhe is not Rome Heathen, but Rome Pſeudo-chriſtian. Ver. II. Who the Kings of the Earth, and what their Drunkenneſs. 2. The firſt Agreement of the firſt Paralleliſm made good. Ver. III. That the Two-horned Beaſt and the Whore's being in the Wilderneſs might have made one of the Agreements of the firſt Paralleliſm. 2. The ſecond Agreement of the firſt Paralleliſm. 3. What meant by the ſcarlet Colour of the Beaſt. 4. The ſecond Agreement of the ſecond Paralleliſm. 5. The firſt Agreement of the Second. Ver. IV. The Woman's Purple and Scarlet and precious Stones and Pearls, what they ſignify. 2. And how plainly the third Agreement of the firſt Paralleliſm is evinced. 3. What is meant by the Cup of Abominations in the Hand of the Whore. 4. That it is a Philtrous Cup, with an Inference therefrom of the Truth of the fourth Agreement of the firſt Paralleliſm. 5. The chief Charm uſed in the mingling of this Philtre. 6. Fire from Heaven Excommunication. 7. Other Miracles for the promoting Idolatry. 8. What the Golden Cup ſignifies in reſpect of the Metal. Ver. V. The Names of Whores inſcribed on their Foreheads. 2. That the whole Sentence is the Whore's Name; and how ridiculous it is to underſtand by [Myſtery] a mere Synecdoche. 3. The Interpretation of theſe Parts of her Name, Myſtery, and Babylon. 4. As alſo of, Babylon the Great, the Mother of Fornications. 5. A Demonſtration of the fifth Agreement of the firſt Paralleliſm. 6. The different Riſe of the Two-horned Beaſt from Others.

1. IN this Joint-Expoſition, though I ſhall not be wanting in other Particulars, my main Drift ſhall be to note out and confirm the Agreements of the two Paralleliſms I have above delineated. And for Brevity ſake, without any farther Analyſe, I ſhall guide my Expoſition by the Order of the Verſes of the Seventeenth Chapter, paſſing from Verſe to Verſe, and comparing thoſe out of the Thirteenth which I have ſubjoined, with what is comprized in each Verſe of the Seventeenth, accordingly as I have above intimated.

Ver. I. The Judgment of the Great Whore that ſitteth upon many Waters. The Judgment or Condemnation of the Great Whore, the Puniſhment to which ſhe is ſentenced, is a ſpecial Part of this Viſion, and therefore bears the Title of the whole. I need not here inſiſt upon what I have ſo fully inſtructed my Reader in, in my Doctrine of the Prophetick Schemes; How in the Prophetick Style a Body Politick or a Multitude of Perſons and their Succeſſion is repreſented under one individual Shew or Shape, which Scheme we called Henopœia. And therefore he will eaſily underſtand that the Whore is no ſingle or particular Woman, but a Type of a Body Politick, which being called a Whore, implies their Idolatrouſneſs, as I have abundantly made good in the Explication of that Icaſme in my Prophetick Alphabet.

Ch. 3. Sect. 7.

Ch. 9. Sect. 9.

2. And that ſhe is ſaid to be that Great Whore, it may either ſignifie the height of her Whoredom, or the Extent of her Juriſdiction; the latter whereof is agreeable to her being placed upon many Waters. The Greek has it, ἐπὶ τῶν ὑδάτων τῶν πολλῶν, where the ſecond τῶν ſeems to be demonſtrative and emphatical, pointing at the whole Roman Empire. For that is thoſe many Waters indeed, a great Sea or Ocean, in the Prophetick Style. Whence I conceive the Great Whore to be the Roman Hierarchy in a larger Senſe, underſtanding thereby the whole Body of the Idolatrous Clergy throughout the Roman Empire: though I do not doubt but that this Imputation will more notoriouſly concern one Part than another, more the Roman than the Greek Church; and then eſpecially when the Biſhop of Rome had once got the Title of Univerſal

Univerſal Biſhop, he in a more peculiar Manner entitling himſelf thereby to all the foul Miſcarriages of the Catholick Church.

3. And that the Viſion of the Two-horned Beaſt does alſo imply ſuch an univer- Par. 1. Agr. 7.
ſal idolatrous Corruption in the Clergy, as well in the Oriental as in the Occidental Parts of the Empire, is intimated in the Two-horns of that Beaſt, as alſo in exerciſing all the Power of the former Beaſt in his Sight, which I will defer to ſpeak of till we come to the 15*th* Verſe of this preſent Chapter. I ſhall only take Notice before I paſs any farther, that I have in the foregoing Chapter proved by a Method plainly Demonſtrative, That this Great Whore is not to be underſtood of any Body Politick that promoted Idolatry while the Empire was Pagan, but after it became and continued for ſome time Chriſtian, though at length 'twas contaminated with a Pagan-like Idolatry of a new Faſhion; which I have proved to have been many Ages already in being, according to the evident Senſe of this Prophecy. So that there can be no Rub nor Scruple as concerning this.

Ver. II. With whom the Kings of the Earth have committed Fornication. That is to ſay, By whoſe Allurements and Perſwaſions the Kings of the Roman Empire (which is called οἰκουμένη the inhabited Earth, Luke 2.) have admitted and embraced idolatrous Doctrines and Practices, which is Spiritual Whoredom. Haply the Ten Kings may be alluded to which are mentioned v. 13. and are ſaid to have one Mind, and to give their Power and Strength to the Beaſt, which the Whore rides. And the Inhabitants of the Earth have been made drunk with the Wine of her Fornication: that is to ſay, The People of the Empire were ſo inflamed, intoxicated and dementated with the unwholſom Heat of idolatrous Zeal, that it made them very tragically quarrelſome againſt all Oppoſers or Deſpiſers of their fair Diana; and made them ſo ſottiſh, ſecure and heedleſs, that they were expoſed to all the Deceits and Injuries this intoxicating Circe could put upon them.

2. Now as this Great Whore is ſaid to be ſuch a Promoter or Reſtorer of Idola- Paral. 1, Agr.
try: ſo likewiſe is the Two-horned Beaſt; which though he have two Horns like a 1.
Lamb, yet is ſaid to ſpeak like a Dragon, that is, to publiſh idolatrous Edicts or Doctrines. And again v. 12. he is ſaid to cauſe the Earth and them that dwell therein, that is, the Empire (as I ſaid before) to worſhip the firſt Beaſt whoſe deadly Wound was healed: And v. 14. to command them that dwell on the Earth, that they ſhould make an Image to the Beaſt who had the Wound by the Sword, and did live. The Senſe of the latter of which Citations is this, That the Two-horned Beaſt by his Authority and Power of Speech perſwaded them of the Empire, which was now purely Chriſtian, (and therefore then was the time of the Death of the Beaſt, as I have demonſtrated in the foregoing Chapter) to introduce ſuch a Face of Idolatry again, (though upon Pretence of the better adorning and Promoting Chriſtianity) that the ſlain Beaſt migh juſtly ſeem to revive again in this Image, that is to ſay, that the Empire might be ſaid to become a Beaſt again by becoming idolatrous, as the Death of the Beaſt was the Empire's ceaſing from Idolatry. And therefore to make an Image to the Beaſt that was ſlain, is as much as to make an Image in the Behalf of the Beaſt that was ſlain; that he might at leaſt live again in this Image. And it is ſaid in the very Text, ἐζησε, & revixit; ſo Vatablus and Grotius: that is, upon the Making this Image the ſlain Beaſt revived again and lived in this Image.

Wherefore it is no Wonder that this Two-horned Beaſt is ſaid to make them that dwell on the Earth to worſhip the firſt Beaſt whoſe deadly Wound was healed, when he was the Healer and Reviver of him, and put him in a Capacity of being worſhipped, that is, obeyed, as I have noted in my Prophetick Alphabet, and that in ſuch Injunctions as were impious and idolatrous. For this Pagano-Chriſtianiſm becoming the Religion of the Empire, it was made thereby the Law and Commandment of the Empire, ſo that the healed Beaſt may be rightly ſaid to be obeyed in the Submiſſion thereto. Out of all which does plainly appear, That the Two-horned Beaſt as well as the Whore of Babylon was a Reſtorer and Promoter of Idolatry in the Empire.

Ver. III. So he carried me away in the Spirit into the Wilderneſs. This is no part of the Viſion, unleſs we make Wilderneſs Hieroglyphical. And indeed Alcazar from the Authority of many of the Fathers makes it a Symbol of Gentiliſm. But whether you conſider the Type or no, this Two-horned θηρίον or wild Beaſt will naturally be conceived to be in the Wilderneſs as well as the Whore is declared to be ſo; and this Pagano-Chriſtianiſm, of which they are both the Authors, what is it but a Kind of Gentiliſm? So that it had not been inept to have made this, one Agreement in our firſt Paralleliſm.

2. And

man Hierarchy that took upon them to rule the Empire in Matters of Religion: But withal, That this Idolatrous Condition both in the Hierarchy and Empire after a certain Period of time shall be changed, and true Christianity overflow all again, and Idolatry never again revive.

This is the Summary Account of these Visions. We will now fall upon the Exposition of every Particular of each Chapter, whereby this general Account may be still more convincingly demonstrated.

CHAP. XII.

1. The Scope and Order of this Joint-Exposition. Ver. I. What is meant by Whore. 2. What by her Greatness. 3. That she is not Rome Heathen, but Rome Pseudo-christian. Ver. II. Who the Kings of the Earth, and what their Drunkenness. 2. The first Agreement of the first Parallelism made good, Ver. III. That the Two-horned Beast and the Whore's being in the Wilderness might have made one of the Agreements of the first Parallelism. 2. The second Agreement of the first Parallelism. 3. What meant by the Scarlet Colour of the Beast. 4. The second Agreement of the second Parallelism. 5. The first Agreement of the Second. Ver. IV. The Woman's Purple and Scarlet and precious Stones and Pearls, what they signify. 2. And how plainly the third Agreement of the first Parallelism is evinced. 3. What is meant by the Cup of Abominations in the Hand of the Whore. 4. That it is a Philtrous Cup, with an Inference therefrom of the Truth of the fourth Agreement of the first Parallelism. 5. The chief Charm used in the mingling of this Philtre. 6. Fire from Heaven Excommunication. 7. Other Miracles for the promoting Idolatry. 8. What the Golden Cup signifies in respect of the Metal. Ver. V. The Names of Whores inscribed on their Foreheads. 2. That the whole Sentence is the Whore's Name; and how ridiculous it is to understand by [Mystery] a mere Synecdoche. 3. The Interpretation of these Parts of her Name, Mystery, and Babylon. 4. As also of, Babylon the Great, the Mother of Fornications. 5. A Demonstration of the fifth Agreement of the first Parallelism. 6. The different Rise of the Two-horned Beast from Others.

1. IN this Joint-Exposition, though I shall not be wanting in other Particulars, my main Drift shall be to note out and confirm the Agreements of the two Parallelisms I have above delineated. And for Brevity sake, without any farther Analyse, I shall guide my Exposition by the Order of the Verses of the Seventeenth Chapter, passing from Verse to Verse, and comparing those out of the Thirteenth which I have subjoined, with what is comprized in each Verse of the Seventeenth, accordingly as I have above intimated.

Ver. I. The Judgment of the Great Whore that sitteth upon many Waters. The Judgment or Condemnation of the Great Whore, the Punishment to which she is sentenced, is a special Part of this Vision, and therefore bears the Title of the whole. I need not here insist upon what I have so fully instructed my Reader in, in my Doctrine of the Prophetick Schemes; How in the Prophetick Style a Body Politick or a Multitude of Persons and their Succession is represented under one individual Shew or Shape, which Scheme we called Henopœia. And therefore he will easily understand that the Whore is no single or particular Woman, but a Type of a Body Politick, which being called a Whore, implies their Idolatrousness, as I have abundantly made good in the Explication of that Icasme in my Prophetick Alphabet.

Ch. 3. Sect. 7.

Ch. 9. Sect. 9.

2. And that she is said to be that Great Whore, it may either signifie the height of her Whoredom, or the Extent of her Jurisdiction; the latter whereof is agreeable to her being placed upon many Waters. The Greek has it, ἐπὶ τῶν ὑδάτων τῶν πολλῶν, where the second τῶν seems to be demonstrative and emphatical, pointing at the whole Roman Empire. For that is those many Waters indeed, a great Sea or Ocean, in the Prophetick Style. Whence I conceive the Great Whore to be the Roman Hierarchy in a larger Sense, understanding thereby the whole Body of the Idolatrous Clergy throughout the Roman Empire: though I do not doubt but that this Imputation will more notoriously concern one Part than another, more the Roman than the Greek Church; and then especially when the Bishop of Rome had once got the Title of Universal

Univerſal Biſhop, he in a more peculiar Manner entitling himſelf thereby to all the foul Miſcarriages of the Catholick Church.

3. And that the Viſion of the Two-horned Beaſt does alſo imply ſuch an univer- Par. 1. Agr. 7.
ſal idolatrous Corruption in the Clergy, as well in the Oriental as in the Occidental Parts of the Empire, is intimated in the Two-horns of that Beaſt, as alſo in exerciſing all the Power of the former Beaſt in his Sight, which I will defer to ſpeak of till we come to the 15*th* Verſe of this preſent Chapter. I ſhall only take Notice before I paſs any farther, that I have in the foregoing Chapter proved by a Method plainly Demonſtrative, That this Great Whore is not to be underſtood of any Body Politick that promoted Idolatry while the Empire was Pagan, but after it became and continued for ſome time Chriſtian, though at length 'twas contaminated with a Pagan-like Idolatry of a new Faſhion; which I have proved to have been many Ages already in being, according to the evident Senſe of this Prophecy. So that there can be no Rub nor Scruple as concerning this.

Ver. II. With whom the Kings of the Earth have committed Fornication. That is to ſay, By whoſe Allurements and Perſwaſions the Kings of the Roman Empire (which is called οἰκουμένη the inhabited Earth, Luke 2.) have admitted and embraced idolatrous Doctrines and Practices, which is Spiritual Whoredom. Haply the Ten Kings may be alluded to which are mentioned v. 13. and are ſaid to have one Mind, and to give their Power and Strength to the Beaſt, which the Whore rides. And the Inhabitants of the Earth have been made drunk with the Wine of her Fornication: that is to ſay, The People of the Empire were ſo inflamed, intoxicated and dementated with the unwholſom Heat of idolatrous Zeal, that it made them very tragically quarrelſome againſt all Oppoſers or Deſpiſers of their fair Diana; and made them ſo ſottiſh, ſecure and heedleſs, that they were expoſed to all the Deceits and Injuries this intoxicating Circe could put upon them.

2. Now as this Great Whore is ſaid to be ſuch a Promoter or Reſtorer of Idola- try: ſo likewiſe is the Two-horned Beaſt; which though he have two Horns like a Paral. 1, Agr. 1.
Lamb, yet is ſaid to ſpeak like a Dragon, that is, to publiſh idolatrous Edicts or Doctrines. And again v. 12. he is ſaid to cauſe the Earth and them that dwell therein, that is, the Empire (as I ſaid before) to worſhip the firſt Beaſt whoſe deadly Wound was healed: And v. 14. to command them that dwell on the Earth, that they ſhould make an Image to the Beaſt who had the Wound by the Sword, and did live. The Senſe of the latter of which Citations is this, That the Two-horned Beaſt by his Authority and Power of Speech perſwaded them of the Empire, which was now purely Chriſtian, (and therefore then was the time of the Death of the Beaſt, as I have demonſtrated in the foregoing Chapter) to introduce ſuch a Face of Idolatry again, (though upon Pretence of the better adorning and Promoting Chriſtianity) that the ſlain Beaſt migh juſtly ſeem to revive again in this Image, that is to ſay, that the Empire might be ſaid to become a Beaſt again by becoming idolatrous, as the Death of the Beaſt was the Empire's ceaſing from Idolatry. And therefore to make an Image to the Beaſt that was ſlain, is as much as to make an Image in the Behalf of the Beaſt that was ſlain; that he might at leaſt live again in this Image. And it is ſaid in the very Text, ἔζησε, & revixit; ſo Vatablus and Grotius: that is, upon the Making this Image the ſlain Beaſt revived again and lived in this Image.

Wherefore it is no Wonder that this Two-horned Beaſt is ſaid to make them that dwell on the Earth to worſhip the firſt Beaſt whoſe deadly Wound was healed, when he was the Healer and Reviver of him, and put him in a Capacity of being worſhipped, that is, obeyed, as I have noted in my Prophetick Alphabet, and that in ſuch Injunctions as were impious and idolatrous. For this Pagano-Chriſtianiſm becoming the Religion of the Empire, it was made thereby the Law and Commandment of the Empire, ſo that the healed Beaſt may be rightly ſaid to be obeyed in the Submiſſion thereto. Out of all which does plainly appear, That the Two-horned Beaſt as well as the Whore of Babylon was a Reſtorer and Promoter of Idolatry in the Empire.

Ver. III. So he carried me away in the Spirit into the Wilderneſs. This is no part of the Viſion, unleſs we make Wilderneſs Hieroglyphical. And indeed Alcazar from the Authority of many of the Fathers makes it a Symbol of Gentiliſm. But whether you conſider the Type or no, this Two-horned θηρίον or wild Beaſt will naturally be conceived to be in the Wilderneſs as well as the Whore is declared to be ſo; and this Pagano-Chriſtianiſm, of which they are both the Authors, what is it but a Kind of Gentiliſm? So that it had not been inept to have made this, one Agreement in our firſt Paralleliſm.

2. And

2. And I saw a Woman sit upon a scarlet-coloured Beast. The Sitting upon a Beast implies the Riding and Guiding of him, the Exciting and Quickning of him to this or that Course, as the Rider pleases. And the Two-horned Beast is said likewise to animate the Seven-headed Beast, and to prick him up to those bloody Edicts that seem to be alluded to Chap. 13. v. 15. That the revived Beast should speak, and cause as many as will not submit to him as Beast, that is to say, as idolatrous, to be slain. And this may suffice for an Intimation of the Truth of the second Agreement of the first Parallelism; That as well the Whore, as the Two-horned Beast, has the Governance and Rule over the Beast with seven Heads.

Par. 1. Agr. 2.

3. Now for the scarlet Colour of the Beast, it has a double Indication; the one of Tyrannical Cruelty, the other of Imperial Majesty. In the former Sense Victorinus, Aretas, Zegerus, Viegas, Alcazar and others interpret it. In the latter Cornelius a Lapide, Paræus, Ribera and Grotius. Fera coccinea. (saith he) nimirum quia eo colore tingi solebant Imperatorum Romanorum Paludamenta. But where both Senses are so fit, they are both to be understood by an Henopæia, which reduces many Objects prefigured, under one Type. But for the present I shall only take Notice of the Cruelty of the Beast set out by his bloody Colour. And the like is also figured in the Shape of the Seven-headed Beast in the Thirteenth Chapter: His Body there being like that of a Leopard, his Feet like a Bear's, and his Mouth like a Lion's. All which are Beasts of great Rapine and Cruelty, from whence the second Agreement of the second Parallelism is plainly confirmed.

Par. 1. Agr. 2.

4. Full of Names of Blasphemy, that is, Full of Titles or Kinds of Idolatry. Plenam Diis, so Grotius, understanding it of the Pagan Empire; and we may safely render it, full of Dæmons, in Mr. Mede's Sense, that is, full of the superstitious and idolatrous Worship of the Souls of the Saints departed, (besides other Idolatries committed in the Manner of worshipping the due Object of our Religion, God and Christ) namely since the Empire has become Pagano-Christian.

Par. 2. Agr. 2.

Nor is the Beast in the thirteenth Chapter less remarkable for this foul Sin. For as the scarlet Beast was full of Names of Blasphemy, dappled as it were with those black Titles; so Grotius makes the Leopard spotted with various Objects of Idolatry. Pardalis varii coloris animal; sic Idololatria Romana Deos habebat mares, fœminas, mari-fœminas, maximos, medioximos, minimos, vario vultu, vario habitu, variâ potestate. And does the Pagano-Christian Idolatry fall any thing short? Has it not its He-Saints and She-Saints, to which they give Religious Worship? Do they not profess a Dulia and Hyperdulia, as well as Latria? Which bids fair towards the Heathens Dii Minimi and Medioximi. Has it not some Saints famous for inflicting particular Mischiefs, and others for doing this or that particular Good? Some Saints of one Aspect or Dress, and others of another? Have not some one Office, and others another? as shall be seen more punctually hereafter.

But the Blasphemy, that is, the Idolatry of this Beast, is more copiously recorded and more expressly v. 5. And there was given unto him a Mouth speaking great Things and Blasphemies; that is to say, an Authority decreeing gross Idolatries to the Reproach of the living God; whose Name he is said to blaspheme, in the following Verse, and his Tabernacle, and them that dwell in Heaven. To blaspheme God, viz. by Worshipping him by Images, or by giving Religious Worship to others which is only due to him, and thereby vilifying him and making him no better than a Creature. To blaspheme the Tabernacle of God, that is, the Body of Christ, in whom the Fulness of the Godhead dwelleth bodily, (as the Apostle speaketh) by pretending that a Piece of Bread, which they put into that foul Prison whither a Man's Fancy is loath to descend, is the very Body of Christ, even that Body so full of stupendious Glory: which certainly is wretchedly eclipsed and miserably trampled on, while a Morsel of Bread is avowed to be really it, and is adored towards accordingly. And, lastly, To blaspheme them that dwell in Heaven, namely the Saints, by declaring they are so ambitious and rebellious against God, that they do not only accept, but would extort religious Worship from Men by Deaths and Imprisonments, and various Pressures and Afflictions, which this bloody Beast does execute against the sincere Members of Christ, having first branded them with the odious and ignominious Nick-name of Hereticks; pretending herein their Zeal and Honour to the Saints, while they are really by these Courses very highly reproached and blasphemed as cruel and inhumane against Men, as well as rebellious and treacherous against God. So wonderfully true and significant is this Character of Blasphemy upon the Beast, and so plainly have we made out the second Agreement of the second Parallelism.

Col. 2. 9.

See my Idea of Antichrist. Book 2. Ch. 5. sect. 2, 3.

See Idea of Antichristianism, Book 1. Ch. 16. Sect. 2.

5 Having

5. Having ſeven Heads and ten Horns. So Chap. 13. And I ſaw a Beaſt riſe up out of the Sea, having ſeven Heads and ten Horns. Which is a palpable Evidence of the firſt Agreement of our ſecond Paralleliſm. What is meant by theſe ſeven Heads and ten Hrons we ſhall underſtand anon. Par. 2. Agr. 1.

Ver. IV. And the Woman was arrayed in purple and Scarlet Colour, and decked with Gold and precious Stones and Pearls. That Purple and Scarlet is an Imperial Colour, we have already noted, and is here again allowed by Grotius on this 4 Verſe. But here it is ſeaſonable to obſerve, That as the Beaſt, which is the whole Roman Empire, was allowed to be called a Scarlet Beaſt, though that Wear was peculiar to the Heads of the Empire, I mean the Emperours themſelves or the Senate; ſo this Whore may be ſaid to be arrayed in Purple and Scarlet, (that is, the Roman Hierarchy or whole Body of that Clergy) though this Colour ſhould belong only to the Head, or at leaſt thoſe higher Governours of this Body next to this chief Head. And ſuch are the Robes and Habits of the Roman Cardinals, as is well known. And for the Gold and precious Stones and Pearls, it does plainly refer to the Pope's Triple Crown of Gold gliſtering with rich Gemms and precious Stones, as alſo to the Pearls of his rich Cope, &c. Which ſhews that this Viſion hath a more peculiar Regard to the Church of Rome properly ſo called, though it may caſt a lighter Glance on the whole Idolatrous Clergy of the Empire.

But this Head of the Roman Hierarchy with his purple Cardinals are ſo Emperour-like, and of ſuch a Senatorious Splendor, that it is manifeſt that there is an Affectation of Imperial Power in the Pope himſelf; his Crown and Veſtments being ſo plainly Imperial. And though the Colour of the Beaſt and the ſeventh Head diſtinct from this Mitred Head, implies there is an Emperour to be acknowledged diſtinct from the Pope; yet this Hieroglyphick does plainly ſignifie that the Pope does play the Emperour as well or more than he. Which does admirably agree with the known Event of Things, and is plainly foretold alſo in the 13. Chap. v. 12. And he exerciſeth all the Power of the firſt Beaſt before him, that is to ſay, he plays the Emperour as much or more than He. Which yet muſt be underſtood of this Two-horned Beaſt moſt eſpecially as reſiding at Old Rome, who timely challenged the Right of Univerſal Biſhop, and had it early conferred upon him by the Bounty of Phocas the Emperour; and after ſo out-topp'd the Emperours, that he made himſelf greater than they: though I do not ſtick to confeſs with Grotius, that neither they nor their Empire has yet ceaſed to be, accordingly as the Prophecy it ſelf may ſeem to teſtifie, there being a Seventh Head of this Beaſt diſtinct from the Head of the Two-horned Beaſt or the Whore. Par. 1. Agr. 3.

2. But that this Two-horned Beaſt, viz. the chief and moſt eminent Part of him, does exerciſe all the Power of the firſt Beaſt before him, is to Admiration fulfilled in the Pope's playing the Emperour: As in the wearing not only a ſingle two-horned Mitre as Biſhop, but a Triple Imperial Diadem as if he were Emperour. His purple Veſtments alſo and crimſon Pantofles; his Title of Dominus Deus noſter; his Senate of purpurate Cardinals; his making Kings and Princes kiſs his Feet; his receiving Tribute even from the remoteſt Parts of the Empire; his Canonizing of Saints with the Joint-Suffrages of the Cardinals; his ſending of his Legats to Princes; his Revenue out of Stews, &c. (of which and others of the like Nature you may be informed more punctually in * Molinæus) all theſe were Imitations of the Imperial Power and Dignity. So exactly may he be ſaid to exerciſe all the Power of the firſt Beaſt before him. Par. 1. Agr. 3. * Molin. Var. Lib. 5. c. 17.

And is yet ſtill more palpably true, in that he takes away all Power in Eccleſiaſtical Affairs from the Emperour, and will exerciſe it ſolely himſelf. not to add that by virtue of this entire Eccleſiaſtick Power he has wreſted even the Civil Power of the Empire out of the Emperour's Hands in a very great meaſure; ſo awful a thing has been the Pope's Thunder of Excommunication. And this is ſufficient to make good the third Agreement of my firſt Paralleliſm.

3. Having a golden Cup in her Hand, full of Abominations and Filthineſs of her Fornications. Where Grotius upon the Word Abominations, βδελύγματα, ſaith he, In Viſo quidem intelligendo humor fœtens, in re verò Dii falſi, quos Græci vocant βδελύγματα, and the Hebrews שקוצים and תועבות. And therefore the Filthineſs of her Fornications is the ſame with the former, they all ſignifying the Idolatry of the Roman Hierarchy. And as we have already demonſtrated in the foregoing Chapter, that this Whore is not underſtood of Rome Pagan, ſo this Circumſtance amongſt others agrees very naturally thereto. For this Woman with her Cup in her Hand implies ſhe is the Beginner, not of an Health, but of this damnable Pollution of Idolatry; and that, whereas the Empire had grown chaſte and cold to this Folly and Madneſs through the Power of the pure Gospel of Christ, this Woman by this Incentive, this Virus amatorium, would inflame their Spirits again with new lustful Motions after Idols, and make them go a whoring from their God.

4. But there is something further observable in this Golden Cup, namely, wherein the Force of its Bewitchery may consist. For that it is an enchanted Cup or a Philtrum, I have abundantly made good under that Title in my Prophetick Alphabet; and not only Mr. Mede, but Cornelius à Lapide and Alcazar interpret it to that Sense. The latter of whom besides the Filthiness of the Composition, as the Ashes of Toads and of Men's Brains hanged at the Gallows, adds also Cantiones & execranda Verba, Charms and direful Words: which must needs therefore be conceived to be Magical and of a miraculous Power. Analogical to which is that Chap. 13. concerning the Two-horned Beast, that he doth great Wonders, even so much that he maketh Fire to come down from Heaven, and so deceiveth them that dwell on the Earth by those Miracles that he had Power to do in the Sight of the Beast; that is to say, in the Sight of the Empire which he seduced into Idolatry by these Miracles, and so re-introduced the Image of the slain Beast by this Seduction. Whence it is plain, that the Magick and the Miracles of the Whore and of the Two-horned Beast tended to one End, the Reviving of Idolatry again in the Empire, according to the fourth Agreement of our first Paralleliſm.

Cha.8. Sect .2.

V. 13, 14.

Par. 1. Agr. 4.

5. But one chief Charm that was used over this Magical Cup undoubtedly are those powerful and affrightful Words of Excommunication, that Menace of committing Men to Hell-Fire, if they did not submit to these idolatrous Institutes of the Church. This Thunder from that Roman Vejovis did not sowre but sweeten this Cup, and make it go off with a great deal of Pleasure; it looking so like the Cup of Salvation to those that drank it, when it was so authoritatively and terribly declared that those that refused it should undoubtedly perish. This is that main Spell that did invigorate the Virtue of this Potion, and made the Whore's Paramours lie more close in her Bosom, when they were terrified with such ineffable Danger and Misery that should befall them out of it. Which pretended Power of sending Men to Hell for not committing Idolatry being neither lawful nor natural, but above the Limits of Nature, what can it be justly deemed but Magical or Diabolical? And this is that very same Power which is plainly and apertly figured out in those Words of the 13. Chapter, where the Two-horned Beast is said to make Fire come down from Heaven: which I have already, in my Prophetick Alphabet, plainly proved to be a very significant Iconism of Excommunication.

Chap. 6. Sect 14.

6. And there is nothing more frequent in the Mouths of all Men than the Pope's Thunderbolt; of which they have conceived so miraculous an Effect, that the People at Paris were made generally to believe that it had so blasted the Hereticks, that their very Faces were grown black and ugly as Devils; their Eyes and Looks ghastly, their Breaths noisome and pestilent, as Sir Edwin Sandys has recorded in his Europæ Speculum. Erasmus also runs much upon this Metaphor in his Colloquies, and the Popes themselves glory in it. And as if the People were not quick enough to understand the Similitude without some visible Ceremony, the Pope casts down burning Fire-brands from aloft at a certain solemn Excommunication. And, lastly, Nauclerus uses this Phrase of being Thunder-struck three or four times within the Compass of a Page or two. And the Popes themselves look upon them whom they have Excommunicated tanquam fulmine afflatos, and so speak of them, as Paræus has also observed upon the Place. So that there is not Room left for the least Hesitation whether Excommunication be not alluded to in that miraculous bringing down Fire from Heaven, for that any Mortal should do that is indeed a great Miracle.

7. But whereas it is said, That he deceiveth them that dwell on the Earth by Reason of those Miracles which he had Power to do; I must confess I think other Miracles may also be glanced at, of which there is abundance boasted of by the Roman Church themselves, by which they would confirm several Sorts of Idolatries practised amongst them. Which may be attributed, as many of them as are true, to the great Activity and Desire of their Priest to promote Idolatry, who thereby invite the Devil to play such Pranks at their Images or Altars or in their Cœmeteries. But to return to the Magick Cup.

8. We have considered the Contents of it, and that supernatural Magick infused into the Liquor thereof. But the very Metal of the Cup, which is Gold, has also its Significancy, and bears with it a Meaning of a more natural Magick that attracts all.

Quid

——Quid non mortalia pectora cogis,
Auri ſacra fames?

Wherefore that great Affluency of Riches, Honours and Preferments that are to be had in the Roman Church is no ſmall Part of this intoxicating Potion, ἧς πεπότικε τὰ ἔθνη. nay indeed has made the Inhabitants of the Earth drunk, the Fumes of Ambition and Covetouſneſs poſſeſſing their Brains, eſpecially theirs of the Roman Clergy, who are not enriched with theſe Golden Gifts of the Church but upon the Condition of aſſiſting and abetting the Idolatry thereof. This Cup therefore I conceive may alſo be an Emblem of Senſuality, Luxury and Affluency; and to be drunk therewith, to abound with Worldly-Felicity even to an Inſenſibility of better things, and to a beſotted Security and Contentedneſs with the preſent Enjoyments of this Life. This alſo may be one Senſe of this intoxicating Cup, beſides what I have touched upon before.

Ver. V. And upon her Forehead was a Name written. Which Interpreters have rightly noted to allude to the Cuſtom of ſome impudent Harlots who had their Names written upon their Foreheads; as appears from that in Seneca, Nomen tuum pependit in fronte, pretia ſtupri accepiſti; & manus quæ Diis datura erat ſacra, capturas tulit.

2. Myſtery, Babylon the Great, the Mother of Harlots and Abominations of the Earth. All which Inſcription I conceive is the Name of the Whore. For the Scripture often makes long Names, even a whole Sentence, as I ſhall have occaſion more fully to note anon. I ſay, the very Word [Myſtery] is part of the Name. And the Senſe of the whole is, That the Name of the Whore is Myſtical Babylon the Great, the Mother of Harlots, or rather the Mother of Fornications, πορνειῶν· ſo ſome Copies, which the Vulgar Latin follows, and Beza, and which Grotius beſt approves of, and beſt fits with what follows, and of the Abominations of the Earth, that they may be both Abſtracts. And Myſtical here ſignifies the ſame that Spiritual elſewhere in the Apocalyps, Which is ſpiritually called Sodom and Ægypt, as Cornelius à Lapide has alſo compared them: and it is the Great City there too which is ſo called. Wherefore let any one judge if Myſtical or Spiritual Babylon can be underſtood of Rome Pagan, or whether it is likely that the Spirit of God ſhould prefix the Term [Myſtery] to an Inſcription that hath no more in it than a dry Synecdoche. For if Rome Pagan be underſtood, it is no more but putting one Pagan, Idolatrous and Perſecutive City for another. With which certainly ſo profound and venerable a Preface as [Myſtery] cannot well ſuit. Chap. 11. v. 8.

3. Wherefore it muſt be underſtood of a Chriſtian City or Polity Idolatrizing and Debauching others with Idolatry. And the Meaning of the Myſtery muſt be this: Even that that Hierarchy which ſhould over-ſpread the Empire, and pretend to be the pure and unadulterate Apoſtolick Church, and be generally believed to be ſo; nay, to be that City from Heaven, the Foundations of whoſe Walls are Twelve, with the Names of the twelve Apoſtles of the Lamb inſcribed upon them; that City wherein God will wipe away all Tears from the Eyes of his Servants, where there ſhall be no more Death nor Sorrow, nor any more Pain, that is to ſay, no more bloody Perſecutions, Preſſures, nor Tortures of the faithful Servants of Chriſt, as Grotius well interprets it; and, laſtly, that City wherein there is no Temple, that is to ſay, no Object towards which we bow, beſides the Lord God Almighty and the Lamb, who alone is worſhipped with Religious Worſhip; I ſay, the Myſtery is this, That that Oecumenical Hierarchy or Body of the Clergy that boaſt themſelves to be this Pure and Apoſtolical City, as being of an unerring Judgment in Matters of Faith, ſhould indeed be the very City Babylon it ſelf, which inſtead of being ſo chaſt a Pattern of Purity of Worſhip, were Sacrificers to the Dead, and the Adorers or Worſhippers of Bel, and the Propagators of the Worſhip of the Baalim, that is to ſay, of the Worſhip of Dæmons or falſe Gods, through the World, infecting therewith even the very Jews themſelves, the peculiar People of God; and inſtead of being a Protection and Refreſhment to the Servants of the true God, held them in a long and ſad Captivity, caſting them that would not bow to the Image that Nebuchadnezzar had ſet up into an hot fiery Furnace. This is the Myſtery, and yet a very true one.

For it is over-manifeſt of this Pſeudo-Chriſtian Hierarchy, that they have debauched the profeſſed People of God with various Kinds of Idolatry, and have held them captive a long time under an hard Servitude, and beſides other Tortures and Perſecutions have burned many thousands of the Faithful Servants of Christ with Fire and Fagot. Wherefore it is a Mystery indeed that she that so boldly professes her self the City of God, and had the Luck to be believed, so generally, to be so, should in Truth be found to be that bloody and Idolatrous Babylon.

4. And because she boasts her self also to be the Catholick as well as the Apostolick Church, she is farther adorned with the Title of Great as well as of Babylon, and is at once styled Babylon the Great; the vast Extent of that City (which they that have made the most frugal Computation reckon 360 or 380 Stadia in Compass, Pliny and Herodotus 480) being a fit Symbol of their Pretence to Catholickness or Universality. And, lastly, because she will pretend to be the Spouse of the Lamb, and be called Our Mother the Church, the Spirit of God in Reproach to this false Beast has styled her the Mother of Harlots and Abominations of the Earth.

5. Which Style does plainly discover that this City Babylon is not Rome Heathen, but a Polity Christian. For Rome Heathen was not μήτηρ πορνειῶν, as Grotius reads it, the Mother, that is, the Author and Dispenser, of Idolatry over the Face of the Earth: for the Nations were Idolatrous of themselves without her, and she rather a Learner and Receiver of their Idolatries, which she increased as she advanced her Trophees; as it may appear by that promissory Charm which Macrobius sets down, used by the Romans when they had Hopes of taking a City, calling out thereby the Tutelary Gods of the Place, and promising them Temples and Solemnities at Rome.

Saturnal lib. 3. cap. 9.

Wherefore the Title of Mystery prefixed to the Name of the Whore (or rather it being a part of it, and which easily answers to that Mystery of Iniquity, the Apostle speaks of) jointly considered with this part of the Name [The Mother of Fornications and Abominations of the Earth] does evidently agree with our Demonstration in the foregoing Chapter, that proved it necessary to understand by Babylon, not Rome Heathen, but a State of the Church degenerating into Heathenism and Idolatry. Which lying deeper than that every Man can discover it at first sight, as being coloured and guilded over with fair Pretences of Magnifying Christ and his Apostles and the rest of the Saints, especially the Virgin Mary the Mother of Christ, is rightly called a Mystery. In which this Whore and the Two-horned-Beast do exactly agree. For his having Horns like a Lamb is that outward Pretext of Succession from Christ and his Apostles, and of having a Power from them to rule and discipline the Church according to the Mind of Christ, to his Honour and for his Interest, which they pretend in every thing: But his speaking like a Dragon bespeaks him a Decreer of Idolatrous Practices, and a Publisher of Doctrines of Adulterate Worship. Whence the fifth Agreement of our first Parallelism is manifest; both the Whore and the Two-horned Beast being found Introducers of Idolatry under Pretence of Promoting Christianity.

2 Thess. 2. 7.

Paral. 1. Agr. 5.

6. That was the Meaning of the Lamb-like Horns and Dragon's Speech of the Two-horned Beast: But concerning his rising up out of the Earth, which is peculiar to him, other Beasts being described both in Daniel and the Apocalyps to rise out of the Sea, the Winds also bustling against one another on the Surface thereof in those four Beasts in Daniel; this discovereth this Beast to be quite of another Kind, getting up, not by War, nor by Power of the Sword, as the Potentates of the World do, but in a more still and concealed Way, and from a meaner Condition; Cui origo privata, non publica, saith Grotius: and he adds further, Mos est Hebræorum vocare τὰς ἰδιώτας populum terræ. And Molinæus also upon the Text, Sic Latini homines novos & ex sordibus provectos ad nobilitatem & opes vocant Terræ filios, ipsáque Scriptura dicit Deum attollere humilem ex pulvere. Which how true it is of the Whore and the Two-horned Beast every one knows.

Apoc. 13. 11.

CHAP.

CHAP. XIII.

Ver. VI. What is meant by the Martyrs of Jeſus. 2. The ſixth Agreement of the firſt Paralleliſm. Ver. VII. That the Woman is not Rome Heathen, demonſtrable from the Beaſt that carries her. 2. That ſhe rides the whole Empire. 3. That the Two Horns of the Beaſt are the Two Imperial Patriarchates, but by an Henopœia may glance alſo at the Power of Binding and Looſing, and at the Horns of the Epiſcopal Mitre. 4. The ſeventh Agreement of the firſt Paralleliſm. 5. The firſt Agreement of the Second. Ver. VIII. What is meant by ἀπώλεια. 2. That the End of the Viſion of the Beaſt in this Chapter is to repreſent the Empire in that Succeſſion wherein it is Pagano-Chriſtian. 3. That the Prolixity of the Title hinders not but that it may be called the Name of the Beaſt. 4. The Meaning of the Name. 5. That the Angel having conſidered the whole Succeſſions of the Roman Kingdom or Empire, fixed his Mind on that time the Empire was purely Chriſtian, and why. And that it thence appears what Succeſſion of the Beaſt's Time is underſtood. 6. As likewiſe from his Name a little varied into, Was, is not, and yet is. Whence the fifth Agreement of the ſecond Paralleliſm is alſo evinced. 7, 8. How the Angel came to give the Beaſt theſe Names: And that there is an Ellipſis in the Angel's Saying, The Beaſt which thou ſaweſt, was, and is not, &c. 9. That the Name Was, and is not, and ſhall aſcend, &c. ſignifies the ſucceſſive Order in Being, not the actual being or not being of the Beaſt: with a Confirmation thereof out of Alcazar. 10. A plain Eviction from the Name [Was, is not, and yet is] that [Was, and is, and is not] do not ſignifie actual Exiſtence or Non-exiſtence, but Order of Exiſtence and Similitude. 11. That [Is not, and yet is] would neither be good Senſe nor any Elegancy, unleſs the Laws of a right Contradiction were cloſely touched on in this myſterious Aſſertion. 12. And yet that an abſolute Sameneſs, in either Eſſence or Qualification, could not be under this Affirmation and Negation without Falſity. Whence Similitude is neceſſarily intimated thereby. 13. That the Certainty of the Meaning of this Title [Was, is not, and yet is,] confirms the Senſe of the former, and demonſtrates a latitant Ellipſis in the Application of theſe Names of the Beaſt; which is farther argued from other Conſiderations. 14. Why he interprets the Re-exiſtence or Image of the Beaſt, of the Empire's becoming Idolatrous again, rather than of the Revival of its ancient Polity in the Pontifical Power. 15. The third Agreement of the ſecond Paralleliſm. 16. The ſixth Agreement. 17. The Seventh. 18. The eighth Agreement. 19. The third Agreement again noted, with a Confirmation, therefrom, of the above mentioned Ellipſis. 20. That near Reſemblance ſtands for Identity in common Elegancy of Speech: Whence, The Beaſt, that was, is not, and yet is, and the Image of the Beaſt is again evinced to be all one, and the fifth Agreement of our ſecond Paralleliſm thereby farther confirmed.

Ver. VI. AND I ſaw the Woman drunk with the Blood of the Saints and with the Blood of the Martyrs of Jeſus: that is to ſay, with the Blood of the Saints which were the Martyrs of Jeſus. Which were not Martyrs for the Doctrine of this or that ſeducing Spirit or falſe Teacher, who might beſot them with a fooliſh Confidence and hardy Reſolution of laying down their Life to witneſs to a Lie cunningly contriv'd for the Intereſt and worldly Advantage of the Inventors of it. No, theſe were not Martyrs of this ſort, but the cloſe Followers of the Lamb, Jeſus Chriſt, and trode in his Footſteps only, and in the Footſteps of them that faithfully followed him, I mean the Apoſtles, according to their own Direction, Be ye Followers of me, as I am of Chriſt. And him verily they did follow through Proſperity and Adverſity, through good Report and evil Report, through Life and even Death it ſelf. 1 Cor. 11. 1.

2. Whoſe Death is imputed here to the Whore, becauſe ſhe by her Counſel and Animation ſtirs up the Seven-headed Beaſt to this Murther and Blood-ſhed. Accordingly as it is ſaid of the Two-horned Beaſt, that he gave Life and Animation to this revived Beaſt, and made this breathing Image ſpeak, and cauſe as many as would not worſhip, that is, obey and ſubmit to the Commands of the Image of the Beaſt, even in thoſe things wherein it was the ſlain Beaſt's Image, viz. in Idolatry, that they ſhould be killed. Which is plainly the ſixth Agreement of our firſt Paralleliſm.

Ver. VII. I will tell tell thee the Mystery of the Woman, and of the Beast that carrieth her. Which Mystery of the Woman he unlocks by unfolding first the Order and Succession of the Beast that carrieth her: For that it is a Demonstration that it is not meant of Rome Pagan, as I have clearly proved in the eleventh Chapter of this Book; and consequently that the Meaning of this Mystery of the Whore's Title, which displays her Nature, is such as I have declared upon the Fifth Verse in the Fore-going Chapter.

2. Here we shall only note, that her Riding of the Beast implies her to be such a Polity as had the Governance of the whole Empire, was not confined to one Part thereof. As he that rides an Horse is not conceived to ride one Part of him, and leave the other unridden, but to ride the whole. So the Whore rides the whole Beast, that is, the whole Empire, as well Oriental as Occidental. Which agrees with the Description of the Two-horned Beast, whom I conceive to be so depainted in the Vision, because of the two imperial Patriarchates, the one at Rome, the other at Constantinople, dividing in a manner the Empire thus betwixt them, as the Eastern and Western Cæsars did. But all the whole Clergy of the Empire, I mean the Idolatrizing Clergy, are the Body of this Whore or Beast, of which these two Imperial Patriarchates are the Horns.

3. Nor have I found any thing yet in the Interpreters that can according to the Prophetick Style be interpreted Horns, unless some such Concrete Power as this may have Place also in the Type. But by a Secondary Henopæia (it being once admitted that these two Patriarchates are two real Concrete Powers and Dignities, for I understand the two Patriarchs themselves thus empower'd) it may be the two Horns of the Episcopal Mitre may be also glanced at, as the seven Heads signifie as well seven Hills as seven Kings. And Josephus Acosta in his Treatise of the last times, speaking of this Two-horned Beast, Duo cornua, saith he, Episcopalis dignitatis, puta Mitræ sive Infulæ, (hæc enim est Bicornis) insigne sunt. Videtur ergò quòd hic Pseudopropheta erit Episcopus quispiam Apostata & simulator Religionis. Which Interpretation of the two Horns of the Beast Cornelius a Lapide seems also inclinable to, and does rightly conceive that the Interpretation is no more a Reproach to Episcopacy, than that they are Agni cornua is a Reproach to Christ; but rather an Argument of the Excellency of that Degree and Function, this gteat Apostate endeavouring to recommend himself to the World under that Habit and Dignity.

De Temp. Novissi. lib. 2. c. 17.

Nor need we exclude Mr. Mede's Interpretation, who understands by these two Horns the Power of binding and loosing, which this Pseudoprophetick Beast pretends to be derived upon him from the Lamb Christ Jesus. For these two Significations, and more, if there were more as fit and convenient, may by an Henopæia be couched under this one Type; provided first, as I have already said, that the Type have one Signification plainly allowable according to the Prophetick Style, which every where in Daniel and the Apocalyps understands by Horns some Persons or other in high Place and Dignity, not abstract Powers or Vertues; as if one should make an Emperor to have two Horns, because he had the Power of Life and Death. This is not warrantable in the Prophetick Style, nor would that Sense alone support so substantial an Emblem as this.

Par. 1. Agr. 7.

4. Wherefore these two Horns implying the Pseudo-prophetick Beast to be spread as well over the Oriental as Occidental Part of the Empire, and the Whore's Riding the Beast with seven Heads denoting also what a Hank she had upon the whole Empire; it appears that the seventh Agreement of our first Paralleliſm is not without Grounds in these Visions. To which you may superadd a farther and fuller Confirmation from what we have said upon the first Verse in the preceding Chapter, in the second and third Sections.

Par. 2. Agr. 1.

5. Which has the seven Heads and ten Horns. The same Description of the Beast as to this Point is in the Thirteenth Chapter, verse 2. And we have already noted that it makes good the first Agreement of the second Paralleliſm.

Verse VIII. The Beast which thou sawest, was, and is not, and shall ascend out of the bottomless Pit and go into Perdition; καὶ εἰς ἀπώλειαν ὑπάγει, that is, εἰς παντελεθρίαν, into utter Destruction, or into final Perdition: for the Circumstance does plainly imply that Sense; For in that it is said, before this last Course, that he was not, (which imports that he was destroyed) it naturally follows, that this last is a more signal Destruction and final as well as last, and that ἀπώλεια, is to be taken in such a Sense as in ὁ υἱὸς ἀπωλείας, the Son of Perdition, who is so called because he is utterly blasted and consumed by the Brightness of Christ's Appearing. And therefore this Perdition is the

*

the very ſame that is ſpoken of in Daniel, I beheld till the Beaſt was ſlain, (and he ſpeaks there of the ten horned Beaſt) and his Body deſtroyed and given to the burning Flame, which was to be utterly conſumed. But the underſtanding of this eighth Verſe being of ſo great Importance, I ſhall ſomething more largely paraphraſe thereon, that we may the more fully underſtand the Scope thereof; which I conceive is to this Senſe. Dan. 7. 11.

2. The Beaſt which thou ſaweſt, and which thou didſt ſee in the two former Viſions, is the ſame Beaſt, as may appear from the chief Character thereof, ſeven Heads and ten Horns, and is one and the ſame idolatrous Kingdom or Empire, as is evident in the Serpentine Body thereof in the firſt Viſion, from the Names of Blaſphemy on each Head in the ſecond, and from the Body full of Names of Blaſphemy in this third and laſt. But the chief Drift of this laſt Viſion (though it have a Reflexion upon the former Part of the Succeſſion of this idolatrous Empire, as it is of a-freſh repreſented in that part of the whole Succeſſion which is next after that Interval wherein for a time it ceaſed to be,) I ſay, the chief Drift of this Viſion is, to repreſent determinately this Idolatrous Empire, and adequately under that Succeſſion of time which commenced upon the Expiration of that Seaſon wherein the Empire was purely Chriſtian, and as yet untainted with idolatrous Superſtitions, even unto the very time wherein Idolatry, having taken its Courſe once more, is quite to be exterminated out of the Empire, never to return thither again.

3. Wherefore the Angel counting as it were upon his Fingers the Order of things, and then more particularly pointing at this Succeſſion of time; The Beaſt which thou ſaweſt, (ſaith he to John) his Name is (for the Ecſtatical Style of Prophecy may eaſily admit of ſuch an Ellipſis) Was, and is not, and ſhall aſcend out of the bottomleſs Pit and go into Perdition. Which is a Name of fewer Syllables than Myſtery, Babylon the Great, the Mother of Fornications and Abominations of the Earth. But ſuch long Names are not unuſual in Scripture, as appears in Maher-ſhalal-haſh-baz, which in Engliſh is, In making Speed to the Spoil he haſteneth the Prey.

4. But now the Meaning of the Beaſt's Title or Name is this; that this idolatrous Empire is repreſented only under that Succeſſion of time (according to the main Scope of this preſent Viſion) under which it being conſidered, it will be ſometime opportune to ſay, That it is the Beaſt that was, and is not, but will aſcend again out of the bottomleſs Pit, and then go into Perdition, that is to ſay, be finally deſtroyed, never to revive again. Of that time or State of the Empire under which conſidered it is ſometime ſeaſonable to pronounce thus, is this preſent Viſion of the Beaſt to be underſtood, and of no other: and therefore was thereby eſpecially recommended to the Church of Chriſt for that Seaſon when the Empire ceaſed to be idolatrous.

5. The Angel therefore placing his Thoughts on thoſe times of the Church, does here preadvertiſe them of a ſtrange Alteration of the Chriſtian Empire, even while they find it thus purely Chriſtian, and as yet untainted with Idolatry: namely, that this pure and happy State will paſs away, and that the Beaſt will revive and come again into Being; that is, that the Empire will again become idolatrous. Which Premonition being ſo uſeful to as many as receive it, to fortifie them againſt thoſe idolatrous Innovations that would be brought into the Church, it is no Wonder that the Mind of the Angel was fixt on thoſe times when he unridled the Meaning of this Viſion to John, as if he were preſent then amongſt them forewarning them of the Danger to come.

This is one Way of determining the Senſe of this Viſion to the intended time and State of the idolatrous Empire, that is here aimed at, namely, by placing our Minds on thoſe times wherein this Note or Name of the Beaſt is rightly applicable to him as future, and not again returned into Being; which was when the Empire was purely Chriſtian.

6. But that you may ſtill lay farther hold upon the Meaning of the Viſion, and certainly underſtand under what Succeſſion of time this idolatrous Empire is repreſented, I will a little alter his Note or Name, ſaith the Angel, and ſtyle him The Beaſt that was, and is not, and yet is. Which Title imports him conſidered as preſent, though acknowledged yet to come; for it is a Prophecy, and not an Hiſtory. But I ſay in this Title he is conſidered as preſent; as thoſe Words alſo moſt naturally imply, When they behold the Beaſt that was, and is not, and yet is. For we behold and eye things preſent; and therefore καίπερ ἐστὶ ſeems the more reaſonable reading as well as the more authentick and approved, (and not ἦ παρέσται, as Mr. Mede would have it out of Arethas) and denotes the Empire become idolatrous again as it was once, and therefore to be the Beaſt that was, and yet to be true that the Beaſt is alſo. But it is not that Idolatry that consists in worshipping the ancient Pagan Deities, Mars, Venus, Vulcan, &c. Wherefore in this Respect it is the Beast that was, but is not. But considering again, as I said, that only the Objects are changed, and that the Saints are worshipped with such like Idolatry as the Heathen Deities formerly were, it is in that Respect rank Paganism, though exercised upon new Objects; and therefore though the Beast be, in some Sense, said not to be, yet it is true in a very considerable Sense that he is. Whence it is evident that by the Beast that was, and is not, and yet is, is meant this Roman Empire degenerated into a Paganizing or idolatrizing Christianity; which though it profess Christianity, bears the Image of the ancient Pagan-idolatrous Empire.

Paral. 2. Agr. 5. So that the Image of the Beast and the Beast that was, and is not, and yet is, do answer exactly one to another. For the Image is, and is not that of which it is the Image, as is easily acknowledged and conceived by any one. Whence the Truth of the fifth Agreement of our second Parallelism plainly appears.

7. This Interpretation which I have given of this Verse is so natural and coherent, that I think it were impossible for any one to doubt of it, were it not for that Obscurity which arises from that Elliptical Manner of Speech in the Beginning of the Verse, The Beast which thou sawest, was, and is not, and shall ascend, &c. For it seems to import that this idolatrous Roman Empire was not in St. John's time; which is plainly contrary to truth. But I answer, that there is an Ellipsis to be supplied, and then this Mistake will vanish. Which Suppliment may be made either thus, as I have already hinted, The Beast which thou sawest, his Name is, Was, and is not, &c. or thus, The Beast which thou sawest, was, and is not, and shall ascend, &c. this is his Name, this his Character whereby you shall understand under what Succession of time he is to be expected.

For it is to be conceived that the Angel had before his Sight the entire Succession of the Beast dissected into two Parts by that temporary Interemption of him in the Introduction of pure Christianity into the Place of Paganism, that it might become the Religion of the Empire. Now he revolving these series of Ages in his Mind, in Reference to the Beast, on the first he could not inscribe any other Title than, Is. For till that Intercessation of the Idolatry of the Empire by the Victory of pure and untainted Christianity, it was not proper to say of the Beast, that he was, he continuing still in Being; much less that he is not, he being still in Existence. Nor was it seasonable to take Notice of his Ascent again out of the bottomless Pit, he being as yet not descended thither; nor of his utter and final Perdition, he being to revive again after his first Interemption.

8. Wherefore this Title being incompetible to the idolatrous Empire in the first series of time it was considered in, it is plain that the Angel casting his Sight forward on these Successions of Ages, and finding a Season wherein the Beast ceases to be, but withal foreseeing that he would get up again, and then after a certain Continuance finally perish, he describes the Beast under that Period, styling him, (in an abrupt and rapturous Way, without prefacing that it is his Style) The Beast that was, and is not, but would again emerge into Being, and then finally perish. Which Name the Angel gives him while his Eye is fixt on that Interregnum of his, his temporary Cessation from Being, but yet, with Relation to his future Existence which is the Object of this Vision. Which Occasion of his Name though it was transient, as that of the Child who was called Maher-shalal-hash-haz, yet it may be a permanent Appellation of the Beast, to shew his Order in Succession. For his Condition and Order of Succession into Existence is rather hereby noted, than any thing declared of his existing or not existing in St. John's time. Which duly considered and rightly understood will easily take away this seeming Difficulty of the Text's implying that the Beast was not in the Time of St. John.

9. For this Expression concerns not it self at all in any such Assertion, but only considers the Succession and Series of Time under which this Idolatrous Empire is comprehended, and has given a Name to the Beast under the last Succession, not in reference to St. John's Time, but in reference to the first Series of Time under which the Idolatrous Empire was to be, and then of the Time it was not to be, and lastly of that Series of Succession it was to be again, and then finally to perish. Which Character from these Series of Times compared one with another, might have been made as well in Daniel's Time as St. John's, they having no Coherence or Ligation with the Time of the Prophet, but only with one another. For so far forth as is expressed in this Verse, the Signification is only of succeeding Order, in Existence and Re- exiſtence, which Changes upon that Conſideration are indeed tied to one another, but free as yet from being fixed to the Prophet's Time, or any one's Time elſe.

Which thing, though I have been ſo careful to make good, yet is an Apprehenſion ſo eaſie to admit, that Alcazar in his Expoſition ſuppoſes it without asking Leave or giving any Account why he did ſo. For he underſtanding the revived or re-exiſtent Beaſt of the perſecuting Empire under Julian the Apoſtate, whom he makes the eighth King, and acknowledging the Viſions exhibited to John in Domitian's Time, when the Roman Empire was actually perſecutive, does evidently imply that [The Beaſt which thou ſaweſt, was, and is not] is not to be underſtood of Exiſtence or Non-Exiſtence joyned with the Time of the Viſion, (for it had been falſe to ſay the Beaſt is not, in Domitian's Time) but only of Permutations and Succeſſions of the Condition of the Empire. Cùm igitur (ſaith he) perſecutiones interrumpendæ forent, hâc ipſâ interruptione ſignificatur quod Angelus ter repetit capite decimo ſeptimo, dum ait de Beſtia, Fuit & non eſt, Erat & non eſt; Quod idem eſt ac ſi diceret, Modò eſt & modò non eſt. Which Phraſe ſignifies no ſet Time of Exiſtence or Non-Exiſtence, but only the Viciſſitude of them.

This upon the Thirteenth Chapter: And to the ſame Purpoſe he ſpeaks upon the Seventeenth, where he aſſerts that by the Beaſt that was, and is not, the Angel only intimates that there would be an Intermiſſion of Perſecution. I might add alſo that our Proteſtant Expoſitors go generally upon the ſame Suppoſition, as Paræus has noted. But this Point, I hope, is abundantly cleared.

10. And what has been ſaid of this firſt Deſcription of the Beaſt, Was, is not, and ſhall aſcend out of the bottomleſs Pit and go into Perdition, is to be underſtood of the Second, Was, is not, and yet is; namely, that it is the Name, Nature, or Character of the Beaſt, not any Aſſertion concerning his preſent Exiſting or Not-exiſting. For of that Idolatrous Empire which is here indigitated, it could not be properly ſaid, when St. John wrote, that it was, but is not; for it did then continue ſtill in an uninterrupted Being. Nor could it be ſaid of it, Is not, and yet is; for it was not the Image of the Pagan Idolatrous Empire, but that very Empire it ſelf. And it is remarkable that this Beaſt is deſcribed as to come hereafter out of the bottomleſs Pit, and that the World ſhall wonder at him, when he aſcends again upon the Stage, beholding the Beaſt that was, and is not, and yet is. Where therefore neither Was nor Is not have any Connexion or Ligation with that preſent Age of St. John, ſeeing it is ſo evident that Is has not, the Prediction being not of a preſent Beaſt, but of one to come. And indeed to me it ſeems very improbable that the Title or Name of the Beaſt would have been ſo preſently in the ſame Verſe repeated again with this little Variation, had it not been done on purpoſe to be a Key to the Meaning of the former Title, and to caſt the conſiderate Reader upon ſuch a Senſe as I have pitched upon. But to read ὁ παρέσται for καίπερ ὤν, is to make the Prophecy guilty of a ſapeleſs and uſeleſs Tautologie, and to deface in it a ſpecial Note and Mark of Direction to the true Meaning thereof. But we proceed.

11. Nor can [Is not, and yet is] be underſtood of any Object but with a cloſe Touch on the known Laws of a right Contradiction. Which is the myſterious Dreſs which is here affected to excite Amuſement, and without which it will not ſound like either Senſe or an Elegancy. The ſame thing therefore in ſome Senſe or other muſt be affirmed and denied of the ſame Subject. Wherefore as by that part of the Title [Was, and is not] it is naturally underſtood he is not what he was; and as [Is not] is to be underſtood in the ſame Extent that Was, (as if [Was] intimate his whole Exiſtence, [Is not] muſt take away his whole Exiſtence; and if [Was] intimate only the Condition or Qualification of Exiſtence, [Is not] muſt take away juſt ſo much and no more:) So [Is not, and yet is] muſt be underſtood in the ſame Extent, and the Object of their Affirmation and Negation muſt be equal; that is to ſay, either the whole Exiſtence of the thing muſt be affirmed and denied, or the ſame Condition or Qualification.

12. The former in this Caſe cannot be pretended to, it being ſo real a Contradiction that it is a down-right Falſity. And in the latter if there were a perfect Sameneſs, it would be as rank and as unreconcilable a Contradiction. As ſuppoſe a Man were a King, and ſhould be depoſed for a time, but then afterwards be reſtored to his Kingdom in as full Power as ever; it were a real Contradiction and groſs Falſhood to ſay, He is not King, as well as, He is King. Whence the Fondneſs of Hugo Grotius his Interpretation is detected, who makes Domitian the Beaſt that is not, and yet is. For it could never be ſaid of him while he was Emperor, that he was not Emperor, or while he was not Emperor, that he was Emperor; because to be Emperor was utterly the same Condition at both times he was so, if he was so twice. For which he has no Evasion but by reading ἡ παρεσται.

But when this Sameness is in some respect defective, and verges rather towards Similitude than exact Identity, then indeed this Riddle is proper; and though the Ænigma seems to amuse a Man with a Contradiction, yet it declares a Truth. As is apparent in our Interpretation of the Beast that is not, and yet is; which is this; That the Ancient Idolatrous Empire is not, and yet is: where both Parts are true. For as to the manner of Idolatry it is the same Beast, but in respect of the Persons whom they would worship it is not the same; and therefore, as I have already noted, is also called the Image of the Beast.

par. 2. Agr. 5.

13. Wherefore this second Title of the Beast [Was, and is not, and yet is] being thus plainly discovered not to signifie Existence, but Condition and Order of Succession, it is a farther Assurance that our Interpretation of the former Title of the Beast is true also: and that the omitting of the Intersertion or Subjunction of This is his Name or Property, or the like, is a mere Prophetick Ellipsis, and Artifice of Concealment, warrantable upon a double Ground; either as spoken rapturously and ecstatically, and therefore thus Elliptically; or else because there are Examples of such an Ellipsis in other Places of Scripture and in the very same Case, as Apoc. 1. and Exod. 3.

But to object that there they breed no such Obscurity of Sense as in this Place, is to acknowledge what I contend for, that the Ellipsis is here used on set Purpose for Concealment; but the Concealment again more recommendable, and not at all invincible, because this Ellipsis is not without Examples in Scripture, and made, it may be, not without some Allusion to those very Texts, where the Name of God is אהיה אשר אהיה Ero qui ero, and ὁ ὢν καὶ ὁ ἦν καὶ ὁ ἐρχόμενος· which Zegerus and Cornelius à Lapide compare with this Name of the Beast, to shew the great Discrepancy. And the latter of them concludes, that the Reign of the wicked is fitly expressed by Erat & non est; but the Name of God, who alone has Immortality, and whose Kingdom is a Kingdom of all Ages, by Qui est, & qui erat, & qui venturus est: and much more he has to that Purpose in comparing this Name of God with the Name of the Beast; for so he also calls this Description of him. Sicut Dei Nomen est Jehova, h. e. QUI EST ità Bestiæ Nomen est, Qui non est. Secundò, Dei Nomen est, QUI FUIT ET EST; Bestiæ, Qui fuit & non est. Tertiò, Dei Nomen est, FUIT ET ERIT; Bestiæ, Non erit amplius So Cornelius. The last of which answers exactly to our Sense of that Expression εἰς ἀπώλειαν ὑπάγει. But we have been over-copious and industrious in clearing a Point which we *had already so fully demonstrated by proving, That this Beast, whose Name or Title, or Description (call it what you will) is [Was, and is not,] &c. is the Roman Empire after it had taken the Profession of Christianity upon it, and had degenerated therein into a Kind of an After-Paganism.

Exod. 3. 14.

* Chap. 11. sect. 13, 14, &c.

14. And that I have interpreted the Beast in his Re-existence of the Empire become again idolatrous, rather than being moulded into any new Political Government, as many do, my Reason is, because this is more consonant to my third Rule of interpreting Prophecies: and likewise because the Empire in a Polititical Sense cannot be said to have ever yet ceased to be; there was never yet a Season since its Being when a Man might say, It is not: and lastly, the Whore or two-horned Beast will not be Synchronal with the Beast that was, and is not, and yet is, unless this Beast's Commencement begin upon those terms I have declared, namely, That the Rising again of the Beast was the Empire's Relapse into a Kind of Paganism and Idolatry.

15. And so much for the Name of the Beast, we shall now pursue the Detection of Agreements. Was, and is not, and shall ascend out of the bottomless Pit. That is to say, It was in that Decursion of time before the Dragon was fought by Michael and slain, but ceased to be upon that Slaughter. And therefore it is said in the Thirteenth Chapter, that the Dragon gave him his Power, that is, he succeeded as Heir to the Powers of the Dragon; and the Dragon's Forces (for so δυνάμις signifies, as in Κύριος δυνάμεων) were left to his Conduct and Management. Or, because the Dragon signifies the Devil as well as the Pagan-Empire, The Devil delivered to this Beast his Forces, his Power and Throne, so as he had done to the Pagan Empire, that is, the Assistance of evil Spirits, Idols, or Images, and all the Pomp and Train of this Kingdom of Darkness; but yet changing himself and all these into a Show of true Light, and hiding his Villainy under a Pretext of adorning and improving the Christian Worship. See Mr. Mede upon the Place.

Which

Which ſetting up again of the Beaſt that had the deadly Wound, and getting into Life by Means of the Dragon's Aſſiſtance and proper Weapons of his Warfare, ſuch as Idols and Images and falſe Miracles, anſwers very fitly to his Re-aſcending here out of the bottomleſs Pit: For ſo ἄβυσσος may ſignifie as well as the Sea, or Abolition, or Evaneſcency. And hence is manifeſted the Truth of the third Agreement of our ſecond Paralleliſm. Paral. 2. Agr. 3.

16. But if we underſtand ἄβυσσος to ſignifie the Sea, as it uſually does, and in Reference to the Empire it ſelf I doubt not but does alſo here; this anſwers to the Seven-headed-Beaſt's riſing out of the Sea. ch. 13. v. 1. and is the ſixth Agreement of our ſecond Paralleliſm. Paral. 2. Agr. 6.

17. And go into Perdition. According as it is ſaid Chap. 13. v. 10. He that leadeth into Captivity, muſt go into Captivity: He that killeth with the Sword, muſt be killed with the Sword. Which is the ſeventh Agreement of our ſecond Paralleliſm. Paral. 2. Agr. 7.

18. And they that dwell on the Earth ſhall wonder, whoſe Names were not written in the Book of Life. According to what we read Chap. 13. v. 3. And all the World wondred after the Beaſt: and v. 8. And all that dwell upon the Earth ſhall worſhip him, whoſe Names are not written in the Book of Life of the Lamb, &c. Which is the eighth Agreement of our ſecond Paralleliſm. Paral. 2. Agr. 8.

19. When they behold the Beaſt that was, and is not. He is ſaid here, or rather in the Beginning of this Verſe, not to be, anſwerably to his being ſaid to be ſlain Chap. 13. 3. And I ſaw one of his Heads as it were wounded to Death; ſo the Engliſh Tranſlation. But the Greek has it, ὡς ἐσφαγμένην εἰς θάνατον, that is, cæſa ad mortem. Nor does ὡς, which we render as it were, imply that his Head was not ſlain and ſtruck with ſo deadly a Wound that it died. For beſides that this Wound is called πληγὴ τῆς θανάτου a deadly Wound, more than once; it is evident that the Particle ὡς does not always weaken or leſſen the Senſe, as appears Chap. 5. v. 6. where we find ἀρνίον ἑστηκὸς ὡς ἐσφαγμένον, which Lamb notwithſtanding was really and down-right ſlain. Ὡς therefore refers to the Imaginativeneſs of the Repreſentation, not to the Imperfectneſs of the Death or Slaughter repreſented. Wherefore this Head was really ſlain and killed, and therefore implies the Body was dead alſo, and that the Beaſt ceaſed to be, according as it is here ſaid that he is not: Which I have already noted to be the third Agreement of our ſecond Paralleliſm. paral. 2. Agr. 3.

Which Agreement conſidered jointly with the perpetual Agreements of that Paralleliſm is alſo an invincible Confirmation of the Truth of our Expoſition of, The Beaſt which thou ſaweſt, was, and is not, &c. namely, That he ſpeaks adequately of the Beaſt under the laſt Succeſſion, re-exiſting in this Seventeenth Chapter, as he does of the healed Beaſt in the Thirteenth; and that there can be no Objection againſt the over-cloſe Concealment of the Senſe in this notable Ellipſis, becauſe though the Commiſſure be as inviſible as that in curious Steel-work, yet the apparent Agreements of this ſecond Parralleliſm betwixt the Seven-headed Beaſt in this and the Thirteenth Chapter would not fail to unſcrue the Meaning with the conſiderate and intelligent.

20. Is not, and yet is. Of which I have already ſhewn that there can be no good Senſe, unleſs we underſtand not a perfect Identity, but rather a Reſemblance or Similitude. Which Reſemblance by way of Elegancy gives the Title of Identity, as if that which is very like were exactly the ſame. So he that came in the Spirit of Elias was called Elias; and one egregiouſly Epicurean or Platonical, might be called Epicurus redivivus, or Plato redivivus, as if the one were really Epicurus, the other Plato. And it is a vulgar Expreſſion, That ſuch an one will never die, while ſuch a Son of his, namely, one that is exactly like him, is alive; conceding herein that the Father may be dead and alive at once, dead in his own Perſon, but alive in that lively Image of himſelf, his ſurviving Son. Quamquam nullum monumentum clarius Servius Sulpitius relinquere potuit quàm effigiem morum ſuorum, conſtantiæ, pietatis, ingenii, filium. Of ſuch a Son as this is that Saying of Siracides, Though his Father die, yet he is as though he were not dead; for he has left one behind him that is like him. paral. 2. Agr. 5. Eccleſiaſtic. 30. 4.

So then, as Servius Sulpitius may be ſaid to be dead and alive at once, dead in his own Perſon, but alive in his Son who is ſo perfect an Effigies of him; ſo it may be ſaid of the Beaſt, that he is not, and yet is: Becauſe he is not really that ancient Pagan Empire which was the Beaſt killed by the Introduction of pure Chriſtinity; but yet he is, in that is revived in the Empire's becoming again ſo Paganly Idolatrous, and ſo lively repreſenting the State thereof in the Dragon's time. Res enim dicitur exiſtere (ſaith à Lapide) cùm ejus Exemplar, Imago, Typus, aut Figura exiſtit.

exiſtit. And how lively an Image or Reſemblance this degenerate Empire is of that under the Dragon, I might here particularly diſplay, but I will rather defer it to the following Chapters. In the mean time this may ſuffice in general to prove the fifth Agreement of our ſecond Paralleliſm.

CHAP. XIV.

Ver. IX. What is the Meaning of σοφία, and that Siracides ſeems to allude to the Hebrew צפ'ה in his Deſcription thereof. 2. That Conſtantinople is alſo allowed to have ſeven Hills, and that it makes for the Proof of the eighth Agreement of the firſt Paralleliſm. Ver. X. That the making the ſeven Heads ſeven ſorts of Governours is no περιτολογία, but a natural and neceſſary Truth. 2. How naturally the different Succeſſions of the Supreme Powers of the Roman Empire fall into eight Parts. 3. The only true Reaſon why there are numbred Eight Kings, though but Seven Heads of the Beaſt. 4. That the dividing of the Emperors into Pagan, Chriſtian, and Pagano-chriſtian, is aimed at or ſuppoſed in the Enumeration of the Eight Kings, is an unexceptionable Truth. 5. That it is moſt credible that after the Sixth King no other Account of Diſtinction of the Supreme Power of the Empire was look'd upon by the Angel but what reſpected Religion. 6. A demonſtrative Inference from [One is] that there is an Ellipſis in, The Beaſt that thou ſaweſt, was, and is not, &c. 7. Why * ὁ ἄλλος ἦπω ἦλθεν, rather than ὁ ἕβδομος. Whence the laſt Subdiviſion is confirmed, and the tenth Agreement of the ſecond Paralleliſm made good. 8. The fourth Agreement of the ſecond Paralleliſm. Ver. XI. That the Deſcription of the Beaſt is his Name, and Part thereof uſed for the Whole, as in the Name of God; which farther confirms the above-mentioned Ellipſis. 2. The eaſie and genuin Meaning of καὶ αὐτὸς ὄγδοός ἐστι, καὶ ἐκ τῶν ἑπτά ἐστιν. 3. That the Meaning of [* The Beaſt that was, and is not, he is the eighth] is, that his Head is the eighth. 4. That the eighth King by an Henopœia may admit of more Cæſars than one reigning at a time, and why. 5. The ninth Agreement of the ſecond Paralleliſm. 6. The ſeventh Agreement. Ver. XII. The eleventh Agreement of the ſecond Paralleliſm. 2. The twelfth Agreement. 3. The Meaning of * ἐξουσίαν ὡς βασιλεῖς μίαν ὥραν λαμβάνουσι μετὰ τοῦ θηρίου. Ver. XIII. The thirteenth Agreement, together with the Meaning of *being of one Mind, and of giving their Strength and Power to the Beaſt. 2. That the Pope once emerged above the Emperor even in Secular Power may continue the Succeſſion of the ſeventh Head, there being nothing elſe intended thereby but the ſecular Pagano-Chriſtian Sovereignty of the Empire. Ver. XIV. The fourteenth Agreement of the ſecond Paralleliſm. 2. The fifteenth Agreement. 3. The ſixteenth Agreement of the ſecond Paralleliſm.

*Apocal. 17. 10.

* Verſe 11.

*Verſe 12.

*Verſe 13.

Ver. IX. AND here is the Mind that hath Wiſdom, ὧδε ὁ νοῦς ὁ ἔχων σοφίαν· In ſuch a Senſe as ὧδε ἡ σοφία ἐστὶν, ch. 13. 18. Here is Wiſdom, that is, Here is a ſpecial Arcanum, Here is recondite Wiſdom, or a Cabbaliſtical Parable. According as is intimated, Eccleſiaſtic. 6. 22. Σοφία καὶ κατὰ τὸ ὄνομα αὐτῆς ἐστι, καὶ ἐ πολλοῖς ἐστι φανερά· For Wiſdom is according to her Name, and is not manifeſt to the Vulgar. Where Siracides in all likelihood alludes to צפה, which ſignifies to cover over a thing and ſo conceal it, as if σοφία were derived from thence. And aſſuredly the Wiſdom of the Ancients was ſuch, had an outward Cruſt or Rind as well as an inward Pulp: And Diogenes ſhould have rather wrote thus of Parmenides, διττὸν τε εἶναι σοφίαν, (not φιλοσοφίαν) τὴν μὲν κατ' ἀλήθειαν, τὴν δὲ κατὰ δόξαν. That the ancient Sophia, which Siracides would have found like צפה, had a double Senſe, one according to external Appearance, the other according to an inward Truth. Wherefore as ὧδε ἡ σοφία ſignifies, Here is ſuch a kind of recondite Wiſdom as I have deſcribed; ſo ὧδε ὁ νοῦς ὁ ἔχων σοφίαν ſignifies, Here is a Meaning that implies a ſpecial Example of the Sophia, which uſed to hide great and concerning Truths under outward Hieroglyphicks and Types.

2. The ſeven Heads are ſeven Mountains on which the Woman ſitteth. That Old Rome is here indigitated by theſe ſeven Hills, Interpreters generally conſent; that City being ſo famouſly taken Notice of for them both by Hiſtorians and Poets. As by Dionyſius Halicarnaſſeus, Pliny, Plutarch; alſo by Varro, Tertullian, and others. By Poets, as Virgil, Horace, Ovid, Claudian, and the Sibylls. Which things being ſo well well known and obvious in Commentators upon the Apocalypſe, I think it needleſs to produce any Examples.

But there are that pleaſe themſelves in finding Records of Conſtantinople's being alſo noted for her ſeven Hills: which Biſhop Mountague does in his Appello Cæſarem; Part. 2. Ch. 5. where he ſaith, this City is called πόλις ἑπτάλοφος by Nicetas, Urbs Septicollis by Paulus Diacanus, and that it is ſo acknowledged by Janus Douſa, and by Mr. Richard Knolls in his Turkiſh Hiſtory. To which I will add what I find in Theatrum Urbium, That Scholarius Patriarch of Conſtantinople, in his Enarratio Vaticinii de Turcici Regni interitu, ſtyles the City ἑπτάλοφος. Dilichius alſo in his Deſcription of the City not only mentions the ſeven Hills, but tells alſo what magnificent Structures ſtand upon them. And laſtly, Ludovicus Gotofredus, Muri ejus (ſaith he ſpeaking of this City) ſunt incredibilis altitudinis, complectentes ambitu ſuo ſeptem Colles. So that though there be not ſo ancient and early Mention of the ſeven Hills of Byzantium or Conſtantinople as of thoſe of Rome, and that it may be probably conceived that upon the Emperor's Pleaſure of having the City called New Rome, they would alſo find ſeven Hills in it, (in Emulation of the old Imperial City) whether there were juſt Seven or no, I mean though there might be more than Seven, or if fewer, take occaſion to fancy one and the ſame Hill for ſome little Unevenneſſes in it to be more than one; yet I cannot well diſtruſt but that there is a tolerable ground for this Title: and being that it has obtained in the Writers of her Hiſtory, I will not gainſay but that ſhe may alſo go for Urbs Septicollis. Which will be no Inconvenience to our Interpretation, but a further Confirmation of our Expoſition of the Two-Horns of the Beaſt, which I conceive to be the two imperial Patriarchates, the Roman and Conſtantinopolitan: which ſhews the Extent of that Pſeudo-prophetick Beaſt, that it reached over the whole Empire, as well Oriental as Occidental.

And here we find the Seat of the Whore as broad; theſe Seven Hills not confining her, as is uſually conceived, to Old Rome, but permitting her to reſide alſo at New Rome or Conſtantinople, there being Seven Hills there as well as at the other Seat, but not ſo famous as thoſe other; as the Fame of her Whoredomes is not ſo great from the one as from the other. According to which Senſe Αἱ ἑπτὰ κεφαλαὶ ὄρη εἰσὶν ἑπτὰ, would be rendred Septem capita ſepteni ſunt montes, The ſeven Heads ſignifie the Septenaries of Mountains, the one at Rome, the other at Conſtantinople. From whence the eighth Agreement of our firſt Paralleliſm is cleared. Paral. 1. Agr. 8.

Ver. X. And they are ſeven Kings; that is, They ſignifie ſeven ſorts of Supreme Governours, which are here called Kings by a Dioriſmus or Hebraiſm, who underſtand by King and Kingdom any Body Politick with the ſupreme Power thereof, be it in one or in many. And theſe ſeven Sorts are not ſeven Individuals of different Sorts, but the whole Succeſſion of each ſort, by an uſual Henopœia. And that ſeven different Sorts of Governours may be called Seven Heads as well as ſeven individual Perſons, I think is demonſtrable by Reaſon, becauſe there is a greater Difference betwixt Kind and Kind, than betwixt Individuals of the ſame kind. Whence I wonder that Grotius ſhould call ſeven Forms of Government, taken concretely, (as every one does take them) περιτολογία. Whenas if there be ſuch a ſevenfold Difference in the ſupreme Powers in the Succeſſion of an Empire, the Empire once conſidered as a Beaſt, it will be ipſo facto Seven-headed whether we will or no. So far is it from being a περιτολογία, that it is a natural and inevitable Truth.

2. Now the Diviſion of the Succeſſion of the Supreme Powers of the Empire is made naturally thus. This Power was either in many or in one: In many, as in the Conſuls, the Tribuni Militum, the Decemviri; In one, as in the Kings, Dictators, and Emperors. Which Emperors I will again divide into Pagan, Chriſtian, and Pagano-Chriſtian. So that the whole Line of Succeſſion of theſe Supreme Powers is divided, firſt into two equal Parts, and then each of thoſe two ſubdivided into three, and then one Part of the ſecond Subdiviſion into three again. So that the whole Line does naturally fall into eight Parts, agreeably to the Hiſtory of things and Declaration of the Prophecy.

For there are plainly numbred Eight Kings, though but Seven Heads of the Beaſt. For under the Chriſtian Emperors the Empire was no Beaſt, and therefore there could be no Head thereof.

3. Nor know I any tolerable Solution of this Riddle of Eight Kings and yet but Seven Heads, but this. For the Shortneſs of the Stay of the Chriſtian Succeſſion cannot put them out of the Number of the Heads, ſince the Stay of the Decemviri was above fourty Times ſhorter. Wherefore it is not this but becauſe the Empire during their Succeſſion was not a Beaſt, nor they either fit or actual Heads of one; but were only Heads or Kings of the undegenerated and not-yet-again Paganizing Empire. Which therefore was the Time of the Death of the Beaſt, when he was not, and therefore was to have no Head, nor could have any.

4. Nor is there the leaſt Ground of any Cavil againſt our laſt Subdiviſion, which is of Emperors into Pagan, purely Chriſtian, and Pagano-Chriſtian, as if there were not a Cauſe fundamental enough of this laſt Diſtribution: Whenas on the contrary there is ſuch a ſtrong Oppoſition betwixt the two firſt Members thereof, that one outs the other, the ſeventh King being the Wounder and Killer of the Sixth Head. And foraſmuch as when a Religion is made the Religion of a Kingdom or Empire, it is in a ſort the Law of that Empire; it may be rationally conceived that there is even a Political Difference betwixt a Chriſtian and a Pagan Emperor. And, laſtly, be that how it will, it is plain to all Men that there is a very eminent and notorious Difference betwixt a Chriſtian and a Pagan Emperor, and of more Concernment to the Church of God than any Political Diſtinction of Government. And that which moſt concerns his Church, we may be aſſured God takes moſt Notice of; and therefore would be as likely to diſtinguiſh the Succeſſion of Supreme Governours by this Difference as by any.

5. Nay I think I may ſafely add, that it is likely, that when once the Angel had come to the Diviſion of the Heads or rather Kings into Chriſtian and Pagano-Chriſtian, he did wholly neglect the Conſideration of the Political Differences of Forms of Government in the Empire, that Notion being now impertinent to his Deſign, and contented himſelf with the Diſtinction of them from the Account of Religion only. But till this be numbred according to the Diſtinction of Political Form, they all of them till now agreeing in pure Paganiſm. So that the Senſe of [The Beaſt that was, and is not, his Head is the eighth King] ſeems to be this, That Supreme Power, be the Political Frame or Title of it what it will, which is over the Beaſt revived, that is, over the Empire idolatrizing again, all that Succeſſion, pitch upon it where you will, be it Pope, be it Emperor, is look'd upon as the Eighth King or laſt Head of the Beaſt. For this is that which this Viſion only concerns it ſelf in, and not uſeleſs Diſcriminations and Niceties. Which Suppoſition is agreeable to our third Rule of interpreting Prophecy.

And what was ſaid in the Behalf of the Diſtinction of the two firſt Members of my laſt Subdiviſion, is ſo eaſily applicable to the Laſt compared with the Second, that is to ſay, Pagano-Chriſtian with Chriſtian, that I need only advertiſe ſo much, and paſs to other things.

The Proof of the Truth of my firſt Subdiviſion into Conſules, Tribuni militum, Decemviri, Kings, and Dictators and Emperors, or Cæſars, I will defer till after I have finiſhed my Joint-Expoſition.

6. Five are fallen, one is. The five fallen in St. John's time were Kings, Conſuls, Dictators and Tribuni militum; the one that then was, was the continued Succeſſion of the Pagan Cæſars.

And here it will be ſeaſonable to note, That St. John ſo plainly aſſerting that one of the ſeven Heads of the Beaſt was alive and not ſlain as yet, when he had this Viſion, that the Beaſt it ſelf was ſtill alive and in being; and that therefore the Beaſt then was not come to the State of [was, and is not] do not ſignifie fixt or determined Exiſtence or Non-exiſtence, but only the Order or Succeſſion of them, accordingly as I have declared; and that conſequently there is ſuch an Elliphſis as I have ſuppoſed in [The Beaſt which thou ſaweſt, was, and is not] &c. So demonſtratively evident in every Point is our Interpretation. But I proceed.

7. And the other is not yet come. Ὁ ἄλλος ὔπω ἦλθεν. He does not ſay ὁ ἕβδομος ὔπω ἦλθεν, but ὁ ἄλλος· becauſe this Seventh is not of the Line properly of the Predeceſſors, they being all Pagans. And therefore he is called ὁ ἄλλος for that exceſſive Difference he had, or Diſtinction from them that went before, as if it were plainly ſpecifick; according as Porphyrius has defined, Ὅτι πᾶσα διαφορὰ προσγινομένη τινὶ ἐπεῖδον ποιεῖ, ἀλλ' αἱ μὲν κοινῶς τε καὶ ἰδίως ἀλλοῖον ποιοῦσιν, αἱ δὲ ἰδιώτατα, ἄλλο. And then he adds, αἱ μὲν οὖν ποιοῦσαι ἄλλο, εἰδοποιοὶ κέκληνται· Thoſe Differences that make a thing ἄλλο are called ſpecifick Differences, which are the greateſt Differences that can be. So juſt a Ground is there of our laſt Subdiviſion.

Par. 2. Apr. 16. Out of which is alſo diſcoverable that the Beaſt was wounded in the ſixth Head, For this ὁ ἄλλος being ſo perfectly oppoſite and contrary to him, outed him out of Being; it being impoſſible that the Head of the Empire ſhould be purely Chriſti- an and yet Pagan at once, Which is agreeable to what we have in the Thirteenth Chapter, where there are numbred Seven Heads of the Beaſt with the Inſcription of Blaſphemy upon them, that is, of Idolatry. Now there being but ſeven idolatrous Heads, whereof Five were gone in St. John's time, and the ſeventh and laſt appertained to the Beaſt reſtored, whoſe deadly Wound was healed, which is here called the Beaſt that was, and is not, and yet is; it neceſſarily falls to the Share of the ſixth Head there to be the wounded or ſlain Head, as it is the Head exterminated out of Being in this Seventeenth Chapter. From whence appears the tenth Agreement of our ſecond Paralleliſm.

an

8. And when he cometh, he muſt continue a ſhort ſpace. Short and Long are terms of Compariſon, and muſt reſpect ſome other term with which they are compared. And aſſuredly the neareſt and moſt freſhly mentioned is the moſt naturally glanced at, namely, the Duration of the Sixth Head or King: The Stay of this Seventh King will be ſhort in Compariſon of the Sixth. And that his Stay will be ſhort ſeems alſo to be prefigured in that Expreſſion in the Thirteenth Chapter, And his deadly Wound was healed. For though ἐσφαγμένη εἰς θάνατον implies him at length really dead, yet ἡ πληγὴ τοῦ θανάτου αὐτοῦ ἐθεραπεύθη, his deadly Wound was healed, ſeems to infer that his Stay in Death was not long, but more like a deep and profound Trance, or deadly Stound. For ſuch a Wound as tranſmits a Man into the State of Death for a long time is a Wound not to be cured; but this here is ſaid to be cured.

Wherefore this State of Death in this deadly-wounded Beaſt was but for a ſhort Space, as the Reign of ὁ ἄλλος is deſcribed to be; the one neceſſarily implying the other. For juſt ſo long as the Cæſars were purely Chriſtian did the Sixth Head that was ſlain (which were the idolatrous Cæſars) lie dead upon the Spot, and no longer. Which makes good the fourth Agreement of our ſecond Paralleliſm, That the time of the Death or Non-exiſtence of the Beaſt is not long in either Deſcription of his Fate. paral. 2. Agr. 4.

Ver. XI. And the Beaſt that was, and is not, even he is the Eighth, It is obſervable, that as in Exodus 3. after God had declared his Name to be I AM THAT I AM, afterwards he takes but Part of it, Thus ſhalt thou ſay unto the Children of Iſrael, I AM hath ſent me unto you; ſo here, whenas this Beaſt was thus defined, [Was, and is not, and ſhall aſcend out of the bottomleſs Pit and go into Perdition] and afterwards [Was, and is not, and yet is] yet here a ſhort Portion of the Title is made Uſe of, [The Beaſt that was, and is not.] Whereby I conceive is intimated (accordingly as I have above noted) that this Deſcription of him is look'd upon as his Name, ſo as ὢν καὶ ὁ ἦν καὶ ὁ ἐρχόμενος to be the Name of God: And that in all theſe Places there is an Elliptis or Defect of that Intimation. But is to be underſtood as firmly as if it had been thus ſupplied, v. 8. Θηρίον ὃ εἶδες ὀνομάζεται ἦν καὶ οὐκ ἔστι, &c. And in the ſame Verſe, βλέποντες τὸ θηρίον, ὅτι τὸ ὄνομα αὐτοῦ, ἦν καὶ οὐκ ἔστι καίπερ ἐστίν· and in this 11. Verſe, Καὶ τὸ θηρίον ᾧ τὸ ὄνομα αὐτοῦ, ἦν καὶ οὐκ ἔστι, &c.

2. Even he is the Eighth: So our Engliſh; but this Senſe is not ſo even and ſo adequate. The Greek has it, καὶ αὐτὸς ὄγδοός ἐστι, καὶ ἐκ τῶν ἑπτά ἐστιν· which is moſt eaſily and naturally rendred, Et ipſiſſimus ille octavus eſt, & tamen è ſeptem, or more briefly, Et ipſe octavus eſt, & de ſeptem: That this Beaſt that was, and is not, namely, his Head, (for it is manifeſtly a Synecdoche) is both the Eighth King, and alſo of the Seven, to wit, of thoſe ſeven Kings that are underſtood by the Heads of Blaſphemy or Idolatrous Heads.

Where it is remarkable with what Caution and Circumſpection Things are penned down in this holy and myſterious Book of the Apocalyps. For firſt, when he came to the Sixth Head, he did not ſay the Sixth is, but One is, to make way for the reckoning the next under the Name of ἄλλος, which is ſo ſignificant, as I have already noted, and ſo neceſſary an Expreſſion to ſet off the quite different Nature of him from all that went before, he not being properly of that kind of Line. For what Communion or Affinity had the pure Chriſtian Cæſars with the purely Pagan?

But now when he comes to this laſt Head, which I cannot avoid for Significancy to term Pagano-Chriſtian, (the whole Empire from Head to Foot being ſuppoſed ſuch) this King he thinks good to call the Eighth, becauſe he being derived from a double Line, takes in all Predeceſſors before him, as well Chriſtian as Pagan; and therefore reckoning here ὁ ἄλλος in the Succeſſion, from whom alſo he is derived, he is rightly called the Eighth King; and yet conſidering that he is a Paganizing or Idolatrizing Head as well as Chriſtian, he is ſaid to be one of the Seven, namely, of thoſe ſeven Kings that are noted by the ſeven blaſphemous Heads of the Beaſt, which are Seven, and no more. This, in my Apprehension, is the most easie and the most assured Sense that any can desire of any Place of Scripture.

3. Nor need we distrust it for the seeming Harshness of that Synecdoche by which the whole Beast is put for part, namely, the Head, the Speech being to be salved not only by this Figure, but confirmed by Example. As Dan. 2. 38. Thou art this Head of Gold: and yet this Head of Gold was a Type of the whole Kingdom of Babylon. Wherefore it is plain that the whole Head of Gold is put for some chief Part thereof. Also Dan. 4. 20, 22. The Tree which thou sawest, which grew and was strong, &c. It is thou, O King, that art grown and become strong, &c. Where notwithstanding that Tree was an Emblem of his whole Kingdom, and of the large Extent of the Dominion thereof. So that the King is here again called the Tree, whenas indeed he was but Part thereof, the Root, as βασιλεὺς is said to be βάσις λαῶν: and the stumping of the Tree to the Ground was a Figure to represent the cutting him off from his Kingdom for a Time. Besides all which it is not Sense without this Synecdoche; For how can any Head be truly and properly the whole Beast?

4. Wherefore the Eighth King is the Succession of the Christian Cæsars for that time wherein the Empire Paganizes, that is, Idolatrizes in Christianity. Which, though their Succession be long, and their Persons more than one at a Time in some Ages, yet by an Henopœia they are expressed under the Show of one single King. For the Division into Seven was not by Individuals, but by Difference of Kind, as I have above declared. And therefore the Eastern and Western Emperors reigning at once in the Empire, breaks no Squares in this Prophetick way of Computation, which reckons not by Individuals, but by Sorts and Successions contrived into one Individual Shape or Show. Which is the Reason there is no Mention of Succession of Persons, no more than Enumeration of Years in this Book of the Apocalyps, tho' it treat of things that fill the Period of almost two thousand Years, and that of this side of the Millennium.

Par. 2. Agr. 9. 5. And is of the Seven. This also intimates that the Seven Heads of the Beast are Idolatrous Heads, accordingly as they are declared Chap. 13. v. 1. Which is the Evidence of the ninth Agreement of our second Paralleliſm.

Par. 2. Agr. 7. 6. And goeth into Perdition, that is, into final Destruction, as is intimated also in the Thirteenth Chapter, v. 5. & 10. where his Time is ser 1260 Days, but then Death alotted him. It is the seventh Agreement of our second Paralleliſm, as I have noted already.

par. 2. Agr. 11. Ver. XII. And the Ten Horns which thou sawest are Ten Kings, which have received no Kingdom as yet, that is to say, in S. John's Time, who liv'd in the Reign of the Sixth Head, under which the Beast fought and was slain by Michael; in which Battel he is also represented with Seven Heads and Ten Horns, but no Crowns upon these Horns, their actual Coronation being not till the Seventh Head: And therefore, Which have received no Kingdom as yet, answers to that Type of the Horns without Crowns upon them: Which is the eleventh Agreement of our second Paralleliſm.

par. 2. Agr. 12. 2. But receive Power as Kings one Hour with the Beast; that is to say, with the Beast whose Name is [Was, and is not, and yet is,] which is the Beast considered under the Succession of the Seventh or last Head, the healed or revived Head from the mortal Blow it lay under: the Kings receive Power and are actually crowned Kings at the Time of this Beast's getting again into Being. And therefore this healed Beast his ten Horns are represented with ten Crowns on them, Chap. 13. 1. which answers exactly to this present Text, They receive Power as Kings one Hour with the Beast, and is a manifest Proof of the twelfth Agreement of our second Paralleliſm.

3. Ἀλλ' ἐξουσίαν ὡς βασιλεῖς μίαν ὥραν λαμβάνουσι μετὰ τοῦ θηρίου. The Meaning is, I conceive, But they are receiving Power about the same Hour with the Beast. For the present Tense may intimate a Productedness of the Action as being in fieri: nor does imply but that they may be receiving (though not in such a passive way as it does not involve with it some stout Effort of their own towards the getting of this Power; for λαλβάνειν ἀρχὴν and λαμβάνειν πόλιν have an higher Sense and more active than so) that they may be receiving, I say, this Royal Power for some time together, though some speed sooner than other some, but none long without their Booty. For so I would understand μίαν ὥραν by a Diorismus, that it does not signifie an Hour properly so called, but any short Space of Time the Measure of which Circumstances will make us the best to understand. Wherefore I would render render it, But they receive Power as Kings about the ſame time with the Beaſt: ſo as it is underſtood, Exod. 9. 18. Behold, to morrow about this time I will cauſe it to rain a very great Hail. The Greek has it, Ἰδὲ ἐγὼ βρέχω τὴν ὥραν ταύτην τὴν ὥραν ἄνυδρον χάλαζαν. And that ἐκείνην ὥραν will ſignify τὴν αὐτὴν ὥραν, is plain from Exod. 36. 9. and ſeveral other places of Scripture.

The Senſe therefore is this, That about what time the Beaſt ſhould revive, and be worſhipped, that is, obey'd, or, in plainer Engliſh, About what time the Empire ſhould relapſe again into Idolatry, and be a-reſuming the ancient Pagan Rites, tho' placing them upon Chriſtian Objects; about that very time ſhould the Empire be rending into Ten Kingdoms, or theſe Ten Kings be catching at and receiving Power as Kings, all of them appearing and ſucceeding in their Enterpriſes within a little from the firſt Degeneracy of the Empire into Pagan Idolatries and Superſtitions: which may be within the Space of fourty or fifty Years. See Mr. Mede's Diagram of the ten Kings.

Ver. XIII. Theſe have one Mind, and ſhall give their Strength and Power to the Beaſt. And therefore in the Thirteenth Chapter he is alſo adorned with this Gift, where he is deſcribed The Beaſt with ſeven Heads and ten Horns, and upon his Horns ten Crowns; which ſhews that even when they were actually Kings, they were voluntarily the Strength of this Beaſt. For what Strength in the Empire could have conſtrained them, they being the very Strength thereof? Whence appears the thirteenth Agreement of our ſecond Paralleliſm. Paral. 2. Agr. 13.

But the Senſe of this Verſe is briefly this: Theſe ten Kings ſhall be of one Mind, that is, of one Mind in Matters of Religion, ſhall be of the Religion of the Empire, that is to ſay, of the Pagano-Chriſtian Religion, whereby the Empire had again become a Beaſt; and ſhall give their Power and Strength unto this Beaſt, that is to ſay, ſhall be ready even by Force of Arms, if need be, or by what other Power or Authority they have, to maintain this Beaſt in its beaſtly, that is, in its Idolatrous Condition and Pagan-like Superſtitions: or elſe underſtanding all along a Synecdoche, ſhall give the Pagano-chriſtian Emperor (which is the Head of this Beaſt) the Aid or Afford him the Aſſiſtance of their Armies or Forces, if need ſhould ſo require, againſt all Oppoſers of this Pagano-chriſtianiſm. For the Emperor is look'd upon as the chief Champion and Generaliſſimo of all the Pagano-Chriſtian Forces. And though thoſe Kings be diſtinct and abſolute in their own Dominions, yet looking upon them as held together in one upon the Account of the Religion of the Empire, of which the Emperor is by place the chief Champion, theſe ten Kings may be conſidered as coming into a kind of Subordination unto him, and be conceived to be the Horns of this Head, I mean of this Generaliſſimo or Emperor of that Army which makes War with the Lamb. But that Power which influences All is the Whore that rides the Beaſt.

2. And truly when the Head of this Whore is once found to be ſo big as to out-top the Secular Head of the Empire, the Emperors themſelves, and both pretends to and makes uſe of that boaſted Jus utriuſque gladii; that is to ſay, So ſoon as the Pope is found to act the Cæſar as well as the Univerſal Patriarch, there is no Incongruity to allow him repreſented in two Places as well as he ſuſtains two Parts, and conceive him to be typifi'd as well in the laſt Head of the Beaſt as in the coſtly adorned Head of the Whore. But my way is more diſtinct and more compliable with Grotius his Opinion, who ſtands ſo ſtoutly for the Permanency of the Imperial Majeſty to this Day. And it ſeems alſo reaſonable to me to interpret Prophecy according to the Senſe and Phraſe of Hiſtory; Prophecy being nothing elſe but an Anticipative Hiſtory. And therefore the Series of Roman Emperors and Title of the Empire and the Body of the Empire continuing ſtill, (though much contracted) and being ſo look'd upon in Hiſtory, I ſhould think it is the moſt natural way to interpret according to the common acknowledged Phraſe and Senſe of the Hiſtorians.

But, as I ſaid, if the Pope be conceived to ſupply the Room of the Emperors, as ſoon, or as oft as he appears to out-top them even in Secular Power, and to prove the real Head of the Empire, acting the Cæſar as well as the Patriarch; that Interpretation alſo is very approvable and unexceptionable. For the Supreme Power of the Beaſt that was, and is not, is by the Angel look'd upon as one and the ſame Head, provided it be but all along the Head of that Beaſt that is Pagano-Chriſtian. For the Spirit of Prophecy takes no Notice of any uſeleſs Diſtinctions and Diſcriminations. Wherefore that Supreme Power that ſhall be found Pagano-Chriſtian is ſtill one Head in the Style of this Prophecy, as I have above noted. And that which is under it, though it were inveſted with the Title of Emperor, will fall under the Number of the Ten Horns after the Division of the Empire into many Kingdoms, Ten suppose at least, or thereabout. For I look upon the Number to signifie Symbolically rather than purely Arithmetically.

Par. 2. Agr. 14. Ver. XIV. These shall make War with the Lamb. What is said of these Ten Kings, is said of the Beast in the Thirteenth Chapter, That he should make War with the Saints; which is the same as to war with the Lamb. Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? And these Ten Kings being the Horns of the Beast, what is done by them is done by the Beast. So that the Beasts in both Chapters make War with the Saints, according to the fourteenth Agreement of our second Parallelism.

As for the 16 and 17 Verses of the Thirteenth Chapter, the Sense of them is; That no Man, of what Degree soever, that was not of the Pagano-Christian Profession, (for that is meant by receiving a Mark in the Hand or in the Fore-head) should have any Traffick or Commerce in the Empire or Territories of any of these Ten Kings, which is a kind of besieging them with Famine, and therefore not unfitly reckoned under the Hostilities of War. Which Interdiction of all Commerce and Traffick is an Effect of Excommunication by the Two-horned Beast. Examples of which Warfare are obvious every-where in History. Concerning the Name of the Beast and the Number of his Name, mentioned in those 16 and 17 Verses, I shall speak upon the last Verse of this present Chapter.

Par. 2. Agr. 15. 2. And the Lamb shall overcome them. According to that in the thirteenth Chapter, v. 10. He that leadeth into Captivity, shall go into Captivity. This fifteenth Agreement of our second Parallelism is very manifest.

Par. 2. Agr. 16. 3. And they that are with him are Called, and Chosen, and Faithful. Sutably to that in the thirteenth Chapter, v. 10. Here is the Patience and Faith of the Saints: The great Stress lies upon Chosen and Faithful, Patience and Faith: For many are called, but few are chosen. But those choice ones that are said to be with him are stout Soldiers that will follow the Lamb wheresoever he goes, never leave him for any Persecution whatsoever; but be Firm and Faithful unto him, be their Patience never so much exercised by Sufferings. In which is compris'd the sixteenth Agreement of our second Parallelism.

CHAP. XV.

Ver. XV. The seventh Agreement of the first Parallelism. Ver. XVI. The Folly of those Interpreters that understand the Burning of the Whore of the burning of the Houses of Rome by Fire. Ver. XVII. The Ten Kings giving their Power and Kingdom to the Beast according to the Will and Purpose of God, how stupendious an Arcanum. 2. In what sense God may be said to put it into their Hearts. 3. That it is rather Fate than Policy that has carried on the Affairs of the Whore prosperously hitherto, with an Admonition thereupon. 4. The Meaning of Untill the Words of God be fulfilled; with a further Admonition to the Apostatized Church. 5. The Eviction of the Truth of the seventeenth Agreement of the second Parallelism. Ver. XVIII. Why the Seat of the Whore is so determinately affixed at last to Old Rome in this Prophecy. 2, 3. A clear and confessed Evidence that Old Rome is here pointed at as the Seat of the Whore, with a short Paraphrase upon the Sense of the Verse. 4. That the Seat of the Two-horned Beast is also fixed to Old Rome; and of the Cabbalisticalness of the Apocalyps. 5. That the Numeral Name of the Beast is Λατεῖνος, and that it is so to be written, and not Λατῖνος, proved from the ancient Orthography of both the Greek and Latin Tongue. 6. That the ancient Latines, who usually sounded i as e Diphthong, pronounced their Vowels neareſt to the Greeks. 7. How exquisitely this Name Λατεῖνος answers to Events. 8. That the finding the Number 666 in other Names does not at all weaken the determinate Applicablility of this. 9. In what Sense 666 is called the Number of the Beast. 10. The Application of the Root thereof illustrated from the Cabbalistical Application of the Root of the Tetractys. 11. The last Agreement of the first Parallelism. 12. The last Agreement of the Second. 13. That the Vision of the Whore is more appropriate and peculiar to the Church of Rome. 14. Of the Inscription Mysterium on the Pope's Crown, and of a Woman-Pope.

Ver.

Ver. XV. THe Waters which thou ſaweſt where the Whore ſitteth, are Peoples and Multitudes, and Nations and Tongues. This Interpretation of Waters in reference to the deſcribing of the Extent of the Whore's Juriſdiction, does imply that it was very large: and if we compare it with what is in the Thirteenth Chapter, v. 7. it ſeems to indicate no leſs Compaſs than that of the whole Empire. For the Beaſt there is certainly the whole Empire, and it is ſaid of him, ὅτι ἐδόθη αὐτῷ ἐξουσία ἐπὶ πᾶσαν φυλὴν καὶ γλῶσσαν καὶ ἔθνος. Here is not indeed in this preſent Verſe πάντες λαοὶ καὶ ὄχλοι, &c. for the Angel here delivers a Precept of the Art of Interpreting of Prophecies, and therefore could not ſo well ſay that Waters ſignifie All, Peoples and Multitudes; but his heaping up ſo many Words more than in the fore-cited Verſe of the other Chapter, and that in the plural Number, ſeems to drive at as large Extent as the other. Which the Conſideration of his Calling theſe Peoples and Multitudes, and Nations and Tongues, πολὺ πολλὰ in the Beginning of this Prophecy (which ſeems to point at the whole Empire, as I have intimated above) does farther ratifie. To which you may add, that both Grotius and Alcazar underſtand the Meaning of the Place of the univerſal Extent of the Roman Empire. And à Lapide alſo, who gloſſes upon the Text; Aquæ quas vidiſti (ſaith he) ſignificant omnes gentes & populos quibus Roma imperabat.

But that the Two Horns of the ſecond Beaſt import the ſame thing, I have already noted, and whether this exerciſing all the Power of the firſt Beaſt before him may not as well reſpect Extent of Place as the Kinds of Power, I leave to further Diſquiſition. Enough already has been produced for the making good of the ſeventh Agreement of our firſt Paralleliſm. par. 1. Agr. 7.

Ver. XVI. And the Ten Horns which thou ſaweſt upon the Beaſt, theſe ſhall hate the Whore, and ſhall make her deſolate and naked, and ſhall eat her Fleſh, and burn her with Fire. To burn with Fire is a Dioriſmus, and ſignifies only to conſume and deſtroy, and to make to ceaſe to be what it was. What Execution alſo the making of her deſolate and naked, and eating of her Fleſh, does imply, I ſhall defer to declare till the laſt Part of our Diſcourſe.

In the mean time having ſo plainly diſcovered that this Whore is not a City built with Wood and Stone, but an Hierarchical Polity degenerated into a kind of idolatrous Paganiſm, the very ſame with the Two-horned Beaſt or Pſeudo-prophetick Body, I muſt confeſs I ſee no Neceſſity of any ſuch War as ſhould aim at the burning of the ancient City Rome, but that this Prophecy may be fulfilled without any ſuch material Noiſe, or Ruines, or Garments rowled in Blood. Which is a thing ſeriouſly to be conſidered for the Peace and Welfare of Chriſtendom. For the Hatred of theſe Ten Horns againſt the Whore, and their Perſecution of her, implys no ſuch raiſing of Forces, or marching in Battalia againſt Bulwarks and Walls and Houſes, and taking ſo long an Expedition as to Rome. For this City is larger than to be compriſed within the whole Confines of Italy. For it is a Pſeudo-prophetick Polity that has ſpread through the whole Territories of the Empire, a Water-Nymph whoſe Skirts are ſo large, that ſhe has ſate floting upon the whole Imperial Ocean for theſe many Ages; and therefore it is ſuch as neither the Puniſhment of Burning nor Drowning is competible to, in that craſs and literal Senſe as vulgarly is underſtood. But of theſe things in their more proper place.

Ver. XVII. For God hath put in their Hearts to fulfil his Will, and to agree and give their Kingdom unto the Beaſt. This ſeems to be the very ſame with the Thirteenth Verſe, Theſe have one Mind (μίαν γνώμην ἔχουσι, which anſwers to ποιῆσαι μίαν γνώμην here) and ſhall give their Power and Strength to the Beaſt. But that which is the moſt ſtupendious Arcanum, and not to be thought upon but with the greateſt Humility and Veneration, is, That God is here entitled to this Counſel and Joint-Purpoſe of theſe Kings; he is ſaid to put this into their Hearts, and it is called the Fulfilling of his Purpoſe or Counſel (τὴν γνώμην αὐτοῦ) to give their Kingdom to the Beaſt. Of which the eaſie Senſe is, to contribute their Kingdoms to make up this Ten-horned Beaſt; as the Children of Iſrael might be ſaid to contribute to the golden Calf.

2. This ſeems a wonderful Paſſage of Providence, which that of St. Paul Act. 17. will hardly come up to, where ſpeaking of the groſs Idolatries of the Pagans which reigned in the World ſo many Ages, And the times, ſaith he, of this Ignorance, God winked at, but now commandeth Men every where to repent. But God is ſaid here not to wink at any thing, but to put it into the Heart of theſe Kings, &c.

Wherefore it ſeems moſt like to that of hardening Pharaoh's Heart, that he might not let Iſrael go; or of the Jews crucifying our Saviour Chriſt, whom (Peter ſaith)

A. 2. 23. they took, and by wicked Hands crucified, and slew him, τῇ ὡρισμένῃ βουλῇ καὶ προγνώσει τοῦ θεοῦ ἐκδοτον, being exposed and given up to them (as it were) by the determinate Counsel and Foreknowledge of God. Wherefore it should seem that such invincible Circumstances and inviting Opportunities which God by his permissive or more positive Providence brings into the World, to try or rather discover what is in the Hearts of the wicked, and which he is well assured will naturally take Effect in those that are lapsed into this lower State, are look'd upon as Suggestions or Transmissions and Motions upon the Hearts of Men from God himself; and that by such a providential Frame of Affairs of his allowing at least, if not contriving, the Minds of Men are determinated to act thus or thus. And no other way than this need we understand touching Pharaoh's Heart being hardened by God, the grand Cause whereof was his permitting the Magicians to emulate, if not equalize, the Miracles of Moses for the most Part; for so the Text runs, And the Magicians did so with their Inchantments, and Pharaoh's Heart was hardened.

And it is as easie to conceive that it might be permitted to the Pseudo-prophetick Beast (by the officious Assistance of the Powers of Darkness) to do such Miracles and use such Ways of imposing upon the ten Kings as would certainly enough determine to the idolatrous Religion of the Empire. But that they were thus certain to be deceived, is the Fault of their own Lapse and of the after-consequences of it, not any Injustice in God.

3. But it is here seasonable to consider (lest that School of false Prophets sacrifice too much to their own Nets, and too lavishly applaud the Marvellous Pitch of their own Policy and the Policy of their Predecessors,) how the Romish Politicians have rowed in a Manner with the Stream, and how God has winked at the times of this Ignorance. But let them be assured that the Night is far spent, and the Day is at Hand wherein God will no longer wink, nor Men be so universally asleep, and in so deep a Sopor, but that they will be easily awakened by that Voice of St. Paul commanding all Men every where to repent, or, if you will, of John the Baptist, Repent, for the Kingdom of Heaven is at Hand. For there is no other Prevention of that dreadful and peremptory Judgment against the Great Whore, (who, being lulled in Security by long and fatal Successes, saith in her Heart, I sit as Queen, and am no Widow, and shall see no Sorrow) then by casting away her Idols, and by serving the living God. Otherwise the Stream of Fate and Providence will turn, and that Doom shall be fulfilled upon her in the most unwelcome Sense, Therefore shall her Plagues come in one Day, Death, and Mourning, and Famine: For strong is the Lord God that judgeth her. For her time of Prosperity is set, as is plain from what follows in this present Verse of this Seventeenth Chapter;

Apoc. 18. 7.

4. Until the Words of God be fulfilled. That is, These Ten Kingdoms, which were contributed to the Making up the Ten-horned Beast which was to be rid by the Whore and be at her Devotion, will be in this Subjection but such a Time as is decreed by God, and predicted by his Prophets. So long indeed they will be her Servants, ἄχει πλεσθῆ παρήμασα τῶ θεῶ, till the Words of God be fulfilled spoken by the Mouth of the Prophet Daniel, but no longer. For in Daniel 7. it is plainly said of the little Horn that there takes upon him to change Times and Laws, (that is, that makes what Festivals and Solemnities he pleases, and for his own Advantage appoints Laws institutes not only new, but grosly clashing with the known Laws of God) that they shall be given into his Hand for a Time and Times and half a Time. But then it presently follows, But the Judgment shall sit, and they shall take away his Dominion, to consume and destroy it to the End.

This 17th Verse therefore gives a Reason of the unexpected Hatred and Hostility of the Ten Horns against the Whore in the Foregoing Verse, namely, That their Kingdoms to the Beast (which is their professing of that idolatrous Religion they were intoxicated with by the Whore that rides the Beast) was to be but for a determinate time foretold by the Oracle of God; but that Period expiring, the Scene of things would fatally change, and the Doom of the little Horn or of the Great Whore would be executed upon them. And there is no kicking against the Pricks, as our Saviour told Saul out of Heaven. And I wish those whom it most concerns would believe the Voice, and so become of Persecutors the true Followers of Christ, and living Members of his Body, the truly Catholick and Apostolick Church, and would cease to be the Body of an Harlot.

Acts 6.

5. But we may observe from the Joint-Consideration of these two Verses together, That these ten Kings their giving their Kingdoms to the Beast, and their being in League with the Whore, is all one. For their being guided by this Whore makes the Empire Beaſt, by making it idolatrous. And for theſe ten Kingdoms, though their Kings be called the Horns of the Beaſt, (as the four Succeſſors of Alexander are called the four Horns of the Greek Empire divided into four Shares;) yet the Kingdoms themſelves may be look'd upon as the greateſt Share of the Body of the Beaſt, while they are at the Devotion of the Whore, and profeſs her Idolatrous Religion. Whence their flying upon the Harlot to conſume Her is, ipſo facto, the Diſſolving or Deſtroying the Beaſt, that is, the Making the Empire to ceaſe to be Idolatrous.

Wherefore it is plain that the Continuance of this Ten-horned Beaſt is ſaid to be determined by God in this Chapter as well as in the Thirteenth, where it is ſaid, that it is given unto him to continue forty two Months, which is plainly three Years and an half, the ſame that a Time and Times and half a Time. Whence the Truth of the ſeventeenth Agreement of our ſecond Paralleliſm is cleared. par. 2. Agr. 17.

Ver. XVIII. And the Woman which thou ſaweſt is that Great City which reigneth over the Kings of the Earth. The Adjection of this laſt Part of the Interpretation is of ſpecial Conſequence, and very anſwerable to the Event of things. For this Idolatrous Hierarchy having at laſt as magnificent a Seat in the Oriental Part of the Empire as the Occidental, and both theſe Imperial Patriarchates being in a Manner alike engaged and alike active, or at leaſt authorative in the Debauching of the Empire with Idolatrous Doctrines and Practices; the Seat of the Great Whore is not reſtrain'd neceſſarily to one Place more than another at firſt. But becauſe afterwards this Occidental Patriarchate did ſo much emerge above the other, and excede the other, not only in his Peremptorineſs and Activity in keeping up and propagating Idolatry, and is ſo ſoully beſmear'd, or rather has been ſo ſwiniſhly drunk with the Blood of the Witneſſes of Jeſus, but alſo beſides all this did acquire to himſelf the Right and Title of Univerſal Biſhop, and has for a long time laid Claim to and exerciſed this Power; (to ſay nothing of his high Inſultations over the Cæſarean Majeſty, and his uſurping as well his Rights, as wearing the Imperial Enſigns) I ſay, this Idolatrous Hierarchy growing ſo big in time in theſe Weſtern Parts of the Empire, and their Power ſhrivelling up or melting away ſo much in the Eaſtern, and not continuing in nor advancing to that groſs Meaſure of Antichriſtianiſm that is found in the other, the Spirit of God has accordingly more ſtrongly ſtamped the Mark of the Diſcovery on the Weſtern Hierarchy than on the Eaſtern; and becauſe that See lays Claim to an Univerſal Juriſdiction, has made Old Rome, I mean the whole Hierarchy whoſe Head is ſeated there, to be this Great Whore. For he ſaith, The Woman which thou ſaweſt is that Great City which [now reigneth] over the Kings of the Earth. For it is the preſent Tenſe, and ſpoken in St. John's time, when there was no ſeven-hilled City that reigned over the Kings of the Earth but Old Rome. And therefore of Neceſſity it is ſhe.

2. But beſides that ἡ ἔχουσα βασιλείαν ſignifies in the preſent Tenſe, and is all one as one ſhould ſay, quæ nunc regnat; it is farther obſervable, that if it were not determined to this Senſe it would rather be a Nugation, if a Man may ſpeak it with Reverence, than an Interpretation, and would be added to no Purpoſe, as being of a certain Sound, and not able to ſignifie to any thing but what was ſaid before. For in that ſhe is ſaid to whore with the Kings of the Earth, and to ride the Beaſt, and to ſit upon Peoples and Multitudes and Nations and Tongues, this already amounts to as much as the Reigning over the Kings of the Earth. Wherefore this Adjection muſt have this peculiar in it, that in ſaying ἡ ἔχουσα βασιλείαν, it implies that that City was meant that ruled the World in St. John's Time, and therefore is the Seven-hilled Rome.

But why do I go about ſo induſtriouſly to prove that which our very Adverſaries do not deny, as Ribera and Cornelius à Lapide, who both acknowledge Old Rome here meant, and Alcazar alſo and Bellarmine upon particular Evincement from this Verſe? The Words of Bellarmine are Neque enim alia Civitas eſt quæ Johannis tempore Imperium habuerit ſuper Reges terræ quàm Roma, & notiſſimum eſt ſupra ſeptem Montes Romam ædificatam eſſe. Which two things joined together is a Demonſtration that Rome in Italy here is meant, and no other City.

3. The Senſe therefore of the Verſe may clearly be delivered in this ſhort Paraphraſe. The Woman which thou ſaweſt riding on the Beaſt that was, and is not, and yet is, is that great City which now ruleth over the Kings of the Earth, that is to ſay, it is Rome, whoſe Inhabitants, though flowing ſucceſſively, are accounted one and the ſame City, becauſe included within the ſame Walls or Buildings; as that is accounted one and the ſame River that flows betwixt the ſame Banks, though the ſame Water does not continue for a Day together.

a

This Woman then which St. John ſaw riding the Empire under the laſt Head thereof, upon the Pretence of being the true Catholick and Apoſtolick Church, though indeed become an Apoſtatized Harlot, this Woman, I ſay, is that very City, that great City, that great Roman State or Polity that now rules over the Kings of the Earth, ſaith the Angel to St. John. But where and from whence could that be but from Rome the Imperial City? Whence it is evident, that the Roman Catholick Church (as ſhe calls herſelf) which rules the World from the Seven-hills, is to be underſtood, as being look'd upon as one and the ſame Woman; this new Roman Hierarchy ſucceeding and being ſeated as much in the ſame City, that is, as much within the Roman Walls, as that ancient Polity was.

Which is as eaſie to conceive, as if one ſhould Prophecy of a certain River that it ſhould run Blood three hundred Years hence, and then ſhould add that this River is that River that now diſcharges it ſelf with ſeven Mouths into the Mediterranean. For it is evident that this muſt be underſtood of the Waters of Nilus, and yet not of thoſe that flow now, but thoſe that ſhall flow three hundred Years hence. And as we would ſay, that this very River Nilus that runs now into the Mediterranean, is the River that will run tinctured with Blood three hundred Years hence, though the Water is not the ſame now and then nor of the ſame Quality: ſo might it be ſaid in St. John's Time, that that very City (meaning the Power or Polity there) which then ruled the World would ride the Beaſt that was, and is not, and yet is, ſo many Ages after, though the Polity be no more the ſame than the Water of Nilus now running is the ſame with the bloody Water which is foretold ſhould flow within his Banks three hundred Years hence.

So eaſie and natural is the Expreſſion of the Angel in this laſt Verſe, and ſo manifeſt the Determination of the Woman's Seat to Old Rome, accordingly as it has come to paſs.

4. And that the Viſion of the Two-horned Beaſt may keep perfect Pace with this of the Whore, for the ſame Reaſons which I have already here alledged, the Seat of the Two-horned Beaſt is likewiſe at laſt reſtrained to Rome, as the only See of the Univerſal Head of the Pſeudo-prophetick Body.

Which Reſtriction is diſcoverable as well by the numeral Name of the Beaſt, as by numbering that Number compriſed in his Name. The former Computation is obſerved by Biſhop Downham to be cavilled againſt by ſome as Cabbaliſtical. But he proves it plainly enough out of Irenæus, that this kind of Computation is Traditionary even from St. John himſelf: And though a many Pſeudo-Cabbaliſts have brought the very Name of Cabbala into a Suſpectedneſs, yet I muſt confeſs that I think the Fame thereof was not raiſed upon nothing, but that there was ſuch an hidden way of delivering the great Arcana of Knowledge, and that Part thereof was the Symbol of Numbers (which is frequent in this Book of the Apocalyps as well as continual in the firſt Chapter of Geneſis.) Not to take Notice that that very Expreſſion of Alpha and Omega ſeems to be Cabbaliſtical, there being frequent mention with them of Aleph lucidum and Aleph tenebroſum; concerning which Robert Flud, (who pleaſed himſelf in diving into theſe Depths ſo far as his Bucket would reach) Habetis, ſaith he, Aleph Cabbaliſtarum tenebroſum in lucidum converſum, omnia creans, cœlumque & terram informans, & conſequentur habetis Alpha & Omega Principium & Finem. This is anſwerable to that Verſe of Orpheus concerning God,

De Antichriſt. lib. 6. cap. 4.

Meteorolog. Coſmic. lib. 4. cap. 3.

Ἀρχὴν αὐτὸς ἔχων ἅμα καὶ μέσον ἠδὲ τελευτήν.

Which Plato calls τὸν παλαιὸν λόγον and I doubt not but was the Doctrine of the old Cabbaliſts, and in all likelihood hid in ſome ſuch Dreſs as this.

Grotius acknowledges the Phraſe of Alpha and Omega to be Rabbinical, and to be taken from their מאלף ועד תיו. And that which follows, * ὁ ὢν καὶ ὁ ἦν καὶ ὁ ἐρχόμενος, What is it but a Talmudiſtical Expoſition of אהיה or יהוה? and is peculiar to this Book of the Apocalyps. Wherefore if it be found to Cabbalize in other things, this Cabbaliſtical Computation of the Number of the Beaſt is rather the more credible for being Cabbaliſtical.

* Apocal. 1. 8.

5. Now by this Computation his Name is found to be Λατεινος. For the numeral Values of theſe Letters will amount to 666.

Λ A T E I N O Σ

30. 1. 300. 5. 10, 50. 70. 200.

Put theſe together, and they will make up juſt 666. Grotius excepts againſt the Orthography of Λαλεῖνος, as if it ſhould be writ Λαλῖνος. But beſides that Irenæus, a Greek Father, who ſhould know better than Grotius, or any one elſe now a-days, how they then wrote the Word, does poſitively affirm the Writing of it with ei in the very ſame place where he doubts whether Τειτὰν be ſo to be wrote, and at ſuch a time when he knew not whether it would ever prove applicable or no; Joſeph Scaliger gives it for a Rule, That the Greeks in Latin Words turn a long i before n into ei: as Σαβεῖνος, Ἀντωνεῖνος, Λαλεῖνος. And indeed the Latins themſelves wrote inſtead of i long, an ei diphthong. In Ennius there are infinite Examples thereof.

Poinei ſunt ſolitei ſos ſarcrificare puellos Diveis.

In the ſeventh Book of his Annals. And again in the ſame Book,

Quorum virtutei bellei fortuna pepercit,
Horundem me leibertatei parcere certum eſt.

I ſhall produce but one ſingle Verſe more, but which affords no leſs than five Examples at once;

Quàm preimùm Caſcei popolei tenuere Lateinei.

So little Ground is there for that Conceit of Grotius.

6. Nor can theſe Examples be excepted againſt for their Antiquity; becauſe the Ancient Latins pronounced the neareſt to the Greeks, as appears in thoſe Diphthongs of æ and œ and in y, which the After-Latins diſtinguiſhed not from i; but it was the Greeks ſhort u, and they had no other. And that the Greeks ſounded it like u, appears from ſeveral Words derived from that Tongue; as in Sus, Super, Fucus, Turba, Trutina, and the like, which are from the Greek ὗς, ὑπὲρ, φῦκος, τύρβη, τρυτάνη. Which Analogy Ennius keeps to, in that he ſays Olumpus and not Olympus, Cuclops and not Cyclops, Luchnus and not Lychnus; and pronounces œ, oi, and æ. ai:

——————————Adeſte, Annal. Lib. 1.
Muſai, quai pedibus magnum polſatis Olumpum.

And for that Example of Cuclops, it is in the ninth Book of his Annals;

Cuclopis venter velut olim turſerat, alti
Carnibus humaneis——————

And the third Example is alſo had in the ſame Place, ——Luchnorum lumina bis ſex.

For the pronouncing æ like oi, there has been one Example already in Poinei; to which you may add, Book 1.

Quamquam molta manus ad coilei coirola templa Tendebam lacrumans.

where there is alſo lacrumans for lacrymans, which is from the Greek δάκρυον by changing δ into l, as in Ulyſſes from Ὀδυσεύς. We have alſo had two Examples of ſounding æ like ai, in Muſai and quai; to which you may add out of the ſame Book,

——O gnata tibei ſunt anteferendai
Airomnai.

And

And infinite other Examples there are to the same Purpose: whereby it may appear that the ancient Latins pronounced more exactly according to the Mode of the Greeks than the latter Latins did; and that therefore it is most likely that the Greeks pronounced Latin Words according to the Mode of the ancient Latins; and that they saying Lateinus, and not Latinus, the Greeks without any more a-do spoke and wrote Λατεῖνος, and not Λατῖνος· and if Λατῖνος be found in Greek Authors, it is the unskilful Officiousness of some pragmatical Scribe or Critick that has depraved the Orthography of the Word. Of which Pragmaticalness there are innumerable Examples. But these are Subjects too trivial to insist upon.

7. Thus have we made good the Orthography of the Name. Now the Application is to Admiration fitted to the Two-horned Beast. For though at first he might wear his Horns somewhat equilibriously; yet the Eastern Horn being afterwards so out-topped by the other in every Respect, and shrinking into so small a Power, the Beast became at last solely in a Manner ὁ Λατεῖνος not Ῥωμαῖος. And it is well known that upon the Division of the Empire into Eastern and Western, the Greeks called the Western Churches the Latin Church, but called themselves Romans.

Wherefore whenas not only the Latins but the Greeks called themselves Romans, and their Emperours Imperatores Romani, their City also New Rome, and the Country about it Romania; the Latin Church, or Κλῆρος Λατεῖνος, is very particularly and discriminately aimed at and described by this Numeral Name of the Beast Λατεῖνος, the Event exactly agreeing with the Prophecy. For this Distinction of the Greek and Latine Church was so notorious and acknowledged, that in general Councils the Western Bishops were called the Latine Bishops, and the Subscriptions of them both were accordingly distinct under the Titles of Patrum Latinorum & Patrum Graecorum. Thus exquisitely does the Name of the Beast determine him to Rome and Italy.

8. Nor is it any thing to the Purpose to say there are several other Names wherein the Letters will make up 666. For that this of Λατεῖνος is notwithstanding the right, not only the Event shews, but the Connexion which the two-horned Beast has with the Beast that has seven Heads and ten Horns, which is undoubtedly the Roman Empire. Who therefore so fit to play these Pranks therein as this Latin Beast, as he is discovered to be, and doth so latinize in every thing; Mass, Prayers, Hymns, Litany, Canons, Decretals, Bulls, Councils, Bible, and every thing so in Latin, that it cannot seem a slight Cause that moved the Spirit of Prophecy to characterize him so particularly by this Name? I say, not every thing whose Name contains 666, in the Letters thereof, can be this Beast; but together with a Name containing this Number, all those things are said of the Two-horned Beast must be also applicable to what-ever any one will pitch upon for him. For no Man that minds what he saith will argue thus, This Person or Polity's Name comprises 666, therefore he is the Beast: but rather thus, This Person or Polity does or has done all those things that the Two-horned Beast is said to have done in Reference to the Roman Empire, and moreover his Name also comprehends 666; wherefore this is most assuredly the Beast. This is sound Reasoning, yea perfect Demonstration.

9. Hitherto we have but numbred the Number of the Beast in the Name of the Beast. But there is a farther Piece of Cabbalism in the Numbering the Number it self; whereby the chief Residence of the Beast will again be determinately detected, and the now Roman Catholick Church, so called, discovered to be chiefly aimed at in this Vision of the Two-horned Beast. Wherefore as in the ancient Cabbala Ten and the Number Thirty six are each called the Tetractys, (though more in a Cabbalistical Sense than a Geometrical or Arithmetical) the one arising from the Parts of Four put together, the other from the Addition of the four first fœminine and masculine Numbers: so is this Number of the Beast (though it be called his Number) rather the Power of that Number that detects the Beast than the Number it self.

For he could not say, ὧδε ἡ σοφία, and, Let him that hath Understanding count the Number of the Beast, if it were a mere Reading of the Number, or but summing the Numeral Letters of some Name. Therefore there is a greater Skill required to the Counting of the Number of the Beast than of the Number of his Name. And yet it is to be counted humano more, as it is intimated by [It is the Number of a Man] But there is no numbering of one Number given but by extracting of the Root.

10. Wherefore as the Square root of 36. may rightly be conceived to detect that famed Tetractys had a Relation to the Hexameron of Moses, and signified that every every Day's Creation had its Fæminine Principle as well as Maſculine, the firſt it ſelf not excepted, (which is conſonant to that Aphoriſm of the Jews, Nulla Virtus divina deſcendit ſine indumento, and to Moſes his aſſimilating the Firſt Day's Creation to Light:) ſo the ſquare-Root of this Number of the Beaſt may alſo detect to whom this Viſion of the Two-horned Beaſt doth belong. And I have already ſhewed in my Myſtery of Godlineſs, that the Root of this Number is 25, and that it does plainly agree with ſeveral ſubſtantial Obſervables concerning the Church of Rome and their City, and that in a perfect Ἀντισοιχία to 12, which is the Root of 144. the Number of the Regiments that appear with the Lamb on Mount Sion. Which things being ſufficiently cleared in the ſaid Treatiſe, and may be more copiouſly underſtood out of Mr Potter, I ſhall ſpare to ſpeake any thing farther of them in this Place, bnt wholly remit the Reader thither for Satisfaction. Book 5. Ch. 16. Sect. 8.

11. In the mean time I will not ſtick to conclude, that it is apparent partly from what I have delivered there, and partly from what is added in this Place, That the Seat as well of the Two-horned Beaſt as of the Whore is at laſt in their reſpective Viſions determined to Old Rome, as being the moſt permanent and conſpicuous Reſidence of the Apoſtatized Prieſthood, and ſuch as, by being ſo notorious an Inſtance of this Wickedneſs, becomes a Meaſure and Rule of comparing and judging of the Greatneſs of the Apoſtacy of other Churches by their nearer Acceſſion and Agreement to this Queen of Harlots. And therefore by intimating the Name, Number, and Seat of this chief Part of the Apoſtatized Clergy, it gives us the clear Knowledge and faſt Apprehenſions of the whole corrupted Body and all the Parts thereof, where-ever and how long ſoever they be found within the Boundaries of the Roman Empire. Par. 2. Agr. 9.

But when once they are ſwallowed up and waſhed off by ſome extraneous Power, and fall under the Juriſdiction of ſome other Empire, I muſt confeſs (though we may judge theſe too by this Meaſure) I do not ſee how they then can ſo well be concerned or aimed at in theſe two Prophecies, both the Two-horned Beaſt and the Whore being look'd upon as Riders and Guiders of the Beaſt with Seven Heads and ten Horns, and therefore ſuppoſed within the Roman Empire. Which is a plain Cauſe why theſe Prophecies have laid ſo faſt hold on the Church of Rome in the Concluſion of them, as if ſhe were in a Manner ſolely concerned. For it was fit ſo to do by Reaſon of her Permanency in Duration, as well as Eminency in Wickedneſs.

Which may be one Reaſon alſo why this Body of the adulterate Clergy is called the Beaſt with two Horns; becauſe all thoſe Patriarchates annumerated to the Greek Church were betimes ſwept away, a new Empire over-flowing them, whenas the Patriarchate of Conſtantinople was free from this Inundation till about two hundred Years ago. So faithful is the Spirit of Prophecy in the Prefiguration of Events; as he may eaſily ſee that pleaſes to conſult Hiſtory. In the mean time, as I ſaid, it is manifeſt enough that the Seat as well of the Whore as the Two-horned Beaſt in each Viſion is determined to Old Rome. Which is the laſt Agreement of our firſt Paralleliſm.

12. As the Laſt of our Second is, That the Seat of the ſeven-headed Beaſt is left free in either Viſion, and not fixt to any Metropolis. Indeed the Seven Heads of the Beaſt being alſo interpreted of the Seven Hills of Rome, it is apparent that the Beaſt has ſome Relation to that Place, and muſt have ſome Title or Denomination from that City, elſe why ſhould the Beaſt's Heads have any thing to do to typifie thoſe Seven Hills? But the Prophecy, as it were datâ operâ, declining the Fixing the Imperial Seat of the Seven-headed Beaſt, beſtows that Privilege on the Whore, aſſigns her the Seven-hilled Seat, ſaying, The ſeven Heads are ſeven Hills, where the Whore ſitteth. Which is admirably agreeable to the Event. For indeed Rome has been the conſtant See of the Whore, but the Seat of the Seven-headed Beaſt has been very changeable, ſome time at Rome, then at Conſtantinople, and laſt in Germany, Par. 2. Agr. 18.

13. And thus we have ſeen the exquiſite Congruity and Coincidence of all the Parts of the Viſions of theſe Thirteenth and Seventeenth Chapters one with another: which though they be ſo accurately correſpondent, yet I muſt confeſs not altogether ſo adequately, but that the Viſion of the Whore bears a more Preſs and cloſe Reſpect to the Church of Rome all along; and beſides the plain Deſignment of her Seat, which is common to both, her gorgeous Attire and Blood-thirſtineſs, or rather her being ſo laviſhly Blood-drunk, as ſhe is deſcribed, ſeems to appropriate the Viſion more peculiarly to her than the Greek Church. Which Drunkenneſs as well as Gor- geouſneſs of Apparrel, though it be not all along the Reign of the Whore, yet according to the Nature of theſe Prophetick Figures, which exhibit the whole Succeſſion of Affairs under one Joint Show, they were without any Diſcrimination to be repreſented at once.

Which Conſideration may take off any the like Scruple in theſe Prophetick Schemes and Repreſentations. For what was done but for a while adorns thoſe Images as much as what is permanent, there being no Mention of Succeſſion of time, but all repreſented at once.

14. And therefore, though that Inſcription [Myſterium] upon the Pope's Crown, which was queſtionleſs in Imitation of the Inſcription on Aaron's Mitre, (all his Veſtments and Ornaments being ſo induſtriouſly imitated in the Pontifical Habiliments) be now turned into Julius Pontifex Maximus; yet it is not the leſs probable that it was glanced at in this Deſcription of the Whore. The Truth of which Story Biſhop Dounham does aſſert with all imaginable Confidence.. Quod autem ait in fronte Meretricis ſcriptum fuiſſe Nomen [Myſterium] id in Romano Pontifice completum eſſe pro comperto habemus. Which Paſſage is ſo confeſſed a Truth, that Leſſius, in his Anſwer to King James, could not deny it. Wherefore as our Saviour Chriſt's uttering that firſt Verſe of the twenty ſecond Pſalm, My God, my God, why haſt thou forſaken me? intimated to the World that the whole Pſalm was a Prophecy of his Paſſion; ſo this firſt Word of the Name of the Whore of Babylon on the Papal Tiara was an Indication that the whole Name or Title belonged to the Pope with his Clergy, and that they are this Great Whore that has made drunk the Inhabitants of the Earth with the Cup of her Fornication.

De Antichriſto, lib. 1. cap. 7.

This Inſcription on the Pope's Crown, and the chuſing of a Woman-Pope, who (beſides other Feats) betray'd herſelf to be a Whore by falling into Labour in the Streets of Rome at a ſolemn Proceſſion, (and did therein by a palpable Hieroglyphick inſinuate to the World that Rome was indeed the Seat of that great Apocalyptick Strumpet) are two notorious Specimens of that Jocantry and Feſtivity, as I may ſo ſpeak, that is ſometimes obſervable in Divine Providence, anſwerable to that Ludibundneſs in Nature in her Gamaieu's and ſuch like ſportful and ludicrous Productions. And verily this Accident of a Woman-Pope is as aſſured a Truth as that of the Inſcription, if the Teſtimonies of above threeſcore Authors, and that of the Romiſh Party, may be thought ſufficient to aſſure it. All which are produced by Gabriel Powel in his Theological Diſputations De Antichriſto. But theſe things I was not haſty to interweave in my Expoſition of theſe Chapters, the Contexture of things being abundantly clear and full and firm without them.

Lib. 1. cap. 28. Theſ. 7.

CHAP. XVI.

1. What remains for the making up the fulleſt Aſſurance that can be deſired of the Truth of our Joint-Expoſition. 2. That the Roman State, from the Beginning to the End, is to be look'd upon as One Kingdom or Empire, appears out of Florus. 3. That there had been Five ſorts of Supreme Magiſtrates in St. John's Time in the Roman State, Reges, Conſules, Tribuni Conſulares, Decemviri, Dictatores: and that the Tribuni Plebis were no Supreme Power. 4. Nor the Tribuni Militum ſimply ſo ſtyled. 5. But that the Decemviri and Tribuni Conſulares were. 6. As alſo the Dictators. 7. That there had been no more than Five ſorts of Supreme Governours in St. John's Time; and that the Interreges were not, nor were at all reckoned by Hiſtorians, a Supreme Government diſtinct from that of Kings. 8. That the Triumviri Reipublicæ conſtituendæ was either a Scuffle and Confuſion in the Roman State; 9. Or elſe a formal Cæſareate exerciſed by Auguſtus, Lepidus and Antonius. 10. That there is full and ſufficient Ground from Reaſon and Hiſtory not to reckon the Triumvirate of conſtituting the Commonwealth a Sixth Form of Government diſtinct from Emperors and the Five foregoing Forms. 11. That though there had been ſome other Forms truly diſtinct, but yet of a near Affinity with ſome of the other, it had not been ſo harſh to have accounted them one with thoſe they had that Nearneſs with. 12. But that there is a greater Exactneſs than this in the Application of this Viſion, and ſuch as Scepticiſm it ſelf can hardly doubt of. 13. The Concluſion of the whole Drift of the Chapter, with a fuller Enforcement of the Truth thereof.

1. I Have now finiſhed my Joint-Expoſition of theſe 17th and 13th Chapters of the Apocalyps, ſaving that I am more fully to confirm that Part concerning the Seven Heads being ſeven ſorts of Supreme Governours ſucceeding one another in the Empire; as alſo more particularly to indigitate How exact an Image of the Beaſt that was ſlain the revived Beaſt became in Points of Superſtition and Idolatry. To which, if I add a ſolid Confutation of Ribera's Interpretation of the Seven-headed Beaſt, as alſo of Grotius his, I think there will be nothing wanting to the greateſt Aſſurance of the Truth of our Interpretation that any one can deſire.

2. In the firſt, the Controverſie is only concerning the Six firſt Heads, Whether from the Kings, to the Pagan Emperors, ſpeaking incluſively, there were Six Forms of Government, and no more: or, if you will, Whether there were juſt Five before the Roman Cæſars.

That the Roman Kingdom or Empire is to be reckoned from their firſt Kings downwards, I think no Man will ſcruple, nor that it is all along the ſame Beaſt, as well as Florus conſiders it as one Man, and diſtinguiſhes his Ages, alloting the firſt 250 Years from Romulus to the Infancy of the Roman People or Empire, and then 200 Years more to its Youth, and then 250 Years more, which reached to Auguſtus his Time, to the Manly Age of the Empire; but the next 200 Years he calls Seneſtutem Imperii. Which ſhews plainly that he looks upon the whole Succeſſion as one and the ſame Empire, though under ſeveral Growths; which yet was longer-lived a great deal than to be accounted Old in Trajan's Time. Wherefore Hiſtory it ſelf looking upon the whole Succeſſion of the Roman People as one Body Politick, there can be no Harſhneſs at all in deſcribing this Body by ſuch a Number of Heads as reached from the firſt Beginning of this Succeſſion to the laſt Period of the Empire.

3. Five whereof had paſſed away in St. John's Time, and no more nor no fewer than Five, as I come now to make good, namely, Kings, Conſuls, Tribunes, Decemviri and Dictators. For the People of Rome had never any other Supreme Powers over them but theſe, before their Cæſars; viz. Reges, Conſules, Tribuni Conſulares, Decemviri, Dictatores.

Of Kings and Conſuls there is no Controverſie at all. Now for theſe Tribuni Conſulares, they are ſo called, to diſtinguiſh them from the Tribuni Plebis, and the Tribuni Militum ordinarily ſo ſtyled, neither of which were the Supreme Powers of the Roman State or Empire. For the Tribuni Plebis were rather Plebis than Populi Romani Magiſtratus. And for thoſe few Years wherein they hindered the chuſing of other Magiſtrates, the City was look'd upon to have no Magiſtracy at all. Quatuor annis ſine Magiſtratibus Roma fuit, ſaith Sextus Rufus of that time. Which Condition of the City Diodorus Siculus alſo calls ἀναρχίαν. And that likewiſe of Marcus Varro in Gellius plainly ſhews that they could be no Supreme Power. In Magiſtratu habent alii Vocationem, alii Prenſionem, alii neutrum. Vocationem, ut Conſules & alii qui habent Imperium: Prenſionem, ut Tribuni Plebis & alii qui habent Viatorem: Neque Vocationem neque Prenſionem, ut Quæſtores & cæteri qui neque Lictorem habent neque Viatorem. Where it is plain that the Tribuni Plebis are reckoned amongſt them, qui non habent imperium, and therefore are no Supreme Powers.

A Gell. Noct. Attic. lib. 13. cap. 12.

4. No more are the Tribuni Militum ſimply ſo ſtyled, as appears out of that of Livy: Diſciplinâ enim militari, miles Centurionis, Centurio Tribuni, Tribunus Legati, Legatus Conſulis paret imperio. But the Tribuni Militum Conſulari poteſtate are thoſe Tribuni Conſulares which I have already named. Of which Feneſtella, Penes quem ſanè Magiſtratum (ut ipſum nomen indicat) eadem quæ apud Conſules poteſtas erat collata eſt, nominibus tantùm immutatis, ac Plebis ratione haberi cæptâ.

Liv. lib. 8.

De Magiſtr. Roman. c. 16.

5. That the Decemviri was a Supreme Power, is plain out of Livy. Anno trecenteſimo altero quàm condita Roma erat, iterum mutatur forma Civitatis ab Conſulibus ad Decemviros, quemadmodum ab Regibus antè ad Conſules venerat, tranſlato imperio. As alſo out of Sextus Rufus. Quadraginta enim novem annis Romæ Conſules defuerunt: ſub Decemviris, duobus; ſub Tribunis militum, quadraginta tribus; ſine Magiſtratibus Roma fuit annis quatuor. So Rufus in his Breviarium, Where a late Edition has moſt groſly corrupted the Text, reading for Quadraginta enim novem annis, Novem enim annis, and after, tribus, for quadraginta tribus; forgetting that the Hiſtorian had ſaid a little before, that the People of Rome were under Conſuls four hundred ſixty ſeven Years, namely, from Brutus and Poplicola to Panſa and Hirtius, but that he reckons within this Space but four hundred and ſeventeen Conſuls. How then can nine Years make up the Difference? But this only by the Bye. From hence it plainly appears that the Supremacy of theſe Tribuni militum as well as of the Decemviri is avowed by this Author; the Conſular Power ceaſing in their Time. And as for the Shortneſs of the Reign of the Decemviri, who continued but two Years, it can no more put them out of the Catalogue of theſe Forms of Government, than Otho's reigning but three Months can put him out of the Catalogue of the Roman Emperors.

Liv. lib. 3.

De Mag. Rom. cap. 8.

6. And laſtly, that the Dictators were a Supreme Power is not doubted, but is plainly affirmed by Feneſtella. Ea ſumma quidem apud Romanos poteſtas fuit, à qua nec provocandi jus fuiſſe, & animadverſionem in capite cujuſcunque civis Romani, totiúſque Reipublicæ ſummam ditionem penes ipſam habuiſſe, veterum ſcripta teſtantur. Nor does the Conſuls remaining while the Dictator is in Power make any thing againſt us; for there were Conſuls alſo during the Reign of the Emperors, But while the Dictator was in being, the Conſuls were not the Supreme Head of the Roman State, nay had leſs to do than under the Emperors. And though this Power was not to continue long, yet upon the Exigencies of Affairs it was often repeated. Sylla continued in the Office three Years together, and Julius Cæſar Ten: But ſtrait after was committed to him a perpetual Dictatorſhip joined with the Title of Emperor, in which Auguſtus and the reſt of the Emperors ſucceeded him.

7. Thus are we aſſured that there were Five ſorts of Supreme Governours before St. John's Time in the Roman State or Empire. And that there were no more than Five, I think we may be eaſily perſwaded, when they can bring no other into Competition but the Interreges and Triumviri Reipublicæ conſtituendæ, which Grotius urges. For it is evident that the Interreges are neceſſarily reducible to the Regal Power, being but a vicarious Appendage thereto, and not a diſtinct Species of Supreme Power it ſelf, nor ſo reckoned by Hiſtorians. For Meſſala Corvinus in his Book De Auguſti Progenie mentions only Reges, Conſules, Dictatores, Tribunos militares, Tribunos Plebis, till the Time of the Cæſars, omitting the Interreges and thoſe Triumviri which Grotius puts in for: only he is miſtaken in making the Tribuni Plebis a Supreme Magiſtrate, as appears from what has been above ſaid thereof. Livy alſo leaves out the Interreges in his Enumeration of the Roman Forms of Government. Quæ ab condita urbe Roma ad captam eandem urbem Romani ſub Regibus primùm, Conſulibus deinde, ac Dictatoribus, Decemviriſque ac Tribunis Conſularibus geſſere, foris bella, domi ſeditiones, quinque libris expoſui. Where the Five Forms we contend for are diſtinctly enumerated, but no Mention of any Interreges, (no more than of the Proconſuls) they being but as it were Viceroys, and a ſudden and tranſitory Supply of Vacancy deſtin'd to be fitted up by a timely Choice of a perfect and permanent King. But while they were, they are ſaid præfuiſſe cum Regia poteſtate & inſignibus.

Liv. lib. 6.

*

ſignibus. So plain is it that the Reges and Interreges are but one Regia Poteſtas, and therefore rightly typifi'd by one Head of the Beaſt, not by two.

8. And for the Triumviri Reipublicæ conſtituendæ, Tacitus, who of ſet Purpoſe in the Beginning of his Annals reckons up all the Forms of Supreme Power in the Roman State, declines the Mentioning of any ſuch Triumvirate: Urbem Romam à Principio Reges habuere, (no Mention of Interreges;) Libertatem & Conſulatum L. Brutus inſtituit; Dictaturæ ad tempus ſumebantur; neque Decemviralis poteſtas ultra Biennium, neque Tribunorum militum Conſulare jus diu valuit. Which Manner of Speech implies that he would not leave out any of the Forms of Supreme Government, though of never ſo ſhort a Continuance, if ſufficiently diſtinct from others. But now when he falls upon thoſe times wherein this Triumviratus Reipublicæ conſtituendæ was to be noted, he runs over it as not to be taken Notice of, going on only in this Manner, Non Cinnæ, non Sullæ longa Dominatio, & Pompeii Craſſique potentia citò in Cæſarem, (which Cinna was only Conſul, Sulla firſt Conſul and then Dictator, and Pompey and Craſſus Conſuls or Proconſuls and no more.) But now where is the very Nick of naming this Triumviratus Reipublicæ conſtituendæ, he only adds, Lepidi atque Antonii arma in Auguſtum ceſſere, qui cuncta diſcordiis civilibus feſſa nomine Principis ſub Imperium cepit.

Wherefore according to this Deſcription of things, this pretended Triumvirate is no Supreme Magiſtracy, but a political Scuffle or Scamble or tranſient Shuffle betwixt theſe three Men, Octavius, Antony and Lepidus. And though they called themſelves Triumviros Reipublicæ conſtituendæ, it was but for a Blind to the People; nor had they any Legitimate Creation to that Office, unleſs Octavius be ſuppoſed to be Emperour, and they to be appointed or admitted by him into a Participation of his Imperial Power. And then it is plain that this is only a Part of the Sixth Head which was in being in St. John's time. Otherwiſe it is but a Momentany Uſurpation and Confuſion in the Common-wealth, no legitimate Magiſtracy at all.

And therefore Feneſtella, though he firſt ſpeaks doubtfully of this Triumvirate, Utrùm Poteſtatibus annumerandum cenſuerim haud ſatìs ſcio; yet preſently he recovers himſelf, and ſpeaks more definitively, Quippe quòd eas Poteſtates quas injuſſu prætèrque Senatûs authoritatem quiſque, non dicam ſortitus fuerit, ſed per libidinem dominandi arripuerit, Tyrannides potiùs quàm poteſtates ſeu Magiſtratus appellandos duxerim. And at the End of the ſame Chapter, he again ſmartly taxes the Pretence of this Power, and makes it no legitimate Magiſtracy: Igitur Tyrannidem prætextu Magiſtratûs palliare pergentes, ſeſe Triumviros Reipublicæ conſttuendæ appellavere; quorum nutu & auſpiciis omnis Reſpublica niteretur. Cæterùm eorum animos, quorſum inclinarent, mox ipſe eventus rerum oſtendit, omnes res ſimul divinas humanáſque commiſcens. Wherefore things being thus underſtood, ſuch a tranſient Scamble as this can be no legitimate Form of Government, but the preſent Confuſion of the Roman State, let theſe Uſurpers call themſelves what they will, or what-ever others out of Fear or Courtſhip might call them. De Magiſt. Rom, cap. 22.

9. But if we take this Affair by the other Ear, and will look upon Octavius Auguſtus as he was Heir to Julius Cæſar, in whom was the ſupreme Power of the Empire, and alſo as upon one to whom the Senate had given a Precedency before the Conſuls themſelves, and a Power unbounded by Law, inſomuch that he might rationally be deemed the Prince of the Common-wealth; and that only upon Deſign he invited and permitted Antony and Lepidus to partake of his Principate, for the better ſuppreſſing of Brutus and Caſſius, and then of his Partners one by the other: theſe Triumviri will be found really three Emperours, (as there have been two, and three, and four at a time in other Occurrences of Affairs of the Empire, as is well known to any one that knows any thing in Hiſtory) and not any Species of Government diſtinct from the Sixth Kind, which is that of the Emperours.

For they being three Generals of the Imperial Forces, Antony of the Eaſtern, Octavius of the Weſtern, and Lepidus of the African, and of Power unaccountable or unſubordinate to any other Magiſtracy, what were they indeed but three Emperours at once, in that Notion that the Roman Monarchs were after called Emperours? And accordingly in Hiſtory Auguſtus is reckoned to have reigned as Emperour from the Deceaſe of his Father Julius. To which Senſe Suetonius ſpeaks, Atque ab eo tempore exercitibus comparatis, primùm cum Marco Antonio Marcóque Lepido, dein tantùm cum Antonio per duodecim ferè annos, noviſſimè per quatuor & quadraginta ſolus Rempublicam tenuit. Upon which Nauclerus thus comments, Regnavit annis quinquaginta ſex, duodecim cum Antonio & Lepido, ſolus verò quadraginta quatuor. And Chronologers as well of the Pontifician as Proteſtant Party fix the Beginning of his Reign ab U. C. Anno 710.

10. Wherefore theſe Triumviri Reipublicæ conſtituendæ being either no Magiſtracy at all of the Roman State, or coincident with that of their Emperors; and being alſo declined in the Enumeration of the Forms of Government by the Roman Hiſtorians, or elſe acknowledged of the Line of the Sixth Head, that is to ſay, of the Order of Emperors; it is plain that there was ſufficient, if not a neceſſary, Ground of not reckoning this Triumvirate amongſt the Heads that had paſſed in St. John's Time; and that therefore the Truth of Hiſtory agrees exactly with the Viſion that ſaith, Five are fallen, not Six, nor Seven. For no Hiſtorians reckon otherwiſe; and, What can be more ſatisfactory, than that Prophecy ſpeaks in the very Language of Hiſtory? Or what Harſhneſs or Indecorum is it to conceive the Viſion to number only ſo many diſtinct Heads as are plainly and confeſſedly both Heads and diſtinct, and are taken notice of up and down in Hiſtory for the remarkable Governments of the Roman State, whenas thoſe that are omitted in the Viſion are alſo pretermitted in Hiſtorical Narrations, as either not agreed upon for diſtinct Heads, or diſclaimed to be ſo?

11. And truly if there had been any other Forms of Government that might have ſeemed to diſturb this ſolemn Number of Seven, provided they had had a very near Affinity with ſome or other of the chief Seven, they might have been reckoned as one with ſuch as they had ſo near Agreement to, and ſo the Beaſt be ſtill Seven-headed, as Nilus Seven-mouthed, thoſe diſtinct Rivolets that flow near the main Streams of this Septemfluous River being reckoned as one with thoſe principal ones, and Nilus never the leſs celebrated by the Epithets of ἑπτάπορος or ἑπτάστομος up and down in Authentick Writers. Which Liberty had been very tolerable, nay indeed unexceptionable, in thoſe Five Heads that already had paſſed, the Account for the future, on which all the Weight lies, being ſo certainly fixed in the Sixth, whoſe Courſe was in the Apoſtle's Time, that it could breed no Diſorder nor Confuſion.

12. And yet we find a greater Exactneſs than ſo. Whence it is manifeſt that we have the greateſt Aſſurance we can deſire of the true Senſe of this Viſion as to this Point: foraſmuch as we have above demonſtrated that the Seven Heads of the Beaſt muſt be ſo underſtood as may reach through the whole Succeſſion of Heads from the Beginning to the End, and therefore muſt be the ſeveral Succeſſions of ſo many Sorts of Supreme Governours, not Seven ſingle Perſons; and then find alſo de facto that Five of theſe Succeſſions do ſo exquiſitely fit the Number of thoſe Five Forms of Government, which, according to Hiſtory, were paſt in St. John's Time, and that the Sixth Government in Succeſſion, which is that of the Pagan Emperors, was that very Head then in Being. Which things fall out ſo accurately, that a Man would think that Scepticiſm it ſelf could ſcarce refrain giving Aſſent to ſo plain a Truth.

13. We have therefore made good that there are juſt Six ſorts of Supreme Powers from the Beginning of the Roman Kingdom to the Apoſtle's Time, namely, Regal, Conſular, Tribunitial, Decemviral, Dictatorial, and Imperatorial. For that of the Interreges was a Regal Power, (if conſiderable at all) and therefore does naturally fall under the Type of one ſingle Head; as that alſo of the Triumviri of conſtituting the Common-wealth (if it was not a State of War and Confuſion) was alſo an Imperatorial Power, though diſguiſed under that other Name, and therefore falls under the Sixth Head: as muſt needs ſeem very eaſie and natural to him that conſiders how Collective and Henopoetical, as I may ſo ſpeak, the Prophetick Types are. The Conſideration of the Collectiveneſs and Unitiveneſs of which Types on the one ſide, and of the expreſs and explicit Enumeration, in Hiſtory, of Five diſtinct ſorts of Government before the Emperors, on the other ſide, muſt neceſſarily caſt a Man into an unſhaken Security that the Spirit of Prophecy would reckon neither more nor fewer Kinds of Governours before the Emperors than Five. Which Point being cleared, I paſs to the ſecond; which is, the more fully declaring how fitly and rightly that degenerate Eſtate of the Empire which is prefigured by the Beaſt that was, and is not, and yet is, is alſo ſtyled the Image of the Beaſt.

CHAP.

CHAP. XVII.

1. That a Relapſe of the Empire into Idolatry in general were ſufficient to make it the Image of the old Pagan Empire, and yet that the Reſemblance is more exquiſite and particular. 2. That there was an intended Imitation of the Pagan Rites in the Church degenerating. 3. The Pope compared with the Pagan Cæſars, and his Cardinals with the Roman Senate. 4. The Tutelar Saints compared with their Tutelar Deities; as alſo of adoring of what they eat. 5. The minute Multiplication of the Pagan Deities compared with and found to be out-gone by this Pagano-Chriſtian Church in the Preſidents of Phyſick and Rural Affairs; 6. As alſo in the Preſidents of Trades or Courſes of Living. 7. The Saints and Heathen Deities compared in their Offices, and how punctually they have ſurrogated the bleſſed Virgin into the Place of Venus and the Moon. 8. Moſt lively Lineaments of Reſtored Paganiſm in dedicating the Pantheon to the Virgin and all the Saints; as alſo the Seven Hills to ſeven ſeveral Saints: in erecting Altars and Images thereon; in adorning theſe Images; in appointing Feſtivals; in Adoration and Prayers; in Oblation of Wax-candles and Incenſe; in carrying their Images in Proceſſion, and hiding them in Lent. 9. In Vows, Oaths, Deifying dead Men, Pilgrimages, Miraculous Cures, with the Monuments of them hung up in the Temples. 10. In Aſperſions and Purifications by Holy Water. 11. In the driving away the Devil by the Jangling of baptized Bells. 12. In their Jubilees and general Manner of celebrating their Feſtivals. 13. In Fetching in May; in running about the Field with light Torches in their Hands; in ſprinkling their Beaſts with Holy Waters by the Friers of St. Antony; in leaping over St. John's Fires; in Baptiſmal Spittle; in their Maſter of Miſrule at Chriſtmas; in their Carnavals and other Feſtivals. 14. That the Image of the Beaſt is alſo in ſome Sort revived in their Funerals. 15. But more conſiderably in their Religious Fraternities under this or that Saint. 16. As alſo in their ſhorn Crowns, in their Vows of Virginity, and in their Ninevites or Flagellants. 17. In their Pretence of bringing down Chriſt bodily and perſonally at the Maſs. 18, 19. As alſo in their more pompous Proceſſions. 20. The great Uſefulneſs of the Obſervation of the punctual Correſpondency of the Events hitherto to the Predictions touching the State of the Church. 21. His Amazement and Aſtoniſhment at Grotius, that he ſhould decline ſo clear and eaſie a Meaning of the Image of the Beaſt, and take up with one ſo impoſſible and ſo unprofitable.

1. I Muſt confeſs that the mere Changing of the Empire into a Superſtitious and Idolatrous Condition again, though there were not either any Study of, or heedleſs Coincidence with, the particular Modes of that Idolatry and Superſtition that was before, yet for the general Agreement therein the Empire thus relapſed might be rightly ſaid to be the Image of the former State thereof. And ſince there is a more particular Reſemblance even to Affectation, or elſe by a ſtrange Fatality, it will not be amiſs to note ſome few of thoſe many Inſtances that occur, for the greater Light and fuller Aſſurance that by the Image of the Beaſt is underſtood this idolatrous and Paganly-ſuperſtitious Relapſe.

2. And truly that this Image was not made by Chance, but by Imitation, has been already obſerved even by them that lived in the Roman Church, and who in ſome Sort juſtified it: as Polydore Virgil in his Proœme to his five Books De Rerum Inventoribus; where he ſays that the Fathers did receive their Rites and Ceremonies from the Pagans; ſed in bona illorum parte recipienda piè ac cum cauſa feciſſe, quippe qui gentes etiam barbaras ad veræ pietatis cultum ducere aventes, arbitrati ſunt humanitatis condimentis tractandas, cùm earum inſtituta haud prorſus horruerint nec ſuſtulerint, ſed meliora fecerint, què nè ullum religionis periculum crearetur, &c. Where he ſeems to ſpeak the Senſe of Gregory the Great in his Epiſtle to Mellitus; where he would have the Offerings to Dæmons rather changed than aboliſhed, and that the Feaſts of the Gods ſhould be turned into the Celebration of the Feſtivals of the Saints; the Repoſitory of whoſe Reliques he would (after the Manner of the Pagans) have adorned with Leaves and Boughs of Trees at the Days dedicated to their Name. And Theodoret bluntly confeſſes, That the Feſtivals of St. Peter, St. Paul, St. Marcellus, St. Thomas, &c. ſucceed in the Room of the Diouyſia, Diaſia, Pandia, and other Solemnities of the Pagans, Which ſhews a timely Affectation of reviving the ſlain Beaſt, in every Limb and Proportion.

Lib. 9. Epiſt. 71.

De Curandis Græc. Affect. Sermon 8.

And laſtly, Durandus takes ſo little Shame at the Imitation of the Heatheniſh Cuſtoms, that he is not content to compare their Dedication of Churches with the Temple of the Jews, but immediately adds the Example of the Dedication of that Babyloniſh Image in Daniel, Nabuchodonoſor etiam Rex vocavit omnes Satrapas & Optimates ad Dedicationem Statuæ aureæ quam fecerat. Which had been more fit to mention in the Conſecration of Images. But not to trouble our ſelves with their Profeſſions, the Effect will declare their Propenſion to the ancient Heatheniſh Rites and Cuſtoms; as I ſhall make plain by ſeveral brief Inſtances.

3. As, firſt, in thoſe Divine Honours which I have above intimated that the Pope does affect and accept, as alſo the kiſſing of his Feet; What are theſe but an Imitation of the Pagan Cæſars, who received Divine Honours even before they were dead? And how much leſs Idolatrouſly does Dominus Deus noſter Papa ſound concerning the Biſhop of Rome, than Edictum Domini Deique noſtri of the Roman Emperor Domitian? Of whom alſo Lampridius and Aurelius Victor teſtifie that Affectation, Paſſus eſt adorari ſe appellarique utì Deum: whom therefore the Pope does very lively imitate; who alſo from Diocletian and other Emperors did learn the holding out his Foot to kiſs. And as Numa conſtituted Martius the Son of Marcus (whom he made Pontifex Maximus) judicem ac arbitrum rerum æquè divinarum ut humanarum, as Feſtus relates; ſo the Pope, upon the Pretence of his Univerſal Pontificate, claims a Right to both Swords, and will be Cæſar as well as Biſhop, as the Roman Cæſars before him were as well Pontifices Maximi as Emperors. Which are lively Strokes in the Revival of the Image of the Beaſt.

To which you may farther add his Senate of purpurate Cardinals, anſwering to the purpurate Senators which the Emperors had in their Government; and the Power of Canonizing Saints reſiding in theſe Cardinals with the Pope, anſwering to that of the Senate of Rome, in whom was the Right of Apotheoſis, or of enrolling deceaſed Men in the Number of the Gods, appointing them Temples, Altars, Statues, Feſtivals, as the Pope and Cardinals do to the deceaſed Saints that have deſerved well of the Church of Rome. See Polydore Virgil de Rerum Inventoribus, where he affirms that this was an Imitation of the old Roman Cuſtom with all imaginable Aſſurance. Hujus rei rationem noſtri Pontifices ſecuti non dubitanter videri poſſunt.

Polydor. lib. 6. cap. 8.

4. Again, as the old Pagans had their Tutelar Deities of Kingdoms and Provinces and Cities,

Dii quibus imperium hoc ſteterat------

(And I have already noted how they uſed to call out thoſe Tutelar Gods of Cities by a certain Charm) ſo the Roman Church has her Tutelar Saints, exactly anſwering to thoſe Pagan Deities; St. George for England, St. Andrew for Scotland, St. Patrick for Ireland, St. James for Spain, St. Michael for France, St. Mark for Venice, St. Ambroſe for Milain, St. Dionys for Paris, St. Rombout for Mechlin, St. Peter and St Paul, inſtead of Romulus and Remus, for Rome.

Chap. 12. Ver. 5. Sect. 5.

Beſides, the appropriating of theſe Saints to peculiar Offices is exquiſitely Pagan, like their dividing of that one Object of Divine Worſhip into many; concerning which Pliny would thus apologize, Fragilis & laborioſa mortalitas in partes iſta digeſſit infirmitatis ſuæ memor, ut portionibus quiſque polleret quo maximè indigeret. And therefore upon this Account the Pagan Dieties are in a manner innumerable, Onions and Garlick being not excluded from a kind of Divinity.

Hiſt. Natur. lib. 1. cap. 7.

Τὴ γὰ τρέφον μι, τῦ τ' ἐγὼ δίμαι θεόν.

Of theſe Ægyptian Idolaters is that ſmart Rebuke of Tully, * Ecquem tam amentem eſſe putas, qui illud quo veſcatur Deum eſſe credat? Of which Pagan Madneſs notwithſtanding the Romaniſts ſeem guilty, while they profeſs that to be God which they caſt into their Bellies.

*Cum Fruges Cererem, Vinum Liberum dicimus, genere nos quidem ſermonis utimur uſitato; ſed ecquem tam amentem, &c. De Natura Deorum, lib. 3.

5. How minute the Romans were in their Deities he may eaſily obſerve that reads but theſe Names, Victua, Potua, Pomona, Flora, Cinxia, Unxia, Carna, Cloacina, Febris, Fortuna, Tempeſtas, &c. It were endleſs to enter into a reckoning up ſo great a Variety, and needleſs, it being ſo well known to all. And truly the now Roman Church falls little ſhort of this copious Particularity; for what is it that they have not a Saint for, as well as the ancient Pagans a God or a Goddeſs, nay it may be more particularly than they? For one general God of Phyſick will not ſerve their Turns, not one Apollo, or rather one Æſculapius, but as many peculiar Saints as there are Diſeaſes

Diſeaſes: St. Roch for the Peſtilence, St. Coſmus and Damian for Biles and Tumors, St. Job for the Pox, St. Apollonia for the Tooth-ach, St. Clare to clear the Eyes, St. Agatha for Sore Breaſts, St. Margaret for Midwifery, St. Petronella for Agues, St. John and St. Valentine for the Falling-Sickneſs, St. Benedict for Poiſon, St. Genoa for the Gout, St. Main for Scabs, St. Phiacre for the Emerods, St. Sigiſmund for the Fever, and St. Eutrope for the Dropſie; with ſeveral others which were too tedious to rehearſe.

As the Pagans alſo had ſeveral Rural Deities, ſo has the Church of Rome ſeveral Rural Saints: as St. Wendelin for Shepherds, St. Pelage for Neatherds, St. Anthony for Swineherds, St. Loy for Horſes and Kine, St. Feriol for Geeſe, St. John for Lambs, St. Hubert for Huntſmen and their Dogs; St, Gertrude alſo has a ſpecial Power over Rats and Mice.

6. The old Roman Paganiſm had Mercury for the God of Tradeſmen, as his Name alſo intimates, and he was likewiſe the God of popular Eloquence; but the Church of Rome ſeems more accurate that has aſſigned a Saint to almoſt every Trade: St. Honorius for Bakers, St. Eloy for Smiths, St. Luke for Painters, St. Nicolas for Mariners, St. Ive for Lawyers, St. Criſpin for Shoe-makers, St. Arnold for Millers, St. Stephen for Weavers, St. Euloge for Carpenters, St. Goodman for Tailors, St. Goar for Potmakers, and St. Urban for Ale-Knights or Pot-Companions, as well as St. Magdalen for Curtiſans. It were an infinite Task to make ſuch long Inductions as the Matter is capable of; this is enough to ſhew how fully that ancient Pagan Theology is revived in theſe appropriated Offices of the Saints, and how requiſite the Knowledge may be pretended thereof; as Varro of old defined concerning the Heatheniſh Gods, how advantageous it were ſi ſcitur quam quiſque Deus vim & poteſtatem habeat cujuſque rei, that accordingly he might be invoked.

7. It were an eaſie thing alſo, but ſuperfluous, to parallel theſe Saints to the Pagan Divi in their Offices: for thus St. Nicolas would be Divus Neptunus; St. Margaret, Diva Lucina; St. Magdalen, Diva Flora; and St. Martin, Divus Bacchus; St. Hubert, Diva Diana; and St. Maturin, Divus Apollo: For the God of Wiſdom ſhould be the beſt Phyſician for Fools.

But the Bleſſed Virgin, as they call her Regina Cœli, ſo ſhe will have as many Offices and Titles as the Moon. For they make her Juno Lucina, by invoking her ſo conſtantly in Child-birth; and then Hecate or Proſerpina, by feigning her ſo frequently to deſcend into the lower Shades to deliver Souls out of Purgatory. And the Mariners, by calling on her ſo frequently in Storms, thruſt her alſo into the Place of Venus, as is plain in that rhyming Supplication they put up to her in their Sea-Voyages;

Salve, Splendor Firmamenti,
Tu caliginoſæ menti
Deſuper irradia.
Placa mare, maris ſtella;
Nè involvat nos procella
Et tempeſtas obvia.

And, laſtly, Mens laviſh Devotion to her on Land, in building her ſo many Temples and Altars, has made her go under as many Names or more than that Pagan Goddeſs. For as Venus is called Idalia, Cytherea, Cnidia, Paphia, and many more ſuch like Names, from the Places where ſhe is worſhipped; ſo the Virgin Mary is called Our Lady of Lorretto, Our Lady of Bononia, of Aix, of Montſerrat, Our Lady of Carmel, Our Lady of the Woods, of the Fields, and of the Fountains, with innumerable other Appellations. But theſe things are leſs conſiderable.

8. This revived Image of the old Paganiſm of Rome is ſtill more eminent in building of Temples to theſe ſeveral Kinds of new Gods, (for ſo every thing is made that has religious Worſhip done to it) or in doing religious Worſhip to them in the Temples of the old ones, as is notorious in their conſecrating the Pantheon to the Bleſſed Virgin and all the Saints, which was by the Pagans dedicated to Cybele and all the Gods. Which is a trim Stroke of this Revived Image of the Beaſt. And that comes little ſhort of it which Cornelius à Lapide alſo has noted, That as under the Roman Kings the Seven Hills were conſecrated ſinguli ſingulis Diis, ita nunc ſinguli ſingulis Sanctis. Which is another lively Lineament of this Pourtraiture predicted by St. John.

See Book 2. Chap. 21. Sect. 5, 6.

But I go on. It is particularly alſo revived in the erecting of Altars and ſetting the Statues of the Saints upon thoſe Altars, in the Clothing them with coſtly Garments, and the adorning them with the moſt precious Materials, Gold, Ivory, and Gemms; beſides ſetting of Crowns and Garlands of Flowers upon their Heads, the appointing of Feſtivals to the Honour of their Name, and bowing themſelves before them, and putting up their Prayers and Supplications with Hands and Eyes devoutly lifted up towards them. Can there be a more lively Image of ancient Paganiſm than this? And yet this does the Church of Rome do to their Saints and their Images, and more than this, for the reviving of the Image of the Beaſt, and for the fulfilling of the Prophecy.

For as the Heathens brought Oblations to their Idols and Gods, ſo do theſe to the Images of their Saints, as is notoriouſly known. As the Heathens ſet up Lights before their Images, as for Example, before the Altars of Saturn, upon a more humane Expoſition made by Hercules of that Oracle,

Καὶ κεφαλὰς ἄδυ κὴ πὺ πατεὶ πέμπετε φῶτα, and placed a great deal of Religion in the Veſtal Fire; Apud nos itidem (ſaith Polydore) nullo magis honore quàm cereis candelis decorantur extrinſecùs Cœlicolæ. The ancient Heathen burnt Incenſe to their Gods, Æneid. lib. 1. ——————(ubi Templum illi centúmque Sabæo Thure calent aræ)----- which is a conſumptive Sacrifice, and the very Notation of Thus is παρὰ τὸ θύειν, à ſacrificando: ſo does the Church of Rome burn Incenſe before the Images of her Saints, and make this kind of Sacrifice to them. The Pagans ſometimes carried their Idols in Proceſſion: ſo does the Church of Rome; as namely the Images of St. Roche that Apollo Apotropæus, and St. Geneveſve that Jupiter pluvius, or rather Juno pluvia, if you will. The Roman Church hid their Images in Lent by drawing a Veil before them. How little does this fall ſhort of the Pagans concealing for a time their Idols, by ſhutting them up from the Sight of the People, to make them more eager of them afterwards?

Ovid. Faſt. lib. 2. Dii quoque Templorum foribus celentur opertis, Thure vacent aræ, ſténtque ſine igne foci.

9. The Mouths of the Pagans were filled with Diverſity of Oaths by the Names of their Gods: ſo are the Mouths of the Pagano-Chriſtians by the Names of their Saints: and their making of Vows is alike in them both. The Fathers of the Primitive Times reproached the Heathen for their giving Divine Honour to mere Men, whoſe dead Bodies or Reliques were in their very Temples: And does not the Church of Rome do this Honour to their Saints, and profeſs their Reliques to be in their Churches? The ancient Heathen made toilſome Journeys, ſuppoſe to the Oracles of Delphos, or Jupiter Hammon, to the Temple of Æſculapius, or other ſuch like Places, for Inſtruction or Help: and do not the Romaniſts make as tedious Pilgrimages to the Shrines of their Saints?

Whether by the Juggle of their Prieſts, or the Aſſiſtance of ſome officious Dæmons, there were ſeveral Miracles and ſtrange Cures conceived to be done in the Temples and at the Images of the Pagan Gods, and certain Monuments thereof hung up for the Honour of their Deities, and the Profit of the Prieſts, to increaſe Offerings. Polydore out of Strabo, Mos fuit in Templo ejus Dei qui auxiliatus eſſet, & præſertim Æſculipii, quod Epidauri inſigne erat, tabellas appendere in quibus morbi ſanati erant inſcripti. According to the Senſe of which Cuſtom is that Diſtich of Tibullus,

Eleg. lib. 1. 3. Nunc, Dea, nunc ſuccurre mihi; nam poſſe mederi
Picta docet templis multa tabella tuis.

The ſame thing Polydore acknowledges to be done in the Church of Rome; and for a Memorial of having their Leg, their Arm, their Ear, their Pap, or any other Part cured by this or that Saint, they hang the Effigies of theſe Parts openly near the Shrines, or at leaſt in their Chappels or Temples.

10. Their

10. Their Superſtition in Holy-Water is alſo not unworthy our noting. This Aqua luſtralis was uſual amongſt the Ancients, (Spargit aquâ captos luſtrali Graia Sacerdos:)

but the Virtue thereof is moſt juſtly and judiciouſly derided by Ovid,

Ah nimiùm faciles, qui triſtia crimina cædis
Flumineâ tolli poſſe putatis aquâ. Faſtor. lib. 2.

But Æneas was not of that Mind in Virgil, who ſpeaking to his Father Anchiſes, when he was about to offer Sacrifice, argues thus:

Tu, genitor, cape ſacra manu patrióſque Penates;
Me bello à tanto digreſſum & cæde recenti
Attrectare nefas, donec me flumine vivo
Abluero. Æneid. lib. 2.

And again in another place,

Occupat Æneas aditum, corpúſque recenti
Spargit aquâ.

And at the Burial of Miſenus,

Idem ter ſocios purâ circumtulit undâ,
Spargens rore levi, & ramo felicis olivæ,
Luſtravítque viros. Æneid. 6.

Tibullus alſo in his ſecond Book of Elegies,

Caſta placent Superis; pura cum veſte venite,
Et manibus puram ſumite fontis aquam.

There was a Water near Porta Capena holy to Mercury, wherewith the ancient Romans uſed with a Laurel-bough to beſprinkle themſelves, the Merchants eſpecially, for the purifying them from their Sins, eſpecially that of Couzenage and Lying. Ovid has deſcribed the Ceremony ſo lively and pleaſantly, and with ſo judicious a Note of the ill Effect of ſuch pretended Purifications for the corrupting Mens Manners, that I cannot abſtain from the tranſcribing the Narration, though it be ſomething long.

Eſt aqua Mercurii portæ vicina Capenæ:
Si juvat expertis credere, Numen habet.
Huc venit incinctus tunicâ Mercator, & urnâ
Purus ſuffuſâ, quam ferat, haurit aquam.
Uda ſit hinc Laurus; Lauro ſparguntur ab udâ
Omnia quæ dominos ſunt habitura novos.
Spargit & ipſe ſuos lauro rorante capillos,
Et peragit ſolitâ fallere voce preces.
Ablue præteriti perjuria temporis, inquit;
Ablue præteritâ perfida verba fide.
Sive ego te feci teſtem, falſóve citavi
Non audituri numina vana Jovis;
Sive Deum prudens alium Divámve fefelli,
Abſtulerint celeres improba verba Noti.
Da modò lucra mihi, da facto gaudia lucro,
Et face ut emptori verba dediſſe juvet. Faſtor. lib. 5.

That is, he deſires of Mercury that in virtue of this ſuperſtitious Devotion, and of beſprinkling himſelf with Water ſacred to his Deity, he may cheat and grow rich with a chearful Conſcience, and without the Fear of the Diſpleaſure of the Gods.

The Examples of Luſtral Water are infinite, as alſo the Imitation of this Superſtition exceeding frequent in the Church of Rome, in their Waſhings and Aſperſions with Holy-Water; and it is to be feared with as much Hypocriſie and ſecure Trading in Sin upon a vain Preſumption of the Virtue of ſuch ſuperſtitious and imaginary Purifications, as the Poet has here deſcribed.

11. The Tubilustria or Hallowing of Trumpets has ſome conſiderable Affinity with the Popiſh Chriſtening of Bells. But this Agreement would be ſtill more exact, if, as theſe conſecrated Bells are conceived to have a Power to drive away evil Spirits by their Ringing, ſo thoſe Trumpets to chace away Ghoſts and Specters by being ſounded. But whether theſe Trumpets be underſtood or no to have ſuch a ſpecial Virtue, the Ringing of braſs Inſtruments with the Aſſiſtance of Holy-Water is plainly declared to have it in Ovid's Faſti, Faſtor. lib. 5.

Rurſus aquam tangit, Temeſæâque concrepat æra,
Et rogat ut tectis exeat umbra ſuis.

And that the Sound of Braſs, Pans, or Cymbals, or be they what they will, was ſuperſtitiouſly thought by the Heathen to have a Power againſt Witchcraft and Enchantment, which are the Effects of that evil Fiend, Tibullus ſeems to intimate in that Diſtich,

Lib. 1. Eleg. 8.

Cantus & à curru Lunam deducere tentat;
Et faceret, ſi non æra repulſa ſonent.

How near this comes to the Popiſh Superſtition of driving away evil Spirits by the Jangling of baptized Bells, I leave to any to judge.

12. And now for their Feſtivals. What was Pope Boniface the Eighth's inſtituting a Jubilee every hundredth Year, but an Imitation of the Romans Ludi Seculares? For otherwiſe if he had imitated Moſes, fifty Years had been the Periodical Diſtance of that Feſtival. But to note what is more general, Singing and Dancing, and Drinking and Reeling were uſual Concomitants of all the Pagan Holy-days.

Immemores noſtri feſtas duxere choreas.

And again in the ſame Poet,

Pars pedibus terram pulſant, & carmina dicunt.

Tibullus alſo deſcribes their Feſtivals from Idleneſs and Drinking till they ſtagger,

Lib. 2. Eleg. 1.

Vina diem celebrant, non feſtâ luce madere
Eſt pudor, errantes & malè ferre pedes.

Which Eraſmus in his Colloquies ſadly complains to be the Mode of the celebrating of the Feaſts of the Saints in the Church of Rome in his Time.

It was a Cuſtom among the Pagans in the Solemnization of the Feaſts of their Gods, Deos induere, as Tertullian's Phraſe is, for ſome one or other to ſuſtain the Perſon or act the Part of that God whoſe Feaſt they celebrated. That this Cuſtom alſo obtained in the Church of Rome, in the Feſtivals of their Saints, I have been particularly informed, ſome one acting the Part of the Saint, to entertain the People with Paſs-time, or a kind of Superſtitious Merriment. See Polydore Virgil de Rerum Inventoribus, lib. 5. c. 2.

13. But to deſcend to and lightly paſs over ſome few particular Feſtivals of the Heathens. The fetching in of May, as they call it, by the gameſome Youth of both Sexes, What is it but an Imitation of the Romans Floralia, (as Polydore has alſo obſerved) apud quos (ſaith he) ſic Flora, cunctorum fructuum Dea, menſe Maio laſcivè colebatur? The Cerealia of the Pagans were celebrated in the Night, the Prieſts running up and down with Torches in their Hands. In Imitation of this Superſtition, Polydore ſaith that in Umbria and other Parts of Italy, on the Evening before the Calends of March, Boys kindle Fires in the Field, and run up and down upon the Lands with Torches of dry Reeds, ut precantes fœcunditatem agrorum tum terrâ jam fœtum partirionte. In their Palilia Ovid's Precept is in his Faſti,

De rerum Invent. lib. 5. c. 2.

Lib. 5. cap. 2.

Faſtor. lib. 4.

Paſtor ovem ſaturas ad prima crepuſcula luſtret:
Unda prius ſpargat, virgâque verrat humum.

But this is but a Preparation to the Luſtration of the Sheep; the chief Ceremony is behind:

Cærulei

Cærulei fiunt puro de ſulphure fumi,
Tactáque fumanti ſulphure balet ovis.

Which Luſtration by Fumigation the Friers of St. Antony have changed into the Sprinkling of Holy Water, not upon Sheep only, but Horſes and Oxen, at a ſet time of the Year. But they both agree in the ſuperſtitious Expiation or Luſtration of dumb Creatures. The Leaping over certain Fires they make on St. John Baptiſt's Day is a more exact Imitation of the old Pagans leaping over their Fires at the above-named Palilia or Feſtival of Pales.

Móxque per ardentes ſtipulæ crepitantis acervos Faſtor. lib. 4.
Trajicias celeri ſtrenua membra pede.

And this Roman Hierophanta, Ovid, tells the Reaſon of it preſently after;

Omnia purgat edax ignis ——

So that it is plain that ſuch Cuſtoms as theſe that have been retained in the Church of Rome are but the Footſteps of the Heatheniſh Superſtitions and Purifications. Of which Baptiſmal Spittle it ſelf ſeems to be a clear Inſtance, as may appear from that Paſſage in Perſius, Ecce avia, aut metuens Divûm matertera, cunis Satyr. 2.

Exemit puerum, frontémque atque uda labella
Infami digito & luſtralibus antè ſalivis
Expiat, urentes oculos inhibere perita:
Tunc manibus quatit, &c.

Such marvellous Virtue did the old Women of Rome deem to be in Spittle againſt Witchery and the Approach of the Devil; which Ceremony they performed in the Dies Luſtricus of the Child, which is alſo called Dies Nominalis, they giving the Child his Name that Day; that this Saliva luſtralis may the more completely anſwer to the Baptiſmal Spittle in the Roman Church. But this by the Bye.

In the ancient Saturnalia the Maſters waited on their Servants, entertaining them with good Chear, as L. Accius records in his Verſes:

——per agros urbéſque ferè omnes
Exercent epulis læti, famulóſque procurant
Quiſque ſuos.——

From which Polydore notes that the Cuſtom at Chriſtmas of making ſome one Servant a Maſter of Miſrule, to whom both his Maſter and his Servants ſhould obey, took its Original, In the Quinquatria minora or Ludi Magalenſes, Men ran up and down in Vizards madly and laſciviently, committing many Immodeſties. This Wildneſs continued but a Day or two in that ancient Roman Feſtival; but it is not only imitated but outſtripped in the Romiſh Church, in their Carnaval; that Madneſs of committing Outrages in Vizards (as if they could hide themſelves under them from the Sight of God) not laſting two Days, but two continued Months in ſome Places. At which time alſo they indulge exceſſively to themſelves the Intemperance of eating and drinking, as if they intended to make their Bodies Cellars and Store-houſes againſt the Approaching Faſt of Lent, that they might the better hold out againſt that Siege. Whence this Carnaval ſeems a Conjoining of thoſe two leud Pagan Solemnities together, I mean their Ludi Magalenſes and Bacchanalia. The foul and abominable Miſcarriages of which Feſtivals in unclean and impudent Geſtures, and all Manner of Obſcœnities of Words or Actions, though they be ſo great and ſo various, as it is above Imagination to conceive to an ordinary Man without the Reading of the Story of theſe Pagan Enormities, yet, as Hiſtory from Eye-witneſſes of the Pagano-Chriſtian Bacchanalia does aſſure us, this new Romaniſm has out-gone Old Rome in all Manner of impudent Vileneſs in this Feſtival. So that the Beaſt is not only reſtored, but grown ſtronger in this Joint. De rerum Invent. lib. 5. cap. 2. Polydor. de Invent. rerum, lib. 5. cap. 2.

I might go on and obſerve what is anſwerable in the Church of Rome to the Vinalia, Robigalia, Terminalia, Parentalia, Proſerpinalia, and other Feaſts of the Gentiles; but this Wood is ſo wide, that I may eaſilier loſe my ſelf in it than get through it.

14. But I will not omit that the Beaſt has ſome Kind of Revival even in their Funerals of the Dead.

Perſ. Satyr. 3. Hinc tuba, candelæ, tandèmque beatulus alto
Compoſitus lecto——

That this Solemnity had alſo Funeral Songs, and that there were hired Præficæ to move Grief by their doleful Modulations, is a thing that every one has taken Notice of: but that Pomp of carrying Torches is alſo lively ſet out by Virgil;

Æneid. 11. Arcades ad portas ruere, &, de more vetuſto,
Funereas rapuere faces: lucet via longo
Ordine flammarum, & latè diſcriminat agros.

How near an Imitation of this nocturnal Pomp the modern Funerals of the Papiſts are, the ſloweſt Fhancy can diſcern. But I lay no great Streſs on ſuch things.

15. It were too voluminous a Buſineſs and needleſs to enter into an Account of the ſeveral Religious Orders in the Old and New Romaniſm. It is enough to take Notice that as there were ſeveral Sorts of Sodalities of Prieſts, Male and Female, in the old Pagan Religion, devoted and dedicated ſome to Mars, ſome ro Venus, ſome to Veſta, ſome to one Deity, others to another; ſo there are in the Church of Rome ſeveral Orders of Prieſts and Religious Perſons, ſome devoted to the Service of one Saint, others to another, ſome to the Service of the Bleſſed Virgin, others of St. Francis, and ſo of the reſt.

16. Only we cannot omit the taking Notice that ſhorn Crowns is no modern Invention, but a Ceremony of the ancient Prieſts of Iſis or Diana: nor the Vow of Virginity ſo late as to be appropriate to the Nuns of the now Roman Religion, ſince Veſta, Apollo, Juno Argiva, Diana and Minerva's Prieſts were condemned to perpetual Virginity; and the Prieſts of Cybele the Mother of the Gods made ſure of a conſtant Cœlibate by execting their Virilities. This I muſt confeſs is not imitated to that Exactneſs in New Rome, but Chaſtity is vowed with ſo much Confidence as if they had either made themſelves Eunuchs in Origen's literal Senſe, or elſe had been born Eunuchs for the Kingdom of God. But as they fall ſhort of the Galli, ſo have they out-done the Luperci in their Ninevites and Flagellants, whoſe Stripes are not laid upon them they meet, but upon themſelves. This harſh Self-ſeverity therefore is rather to be fetched from Ægypt than Old Rome; the Sacrificers to Iſis beating themſelves while their Holocauſt is burning; χαιομένων ὃ ἱρῶν τύπτονται πάντες, ſaith Herodotus: or elſe from the Self-cruelty of the Prieſts of Dea Syria; or from that rigid Diſcipline of Diana at Lacedæmon, who was not to be propitiated but by bloody Whippings, as I have elſewhere noted.

Myſtery of Godlineſs, Book 3. ch. 13.

17. There are ſo many Coincidencies of the Superſtitions of the Roman Church with ancient Paganiſm, that it were a very tireſome Task to endeavour the Enumeration of the leaſt Part of them, and therefore I do here willingly break off the Account. Only I will not let ſlip one main Parallel that offers it ſelf to my Mind.

The Pagan Prieſts pretended to an Ἐποπτεια or Αὐτοψία, to be able to exhibit a preſential Sight of their Gods in the Adyta of their Temples. To which that of Claudian ſeems to have Regard.

Claudian. de raptu Proſerpinæ, lib. 1. Jam mihi cernuntur trepidis delubra moveri
Sedibus, & clarum diſpergere culmina lumen, Adventum teſtata Dei.

Now I appeal to any indifferent Judge whether the Papal Tranſubſtantiation and Pretence of exhibiting a preſential Appearance of the very Perſon of Chriſt by Virtue of their Quinqueverbal Charm, (as they make it) be not a very exquiſite Imitation of this Pagan Epoptia. Chriſt, indeed, according to his Divinity is every-where, and by a ſpecial Operation thereof may be ſaid truly to be in ſome Places and upon ſome Occaſions more than in an ordinary Manner preſent: But to pretend to bring down the humane and bodily Preſence of Chriſt from Heaven into a Church or Chappel by a certain Form of Words, is to revive the Beaſt in that remarkable Part

Part of Pagan Impoſture and Superſtition which was called Ἐποπτεια, or the Calling down their Gods to exhibit their viſible Preſence to Men.

18. I will conclude with one ſingle Compariſon more, and that is of the Sacrifical Pomp of the Pagans with the Supplications or Proceſſions of the Church of Rome, according as Polydore Virgil has deſcribed them both.

De rerum Invent. lib. 6. c. 11.

The Pagans in their ſuperſtitious and idolatrous Proceſſionary Pomps carried the Images of their Gods, but for the better entertaining of the rude People there went alſo in this Proceſſion a certain ludicrous Image which the Latines call Citeria: they ordinarily derive it from Κίτλα and ἐρεῖν, alluding therein to the Loquacity of the Mag-pie; for this Image was made to ſnapper and chatter ſomething like that Bird. Quid ego cum illo diſſertem amplius, quem ego denique credo in pompa vectitatum ire ludis pro Citeria? They are the Words of Cato againſt M. Cæcilius. Plautus makes Mention of another formidable Idol that was carried in theſe ſuperſtitious Shows, which he calls Manducus; Quid ſi ad ludos me pro Manduco locem, quapropter clarè crepito dentibus? For it was an huge ugly Image with a wide Mouth riven up to the Ears, and gaping horribly, and making a Gnaſhing and Snapping with its Teeth to the great Terror of the ſimple. Of this Mormo is that of Juvenal, who ſaith that it ſcares the Children of the Ruſticks in their Mother's Boſom, by its wide Gapings:

—Cùm perſonæ pallentis hiatum
In gremio matris formidat ruſticus Infans.

But afterwards there is a more continued Deſcription of this Pagan ſuperſtitious Pomp out of Apuleius. "Behold ſaith he, the Anteludia of this great Proceſſion lei-"ſurely marching on. Here one playing the Soldier with his Sword and Belt about "him, there another acting the Huntſman with his ſhort Coat girt cloſe, with a wood-"Knife or Faucheon at his Side, and hunting Pole in his Hand. Another clad in "purple Acts the Supreme Magiſtrate, and has the Faſces carried before him. I have "ſeen alſo, ſaith he, a tame Bear dreſſed up like a Lady, carried in an Horſe-litter, "and an Ape with a woven Cap on his Head. But after theſe come on with a ſlow "Pace the peculiar Pomp of the Goddeſs herſelf, (ſuppoſe Diana or the Moon) Wo-"men dreſſed up in white Clothing attending her in various Geſtures of Pleaſantry "and Mirth, with Crowns of Flowers upon their Heads, ſtrewing the Ground along "as they went with odoriferous Herbs and Flowers out of their Laps, for the Pro-"ceſſionary Pomp of the Goddeſs to paſs over. And another great Company of "either Sex followed with light Torches, Lamps and Wax-candles. After whom "march on the Muſicians ſweetly playing on Flutes and Pipes; and next to theſe "a Company of Dancers youthfully clothed in white Apparrel bright and ſhining "like Snow. There were alſo Heralds, who by Proclamation ſpoke to the People "to give Way, that the Pomp might not be impeded by any Rudeneſs or crowding, "nor any look down out of their Windows upon them. Such were the Religious Pomps and Proceſſions of the ancient Pagans.

19. Let us now tranſcribe the Manner of certain Proceſſions or Supplications of the Church of Rome out of the ſame Polydore, who could not be ignorant of thoſe Rites. "In the Pomp, ſaith he, of our Supplications or Proceſſions there uſes ſome ludicrous "Show to precede, as Ranks of Soldiers, Horſe and Foot, or ſome ſnapping and chatter-"ing Image, ridiculous and loquacious, or elſe gaping with wide Chaps, and making "a gnaſhing Noice with its Teeth, very formidable to behold; with other ſportful "Sights, amongſt which the ancient Prophets are perſonated, and Boys with Wings "go ſinging as if they were of the Heavenly Quire of Angels: whom immediately "follows a Company of Men and Women dancing after their Muſick. Here one "acts David, there another Solomon: Some play the Parts of Queens and Princeſſes, "others of Huntſmen. Beaſts alſo are brought into the Pomp, and there an Ape or "Monkey, with a Munmouth Cap button'd up on one Side, beſtrides ſome big Ma-"ſtiff or Bedwarfed Nag. There are alſo Men carrying Torches in their Hands; "and Boys and Girls are forbid to look out of the Windows. Beſides, the Prieſts "or ſome others ſuſtain the Perſons or act the Parts of this or that Saint, they car-"rying alſo their Images or Reliques along with them In the Proceſſion. The Air "alſo is filled with Odours as they go, and the Ground they paſs over ſtrew'd with "Flowers. And laſtly, to ſome is appointed the Office of ſpeaking to the People to "give Way that the Pomp may march on without any Impediment. Can there be one Egg more like to another than this Romiſh Proceſſion is to the ancient ſuperſtitious Pomp of the Pagans? Wherefore Polydore's Inference is very ſolid and unexceptionable, Ità Romani factitabant & aliæ pleræque gentes, a quibus ad nos ritus ejuſmodi dubio procul manavit.

20. Thus fully has this ancient Pagan Empire, the ſlain Beaſt, recovered into Life again, and ſo completely is his Image made up by the Counſel and Direction of the Two-horned Beaſt or the Falſe-prophet. Nor can I, while I conſider it, but with bended Knee adore that Divine Providence that watches ſo punctually over humane Affairs, and with all poſſible Thanks and Humility acknowledge the tender Care and Faithfulneſs of the Lord Jeſus Chriſt our great Paſtor, that has ſo exquiſitely prefigured the State of the Church, and told us afore-hand how things would be with her for a time; that the Truth of theſe Events may give us a more ſure Pledge of the Certainty of her Reſtauration to her priſtine Apoſtolical Purity, according as he has predicted in the ſame Prophetick Viſions.

21. Truly this exact Symbolizing of the Roman Church in Idolatry and Superſtition with the Pagan Empire, jointly conſidered with the abominable Cruelty againſt the true Members of Chriſt practiſed by them both, their Interdiction of all civil Commerce and the neceſſary Supplies of Life without joining with them in idolatrous Profeſſion and Practice;

Non illis emendi quicquam
Aut vendendi copia,
Nec ipſam haurire aquam
Dabatur licentia,
Antequam thurificarent
Deteſtandis Idolis;

which, as Bede complains, was the Condition of the Primitive Chriſtians, that would not ſubmit to the Idolatries of Paganiſm, and which is the real Fate of them under the Church of Rome that declare againſt their Pagano-chriſtianiſm; nay, they make Inquiſition to take away the Lives of poor harmleſs Men, and hunt after the Blood of the innocent, and torture, rack, and burn with Fire and Fagot thoſe that refuſe to commit Idolatry with them: I ſay, the Likeneſs and Similitude that the State of the Roman Church bears to ancient Paganiſm in Idolatry, Superſtition and Cruelty, (to ſay nothing of their lying Miracles and Impoſtures,) is ſo complete, and the Pagano-Chriſtian Empire ſo lively an Image every way of that which was once purely Pagan, that I cannot but devoutly admire the exact Veracity of theſe Divine Viſions in ſo material a Prediction; but withal wonder exceſſively, and am even amazed, at Grotius, when the Event of things is ſo full and adequate, ſo fit and exquiſitely accommodate to this Interpretation of the Image of the Beaſt, that a Man of his Wit and Learning ſhould content himſelf with one ſo petty, ſo forced, ſo impoſſible, ſo unprofitable, as that which he has made Choice of, and which I will now more fully confute, after I have ſhew'd the Weakneſs of Ribera's Interpretation.

BOOK

BOOK II.

CHAP. I.

1. The great Uſefulneſs of ſhewing the Folly of Ribera's and Grotius his Expoſitions of theſe two Chapters of the Apocalyps. 2. That, according to Ribera, the Beaſt is the Devil. 3. The ſeven Kings the wicked Kings of the ſeven Ages of the World. 4. That five of thoſe Ages were gone over in St. John's time, and that the Reign of Antichriſt is the Seventh, and Rome Heathen the Whore. 5. The general Uſefulneſs of our Joint-Expoſition. 6. That the Beaſt is not the Devil, proved there-from by ſeveral Circumſtances: Nor the ſeven Heads ſeven ſuch Ages, by the deadly Wound in the ſixth Head. 7. Nor the Whore Rome Heathen more than the Two-horned Beaſt. 8. That the Devil cannot be the Beaſt that was, and is not, &c. proved by Arguments not leaning on our Joint-Expoſition. 9. Farther Proof from that Part of his Name [and yet is,] with a Vindication of that Reading. 10. A Confutation of Ribera's Expoſition of the ſeven Heads from the Groundleſneſs and Exceptionableneſs of his Diviſion of the Duration of the World into ſeven Ages. 11. From the Ununitableneſs of the Kings of the Age into one Head. 12. From the Devil's Eminency and Superiority over theſe Heads. 13. From the Leaving neither Room nor time for an Eighth King. 14. From the Diſproportionableneſs of the ſeventh Age of the World to the reſt, and eſpecially to the ſtrange Feats they ſay Antichriſt is then to atchieve. 15. And, laſtly, from the ſeven Hills neceſſarily appropriating thoſe ſeven Heads to the Roman Empire. 16. That theſe Expoſitions of Ribera, as alſo of the reſt of the Roman Interpreters, were very weak even in Grotius his own Judgment, which ſet him upon minting new ones.

1. HItherto we have laid out our Pains in the fully Demonſtrating what is the true and genuin Senſe of theſe two chief Chapters of the Apocalyps. But becauſe the Hypocriſie and Unwillingneſs of thoſe whoſe Intereſt biaſſes them another way will be ready to ſhuffle off the Weight and Evidence of ſo plain a Demonſtration, in pretending that Learned Men have given quite different Expoſitions of theſe Prophecies, and that therefore it is uncertain what they ſignifie, I will bring in the two chiefeſt Expoſitors, and which the Church of Rome does moſt of all ſtick to and applaud her ſelf in, I mean Ribera and Grotius; and ſhew plainly how fond, how forced, and indeed how impoſſible their Expoſitions are; that even prejudiced Men themſelves may be aſhamed hereafter to take Shelter in ſuch wretched Subterfuges.

2. Ribera's Expoſition of the Beaſt with ſeven Heads and ten Horns, that was, and is not, and yet is, and of the Whore of Babylon that rides on him, is briefly this. "The Beaſt is the Devil, conſidered in Reference to his Condition of reigning or "not reigning in the World. In Beſtia non Diabolus intelligitur, ſed Diabolus regnans. Wherefore whereas it is ſaid, The Beaſt which thou ſaweſt, was, and is not, he "interprets it thus: The Devil in the foregoing Ages before Chriſt was Diabolus "regnans, but in St. John's time he was not Diabolus regnans, becauſe then the Prince "of this World was caſt out. And therefore in this Senſe he is ſaid to be the Beaſt "that was, and is not, but will be Diabolus regnans again in Antichriſt, which is the "Seventh Head, in whoſe Reign he comes up again out of the bottomleſs Pit.

3. "The ſeven Kings are the wicked Kings of the ſeven Ages of the World, "from Adam to the laſt Judgment. The firſt Age is from Adam to Noe, in which "Cain and the Giants are particularly taxed. The Second from Noe to Abraham, "wherein Nimrod is perſtringed. The Third from Abraham to David, wherein the "Kings of Ægypt and other People are noted for Perſecutors and Oppoſers of the "People of God. The Fourth from David to the Captivity of Babylon, wherein the "People of the Jews were much afflicted by the Kings of Aſſyria. The Fifth from "the Captivity of Babylon to the Coming of Chriſt, wherein they were much affli="cted by the Chaldeans and Greeks. The Sixth from the Coming of Chriſt to the "Coming of Antichriſt, wherein the Church has been much perſecuted by the "Roman Emperors and by the Turks and Saracens, and may be ſtill more by ſuch

" as may ariſe hereafter. The Seventh from the Coming of Antichriſt to the laſt " Judgment, wherein Antichriſt with his ten Horns, ſhall perſecute the Church worſe " than ever.

4. " Five of theſe Heads, that is, of theſe Ages with their wicked Kings, were " gone over in St. John's time: one Age was then and ſtill continues: the o- " ther, that is the Seventh and Laſt, is not yet come, but when it is once come, " it muſt continue but a little while, that is to ſay, three Years and an half, or fourty " two Months; Antichriſt being that Beaſt in the thirteenth Chapter, according as " he interprets it. And laſtly, for the Whore that rides this Beaſt that was, and is " not, he ſays it is Rome Heathen. This is a clear and faithful Propoſal of Ribera's Expoſition, as any one may ſee that will have Recourſe to him upon the Place. Let us now ſee how much, or rather how little Truth there is in it.

5. In the Examination whereof, as alſo of the following Expoſition, we may diſcern the Uſefulneſs of our demonſtrating ſo plainly That one and the ſame thing abſolutely is underſtood by the Seven-headed Beaſt in the Thirteenth Chapter and by the Seven-headed Beaſt in the Seventeenth, as alſo by the Whore of Babylon and the Two-horned Beaſt. For this even of it ſelf will eaſily detect the Trivialities and Faulterings of theſe Expoſitions.

6. That the Beaſt that was, and is not, cannot be Regnum Diaboli (as Ribera ſpeaks) vel Diabolus regnans in mundo per ſua membra, qui ab initio ferè mundi regnare cœpit in hominibus, is demonſtrable from the Beaſt with ſeven Heads in the thirteenth Chapter, which is the ſame Beaſt, and whoſe Time of Continuance is but fourty two Months. Which is a Sign that Ribera is quite out of the Story. For the ſame numerical Beaſt muſt have the ſame Duration of Time. Again, he makes the Beaſt in the Thirteenth Chapter to be Antichriſt, but this the Devil: which is another Faultering in his Narration. But further, whenas the Beaſt in the thirteenth Chapter is ſaid to come out of the Sea, it is plain, according to the uſual Meaning of that Type in the prophetick Style, that it is a Body Politick conſiſting of Men: But how can the Devil be ſuch with his dark Legions? they are not Men, but Devils, nor to be led captive, nor to be killed with the Sword, as it is ſaid of the Beaſt there mentioned. Moreover, the Dragon, that is, the Devil, is ſaid to deliver his Forces to the Seven-headed Beaſt in that Chapter; How then can the Beaſt be the Devil?

To all which you may add, That the Sixth Head of the Beaſt in that Chapter is wounded to Death, not to be healed till the Revival of the Beaſt and the Recovery of him in the Seventh Head. But how can the wicked Kings of the Sixth Age be ſaid to be wounded to Death, or the Beaſt not to revive till the Seventh Head, when the Church of Chriſt has been ſo dreadfully perſecuted in the Primitive Times, and is to this very Day ſo cruelly infeſted by the Turks, as heretofore by the Sarazens? Theſe Actions are no Signs of the Sixth Head being wounded to death more than the foregoing Heads, nor ſo much neither. Laſtly, How can the Devil in this Seventeenth Chapter be the Image of the reſtored Beaſt that had received the deadly Wound? For the Devil when he is again regnant will not Pagano-chriſtianize, as I may ſo ſpeak, but groſly Paganize, or Judaize, as our Adverſaries confeſs; and therefore will not be an Image, but either the Thing it ſelf, or not ſo much as an Image, but a Thing quite different.

7. And for the Whore that rides on the Beaſt, I might demand in what Senſe Rome Heathen has two Horns like a Lamb; with other ſuch Enquiries, which for Brevity ſake I omit. I will rather take Notice how indecorous it is to fancy Rome Heathen to ride the Devil, whenas it is more proper to conceive her rid, that is to ſay, guided and acted and inſtigated by him.

8. But that the Beaſt that was, and is not, is not the Devil, we ſhall now evince by other Arguments without Relation to the Thirteenth Chapter. As, firſt, If the Devil be a Beaſt, that which makes him ſo is the Wickedneſs of his Nature, his Perſecutiveneſs of the Church of God, and his Endeavour of erecting againſt him a Kingdom of Idolaters. Now the Devil has never ceaſed to be ſuch from the Beginning of the World to this very Day. This is the very Nature of the Beaſt, and his Nature is not yet ſlain in him, nor ever was, nor ever will be. Wherefore it never was nor ever will be true of him, That he is the Beaſt that was, and is not. For to be Regnant and then ceaſe to be Regnant, does not make him to be a Beaſt and then no Beaſt, but only no regnant Beaſt. But that alſo is falſe, that he has yet at any time ceaſed to be a regnant Beaſt.

For

For till Christ came he reigned over all the World, excepting the Jews. After Christ came, he tyrannized over the Christians for about three hundred Years. And after the Empire in a manner wholly turned Christian, yet the Kingdom of the Devil was no less than all the habitable World besides, in comparison whereof the other is but a small Spot of Ground; and yet what great Slices have been pared off therefrom? Besides his Rule in Christendom it self by superinducing so universal a Spirit of Antichristianism into it, consisting of gross Idolatries and bloody Persecutions of the dear Servants of God. Now let any one consider and say whether the Devil be Bestia non regnans, or regnans in the World from Christ's Time to this Day: and how groundless an Interpretation this of Ribera's is, that understands the Beast that was, and is not, of the Devil at large, and not of the Roman Empire in such a Sense as we have expounded it.

For that it is the Fourth Empire which is the Roman, the ten Horns do plainly indicate, which are the Ensigns of the Fourth Beast in Daniel, which I think no Man has been yet so grosly extravagant as to interpret of the Devil.

9. Besides, this Beast is not only styled The Beast that was, and is not, but there is also added to his Title [and yet is.] Which whole Title cannot be true of the Devil regnant in Antichrist's Time according to Ribera's Sense. For he being then Regnant, he is the very same Devil in every respect, and a Man cannot say he is not Regnant, though it be then true that he is. So that part of the Title only will agree to him, namely that he was, and is. Which is another plain Detection of the Falseness of Ribera's Exposition.

Nor is there any Evasion in the various Readings. For Copies generally have it, ἐκ ἔστι, καίπερ ὄντι. Which seems such a Contradiction, that it has made some leave out καίπερ ὄντι, and others turn it into ᾧ παρέσται· neither reaching the Meaning of the Apostle. But seeing this Reading we follow so generally obtains, notwithstanding its seeming Harshness and Contradictiousness, it is an unexceptionable Argument that it is the true and genuin Reading indeed, and that merely the undubitable Authentickness of Copies has made it bear down the other two Readings, which the over-much Boldness and Unskilfulness of some had ventured to cast into the Place of the true one.

10. Again, concerning his Exposition of the Seven Heads, many things are to be objected. As first, That his dividing the whole Duration of the World into Seven Ages is a thing groundless and merely arbitrarious, there being nothing either in Tradition or Scripture to countenance it. There is indeed an ancient Tradition of Elias, that divides the Duration of the World into four Parts, Two thousand Years Vacuity, Two thousand the Law, and Two thousand the Messias, and then the great Sabbatism. But of such a Division as Ribera has made here there is no News nor Example in Antiquity. And in the Steps he takes, he has very unmannerly troden over the Head of Moses, as if he were not a Man great enough to be taken Notice of amongst the Joints of this Division; whenas certainly he is one of the most eminent Epocha's of Time, as appears by that Tradition of Elias, and therefore ought to have been mentioned before he came to David: As also Enoch, so famous for his Assumption into Heaven, His Birth ought to have been mentioned before he came to Noe. Besides other as justifiable Divisions which were easie to observe. But these short Intimations may suffice to shew how lubricous and fictitious a Comment Ribera's Exposition is in this regard.

11. But, secondly, How can the Kings in each one of these Ages, having no Subordination to one another, but being Absolute and absolutely disjoin'd in their respective Kingdoms, or rather having no political Co-ordination or Correspondence as Heads of one Body Politick, How can they make up but one Head for an Age? There is no Warrant nor Example of any such thing in the Prophetick Style. But if you will say they are one Head, because they belong to one Body, the Devil, all the whole Succession of wicked and persecutive Kings, throughout all these Ages, will be but one Head upon this Account, and so the Beast will have but One Head, not Seven. For Distance of Time and Succession makes no Difference of Heads nor Beasts in the Prophetick Style, but some Distinction of Nature in them.

12. Thirdly, It is very harsh and incongruous to make these wicked Kings the Heads of the Devil, whenas the Devil is their Prince and Head; he being above them both in his Pre-eminency of Nature, as being an Angel, though but a wicked one, and they but wicked Men; as also by Right of Jurisdiction, all those that are Rebels to the Kingdom of God making an Accession to the Kingdom of the Devil.

So that the Expoſition in this reſpect is as harſh and prepoſterous as the painting of an Horſe with his Head on his Coccyx, and his Tail hanging down before his Breaſt.

Spectatum admiſſi riſum teneatis, amici?

13. Fourthly, If the Seven Kings be the wicked Kings of the Seven Ages of the World even to the very Day of Judgment, What is that Eighth King? And what Age of the World will he be in? For there ſeems neither Room nor Time left for him. Why, truly Ribera has pitched upon a very ſubtil Merchant, who will inſinuate into all Times and Places (if it be poſſible) for his own Advantage. This Eighth King, ſaith he, is the Devil. But the Devil, ſay I, is the Beaſt, according to his own Hypotheſis, and this Eighth is ſaid to be one of the Seven Heads. But how can one and the ſame be both the whole Beaſt, and yet but one of the Heads thereof? Wherefore it is plain that his Expoſition in this regard is againſt common Senſe and the very firſt Notions of humane Underſtanding.

14. Fifthly, The Seventh Age of the World, which is the meaſure of the Reign of Antichriſt, is moſt ridiculouſly diſproportioned to the reſt, it being but three Years and an half, as Ribera has computed it. Which yet were more tolerable, if it were well proportionated to thoſe great Exploits that Antichriſt is to do in that ſhort Space. For he is to ſubdue all the World, or, if you will, the Ten Kings which they feign will be the Rulers over the whole World when Antichriſt begins to lay about him. For having firſt made an Expedition againſt Three Kings, namely, the King of Ægypt, the King of Libya, and the King of Æthiopia, and overcome them and ſlain them, the other Seven ſhall ſubmit to him, and become the Seven Heads of Antichriſt, the firſt of which being mortally wounded in his Service, he ſhall miraculouſly raiſe him from the Dead. Thus by a wonderful Metamorphoſis have they changed the Ten Horns into Seven Heads, and made the Horns of Antichriſt to grow before the Heads. So pitifully are they put to it in their prevaricatory Expoſitions of the Oracles of God.

And not content to adorn this great Potentate with that one ſingle Miracle of raiſing the ſlain from the Dead, they alſo allow him a Power of literally bringing down Fire from Heaven, and of making his own Statue to ſpeak. His Royal Palace they place in Judæa, and derive his Pedigree from the Tribe of Dan, and make his Throne the very Temple of God at Jeruſalem, and proclaim him the expected Meſſias of the Jews, to whom they are all to gather themſelves. He muſt beſiege Rome, and burn it, and call to himſelf the Nations from all the Quarters of the Earth, to conſpire the utter Extirpation of the Chriſtian Name from under the Cope of Heaven; and, as it ſeems, notwithſtanding all the Vigilancy of the Pope and his whole Conclave of Cardinals and their active Emiſſaries and all the Forces of Chriſtendom, will in a manner wholly effect it: and all this, which is the Miracle of Miracles, within the Space of three Years and an half. Nay, which is ſtill more miraculous, This quadrimular Antichriſt ſhall not only over-run Chriſtendom, but ſubdue the Grand Signior, over-run the Perſian, make the Tartarian Cham ſubmit to him in the North, and extort Homage from the remoteſt Kingdoms of Africa. Which is ſuch a piece of prophetick Fabuloſity as no Man would ever vent in the moſt Romantick Hiſtory. So incredible therefore is this Expoſition of Ribera in this regard alſo concerning the Seven Heads of the Beaſt.

15. Sixthly and Laſtly, To that Beaſt only to which the Seven Hills belong ſome way or other, Can the Seven Kings appertain; for both are ſaid to be ſignifi'd by the Seven Heads of the Beaſt, and therefore both have a proper and peculiar Reference to him: for they being his Typical Heads, to him muſt needs appertain what they are ſaid to typifie. But it is plain that the Seven Hills appertain to the Roman Beaſt, that is, to the Roman Empire: Therefore it is neceſſary that the Seven Kings likewiſe appertain thereunto. From whence it will follow, that theſe Kings cannot be the Kings of the Seven Ages of the World. For Rome was not built till about Anno Mundi 3200, when even the Fourth Age of the World, according to Ribera's own Reckoning, was almoſt expired. So impoſſible every way is this Expoſition of his, and againſt all Senſe and Reaſon. And yet it is the very beſt the Romaniſts have, and in which they think they have the ſafeſt Shelter, as appears in Cornelius à Lapide and Leſſius his adhering thereto rather than any other they have hitherto lighted upon.

16. The

16. The Weakneſs of all which Expoſitions Grotius, as it ſeems, friendly commiſerating, has minted one of a-new at his own Forge; which though we have elſe-where in ſome ſort examined already and found light and adulterate, yet it being a Matter of ſo great Moment, we will give it a ſecond Trial; wherein if it be again found manifeſtly falſe, and more fully detected to abound with groſs Incongruities and Impoſſibilities, I cannot imagine any thing omitted, for the giving us the greateſt Aſſurance that any one can deſire of the Truth of that Expoſition we have made of theſe Seventeenth and Thirteenth Chapters of the Apocalyps.

CHAP. II.

1. What the Meaning of the Scarlet Beaſt with ſeven Heads and ten Horns, and of the Woman riding him, is according to Grotius. 2. A Confutation of Grotius his Interpretation, out of our Joint-Expoſition. 3. Two main Grounds, or neceſſary Supporters of Grotius his Interpretation: The one, That St. John reckons the Seven Heads beginning at Claudius; with the Confutation thereof. 4. The other, That this Viſion was wrote in Veſpaſian's Time; with a Diſcovery of the Weakneſs and Falſeneſs of that Opinion. 5. That Claudius his baniſhing the Jews from Rome falls many Degrees ſhort of a Proof, that John was then exiled into Patmos: And that Impulſore Chriſto in Suetonius does not ſo much as evince that any Chriſtians were then expelled the City. 6. And if the Decree reached Chriſtians, it does not ſtrait follow that St. John was concerned therein. 7. An Anſwer to a Paſſage in Epiphanius alledged for St. John's Exile then. 8. An Anſwer to another alledged to the ſame Purpoſe. 9. That Epiphanius his Teſtimony makes againſt Grotius his main Project. 10. That Epiphanius is but one ſingle Father againſt the reſt, and that the Teſtimony of Irenæus alone is far to be preferred before his. 11. An unexceptionable clearing of the Senſe of Irenæus his Teſtimony; and that the very Detorſion of it will not ſerve Grotius his turn. 12. That there is not the leaſt Shadow of Probability that the Apocalyps was wrote before toward the End of Domitian's Reign. 13. Proofs out of the Apocalyps it ſelf, that it was not wrote before the Perſecution under Domitian. 14. The great Conſequence of the Clearing this Truth, it wholly ſubverting all Grotius his Interpretations of the Seals and Trumpets and all their Synchronals.

1. LET us therefore more accurately examine Grotius his Interpretation; the Sum whereof is this: "The Scarlet Beaſt ridden by the Whore of Babylon is the "old Roman Idolatry guided and diſpenſed by the ancient Ethnick Roman State or "Domination, as he calls it. The Seven Heads of the Beaſt are ſeven Roman Em"perors, Claudius, Nero, Galba, Otho, Vitellius; which five were fallen when St. John "had this Viſion, or at the leaſt wrote it, as Grotius ſuppoſes. But Veſpaſian was then "Reigning: Titus, the ſeventh, was not yet come; and when he was come, he was "to continue but a while." But the Beaſt that was, and is not, and is the Eighth King, "and conſequently an Eighth Head, that's Domitian, who, as Grotius pretends, reigned "firſt in his Father Veſpaſian's Abſence, but receding from the Government of the "Empire at Veſpaſian's Return, was then the Beaſt that was, but is not, but was after "to emerge and reſume the Empire again after Veſpaſian and Titus his Reign, and "to die a violent Death. The Ten Horns, he ſaith, are Ten Kings which were not "as yet (that is, in St. John's Time) in fide & reverentia Imperii Romani, but ſhould "be for a time: And thoſe, ſaith he, were the Oſtrogotthi, Viſigotthi, Vandali, Gepidæ, Longobardi, Heruli, Burgundiones, Hunni, Franci, Angli ſive Saxones.

2. Theſe are the main Strokes of Grotius his Interpretation of the Seventeenth Chapter of the Apocalyps: the general Lineaments of which not anſwering to thoſe of the Thirteenth, may make it upon that very Account ſuſpicable to thoſe that duly conſider what great Preſumption there is, or rather Demonſtration, that theſe two Chapters handle the very ſelf ſame things, but are ſo contrived, that the one may give Light to the other.

Wherefore the Dragon in the Twelfth Chapter, with ſeven Heads bearing ſeven Crowns, (which plainly ſhew that the Signification of Kings not Hills, is there to be underſtood) being wounded to Death in one of his Heads in that Fight, and healed ſo that all wrondred after him, I would demand of Grotius, which of theſe Emperors was wounded to Death in a Fight with Michael, and was then revived again to the Wonder of the World. Again, there are but ſeven Kings in the Thirteenth Chapter; how come there to be eight in the Seventeenth? Thirdly, The eight Kings in the Seventeenth Chapter are all idolatrous according to him, but the Inſcription of Idolatry is only upon ſeven Heads in the Thirteenth, which implies the Beaſt had no more than ſo. Of which things there can be no Senſe, unleſs according to ſuch an Explication as I have already exhibited.

wounded

Furthermore, If the Beaſt in the Seventeenth Chapter be the Roman Pagan Idolatry, how comes it to continue but forty two Months in Grotius his Senſe? For that is the Continuance of the Seven-headed Beaſt in the Thirteenth. Himſelf alſo acknowledges the Ten Horns of one Beaſt not to be the ſame with the ten Horns of the other. I omit to note that Dominatio Romana, which he ſays is the Babyloniſh Whore in the Seventeenth Chapter, is not the ſame with Magia in the other Chapter; whenas notwithſtanding I think it clear enough that the Whore of Babylon and the Two-horned Beaſt are the Types of one and the ſame thing. But this I confeſs may well ſeem too Magiſterial, to make my own Expoſition, though never ſo true, a Rule for others. Wherefore I ſhall wholly releaſe Grotius from any ſuch unequal Terms, and examine his Interpretations of theſe two Chapters of the Apocalyps upon free and common Principles, ſuch as all Men do appeal to.

3. And that, firſt, in a more general Way, ſearching into the Solidity of two main Grounds which he ſuppoſes: The one, That St. John begins the Reckoning of the ſeven Heads of the Beaſt from Claudius; the other, That this Viſion of the Whore of Babylon and the Beaſt that was, and is not, was wrote by St. John in Veſpaſian's time. Which Grounds are ſo neceſſary for his Interpretation, that without them it is not only incongruous, but impoſſible; foraſmuch as Five are ſaid to be fallen, and one to be, &c. which therefore this Interpretation neceſſarily requires and implies to be Veſpaſian, and that he then was when this Viſion was either ſeen or wtote. Wherefore his Reaſons for theſe Grounds deſerve a more diligent Examination.

For the firſt of which he alledges theſe two. Firſt, That Claudius was the firſt perſecuting Emperor, I mean that perſecuted the Chriſtians. Which yet is contrary to the whole Stream of Antiquity, who fix the firſt Perſecution upon Nero, omitting that Expulſion of the Jews from Rome as a thing either inconſiderable, or as not properly appertaining to the Chriſtians as ſuch, but as they were Jews. But ſo far as I ſee, Caius, the Predeceſſor of Claudius, afflicted both Jew and Chriſtian more by his enormous Extravagancies than ever Claudius did, concerning which Grotius himſelf has wrote in his Notes upon 2 Theſſ. 2. Mœror metúſque maximus & Judæorum & Chriſtianorum plenum habuit effectum. So that the Epoche might have begun at Caligula as well as Claudius according to this Rate, which ſhews the Expoſition to be but arbitrarious. Beſides, if the Epoche begin at Claudius becauſe a Perſecutor, why did not the Account break off where Perſecution ceaſed? For Galba, Otho, Vitellius, Titus and Veſpaſian are none of them infamous for any Perſecution.

The other Reaſon why this Epoche is fix'd on Claudius is, becauſe St. John himſelf was baniſhed into Patmos in Claudius his time, and therefore St. John accounts from the time of his Baniſhment, as Ezekiel from the Epoche of his Captivity. But this is a very weak Allegation. For Ezekiel did not compute the time from his particular Captivity, but from the Captivity of Jeconiah, as you may ſee again and again in Gaſpar Sanctius upon Ezekiel. Beſides that it is one thing for a Man to compute what happened to himſelf, as Ezekiel did, from the time of his private Captivity, and another to reckon the Succeſſion of Kings or Emperors from ſo private an Epoche. And then, which is ſtill worſe, it is not at all probable that St. John was baniſhed into Patmos in the Reign of Claudius: not only becauſe he ſuffered not as a Jew, but as he was a Witneſs of Jeſus; but alſo becauſe he has not ſet down that Epoche, which had been very neceſſary, and but ill omitted, if there were any ſuch great Streſs lay upon it, as to aſſure us of the Truth of the main Viſions of the Apocalyps.

Add to this, that St. John was not at Rome, and therefore unconcerned in this Edict of Claudius; and if he had been there, or where-ever elſe he was, there is no Mention made of any Confinement to Places in theſe Expulſions. And we ſee that Acts 18. Aquila and Priſcilla, that were expelled Rome, abode ſecurely enough in Corinth, to whom St. Paul joined himſelf, and wrought on his Trade with them. And, laſtly, it is againſt the whole Current of Antiquity, Irenæus, Origen, Tertullian, Euſebius, Hieronymus, Nicephorus, Victorinus, Primaſius, Andreas, and Aretas, and againſt the Univerſal Suffrage of both Papiſts and Proteſtants, who with one Voice declare that St. John's Exile into Patmos was under Domitian. But I need not inſiſt on theſe things ſo much for the preſent, ſith the Confutation of his ſecond Ground will make this vaniſh alſo.

againſt

4. Which ſecond Ground is, That the Viſion of the Whore and the Beaſt was wrote by St. John in Veſpaſian's time. But unleſs it was ſeen then, it will not ſerve the Turn; foraſmuch as it is not the Voice of St. John, but of the Angel, that ſays, Five are fallen, and one is, and therefore the Viſion, as well as the Writing thereof, muſt be in Veſpaſian's time: And alſo in the Iſland Patmos, becauſe once and for all at the Beginning of this Book of Viſions he ſaith, they happened to him in the Iſle of Patmos, and never gives any other Intimation throughout the whole Book: whence it is incredible but that they all befel him in that Retirement. Which things I note to meet with Grotius his Suppoſition in his De Antichriſto. That though St. John was baniſhed into Patmos under Claudius, yet he was out of the Iſland in Veſpaſian's time. From whence I could infer, that the Viſion of the Whore and the Beaſt was not ſeen by John in Veſpaſian's time. Which is the utter Deſtruction of Grotius his Expoſition, as I noted before.

5. And this alone of his own Conceſſion were enough to put an End to this Debate: but it being a Matter of ſuch great Conſequence, I ſhall inſiſt a little larger upon it, and no leſs than demonſtrate the utter Inſufficiency and Weakneſs of this Ground of Grotius. Wherefore ſticking cloſe to the Catholick Suffrage of Antiquity and of all Writers as well Proteſtants as Papiſts, let us again conſider what Reaſon Grotius has to exile St. John into Patmos in Claudius his time: for Claudius his expelling the Jews from Rome falls ſhort of baniſhing John into Patmos by many Degrees.

For, firſt, Grotius was to prove that by Jews are meant Chriſtians in that Place. For there are no contemptible Reaſons to induce one to believe that the Jews, not the Chriſtians, are meant there. Firſt, Becauſe the Chriſtians ſought a Kingdom above, not on the Earth: but the Jews ran mad after ſuch a Chriſt or Meſſias as would make them Maſters of the World; and therefore they only could ſeem dangerous in Rome, as whoſe Tumults tended to an earthly Booty. Secondly, In the Acts this Edict of Claudius is mentioned as touching the Jews only, and Aquila and Priſcilla, as being Jews, (for there is not the leaſt Intimation of there being Chriſtians) are ſaid to depart from Rome to Corinth. Thirdly, The freſh Remembrance of Tiberius his Edict againſt the Accuſers of Chriſtians might have ſtill that Influence upon the Mind of his Succeſſors, that ſo ſuddenly no ſuch harſh Sentence ſhould paſs againſt them; eſpecially they being a People, as I ſaid, whoſe Thoughts were on Heaven, did not lie at catch for things on Earth, And, laſtly, None of the Ancients ever taxed Claudius for any Injury done to the Chriſtians; whenas if they had been baniſhed, and St. John himſelf confined to Patmos, (which had been a very ſevere Puniſhment, and to Fleſh and Blood little leſs tolerable than Death) undoubtedly the Infamy of ſo great a Cruelty would have been tranſmitted to Poſterity by the Church, and Claudius not eſcaped the Brand of a Perſecutor.

Nor do thoſe Words of Suetonius prove the Edict to belong to the Chriſtians, Claudius Judæos impulſore Chreſto tumultuantes Româ expulit; but only that there was an Edict againſt the Jews. For who can believe any Weight in his aſſerting that they tumultuated impulſore Chreſto, whenas Chriſt was not then alive on Earth, much leſs at Rome, to incenſe the Jews into Tumults? unleſs it was that the Jews were occaſionally vext at the Chriſtians in Rome, and made a great deal a-doe at their Acknowledging ſuch a Meſſias as was crucifi'd, and therefore of whom there was no Hope of ſerving their Turn for the regaining of their Liberty and making them great Men in this World. Wherefore there being ſuch a Stir with the Jews concerning their Chreſtus or Meſſias againſt the Chriſtians, uncertain Fame might make Suetonius phraſe it ſo as he has: but this Inſpection into the Genius of the Jews might cauſe Claudius to expel them out of the City, it may be, in Favour of the Chriſtians, as well as for his own Security. This Paſſage in Suetonius is ſo far from determining this Edict to the Chriſtians, that Oroſius gives this Judgment of it: Utrùm contra Chriſtum tumultuantes Judæos coerceri & comprimi juſſerit, an etiam Chriſtianos ſimul, velut cognatæ religionis homines, voluerit expelli, nequaquam diſcernitur. So little Aſſurance is there that Claudius did any evil at all to the Chriſtians by that Edict mentioned in Suetonius. Oroſ. lib. 7. cap. 6.

*.

6. But

6. But ſuppoſe that Decree reached the Chriſtians alſo at Rome; it is but an arbitrarious Surmiſe to think it reached to other Parts of the Empire: and if to other Parts of the Empire, it is not a Confinement, as I have above hinted, but a Baniſhment at large from ſome one certain Place; and then only of ſuch, it is moſt likely, as were in Tumults, or at leaſt from ſuch Towns where they might have cauſed Tumults; which was moſt unlikely in the Place where St. John reſided, the Sweetneſs and Peaceableneſs of whoſe Spirit would tempt any diſcreet Governour to retain him, for the better keeping things in Peace. And yet ſo extravagant is this Suppoſition, that he is the only Man that is thus ſharply dealt with, nor can they produce an Example of any one elſe thus baniſhed in Claudius his time; and yet all the Apoſtles certainly were buſie enough in doing their Duties to propagate Chriſtianity in the Empire.

7. I but you will ſay, this Record of Claudius his expelling the Jews from Rome, being ſeconded with the Teſtimony of Epiphanius, who affirms him baniſhed into Patmos under the ſame Emperor, is ſuch a double Cord as will not eaſily be broken: Which I would the eaſilier grant, if they had any Strength at all ſingle; as I have ſhew'd the firſt has none, and ſhall do the like for the ſecond.

There are two Places alledged out of Epiphanius: The one Hæreſ. 51. Sect. 33. where ſpeaking of St. John, he writes thus; Αὐτῷ ᾧ πεφφητεύσαντ@, ἐν χρόνοις Κλαυδίκ Καίσαρος ἀνωτάτω, ὅτε εἰς τὴν Πάτμον ὑπῆρξεν, &c. But theſe Words are not ſpoken definitively of St. John's being in Patmos in Claudius Cæſar's Reign, but only that he was in Patmos and did propheſie there: but for the time he ſays it was at the fartheſt in Claudius his Reign; for that is the Meaning of ὡς ἀνωτάτω, that it was the ſooneſt that he could be thought to propheſie in Patmos, as an Exul there; but he does not ſay abſolutely he propheſied then. So that it is a more lax and conjectural Affirmation concerning the time, and only ſays that it is the utmoſt Diſtance within which he may be thought to have propheſied; not denying but that the time of his Propheſying might be later, ſuppoſe in Domitian's time. Of which Petavius is ſo confident, that he writes over againſt Imperante Claudio in the Text, this ſhort marginal Note, Mendosè, pro Domitiano; he taking it for granted that Epiphanius ſpeaks more definitively than I think he does. And I believe both Grotius, and others that cite the Place to the ſame Purpoſe with him, were aware of ſuch a Senſe of ἀνωτάτω as I have hinted, which made them leave it out of their Citation, as weakening the Force thereof.

Nor is it any Argument that Epiphanius does dogmatically define that St. John propheſied in Claudius his time, becauſe if he was not perſwaded of that Opinion, he would have followed the ordinary one, as being fitter to uſe againſt the Montaniſts, that would derogate from the Truth of the Apocalyps, by Reaſon of the Epiſtle to the Church of Thyatira, which they pretend to be wrote before there was any Church there: for then the later written the better. But ſuppoſing the Father uncertain which was true, and not aſſured but that the Montaniſts would prove that there was no Church as yet at Thyatira in Domitian's time neither; were there any Likelihood that he would peremptorily pitch upon Domitian's Reign rather than of the other, or rather not decline both, and betake himſelf to ſome other Anſwer, as indeed he does? For he ſeems to be in Love with the Objection thus circumſtantiated, he gaining ſo much (as he conceives), upon the Objectors as by their own Suppoſition to make them acknowledge St. John, or the Author of this Book of Viſions, to be really endued with the Spirit of Prophecy. Ἐὰν γὰρ εἴπωσιν, ὡς ἔστι νῦν ἐκκλησία εἰς Θυάτειρα, δεικνύουσι πεπροφητευκέναι τὸν Ἰωάννην· For if they ſay there was not a Church at Thyatira in being at that inſtant when St. John wrote, they plainly declare that St. John did propheſie and intimated afore-hand that there would be one. Wherefore Epiphanius found little Reaſon why he ſhould, from the State of the preſent Controverſie, chuſe the ordinary Opinion rather than that which is accounted his own.

8. The other Place of Epiphanius is Hereſ. 51. Sect. 12. where he tells us how St. John was impelled and conſtrained to write the Goſpel by the Inſtigation of the Holy Ghoſt; though he very much declined it δι' εὐλάβειαν καὶ ταπεινοφροσύνην, yet he was forced by that Impulſe, and that in his old Age, μετὰ ἔτη ἐννενήκοντα τῆς ἑαυτοῦ ζωῆς, μετὰ τὴν αὐτοῦ ἀπὸ τῆς Πάτμου ἐπάνοδον τὴν ἐπὶ Κλαυδίου γενομένην Καίσαρος· when he was more than ninety Years old, after his Return out of Patmos, which happened in Claudius his time. Where there is this Adjection of the Mention of his Return from Patmos as a Confirmation of the Grandevity of the Apoſtle at that time.

Now

*

Now let us see what Service this Magnus testis & Historiarum diligentissimus Inquisitor (as Grotius calls him, as well as he doth Petavius who so plainly contradicts him in this very Point) can do this learned Interpreter in the present Case. For this Passage, if there had been any Force in the former, does quite obtund it, it shewing Epiphanius not at all diligent in Chronology, (as Alcazar has also well observed) in making St. John above ninety Years old in Claudius his time, whenas the Common Tradition of the Church is, that he was very young when he entred upon his Appostleship. St. Jerom saith that Christ chose him when he was but a Youth or Child, Baronius makes him just twenty five Years old at the Passion of our Saviour. The Scripture it self implies also that he was but young, in that Christ says to his Mother concerning John, Woman, behold thy Son; which should imply that he was at least as young as our Saviour Christ, he being himself born of the Virgin when she was but of the Age of fifteen, as Nicephorus relates out of an Epistle of Euodius Bishop of Antioch. But by Epiphanius his Chronology St. John would be at least twenty Years older than the Blessed Virgin, concerning whom notwithstanding Christ says to John, Behold thy Mother. And which is still worse, if St. John was ninety Years old when he came out of Patmos under the Reign of Claudius, it will run the Nativity of Christ near forty Years back, and place it long before Cyrenius was Governour of Syria; forasmuch as all Men conceive St. John to be as young as our Saviour, if not much younger.

Which Absurdities detect Epiphanius not to be so great and unexceptionable a Witness in History as Grotius would make him. And therefore Petavius again peremptorily sets down in the Margin over against Epiphanius his ἐπάνοδον τὴν ὀπὶ Κλαυδίυ γενομένην Καίσαρος, Sub Cocceio Nerva Johannes revocatur ab exilio: Which certainly is the Truth, and agrees with that time of St. John's Age which Epiphanius allots to him, when he wrote the Gospel. For supposing him to be born about the same time our Saviour was, or a little later, this Writing of the Gospel will fall into the Years of Nerva, or at least some few Years after Domitian, according as you shall find it set down in Chronologies.

9. But supposing Epiphanius his Testimony of Value in this Case, the same Epiphanius that witnesses John in Patmos under the Reign of Claudius, witnesses him out again in the same Reign; which, as I have *already noted, spoils Grotius his Project, who would have St, John prophesie in Vespasian's time, else all the Fat is in the Fire as touching the Interpretation of the Seventeenth Chapter of the Apocalyps. But I think I have plainly proved that there can be nothing gained out of Epiphanius for establishing Grotius his Conceit, these Passages of the Father being either but Conjectures or Inadvertencies, or else some Lapses of the Scribe, who wrote, it seems more glibly the Name of Claudius than of the other two Emperors; as it might appear in that second Citation, St. John being indeed about that Age when he came out of Patmos in Cocceius Nerva his time, but not in Claudius's

* Sect. 4.

10. So that Grotius has not so much as one Witness to countenance his new Invention; and if he had had this one, what is one to the whole Stream of Antiquity and of the Churches? Nay, what is Epiphanius his Testimony compared with the Testimony of that one single Father Irenæus, he living two hundred Years nearer St. John's time than Epiphanius, and who expresly asserts, in Eusebius, that the Apocalyps was imparted to St. John at the End of Domitian's Reign? for speaking of the Name of the Beast, he writes thus; Εἰ ἔδει ἀναφανδὸν ἐν τῷ νῦν καιρῷ κηρύσσεσθαι τὸνομα αὐτοῦ, διὶ ἐκείνε ἂν ἐρρέθη τὸ καὶ τὴν ἀποκάλυψιν ἑωρακότος· ὁ γὰρ οὐ πολλῷ χρόνῳ ἑωράθη οὐδὲ τῇ πίλει Δομιτιανῷ ἀρχῆς, If the Name of the Beast had been openly to be divulged at this time, it would have been told by him that saw those Visions which under one collective Title are called The Apocalyps: For they were seen not long since at the End of Domitian*'s Reign.*

11. This I doubt not but is the genuin Sense of these Words, and that he speaks not of the Vision of the Beast alone under that Name of the Apocalyps, but of the whole Body of Visions so called: Otherwise for Distinctness Sake he would have said, not τὴν ἀποκάλυψιν ἑωρακότος, but τὴν αὐτοῦ ἀποκάλυψιν ἑωρακότος, especially considering Apocalypsis had then passed into a known Title of this Volume of Visions. Besides that the Name of the Beast was not seen by St. John, but the Number of his Name: And therefore whereas the Latine has it, Antichristi nomen per ipsum utique editum fuisset qui Apocalypsin videret, neque enim ante multum temporis visum est; I should easily believe that visum got in for visa, by the Oscitancy of the Scribe. For unless the Interpreter of Irenæus had understood [qui Apocalypsin videret] of the whole Collection of Visions, and not of the Beast only and his Name, he would have rather ſaid Revelationem, and for Sureneſs have added ejus, to make the Senſe more diſtinct and determinate; qui Revelationem ejus videret. And laſtly, ſuppoſe this Teſtimony proved only that the Viſion of the Thirteenth Chapter of the Revelation was ſeen at the End of Domitian's Reign, (which I have not the leaſt Conceit of) it will not ſerve Grotius his Turn, ſince this of the Seventeenth Chapter is later, both by Order of Situation in the Apocalyps, and alſo by Nature. For it being the plaineſt Viſion concerning the Beaſt with ſeven Heads and ten Horns that was exhibited to St. John, and containing in it a Key for the right Underſtanding the other, it ought to come laſt, the Comment being naturally later than the Text, according to common Senſe and Reaſon.

12. Wherefore ſeeing there is no Proof at all that Claudius perſecuted the Chriſtians, much leſs that he exiled John into Patmos, but that Domitian was a notorious Perſecutor, and univerſal Antiquity atteſting that St. John was baniſhed into Patmos under him, and that there he received the Apocalyps; there is nothing to give a Stop to the Concluſion, but that we may infer that the whole Volume of thoſe Viſions was there wrote by him towards the latter end of Domitian's Reign, as Irenæus has affirmed, (the ſecond Perſecution beginning not till the tenth Year of Domitian) I mean the latter end of his real and uncontrovertible Reign, when he ſucceeded his Brother Titus, not that imaginary one in his Father's Abſence, for he was not then truly Emperor. And though we ſhould admit he had two Reigns; if the End of his Reign be mentioned at large, as it is here in Irenæus, it muſt either ſignifie the End of all that Time he reigned, or the End of his more notorious and confeſſed Reign, which is here all one, and therefore moſt certainly underſtood. So that there is no avoiding the Authority of Irenæus by this Slight. Not to add that there is no Perſecution taken notice of in all Veſpaſian's Reign, and therefore no Patmos for St. John, and conſequently no Prophecy, as I have above noted. So that there is not the leaſt Shadow of Probability that the Apocalyps was wrote at any other time than in what Irenæus has declared it to be.

13. The Apocalyps it ſelf alſo witneſſes againſt this Dream of St. John's being in Patmos under Claudius his Reign, in that general Preface to all the Viſions, I John, who am alſo your Brother and Companion in Tribulation, and in the Kingdom and Patience of Jeſus Chriſt, &c. Which ſhews it was a Time of great Diſtreſs amongſt the Chriſtians, and of ſmart Perſecution. Which was ſo to none but John, if this was in Claudius his Time; at leaſt not in Aſia, to which Churches he writes.

But there is yet another more appoſite Place for our Purpoſe, I mean, the Martyrdom of Antipas Biſhop of the Church of Pergamus, who ſuffered under Domitian about the tenth Year of his Reign. That which I note as moſt remarkable in his Story is, That he was ſolicited by the Governour of the Place to renounce Chriſtianity, becauſe it was but a Novelty, urging upon him ὅτι τὰ πρεσβύτερα τιμῶπερ the very ſame Argument which the Papiſts uſe to ſeduce our modern Antipæ or Anti-papiſts. But that which I drive at is this; That the Mention of Antipas his Martyrdom as paſt in the very Beginning of this Book of Viſions does plainly detect that they were all ſeen after the Beginning of the ſecond Perſecution, which was under Domitian, and above twenty Years after the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem by Titus. For that the Record of Antipas his Martyrdom is true, there can be no doubt, his Mention in the Apocalyps engaging the Church to take more than ordinary Notice of that Martyr. Nor can any After-figments concerning his Suffering, I mean the Manner of it, make the Faith of the Church at all ſuſpected concerning the Time. So ſolid Aſſurance is there every way that this Volume of Apocalyptick Viſions was delivered to John in Patmos at the latter End of Domitian's Reign, and ſo convincing Evidence on every ſide, that he muſt be Sceptical even to Dotage that after due Conſideration can at all doubt of it.

14. The Eviction of which Truth I have thus copiouſly and induſtriouſly wrought out, becauſe it does not only lay flat to the Ground all the Interpretations of Grotius in theſe Thirteenth and Seventeenth Chapters, but alſo all his Expoſitions of the Seven Seals and Seven Trumpets, and conſequently of the whole Book of the Apocalyps. For he interprets the Seals and Trumpets of things that happened many Years before his Prophecy: which makes the Apocalyps as good Senſe as if it were a Foretelling of things that were paſt; whenas the Preface to the whole Book runs expreſly thus, The Revelation of Jeſus Chriſt, which God gave unto him, to ſhew unto his Servants ἃ δεῖ γενέσθαι ἐν τάχει, ſuch things as are ſhortly to come to paſs. But according to Grotius his Interpretation of the Seals and Trumpets, which are a chief Part of the Prophecy, and alſo of the Battel betwixt Michael and the Dragon, and ſeveral other Viſions, the Preface ſhould have run thus, The Revelation of Jeſus Chriſt, which God gave unto him, to ſhew unto his Servants what things came to paſs ſome while ago. Which things being alſo ſet down ſo Ænigmatically, as if he had a Mind to hide what was plainly brought to light in actual Events, the Title might have been more properly the Obvelation or Obſcuration than the Revelation. So fruitful is one Abſurdity once admitted for the Encreaſe and multiplying many others.

Prophecy

CHAP. III.

1. That as Grotius has miſ-timed theſe Viſions, ſo his Interpretations are accordingly abſurd and incongruous. 2. The Groundleſneſs of his beginning the Compute of the Seven Heads at Claudius, and ending it in Domitian. 3. The Dim-ſightedneſs of the ancient Fathers that could not diſcern Domitian to be the Beaſt that was, and is not, though they ſtood ſo exceeding much nearer him than Grotius. 4. The Trivialneſs and Falſity of this Conceit of his. 5. The ſecond, third and fourth Abſurdities of Grotius his Expoſition of this Seventeenth Chapter. 6. The fifth, ſixth, ſeventh and eighth Abſurdities. 7. The ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth. 8. The thirteenth, fourteenth, fifteenth and ſixteenth Abſurdities of his Expoſition.

1. WHerefore the Foundation of Grotius his Expoſitions being ſo falſe and flitting, and ſuch as cannot but ſhrink, if it be hard preſſed upon, the Structure cannot be ſound, nor well ſhapen, but forced, diſtorted, and difform. For if Prophecy will fit as well thoſe Times they aim not at as thoſe they do, they will be clouded with ſuch invincible Obſcurity, that they will loſe both their Uſefulneſs and Authentickneſs.

We ſhall ſhew therefore that Grotius, as he has gone upon a falſe Ground, ſo his Expoſition of theſe Seventeenth and Thirteenth Chapters are anſwerably harſh and unapplicable, and that he has left the plain Road, and ruſh'd through Hedge and Ditch, and pulled up all Fences, to gather a Noſegay of Flowers that both ſmell ill, and immediately wither in his Hand in the very gathering of them.

2. Suppoſing then that the Viſions of the Seventeenth and Thirteenth Chapters were imparted to St. John in Veſpaſian's Time, (which yet to me is undoubtedly falſe) let us take this brief View of the Harſhneſſes and Incongruities of his Interpretation.

As firſt, Whereas he makes the Seven Heads of the Beaſt to be Seven Emperors, five whereof were gone in Veſpaſian's Time, namely Claudius, Nero, Galba, Otho, Vitellius; I have ſhewn already that there is no Reaſon at all for his beginning his Compute at Claudius, John neither being baniſhed in his Reign, nor he being ſo ill an Emperor as his Predeceſſor Caius Caligula, and the Church reckoning not their Perſecutions before Nero, nor any Complaint made of Nero's Succeſſors till Domitian, that theſe ſhould be ſuch Heads of Blaſphemy above the reſt of the Emperors. Whence it is a very groundleſs and fictitious thing to make but five Heads to have preceded Veſpaſian, whenas he was the tenth from Julius Cæſar; and then to take in but two of his Succeſſors, Titus and Domitian, whenas at leaſt thirty ſucceeded him, in whoſe Time were eight of the Perſecutions of the Chriſtians.

3. For which curt Reckoning Grotius has no Excuſe but that it falls ſo luckily to Domitian's Share to be the Beaſt that was, and is not, and yet is; foraſmuch as he had been Emperor in his Father's Abſence, was not when this Viſion was given, and yet was, to wit, in Being, and ſhould aſcend out of the bottomleſs Pit again, that is, be Emperor again, after his Father and Brother Titus his Deceaſe. This is the Matter in which Grotius ſo much applauds himſelf, to the great Reproach of the ancient Fathers, who being ſo exceeding much more near to the time of Domitian than Grotius, could not for all that diſcern the fulfilling of this Prophecy in him: which therefore was, it ſhould ſeem, ever uſeleſs to the Church, being no Premonition to them of any thing.

4. But to profeſs my own Judgment freely concerning this Conceit, it ſeems to me to make the Spirit of Prophecy to affect the foretelling of pretty Things rather than uſeful and weighty. But as I have already demonſtrated out of Chronology that this Suppoſition of the Time of the Viſion is falſe, (whereby the peculiar Support and Recommendableneſs of the Interpretation is quite taken away) ſo are there alſo ſeveral Inconcinnities in it, and even Hiſtorical Defects, and nothing but what is hard and ſuſpicable.

For, in the firſt place, I will deny that Domitian was ever really and truly Emperor in his Father's Time, but that he was only a pragmatical and active Young-man, and did, as his Father Veſpaſian complains, terminos ætatis & conceſſa filio egredi, that he went ſomething beyond his Tether; which he might do without being Emperor, as alſo be ſaluted by that Title in Courtſhip by Flatterers. But a civil Salutation is no Inſtalment into the Imperial Power; otherwiſe Titus had been alſo Emperor in his Father's Time, whom the Soldiery, at his taking Jeruſalem, did with an univerſal gratulatory Acclamation ſalute Emperor. Nay he wore a Diadem alſo at Memphis at the Conſecration of the Ægyptian Apis, and great Rumors and Suſpicions there were that he had ſeized on the Eaſtern part of the Empire againſt his Father. It were too voluminous a Buſineſs to enter into Hiſtory; but I doubt not but, laying all Paſſages together, Titus will be found as much Emperor in his Father's Time as Domitian, and rather much more, and therefore a fitter Perſon to be the Beaſt that was, and is not, than Domitian in that regard. But neither of them fit, becauſe neither of them were truly and really Emperors before their Father's Deceaſe.

Beſides this, it is quite out of the Road of the Prophetick Style to call a Single Perſon a Beaſt, which in that Style always ſignifies a Body Politick. And then to ſay he is not, becauſe not Emperor, is hardly true; and that elegant Contradiction, [that he is not, and yet is] ſo expounded, that he is a Man, though he be not an Emperor, is but a flat and dilute Oppoſition in compariſon of that in the Expoſition I have given thereof, in ſhewing that the Image of the Beaſt is the Beaſt, and is not the Beaſt. But they could not ſay in Veſpaſian's Time, nor in Domitian's own Time, that Domitian was Emperor and yet not Emperor at once.

And, laſtly, his aſcending out of the bottomleſs Pit is a prophetick Phraſe, the ſame that to aſcend out of the Sea, or the Multitude of Waters, which is proper to Bodies Politick, they conſiſting of Multitudes of Men, but not fit to be ſaid of a Single Perſon, no more than Beaſt in the Prophetick Style is.

5. Secondly, The Angel's Interpretation of the Heads of the Beaſt is, that they are ſo many Kings, of which, ſaith Grotius, Domitian is the Eighth; αὐτὸς ὄγδοός ἐστιν, He is the eighth King. Wherefore Domitian is plainly and unavoidably the eighth Head, according to Grotius his Interpretation, and the foregoing Expoſition of the Angel, which cannot be rejected. Whence it will follow that the Beaſt has eight Heads, which is point-blank againſt all the Viſions of the Beaſt which exhibit him ever Seven-headed.

Thirdly, Grotius notwithſtanding makes Domitian the Beaſt himſelf. Which is a thing impoſſible, that one and the ſame Being ſhould be both the whole Beaſt and the Head of the Beaſt. Beſides, how hard and vexed a Senſe, or rather how palpable a Piece of Non-ſenſe, will that be that ſhall pretend to make Claudius, Nero, Galba, Otho, Vitellius, Veſpaſian and Titus the Heads of Domitian, they being all of one equal Supremacy, I mean Domitian with thoſe other ſeven foregoing Cæſars, and not in being when he was the Beaſt, and therefore impoſſible to be his Seven Heads?

Fourthly, How wild a Conceit again is it, to clap Ten Horns on this one Man or Beaſt Domitian his Head ſome Ages after his ceaſing to be, as I have elſe-where noted Grotius to do, who makes theſe Ten Horns to be the Oſtrogotthi, Viſigotthi, Vandali, Gepidæ, &c? Certainly it were requiſite that Domitian were raiſed out of Hell again to live upon Earth, (as a late Eſſayer upon the Apocalyps imagines) to make this Part of the Prophecy any thing at all applicable unto him. Whence the Madneſs of Grotius his Expoſition is more fully detected, that cannot be made out without the Help of ſuch incredible Extravagancies.

6. Fifthly, The Beaſt that was, and is not, is the very Beaſt which the Whore is ſaid to ride upon, as is plain out of the Text: The Beaſt which thou ſaweſt, was, and is not; and the Whore rode upon the Beaſt which he ſaw. Did therefore the Whore (which Grotius interprets Dominatio Romana) ride only in Domitian's time, and go on foot in the former and following Ages?

Sixthly, The Beaſt which John ſaw, Grotius firſt interprets the Roman Pagan Idolatry. But was this Beaſt ſo ſhort-liv'd as to be included within the Space of the Reign of ſeven Emperors? or did this Beaſt live ſo long time without any Heads, then with ſeven ſucceſſive Heads, and then for a long time without Heads again, that it ſhould be called the Beaſt with ſeven Heads and no more?

Seventhly, To call Idolatry in the Abſtract a Beaſt, is quite out of the Prophetick Style; and to make one and the ſame Beaſt one while Idolatry and another while Domitian, is to change Subſtances into Accidents, and Accidents into Subſtances, and to ſpeak contradictiouſly to the expreſs Interpretation of the Angel himſelf, who ſays, The Beaſt which thou ſaweſt, was, and is not, which in Grotius his way can be none but Domitian. Nor is there any Subterfuge to be ſought in a ſecond Henopœia in this Caſe: for that Figure is no Shelter for Bungles and Shifts from Abſtracts to Concretes in the ſame kind, but a handſome Repoſitory for different Matters ſignifiable by one Type; as is eaſie to be underſtood from what is declared concerning that Scheme.

Eighthly, If Domitian be the Beaſt, and the Whore the Roman Power, then the Roman Power rides on Domitian's Back, as if Domitian were not the Head but the Body of the Empire, or, if you will, metamorphos'd by this marvellous Interpretation into Apuleius his Aſs for the Roman Power to ride on. But then again Domitian being chief of the Roman Power himſelf, he muſt by this Account ride alſo upon himſelf, and make a wonderful Centaure, ſuch as the deepeſt-witted Poets never ſo much as dream'd of.

7. Ninthly, If the Whore be the Roman Pagan Power, How can ſhe be ſaid to be the Mother of Fornications, and out of her Cup to intoxicate the Kings of the Earth with that kind of Wickedneſs, whenas all the Earth, before the Empire was Chriſtian, were Idolaters of themſelves, and ſtored Rome her ſelf with multifarious Kinds of Idolatry? Which Objection neither Grotius nor any one elſe, with all the Fetches they have, will be ever able to aſſoil.

Tenthly, This Inſcription on the Whore of Babylon, Babylon the Great, the Mother of Fornications, cannot be underſtood of Rome Heathen, as Grotius would have it, becauſe there is prefixed [Myſtery] before it; which would be a ſorry Myſtery indeed, if it were only a bare Synecdoche, and ſhould intimate no more than that Rome Pagan was another Babylon, that is to ſay, an Idolatrous City. O the Depth of the Myſtery! Apoc. 17. 5.

In the Eleventh place, Thoſe Ten Kingdoms which Grotius would inſinuate to be the Ten Horns, were not Kingdoms intra fines Imperii Romani, as he ſpeaks, before the Converſion of the Empire to Chriſtianity, nay indeed before the Subverſion of it, or Diſcerption into many Kingdoms: How then could theſe Kings give their Power to the Beaſt; I mean not only to Domitian, who is farther removed from them, but to the Roman Pagan Idolatry, which by this time of Diſcerption had ceaſed to be the Religion of the Empire? Or how can they be ſaid to eat the Fleſh of the Whore and burn her with Fire, whenas the City of Rome had ceaſed to be the Pagan Whore before theſe Kings were in Being, much more before ſhe was aſſaulted and ſacked by Totilas, which was Anno 547. whenas Gentiliſm was caſt out, and the Temples of their Idols demoliſhed all over the Empire about the Year 399. the very next to that wherein (according to the Devil's Miſtake upon his Survey of the Proportion betwixt the Inward and Outward Court of the Temple) Chriſtianity was expected by the Heathens to expire? Apoc. 17. 13. Verſ. 16.

And again in the Twelfth place, How can thoſe Ten Kings which Grotius aſſigns be ſaid to fight againſt the Lamb in his Senſe, that is againſt Chriſtianity in the Behalf of the Roman Pagan Idolatry, whenas the Empire had then become Chriſtian, and was not that Pagan Beaſt to whom they ſhould lend their Aid and Power againſt the Preaching of the Goſpel? Was it a likely thing that ſuch ten Kings that were Foes to Chriſtianity ſhould, as Grotius ſpeaks, intra fines Imperii Romani ipſis concedentibus regnare? So impoſſible is Grotius his Interpretation concerning the Ten Horns every way. Apoc. 17. 14.

8. In the thirteenth Place, This Deſtruction of Babylon is a perfect παναλεθρία, a full and final Deſtruction, ſet out by the Caſting a Millſtone into the Midſt of the Sea. But none of Grotius his Ten Kings ever deſtroyed Rome in ſuch a Manner.

In the fourteenth Place, That Exhortation to the People of God to go out of Babylon, leſt they partake of her Sins, can make no good Senſe in Totilas his time. For would the Angel have all the Chriſtians leave the City of Rome in the Year 546. and for ſeveral Years upwards towards Conſtantine's time, becauſe there might be ſome Pagan Idolaters ſtill amongſt them, and not rather keep the City, for the better Suppreſſing Apoc. 18. 4.

preſſing Idolatry and quite extinguiſhing it? Truly this Gloſs of Grotius is very ridiculous and incredible, that makes the Angel utter ſuch an irrational Exhortation.

Fifteenthly, If [Come out of her my People, leſt ye partake of her Sins] be, as Grotius interprets, Tu populo mi, ubi apparuerit Totilæ exercitus, exite ad Baſilicas Apoſtolorum extra Urbem, it will follow, that to have returned again into the City after Totilas was gone, had been to return into Babylon and partake of her Sins again. Which is a very vain and fond Conceit.

9. Laſtly, His interpreting that Inſtigation [Reward her as ſhe has rewarded you] to be made to Totilas and the Goths, is harſh and groundleſs. For what Injury had Rome done to the Goths? but rather the Empire was injured by them. And therefore Grotius is ſenſible of the ill Service that Pronoun ὑμῖν does his Interpretation, and upon that Account applauds a certain Manuſcript that has left it out, but not very loudly, it being ſo generally contradicted by other Copies. Sed ὑμῖν abeſt in MS. non male.

CHAP. IV.

1. That this Miſ-timing of Viſions muſt needs caſt Grotius into the like Abſurdities in interpreting the Thirteenth Chapter, and that his Expoſition of the firſt Verſe thereof is guilty of at leaſt nine or ten. 2. Four groſs Contradictions in the Second. 3. As many Incongruities or Weakneſſes in the Third. 4. As alſo in the Fourth and Fifth. 5. Two Abſurdities in the Sixth and Seventh. 6. As many in the Eighth. 7. Three Difficulties in the Expoſition of the tenth Verſe. 8. Five Incongruities in the Eleventh. 9. His groſs Interpretation of the twelfth Verſe. 10. Four Abſurdities in the Thirteenth. 11. Eight Incongruities or Weakneſſes in his Expoſitions of the fourteenth Verſe. 12. Three in the Fifteenth. 13. Three or four more in the Sixteenth and Seventeenth. 14. And nine more in the eighteenth Verſe. 15. The Aſtoniſhing Conſideration of the Abſurdneſs of Grotius his Expoſitions compared with his Parts and Learning. 16. An Uſeful Illation from this weak Performance of his, That all the Expoſitions of the Romaniſts upon theſe two Chapters are ſuperlatively frivolous and incredible.

1. THus many Incongruities and Inconſiſtencies, that I may not ſay Impoſſibilities and Contradictions, are there in the Expoſition of this Seventeenth Chapter. Let us now ſee how ſucceſsful he is in the Thirteenth: where he taking the ſame Liberty of applying the Prophecy to times it was never meant of, it will be a Wonder if we find not the Interpretation alike harſh and incongruous. Let us paſs therefore through the whole Chapter from Verſe to Verſe. Where

In the Firſt, he makes the Beaſt with ſeven Heads and ten Horns to be the Roman Idolatry, whoſe Heads are ſeven Hills, and whoſe Horns are ten Kings, namely, of Armenia, Thracia, Galatia, Pontus, Judæa, Arabia, Adiabena, Suevia, Alpes Cottiæ, and Alpes Idionni. From which Account notwithſtanding he varies in his ſecond Notations: And concerning which I will omit to note any thing farther, then that ſuch (1) petty Kings as ſome of them are, in Compariſon of the Roman Empire eſpecially, could not well deſerve the Name of the Horns thereof, and that in Reference to Idolatry, (2) as if they were ſo peculiar Defenders of it. For there is no Hiſtory that mentions their Goring any one ſo particularly and conſiderably in the Behalf thereof; and Judæa is an unſutable Horn for an idolatrous Head to wear. Beſides that their (3) wearing of Crowns ſeems too magnificent an Ornament for them that are acknowledged (beſides the Scantneſs of the Territories of ſome of them) to be Tributaries to the Roman State. So that the Invention ſeems ſomething Faint touching theſe Ten Kings, and the Prophecy uſeleſs, they tending to no Notice of any thing to the Church that might at any time be uſeful for them.

But now concerning the Beaſt it ſelf. Beſides that it is (4) not according to the Prophetick Style to interpret a Beaſt to be a Vice but a Body Politick, how can the (5) Roman Idolatry be repreſented thereby, ſith it is ſaid to aſcend out of the Sea, which Grotius confeſſes to ſignifie ortum habere? But the Roman Idolatry could not be prefigured to St. John as a thing to ariſe hereafter, ſince it had been in the World ſo many Ages ago, and did ſtill continue. Wherefore it was not to (6) begin with the fourty-two Months to come, nor was to end with them in Grotius his Senſe. Nor did the Deifying of their Cæſars make a new Idolatry, no more than taking other other Deities into their Worſhip. Nor did that Idolatry (7) continue but forty two Months, as Grotius expounds Months in this Place; I ſay, neither the Roman Idolatry nor Cruelty continued but forty two Months: and therefore the Beaſt here deſcribed cannot be Idololatria ferino more ſæviens in that Meaning Grotius would have it.

*

Add to all this, That the Making the Seven Heads to be the Seven Hills of Rome is a very unlikely Expoſition here, both becauſe in the foregoing Chapter theſe Heads are ſaid to be (8) crowned, which is not proper for Hills, and one of them in this Chapter to be (9) wounded and healed again, which is as little proper to theſe dead Heaps of Earth; as alſo it is very harſh to (10) clap on ſeven Heads and ten Horns in a concrete Senſe upon a Beaſt that is an Abſtract. Which is as harſh as to make the Body of a Bull Redneſs in the Abſtract, and then to ſet a ſolid Head and Horns upon him of hard Bone and Fleſh, &c. If a Man will be ſo curious as to count, he will find Grotius his Interpretation guilty of at leaſt nine or ten Weakneſſes or Incongruities in this very firſt Verſe. But we proceed.

2. In the Second, he makes Claudius the Body of this Beaſt which is Panther-like, and Domitian the Mouth thereof; than which nothing can be more extravagant. For this Beaſt with ſeven Heads and ten Horns he acknowledges to be the Roman Idolatry in the 17*th* Chapter alſo. Whence it will follow, (1) That Claudius is both the Body of the Beaſt and one of the Heads; and (2) Domitian both Body, Head and Mouth, as may appear from what was noted in the foregoing Chapter. And alſo, which is as harſh as any thing, Claudius being the Body of the Beaſt and Domitian the Mouth, (3) the Body will be without a Mouth for as many Years as there are betwixt Claudius and Domitian's Reign, which was about forty Years. The (4) Dragon alſo giving his Power to the Beaſt and his Throne, can be no Prophecy of the Roman Idolatrie's receiving of it, becauſe that was done many Ages before.

3. In the Third, he makes the Head of the Beaſt wounded to Death to be the Capitol, and the Healing thereof the Building of it up again by Veſpaſian; upon whoſe Coin was ſtamped Roma reſurges. (1) Now, firſt, I ſay that it is an hard Metaphor to ſay an Edifice of Wood or Stone is wounded to Death, and then healed. But ſuppoſe the Capitol wounded, (2) the Hill was not hurt, at leaſt not wounded to Death; ſo that unleſs there were ſeven Capitols as well as ſeven Hills, the Conceit will come off very hardly: but if you leave the Capitol, and take to the Hill, the Hill can no more be ſaid to be wounded than a Man's Head whoſe Hat is only cut. Again, the main thing aimed at by Grotius in interpreting this wounded Head or the Fall of the Capitol is not true. (3) For Idolatry was not at all leſſened by the Fall of the Capitol, nor the Fear of the Romans that the Worſhip of Idols would fall after it, but that the Empire would be ruined by the Incurſion of the Northern Nations; and upon this Account is that Omen inſcribed upon Veſpaſian's Coin, Roma reſurges. And, laſtly, whereas it is ſaid that all the World wondred after the Beaſt upon the Healing of his deadly Wound, it is manifeſt that ſome (4) ſtranger thing than the Building up the Capitol muſt be underſtood thereby. For was it any Wonder to ſtrike all the World, that the Capitol ſhould be built up again by ſo rich a City and the Lady of the World? Truly the great Wonder had been if they had not re-built it.

4. In the fourth, he interprets καὶ προσεκύνησαν τῷ θηρίῳ, Idololatriæ inſervierunt: which is as if it were προσεκύνησαν τῇ εἰδωλολατρείᾳ, (1) they worſhipped Idolatry. Which is a very hard Phraſe.

In the Fifth, here Domitian is made the Mouth of the Beaſt, as was ſaid before, and by attributing the Reign of the Beaſt to him, (2) the whole Beaſt: and this becauſe Domitian's Perſecution is ſuppoſed to be but three Years and an half; for he began to perſecute, ſaith Grotius, in the thirteenth Year of his Reign, and was ſlain in the Sixteenth. (3) But this does not prove that his Perſecution was juſt three Years and a half; and Baronius and other Chronologers place the Beginning of that Perſecution in the tenth Year of his Reign. Beſides, (4) the next does not ſay, He ſhall perſecute three Years and an half, but continue ſo long. But Domitian continued above three Years and an half, for he reigned ſixteen Years according to Grotius his own Confeſſion.

5. In the Sixth and Seventh, he makes Domitian, ſtill the Beaſt, and expounds [And there was Power given him over every Tribe, and People, and Language,] of the Power of his Example to a more impudent Exerciſe of Idolatry. That's one Shift.

Another is this, That in his Reign the Dacæ, Catti and Sarmatæ were overcome, and the Roman Idolatry propagated thereby: as if it were a worſe Idolatry than that of thoſe Barbarians. But let any one judge if ſuch a lank and improper Senſe as this can fill out the Meaning of the Prophecy, which ſpeaks of a (1) Political, not Moral, Power over the Nations, and of a thing as (2) new. But that the Roman Empire had ſuch a large Dominion, was true in the Reigns of the fore-going Emperors as well as in his.

6. In the Eighth, here he makes the Beaſt, whom all (whoſe Names are not in the Book of Life) do worſhip, to be in one Expoſition Domitian, and that to (1) worſhip him is to imitate him in Idolatry and Cruelty; which is a very inſipid Senſe, and without Example in this Caſe, and ſuch as himſelf ſeems out of Conceit with: And therefore in his After-Expoſition Domitian is not the Beaſt, but Idolatry, as if to (2) worſhip Idolatry were a more tolerable Phraſe. But there muſt needs be this Shifting and Fridging when an Interpretation ſits ſo uneaſie on a Text as this does.

7. In the Tenth, If any one ſtrike with the Sword, he ſhall periſh with the Sword; This he applies to Domitian who was ſtabbed by Stephanus. But it ſeems to be (1) moſt natural to conceive the Menaces of Leading into Captivity and periſhing by the Sword ſpoke concerning the ſame Party. And therefore Captivity being not underſtood of Domitian, that being ſmitten by the Sword is not underſtood of him; but that the Prophecy concerns a Body Politick, and not a ſingle Perſon. For the (2) Patience and Faith of the Saints ſeems alſo to imply a larger Exerciſe of theſe Virtues than the term of three Years and an half would urge them to; as alſo there ſeems to be an Intimation of being (3) freed from their Troubles after this Beaſt is vanquiſhed; but if Domitian be he, not the ſmalleſt Part of them are over by his Death, there being no fewer than eight grievous Peſecutions behind. Not to ſuggeſt that there was a greater Affliction upon the Chriſtians in Nero's time than in Domitian's, whom Tertullian calls only Portionem Neronis. And therefore the Faith and Patience of the Saints were moſt exerciſed then. Which further betrays the Groundleſneſs and Arbitrarioufneſs of Grotius his Expoſition.

8. In the Eleventh, here he makes the Beaſt with two Horns like a Lamb to be Art magick, and the two Horns themſelves to be Abſtinence from Meats, and Chaſtity or Abſtinence from Women. Which he would have to be an Imitation of Chriſtianity, and therefore to be called the Horns of a Lamb. But in that this Beaſt is ſaid to ſpeak like a Dragon, that it is imply'd that what he utters is for the Honour of the Devil. In which Interpretation there are theſe Flaws. 1. That the Beaſt is an Art, and not a Body Politick; which is againſt the Laws of the Prophetick Style. 2. That the Horns are ſimulated Virtues, not Political Powers ſeated in ſome Men or other; which is the genuin Meaning of Horns in the Phraſe of the Prophets, and which is to be found firſt before we adjoyn any other ſecondary Senſe to the Type. 3. Vowed Cœlibate and Abſtinence from Meats are ſo far from being the Characteriſtical Virtues of Chriſtianity, that they are diſavowed by her, as being either Parts or Signs of the great Apoſtaſie that was to ſeize the Church. 4. There ſeems plainly intimated a ſtrange Contradiction and Oppoſition in the Property of this Beaſt, That it looking ſo Chriſtian-like, ſhould ſpeak for the Devil: but if this Beaſt were Magick, it were ſtrange if it did not ſpeak the Language of the Dragon. Laſtly, The times which Grotius fixes this Prophecy to, namely of Domitian and Trajan, do not agree with his Conceit, theſe Emperors being no Favourers of Magick, but the former rather a Perſecutor of it, and of that very Apollonius whom he conceives to be eſpecially pointed at in this Prophecy.

9. In the twelfth, he makes the Two-horned Beaſt's exercizing all the Power of the former Beaſt before him, to ſignifie, that Magick alſo had her Sacrifices as well as Idolatry. But truly Magick though it had Sacrifices, yet they were clancular ones, as being ſo horrid and execrable. And Philoſtratus makes it his Buſineſs ſeveral times to clear Apollonius from that Suſpicion. Which is a Sign that Magick had not ſo open an Exerciſe of its abhorred Sacrifices as this Text would import, if Grotius his Interpretation were true. Pliny calls them Sacra prodigioſa, and tells us that this ſacrificing of Men was taken away by a Decree of the Senate, beſtowing this Epiphonema upon the Roman State for ſo doing, Nan ſatis æſtimari poteſt quantum Romanis debeatur qui ſuſtulere monſtra, in quibus hominem occidere religioſum erat, mundi verò etiam ſalubertimum. And this certainly is properly that Magick which was diſtinguiſhable from Pagan Idolatry ſimply ſo called, (which worſhipped and invoked the Devil as well as the Magicians,) but ſuch, as the Roman Idolatry would not ſuffer her to Hiſtor. Natur. lib. 30. cap. 1.

exer-

exerciſe her Power in her Sight upon any Pretence. Nor did Apollonius exerciſe any ſuch Power, who being a Pythagorean abhorred all bloody Sacrifices whatſoever.

10. In the Thirteenth, he interprets the bringing down Fire from Heaven of that Lightning which happened at Apollonius his Birth, and of that Glimpſe of Light that Achilles's Ghoſt gave at his Departure after Apollonius his Conference with him by Night at his Sepulcher. Which is a very frigid Expoſition. For why ſhould that Lightning which happened at Apollonius his Birth be imputed to him as an Effect of his Magick, (1) who was neither capable then of being a Magician nor any thing elſe? Beſides that he was born before this Prophecy, as Grotius himſelf muſt needs, according to his own Account, acknowledge and admit; and therefore upon (2) that Ground the Interpretation is impoſſible. That Glimpſe of Light alſo which Achilles's Ghoſt gave at his Parting, that it ſhould be the cauſing Fire to fall from Heaven, is altogether incredible; (3) for this Glimpſe of Light was upon Earth where the Ghoſt was, did not fall from the Sky; beſides, it was in (4) private, as the Story in Philoſtratus will prove, not ἐνώπιον τῶν ἀνθρώπων, not in the Face or View of the World.

11. In the Fourteenth, he interprets the making of an Image to the Beaſt, of Apollonius his boaſting that he had raiſed up the Ghoſt of Achilles in Favour of Idolatry. But who ever expounded ποιῆσαι εἰκόνα (which is to make an Image, Picture, or Statue) to raiſe a Ghoſt? For ſuppoſing εἰκὼν would ſignifie ſo as Umbræ in Latin, (of which notwithſtanding I dare ſay there is no Example) yet ποιῆσαι εἰκόνα would not be good Senſe; foraſmuch as theſe Umbræ are not made by Magical Evocations, but made only to appear. 2. He would not have ſaid ποιῆσαι, which ordinarily ſignifies no more than ποιεῖν but πεποιηκέναι, if it were a Boaſt of ſomething done already, and not a Precept or Command to do ſomething. 3. If the Senſe were λέγων πεποιηκέναι, it would have been ſaid alſo, to continue the Senſe in the following Verſe, ᾧ ὅτι ἐδόθη αὐτῷ δοῦναι, as any one will acknowledge that does but obſerve the Contexture of the whole Sentence. Laſtly, whereas this Conjuring up the Ghoſt of Achilles was to revive the Beaſt who had the deadly Wound, as Grotius intimates, this claſhes with what was acknowledged before, that this Wound was healed in re-edifying the Capitol. Nor can this Healing be naturally underſtood of any more than the firſt-mentioned Wound which the Beaſt received in the Battel with Michael.

But Grotius diſtruſting the Fitneſs of this Expoſition, upon ſecond Thoughts forges another to add to it, namely, That the Diſciples of Apollonius cauſed a Statue to be erected to him. But if this be ποιῆσαι εἰκόνα τῷ θηρίῳ, Apollonius will prove the Seven-headed Beaſt, becauſe the Image is erected to him. 2. Grotius produces no Hiſtory that atteſts that certain Magicians, Diſciples of Apollonius, gave any ſuch Order. 3. That Expreſſion [Saying to them that dwell upon Earth] is too big for the private Inſtructions of any Diſciples of Apollonius to one ſingle Town or ſome few Perſons therein. Laſtly, it is but a lank Buſineſs to take notice of one ſingle Statue for Idolatry, when there were already innumerable Numbers of them in the Empire.

12. In the Fifteenth, he interprets the Two-horned Beaſt's giving Life or Breath to the Image, ſo that it would ſpeak, of Apollonius his Confabulation with Achilles's Ghoſt, or of his Statue's ſpeaking. But ſuppoſe his Statue did ſpeak, (which yet Philoſtratus, who made it his Buſineſs by Travel and Enquiry to know where Apollonius was buried, does not mention) it is not preſently to be imputed to Magick, ſince that Idol-Garrulity is often noted in Hiſtory without any ſuch Reflexion. 2. That Image that is here ſaid to ſpeak, is ſaid to give in charge that they that would not worſhip the Image of the Beaſt ſhould be killed; but there is no Record of any ſuch Edict from either the Ghoſt of Achilles or the Statue of Apollonius, that they that would not worſhip their Images ſhould be killed. 3. But if the worſhipping of the Image of the Beaſt be underſtood of the Univerſality of Images or Idols; beſides that it is exceeding hard and extravagant to change that ſettled Senſe of this Word in which it had been uſed thrice before, that alſo will want Proof, that either the Statue of Apollonius or Specter of Achilles ever gave any Command that they that would not worſhip Images ſhould be killed.

13. In the Sixteenth and Seventeenth, καὶ ποιεῖ πάντας ſeems moſt naturally to be ſpoken of the Image of the Beaſt in the foregoing Verſe, of whom it was ſaid ᾧ ποιήσῃ which was either the Ghoſt of Achilles or the Statue of Apollonius: here of a ſudden Magia is underſtood; which is but an harſh Shift. But this Magia it is that makes all Ranks of Men to enter into ſome Religious Society or other, and in token thereof to receive either the Mark of this or that God, as of a Thunder-bolt for Jupiter, an Ivy-leaf for Bacchus, an Helmet for Mars, a Trident for Neptune; or the Names of ſuch Gods, or the Number compriſed in their Names, or elſe not to be permitted to buy or ſell.

But againſt this I urge, That the Mark of the Sealed is not a viſible Puncture or Stigmatiſm, and therefore it's likely that, in a Book ſo Symbolical as the Apocalyps is, the Mark of the Beaſt does not ſignifie ſo groſsly and literally. 2. Theſe Fraternities or Societies were not the Procurement of Apollonius his Magick in Trajan's time, they being in uſe long before. Laſtly, it is not credible, nor is there any Hiſtory to make it good, that no Pagan could buy nor ſell, unleſs he had ſome ſuch ſacred Stigmatiſm upon his Body. So inadequate and groundleſs is this part of Grotius his Interpretation.

14. In the Eighteenth, he makes Ulpius Trajanus to be him to whom the Number 666 belongs; but very groundleſly, nay againſt all Reaſon. For it is a mere Miſtake in him to think that the Number is underſtood of the Number of any Man's Name whatſoever, becauſe it is expreſly ſaid that it is the Name of the Beaſt: And Ribera takes away all Occaſion of any ſuch Error, interpreting [For it is the Number of a Man] according to the Mind of Aretas, (or at leaſt according to what he thought ſhould have been his Mind as well as his own) in quite another Senſe, Numerus enim proprius hominis eſt, & intellectum habentis ac raciocinantis eſt numerare. 2. If it were the Number of a Man, it being intended for the Note of one moſt ſignally wicked and miſchievous to the Church, why muſt it fall to Trajan's Share, when there were Emperors far worſe than he, or rather when he was ſo very good an Emperor, and not ſo cruel a Perſecutor of the Chriſtians as ſeveral others were, but one that eaſily deſiſted being once rightly informed of things; who gained ſo much on the Chriſtians themſelves, that they thought he got to Heaven, and amongſt the Heathens made up part of that auſpicious Acclamation of the Senate to their Cæſars, Felicior Auguſto, Melior Trajano? 3. What a Leap is this to leave all the Seven Heads of the Beaſt, and pitch upon one that has not been in Play all this while? 4. That alſo is very weak and ſuſpicable, to find this Number in his Prænomen or Fore-name, and not in his Name. 5. But far worſe to fall ſhort, or rather to miſreckon, in the Account; for aſſuredly in Οὔλπιος, write the final Sigma as you will, is being ſtill a Sigma, it will have no other Valor than 200: whence the whole Sum of the Name will not be 666, but 860, as any one may ſee that will reckon: For that Sigma even in the End ſignifies 200, is plain in Νεῖλος, Ἰησοῦς, Λατεῖνος and ſeveral other Examples. This is moſt certainly true, and there is no Subterfuge at all to avoid it, as Mareſius, Grotius his Antagoniſt, has fully made good againſt him; as he has indeed every where, in a Manner, worſted him, though Grotius ſo unſeemly contemns him, trampling him down into the Durt under that uncivil Nick-name of Borborita. 6. The Mark, the Name, and the Number belong all to one; wherefore if the Number be Trajan's, the Mark muſt be his alſo. But might no Body buy nor ſell who had not his Mark on their Hand or Fore-head? 7. Here is Wiſdom, let him that has Underſtanding count the Number of the Beaſt, is ſuch a Preface as implies another Sort of Numbering than the mere ſumming up the numeral Letters of a Name into one Sum. 8. To what Purpoſe was this ſetting down the Number 666 for the denoting of the Emperor Ulpius Trajanus, it never entring into any one's Head that this Number reflected upon him till Grotius hit upon it and miſt it both at once? 9. And, laſtly, if Οὔλπιος did contain in it juſt 666, (as it does moſt certainly 860) it would follow indeed that this would be no Lett but that Trajan might be that former Beaſt in the Viſion, according to Grotius his Expoſition. But we are withal to remember that he had before made Domitian to be the Beaſt, and Claudius; ſo that a Triumvirate of Beaſts is but One Beaſt. And not only theſe three Varieties, but it muſt be Idolatry in the Abſtract beſides: which is groſly againſt our ſecond Rule of rightly Interpreting of Prophecies. Thus infinitely forced and diſtorted, nay, groundleſs, contradictious and inconſiſtent, is Grotius his Expoſition of theſe two Chapters of the Apocalyps all along.

15. The Conſideration whereof has even caſt me into an Aſtoniſhment, that a Perſon of thoſe admirable Parts and Learning, and, as I have been always prone to think, of great Ingenuity, ſhould ever pleaſe himſelf in any ſuch Performance as this; and I am more puzzled to find out the Cauſe of this ſtrange Miſadventure of his, than of any Phænomena of Nature that ever ſolicited my Thoughts. For to think he was in good earneſt in this Expoſition, and ſincerely delivered his Judgment, his known Skill and Sharpneſs of Sight in other things will not permit: Nor will will that Ingenuity and Integrity I preſumed always to be in him ſuffer me to ſuſpect he would willingly and wittingly, in Favour of a Party, forge falſe Gloſſes and adulterate the true Meaning of the Oracles of God; there being, in my Apprehenſion, nothing more abominable, than for a Man whom God has bleſt with Parts and Learning and an honeſt Reputation amongſt Men, to make Uſe of all theſe againſt him that gave them, and for the Serving of an Intereſt to do ſo great a Diſſervice to the Kingdom of Chriſt, as to hide the moſt concerning Truths thereof, by blinding the Eyes of Men by the interpoſing of the illuſtrious Brightneſs of his too too celebrated Name betwixt thoſe Truths and them.

16. But I will not be too inquiſitive into what I cannot fathom. That which is more uſeful for us to conſider, is this, That Grotius, a Man of thoſe excellent Parts and Learning, and ſo throughly read in Hiſtory, and having alſo ſo great a Zeal and Reſolution to make good Senſe of theſe Viſions in the Behalf of the Church of Rome, and for that End taken to himſelf the Liberty (even againſt the whole Stream of Antiquity) to chop into ſuch Times as he thought made moſt for his Turn; yet for all this having made ſo pitiful and impoſſible a Piece of Work of it, though certainly in his own Judgment conſiderably better than any thing the Church of Rome had invented for her ſelf before; it is plain partly from hence, I mean from Grotius his own Judgment, who has by this new Invention antiquated and condemned all their precedent Expoſitions, and partly from our Obſervation of the multifarious Incongruities and Impoſſibilities of his, that there is no Interpretation extant againſt the main Senſe of the Proteſtants, that is not ſuperlatively weak and frivolous, nay altogether iucredible and impoſſible. Yea and I may be bold further to ſay, that none can ever be framed or invented hereafter, which ſhall not ſtraightway be found to be falſe and incongruous.

CHAP. V.

1. The Scope of the new Invented Epoſition of the Seven Heads of the Beaſt; namely, to elude the Force of our Demonſtration exhibited Book firſt Chap. eleventh. 2. The Sum of that Demonſtration propoſed. 3. A brief Repreſentation of this new Expoſition. 4, Arguments whereby this new Expoſition is utterly ſubverted. 5. More Refutations to the ſame Purpoſe.

1. BUt leaſt this ſhould appear to be no other than a groundleſs Aſſertion, I will in this Place produce a certain new Eſſay of this Kind, and that verily not a little ſpecious and ſubtil, that I chanc'd not long ago to meet with, which ſo ſoon as thorowly canvaſſed, will, I doubt not, be found to be falſe and abſurd. The principal Aim thereof is, to enervate the Force of that Demonſtration, which is found in the eleventh Chapter of our firſt Book, where I evidently prove That the Whore which ſits upon the Beaſt that was and is not, and yet is, is not Rome-Pagon but Rome Papiſtical.

2. Which briefly I effected in this Manner, by Proving, 1. That the ſeven-headed and ten-horned Beaſt is the Roman Empire, in ſo far as, or how long, or whenſoever it is Idolatrous, and never elſe. 2. Next, That the ſeven Heads are ſeven Kinds of Supreme Magiſtrates, but all Idolatrous, commenſurate with, and preciſely conjoined to the Times of the Idolatry of the Empire. 3. Finally, that the ſixth-Head is the Pagan Emperors, and that this is the Head which is ſaid to be wounded to Death, and that the Beaſt is killed together with it, and ceaſes to be. From whence theſe two Conſectaries do manifeſtly proceed.

Firſt Conſectary.

That there is nothing at all to be found in Hiſtory, that is prefigured by the Killing of this Beaſt, and the Wounding to Death of the ſixth Head, beſides the Converſion of the Empire to Chriſtianity and the Succeſſion of the Chriſtian into the Room of the Pagan Empe-perors; and ſeeing this Succeſſion and Converſion does moſt exactly anſwer the Prophetick Prefiguration, it is uncontrovertibly manifeſt from hence, that the Chriſtian Emperors ſucceed immediately to the Sixth Head, and were therefore the ſeventh King, that was to continue a ſhort Space, and the Beaſt that was, is not, and yet is, immmediately to ſuc- ceed, the Head whereof is the eighth King, and yet the ſeventh Head of the Beaſt, as being to become Idolatrous.

Conſectary ſecond.

From whence it neceſſarily follows, that the Babyloniſh Whore who was ſaid to ſit upon the Beaſt that was, is not, and yet is, is not Rome Pagan, but Rome Papiſtical, foraſmuch as ſhe is not ſaid to ſit upon the Beaſt under the Pagan Cæſars, but upon the Beaſt again reſtored to Life and Being (as its Name alſo declareth) or upon the Beaſt healed or raiſed up into a living Image of the Pagan Idolatrous Empire, after it was become Chriſtian, and the Succeſſion of the purely Chriſtian Cæſars was paſt, which was to continue only for a ſhort Space.

3, This is the Sum of our Demonſtration that is more amply propoſed in the Place abovementioned, which this new Expoſition I ſpoke of endeavours to elude in this Manner. For ſeeing it can't be denied but that the ſeven Heads of the Beaſt, are ſeven Kinds of Supreme Magiſtrates not ſeven individual Perſons, this Expoſition alſo, Firſt, admits or rather ſuppoſes ſeven Succeſſions and that not of ſingle Perſons, but of Soveraign Magiſtracies ſome way diſtinguiſh'd, and makes the ſixth Head of the Beaſt to be the Succeſſion of Cæſars from Auguſtus to Diocleſian, reigning ſolitarily, that is, without Collegues join'd with 'em, which State of the Cæſars, he ſays, continued to the Year of Chriſt 282, when Diocleſian beginning his Reign did immediately aſſume Maximinian for his Collegue. Next, That the ſeventh Head is the Emperors that had Collegues or Partners in the Empire, from Diocleſian to the Year of Chriſt 306. which Interval comprehends not above twenty four Years, ſo that the ſeventh Head or ſeventh King is rightly ſaid to continue but a ſhort Time. Laſtly, That the Eighth Head or Eighth King is the Arian Emperors. Which Invention, verily, to thoſe who would rather believe any thing than that Rome Papiſtical is Idolatrous, ought deſervedly to ſeem ingenious. But how falſe and weak, by many Arguments may eaſily be demonſtrated.

4, For, not to inſiſt on this, that there is a Vacancy between the Seventh and Eighth Head, even this thing alone, that this Expoſition makes eight Heads, does evidently prove its Falſity, this being manifeſtly repugnant to the Text, which no where attributes more than ſeven Heads to the Beaſt.

Next, it moſt evidently appears from what we have written (Book I. Chap. II. Sect. II.) that it is the ſixth Head under which the Beaſt was wounded to Death and reduc'd to a State of Non-Exiſtence. But no ſuch State happened to the Empire under the Succeſſion of Emperors that reign'd Single, or alone without a Collegue, namely before Diocleſian. Wherefore the Succeſſion of theſe can't be the ſixth Head.

Further, The Beaſt that was, and is not, and yet is, is ſaid to be full of Names of Blaſphemy, that is, of Idolatry; but the Empire become Arian, was not full of Idolatries, ſeeing it was only tainted with that one Idolatry of Adoring Chriſt with Religious Worſhip, tho' they did not believe him to be true God. Not to mention, that ſeeing he was truly God, tis a thing may admit of Diſpute whether they are properly to be reckon'd Idolaters, in regard their Religious Worſhip was terminated upon a lawful Object, tho' that came to paſs rather by Chance, than Deſign, or aright Underſtanding of what was perform'd.

Moreover, The Beaſt that was, and is not, and yet is, is the Image of the Beaſt. But what ſort of an Image of the Beaſt, I pray, is the Empire become Arian, which has no more than one only Feature thereof, and that a very ſlight and vaniſhing one? Compare this Arian Image of the Beaſt with that which is deſcribed in the Seventeenth Chapter of the firſt Book, and then tell me which of the two are its true Image. If to worſhip even one Ψιλὸν ἄνθρωπον with Religious Worſhip, conſtitutes the Image of the Beaſt in the Empire, what will Multitudes of Men deceas'd worſhipped by the Papiſtical Empire do?

Again, If the Empire infected with Arianiſm, is the Image of the Beaſt; where was that Two-horned Beaſt that wrought Miracles in the Sight of Men, and cauſed Fire to come down from Heaven, in a ſpecial, and beyond others admirable Manner, in order to make a living Image to the Beaſt?

Beſides, If the Empire infected with Arianiſm is the Beaſt reſtored, the Roman Church was the Whore that ſat upon it. But why the Roman Church ſhould be reckoned this Whore rather than any other Church, ſeeing many other Churches were more deeply tainted with Arianiſm than the Roman, (of which Hiſtorians remark, that in in thoſe times there was not more than One Arian Biſhop therein) I verily can ſee no Reaſon.

*

Finally, To the revived Beaſt, Power was given to continue fourty and two Months; but the Empire become Arian, did not abide ſo only for ſo ſmall a time, nor did continue 1260 Years, or a Time, Times, and the Dividing of Time.

5. And ſurely theſe Arguments may ſuffice for the total Overthrow of ſuch a pretty Device, tho' there are many other Reaſons ſtill behind, if one would be at the Pains to enlarge. For it might here be ſeaſonably ask'd of the things contemporary to this Beaſt, namely the Six Trumpets, How they can agree in time with the Empire become Arian? And what is the Pouring out of the Seven Vials upon the Arian Whore? And why μυστήριον is written on the Forehead of the Arian Whore, ſeeing Arianiſm was a well known and early condemned Hereſie, nor did pretend to any thing that was Myſtical, but was altogether an Enemy to the more hidden Myſteries? Add to this, that the Seat of the Whore is determin'd to the Seven Hills of Rome, but Arianiſm was wandring and unſettled, and prevailed more powerfully in the Eaſt than in the Weſt; And that the ſo often repeated Succeſſion of Arian and Orthodox Emperors interchangeably, did not ſo aptly agree with that one Wound of the Head of the Beaſt that was wounded to Death. It might alſo be ask'd what can be meant by the Sorcery and Inchantments of the Arian Church and many other Things; but more than enough is already ſaid in ſo eaſie and well known a Matter. And yet I thought it would not be amiſs to produce this new Invention, that it might manifeſtly appear, with what Succeſs any one may attempt to deviſe new Interpretations, which are contrary to an Expoſition ſupported by ſo firm and valid Reaſons and Foundations of explaining Prophecies, and how eaſie a thing it is to overwhelm and ſweep them away with a thick Shower of Arguments ſo ſoon as they ſhall appear.

CHAP. VI.

1. The firſt Conſectary from our Joint-Expoſition, with a Demonſtration of the Truth thereof. 2. The great Uſefulneſs of the ſecond Conſectary for the Peace and Security of the Church. 3. The ſettled Notion of Long and Short. 4. A Demonſtration of the Truth of this Conſectary. 5. The Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Conſectaries, together with their Proofs. 6. The Demonſtration of the Seventh Conſectary, with an Intimation of the ſpecial Uſefulneſs thereof for the Peace of Chriſtendom. 7. The Eighth Conſectary, with the Proof thereof. 8. The Ninth Conſectary, with a copious Demonſtration of the Truth thereof. 9. The Truth of the Tenth Conſectary, clearing the Proteſtants from Schiſm, plainly demonſtrated. 10. The eleventh Conſectary, with its Proof. 11. The Proof and notable Uſefulneſs of the Twelfth Conſectary. 12. How clearly and plainly that part of Antichriſtianiſm which conſiſts in Idolatry is prefigured and foretold in theſe Viſions, we have ſufficiently explained in our Joint-Expoſition.

1. WHerefore having cleared the Coaſt of all Oppoſers, and made ſure of the right Senſe of theſe two Chapters of the Revelation, their being nothing ſtrained nor forced in our Expoſition of them, but all according to the acknowledged Laws of Prophetick Interpretation in thoſe four Rules I have laid down, and the uſual Meaning of the Symbols noted in my Prophetick Alphabet; let us now take Notice of ſome few, but very weighty, Conſectaries, either partly contained in, or at leaſt neceſſarily flowing from, the continued and perpetual Firmneſs of our Joint-Expoſition of the ſaid Chapters. As firſt, Conſect. I.

That the Forty two Months, by which the Continuance of the Seven-headed Beaſt with Ten-horns, after the Healing of his wounded Head, is prefigured, are not Months of Days, but 1260 Years.

This does neceſſarily follow from our Joint-Expoſition, wherein we have clearly demonſtrated, That the Beaſt whoſe deadly Wound was healed, and the Beaſt that was, and is not, and yet is, are one and the ſame Beaſt abſolutely and adequately, and therefore muſt of Neceſſity have one and the ſame Duration. But the Duration of the Beaſt that was, and is not, and yet is, cannot be 42 Months literally underſtood: wherefore wherefore they muſt ſignifie Symbolically, and be interpreted of Months of Years as there are are Weeks of Years in Daniel. Now that the Duration of 42 Months cannot be literally underſtood of the Beaſt that was, and is not, and yet is, is plain from hence, in that it is ſaid of the Seventh King that he ſhould * ſtay but a ſhort Space. Which muſt be a peculiar Property of him, and diſtinct both from the immediately preceding and the immediately ſucceeding King. Which implies that both they ſhould ſtay longer than he. And yet that ſhort-lived King did continue about an hundred Years at leaſt, as may appear by Hiſtory, and will be farther demonſtrated in the following Conſectary. Whence the Beaſt that was, and is not, muſt needs continúe above three Years and an half, nay above an hundred Years. Which Forty two Months have no Fitneſs to typifie, it is manifeſt that by theſe Months are meant 1260 Years. Which was the thing to be demonſtrated.

* Apocal. 17. 10.

See Myſtery of Godlineſs. Book 5. Ch. 15. Sect. 2.

Conſect. II.

That the Church was free from Idolatry and Antichriſtianiſm till about four hundred Years after Chriſt,

2. This is a main Truth, and a mighty Bulwark againſt the rampant Fury of many Fanatical Sects that would reform even to utter Confuſion, Deformity and Deſtruction, under Pretence of calling any thing Idolatrous and Antichriſtian that does not ſtand with their own Fancy. But this Conſectary is a Protection to the greateſt and moſt conſiderable Truths of Chriſtianity; there being a Subſcription, as it were, by the Finger of God to the general Senſe of the Church concerning ſuch things as were then uſually held or concluded in Councils, that they were neither Idolatrous nor Antichriſtian.

3. Now the Truth of the Conſectary appears thus: The Seventh King, which is called ὁ ἄλλος, (and which I have proved to be the Emperors purely Chriſtian) it is ſaid of him that he muſt * continue a ſhort Space; which, unleſs the Prophecy ſpeaks altogether undeterminately and defines nothing thereby, muſt in Reaſon be thought to be about a third Part of that Space which this Expreſſion intimates to be long. For ſhort and long are not abſolute Terms, but relative or comparative, and are two Extremes which imply a Middle, Wherefore we cannot better ſettle the determinate Idea of them, than by ſuppoſing a Line divided into three equal Parts, and to look upon the whole Line as the Subject of Longneſs, two thirds of the Line as the Subject of Mediocrity, and one third of Shortneſs. From whence we may gather univerſally what Proportion (to ſpeak accurately and Mathematically) Short and Long muſt bear the one to the other: That in Strictneſs of Notion, that which is juſt the third Part of the other, is ſhort in Compariſon of it; but in common Uſe of Speech, though it be ſomething more or leſs, it will break no Squares,

* Apoc. 17. 10.

There muſt either be ſome ſuch Way as this to ſettle this Notion, or elſe Short and Long will ſignifie nothing, but be Words ſpoke at random, unleſs it be in ſuch Caſes as there is a known Meaſure of Mediocrity; as when we ſay a tall Man or a low Man, where it is taken for granted that a middle Stature is ſo many Foot and no more. Having ſeriouſly conſidered the Neceſſity of ſome determinate Notion of theſe two Terms, and how naturally they fall into this Proportion, I could not but conſent to ſo plain a Conviction, though I might juſtly ſeem prejudiced againſt it by what I have wrote elſewhere concernining μικρὸν χρόνον, but I had not then ſo accurately weighed the Matter.

Myſtery of Godlineſs. Book 5. Ch. 16. Sect. 9

4. Admitting therefore that to be the genuin Senſe of theſe Terms of Short and Long which I have propounded, and comparing the Continuance of the Seventh King with the Continuance of the Sixth, that is to ſay, of the Pagan Cæſars, which from Julius to Conſtantine is about 360 Years; it is plain that the Continuance of the Seventh King, that is, of the purely Chriſtian Cæſars, muſt be 120 Years or thereabout: which added to Ann. Chriſti 312, when Conſtantine was converted to Chriſtianity, make 432 Years. Which I would not pronounce to be ſo defined as to underſtand a Mathematical Accuracy in the Proportion of Short and Long, but with ſome Latitude, ſuch as befits the Uſe of common Speech in ſuch Expreſſions; though it be neceſſary to have Recourſe to this Mathematical Idea, that we may judge whether the Uſe of theſe terms be tolerable or hugely extravagant. But what I leave more laxe here will be more particularly bounded in the Proportion of the Inward and Outward Court of the Temple; which will gird in this Time a little within 400 Years, but ſo as this preſent Way of Compute will be very flexible and obedient to it. For ſuppoſing the ſhort Term, viz. 120, ſubdivided into three Degrees or Parts, any thing above two thirds thereof may rationally be deemed Short in the firſt Degree of Compariſon, pariſon. And we are to remember that the Duration of the Beaſt reſtored is computed by Months of Years, which, as I have above noted, intimates a Latitude no leſs than any thing within thirty in the Computation of theſe Epocha's; the Pinching of things to a Year's Coincidence being of no Uſefulneſs in theſe long Periods, nor in the Nature of the things that are predicted, and therefore not affected nor intended by that Spirit that dictated theſe Prophecies. Which I doubt not but is a very ſolid and true Obſervation. Wherefore it is plain enough that the Church's Lapſe into Antichriſtianiſm was not till about four hundred Years after Chriſt, the Reign of the Seventh King not expiring till then.

Conſect. III.

That the Reign of Antichriſt is compriſed within the Compaſs of 1260 Years or thereabout.

5. For thus long is the Empire to continue Idolatrous, as is evident out of our Joint-Expoſition and the firſt Conſectary thereof. But it is in a manner impoſſible for the Empire to continue Idolatrous any longer than the Idolatrous Clergy thereof rides it and guides it, which is the Whore or the Two-horned Beaſt, and theſe Types the Types or Symbols of Antichriſt: Which we ſhall farther prove to ſynchronize with the Ten-horned Beaſt, that is, with the Pagano-Chriſtian Empire, in the following Chapter.

Conſect. IV.

That Antichriſt is long ſince entred into the World, and has reigned about twelve hundred Years already.

The Truth of this Conſectary is evident from the Second, wherein is ſhewn that ὁ ἀπὸ, or the Succeſſion of the purely Chriſtian Cæſars, was not above 120 Years or thereabout. Which added to the Year of Conſtantine's Converſion, 312, make up 432. From about that Time Antichriſt began his Reign, and therefore has reigned at leaſt twelve hundred Years already.

Conſect. V.

That according to Prophetical Compute, the Ruin of Antichriſt is near, and that nothing can retard it but the Sinfulneſs, Hypocriſie, and Factiouſneſs, if I may ſo ſpeak, of the Reformed Churches.

This Conſectary is exceeding plain from the three Conſectaries immediately going before, nor is it needful to add any thing to the farther clearing it. Only ſee, if you will, my Myſtery of Godlineſs, Book 5. Chap. 17. Sect. 10. Which Place verily, as alſo what is here ſaid in this fifth Conſectary, is grounded upon Mr. Mede's Hypotheſis, of Reckoning the Duration of the Beaſt and what was contemporary therewith by Years. But what my own Opinion of it is, I have ſignified in many Places, and have plainly declared that the Period of One thouſand two hundred and Sixty Days, or of Time, Times, and half a Time, is already ended as to any prophetick Uſe, and that a Specimen of the Ruin of Antichriſt is already given in the Reſurrection of the Witneſſes. Notwithſtanding that does ſtill remain a Truth, That the Sins of our Churches, may prove an Obſtacle, to retard the final approaching Ruin of Antichriſt, and the Haſtening of the Philadelphian Age.

Conſect. VI.

That the Roman Empire divided into Ten Kingdoms is the Seat of Antichriſt.

This is directly contained in our Joint-Expoſition; the Beaſt with ten Horns being there proved to be the Roman Empire thus divided. And the Whore, which is Antichriſt, is ſaid to ſit upon this Beaſt, and the Two-horned Beaſt to be the Idolatrizing Clergy of the Empire under thoſe two Imperial Patriarchates of Rome and Conſtantinople; as alſo the Whore and the Two-horned Beaſt are proved to be all one. Which fully make good this Sixth Conſectary.

Conſect. VII.

That the Ruin of the Fourth Monarchy, and the Introducing of the Fifth, which is the Kingdom of the Saints of the moſt High, as Daniel calls it, does not imply Wars and Spoil and the Invading of the Rights of any Prince or People, according to the Tenour of the Prophetick Style, but merely the renewing of the Empire into an Evangelical Purity in Doctrine and Worſhip and in Chriſtian Life.

6. This plainly appears out of our Joint-Expoſition, where it is manifeſt that the Beaſt, which is the Roman Monarchy, is ſaid to be ſlain and not to be in rerum natura, merely becauſe the Pagan Idolatry was expelled out of it, or ceaſed to be the Religion of the Empire; and that the Beaſt was revived from the Dead and brought into Being again, merely by re-introducing Idolatry again into the Empire, and by

Paganizing

Paganizing upon the Objects of Chriſtianity. Which may be alſo farther confirmed from the Sixth Seal, where Heaven and Earth ſeem to fall together, and the whole Political Univerſe to be diſſolved, and yet the Roman Empire it ſelf ſtood ſtill in Being, only there was a Change from Paganiſm to the Chriſtian Faith. Of which Sixth Seal the learned Mr. Mede himſelf notes thus: Jam verò Mutationis hujuſce Objectum eſt Imperium Romanum; at non quà politicè à Cæſaribus gubernatum, ſed quà Satanæ principi ejúſque Angelis Dæmonibus religioſo nomine ſubditum.

Wherefore it is evident that according to the Prephetick Style this Fourth Idolatrous Monarchy may be deſtroyed by the mere Extermination of Idolatry out of it again and whatſoever is Antichriſtian, and that thereupon ipſo facto the true Kingdom of the Saints of the moſt High begins, though not an Hair of any Man's Head falls to the Ground, nor any Prince or Subject be injured in any of their Rights or Poſſeſſions. This Conſectary is exceeding plain, and as highly uſeful for the aſſwaging that furious Heat in ſome kind of Fanaticks that expect ſuch a Kingdom of the Saints as the Jews did a Meſſias, one that would ſerve their temporal Advantage. But the Love of the World has blinded both their Judgments alike.

Conſect. VIII.

That no Expoſition of the Seventeenth Chapter of the Apocalyps, that makes not ὁ ἄλλος, or the Seventh King, purely Chriſtian, can be true and perfect.

7. This will eaſily appear if we conſider that wonderful Harmony which is found, upon this Suppoſition, betwixt the Thirteenth and Seventeenth Chapters; where the Beaſt is ſaid to be ſlain, in one of them, and to ceaſe to be, in the other; to be the revived Image of the Beaſt, in one, and the Beaſt that was, is not, and yet is, in the other. That though there be eight Kings, yet there are but ſeven Heads of the Beaſt, which Difficulty nothing can ſalve but this Hypotheſis. For while the ὁ ἄλλος reigned, the Beaſt was not. But if that Head was not purely Chriſtian but Idolatrous, the Beaſt was ſtill in Being, and had eight Heads in the Computation of the Angel himſelf. But it is plain that there is ſuppoſed in the Beaſt a Ceaſing to be, from thoſe Words, Was, and is not, and ſhall aſcend out of the bottomleſs Pit; of which that excellent Interpreter Mr. Mede has failed to give the genuin Senſe for want of this Suppoſition. For he ſaith, it may be ſaid of this Beaſt, and that in St. John's Time, & jam olim eam fuiſſe, necdum tamen natam eſſe: which to an unprejudiced Mind muſt needs ſound very harſhly applyed to the Words of the Text. For no Man will ſay of a thing ſtill in Being, It was, much leſs add, and is not. Such an Harſhneſs as this grates ſo hard upon my Senſes, that if I could not underſtand the Prophecy without ſuch Violence againſt the ordinary Meaning of Words, I ſhould be much diſ-heartned from giving my Aſſent. But Mr. Mede has done ſo ſingularly well in other Things, that we may well excuſe him in this.

See preface Sect. 7, 8, 9.

Conſect. IX.

That the Whore of Babylon ſits not now at Conſtantinople, but that Old Rome is, if we may ſo ſpeak, her Seat Imperial.

8. The Truth of this Conſectary appears from ſeveral Concluſions in our Joint-Expoſition. 1. That the Whore of Babylon rides upon the Roman Empire, and guides and governs it in Matters of Religion; which is not true of the Turk at Conſtantinople. 2. The Whore ſits upon that Seven-hill'd City that was, as it were, the Lady of the World in St. John's Time, (that is given as the ſureſt Character of her Seat,) which we know Conſtantinople then was not. 3. The Name of the Beaſt is found to be Λατεινος, which Beaſt with two Horns being the ſame with the Whore, it is plain that this Whore is ſeated in Italy. And though Biſhop Mountague has ſhewed his Wit and Pleaſantry in finding the Number 666 in Μαομέτις, yet I think he did it only to ſport with his deſpiſed Oppoſers, and to play upon their Ignorance. For how can 666 be ſuppoſed to be meant for the Name of Mahomet, whoſe Name is wrote ſo variouſly in Greek Hiſtorians? For in Nicetas he is called Μωάμεθ, in Chalcocondylas Μεχμέτης, in Joannes Cantacuzenus Μαχέμετ, in Ducas Michael Μέχεμετ, and laſtly in Joannes Cananus Μωάμεθ and Μαχμέτης: but Μαομέτις he is no where called that I can meet with, nor is it likely that his Name would end in τις, but της. So that I ſuſpect that it is only a witty Commentum of the Biſhop's to make himſelf merry withall. 4. The Famouſneſs of the Seven Hills at Rome does ſo drown the Notice of the other, that it is not likely but they are, though not only, yet chiefly aimed at in the Deſcription of the Seat of the Whore. But if one of the Cities only were aimed at, it were intolerable to conceit that the Prophecy is ſo lubricous and defective ctive, as, when there were two Cities, the one exceeding famous for her Seven Hills, the other ſo little famous, that it is frequently queſtion'd whether ſhe has Seven Hills or no, that it ſhould underſtand this latter by the Seven-hilled City and not the former, there being no Intimation in the Text given to underſtand it of the latter, or any way to determine it thereto. 5. The Whore or Antichriſt that ſits on the Seven Hills was many hundred Years, as appears by the fourth Conſectary, before the Turk was Maſter of Conſtantinople, which happened not paſſing two hundred Years ago; ſo that Antichriſt it ſhould ſeem ſate a thouſand Years beſides the Cuſhion. 6. Upon the Forehead of the Whore of Babylon is written Myſtery; but the Turk is an open and profeſſed Enemy of Chriſtians. 7. And laſtly, The Whore or Antichriſt is the Debaucher of the Empire with Idolatry and the worſhipping of Idols; the Turk a Deſtroyer of them. So fond is their Conceit that can imagin the Turk to be the Antichriſt prefigured in the Apocalyps.

Conſect. X.

That the Church of England, or any other Proteſtant Churche's departing from the Church of Rome, is no Schiſm.

9. This is plain at firſt ſight out of our Joint-Expoſition. Nor can it be Schiſm to do that which it were a Sin to omit the doing of; or, if that will not ſerve, which we are exhorted to do by the Voice of God in the Apocalyps, Come out of her, my People, that ye be not Partakers of her Sins, and that ye receive not of her Plagues. Which is a Monition worth the liſtening to for as many as tender their Safety and Salvation, their Security from the Sin and Puniſhments of the Whore. Apoc. 14. 4.

Conſect. XI.

That the Authority of neither Fathers nor Councils after 400 Years from Chriſt, or thereabout, is of any Validity to determine Controverſies againſt the Proteſtant Churches, touching thoſe things which the Church of Rome and they diſagree in.

10. This naturally follows from the Epocha of Antichriſtianiſm falling about that Time we mention: After which the Church being ſuppoſed in ſome meaſure lapſed into that great Apoſtacy, neither the Fathers Doctrines, nor her Councils can have Right to decide the Controverſies betwixt the Papiſts and us, ſo as authoritatively to teſtifie againſt us. But it is obſervable that their Teſtimony will hold good againſt the Papiſts in ſuch Points as they contradict them in, becauſe they are in that Witneſſes of the ſucceſſive Mind of the Church as yet unaltered by this growing Corruption; or at leaſt teſtify Matter of Fact againſt the falſe Pretences of the Popiſh Traditions.

Conſect. XII.

That all Viſions that are Synchronal to this of the Beaſt with ſeven Heads and ten Horns, which is ſaid to continue fourty two Months, have neceſſarily the Extent of one thouſand two hundred and ſixty Years.

11. To be Synchronal is as much as to begin, continue, and end together. Whence it is plain that that which is Synchronal to what continueth 1260 Years, muſt it ſelf continue ſo many Years. But the 42 Months of the Beaſt are 1260 Years by the firſt Conſectary: Which is a plain Demonſtration of the Truth of this Laſt. The Uſe of which Conſectary is of very great Moment for the Detection of the Falſhood of ſuch petty Expoſitions as ſome put upon thoſe Viſions which are Synchronal to this of the reſtored Beaſt. For extend them but upon this Meaſure of Time, and they will all crack and break into Fitters, and thereby (which I ſhould have thus timely taken notice of) excuſe me from any farther Confutation of them.

Wherefore it will be worth the While to take notice of all thoſe Viſions that are Synchronal to this of the reſtored Beaſt, it being ſo neceſſary a Method to be aſſured of the right Senſe of them, and to diſcern more certainly in what Prophecies of the Apocalyps thoſe Lineaments of Antichriſtianiſm, which I have noted in my foregoing Treatiſe, are prefigured.

12. In the mean time I need not, I think, re-mind my Reader, that the Viſions of theſe two Chapters, which I have thus carefully interpreted, do plainly foretel that grand part of Antichriſtianiſm which conſiſts in Idolatrous Worſhip, how it ſhould over-run the Empire by the Seduction and Activity of an Impoſturous Clergy, figured out in the Type of the Beaſt with two Lamb-like Horns, but that would ſpeak like the Dragon, and re-introduce the Image of old Paganiſm again, under the Colour of a more heightned Devotion and Affection toward Chriſt, the Bleſſed Virgin, and the reſt of the Saints and Martyrs: As alſo in the Type of the Whore of Babylon, who is called the Mother of Fornications and Abominations of the Earth, that is, of Idolatry and Pagan-like Worſhip; who intoxicates the Kings of the Earth, and all the Inhabitants thereof with the Cup of the Filthineſs of her Fornications, that is, ſeduces them to Idolatry. Hoc enim eſt ποτήριον Idololatriæ calicem, as Grotius himſelf has interpreted it. Wherefore theſe are two notable Predictions of the Apoſtaſie of the Church into Heatheniſh and Idolatrous Worſhip. But I ſhall alſo produce others out of the ſame Book, after I have prepared the way by making good certain Synchroniſms thereunto appertaining.

CHAP. VII.

1. The Synchroniſm of the Whore, the Two-horned Beaſt, the reſtored Beaſt, or the Beaſt that was, and is not, and yet is, demonſtrated out of our Joint-Expoſition. 2. To which the Falſe-Prophet is alſo proved Synchronal; the Virgin-Company, the Two Witneſſes, the Woman in the Wilderneſs and the Outward Court, as being either the ſame, Antiſtœchal, or neceſſarily connected all along with them. 3. Again, in a more abſtract Way, That the reſtored Beaſt, the Woman in the Wilderneſs, the Outward Court, the Two Witneſſes are of equal time. 4. That the Woman in the Wilderneſs and the reſtored Beaſt begin together, and therefore are Synchronal. 5. That the reſtored Beaſt and Two Witneſſes are Synchronal, as ending together. 6. That the Two Witneſſes and Outward Court are Synchronal, as both beginning and ending together; And all theſe four Synchronal to the Whore and Two-horned Beaſt, becauſe the Two-horned Beaſt and the Whore are Synchronal to the reſtored Beaſt, to which the other three are Synchronal. 7. That the Virgin-Company and the Sealed out of the twelve Tribes are all one Company, and therefore both Synchronal to the Whore by an Ἀντισυχία, and conſequently with the reſt of the Six with whom She is Synchronal. 8. That the ſaid Sealed Virgin-Company is Synchronal to the Series of the firſt ſix Trumpets, as being ſealed immediately before the Blaſt of the Firſt Trumpet, and as being Synchronal to the Mourning of the Witneſſes, which ceaſes at the End of the Sixth-Trumpet. 9. The ſix Firſt Seales, the Fight of Michael and the Dragon, and the Inward Court, proved Synchronal. 10. That the Viſion of * meaſuring the Temple begins from the firſt Epocha, indicated from the Quality of the Perſon that holds in his Hand the opened Book. 11. From his ſupplying the Place of the Seventh Angel, and the Space of the Seventh Trumpet with Seven Thunders. 12. From the Suſpending of the Sound of the Seventh Trumpet to make a Regreſſion. 13. From the Newneſs or new Condition of the Book in the Angel's Hand 14. From the Voice communing or talking with John from Heaven, as in the Beginning of the Prophecies of the Seals. 15. From the Bitterneſs of the Book in his Belly; From his being bid again to propheſie, and that before many Kings, and People, and Nations. 16. From the Epocha of the Viſion of the * enſuing Chapter. 17. The Synchroniſm of the firſt Six Seals with the Inward Court, of weighty Concernment. 18. The Millennial Empire of Chriſt, the Palm-bearing Company, the New Jeruſalem and the Ligation of Satan, that they are all in ſome Senſe Synchronal to the Seventh Trumpet.

* Apocal 11.

* Apocal. 12.

1. THat the Beaſt with Seven Heads in the Thirteenth Chapter is Synchronal with the Beaſt that carries the Whore in the Seventeenth, is plain, in that they are the very ſelf-ſame Beaſt in every Reſpect, as appears out of my Joint-Expoſition. That the Whore of Babylon alſo and the Two-horned Beaſt are the ſelf-ſame thing, is made evident in the ſame Expoſition; and therefore they muſt be Synchronal, unleſs one and the ſame thing can begin to be after it has continued in Being, and continue after it ceaſes to be. That the Whore or the Two-horned Beaſt is Synchronal to the Seven-headed Beaſt with Ten Horns in theſe two Chapters, is evident, in that the Two-horned Beaſt is the Reviver and Healer of this Seven-headed Beaſt, or Reſtorer of him into Being; that is, An idolatrous Clergy makes again an Idolatrous Empire; one of them cannot be without another, nor continue longer one than another, as appears from the very Nature of the things themſelves. So that it is manifeſt, that the perpetual Connexion of the Nature of the things ſignified by thoſe Viſions aſſures them to us to be Synchronal, to begin, continue, and end together. And thus by the plain and palpably-demonſtrable Senſe of the Viſions of the Thirteenth and Seventeenth Chapters do we gather infallibly, That the Two-horned Beaſt, the Whore of Ba-

Babylon, the Beaſt that was, and is not, and yet is, or the Beaſt Healed or Revived, which is ſaid to have ſeven Heads and ten crowned Horns, are Synchronal one to another.

2. But there are four Viſions more, Synchronal to theſe three, which may after the ſame Manner be demonſtrated to be ſo; I mean from the natural and neceſſary Connexion betwixt the things themſelves prefigured, or by their perfect Identity under ſeveral Schemes and Types, the things that they naturally ſignifie being already contained in the three firſt Synchronals, or elſe by way of Ἀντισοιχία or continued Oppoſition to them. As, by way of Identity, the Falſe-Prophet, that is, the whole Body of Falſe Prophets, muſt needs be Synchronal to the Two-horned Beaſt or the Whore, they being but the ſame things under ſeveral Types or Terms. By way of Ἀντισοιχία, or oppoſite Correſpondency; as the Mournful Witneſſes, and the Virgin-Company. For ſuppoſing the true Church never failed to be, (as all are agreed upon) there muſt needs run along with the times of the Whore or Two-horned Beaſt the Virgin Company and theſe Mournful Witneſſes in correſpondent Oppoſition to them, and the latter by a cauſal Connexion with them, and therefore may be an Example of the firſt Way mentioned, though not inſtanced in before.

The Subject alſo of thoſe two mixt Viſions is neceſſarily implied in the ſame time with the three firſt Synchronals, upon this granted Hypotheſis, That the true Church never fails. For then the Woman in the Wilderneſs what is it but this pure Virgin-Church hid in the Paganizing Empire, which is the Image of the Beaſt? And what the Exteriour Court of the Temple troden down by the Gentiles, but the Chriſtian Empire dedicated to Chriſt and the true Worſhip of God, over-run again with a new Kind of Gentiliſm or Idolatrous Worſhip, which ſo overflows, that the true and Virgin-Church is hid in a Manner in this Deluge of Idolaters, at leaſt troden down and debaſed and made the Abjects of Chriſtendom? Wherefore, I ſay, from the very Nature of the things themſelves and cloſe Connexion they have one with another there is a very palpable Evidence that the Whore, the Two-horned Beaſt, the reſtored Beaſt with ſeven Heads and ten Horns, the Falſe-Prophet, the Virgin-Company, the Woman in the Wilderneſs, the two Witneſſes, the Exterior Court of the Temple troden down by the Gentiles, are all Synchronal one to another.

3. But we will not altogether omit that more abſtract Way Mr. Mede has gone to prove theſe Synchronals. Firſt, then, it is plain that the Woman in the Wilderneſs, the two-horned Beaſt reſtored, the Exteriour Court troden down by the Gentiles, the Mourning of the two Witneſſes are all of equal time. For the Woman's Stay in the Wilderneſs is noted by a time, and times, and half a time, as alſo by 1260 Days; both which Expreſſions ſignifie Three Years and an half literally. The Ten-horned Beaſt reſtored, his Continuance is ſet down by 42 Months, as alſo the Conculcation of the Outward Court; and the Days of the Mourning Witneſſes are 1260. All which Terms of times are equal to the Remaining of the Woman in the Wilderneſs, and are literally Three Years and a half. Of all which if any one ſignifie Symbolically, I think there is no Body that can be ſo Sceptical or perverſe as to deny that the other do ſo too. Now that theſe four are not only Equal but Synchronal, will appear briefly thus. See chap. 7. conſect. 1.

4. The Woman in the Wilderneſs and the Ten-horned Beaſt reſtored begin together. For while the Woman haſtens into the Wilderneſs, the Dragon caſts a Flood out of his Mouth to carry her away, if he could, before ſhe came thither: But he miſſing his Aim, and driven on with Fury, betakes himſelf to another Courſe immediately, reſtoring the Ten-horned Beaſt, and endowing him with his Forces, his Throne and his mighty Power. Wherefore the Woman could no ſooner get into the Wilderneſs, but the Dragon had furniſhed out an Enemy againſt her. But it is evident that equal Times beginning at one and the ſame Epocha, are Synchronal. Apoc. 12. 15. Apoc. 13. 2, 3.

5. The Ten-horned Beaſt reſtored and the Mourning of the two Witneſſes end together. For at the End of the ſixth Trumpet the Witneſſes aſcend into Heaven, and at the Beginning of the Seventh, which is conterminous to the End of the Sixth, this Acclamation is from Heaven, All the Kingdoms of the World are become the Kingdoms of the Lord and of his Chriſt. Whence it is plain, in ſome Senſe or other, that the 42 Months, which is the time of the Reign of the Ten-horned Beaſt reſtored, do then expire. But Times that are equal and expire together are alſo Synchronal. Apocal 11, 12, 14, 15.

6. The Mourning of the two Witneſſes and the Conculcation of the Holy City or Exteriour Court by the Gentiles begin together; as appears Apocalyps 11. where it is plainly implied that they commence at one and the ſame time, I mean the Mourning of the two Witneſſes, and the Object of their Sorrow, the Holy City troden down by Verſ. 2, 3.

the Gentiles. And beſides, at the End of the ſixth Trumpet the Witneſſes aſcend into Heaven, and at the Beginning of the Seventh the Gentiles are ſaid to be wroth by Reaſon of the Judgments of God upon them: So that this Synchroniſm (though, conſidering the Synchrnals were before found equal, it be needleſs) is made faſt at both Ends. But the Woman in the Wilderneſs being Synchronal to the Ten-horned Beaſt reſtored, this Ten-horned Beaſt to the Two Witneſſes, theſe two Witneſſes to the Treading under Foot the Outward Court or Holy City by the Gentiles; it is manifeſt that all Four are Synchronal one to another.

Verſe 18.

But in Virtue of our Joint-Expoſition it is demonſtrable alſo that the Whore, the Two-horned Beaſt, and the Ten-horned Beaſt reſtored, which is plainly the Beaſt that was, and is not, and yet is, are Synchronal one to another. For the Whore and the Two-horned Beaſt are all one Company or Condition of Men, by whoſe Perſwaſions and Directions the Pagan Empire, which had been wounded to Death by the pure Preaching of the Goſpel, was again made to Paganize, and ſo was healed of that wholſome Wound, and revived again into that former Idolatrous State, and became the Beaſt that was, and is not, and yet is. From whence it is plain that the Authors of this Reſtauration of the Beaſt, or theſe Makers of the Image of the Beaſt, as ſuch, began with the Beaſt: And they are, I mean this Beaſt and the Pſeudo-Prophet, (who is typified by the Whore and the Two-horned Beaſt) both of them at once taken and caſt alive into the Lake of Fire burning with Brimſtone, Apocalyps 19. 20. Wherefore this Ten-horned Beaſt reſtored being, as was above proved, Synchronal to the Woman in the Wilderneſs, to the two Witneſſes, and to the Treading under Foot the Holy City or Outward Court; it is manifeſt that the Whore of Babylon alſo and the Two-horned Beaſt are Synchronal to them, they being all Synchronal to the Ten-horned Beaſt reſtored. And that in Sum, the Woman in the Wilderneſs, the Ten-horned Beaſt reſtored, (which is the ſame with the Beaſt that was, and is not, and yet is, or the Image of the Beaſt) the Holy City or Outward Court troden under Foot by the Gentiles, the Mourning Witneſſes, the Two-horned Beaſt, the Whore of Babylon, that all theſe ſix are Synchronal one to another.

7. Of the Synchroniſm of the Virgin-Company with the Whore, (and conſequently with the other Five of theſe Six) ſee the excellent Mr. Mede. It is not a thing that can be ſtuck upon, by Reaſon of the neceſſary ἀντισοιχία, and the great Congruity that Chriſt ſhould have his marked Soldiers, which are the Regiments of the Lamb on Mount Sion, as ſoon and as long as there were ſuch as bore the Mark of the Beaſt, which is ſuppoſed all along his Reign, ſeeing the Receiving this Mark is nothing but an open Profeſſion of what Party one is, or at leaſt an Appropriation to that Party.

Of thoſe true Members and marked or ſealed Soldiers of Chriſt there is mention in the Seventh and Fourteenth Chapters of the Apocalyps, in both which Places the Number is the ſame, namely 144 Chiliads, or Regiments; and they are ſaid to be ſealed or marked upon the Fore-head: Affliction and Patience, and at laſt a joyful Victory over their Enemies, is the Fate of them both: They are both an Apoſtolick Company, and abhorring from Idolatry, in that they are called Virgins in the fourteenth Chapter, and in that there is ſuch Caution in the Ranging of the twelve Tribes in the Seventh, that they have the Precedence that are moſt notorious for their Zeal againſt Idolatry, and Dan and Ephraim quite excluded the Number for their ſpecial Obnoxiouſneſs in that Crime, as you may ſee more at large in Mr. Mede. For that theſe twelve Tribes are underſtood of Chriſtians, and not of Jews, no Man will doubt that conſiders how full of Iſraeliſms the Apocalyps is every where, inſomuch as that falſe Chriſtians are called counterfeit Jews, Revel. 2. 9. I know the Blaſphemy of them that ſay they are Jews, and are not, but are the Synagogue of Satan.

It is manifeſt therefore that the 144 thouſand ſealed Servants of God in the Seventh Chapter, and the 144 thouſand in the fourteenth Chapter, are the ſame Apoſtolick or Virgin-Company. Which is of marvellous great Uſe to take Notice of, foraſmuch as it will hence be evident, that the ſix firſt Trumpets are Synchronal to our firſt ſix Synchronals, they being all Synchronal to theſe 144 thouſand ſealed Soldiers or Virgin Regiments of Chriſt.

8. That our firſt ſix Synchronals are ſynchronal to theſe 144 Regiments has been already proved, in that they and Five of the Six ſynchronize with the Whore. That the Series of the firſt Six Trumpets is Synchronal to them is thus demonſtrated; For they begin with the firſt Trumpet, and continue to the End of the Sixth. That they begin with the firſt Trumpet appears from Chap 7. For after the Effect of the ſixth ſixth Seal, whenas the Procedure ſhould immediately have been to the Seventh, which is the Seal of the Trumpets, there is a Suſpenſion a while till theſe 144 thouſand be ſealed, and ſo fore-armed againſt the Evils of the Trumpets; but they being once ſealed, the Seventh Seal is opened, and the ſeven Angels appear with their Trumpets, &c. That the 144 Regiments in their Condition of Warfare and ἀντιστοιχία to their Oppoſites that war under the Mark of the Beaſt, terminate at the expiring of the ſixth Trumpet, is plain, in that the mournful Condition of the Witneſſes, which ſynchronizes with this warfaring Condition of the Virgin-Company, ends at the Ending of the Sixth Trumpet: Chap. 11. 14. The ſecond Woe is paſt, that is to ſay, the ſixth Trumpet is paſt; which is ſpoken immediately upon the aſcending up of the Witneſſes to Heaven, and the great Commotion of things that befel at the ſame Hour. Wherefore the 144 Virgin-Regiments that were ſealed at the Beginning of the firſt Trumpet terminate, as to their conflicting Condition, at the End of the Sixth.

And thus you ſee that, according as it is in Mr. Mede's Scheme of Synchroniſms, the Company of the 144 thouſand out of the twelve Tribes of Iſrael, ſealed with the Seal of God in their Fore-head, is as it were the communis Terminus of all thoſe Synchronals on this ſide and that ſide thereof, and then of our Six firſt Synchronals on the other; namely the Ten-horned Beaſt reſtored, the Whore, the Two-horned Beaſt, the two VVitneſſes cloathed in Sack-cloth, the Treading under Foot the outward Court or Holy City, and the Woman in the Wilderneſs.

9. So that we have a ſafe and faſt Graſp of the whole Succeſſion of things in theſe Prophetick Viſions, having laid hold on this middle Part ſo ſtrongly that they cannot wriggle from us, but it will be eaſie for us to diſcover the neceſſary Order of the reſt. For the Six firſt Seals muſt needs go before the Seventh; and the Battel betwixt Michael and the Dragon before the Wounding or Slaying of the Beaſt and the Reſtoring of him. Whence it will follow partly from the Nature of theſe things, and partly from their Order, that they are Synchronal; I mean the Series of the firſt ſix Seals, and the Battel of Michael with the Dragon. And that the Inward Court of the Temple, which the Angel found Symmetral or Commenſurable to his Reed, is alſo Synchronal to the ſix firſt Seals, may appear from hence, in that the Symbol is ſo ſignificative of the Condition of thoſe times: For in that bloody War of the Dragon the Saints of God willingly ſacrificed their own Lives for his Cauſe: which is moſt fitly ſet out by the Altar of Holocauſts placed in the Inward Court of the Temple, and anſwers very plainly and palpably to the Viſion of the fifth Seal, where the Souls of the Slain Apoc. 6. 9. are ſaid to cry for Vengeance from under the Altar.

10. But beſides this, Chap. 11. the Viſions begin again from the firſt Epocha of time that the Seals do; whence the Inward Court muſt be exquiſitely Synchronal to the firſt ſix Seals, being the Outward Court began with the Seventh.

Now that there begins a new Series of Prophecies from the firſt Epocha, there be ſeveral remarkable Indications, Chap. 10. and ſufficient to convince any one that has any Meaſure of Sagacity. As, firſt, The Magnificency of that Angel, as he is called, that has the opened Book in his Hand, is ſo great, that it is highly probable that it is no meaner Perſon than Chriſt himſelf: the Deſcription of thoſe bright Gleams of Glory differ not much from thoſe in the firſt Chapter which are attributed unto him. And that he is called Ἰσχυρός, what is that but אל גבור? And his being pictured out with a Rain-bow about his Head, and his Face as the Sun, what can this ſignifie leſs than the Sun of Righteouſneſs which is the Eternal Word, and whoſe Attire is the World which himſelf has made? His Speech alſo betrays him, his Roaring like a Lion intimating that he is the Lion of the Tribe of Juda. It ſhould ſeem therefore that he that under the Shape of a * Lamb had opened the Book with ſeven Seals even * Apoc. 5. to the very laſt Seal, appears here under another Shape, beginning a new Series of Prophecies from the ſame Epocha in this opened Book.

11. Which we may be the better aſſured of, if we conſider that he ſteps into the Place of the Seventh Angel, and fills up the Space of the Seventh Trumpet, with Seven Thunders. Which is an evident Sign that the whole Courſe of the Seven Seals is run through to the laſt Thunder-Clap of the Day of Judgment, ſo far, or rather in ſuch a manner, as he thought good at this time, till he began afreſh again.

12. Thirdly, In that he ſwears, that there ſhall be Time no longer, but in the Days of the Voice of the Seventh Angel, when he ſhall ſound, and the Myſtery of God be finiſhed, as he had declared to his Servants the Prophets, (in which certainly there is a regard to Dan. 12. 7.) it is plain that there is a forbearing to proceed explicitely till the very End of the Seventh Seal, that is, to the ſpecial and determinate Effect of the Seventh venth Trumpet. Which Suspension does not a little assure us that there is a Regression; and whither, I pray, if not to the very first Epocha of a new Series of Prophecies? Nay, a Regression is necessarily implied from the Angel's swearing there shall be no more Time than what is taken up in the Seventh Trumpet, which sounds not till the Resurrection of the Witnesses, as you may see in the following Chapter, ver. 14, 15.

13. Fourthly, This either new Book (which yet I do not now think so probable, but rather that it is the former Book, all whose Seals are opened by the Lamb, and is still in his Hand, though he be now under another Shape) or new Condition of the Book (it being an opened Book now, whenas before it was a sealed one; the first a Book to be look'd upon with the Eyes, this to be swallowed down into the Belly) does imply a new Series of Prophecies to be begun, and of another Nature from the former; the one, suppose, respecting the Fate of the Empire, the other of the Church, as Mr. Mede would have it. But to have all this new Preparation for no new Design, were strange and incredible.

14. Fifthly, That which Mr. Mede urges of a Voice from Heaven as of a Trumpet talking with St. John, is not altogether devoid of Force. For, as I have noted elsewhere, the Mention of the Trumpet, which is in this third place suppressed, and which Mr. Mede would have understood, may be omitted, that the Meaning of the Prophecies may not lie too bare. But it is observable that there is a considerable Affinity betwixt the Entrance into the first Series of those Prophecies of the Seals, and these of the opened Book. For it is plain Chap. 4. 1. that he says there was a Door opened in Heaven, and that the first Voice, which was of a Trumpet, communed with him. So here, Chap. 10. he saith, that a Voice from Heaven communed with him, λαλοῦσα μετ' ἐμοῦ, whereby is intimated a vocal Discourse or Conference, and instead of ἡ πρώτη here is πάλιν· which though it may seem referrible to the Voice from Heaven, ver. 4. yet the less Need there is of that Intimation, in respect of the thing so freshly done, the more probable it is that it refers to that Voice from Heaven, that communed with him, Chap. 4. 1. And the rather because that Voice only is said λαλεῖν, this ver. 4. of this Chapter only λέγειν, and therefore it cannot so well be said πάλιν λαλεῖν, whenas it is not at all said λαλεῖν before. Whence ver. 8. πάλιν λαλοῦσα μετ' ἐμοῦ is most naturally referred to Chap. 4. 1. and therefore indicates a new Beginning of Prophecies from that very Epocha.

15. But, sixthly and lastly, upon John's swallowing down the Book, we may observe such Circumstances as do strongly intimate a new Series of Prophecies, wherein the Fate of the Church may seem chiefly concerned. First, in that it is said to be bitter in his Stomach, though sweet in his Mouth. Of which Bitterness of these Prophecies more than of the former, no Reason can be given if they respect the same Subject, and one does not concern the Empire, the other the Church of God. Wherefore the Fate of the Church is contained in these, which consequently are to begin from as high an Epocha as those of the Empire. Secondly, in that the Angel saith δεῖ σε πάλιν προφητεῦσαι· which, unless it were to begin to prophesie from the first Epocha of the Times he has hitherto prophesied of, would be a very unaccountable Passage. For he had prophesied in another Sense again and again already, in seeing and declaring so many Visions as he had. Thirdly, in that it is added, Before many Peoples and Nations and Tongues and Kings, it is a Sign that he does not proceed to some few particular things behind, but is to act more rousingly, must altiùs rem repetere; and having taken his Repast in devouring the little Book, begin his Race afresh from the first Epocha, and with as general Concernment to the World as the Prophecies of the Seals were.

16. These Considerations, I think, may induce any one to believe that the eleventh Chapter begins from the first Epocha of the Apocalyptick Visions. But add to all this, that the twelfth Chapter does, as has been already demonstrated: for there is no Vision in the Seals higher than the Fight of Michael with the Dragon. Which is a Demonstration that St. John in this second Bout of Prophesying returns to the highest Epocha, and that he begins a new Series of Prophecies, namely, concerning the Church. Which being thus plainly evinced, I appeal to any one if it be at all likely or possible that he should begin with such an headless Vision as would fall short of the first Epocha three or four hundred Years.

17. Wherefore assuredly, as the Outward Court trodden down by the Gentiles is Synchronal to the first six Trumpets in the Seventh Seal, so the Inward Court is Synchronal to the first six Seals; which was the thing to be demonstrated, and which is a Conclusion of excellent Use and weighty Consideration, as may appear in its due place.

Chap. 8. sect. 5.
Cha. 9. sect. 1.

18. Finally

*

18. Finally, as our Middle Synchronals have thus necessarily detected those that precede, so they will with like Facility and Certainty discover them that succeed. For the Thousand Years wherein the Saints reign, Satan is bound, the Palmiferous Company triumphs, and the Heavenly Jerusalem is seen upon Earth, all these must in some Sense plainly Synchronize with the Seventh Trumpet. And the seventh Angel sounded, and there were great Voices in Heaven, saying, The Kingdoms of this World are become the Kingdoms of the Lord and of his Christ, and he shall reign for ever and ever. So that it is plain that the Millennial Empire of Christ and of his Saints is under the Seventh Trumpet. The Palmiferous Company also immediately succeed the 144 Virgin Regiments which are Synchronal to the first Six Trumpets, whence necessarily this Company of Palm-bearers are under the Seventh. The Fall of Babylon also conterminates with the Sixth Trumpet, and therefore the New Jerusalem, which succeeds it, must needs be found in the Seventh. And, lastly, Satan, who fought with Michael all along the first Six Seals, and bore such Sway in the Kingdom of Antichrist in the first Six Trumpets, cannot be said to be bound, cast into the bottomless Pit and sealed up there for a thousand Years, till the Millennial Empire of Christ, till the Glory and Brightness of the Heavenly Jerusalem upon Earth, till the Victory and Triumph of the Palm-bearing Company, that is, till the Sounding of the last Trumpet; not only the Series of the Synchronals, but the very Nature of the things themselves, forcing the Ligation of Satan into this last Period of Times.

Apoc. 11. 15.

Apoc. 7. 9.

This is very easie and plain. But if any one be unsatisfi'd, he may read Mr. Mede, Part 2. Synchronism 4, 5, 6, 7. where he shall have a more full and copious Demonstration of these Synchronals contemporizing with the Seventh Trumpet. But how this Contemporizing is to be understood, will better appear out of this following Chapter.

CHAP. VIII.

1. Mr. Mede's Account of placing the first Six Vials within the Sixth Trumpet. 2. That the Truth of this Account depends upon an unlikely Sense of the Expiration of the Reign of the Beast, as if immediately after 42 Months it should entirely and universally expire. 3. A Caution touching the Interpreting of the prophetick Style. 4. That the Expiration of the Reign of the Beast upon the Exit of the Sixth Trumpet is but partial or speciminal, argued from the Seventh Trumpet's being also called a Woe-Trumpet. 5. As likewise from the Seven Thunders. 6. Two more Arguments to the same Purpose. 7. Lastly, from the fixed Epocha's of the Middle Synchronals compared with the Affairs of Europe. 8. That it follows hence that all the Seven Vials are naturally to take their Places in the Seventh Trumpet, as being the Seven last Plagues. 9. The same further proved from the Song of the Harpers upon their Victory over the Beast. 10. And from the Order of the Vision of the Vials; as also from the appearing of the Temple (out of which the Angels come) after the Sixth Trumpet, and before any of the Vials be poured out. 11. In what sense the Middle Synchronals are to be fulfilled at the Exit of the Sixth Trumpet. 12. A larger Declaration how all the Middle Synchronals expire together, in what Sense or Degree soever they do expire. 13. Of the Commencing of the last Synchronals, and what the Time of the Millennium more eminently so styled. 14. The Serviceableness of the premising these orderly Synchronisms for his further Search into the Prophecies that foretel the Lapse of the Church into Antichristianism.

1. I Had almost omitted the placing of the Vials; the first Six whereof Mr. Mede ranges within the Sixth Trumpet, briefly upon this Account: Because they being the Seven last Plagues of the Beast, they are to begin with the inclining of the Beast to Ruin. But it was proved above, that the 42 Months of the Beast's Domineering over the Saints and Overcoming them, expired with the last Breath of the Sixth Trumpet, as all those middle Synchronals do. And it is as true that the Throne of the Beast does not wax dark before the Fifth Vial. Wherefore he concludes, that at the least Five Vials, if not Six, precede the Seventh Trumpet.

2. Which

2. Which Ratiocination of Mr. Mede's were very firm, if we could be ſure that the Meaning of the Continuance of the Beaſt for 42 Months were ſuch as he ſuppoſes it, namely, That this Duration or Reign of his is to be underſtood abſolutely, That he ſhall reign ſo long and no longer, and not comparatively, That after 42 Months he ſhall not reign with that full Power and Victory over the Saints, ſo keeping them under that they cannot appear a diſtinct Polity able to defend themſelves from his Tyrannies and Cruelties.

Which latter may be a warrantable Meaning of the Prophecy, as well as the other, namely, That as ſoon as there appears a Kingdom or Polity of truly Evangelical or Apoſtolical Chriſtians, not Superſtitious, nor Idolatrous, nor Perſecutive and Bloody, breathing out Threatnings and Slaughter againſt the true Diſciples of Chriſt, but ſuch as join heartily with one another in the plain Points of Chriſtian Religion, and make no other Fundamentals than the undoubted Meaning of the Word of God requires, and leave Men free in the reſt; That as ſoon, I ſay, as ſuch a Polity as this is in being, the 42 Months of the Beaſt may be ſaid to expire as to the Entireneſs of his Reign; and alſo for that there is that ſet on foot which will certainly be his Ruin, and therefore in the Prophetick Style he is accounted as ruined already. According to which Tenour Mr. Mede has interpreted that of Iſaiah, * Babylon is fallen, is fallen: whenas in the time of Iſaiah there was only the firſt Ground-work laid for her Ruin by the Medes, who caſting off the Aſſyrian Yoke, and reſcuing themſelves into Liberty, and building Ecbatana under their new King Deioces, laid the Foundations of a Kingdom which was to prove fatal to the City of Babylon.

* Chap. 21. 9.

Nor can we well underſtand that in the Apocalyps upon the ſounding of the ſeventh Trumpet, to that Height it ſeems to be ſpoken, The Kingdoms of the World are become the Kingdoms of the Lord and of his Chriſt. Of which I muſt confeſs I cannot but ſurmiſe the moſt ſober Meaning to be ſomething parallel to that Saying of our Saviour, Now is the Judgment of this World, now ſhall the Prince of this World be caſt out; and yet he kept Poſſeſſion till Conſtantine's Time. But in ſuch a Senſe as the Kingdoms of the World at the Beginning of the ſeventh Trumpet are become the Kingdoms of Chriſt, the Beaſt has loſt his Kingdom, and his 42 Months are expired.

Chap. 11. 15.

Joh 12. 31.

3. Wherefore there is great Caution to be uſed in underſtanding the Prophetick Expreſſions, which always ſound very high and lofty, and expreſs things ſo as moſt fills the Mind and forcibly ſtrikes the Fancy, whenas if they were ſet down ſtrictly and reſtrainedly to a Μικρολογία, it would flat the Height and Majeſty of the Style, and make it loſe its ecſtatical and rapturous Power with the Reader; beſides that conſiderable Uſefulneſs which ſuch courageous and triumphant Expreſſions may carry along with them.

4. Nor is this only a poſſible Meaning of the Expiration of the 42 Months of the Beaſt with the ſixth Trumpet, but alſo very probable. Firſt, becauſe the Seventh Trumpet is one of the Woe-trumpets, and therefore ſignifies Ruin and Deſtruction in ſome Senſe or other. The ſecond Woe is paſt, (that is to ſay, the Prefiguration of it, in ſuch a Senſe as Ovid ſays, Janus habet finem. But it is plain that the Effect of the ſixth Trumpet may continue after the Seventh is begun, as the Effects of the firſt Seal and firſt Trumpet do after the Second are begun, the Succeſſion, in the Effects, of theſe Parts of the Viſions lying not always as the Quarries of a Pavement, but as the Scales of Fiſhes, one reaching over Part of the other. But this by the Bye.) and behold, the third Woe cometh quickly; which is this ſeventh Trumpet, which therefore is a Blaſt of Deſtruction upon all the Powers that oppoſe the Kingdom of Chriſt: Which ſuppoſes therefore that he is going on conquering and to conquer, and that all the Work is not done at the Entrance of the Seventh Trumpet, but ſo much is behind that in all Likelihood the 42 Months of the Beaſt are not expired in any other Senſe than ſuch as I have defined.

5. Which will appear yet more reaſonable, if in the ſecond Place we conſider the ſeven Thunders, which I doubt not but are the Contents of the ſeventh Trumpet; and the * Text ſays, That that mighty Angel (which Expoſitors ordinarily interpret to be Chriſt, the Lion of the Tribe of Juda) cried with a loud Voice, as when a Lion roareth, καὶ ὅτε ἔκραξεν, ἐλάλησαν αἱ ἑπτὰ βρονταὶ τὰς ἑαυτῶν φωνάς, that is, and while he cried, the ſeven Thunders uttered their Voices. Wherefore this Roaring of the Lion of the Tribe of Juda all along thoſe ſeven Thunders, and the Diſtinction of the Space of the Seventh Trumpet into ſeven Portions, wherein certainly a State of War and of ſeven notable Battels and Victories, or Judgments and Triumphs, and wonderful Atchievements, ments, in ſome Senſe or other is underſtood, does imply a vaſt Continent that de jure belongs to the Kingdom of Chriſt, unſubdued at the Beginning of the ſeventh Trumpet. And therefore it is very reaſonable that a very great Share of the Roman Empire may be under the Juriſdiction and Guidance of the Two-horned Beaſt, even at the firſt Blaſt of the laſt Trumpet or within the Sound of the firſt Thunder.

* Apoc. 10. 3, 4.

6. Thirdly, It is ſaid of the Whore of Babylon, who is adjudged to be burned, that her Smoke aſcends εἰς τοὺς αἰῶνας τῶν αἰώνων, that is, to the remoteſt and utmoſt Ages of the World, But there is no Smoke but there muſt be ſome Fire, nor any Fire but there will be Matter combuſtible. Wherefore that Paſſage inſinuates that ſomething of this Whore will be left to be burning to the utmoſt Ages of the World, even to the Ages of the laſt Trumpet. And it is plain that while ſome Kings burn her, others pity her, (ſuch as had committed Fornication with her) and lament over her while they ſee the Smoke of her burning. Apoc. 19. 3 Apoc. 18.

Fourthly, It ſeems more conſonant to the Wiſdom of God to continue theſe Antichriſtian Canaanites for a time, partly for a Foil to ſet off the Purity and Unſpottedneſs, the Beauty and Lovelineſs of the Apoſtolick Church, and partly to be an Excitement and Exerciſe of their Zeal, Vigilancy, and all other Graces and Virtues.

7. Fifthly and laſtly, The Epocha of the middle Synchronals is ſo firmly faſtened to the time of about 400 Years from Chriſt, both by the Proportion of the ſhort Space of the ſeventh Kings Continuance in Reſpect of the Sixth, and of the Inward Court in reſpect of the Outward, as alſo of the exquiſite Fitneſs of Mr. Mede's Interpretation of the firſt Trumpet; that there is no Likelihood that the Remains of the 42 Months or the 1260 Years of the Reign of the Beaſt ſhould ſuffice for ſuch a Mutation of the Empire, as will amount to any higher a Senſe of finiſhing his Continuance than I have given: and Interpreters (though Prophets write in Rapture and Ecſtaſie) are bound to expound their Viſions with Caution and Sobriety. Unleſs the Affairs of Europe ſhould break of a ſudden, as Olaus ſays the frozen Ocean does, and roars along like Thunder with the Crack of the Ice, and then immediately ſinks, (which is a Miracle above Belief) I ſee no Probability at all of any other Senſe of the ſtinting the Reign of the Beaſt to 42 Months than I have already declared.

8. The Conſequence of which Concluſion will be, that there is no Ground left for placing the ſeven Vials before the ſeventh Trumpet; and therefore it may juſtly be ſuſpected a Kind of Luxation to the Chronological Scheme of Prophecies, which the often praiſed Mr. Mede has otherwiſe ingeniouſly and judiciouſly diſpoſed. Wherefore let every Member take its right Place, and let the ſeven Vials eitheir run parallel to the ſeven Thunders, (which then its likely were the rather ſuppreſſed, becauſe they were to be ſupplied by theſe) let them run, I ſay, within the ſeventh Trumpet, as the ſeven Trumpets within the ſeventh Seal: for this appears the moſt eaſie, natural and proportional diſpoſing of them. And they ſeem to claim the right of this Poſture in that they are called the * ſeven laſt Plagues wherein the Wrath of God is finiſhed or ended; which would not be if they were not the Plagues of the laſt Trumpet: Or elſe at leaſt let them Synchronize with the firſt Thunder, as the ſeven Thunders do with the laſt Trumpet, Which I ſhall more determinately diſcourſe of in its proper Place. * Apoc. 15. 1.

9. To all which you may add what we find Apoc. 15. where there is Mention made of thoſe that have already got the Victory over the Beaſt, and like the Iſraelites eſcaped out of Ægypt, and therefore having the Harps of God in their Hands, ſing the Song of Moſes the Servant of God, and the Song of the Lamb, ſaying, Great and marvellous are thy Works, Lord God Almighty, juſt and true are thy Ways, thou King of Saints. Who ſhall not fear thee, O Lord, and glorifie thy Name? For thou only art holy: for all Nations ſhall come and worſhip before thee; for thy Judgments are made manifeſt. Which anſwers exactly to our Suppoſition, That there is only at firſt ſome particular Victory and reſtrained Reign of Chriſt to ſome Nations or Kingdoms; which being a Pledge of future Succeſſes, that Acclamation was in Heaven, The Kingdoms of this World are become the Kingdoms of the Lord and his Chriſt. Of which this Song of the Harpers may be the trueſt Comment, All Nations ſhall come and worſhip before thee; for thy Judgments are made manifeſt. Not that they are come already, but will aſſuredly fall under his Subjection. Here is the firſt Eſpial of the * Temple of the Tabernacle in Heaven, whither alſo the Witneſſes did aſcend. Apoc. 15. 3, 4. *Verſ. 5.

10. But after this is the Effuſion of the ſeven Vials, as is plain out of the Order of things in the Text; whether you take Notice of thoſe middle Synchronals which are ſet out by the time of their Continuance (as * that of the reſtored Beaſt, to which is added preſently the * Virgin-Company, as running in a parallel Oppoſition thereto) after which this Song of Moſes follows, as a Thankſgiving for thoſe firſt Victories over the Beaſt; or conſider the Temple opened in Heaven, which in Order follows after this Song of Moſes, and out of which the Angels come that have the ſeven Vials. For from both it is intimated that the Vials run all up into the ſeventh Trumpet. Which is farther ſtill to be confirmed from Chap. 11. where the Temple of God is alſo opened in Heaven, and the Ark of the Covenant mentioned as here, and a compendious Symbolical Periphraſis of Wrath and Vengeance; ſo that it is hugely reaſonable to conceive they mean the ſame thing in both Places. But that Appearance (Chap. 11.) of the Temple and Ark is after the ſeventh Trumpet began to ſound. Therefore the ſeven Vials are within the Blaſt of the ſeventh Trumpet.

* Apoc. 13. 5.

* Chap. 14.

11. In ſhort, (and yet to reach to the Bottom of this preſent Buſineſs) it is of exceeding great Moment to take Notice that the ſeven middle Synchronals of the Prophecies of the opened Book have their fulfilling either quoad ſpeciem or quoad gradus, as to the Kind or as to the Degrees in the ſame Kind, one Degree being ſufficient for the Fulfilling of the Prophecies quoad ſpeciem; and that one of theſe Synchronals cannot be fulfilled quoad ſpeciem or quoad gradus, but ipſo facto they are all fulfilled, they being ſo intimately united one with another. As for Example, Suppoſe that but in one State or Kingdom in Chriſtendom the Church has become purely Apoſtolical in Doctrine and Diſcipline, in Life and Converſation, it follows from hence that quoad ſpeciem the Reign of the Beaſt is expired, that is, that there is one Specimen or Inſtance of this ſpecifick Event, namely, of ſuch an Expiration of the Rule of the Beaſt as brings along with it the Reſurrection of the Witneſſes and the Succeſſion of the Kingdom of Chriſt in the Place. Which if it fall out at or towards the Expiration of the 42 Months and from a fit Epocha, the Prophecy is truly fulfilled in all Circumſtances quoad ſpeciem, in this firſt Example, but may proceed afterwards farther and farther in Degrees or Latitude.

But the thing that I particularly contend for is this, That this firſt Way of Fulfilling is only aimed at in theſe middle Synchronals of the Prophecies of the opened Book, and that the Degrees are reſerved for the Vials in the laſt Trumpet.

12. And what I inſtanced in the Reign of the Beaſt muſt be true of all the reſt, That their Fulfilling that contemporizes with the firſt ſix Trumpets, and terminates upon the firſt Blaſt of the Seventh, is a Fulfilling only quoad ſpeciem or quoad eſſe, not quoad gradus, which are reſerved for the ſeventh Trumpet. And my Reaſon is, Becauſe all theſe ſeven Synchronals are ſo nearly united or ſignifie ſo much one and the ſame thing, that they muſt neceſſarily advance or be retarded together. As for Example, We cannot conceive the Whore of Babylon burnt in any one Kingdom, that is, the Clergy to ceaſe to be Idolatrous and Antichriſtian, and to become purely Apoſtolick in Doctrine and Diſcipline, but we may be ſure that the Civil Magiſtrate ceaſes there to be Antichriſtian too, and that the Ten-horned Beaſt in this Place has finiſhed his forty two Months; the Two-horned Beaſt alſo vaniſhes, as being one and the ſame with the Whore; the Witneſſes break off their mournful Prophecy, as having here nothing to complain of; the Outward Court is in this part cleanſed of the Pollution of the Gentiles that trod it under Foot; the Woman is here no longer hid in the Wilderneſs amongſt brutiſh Idolaters, but appears as a glorious City upon an Hill to attract the Eyes of the Nation unto it; and, laſtly, the Marked or Sealed Virgin Regiments loſe their ἀντισοιχία in this Place, and inſtead of fighting Soldiers become a College of peaceful Prieſts clothed in white, and are before the Throne of God and ſerve him Day and Night in his Temple.

Thus jointly will theſe middle Synchronals ever be fulfilled, be it more or leſs, whether barely quoad ſpeciem, or repeatedly quoad gradus; the firſt Fulfilling conterminating with the Entrance of the ſeventh Trumpet, the other advancing in it to the Effuſion of the laſt Vial.

13. And what is worthy our Obſervation, thoſe laſt Synchronals we have above noted, namely, The Millennial Reign of Chriſt, The Palm-bearing Company, The new Jeruſalem, and The Binding of Satan, do commence in ſuch a Way and Proportion as theſe middle Synchronals expire. But that ſpecial and moſt eminent Epocha of the Ligation of Satan, as alſo of the Millennial Empire, I conceive commenceth not till after the ſeventh Vial; and the * Devil's being let looſe again for a little time is to be placed ſomewhat before the Voice of the ſeventh Thunder, wherewith the whole Earth is to be be set on Fire, and Death and Hell to be all of a Flame thereby. And the intermediate Space is the Millennium eminently so styled. But what we have here delivered in a less exact Manner, is more nicely and accurately handled in our Synchronistick Account of the Apocalyptick Visions, whither we refer the Reader.

* Apoc 20. 3.

14. This I believe is the truest and safest Apprehension we can have of the Series of things in the Apocalyptick Visions. Which having thus competently cleared, I shall with the greater Satisfaction to my self, and to others, I hope, proceed to the Producing such Passages out of this Prophetick Volume as predict the several Kinds of Lapses of the Church into Antichristianism: for we now know whereabout to seek for them, namely, among the middle Synchronals of either Prophecy, which reach from about the four hundredth Year after Christ to these very Ages.

CHAP. IX.

1. That there are three more middle Synchronals that foretel the Church's Lapse into Idolatry: As the Vision of the Outward Court troden down by the Gentiles. 2. The Woman in the Wilderness: What meant by Wilderness. 3. A brief Account of the Sense of the whole Vision. 4. That there is an Hypallage in her being said to flie into the Desart, like that of Hades being cast into the Fire, and of the Kingdom being given to the Saints, in Daniel. 5. That our Interpretation of the Woman in the Wilderness does not clash with Mr Mede's, though different from it. 6. The third Synchronal, the Virgin Company: The Meaning of the Number of their Regiments, and of the new Song which none could learn besides them. 7. How the Vision of these Virgin-soldiers implies the Lapse of the Church into Idolatry.

1. BEsides those notable and leading Prophecies of the Idolatry of the Church in the Thirteenth and Seventeenth Chapters of the Revelation, there are farther Intimations of the same Lapse in other Places. Indeed no less than Six of the seven middle Synchronals of the Prophecies of the opened Book are Predictions of this Idolatrous State of the Church. Three of which we have done withal, namely, the Whore of Babylon, the Two-horned Beast, and the Beast with seven Heads and ten Horns.

The first of those three behind is the Outward Court or Holy City troden under Foot by the Gentiles for the Space of 42 Months. Which Outward Court or Holy City, Apoc. 11. that it is to be understood of those that make a visible Profession of Christianity in the World, appears from the Evidence of the Synchronisms, that of the Temple or Inward Court reaching from the Beginning of the Church to the time of its Lapse into such a Condition as was not commensurable to the Reed of the Angel, and therefore rejected. The Court that is without the Temple, ἔκβαλε ἔξω, cast it out: so the Words signifie. But the Outward Court belongs to the Inward; and the Jews having been cast off long before, it is plain from hence that all this is understood of Christendom. Nor is it any more Wonder that the Jewish Temple or Courts thereof should typify the Christian Church, than that their Tribes did, Chap. 7. For this is but an usual Israelism.

Wherefore Christendom being the Scene of these Transactions, and it being presently after added concerning this Outward Court, that it is given to the Gentiles, (as it is written in the seventeenth Chapter. For God hath put in their Hearts to fulfil his Will, and to agree, and give their Kingdom unto the Beast, until the Words of God shall be fulfilled) and that they shall tread under Foot the Holy City forty two Months; (which Holy City and Outward Court is in a Manner the same thing, the very Camp of Israel being the Outward Court in the Wilderness, and this Outward Court the Receptacle of the People of Israel at their solemn times of Worship when the Temple was built, as, Mr, Mede has well observed) hence, I say it is evident, Christendom was to be over-run with Gentilism, that is, with Paganism, the Life and Soul whereof is Idolatry, so long a time; forasmuch as the Holy City or Outward Court is supposed here in Being, that is to say, a People that do profess Christianity and are externally dedicated to God, but in the interim are in a wonderful Manner over-grown with an Heathenish Kind of Superstition and Idolatry.

2. The next of those latter Synchronals is The Woman in the Wilderness, namely, That Woman that * wears upon her Head a Crown of twelve Stars, whose Glory is to * Apoc. 12. 1.

to be that pure and Apostolick Church, uncontaminated with After-Superstitions and
* Verse 2. Idolatries; that Woman that is said * to travel in Birth and was pained to be delivered, and after long Throws and Pangs, that is to say, sharpe Persecutions, at last
* Verse 5. * brought forth a Male-Child that should rule the Nations. This Woman not changing
* Verse 14. Place her self, is notwithstanding said * to have the Wings of an Eagle given her, whereby she fled into the Wilderness, there to be secured from the Persecution of the old-red-Dragon, which is the bloody Pagan Powers of the Roman Empire as yet unconverted to Christianity: And indeed by being thus escaped, though but into a Wilderness, she was sheltred from them. But in that she is said to be in a Wilderness, it is an Intimation that she is hid and blended amongst them that under the outward Profession of Christianity did again Paganize in their Superstitious and Idolatrous Worship; as you may understand out of the acknowledged Meaning of Wilderness in the Prophetick Alphabet. For that Men, not a mere Solitude of Trees and Beasts, is Matt. 3. 3. understood by Wilderness, is plain also out of that in the Evangelist, The Voice of one crying in the Wilderness, prepare ye the Way of the Lord, make his Paths straight. Which he spoke not to Beasts and Trees, but to Men, whom these resemble when they are wholly taken up in the Functions and Delights of the mere Vegetal and Animal Nature, of which Superstition and Idolatry is one Part, as I have above intimated.

3. The Sense therefore of this Prophecy is this, That the pure and Apostolick Church, though sheltered therewithal for a time from the Red-Dragon was over-run with a Kind of Christiano-Paganism from one Side to the other, from the East Wing to the West Wing of the Eagle or Roman Empire; which, because it had its Eastern and Western Cæsars, is figured with two Wings, and that with greater Facility than
* Chap. 7. 6. the Leopard in * Daniel with Four, which signified the Quadripartition of the Greek Empire into four Parts. This therefore intimates the Greek Church as well as the Latine to be culpable in this Matter of Idolatrous Worship, correspondently to what I have said of the two Horns of the Beast, that they intimate the two Imperial Patriarchates, that of Rome, and the other of Constantinople, the two chief Summities of the Idolatrizing Clergy. This I doubt not but is the Meaning of the Woman in the Wilderness, though it seems something hard that she is said to fly into this Desert, this Desert rather coming upon or over-running her in the thing signified.

4. But it is an Hypallage, of which this is no solitary Example, but like that of casting Hades into the Lake of Fire and Brimstone, whenas that Fire is rather cast into Hades at the Conflagration of the World by Thunder and Lightning; a Figure even needlesly affected for Elegancy Sake by Poets.

Brutium ponto feriente Corum.

Such an Hypallage as this I suspect also to be in Daniel Chap. 7. where he speaks of the Kingdoms under the whole Heaven being given to the Saints of the most High. The Meaning whereof may be nothing else but that they that are possessed of these Kingdoms may turn Saints, that is, Professors and Abettors of the pure and Apostolick Religion, unsophisticated with the Idolatrous Inventions and Injunctions of Antichrist. But however it were desirable that those that are over-ready to fancy themselves Saints, if this Hypallage does not please them, that at least they would imitate the Modesty of the Expression of the Text, and would not take Kingdoms before they be given them.

5. Mr. Mede interprets this Vision of the Woman in the Wilderness in something a different Sense from us; paralleling the Israelites Flight from Pharaoh into the Wilderness to the Woman's Flight from the Red-Dragon, and their Liberty of serving Jehovah there after the Rites appointed by Moses to the Liberty the Christians had to exercise their Religion, their Lapses also into Idolatry to the Idolatrous Apostasy of the Church of Christ in this Condition, and finally their 42 Journeys in the Wilderness mentioned Numb. 33. to the 42 Months the Woman is said to be in the Desert. Which if they had been expresly set down in those Terms, and not only equivalently in 1260 Days, or a Time and Times and half a time, it had been the more pat and convincing. But however his Interpretation is very plausible and handsom, and may be one Sense of the Type, though not the only Sense. For it is the Property of these Prophetick Types to abound with Allusions. But the State of the Church in the Wilderness being the same with that of her Bondage in Ægypt, as appears from
Ver. 8. Apocal. 11, in that Respect I account that Interpretation I have given more passable, or rather more authentick. But I see no need that they should one exclude another, the Reign of the Dragon being truly the Reign of Pharoah over these new Israelites, (saving that this of the Dragon was more bloody;) and the State of the Wilderness in which the Woman is hid being not only a Revival of that Bondage of Ægypt again, but the restoring again also of the Dragon as Idolatrous, in fabricating so lively an Image of him in this new Pagano-Christianism, which the Apocalyptick Visions do so copiously predict.

ble

6. The Third and Last of these latter Synchronals of the Opened Book of Prophecies, is the Virgin-company*, the sealed Soldiers of the Lamb upon Mount Sion, whose Description is admirable and mysterious. For in that they are said to be 144 Chiliads or Regiments, it is not the defining of their Number, but their Nature or Quality, according to the Use of the ancient Cabbala that describes the Property of Things by Numbers. The Root therefore of 144, which is twelve, plainly detects them to be the true Disciples and Successors of that Church that Christ founded in his Twelve Apostles, and that they had not adulterated the Christian Religion by any Idolatrous Worship or unwarrantable Institutes of Men, but that they were faithful to him whose Name they bore on their Fore-heads, as the marked Servants of God and of the Lamb, and being bought with the Price of his most precious Blood, would not become the Servants of Men in any thing that was to the Dishonour or Dis-interest of him that bought them. Apoc. 14. 1.

That * New Song also that the Harpers play upon their Harps before the Throne, which none can learn but those 144 thousand, What is it but the Joy of a pure and unstained Conscience before God and all his Holy Ones, and that ineffable Pleasure of the Divine Spirit dwelling in them, which none can be Partakers of but the Sons of the New Birth, who are redeemed from the Earth, and set free in Mind and Affection from all the Entanglements of this present World; who have a simple and sincere Heart, and in whose Mouth there is no Guile, but are upright and irreprehensible before the Throne of God? Which is so transporting a Condition and so unexpressible, I mean this Righteousness, and Peace, and Joy in the Holy Ghost, that it is no wonder that it is said that none but those 144 thousand know what belongs to this Melody. * The Heart knoweth its own Bitterness, and a Stranger does not intermeddle with its Joy. But this is an Excursion not so close to our present Purpose. * Verse 3. *Prov. 14. 10.

7. That which we are chiefly to observe is this, That this Virgin-company is a Synchronal that runs along in parallel Opposition to those that receive the Mark of the Beast, and are professed Idolaters, as this Expression of their Virginity in the Sense of the Prophetick Style plainly implies; according to which, These are they that have not defiled themselves with Women, may fitly be understood. Nor do they only abstain from Idolatry themselves, but also exhort others to make choice of a due Object of their Adoration, to worship Him that made Heaven and Earth, and the Sea and the Fountains of Waters. They denounce also the Judgments of God against Babylon, saying, Babylon is fallen, that great City; because she made all Nations drink of the Wine of the Wrath of her Fornications. And, lastly, a third Angel out of the same Company denounces most direful and ever-durable Torments to those that worship the Beast and his Image, that is to say, that submit themselves to that revived and enjoined Idolatry which I have already so fully described. Which Commination, how grievous it is, I would have them seriously to consider that think it so indifferent a thing to be a Papist or Protestant: as if such tragical Menaces as these were mere Scare-crows and idle Mockeries. Apoc. 14. 4. Ver. 7, 8, 9.

CHAP.

CHAP. X.

1. Three more Prophecies predicting the Church's Lapse into Idolatry. As the Vision of the Sixth Trumpet, which is proved to respect the Roman Empire long after it became Christian. 2. That in this Vision the Greek and Latin Church are both apparently taxed of Idolatry, and with Aggravations common to Pagans and them. 3. That it appears from the same Vision, of what great Consequence it would be for Christendom to reform from this gross Sin, and that they are their best Friends that plainly and freely rebuke them for it, and for those other Crimes reflected upon in this Vision. 4. The Prophecie of Paul to Timothy proposed, and the first part thereof expounded out of Epiphanius touching the Inspirers of this predicted Error. 5. As also that Part that contains the Error it self, namely the Worship of Dæmons: From whence it is plain the Prophecie concerns this notorious Lapse of the Church into Idolatry. 6. As also from the Instruments of the Broaching this Error. 7. And from the mentioning of the Mystery of Godliness immediately before, to which this Mystery of Iniquity is opposed. 8. And lastly from the Times of the Lapse, which are termed ὑστεροι καιροι. 9. Which is proved to be a proper Term of the Prophetick Style denoting that Time and Times and half a Time, which is the latter Section of the Continuance of the Fourth Monarchy. 10. That the Course of the ὑστεροι καιροι and of the Reign of Antichrist is indigitated by those Numbers of Days in the last of Daniel.

1. TO these Middle Synchronals of the opened Book of Prophecie, we will only add the Vision of the Sixth Trumpet, the Prediction of St. Paul concerning the Apostasie of the latter Times, and that Prophecie in Daniel from whence he seems to have drawn that Prediction; and then we shall have done with Prophecies of this kind.

And truly the Vision of the Sixth Trumpet is very signal and notorious. That it is meant concerning the Turks invading Christendom, according as Mr. Mede has interpreted, I have abundantly made good against Grotius in my Mystery of Godliness*. To which we add briefly, That it is plain that the Invasion of these Euphratean Horsemen is long after the Empire became Christian, nay indeed Pagano-christian; forasmuch as it is the Sixth Trumpet, the last of those that taken together in order synchronize with the Reign of the Pagano-Christian Power, The Beast that was, and is not, and yet is. And for the Place as well as the Time, that it was the Empire to which this Vision belongs, appears from that often-repeated Character whereby it uses to be denoted, the Proportion of a Third part; For the third Part of Men* are here said to be killed. But that the Roman Empire was look'd upon by St. John as the Third part of the known World in his Age, is evident in that Description of the Red Dragon with Seven Heads and Ten Horns, in that he is said with his Tail to have drawn the third Part of the Stars of Heaven, and cast them to the Earth, Apocal. 12. 4.

*Book 5. ch. 16. sect. 5.

*Apoc. 9. 15.

Moreover the Posture of these Horsemen was such, as Mr. Mede has also noted, in respect of St. John in Patmos his seeing them coming as from Euphrates, that they must needs march upon the Territories of the Roman Empire: Which also the Consideration of our third Rule of Interpreting Prophecies does more fully assure us of. For what had St. John to do with any Visions but such as concerned the Church of Christ? Wherefore there is no Reason to doubt but that Mr. Mede's Interpretation of the Sixth Trumpet is very true.

2. From whence it will evidently appear, that there is a Prevision of that gross Idolatry which would be in both the Greek and Latin Church. For after the Description of that numerous Army of the Turks under the Type of the Euphratean Horsemen, and the great Execution they did, the third Part of Men being killed by the Fire, Smoak, and Brimstone that issued out of their Horses Mouths that roared like Lions against their Enemies, to which you may add the preceding Plague of the Sarazens, those tormenting Locusts; it is said, that The rest of the Men which were not killed by these Plagues, repented not of the Works of their Hands, that they should not worship Devils, and Idols of Gold and Silver and Brass and Stone and of Wood, which neither can see nor hear nor walk; Neither repented they of their Murthers, nor of their Sorceries, nor of their Fornication, nor of their Thefts. Can there be a more expreſs and plain Prophecy of the Idolatry of the Chriſtian Empire than this? For the Senſe plainly is this, That though the Turks and Sarazens had overrun the Eaſtern Churches, and laid all waſte with Fire and Sword, yet the Weſtern Part of the Empire did not lay it to Heart, (nor indeed the Greek Church as they ſhould do) but that the Church of Rome did notwithſtanding perſiſt in their Idolatrous Worſhip, in the Worſhipping of their Dæmonia or Dæmons, the Souls of Men departed, (our Engliſh Tranſlation reads it Devils, and none certainly (whenas they are not God) would receive Divine Honour after their Deaths, unleſs they were become Devils; ſo great a *Reproach is that pretended Honour the Romaniſts give to the Saints) in the worſhipping of Idols of Gold and of Silver and of Braſs, &c. which neither can hear nor ſee nor walk. This is added as an Aggravation and more palpable Detection of the Madneſs or Sottiſhneſs of this Sin.

Apoc. 9. 20, 21.

be

*See Book 1. Ch. 12. Ver. 3. Sect. 4.

And is it not the ſame in the Images of the Saints as in the Images of the Heathen Gods? Can the Images of the Saints ſee more clearly, hear more quickly, or walk more nimbly than the Idols of the Heathen? Wherefore we ſee ſuch a ground of the Reprehenſion of this Sin of Idolatry is alledged as is common to that of the Pagans with this of thoſe that call themſelves Chriſtians. So that there is no Hole for them to eſcape out at.

But there are other Crimes alſo which the Roman Church, notwithſtanding the ſevere Judgment of God againſt the Greek Church, has not repented of: as namely of her Murthers, in ſhedding of innocent Blood, or cruelly and hatefully perſecuting Men under Pretence of Hereſie; of Sorcery, in ſuch a Senſe as I have expounded it in my Idea of Antichriſtianiſm*; of Fornication, in the unnatural Conſtitution of their unclean Clergy; and of Thefts, in their Frauds and Impoſtures to emunge the ſimple People of their Money. But theſe things belong not to this preſent Head.

*Book 1. Ch. 18.

3. In the mean time it is exceedingly worth our Obſervation, of what infinite Conſequence it would be to the Safety and Proſperity of Chriſtendom, if they would reform this groſs Sin of Idolatry, the Worſhipping of Dæmons and Images of Gold and Silver, and other Materials. For who knows, or rather, who knows not, but that God, who brought that exceeding great Scourge of the Turk upon the Chriſtian World for their groſs Idolatries, may make him flow back again into his own Chanel, if we would once return to that Ancient, Pure, and Apoſtolick Chriſtianity? For the Cauſe of this great Evil once removed, the Evil it ſelf will be removed alſo.

Whence it is plain that they are the trueſt Friends to Chriſtendom, even to Rome herſelf, that do not ſooth and uphold them in their Sins, by mitigating and hiding their foul Miſcarriages, but deal apertly and plainly with them for their own Safety; that neither admit nor invent Subterfuges to countenance or palliate their Idolatrous and Superſtitious Practices, but tell them plainly how much they are apoſtatized from the true Worſhip of God and Chriſt into Paganiſm and Idolatry. Better are the Rebukes of a faithful Friend than the hired Flatteries of a glozing Mercenary.

4. Wherefore perſiſting in the ſame Liberty of Speech, I ſhall adventure to pronounce that that Prediction of St. Paul, 1 Tim. 4. reſpects the Apoſtaſie of the Empire into Idolatrous Worſhip, by means of the Seducing and Seduced Clergy thereof, who taught them to give religious Worſhip to mere Men departed this Life, and ſo turned the deceaſed Saints of God, as much as in them lay, into Pagan Dæmons. The Words of the Prediction are theſe: Now the Spirit ſpeaketh expreſly, that in the latter Times ſome ſhall depart from the Faith, giving heed to ſeducing Spirits and Doctrines of Devils; ſpeaking Lies in Hypocriſie, having their Conſcience ſeared with an Hot-Iron, forbidding to marry, and commanding to abſtain from Meats, &c. The Greek Copy hath it ἐν ὑποκρίσει ψευδολόγων, &c. which ſhould be rendred, Through the Hypocriſy of them that ſpeak Lies, having their Conſcience ſeared with an Hot-Iron, &c. as any one that underſtands Syntax muſt needs acknowledge: for τινὲς and ψευδολόγων cannot agree in Grammar; neither Devils and ſeared Conſciences in uſual Phraſe or Senſe, if the whole Text be rightly conſidered.

There cannot be a better Gloſs upon the firſt Part of this Prediction than what Epiphanius has occaſionally wrote upon it in his ſharp Reproof of the Collyridians, who gave Divine Worſhip to the Virgin Mary, offering up a Cake or Cracknel to her. Their Cuſtom was εἰς ὄνομα τῆς ἁειπαρθένου κολλυρίδα τινὰ ὀπτελεῖν, as that Father ſpeaks; from whence they were called Collyridians. Of which Idolatry he ſays, certain Women in Arabia were the firſt Inventors, who came out of Thrace thither, and there practiſed this nefarious ἱερυργία, which he calls βλάσφημον πρᾶγμα (which I the more willingly take Notice of, becauſe Idolatry is is ſo often ſtyled by that Name in the Apocalyps) and at laſt concludes thus fully and roundly upon the whole Matter, Ὅπερ τὸ πᾶν ἐστιν ἀσεβὲς καὶ ἀθέμιτον ἀλλοιωθὲν ὑπὸ τῆς πνεύματος τῆς ἁγίας Πνεύματος· ὥστε εἶναι τὸ πᾶν διαβολικὸν ἐνέργημα καὶ πνεύματος ἀκαθάρτου διδασκαλίαν. Πληρῶται γὰρ ἐπὶ τούτοις τὸ, Ἀποστήσονταί τινες τῆς ὑγιοῦς διδασκαλίας, προσέχοντες μύθοις καὶ διδασκαλίαις δαιμονίων. Ἔσονται γάρ, φησὶ, νεκροῖς λατρεύοντες, ὡς καὶ ἐν τῷ Ἰσραὴλ ἐσεβάσθησαν. Which laſt Words do plainly import that this Apoſtaſie here is underſtood of giving Religious Worſhip to Dæmons, and to the Souls of Men deceaſed: And it is obſervable that Chryſoſtom and Theophilact read δαιμόνων not δαιμονίων, as Eraſmus has noted upon the Place, if any one like that Word better than the other. But Epiphanius ſeems to underſtand the ſame thing by both, that is, the Souls of dead Men religiouſly worſhiped, which he compares with the Baalim worſhipped by the Iſraelites, as the Pſalmiſt complains, They joined themſelves to Baal-Peor, and ate the Offerings of the Dead.

 and

Pſal. 106. 28.

Wherefore in brief, according to the Mind of Epiphanius, πνεύματα πλάνης, which we render ſeducing Spirits, are erroneous and fallacious Doctrines or Prophecies (as Grotius alſo ordinarily interprets πνεῦμα) inſpired into Men's Minds by the Devil. For ſo he calls it, διαβολικὸν ἐνέργημα καὶ πνεύματος ἀκαθάρτου διδασκαλίαν, a Diabolical Inſpiration and Doctrine taught by the unclean Spirit to pollute the Worſhip of God. This reſpects thoſe Words in the Text, Giving heed to ſeducing Spirits, whereby he would have the Original of theſe wicked Doctrines noted.

5. But then the Matter or Object of them to be couched in that more definitive Expreſſion, καὶ διδασκαλίαις δαιμονίων, that is, not Doctrines of Devils as taught and ſuggeſted by them, (for that he had touched before) but Doctrines of Dæmons, that is to ſay, concerning Dæmons, or the Worſhipping of the Dead, anſwerably to the Iſraelites worſhipping the Baalim, which the Pſalmiſt intimates to be the Souls of Men deceaſed. Πληρῶται καὶ ὅτι τούτοις, ſaith Epiphanius, τὸ, Ἀποστήσονταί τινες τῆς ὑγιοῦς διδασκαλίας, προσέχοντες μύθοις καὶ διδασκαλίαις δαιμονίων· For that Prophecy is fulfilled in theſe Collyridians, viz. Some ſhall depart from ſound Doctrine, giving Heed to fabulous Stories and Doctrines concerning Dæmons. For that this Gentive may be a Genitive of the Object as well as of the Agent, any one will grant. And that Epiphanius underſtands it in that former Senſe, is plain both from his prefixing μύθοις before διδασκαλίαις, (which fabulous Stories are not conceived to be told by the Dæmons, but of them) and alſo from what immediately follows, Ἔσονται γὰρ, φησὶ νεκροῖς λατρεύοντες, &c. For, he ſaith, there will be thoſe that will worſhip the Dead, &c. Which yet the Apoſtle does not ſay, unleſs διδασκαλίαις δαιμονίων ſignifies Doctrines concerning Dæmons, which are the Souls of Men deceaſed, as I have elſewhere ſufficiently intimated. Wherefore it is plain from this Expoſition of Epiphanius that this Prediction of St. Paul is very applicable to the Apoſtacy of the Church of Rome for their giving Divine Honour unto the Saints, which is apparently νεκροῖς λατρεύειν, to give Religious Worſhip unto the Dead.

6. Which will ſtill be found more exquiſitely to fit them of Rome, if we conſider by what external Means this Dæmon-worſhip is promoted. For theſe that are ſaid to depart from the Faith, that is, from the ſound Doctrine of it, as Epiphanius has interpreted it, and to Apoſtatize into the Idolatrous Worſhip of Dæmons, are ſaid to do this ἐν ὑποκρίσει ψευδολόγων, through the Hypocriſie of Tellers of Lies, (the Apocalyps calls them τοὺς ποιοῦντας ψεῦδος thoſe that make Lies) that is to ſay that feign Legends of the Miracles of their Saints or Dæmons or Souls of the Departed: And indeed do it ſo impudently, as if they made no Conſcience of thoſe pious Frauds and Fables, whence it is ſaid that they have their Conſciences ſeared with an Hot-Iron. What can be more expreſſive of the Greek and Roman Legendaries than this? and yet there is ſtill a more particular Character added, Forbidding to marry, and commanding to abſtain from Meats. Whom can this Character fit ſo well as the Orders of Monks, into whoſe Societies no Man could be admitted but upon ſtrict Obſervation of theſe Laws? They prohibited any one that would be of their Fraternity to marry, and enjoined them alſo to abſtain from certain Meats. Theſe things are ſo ſolidly and copiouſly made out in Mr. Mede's Apoſtaſie of the latter times, that I need add nothing more but a Recommendation of that Treatiſe to the Reader. There is ſcarce any Prophecy falls more fitly upon any Event than this does upon the Church in thoſe times when ſhe had lapſed into this Dæmon-worſhip by the Seduction of a fraudulent and ſuperſtitious Clergy.

7. Thirdly, The ſummary Deſcription of the whole Myſtery of Godlineſs preceding ſo immediately before in the very laſt Verſe of the foregoing Chapter, me-thinks there there is a Congruity that this immediate Digreſſion into the Mention of a Lapſe from the Purity of this Myſtery ſhould be of no petty Concernment, ſuch as is the Perſtringing of a few Pythagorizing Chriſtians, or of ſuch as might leave Chriſtianity to follow Apollonius, of which notwithſtanding I do not remember any particular Stories; but a more ſolemn and notorious Apoſtaſie of the Church of Chriſt, and the converting of that great Myſtery of Godlineſs immediately before mentioned into a Myſtery of Iniquity, as it is elſe-where called. For that Expreſſion of [Some ſhall depart from the Faith] is no Bar at all to this Meaning, as Mr. Mede has demonſtratively made good by many and ſufficient Examples, where [ſome] is ſaid of the greateſt Part, and in a Manner of the whole People, as you may ſee in the above-named Treatiſe.

8. Fourthly and laſtly, The Preface to this Prediction, Now the Spirit ſpeaketh expreſly that in the latter times, &c. ſeems not only too big, but more determinate another Way, than to comply with what Grotius would put us off with, namely, a Glance at Apollonius and his Followers. For it is too dilute and frigid a Gloſs to make no more of ὕστεροι καιροὶ than to turn it off with a Poſthac or Hereafter; as if the term of ὕστεροι καιροὶ had not paſſed into a Phraſe of Art already, and had not been defined long ſince by the Angel in Daniel, or at leaſt was not a neceſſary Conſectary from his Definition, who being asked how long to the End of theſe Wonders, he held up his right Hand and his left Hand unto Heaven, and ſware by him that liveth for ever, that it ſhall be for a time and times and half a time: And being again asked by Daniel to declare more plainly when the End of thoſe things ſhould be, he gives this Anſwer, That the VVords are ſealed till the time of the End, (which is ſo called, as being that notable Section of time that lies next to the End of the Fourth or Laſt Monarchy:) but preſently after adds this hint to point him to this time of the End, That from the time that the daily Sacrifice ſhould be taken away, and the Abomination that makes deſolate ſet up, ſhould be 1290 Days, but that bleſſed he ſhould be that came to the 1335 Days. Chap. 12.

9. Now the End of thoſe things Daniel enquired after reached, as appears from the Text and general Conſent of Expoſitors, even to the Day of Judgment, however that Phraſe is to be underſtood. Whence it is rational to conceive that Daniel's Prophecies reach through thoſe four famous Monarchies or Kingdoms, the Babylonian, Perſian, Greek and Roman, and that the Roman Kingdom conterminates or ſynchronizes with the Fulneſs of Time, or the End of times and Ages, and being the Fourth and laſt Diviſion of this Sacred Kalendar of Prophecies, as Mr. Mede calls it, may rightly be termed the laſt Times or laſt Days, in which the Meſſias was expected and came. But after Chriſt's Coming, ſeeing there would be a very marvellous and notorious Reign of Antichriſt during this Fourth Monarchy or laſt time, who is figured out in the Two-horned Beaſt and the Whore of Babylon, which are of the middle Synchronals of the opened Book of Prophecies, and which I have already demonſtrated to begin about 400 Years after Chriſt, and that the time of their Continuance is the ſame with a Time and times and half a time, and that this is in ſome Senſe, 1260 Years; it is evident that this Share of time is the ὕστεροι καιροὶ, the latter times of theſe Laſt, or the time of the End, as lying next thereto, and the very times the Angel ſpeaks of in this Chapter, where he aſſerts with an Oath that thoſe Wonders (that is, that prodigious Reign of Antichriſt) ſhould continue for a time and times and half a time; but that when he ſhall have accompliſhed to ſcatter the Power of the holy People, namely, the Jews, then all things ſpoken of ſhall be finiſhed. Which is the very ſame with that in the Apocalyps, where the Angel ſwears by him that lives for ever, that there ſhould be no more time, ſaving in the Days of the Voice of the ſeventh Angel, when he ſhall ſound, and the Myſtery of Godlineſs ſhould be finiſhed, as he has declared to his Servants the Prophets, alluding particularly to this of Daniel. This is the right Meaning of this Paſſage of the Revelation according to common Senſe and Grammatical Conſtruction. Which plainly ſhews that the Time and Times and half a Time end with the ſixth Trumpet. Dan. 12. 7. Apoc. 10. 7.

From which Conſiderations it is evident to any one that is unprejudiced, that this term of ὕστεροι καιροὶ is a Term of the Prophetick Style, the ſame with the Time of the End, with an Alluſion to that Sacred Kalendar of Daniel conſiſting of the four Monarchies, as being the latter Section of the Continuance of the laſt, running on along with the Reign of Antichriſt. For ſo does the Church generally interpret that Time and Times and half a Time in Daniel,

10. And that they do belong to the Reign of Antichriſt even in our Senſe, Mr. Mede has, in my Judgment, moſt convincingly made good even from thoſe Numbers of 1290 Days and 1335 Days, in his little Treatiſe of thoſe Numbers, which he calls Revelatio Antichriſti. Which were certainly given as a Key to open the Truth of Daniel's Prophecies concerning the Reign of that Man of Sin, and the time of his Diſcovery. The Words are cloſed up and ſealed till the time of the End, that is, till theſe latter times; but the Wicked ſhall not then underſtand them, but the Wiſe ſhall, and may be aſſured of them by this Key of Numbers of Years from the Epocha of Antiochus his prophaning the Temple compared with the Event, the firſt notable Inſtances of Revealing of this Man of Sin.

Dan. 12. 9.

The Firſt of theſe Numbers from that Epocha ends in the Year of our Lord 1120, the latter in the Year 1165. (For I have already ſo undeniably demonſtrated that Days ſtylo Prophetico, do ſignifie Years, both in this Treatiſe and in my * Myſtery of Godlineſs, that I think no Man will doubt of it; and that they cannot ſignifie Days here, Mr. Mede has with no leſs Evidence evinced.) Now the Event agrees to the Prediction even to Admiration. For in the Year 1120 a true and perfect Detection or Deſcription of Antichriſt came forth, and not till then, as you may ſee by that compendious Account which Mr. Mede has given thereof.

* Book 5. Ch. 15. Sect. 2.

The Ending of the other Period is alſo notable for the Waldenſes and Albigenſes, in whoſe times the Myſtery of Iniquity was more fully detected, and by more numerous Companies proteſted againſt. Whence they are ſaid to be bleſſed that reach to thoſe times, by Reaſon of the great Clearneſs of the Light of the Goſpel that ſhined forth: nor leſs happy they that then alſo ſuffered for witneſſing to it; but certainly much more bleſſed by Reaſon that there Reward ſhould be greater and more ſingular. For the Prophecy declares how things are in Truth and Reality, and not according to the Judgment or Sentiments of the ſoft and falſe carnal Mind. See that judicious Author Mr. Mede, for I cannot dwell upon theſe things.

I will only add, for a farther Aſſurance of the Excellent Mr. Mede's Expoſition, that no other will hold Water. For it is not likely that theſe Numbers of Days ſhould be any Interpretation of the Extent of the above-mentioned Time and Times and half a Time; they both of them varying from the juſt Meaſure of that Period, and the Senſe alſo of that Ænigmatical Expreſſion being not ſo hard but that all hit on it and agree in it. To which you may add, that the Epocha from Antiochus will not comply with this Deſign, (and it is hard to make that Epocha ſignifie otherwiſe than literally with any Credibility of Meaning:) As alſo, that this Way the main Difficulty about which Daniel was ſo ſolicitous will not be ſatisfi'd, which was, When this time of the End would be, not of what Extent it was. Unto the Courſe of which, I mean of theſe τὸ τέλος, or the time of the End, (which is that Time and Times and half a Time) theſe Numbers of 1290 and 1335 do in a ſpecial Manner direct reckoned from the above-ſaid Epocha, as you may ſee at large if you conſult that excellent Interpreter I referred to before. The Angel tells Daniel, The Words ſhall be ſealed till the time of the End: and Mr. Mede ſhews plainly how the Matter is revealed in this time of the End, and even in thoſe very Points of this time which theſe Numbers direct to, which verily is worth our Conſideration as well as Admiration.

* Dan. 8. v. 14. 26.

CHAP.

CHAP. XI.

1. Epiphanius his Expoſition of the Prophecy of Paul to Timothy confirmed from the Reference it has to that in Daniel. 2. Grotius his Miſ-timing this Prophecy of Daniel, and applying it to Antiochus, how raſh and groundleſs. 3. A Confutation of his Application. 4. The right timing this Prophecy by Calvin and Mr. Mede, who both interpret it of the Roman State and Empire. 5. A more particular Account of the two firſt Verſes of the Prophecy Mr. Mede's Way. 6. As alſo of the third. 7. And Fourth. 8. That the Senſe of this Prophecy ſo clearly accords with that of St. Paul, that it is manifeſt he refers to it in τὸ δὲ Πνεῦμα ῥητῶς λέγει. 9. That though this Interpretation of Mr. Mede be unexceptionable throughout, yet the two firſt Verſes of the Prophecy may be otherwiſe expounded, and more ſuitably to St. Paul's Prophecy in his Epiſtle to the Theſſalonians.

1. WE ſee therefore what ſmall Reaſon Grotius has to turn off theſe ἐν καιρῷ with a frigid and undeterminate Poſthac, when they ſignifie, in this Place at leaſt, ſo punctually and determinately. Which is yet implied ſtill more plainly in that the Apoſtle ſays that the Spirit ſpeaks ῥητῶς, which intimates ſome Record where this Prophecy is written in a Manner totidem Verbis. For if there be any Force in Reaſoning from Words and Phraſes, ῥητῶς muſt ſignifie ſome ſuch thing, not ſimply Inſpiration, but verbal Deſcription of what is inſpired. Which Advantage neither Grotius nor any one elſe, I think, can alledge for their Interpretation, if it agree not with this which Epiphanius firſt ſo happily lighted upon, and Mr. Mede has ſo marvellouſly well improved, and is found moſt exactly to agree with that Prophecy of Daniel; which ſhall be the laſt Prediction of the Churche's Lapſing into Idolatry which I intend to produce. The Words are theſe:

Then ſhall a King do according to his Will, and he ſhall exalt himſelf, and magnifie himſelf above every God, and ſhall ſpeak marvellous things againſt the God of Gods, and ſhall proſper till the Indignation be accompliſhed; for that that is determined ſhall be done. Dan. ch. 11. v. 36, 37, 38, 39.

Then he ſhall not regard the God of his Fathers, nor the Deſire of Women, nor regard any God; for he ſhall magnifie himſelf above all.

For together with God in his Seat he ſhall honour Mahuzzim; yea together with a God his Anceſtors knew not, ſhall he honour them with Gold and Silver and with precious Stones and pleaſant things.

And he ſhall make the Holds of the Mahuzzim jointly to the foreign God, whom acknowledging he ſhall increaſe with Honour, and ſhall cauſe them to rule over many, and ſhall diſtribute the Earth for a Reward.

2. This is Mr. Mede's Tranſlation of the Text; which is very eaſie and natural as to Rules of Grammar and Criticiſm, as I ſhall take Notice afterwards. In the mean time I cannot but obſerve how groundleſs and irrational Grotius his Interpretation is, who expounds all this of Antiochus, both againſt the Stream of Antiquity, who always ſuſpected Antichriſt to be here prefigured, and againſt all Probability of things.

For to paſs by the Direction of thoſe Numbers above mentioned, that fall into that Time and Times and half a Time that compriſe the Continuance of the Wonders Daniel enquires after, (which Wonders are intimated in this preſent Prophecy as well as in that of the little Horn) as alſo the neceſſary Determination of this Time and Times and half a Time by the middle Synchronals of the Apocalyps; who can imagin that the Series of Daniel's Viſions, Chap. 11 and 12. that reach to the Day of Judgment, as certainly they do, ſhould admit of ſo vaſt an Hiatus or Gap as from the Geſts of Antiochus to the End of Things, neglecting that long Tract of Time betwixt, in which the Church is ſo much concerned?

Wherefore Calvin has judiciouſly adventured to interpret theſe Verſes of the Roman Empire, which immediately ſucceeded the Greek, (in the laſt times whereof Antiochus is ſaid to reign, according to the Prophecy of Daniel) though he has over-raſhly on the other Side rejected the Opinion of the Ancients, who ſuſpected Antichriſt concerned in theſe Verſes. Mr. Mede therefore has moſt happily joined them both together, as we ſhall ſee anon.

3. Now accordingly as Grotius has miſ-timed the Prophecy, ſo his Applications are alike cold and incongruous. For he cannot make good that Antiochus was a Rejecter of the Gods of his Fathers, nor of the Love of Women; againſt which the Roman Writers themſelves expreſly witneſs. For à Lapide upon the place, affirms that he both worſhipped the Gods of his Fathers, and made the Jews do ſo too; and both Gaſpar Sanctius and he tax Antiochus for his Mulieroſity and Exceſs in Luxury. And as touching Mahuzzim, beſides that מעזים in the plural Number is not ſo likely to be the proper Name of any one God, he does not make it out by any Hiſtory, that Antiochus was ſuch a zealous Worſhipper of this Modin, as he would have him called, or that he had a Temple built to him in Modin; which is a City in Judæa cut out in a Rock, and in all likelihood was a ſtrong Hold, and therefore was called Modin, but without any Reference to this imaginary Modin of Grotius, the ſtrange God of whom Antiochus ſhould be ſo zealous a Worſhipper. For which Conceit he brings no Proof but 1 Mac. 2. 15. where the Officers of Antiochus are ſaid to make the Jews to ſacrifice in Modin, but not to the God Modin. So that Grotius his whole Interpretation is but a mere precarious Fancy. Let us now caſt our Eyes upon Mr. Mede's.

4. Mr. Mede therefore, accordingly as Calvin before him, ſuppoſes that at the thirty ſixth Verſe of this eleventh Chapter the Prophecie of Antiochus breaks off, and that the Roman Kingdom comes into Conſideration: Which is not a Doubtful and Conjectural Opinion, but neceſſary from the Reaſons already intimated. Wherefore ועשה כרצנו מהלך is rightly rendred, Then ſhall a King do according to his Will. For that Particle ו is of ſuch a lax Senſe, that there is no Injury done in putting upon it this determinate Meaning. Accordingly as Paræus renders τὴ κλαύσονται Tum flebunt, Apoc. 18. 9. And by King is here meant, as elſe-where in Daniel, a State or Kingdom. And that the Roman is here meant, the Order of Succeſſion implies, it following the Greek according to all Chronologie, and according to the Senſe of Hiſtorians is conceived to ſucceed the Greek upon the Romans Conqueſt of Macedonia, which was in the latter times of Antiochus. So fitly do things fall in for Matter of Time in our Hypotheſis, which does promiſe an eaſie Flowing of the Senſe all along, which is this.

5. In the firſt of theſe Verſes, That the Roman State or Kingdom towards the End of Antiochus his Reign ſhall carry all before them and domineer as they liſt, they ſhall exalt themſelves and make themſelves greater than any Kingdom. For to conquer a Nation is to conquer their Gods, whom the Romans vocally called out of thoſe Cities they took by a certain Charm I ſpoke of above, and ſo led away the Gods of the Nations as it were captive as well as the People. Nay the Officers of this State ſpoke marvellous things and blaſphemous againſt the God of Gods, that is, againſt Chriſt Jeſus himſelf, when he was ſo mocked and deſpightfully uſed by his Perſecutors and Curcifiers; and yet they proſpered and were ſucceſsful in the Empire, notwithſtanding all this their Villainy towards Chriſt, and bloody Perſecution of his Members, wherein he was again reproached and blaſphemed, till the determinate time of this Rage ran out, and that the Empire became Chriſtian.

For, as it follows in the next Verſe, the Time was next to ſucceed wherein the Roman Empire ſhould contemn, neglect, and caſt off the Gods of their Anceſtors, that is, the Pagan Gods, and turn Chriſtians; but that withal Marriage (which was in ſo high Eſteem with the Romans before, as it appears by thoſe Laws which were called Julia and Papia, which Conſtantine abrogated) ſhould be much ſlighted at firſt, but in proceſs of Time be ſuperſtitiouſly forbidden as well to Prieſts as Monks, that Man of Sin then getting the Reins of the Empire into his Hands, who reſpected not any God, but for his nulling the Laws of Chriſt and trampling on the Necks of Princes, is juſtly ſaid to magnifie himſelf above all: according as it is written of him in the Epiſtle to the Theſſalonians.

6. And ſutably to this Lawleſneſs and Contempt of God it follows in the next Verſe, ולאלה מעזים על כנו יכבד, that is to ſay, For together with, or beſides, (for אל and ל will ſignifie ſo) God will he honour Mauzzim, על כנו, in ſua ditione, Grotius renders it, referring it to Antiochus. The Latin reads, in loco ſuo, referring it to the Idol. Mr. Mede, in his Seat, referring it to Chriſt the true God. There may be alſo another Senſe of על כנו, viz. ſuper baſin ejus; as if that Honour done to the Mauzzim was grounded in the Honour intended therein to Chriſt: which is the Plea of the Pontificians. The Senſe therefore briefly is this, That it is plain that this Roman Power, as was ſaid in the foregoing Verſe, has caſt away the true Fear of God from them, and exalt themſelves above every thing that is called God, even Chriſt himſelf, in that againſt the expreſs Law of God they do Divine Honour to the Mauzzim (though in pretence of worſhipping thereby the true God) with Gold and Silver and wooden Statues, and with whatſoever is coſtly and precious, as it immediately ly follows, יבר ביהב אלה אשר לא ידעהו אבותיו, that is to ſay, Even together with a God whom their Fathers knew not, that is Chriſt, (who was truly Θεὸς ἄγνωστος, a very Stranger amongſt the Roman Deities, and ſuch as the ancient Romans never ſacrificed to) will he worſhip them, viz. the Mauzzim, with Gold, &c.

Whence it is plain that the Dæmons ſpoke of by St. Paul are here propheſied of: For theſe Mauzzim are they, namely, the Saints by this Idolatrizing Empire turned into Dæmons; which thus became Deaſters or falſe Gods, that is undue Objects of Religious Worſhip, as all undoubtedly are but He that made the Heaven and the Earth, Jer. 10. The Gods that have not made the Heavens and the Earth, even they ſhall periſh from the Earth, &c. And again in the Pſalms, Πάντες οἱ θεοὶ τῶν ἐθνῶν δαιμόνια, ὁ δὲ κύριος τοὺς οὐρανοὺς ἐποίησεν. Which Places intimate, that there is no true Object of Religious Worſhip but the God which made the Heavens and the Earth; and that all other Things by being made the Objects of ſuch Worſhip, become upon that very Account Dæmones or Dæmonia, Petty-Gods, or falſe Gods, tho' to the Damage of the Worſhippers. But that they are here call'd Mauzzim, whom Paul terms Dæmonia, is by a wonderful ſtrange Previſion of God, this Hebrew Word being for Senſe the very Language of thoſe that by too ſuperſtitious a Zeal and Affection towards the Saints brought in this Dæmon-worſhip, placing a more ſenſible Truſt and Repoſe in their Reliques and Protection than in the Omnipreſent God himſelf. Theſe therefore they called πύργους, προβόλους, τείχη, ὀχυρώματα, ῥυστῆρας, ὑπερασπιστάς; Towers, Fortreſſes, Walls, Bulwarks, Guards, Protectors, and what not? All which Mauzzim does naturally and properly ſignifie, as you may ſee more at large in Mr. Mede. So eaſily does the Senſe flow concerning the Abuſe of Saint-worſhip, who, though Chriſt be pretended in all that Divine Honour done to them, yet it is plain they go Partners with him in the Dedication of Temples and other Religious Worſhip.

7. Which this laſt Verſe ſeems to aim at in thoſe Words ſo artificially couched, מבצרי מעזים עם-אלוה נכר, The holds of the Mauzzim with the ſtrange God, (as if they were Joint-Tenants, as Lawyers ſpeak,) which Holds are the Holy Houſes, Churches, Chappels, and Monaſteries dedicated to the Honour of Chriſt and the Saints. For theſe Holy Places are called מבצרים Strong Holds in alluſion to Mauzzim, which has a warlike Senſe in it, and ſignifies military Protectors and Champions, whoſe Houſes therefore may well be called Strong Holds. The Senſe of the whole Verſe is this: And this Roman Power ſhall erect Temples and other Religious Houſes to Chriſt and the Saints: where Chriſt is indigitated by אלוה נכר a ſtrange God, he being both according to his Humanity born of a Stock diſtinct from all the Heathen Nations, ſo that he is more ſtrange than any other could be in that Reſpect; and alſo being perfect God and perfect Man, which is ſuch a Deity as never the Nations had any Thought of before: ſo ſingularly ſignificant is this Deſcription of Chriſt in this Prophecy, by this Name of a ſtrange God: But that he being once known to them, they ſhould give him condign Honour, ſaving that they ſhould ſhare part thereof amongſt the Mauzzim, and make them alſo Rulers over the Empire, dividing the World amongſt them as a Reward of their Sufferings, (as is pretended) one Saint being conſtituted Patron or Protector of one City or Country, another of another, accordingly as I have above more fully declared. Book 1. Ch. 17. Sect. 4.

8. This is ſo clear and eaſie a Senſe, that it is no Wonder that St. Paul ſays that the Spirit ſpeaks ῥητῶς, expreſly, that in the latter times, that is to ſay, in Daniel's Time, and Times and half a Time, which is the latter Part of the Continuance of the Roman Empire, Men ſhould apoſtatize from the Faith, and embrace the Doctrine of Dæmon-worſhip or the Worſhip of the Mauzzim. To which Prophecy the Event is ſo exactly anſwerable, that a Man muſt be ſtrangely blinded with Prejudice that cannot ſee it: as alſo a ſtrange Contemner of Concinnity and Proportion, if he be not pleaſed to obſerve how handſomly and naturally that hideous and unproportionate Chaſma betwixt the Predictions in the eleventh Chapter of Daniel and the Twelfth is in this way filled up with Matters of weighty Concernment, and the Series of Times continuedly carried on to the Day of Judgment.

9. Thus unexceptionable in it ſelf is Mr. Mede's Interpretation of theſe four Verſes in Daniel, and for ought I know may be one continued Senſe really aimed at throughout. But I muſt confeſs when I look upon thoſe Words of the Apoſtle, 2 Theſſ. 2. Who oppoſeth and exalteth himſelf above all that is called God or that is worſhipped, which ſeems a plain Alluſion to theſe Words of Daniel, He ſhall exalt himſelf and magnifie himſelf above every God; I cannot but ſuſpect that, in an After Completion of the Prophecy the Pontifician Power, which became a kind of revived Image of the Pagan Imperial Power of Rome ſo ſoon as the Pope had once out-topp'd the Emperor, is alſo here perſtringed; and that therefore the two firſt Verſes of theſe four may be alſo interpreted of the Pope and of his Luciferian Pride, as I ſhall more diſtinctly ſhew in its proper place.

Chap. 18. Sect. 11.

CHAP. XII.

1. The Reaſons of his Prolixity hitherto in the Predictions of the Idolatry of the Church, and of his future Brevity in the reſt of the Parts of Antichriſtianiſm. Apoc. 11. 8. 2. The Second Member of Antichriſtianiſm prefigured in the * Witneſſes lying ſlain in the Streets of the great City called Ægypt. 3. A ſhort Paraphraſe and Expoſition upon that Verſe of the Apocalyps. 4. That the ſame thing ſeems to be prefigured in the Whore of Babylon her riding the Beaſt. 5. What Predictions concern the Oppoſition to the Prieſtly Office of Chriſt. 6. That the Two-horned Beaſt and the Falſe-Prophet are all one, and that both prefigure the Antichriſtian Oppoſition againſt his Prophetick Office. 7. That the Affliction of the true Prophets of Chriſt is prefigured in the Viſion of the Two Witneſſes, as alſo the Antichriſtian Oppoſition againſt the Kingly Office.

1. IN the mean time we have, I hope, with ſufficient Copiouſneſs vindicated Divine Providence from the leaſt Suſpicion of ſo remarkable a Neglect or Defect, as not to have as well predicted as fore-ſeen this general Lapſe of the Church in this firſt and chiefeſt Point of Antichriſtianiſm, Dæmon-worſhip or Idolatry. Wherein I have been the more copious, it being the chief Characteriſtick of the apoſtatized State of the Church, and indeed the Root of moſt of the reſt of thoſe Antichriſtian Enormities that have crept upon Chriſtendom, I am ſure of that which is at leaſt next in Heinouſneſs, the bloody Perſecution of the dear Children of God and faithful Members of Chriſt Jeſus, who cannot ſubmit to ſuch Idolatrous Practices.

But I ſhall return into my firſt Method, and ſearch out the Predictions of each Part of Antichriſtianiſm in that Order I have ſpoken of them already. Which I ſhall be able to do with greater Brevity by far, having already made good my main Deſign, and having nothing elſe to do but to refer to many of thoſe Prophecies which I have expounded already. Not to add alſo how moſt of thoſe Parts of Antichriſtianiſm which are behind are nothing ſo fully and frequently predicted as this of Idolatry.

2. As it fares with the very next Member we are to conſider, which is that Spiritual Bondage and Slavery Men are brought under by that Burthen of Superſtitious Opinions and of tedious and fruitleſs Obſervances, and a falſe Perſwaſion of Penances to be done, not for Emendation of Life only, but for Satisfaction; as if the Blood of the Son of God were of no Price nor Value: whenas ſuch Fictions are forged for no other End than to uphold the Tyrannical Power, or to advance the unjuſt Gains of the Prieſt.

At which Condition of the Church I do not doubt but the Spirit of God points, Apocal. 11. where the dead Bodies of the Two Witneſſes are ſaid to lie in the Streets of the great City, which ſpiritually is called Sodom and Ægypt, where alſo our Lord was crucified. Ἥτις καλεῖται πνευματικῶς, that is, ἐπὶ τὸ μυστήριον, in a Myſtery, or Typically, as Grotius himſelf acknowledges. I ſay therefore that this Great City, which is this Myſtical Ægypt, that Houſe of Bondage to the ancient Church of God in the Type, and to the Modern in the Antitype, is the pretended Catholick Church of Rome; and that this Spiritual Slavery under the ſuperſtitious Impoſitions of the Pope, and of whatſoever other Clergy of the ſame Stamp, is glanced at in this Paſſage of the Viſion.

For the Two-Witneſſes being Synchronal to the reſtored Beaſt, it is in vain to dream of any thing at Jeruſalem that ſhould be the Fulfilling of this Prophecy. It is therefore, I ſay, the Church of Rome that is this Myſtical Ægypt, and the Pope the Pharaoh of this Ægypt, with his hard Task-maſters, that make the deluded People drudge and toil under the Burthens of their Superſtition. And the Overthrow of this Spiritual Pharaoh and his Eccleſiaſtick Hoſt is manifeſtly typified by that of the Ægyptians ptians in the Red-Sea, which anſwers to the Blood of Chriſt, which is a Wall on the left Hand and on the Right to the ſimple-hearted Iſraelites in their Flight from theſe Tyrants of Ægypt, but overwhelms Pharaoh and his Hoſt, and puts the Song of Thanſgiving into the Mouths of thoſe who, through ſerious Meditation upon the proper Vertue and Intent of the bloody Paſſion of Chriſt, have eſcaped this Ægyptian Vaſſalage; I will ſing unto the Lord, for he hath triumphed glorioufly; the Horſe and his Rider has he thrown into the Sea: Or, which is the ſame, that Song of Moſes and of the Lamb, Apoc. 15. Great and marvellous are thy Works, Lord God Almighty; juſt and true are thy Ways, O King of Saints, &c. But of theſe things I have ſpoken already, and therefore this brief Intimation ſhall ſuffice. Book 1. ch. 4. Sect. 5.

*

Only for a Corroboration of this Typical Senſe of Ægypt, I cannot omit to take Notice how this Song of Moſes and of the Lamb is ſaid to be ſung ἐπὶ τ θάλασσαν τ ὑαλίνλω μεμιγμένλω πυρί. Which is a notorious Indication that the Eſcape of the Iſraelites from Pharaoh through the Red Sea is alluded to in this Song; both in that the Sea upon whoſe Shore it is ſung is called a Sea of Glaſs, which repreſents the hard Conſiſtency which the Sea then ſeemed to have, being as a thick glaſsy Wall on this Side and that Side of the Iſraelites, (nay indeed it is expreſly ſaid in the Song of Moſes, (Exod. 15. 8.) The Floods ſtood upright as an Heap, and the Depths were congealed in the Heart of the Sea;) and alſo in that it is ſaid to be mixt with Fire, which intimates how theſe two maſſy Walls of Glaſs were penetrated by the Sight of the Angel that went along with the Iſraelites through the Red Sea by Night. The Name or Colour alſo of the Sea may not unlikely be alluded to in this Deſcription, Red being not an improper Epithet of Fire. Apoc. 15. 2.

There may be alſo ſtill a more Myſtical Meaning of this Sea mingled with Fire, (the Spirit with the Blood of Chriſt) which for Brevity Sake I paſs over; and will only add a ſhort Paraphraſe upon the Verſe I firſt cited.

3. In the Street of the great City, which ſpiritually is called Sodom and Ægypt, ὅπε καὶ ὁ Κύριος ἡμῶν ἐσταυρώθη, which is ordinarily rendred, where alſo our Lord was crucified: which is very good and eaſie Senſe if we refer ὅπε to the great City, and read [which is ſpiritually called Sodom and Ægypt] Parenthetically; but if we refer it to, or rather join it with, Sodom and Ægypt, the Senſe ſeems more harſh, unleſs we underſtand an Ellipſis, the Supply whereof would be, καὶ ἡ πόλις ὅπε ὁ Κύριος ἡμῶν ἐσταυρώθη, In the Street of the great City, which is ſpiritually called Sodom and Ægypt, and the City where our Lord was crucified, that is, the Prophet-murthering Jeruſalem, which certainly is alluded to, be this Ellipſis how it will: And the Meaning of the Text I conceive to be this.

That that great Body Politick which pretends to be the Catholick Church, though ſo groſly Apoſtatized from the Apoſtolick Doctrine and Practice, κατὰ τὸ μυςήειον, as Grotius ſpeaks, Spiritually or Myſtically called Sodom, Ægypt, and the City where Chriſt was crucified, with juſt Reproach to their contrary Pretences. As if the Spirit of God ſhould ſpeak thus; Whereas this degenerate Church of Rome, by boaſting of their Profeſſion of vowed Cœlibate and perpetual Virginity, would make Show of being that true Virgin-Company, and the holy and chaſt Spouſe of Chriſt and of the Lamb; I do openly pronounce them a Neſt of unclean Birds, as foul as Sodom and as polluted as Gomorra: And whereas they would pretend to be the only Church of my Son Chriſt, who hath declared that if the Son make you free, then are you free indeed, and to be that Jeruſalem that is free, and is the Mother of all true Believers; I do proclaim to all the World, that they are, ſpiritually or myſtically, that very Land of Ægypt and Houſe of Bondage wherein my People are oppreſſed and miſerably tired out with tedious ſuperſtitious and burthenſome Obſervances, that ſerve for nothing but to uphold the Pomp and Pride of that Spiritual Pharaoh and his unmerciful Task-maſters, a Tyrannical and Idolatrous Clergy: And, laſtly, whereas they would make Men believe that they are that Holy City, which is a Refuge and Protection to the Saints of God, and a Shelter from Perſecution, where all Tears ſhall be wiped from their Eyes, that New Jeruſalem that deſcended from Heaven, (which they were if they were what they boaſted, the true viſible Church of Chriſt;) they are indeed a Succeſſion of that old Jeruſalem, the ſuperſtitious and burthenſome Scribes and Phariſees, who were the Crucifiers of my Son Jeſus, as theſe are to this very Day of his true Members, who himſelf, accordingly as he has told them, is perſecuted ſo often as they are perſecuted.

And therefore ὅπε καὶ ὁ Κύριος ἡμῶν ἐσταυρώθη may reſpect as well the Members of Chriſt as himſelf, notwithſtanding it is the firſt Aoriſt. For that is a good Note of Grotius his and a true one, Aoriſti ſine deſignatione temporis deſignant quod fieri ſolet.

And therefore here is intimated by ἐσταυρώθη the often Perſecution of Chriſt in his true Members under this Power of Antichriſt. For Crucifixion by a Dioriſm ſignifies any Kind of Perſecution.

Jeruſalem therefore literally is not here underſtood under the Diſguiſe of Sodom and Ægypt, (which would not be any ſuch myſtical or ſpiritual Meaning, but a mere Synecdoche, ſuch as every School-Boy underſtands) but that Great City, which is a Polity of Men that pretend to be the only true Catholick Church, though ſo miſerably Apoſtatized from the Faith: This City, in ſuch a myſtical Senſe as I have declared, is called Sodom, Ægypt and that Jeruſalem that kills the Prophets, and crucifies our Lord in perſecuting his Members.

But the thing that we note now eſpecially is there being called Ægypt for keeping the People of God in ſuch Spiritual Slavery and Bondage.

4. Which Slavery and Vaſſalage we may conceive alſo to be glanced at in the Figure of the Whore of Babylon that rides upon the Beaſt. For that this Imperious Clergy of Rome is ſo called, ſeems not only for that Babylon looks like the firſt Precedent of Idolatry in worſhipping Belus, but for their Tyrannical Pride and holding the People in ſuch a forcible Captivity, from under which no Man might withdraw himſelf and make back toward Jeruſalem and the true Temple of God, but he expoſed himſelf to the Cruelty of this bloody Whore, that ſits as a Queen and ſaies ſhe ſhall never ſee Sorrow.

The Beaſt alſo being ſaid to be rid by the Where inſinuates a Kind of beaſtly droyling and ſlavery the Chriſtian Empire has groaned under for ſo many Ages. Which, that it might be more like a Beaſt, (an Horſe or Mule that has no Underſtanding) they endeavoured to keep as ignorant as they could, that the People might be the more patiently Prieſt-rid, as the Phraſe is, and carry their Riders with more Eaſe and Safety.

5. Theſe are the chiefeſt Strictures that do occur to my Mind in the Prophetick Viſions that are applicable to this ſecond Member of Antichriſtianiſm, and that only in this general Way. That of St. Paul is more particular, Forbidding to marry, and commanding to abſtain from Meats; but ſo eaſie to be underſtood, that the naming thereof is ſufficient. And therefore I ſhall paſs to the next Branches of Antichriſtianiſm, thoſe Oppoſitions that would run down the Secred Offices of Chriſt, as he is King, Prophet and Prieſt. The grand Injury againſt the laſt of which is this, The making other Mediators beſides Chriſt, and giving them Religious Worſhip, (which is predicted in St. Paul and Daniel in thoſe Places we have already produced and expounded, touching the Dæmons or Mauzzim;) or elſe the Suppreſſing or Slighting the chief Uſe of the Death of Chriſt, which is a comfortable Eaſe of Conſcience from all Suſpicion of God's Diſpleaſure, or Fear of Puniſhment in the other World for Want of Satisfaction for our Miſdeeds here, ſo long as we have repented of them ſincerely, and have amended our Lives according to the Word of Chriſt. Which Abuſe is one grand Piece of that Slavery and Bondage that the People of God are held under in this Spiritual Ægypt; and therefore is generally prefigured in that Type we have already explained, and alſo in the Whore of Babylon, according to what we have above intimated. So that we may paſs over this Office of Chriſt, and proceed to his Kingly and Prophetick Office.

6. The Oppoſition to the latter whereof is plainly predicted in the Mention of the Falſe-prophet in the Apocalyps, which is the ſame with the Two-horned Beaſt, who is the Reſtorer of the Beaſt wounded to Death, (that is, of the Pagan Empire become Chriſtian) into a new Kind of Paganiſm, and is ſaid to work Miracles in the Sight of the Beaſt, wherewith he deceived them that dwell on the Earth, and made them worſhip the Image of the Beaſt and receive the Mark of the Beaſt, &c. Chap. 13. Which things are ſo plainly ſaid of the Falſe-Prophet, Chap. 19. 20. that there can be no doubt but the Two horned Beaſt and the Falſe-prophet are the ſame. And the Beaſt was taken, and with him the Falſe-prophet that wrought Miracles before him, with which he deceived them that received the Mark of the Beaſt and them that worſhipped his Image.

Wherefore it is plain that the Falſe-prophet and the Two-horned Beaſt, and conſequently the Whore of Babylon, are all one, as I have above noted; and that therefore the Roman Idolatrous Clergy, that pretend to be ſuch an Infallible Church, as if God did unfailingly inſpire them in what-ever is concluded upon by their Pope, or at leaſt by him together with what they will call a General Council, are figured out here, by Way of Reproach to this boaſt of infallible Inſpiration, in this Title or Style of Prophet. But for that they delude the World by falſe Doctrines, and either Diabolical

Miracles

Miracles or cunning Cheats and Forgeries of Miraculous Effects, the same Company of Men is more ignominiously and openly branded for this Impiety by the prefixing that deserved Epithet of False, ὁ ψευδοπροφήτης, The False Prophet, What can be more plain than this? Or what a more wicked Opposition to the Prophetick Office of Christ, than for one to take upon him to be his infallible Vicar-General of Christendom, and yet to fill the World with Idolatry and Lies? Which this Body of Pseudo-prophets have done in some Measure, more or less, for about these 1200 Years, as is manifest from the last Consectary of our Joint-Exposition.

7. Whence we may be sure that the true Prophets, who speak according to the Tenour of Apostolick Doctrine, would have but a sad time of it, and the Prophetick Office of Christ, as he illuminates these by his Word and Spirit, be opposed and resisted, nay these Instruments of his contradicted and oppressed with all imaginable Injury and Violence, accordingly as this Mystery of Iniquity should grow up in the Church; which seems to have commenced about 400 Years after Christ.

Which Condition of the Church I conceive is prefigured in the Vision of the Two Witnesses, whose mournful Prophecy in Sackcloth is Synchronal to the Reign of the False-Prophet, as has been above demonstrated. But the Description of things is such as comprises the Opposition to the Kingly Office of Christ as well as Prophetical, as shall appear in our Explication of the Vision. For for any one to take upon him to be the infallible Interpreter of the Law of a King, is to give Laws for him, and to despoil him of his Throne and Sceptre. Or by what-ever other Device his Laws may be suppressed and kept from the People and other Laws put in their Room, this Kingly Office is plainly made nothing by it. But that the Word of God contained in the Old and New Testament is thus dealt withal by this False-Prophet, I have in my Idea of Antichristianism sufficiently declared.

CHAP. XIII.

1. An Explication of the Witnesses. Ver. III. The Reason why they are Two: Ver. IV, V. Why Two Olive-trees and Candlesticks, and what meant by their killing Men by the Fire that proceeds out of their Mouths. Ver. VI. That their Power of shutting up Heaven from Raining may be attributed to them only by a Metalepsis. 2. Or rather by a Zoopœia of the second Sort. 3. According to which Figure they are said to smite the Earth with every Plague of Egypt; And what the Meaning of these Plagues may be. Ver VII. Ὅταν τελέσωσιν, Ἐκ τῆς ἀβύσσου, The War and Death of the Witnesses, what they mean. Ver. VIII. Ægypt and the fore-going Plagues fitly mentioned together. Ver. IX. The Meaning of Three Days and an half, and of the Bodies of the Witnesses lying unburied. Ver. X. What meant by the Dwellers upon Earth. Ver. XI. What by the Spirit of God coming into the Witnesses. Ver. XII. That the true Witnesses do not invade Heaven, but ascend thither when they are called. Ver. XIII. The Earth-quake, City, Fall of the City, and the Slaughter of 7000 Names of Men, what they mean. 2. That the Antichristian Opposition to the Regal and Prophetical Office of Christ is clearly prefigured in this Vision of the Two Witnesses.

1. LET us now enquire what News of these Injuries in this Vision of the Two mournful Witnesses; who complain not without a Cause, as well the Regal as Prophetical Office of Christ being so palpably opposed by that Man of Sin. We shall give a brief Explication of the Vision, proceeding orderly from Verse to Verse, beginning at the Third, and holding on till the Fourteenth, where the Story of the Witnesses endeth.

Ver. III. And I will give Power unto my Two Witnesses, and they shall prophesy a thousand two hundred and threescore Days clothed in Sack-cloth.

That these Days are so many Years, appears from the last Consectary of my Joint-Exposition. That these Witnesses are Two, is partly from the Types they allude to in the Old Testament, and partly from the Nature of the things they signifie. The Types they allude to are Moses and Aaron, Elias and Elisha, Zerobabel and Jesua, three several Pairs of holy Men that are famous for their Conduct of the People in such times as bear also Analogy to these of the Two Witnesses, whose Prophecy is during the Conculcation of the Outward Court of the Temple by the Gentiles, that is, while it is polluted with Idolatry, as Moses and Aaron were over the Israelites in the Wilderness, where they often lapsed into Idolatry, (to which the Woman in the Wilderness may haply allude,) Elias and Elisha in their Baalitical Apostasie, and Zerobabel and Jesua when they were yet in the Captivity of Babylon.

There are also three Pair of things that may be fitly signified by these Two Witnesses. Either the suppressed Magistracy and Ministry, (such I mean as answer in Opposition to the Ten-horned Beast and False-Prophet, and bear a Resemblance with Moses and Aaron, Zerobabel and Jesua;) or else the People of the Jews, (I mean such of them as are so sincere, that were it not for the Sway of Antichristianism in the World, would be converted to Christ) together with the Virgin-Company of Christians; or lastly, (which answers to these two last Witnesses) the Old Testament and the New, which may be added by an Henopœia to the other.

Ver. IV. These are the two Olive-trees, and the two Candlesticks standing before the God of the Earth.

It is a plain Israelism, alluding to that in Zechary, Chap. 4. 11. What are these two Olive-trees upon the right Side of the Candlestick and upon the left Side thereof? And then Ver. 14. These are the two anointed ones, that stand by the Lord of the whole Earth. Which Interpreters universally understand of Zerobabel and Jesua.

Ver. V. And if any one will hurt them, Fire proceedeth out of their Mouth and devoureth their Enemies; and if any Man will hurt them, he must in this manner be killed.

It is an Allusion to the Story of Moses and Elias their bringing down Fire upon their Opposers. But here it is to be understood more Mystically of the Fire of the Spirit, or of the Law of God proceeding out of their Mouths, whereby they convince the World. Jer. 23. Is not my Word like as a Fire, saith the Lord, and like a Hammer that breaketh the Rock in Pieces? Like that of the Man out of the Sea, 2 Esdras 13. whose Voice whensoever it went out of his Mouth, all they burnt that heard it. And again in the same Chapter, And lo, as he saw the Violence of the Multitude that came, he neither lift up his Hand, nor held Sword nor any Instrument of War: But only I saw that he sent out of his Mouth as it had been a Blast of Fire, and out of his Lips a flaming Breath, and out of his Tongue he cast out Sparks and Tempests. And they were all mixt together, the Blast of Fire, the flaming Breath, and the great Tempest, and fell with Violence on the great Multitude which was prepared to fight, and burnt them up every one; so that of a sudden, of an innumerable Multitude nothing was to be perceived but only Dust and Smell of Smoke. Which is afterwards interpreted, ver. 38. And he shall destroy them without Labour by the Law which is like unto Fire.

Ver. 29. Ver. 4. Ver. 9, &c.

By this we may know what is meant by [If any Man will hurt them, he must in this manner be killed.] And it was the Word of the Lord to Zerobabel, who is alluded to in these Witnesses, Not by Might nor by Power, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of Hosts. So plain is it that the Weapons of the Two Witnesses in the time of their mournful Prophecie are only Spiritual. Which is a thing worthy the noting and seriously considering.

Zechar. 4. 6.

Ver. VI. These have Power to shut Heaven, that it rain not in the Days of their Prophecie; and have Power over Waters to turn them into Blood, and to smite the Earth with all Plagues, as often as they please.

In the Days of their Prophecie, that is to say, of their mournful Prophecie, or in the Days of their Propheſying in Sackcloth; as is plainly to be understood out of the third Verse. It is a manifest Allusion to Elias his hindering it from raining in Ahab's Time for three Years and six Months, which is exactly the Time of the Prophecie of these Witnesses, namely, 1260 Days. But the Meaning must needs be more mystical, these Days signifying Years. Wherefore by Rain is meant the distilling of that pure refreshing Doctrine of the Gospel unadulterated by the false Glosses of Men; which Heavenly Drops descend not during the mournful Prophecie of the Witnesses. But this shutting up Heaven thus is ascribed to them, not that they positively hinder the Descent of this celestial Dew, but by a Metalepsis, such as I have already observed in the Rider of the red Horse, to whom Power is said to be given to take Peace from the Earth, and that there was given unto him a great Sword, whenas yet there is no more understood by it, than that in his Time there would be much killing one another. So that the Effect is put upon the Sign, when such a thing should be: as in that vulgar Verse.

Apoc. 6. 4.

Pallida

Pallida Luna pluit, rubicunda flat, alba ſerenat.

2. This is one warrantable Senſe; and yet there is ſtill a better, If this ſhutting up of Heaven be attributed unto theſe two mournful Witneſſes not by a bare Metalepſis only, but by a Zoopœia of the ſecond ſort, ſuch as I have above deſcribed; wherein, though the Party to whom the Effects be attributed does not uſe any Activity to produce them, yet in ſome Senſe he has a cauſal Influence upon them; as the abſent Sun may be ſaid to be the Cauſe of Night and of all the Villainies committed under her Shelter. So the Suppreſſion and putting out of place theſe Witneſſes is the Cauſe of the ſhutting up of Heaven, and of the Scarcity of the pure Word amongſt the People; but cannot be attributed to the Witneſſes themſelves, but only by a Metalepſis, or rather a Zoopœia.

3. According to which the turning Water into Blood and the ſmiting the Earth with all Plagues as often as they pleaſe, is attributed to them, namely by a Zoopœia, though they have no poſitive Activity therein, no more than the Sun in all the Murthers and Adulteries that are committed by his Abſence in the Covert and Concealment of the ſhady Night. And therefore whereas it is added, ὁσάκις ἂν θελήσωσιν, as often as they will, (not to mention that the Word ἐθέλειν and θέλειν is by good Authors ſpoken alſo of things inanimate) it is but the Height and Sublimity of this Scheme, and ſignifies no more than, as often as Opportunities are offered for ſuch Effects, upon which the mournful Condition of theſe Witneſſes have a conſequential Influence, if we may ſo ſpeak, though not an active. And Will is attributed to them with as much Reaſon and Elegancy as the Activity it ſelf; and indeed according to neceſſary Analogie, thoſe occaſional Conſequences anſwering exactly to the occaſional Exertions of the Acts of the Will in him that is ſaid properly to act, and not by a Zoopœia. But if any one does not ſo well approve of this more accurate and diſtinct Explication of the Analogy, he may if he pleaſe call it a παραφυάδια, and ſay that the Greatneſs and Frequency of theſe Ægyptian Plagues in general is only here ſignified. The Alluſion is to Moſes his ſmiting the Land of Ægypt with thoſe ten Plagues: The inflicting of which, in a Myſtery, is aſcribed to theſe two Witneſſes while they are in this debaſed and dejected Plight.

The Senſe therefore in brief is this: That the Roman Empire, in which is this Spiritual Ægypt that holds the People of God in Bondage, whether the Waters thereof be turned into Blood by inteſtine Wars and Broils; or whether it noiſomly abound with Frogs, that is, with ſlimy, ſalacious, and venereous Perſons; or be full of lazy and Louſy Beggars, a ſordid and ſqualid Poverty over-running the Generality of Men by reaſon of either the Oppreſſion or ill Diſcipline of them that are in Power; or Men be infeſted and diſquieted with the importunate Incurſions of Swarms of Gnats and Flies, that is to ſay, with the Numeroſity of Superſtitious Scrupuloſities and vexatious Controverſies of Polemical Theologie, that ſting and bite and diſturb the Minds and Conſciences of Men to no purpoſe but for Affliction and Inquietude; or the Beaſts, which the Platoniſts call our Bodies, be plagued with Murrain, that is, be charged with Foulneſs and Corruption, and with the noiſom Poiſon of the deadly Sins; or that the Multitude be unquiet, as if enraged with angry Boils and Ulcers; or the barbarous Nations from the North invade the Empire like a violent Storm of Hail-Stones; or the Turk and Sarazen from the South, as a numerous Army of Locuſts; or that palpable Darkneſs and Blindneſs in Divine Matters ſeize the Minds of Men; or that the Firſt-born in every Family be found dead, that is (ſaith Alcazar) the Soul of every Man obnoxious to eternal Death, (as if he would have the Soul σώματος ὑστερογενῆ, born later than the Body, but to be the firſt born in Man; or rather becauſe ſhe has the Right of Primogeniture, the Right of Ruling over the Body:) That all theſe Plagues of the Myſtical Ægypt, what-ever they be, (as certainly they cannot ſignify well) are attributed to the two mournful Witneſſes by a Zoopœia, they being the neceſſary Conſequence of the Witneſſes Diſgrace, Affliction, and Deprivation of Power and Office, as Darkneſs, Thefts, Murthers, and Adulteries are of the Abſence of the Sun.

Ver. VII. And when they ſhall have finiſhed their Teſtimony, the Beaſt that aſcendeth out of the Bottomleſs Pit ſhall make War againſt them, and ſhall overcome them and kill them.

The Greek has it, ὅταν τελέσωσι· which ſignifies no more than, when they ſhall perform their Witneſſings. And [out of the bottomleſs Pit] is Ἐκ τῆς ἀβύσσου, which is either, Out of a deep Pit in the Earth, or Out of the Sea, and ſo may intimate either the Two- horned Beaſt, or the Ten-horned. The making War againſt them, by a Diorifmus, ſignifies any manner of oppoſing them, and Endeavour to ſuppreſs them, not excluding War and Blood-ſhed; as it happened to them toward the latter End of their Prophecie, among the Waldenſes and Albigenſes and others. And as War ſignifies any Oppoſition, ſo Death or Killing any changing their Condition into worſe, ſo that they ceaſe to be what they were before. And that this is a Political Death or putting out of Power is plain, in that their Reſurrection is ſuch. See Death and Reſurrection in my Prophetick Alphabet. So that the Senſe is this, That no ſooner ſhall they begin to perform their Office of witneſſing to the Truth, but they ſhall be aſſaulted, ſuppreſſed, and politically killed, that is, kept out of all Power and Dignity.

Ver. VIII. And their dead Bodies ſhall lie in the Street of the great City that Spiritually is called Sodom and Ægypt, where alſo our Lord was crucified.

This Verſe I have expounded already in the immediately preceding Chapter; only you may here take Notice how well this Appellation of Ægypt agrees with the Mention of the Ægyptian Plagues before alluded to, which abode upon the Land becauſe they ſtill kept the People of God in Bondage, and would not ſuffer them to ſerve God according to his own Will and Precept.

Ver. IX. And they of the People and Kindreds and Tongues and Nations ſhall ſee their dead Bodies three Days and an half, and ſhall not ſuffer their dead Bodies to be put in the Grave.

This not being buried has a double Senſe, as you may ſee in the Prophetick Alphabet. But I muſt confeſs I take the more favourable to be the truer, and that their not being buried is a Pledge of their Reſurrection at laſt, that is, after three Days and an half, which I have in my Myſtery of Godlineſs ſhewn to be Three Times and an half, 1260 Years; the very ſame with the Time of their mournful Propheçie. For they being only Politically dead, it is not at all inconſiſtent in the Verity of the Thing ſignified that they ſhould propheſy in a mournful Condition, nay indeed it is neceſſary to be ſo. And the Spirit of God deſigning and ſetting out theſe two Parts of their Condition, namely their Prophetical Witneſſings and their Deveſtment of all Political Power, (which the Scripture calls the Death of a People, and their Recovery again into a Polity their Reſurrection,) he has (partly becauſe it were very incongruous to make them propheſy while they were dead, and partly becauſe ſo long a time as their Prophecy is ſaid to laſt, viz. 1260 Years, was not ſo ſutable for a dead Body to lie unburied in the Streets and then to revive) ſo contrived the Cortex of this Viſion with ſuch admirable Artifice, as that theſe Harſhneſſes are avoided in that Homonymia of Three Days and an half, and all the Parts of the Prophetick Figurations made to keep due Proportion and Symmetry, as well as the inward Signification of the things meant; and yet without any Prejudice to the finding out of the true Meaning to him that is ſagacious, the Three Days and an half ſo eaſily caſting him upon Three Times and an half, which is the very ſame time with 1260 Days. But whether in a ſecondary Intention theſe Three Days and an half may have ſome ſuch Meaning as Mr. Mede has given them, Event will beſt define. For my own Part, I ſee very little or no Ground in the Text for any ſuch Meaning. See my Myſtery of Godlineſs, and what I have above intimated in this Treatiſe.

Book 5. Ch. 15. Sect. 4.

Ver. X. And they that dwell upon the Earth ſhall rejoice over them, and make merry, and ſhall ſend Gifts one to another, becauſe theſe two Prophets tormented them that dwell on the Earth.

The Dwellers upon Earth, Ribera in another Place, out of Andreas, interprets Habentes in terra perpetuam cordis habitationem, whoſe Minds dwell upon worldly things. Theſe muſt needs rejoice when the Two Witneſſes are ſlain, their free Rebukes out of the Oracles of God being very diſquieting and tormenting to theſe worldly and carnally-minded Men. See my Myſtery of Godlineſs.

Book 5. Ch. 17. Sect. 8.

Ver. XI. And after three Days and an half the Spirit of Life from God entred into them; and they ſtood upon their Feet, and great Fear fell upon them that ſaw them.

That the Spirit of Life from God entred into them is correſpondent to what we have already cited out of Zacharie, Not by Might, nor by Power, but by my Spirit, ſaith the Lord of Hoſts. That this Reſurrection of them has a Political Meaning, you may be farther ſatisfied in my Prophetick Alphabet, from what I have there ſaid upon that Term.

Ver. XII. And they heard a Voice from Heaven ſaying unto them, Come up hither. And they aſcended up to Heaven in a Cloud, and their Enemies beheld them.

I had

I had rather render, καὶ ἤκουσαν, For they heard, &c. this Voice from Heaven raising them from the Dead, as the Voice of Christ did Lazarus. By which Heaven is here understood the higher Places in the Political Universe, unto which the slain Witnesses are called by a Voice from thence, saying, Come up hither. Whence it will not be unreasonable to note, That those that are the true Witnesses will not come before they be called, nor, like the ancient Giants, invade this Heaven against their Wills that reside there; but stay till they have a lawful Call to Political Offices and Dignities. For it is not true of this Political Heaven, but of the spiritual, The Kingdom of Heaven suffers Violence, and the violent take it by Force. Mat. 11. 12.

And that these Witnesses are said to ascend up to Heaven in a Cloud, it seems an Allusion to Christ's Ascension after his Crucifixion, which is also alluded to here in the eighth Verse. And the time of Christ's mournful Prophecy before his Resurrection was about Three Years and an half, (if we may believe Chronologers) to make the Allusion still more perfect.

Ver. XIII. And the same Time there was a great Earthquake, and the tenth Part of the City fell; and in the Earthquake were slain seven thousand Names of Men: and the Remnant were affrighted and gave Glory to the God of Heaven.

That an Earthquake signifies Political Commotions and Change of Affairs, is obvious to any one to note. But that the City here mentioned should be understood not of a City of Brick or Stone, but a Polity, has not been so easie for every one to hit on. But I conceive it is plain enough that this City is the very City mentioned in the eighth Verse, which is called the great City, and this great City is the Whore of Babylon, and the Whore of Babylon is nothing but the Body of the Idolatrous Clergy in the Empire, who appertain to the Seventh or last Head of the Beast, which is an Head of Blasphemy as well as the Six first, that is to say, an Idolatrous Head. Whence we may understand what is meant by these Seven Thousand Names of Men: For neither seven nor thousand signifie any determinate Number, (though by a pleasant Diorismus they seem to do so) but only the Nature or Property of those Names of Men that are said to be slain, namely, That they are Titles, Dignities, Offices or Orders of Men belonging to the State of Christendom as under the seventh Head that is become Idolatrous and Antichristian. And in that this Number Seven is multiplied into a Thousand, it signifies perhaps a perfect and durable nulling all such Offices and Orders of Men, at least it serves for Adorning the external Cortex of the Prophecy. Which if Mr. Mede had taken Notice of, it would have saved him the Labour of making out the Sense of Ὀνόματα ἀνθρώπων, and also the Solicitude touching the Proportionableness of the Number of the slain. For no Men at all here are necessarily implied to be slain, but only all Antichristian Offices and Fraternities to be dissolved and abrogated, and things to be reduced to the Purity of the First four hundred Years. For to slay, by a Diorismus, signifies nothing else but a causing a thing to cease to be. This I little question but is the true Meaning of this Place. And τὸ δέκατον τῆς πόλεως will have a Sense marvellous coincident therewith.

But that there is any Design upon the Brick and Stone, the Walls and Buildings of Rome, either in this present Vision or any other in the Apocalyps, I do profess my self for the present so dim-sighted as not to discover; the Papal Polity, by an Hylasmus, not the material City, being understood in all the Denunciations against her, so far as I see yet. So that if she be to be burnt, or sack'd, or sunk by Earth-quakes, it may be but a By-Accident, and not directly pointed at nor prefigured in the Apocalyptick Visions. But if such a thing should happen in such Circumstances as should in a special and peculiar Way fit with some of these Prophecies, it will be therein compriſed by an Henopœia of the second Sort, as I have intimated in my Prophetick Schemes.

But be this how it will, I make no Question but this thirteenth Verse of the Chapter we are upon concerns mainly, if not only, the Idolatrous Clergy it self. But it is said of the rest, that they were affrighted and gave Glory to the God of Heaven, as being just in his Judgments, according to that of the Song of Moses and of the Lamb, Who shall not fear thee, O Lord, and glorifie thy Name? For thou only art holy, &c. Yea, which is more, that the Event might not seem less remarkable than really it was, there were those even amongst the Clergy, the Popes themselves not excepted, as appears in Adrian and Clement, who tho' still continuing in the Roman Communion, were not only affrighted, but also gave Glory to God, that is, they acknowledged that this great Change of Affairs happened because of the heinous Apoc. 15. 4.

Offences and Tranſgreſſions of the Clergy, as may be ſeen in the Hiſtory of the Council of Trent.

Book 1. ch. 17 ſect. 8.

2. Out of what I have written here and in my Myſtery of Godlineſs, I think it is evident enough that that Antichriſtian Oppoſition that is made againſt the Prophetick and Regal Office of Chriſt, is clearly prefigured in this Viſion of the Two Witneſſes, who are ſaid to lie ſlain in the Streets of the great City during the Conculcation of the Outward Court of the Temple by the Gentiles.

And truly though ſome pleaſe themſelves in conceiting this Viſion ſuch an invincible Puzzle, I cannot but profeſs that the Senſe thereof ſeems to me as clear as the meridian Sun. And for that ſpecial Knot or Scruple therein, imagined to lie in the eighth Verſe, how theſe Witneſſes can be underſtood of any of the Inhabitants of Chriſtendom, their Bodies being ſaid to lie dead in the Streets of the great City where our Lord was crucified, which therefore muſt be Jeruſalem; I have already anſwered by ſhewing that this City is called the old Jeruſalem ſpiritually or myſtically, as well as Sodom and Ægypt. And if any one have an Heart to hear, (for it requires no great Labour of the Head to underſtand it) the brief and plain Senſe of this Verſe is this: That theſe Two Witneſſes ſhall lie deſpoiled of all Reſpect and Power in the Precincts of the Juriſdiction of that Church which hitherto has always been the greateſt, (ſo that it may very fitly be repreſented by a great City) and is now very large indeed, conſiſting of mere formal, carnal, and Hypocritical Profeſſours of the Worſhip of the true God, in which Church alſo our Lord was crucified. What can be more eaſy and plain than this? For it only ſuppoſes that this carnal, and Hypocritical, Witneſs-ſlaying Church of the Chriſtians is one ſucceeding City, Synagogue or falſe Church with the formal, Hypocritical, Prophet-murthering Church of the Jews. Which is a plain Truth, whether this Prophecy ſuppoſe it or no. But we proceed.

CHAP. XIV.

1. That the little Horn in Daniel is a Type of that Power which ſhould oppoſe the Regal Office of Chriſt. 2. That the fourth Kingdom in Daniel is not that of the Lagidæ and Seleucidæ, but the Roman, proved from the univerſal Conſent of Eccleſiaſtick Writers. 3. From the Eminency and Greatneſs of the fourth Kingdom. 4. From the Diſtance of time betwixt the Kingdom of the Lagidæ and Seleucidæ, and the Kingdom of the Stone cut out without Hands, or the Kingdom of the Son of Man, which is alſo the Kingdom of Heaven or of God. 5. Grotius his fond and prophane Interpretation of the Son of Man, as if thereby were meant the People of Rome. 6. The like extravagancy in his interpreting the Stone cut out without Hands, of the ſame People. 7. The unſoundneſs of that Conceit yet more clearly and diſtinctly diſcovered. 8. The Kingdom of the Lagidæ and Seleucidæ farther proved not to be the fourth Kingdom, from the Coexiſtence of the Ten Kings according to Type. 9. From their vaſtly-differing Periods, the one ending, according to Daniel, preſently after Antiochus, the other not before the Day of Judgment. 10. From Daniel's making the great Horn the firſt King in the Third Kingdom, and four leſſer to grow up after him on the ſame Goat's Head. 11. From the four Heads of the Leopard, which are the four Succeſſours of Alexander in this Third Beaſt or Kingdom, and from Daniel's reckoning Antiochus in the latter End of this Succeſſion. 12. That the little Horn does of Neceſſity appertain to the Roman Kingdom, become Ten-horned and Pagano-Chriſtian at once. 13. That it is of equal Duration with the Whore and Two-horned Beaſt, and at leaſt coincident in time with them and the Beaſt reſtored. 14. From which Equality and Coincidence he is diſcovered to be the Whore or Two-horned Beaſt. 15. That the Patriarch of Rome is more eſpicially concerned in this Type. 16. The exquiſite Applicability of the Characters of this Horn to the ſaid Patriarch. 17. The Application of thoſe Characters that more particularly concern his oppoſing the Regal Office of Chriſt.

1. THat Prophecy alſo in Daniel of the little Horn that is ſaid to change times and Laws is a clear and expreſs Prediction of that Antichriſtian Oppoſition which is againſt the Regal Office of Chriſt. For that this little Horn is the ſame with the Two-horned Beaſt or the Whore in the Apocalyps, I think no Man will ſcruple that conſiders ſiders that this Horn is Part of the Roman Kingdom which is decyphered by Ten-Horns, and that it belongs to that very time when the Kingdom is actually Ten-horned; which is not in Succeſſion, but together; as the Ten Toes of the Statue, which anſwer to theſe Ten-Horns, , do not ſignifie the Succeſſion of Ten Kings, but Ten Kings ranked in the ſame time, as the Toes of the Feet of the Image, which have not properly a Precedency, but rather a Co-ordination in Site.

2. Now that the fourth Kingdom which is prefigured by the iron Legs, Feet and ten Toes of the Image, and by the Beaſt with iron Teeth and ten Horns, is not that of the Lagidæ and Seleucidæ, as Grotius would have it, but the Kingdom of the Romans, there are theſe weighty Reaſons to convince us. Dan. 2.

Firſt, It is the univerſal Senſe of all Eccleſiaſtick, Writers That the fourth Beaſt is the Roman Empire; as both Cornelius a Lapide and Gaſpar Sanctius, both of them Jeſuites, yet do roundly aſſert. The Words of the latter are theſe: Eſt ergò omnium ſententia innominata hæc atque horribilis bellua Romanum Imperium; neque neceſſe eſt quenquam nominare, cum nemo non dicat.

3. Secondly, That it cannot be the Kingdom of the Lagidæ and Seleucidæ, as Grotius would bear us in Hand, (in which odd Conceit of his he forſakes the Judgment of the whole Church of Chriſt, to follow Porphyrius his, who was a ſworn Enemy to the Chriſtian Religion) appears from what is ſaid Daniel 7. 23. The Fourth Beaſt ſhall be the Fourth Kingdom upon Earth, רְבִיעָאָה מַלְכוּ תְשִׁיעָאָה מִן־כָּל־מַלְכְוָתָא, Quod majus erit omnibus regnis, Which ſhall be greater than all Kingdoms; ſo the vulgar Latine and Vatablus. The Seventy alſo render it, ἥτις ὑπερέξει πάσας τὰς βασιλείας. And it agrees beſt with what follows, and ſhall devour the whole Earth, (which muſt be underſtood in ſuch a Senſe as Earth was before) and ſhall tread it down and break it in Pieces. Which it could not be ſaid to do, unleſs it were ſo great a Kingdom as is here intimated. Now it is manifeſt that the Kingdom of the Seleucidæ and Lagidæ was neither greater, more excellent, nor a more victorious Kingdom than any of the three preceding, namely, the Babylonian, Perſian, and that of Alexander the Great, from whoſe Kingdom they would make this of the Seleucidæ and Lagidæ diſtinct. Wherefore their Kingdom cannot be this Fourth.

This Inference is ſo plain to Gaſpar Sanctius, that he does, though but juſtly, yet very ſeverely, chaſtiſe Porphyrius for this Error which Grotius has ſo unluckily taken up. For he breaks out in theſe Words upon this Text, Vide Porphyrii ſtuporem & oſcitantiam, in cujus mentem venire potuit ut exiſtimaret regnum eorum qui Alexandro ſucceſſere omnium eſſe maximum, quodque omnem terram ſibi ſubjecerit conculcaveritque, cum reliquis reguis longè fuerit infirmius & ab omnibus conciſum aut malè vexatum. Nay, the very Prophecy it ſelf makes the Kingdom of the Succeſſours of Alexander leſs than his in Power and Greatneſs, Dan. 8. 22. where it is ſaid that four Kingdoms ſhall ſtand up, but not in the Strength and Power of Alexander: Which is, they ſhall be inferior to him. Which queſtionleſs is meant of them jointly, ſeeing the Intimation were it underſtood of them ſingly or apart would be ſuperfluous, as if the Spirit of God had foretold that a Part would be leſs than the Whole; not to mention that its one and the ſame Goat that is ſaid firſt to have one great Horn, and afterwards to have four ſucceeding to it.

4. Thirdly, The Kingdom of the Iron Legs and Toes, and the Kingdom even of the Ten-horned Beaſt with iron Teeth are one and the ſame Kingdom, according to Grotius his own Acknowledgment, which he makes that of the Seleucidæ and Lagidæ. Now it is ſaid Dan. 2. that a Stone cut out of a Mountain without Hands ſhould ſtrike and break in Pieces theſe Legs and Toes, nay the whole Image of Iron, Braſs, Silver and Gold, and ſo ſhould ſucceed this Kingdom of the Seleucidæ according to his Senſe of the Viſion. And Chap. 7. One like the Son of Man in the Clouds of Heaven comes to recieve a Kingdom, namely, upon the Deſtruction of Antiochus Epiphanes that little Horn amongſt the ten in this fourth Kingdom of Grotius his framing, of whom it is ſaid, at the 21. Verſe, I beheld and the ſame Horn made War with the Saints, and prevailed againſt them, until the Ancient of Days came, and Judgment was given to the Saints of the moſt High. Which is the ſame with the Son of Man his coming in the Clouds of Heaven, to receive the Kingdom of the Ancient of Days, ver. 13. And both agree with the Stone cut out without Hands, to ſhew it is not the Work of Man, but of the Ancient of Days, God himſelf; and that this is indeed the very Kingdom of Chriſt, as Interpreters ever have expounded it. Which is a perfect Contradiction to Grotius his Dream, That the Fourth Beaſt with iron Teeth and the iron Legs of the Image denote the the Kingdom of the Lagidæ and Seleucidæ and that Antiochus is this little Horn.

For Antiochus Epiphanes was dead almoſt two hundred Years before Chriſt ſo much as preached the Doctrine of the Kingdom, or had any Diſciples to follow him; and yet it is ſaid Dan. 2. 44. And in the Days of theſe Kingdoms ſhall the God of Heaven ſet up a Kingdom which ſhall never be deſtroyed. (From which Paſſage I doubt not but that Phraſe [The Kingdom of God] as alſo from that above [The Kingdom of Heaven] does ſo often occur in the Goſpel; as alſo that Title which Chriſt ſo often gives himſelf of the Son of Man. And Grotius himſelf upon Matthew Chap. 8. 20. acknowledgeth that בר אנש the Son of Man mentioned Dan. 7. 13. is to be underſtood of the Meſſias.) Wherefore it is impoſſible that the Kingdom of the Lagidæ and Seleucidæ ſhould be the Fourth Kingdom.

5. But here Grotius, contrary to his Judgment when he wrote upon Matthew, has found a Device which is ſcarce to be uttered without Horrour and Aſtoniſhment. So that I am infinitely amazed, that a Man otherwiſe ſo learned and laudable, (as he ſpeaks of Porphyrius) ſhould be miſled into ſo bad an Errour. The Son of Man coming in the Clouds of Heaven, according to him, is, Populus Romanus nullum intra ſe habens regem. When our Saviour Chriſt intimated to the high Prieſt that he was that Son of Man that ſhould come in the Clouds of Heaven, it ſeem'd ſo high an Arrogation, that he rent his Cloths and ſaid he had ſpoken Blaſphemy. And truly I think that neither Jew nor Chriſtian can well acquit Grotius of that Crime, who attributes that which is the peculiar Character of the Meſſias to a prophane and Pagan People, and that forſooth becauſe they had no King, as if they were ever the better for that. But they had Kings at firſt; and both in the Infancy of their Empire and afterwards they had a Supreme Power ſo great and imperial, as may excuſe them from the leaſt Shew of Contempt. They had always over them a Sovereignty, ſo that they could not be deemed the Son of Man for any ſuch private Condition. For the Summa Poteſtas is the Summa Poteſtas under what Name or Form ſoever, and of the ſame real Grandure. Beſides that they were a moſt glorious and victorious People before Antiochus his time. So that it is a very dilute and ſapleſs Conceit of Grotius to apply the Phraſe of the Son of Man to them, for any Inconſiderableneſs in them or Obſcurity: For they were not ſo in the times of Antiochus.

6. Again, the Kingdom of the Son of Man and the Stone cut out without Hands are all one, both in Truth and according to Grotius his own Conceſſion. But this Stone is Chriſt and his Kingdom, as being Heavenly. ἀχειροποίητον, a thing effected and conſummated not by humane Power, but by the Power and Spirit of God. That this is the Meaning of [without Hands] is the general Vote of Interpreters, St. Jerom, Irenæus, Juſtin, Epiphanius, St. Auguſtin, Theodoret, and ſeveral others.

Where think you does Grotius take ſhelter now? Why, This Figure which is ſo appropriate to Chriſt, and mentioned of him ſo often in the New Teſtament, This Stone muſt be caſt away, as if it were neither precious nor a Corner-ſtone, and be beſtowed again on a Pagan People, the Romans. For ſo Grotius does not ſtick to profeſs, Idem Lapis & Filius hominis; and he made the Son of Man before the People of Rome. But can a Man believe that the Original or Succeſs of that People was ἀχειροποίητόν τι, a thing brought to paſs by the ſpecial Power and Spirit of God, and not more humano, according to the uſual Courſe and Manner of the World, and that not of the beſt kind, their Beginnings being helped on by a Rabble of Ruffians and Robbers?

7. No, but that is not Grotius his Gloſs, you will ſay. Let us therefore hear what it is; Lapis abſciſſus de monte ſine manibus, according to him is, Exercitus populi qui ſuæ eſſet ſpontis nullique regi pareret; cujus populi origo à monte; nempe Palatino. In which Words verily there is nothing ſound nor ſolid. For was this Roman Army any thing more ſuæ ſpontis in that they had not a Kingly Government at Rome? That Supreme Power of Conſuls and Senatours was as directive and coactive as if it had been Regal. So that the Motion of this Army was never the more ſpontaneous for this, neither that of the People. Again, The Stone cut from the Mountain without Hands implies that it was then ſpontaneouſly divided from the Mountain, when it is ſaid to be cut thence: But when the Romans firſt iſſued from Mount Palatine, yea ſo ſoon as they were populus Romanus, Regal Government was amongſt them, it being the firſt Government of this People, and therefore they were not then Populus ſuæ ſpontis, according to Grotius his Conceit, ſo that he cannot bring both Ends together. And laſtly, To interpret Mountain here in a literal Senſe, is unskilfully done, and not according to the Analogy of the Prophetick Style, nor the very Intimation of the prepreſent Text, which ſays the Little Stone that ſmote the Image became a great Mountain it ſelf, and filled the whole Earth. Wherefore this Mountain ſignifying not literally but politically, there is no queſtion but the other does ſo too, and that the Stone is in ſome Senſe homogeneal to this rocky Mountain.

Whence the Senſe is plainly this: That out of the great Mountain, that is, the Roman Empire, there ſhould be a People raiſed, not by humane Power or Policy, but by the Spirit of God, and the Preaching of the Goſpel by Jeſus Chriſt and his Apoſtles, which ſhould be a peculiar People to him, and become the Subjects of his Kingdom; that is to ſay, That the Church of Chriſt ſhould be cut out of the Roman Empire without Humane Help. This is a moſt eaſie and undiſtorted Senſe, and againſt which there cannot be made the leaſt Exception.

8. Fourthly, which I have already intimated above, The Ten Horns of the Fourth Beaſt with Iron-Teeth, and the Ten Toes of the Iron-Legs of the Statue, ſignify the ſame thing. Wherefore it is plain, ſith the Ten Toes imply a Coexiſtence of the Ten Horns, by reaſon of the Co-ordination of their Site, that there muſt be Ten Kings together in the Fourth Kingdom. But in the Kingdom of the Seleucidæ and Lagidæ there were not Ten Kings together all at once. Therefore that Kingdom is not the Fourth.

9. Fifthly, Antiochus Epiphanes, part of this Kingdom of the Lagidæ and Seleucidæ, is ſaid to riſe up in the latter time of the Kingdom of the Succeſſors of Alexander, Dan. 8. 22, 23. Wherefore this Kingdom of the Lagidæ and Seleucidæ has expired near two thouſand Years ago. But the Kingdom of the Fourth Beaſt reaches even to the Day of Judgment. Dan. 7. 9, 10. And I beheld till the Thrones were caſt down, and the Ancient of Days did ſit—His Throne was like the fiery Flame, and his Wheels as burning Fire. A fiery Stream iſſued and came forth from before him; thouſand thouſands miniſtred unto him, and ten thouſand times ten thouſand ſtood before him; the Judgment was ſet, and the Books were opened, &c. That this is the Deſcription of the Day of Judgment, is the general Opinion of both Chriſtians and Jews, and anſwers exactly to the Lake of Fire and the opening of the Books, Apocal. 20. which Grotius himſelf does interpret of the Laſt Day. Whence we may ſafely conclude that the Kingdom of the Lagidæ and Seleucidæ is not the Fourth Kingdom, as having ceaſed ſo long before that time, though we underſtood the Day of Judgment, in the Senſe of the Rabbins יום דינא רבא. According to which the Meaning of [I beheld till the Thrones were ſet—and the Books were opened] is this, That the Prophet Daniel had a Proſpect even to the utmoſt End of that great Day. But he begins more particularly at the Beginning of that Day in the eleventh Verſe. But this I have only noted by the Bye.

10. Sixthly and Laſtly, Alexander's Kingdom and that of his Succeſſors is all one Kingdom: But that of Alexander's is the Third according to Grotius his own Conceſſion. Now that that of his Succeſſors (of which Line are the Lagidæ and Seleucidæ) is one Kingdom with that of Alexander's, is evident out of Daniel, Ch. 8. 21. The rough Goat is the King of Græcia, and the great Horn that is betwixt his Eyes is the firſt King. Now that being broken, whereas Four ſtood up for it, Four Kingdoms ſhall ſtand up out of the Nation, but not in his Power. This is one plain Proof that the Kingdom of Alexander and his Succeſſors is all one Kingdom. For he calls Alexander the firſt King, which neceſſarily implies that his Succeſſors are the ſecond, and that therefore they all belong to one and the ſame Kingdom. Nay he ſays plainly, that theſe four Horns ſtand up for that great One, that is, in his ſtead. What is this but to ſucceed in Place of him, as the Heads of one and the ſame Empire? For no new Beaſt is ſaid to ſucceed this Beaſt, but the Horns the Horn. And then the comparing of them and ſaying, but not in his Power, farther intimates a Cognation and Succeſſion of one Line, and that he does not ſpeak of the Heads of two different Kingdoms.

Which appears farther from Ver. 8. Therefore the Goat waxed very great, and when he was ſtrong, the great Horn was broken, and for it came up four notable ones toward the four Winds of Heaven. But where ſhould theſe come up, but on that Head that had loſt this great Horn, which is compenſated with four leſſer ones, though in their kind notable? For it is very incongruous and extravagant to fancy them to come up in any other Head. Moreover the Latin Verſion and the Seventy Interpreters render תחתיה, the firſt ſubter illud, and theſe laſt ὑποκάτω αὐτοῦ, that is, under it, viz. that great Horn, hereby intimating a Place of the Head ſomewhat lower than that out of which the great Horn grew, but plainly ſuppoſing the ſame Head and the ſame Beaſt. And ſurely, if they had belonged to any other Beaſt, that Beaſt would not fail to have been named. Wherefore they must either grow out of this Goat's Head, or no where, unless out of the Ground; which is ridiculous. And therefore it is plain, that Alexander's Kingdom, and that of his Successors is but one Kingdom. For that Goat is but one and the same Goat under the Succession of this Variety of Horns.

11. And yet there is still greater Evidence of this Truth from Ch. 7. 6. After which I beheld, and lo, another like a Leopard, which had upon the Back of it four Wings of a Fowl; the Beast had also four Heads, and Dominion was given unto it. That the four Heads of this Beast are the four Successors of Alexander, namely, Perdiccas, Seleucus, Ptolemæus, Meleager, Grotius himself does frankly confess. The Wings therefore denote the four Kingdoms Alexander's Empire was divided into after his Decease; which is still look'd upon as one Beast notwithstanding, as the Roman is with its Division into ten Kingdoms, noted by ten Horns, or into Oriental and Occidental, figured by the two Wings of an Eagle.

Here Grotius, if he would speak out, would make Alexander the Beast, as he has Domitian and others in the Apocalyps against all the Laws of Prophetick Interpretation, nay indeed against all Rhyme and Reason. For he glosses thus, Pardus varium Animal, sic Alexander moribus variis. But how grosly incongruous it is, let any one consider. For then would Alexander be inferiour to his four chief Officers, and they would be the Head of him, which is a Political Absurdity; nay the Head of him when he ceased to be, which is an Absurdity Metaphysical. Wherefore Alexander is the first Head or great Horn of this Beast, not the Body of it, that he may be superiour to his four grand Officers; and not be the Beast to bear these four Horns or Heads when he has quite ceased to be on this Stage of things. For these were not Heads nor Horns, before he was dead. Alexander therefore is the first of the Succession of the Heads or Horns of this Beast, not the Beast it self.

But to come up closer to our Business: I say, it is very manifest from these four Heads and four Wings that this Leopard is said to have, that the third Kingdom takes into it the four first Successors of Alexander. Nothing can be more plain than this from the very Text. For the Leopard is described in the third Place, and immediately after him the fourth Beast is mentioned, and called the Fourth, v. 7. Wherefore this Four-headed Leopard is plainly the Third Beast. But now that the Succession of these four Heads, even to Antiochus Epiphanes, is the Succession of one and the same Kingdom, is plain from Ch. 8. 22. Now that being broken, (namely the great Horn) whereas Four stood up for it, four Kingdoms shall stand up out of the Nation, but not in his Power. And in the latter Time of their Kingdom (the Original has it ובאחרית מלכותם, which the Seventy render καὶ ἐπ' ἐσχάτων τῆς βασιλείας αὐτῶν, which is the very same with our English, and there is no doubt of the Translation) a King of fierce Countenance, and understanding dark Sentences shall stand up. Which Grotius and every one acknowledges to be Antiochus Epiphanes.

Whence it is evident that the whole Succession of Alexander's Captains from the first Four inclusively even to Antiochus his Time is one Succession and one Kingdom. For he calls the Times of Antiochus the last Times of their Kingdom.

Wherefore it is plain, seeing that the Kingdom of Alexander is one and the same with the Kingdom of the four Captains, (for that is the third Kingdom) and the Kingdom of the four Captains the same with their Succession even to Antiochus his time; that the whole Succession from Alexander to Antiochus is one Succession and one Kingdom. If this be not demonstratively true, there is no Demonstration in Mathematicks. But if this be true, the Kingdom of the Lagidæ and Seleucidæ are not the fourth Kingdom, but the Kingdom of the Romans, according as all sober Men have hitherto held.

12. Which we being so firmly assured of, we shall easily know where to seek for this little Horn that is said to change Times and Laws. For where can we find it but amongst those many Horns in the Roman Kingdom or Empire? not in the Greek, to which Antiochus Epiphanes appertains. And we have already plainly shewn that the Apocalyptick Beast with seven Heads and ten Horns is this Roman Kingdom; and that this Beast once healed, or in such a Condition that it may be said of him that he is the Beast that was, and is not, and yet is, (which is when he is become Pagano-Christian) is this Empire actually divided into ten Kingdoms, and that together with this Division the Empire began to relapse gradually into Idolatry by the Agency and Guidance of the Two-horned Beast or the Whore, whom I have also shewed to be Synchronal to the healed Beast, or the Beast that was, and is not, and yet is.

13. But the Beast restored or healed his Duration is 42 Months, which is 1260 Days, or a Time or Times and half a Time. For the Abode of the Woman in the Wilderness.

Wilderneſs is indifferently expreſſed by either of theſe latter; and the firſt and the ſecond are joyn'd together in the Viſion of the Outward Court and the Two Witneſſes. Wherefore 42 Months and a Time and Times and half a Time being the ſame with 1260 Days, they are the ſame one with another. But this little Horn in Daniel we ſpeak of, his Reign is alſo ſet out by a Time and Times and half a Time: Therefore it is of the ſame Duration with the Whore or Two-horned Beaſt, which is Synchronal to the Beaſt reſtored, whoſe Continuance is 42 Months.

Wherefore it is a ſtrong Suſpicion that there is a Coincidence at leaſt of time, if not of Affairs, or Complication of Natures (if not Identity of ſome) betwixt this little Horn in Daniel and thoſe three Synchronals, the reſtored Beaſt, the Whore, and the Two-horned Beaſt, For that Expreſſion, Dan. 7. 24. And another ſhall riſe after them, does not at all hinder, ſince the Seventy tranſlate אחריהון ὀπίσω αὐτῶν, behind them, it ſignifying Order of Situation as well as of time. And this being placed behind is the moſt convenient Poſture for ſuch an Exploit as is attributed to this Horn, which is ſaid to throw down or humble three Kings: which is more by Treachery and Craft than upen Force.

14. Now from this Equality of time it will alſo follow that the Duration of this little Horn is 1260 Years, by the laſt Conſectary of our Joint-Expoſition. Which again ſhews how impoſſible it is this Horn ſhould be Antiochus Epiphanes. To which you may add that it is ſaid to be different from the reſt of the Horns, in the Explication of them. * And the ten Horns out of this Kingdom (that is, the Roman Kingdom, as hath been already demonſtrated) are ten Kings that ſhall ariſe; and another ſhall ariſe ὀπίσω αὐτῶν behind them, והוא ישנא מן-קדמיא, and he ſhall be diverſe from the reſt, and he ſhall ſubdue three Kings, Now I demand what one of the ten Kings or Kingdoms is ſo different from all the reſt, unleſs it be an Eccleſiaſtical Kingdom. * Dan. 7. 24.

Wherefore the Coincidence of Time with the Pagano-chriſtian Empire, and the long Continuance, as alſo the Difference of this Kingdom from the other ten, is more than a ſtrong Suſpicion that it is part of the Succeſſion of a Kingdom Eccleſiaſtick, which is neceſſarily to run along with the Empire profeſſing Chriſtianity. But if the Queſtion be whether this Part of this Eccleſiaſtick Kingdom be the uncorrupted Kingdom of Chriſt or the Reign of Antichriſt, the Solution is not difficult. For that it is not the Kingdom of Chriſt, is plain, in that Chriſt is ſaid to come to burn and conſume it. Whence it is manifeſt that the Church has not been out in their Conjecture in deeming this little Horn to be Antichriſt; and therefore, ſay I, the ſame with the Two-horned Beaſt and the Whore, who is plainly Iſochronal, and, I doubt not but, Synchronal to this little Horn, and is adjudged to be burnt in the Apocalyps, as this little Horn is here in Daniel.

15. To ſpeak briefly therefore This little Horn is the Idolatrizing Clergy of the Empire, but more chiefly and particularly that great and notorious Part thereof under the Biſhop of Rome, who has been a more than ordinary ſtickler for both the obtaining this degenerate Eccleſiaſtick Empire, and in lapſing and keeping down the Empire in Superſtition and Idolatry; and thetefore is rightly ſaid to be an Horn growing out of this Beaſt, the Symbol (Beaſt) it ſelf, according to Grotius his own Confeſſion, intimating Idolatry.

16. And if exquiſite Fitneſs of Application will aſſure us of the right Senſe of a Prophecy, we cannot, certainly, fail in this, examining every Character of this little Horn. For as it is little, ſo is the Original of the Popes mean and obſcure, and their Secular Principality ſmall in Compariſon of thoſe Princes they have conteſted with. Again. As this Horn had the Eyes of a Man, ſo it is well known that for Politick ὀξυδορκία or quick-ſightedneſs in the Adminiſtration of Affairs, there has not been any Body of Men comparable to the Roman Hierachy; inſomuch that it is Proverbial to ſay, That the Roman Religion is nothing elſe but a mere Trick of Policy to encreaſe and keep up the Honour, Power and Wealth of the Pope and his Clergy. See Sir. Edwin Sandys his Speculum Europæ, and you ſhall find this Part of the Prophecy fulfilled to Admiration, and that it is not for nothing that this little Horn is ſaid to have the Eyes of a Man in it, which is ſaid of no other Horn in all the Prophecies beſides this. Thirdly, As this Horn is ſaid to have a Mouth ſpeaking great Things, whether you mean thereby boaſting of its own Sovereignty or Blaſpheming, it is well known that from this Horn are uttered ſuch Words as imply the Pope greater than all Princes and Emperours, nay, that he is not only ſaid to be Infallible, but ſtyled God, and declared worthy of Divine Worſhip. Fourthly, For the humbling and ſubduing three Kings, which this Horn is foretold to do, it is not long ſince performed by the Pope of Rome, in his Uſage of Leo Iſaurus, in ruining the Kingdom of the Lombards to get to himſelf the Exarchate of Ravenna, and in tormenting and diſquieting Henry the Fourth and his Succeſſours with his Eccleſiaſtical Thunder-claps and miſchievous Political Plots, till he wreſted from them all their Right and Juriſdiction in Italy?

(Tu regere imperio populos Romane memento)

17. Fifthly, and to come nearer to our Purpoſe in Hand; Whereas it is ſaid that he ſhall ſpeak great Words againſt the moſt High, and ſhall wear out the Saints of the moſt High, and think to change Times and Laws; and they ſhall be given into his Hand for a Time and Times and half a Time; I ſay this idolatrous Clergy has bid fair toward the fulfilling this Period of times already; the Degeneracy of the Church beginning about four hundred Years after Chriſt, and (which is more conſiderable) they having received ſo notorious a Check in the Decurſion of this Half-time, which is elſewhere called an Half-Day, in which his Swaggering is pretty well diminiſhed and chaſtiſed. Sixthly, And for his wearing out and conſuming the Saints of the moſt High, he has verily done it even more bloodily and cruelly than the very Pagans on the Primitive Chriſtians; which is the moſt furious Oppoſition againſt the Regality of Chriſt that can be imagined, thus to waſt and deſtroy his true Subiects. Seventhly, And for his ſpeaking great Words againſt the moſt High, that is, againſt the Divine Sovereignty, is it not plainly done in the Pope's Pretences of having Power to diſpenſe with or altogether lay aſide the Laws and Injunctions of Chriſt, of which we have given ſeveral Inſtances in our Idea of Antichriſtianiſm, and ſuch as are notoriouſly well known to appertain to that Church? Beſides that he is Reus læſæ Majeſtatis Divinæ, in appointing Religious Worſhip to his canonized Saints, which is an Honour due to God alone. Laſtly, In that he is ſaid to change Times and Laws; what innumerable Inſtitutes are there of the Pope's injoyning, of which may be truly ſaid what our Saviour of old told the Scribes and Phariſees, Ἀπ' ἀρχῆς δὲ γέγονεν οὕτω, From the Beginning it was not ſo? And what is this therefore but to change times and Laws, and in many of them in a moſt perfect Oppoſition to the Laws of God and Chriſt, as I have already noted in its Place?

Whence we ſee plainly, that this Antichriſtian Oppoſition againſt the Regal Office of Chriſt is very expreſly foretold in this Viſion of the little Horn, which roſe up with the Ten Horns in the Roman Empire, and did fabricate Imperium in Imperio, as ſome phraſe it, and became a Two-horned Beaſt in the Ten-horned Beaſt, erecting an Eccleſiaſtick Antichriſtian Empire within the Civil, in Oppoſition to the true Empire or Kingdom of Chriſt, and in Defeatment of his Power and Laws in the Church; nay, in Oppoſition to thoſe Immutable Laws of the Eternal Logos that enlightens every Man that comes into the World.

CHAP. XV.

1. The Viſion of the Rider of the white Horſe Apocal 19. propoſed. 2. A more general Account of that Viſion. 3. What meant by the white Horſe, what by the flammeous Eyes of his Rider. 4. What by his Name known only to himſelf. 5. What by his Garment dipped in Blood, and that this as alſo the precedent Characters are applicable to Chriſt's Body the Church. 6. The Meaning of the Sword coming out of his Mouth. 7. And of the Treading the Wine-Preſs of God's Wrath. 8. The Meaning of the Inſcription upon his Thigh, in Reference to himſelf. 9. As alſo in Reſpect of his Church to which it is applicable: As alſo the Treading of the Wine Preſs, and the Sword coming out of his Mouth.

1. THE latter of which two Oppoſitions, I mean that againſt the Eternal Logos ſeems to me to be very lively prefigured Apocal 19, beginning at the eleventh Verſe. Where we may ſee what has been held under in the Reign of the Whore of Babylon, (which I have intimated to be the ſame with that little Horn in Daniel) by the Deſcription of his Triumph in her Fall and Deſtruction, namely of the Whore, who is the ſame with the Two-horned Beaſt or Falſe-prophet, who is taken and together with the Ten-horned Beaſt caſt into the Lake that burns with Fire and Brimſtone, ver. 20. But the Pomp and ſplendid Proceſſion to this War is thus deſcribed: For this this Triumphal Pomp is upon her Ruin, as it appears from the precedent Chapter that describes it. But the Pomp is described thus.

12. And I saw Heaven opened, and behold, a white Horse; and he that sat upon him was called Faithful and True, and in Righteousness he doth judge and make War.

12. His Eyes were as a Flame of Fire, and on his Head were many Crowns; and he had a Name written which no Man knew but himself.

13. And he was clothed with a Vesture dipt in Blood; and his Name was called THE WORD OF GOD.

14. And the Armies which were in Heaven followed him upon white Horses, clothed in white Linen, white and clean.

15. And out of his Mouth goeth a sharp Sword, that with it he should smite the Nations; and he shall rule them with a Rod of Iron: and he treadeth the Wine-press of the Fierceness and Wrath of Almighty God.

16. And he hath on his Vesture and on his Thigh a Name written, KING OF KINGS, AND LORD OF LORDS.

2. In this Vision you see that the Eternal Word of God, of which the Holy Bible is in some Sense and some part a Transcript, is at last upon his Triumph adorned with many Crowns, and has got into Possession of his just Title exposed visibly to the View of all the World in a Writing upon the Thigh of this great Heros, KING OF KINGS, AND LORD OF LORDS. Which Power the Lady of Babylon had usurped before, and under the Pretence of her Infallibility had silenced not only the express Law of the written Word of God, but most coursly and barbarously had troden down those innate Principles of Morality and Reason that the Eternal Logos or Word had implanted in the Souls of Men, and by Terrour and cruel Forcibleness did what she could to smother, stifle and extinguish them. But here the Scene of things begins in a wonderful Manner to be changed, the pure Word of God going forth to Battel with so magnificent an Attendance against the Corrupt, Superstitious, Idolatrous, and Contradictious Opinions, and fond Institutes of that Antichristian Body of Men over whom the Pope has a special Headship and Soveraignty, in order to gain an assured Victory and to triumph over them.

3. There is no great Difficulty in the Understanding this Prophecy, if we have Recourse to my Prophetick Alphabet, where I have set down what Horse, and what the Colour of white, signifie. That the Eyes of this Heros are said to be as a flaming Fire, intimates his Sharp-sightedness, as it is said in the Epistle to the Hebrews, That the Word of God is a Discerner of the Thoughts and Intents of the Heart, and that there is no Creature that is not manifest in his Sight, but that all things lie naked and open unto the Eyes of him with whom we have to do: Where the written Word and the Eternal Word are jointly spoke of, as here they seem to be in this Vision, by an Henopœia. Heb. 4. 12.

Again, in that his Eyes are said to be as a flaming Fire, we may note also how Fire is a Symbol of Intellectuality, especially a flaming Fire, that implies light, as is easily understood out of the Philosophick Cabbala of the first Day's Creation.

Igneus est ollis vigor & cœlestis origo
Seminibus.——

And we read of πνεινὸς νῦς in the Magick Oracles, and of πῦρ φαεινὸν attributed to the Soul as being θεία τις ὐσία καὶ νοερά, as Plethon speaks. Wherefore the Logos here is rightly said to have Eyes like a flaming Fire, because he is not only intellectual, but that Great and Eternal Intellect from whence all Intellectual Beings are; as also all their Operations exercised by Virtue of the more pure, æthereal and igneous Spirits.

4. That also of having a Name written that no Man knew but himself seems to be agreeable to the Cabbalistical Doctrine, which makes Aaron a Symbol of the Eternal Word that fills the Universe, as also of Christ who is this Word incarnate. The Allusion therefore may be to Aaron's having the Tetragrammaton written upon his Mitre, that Name which is said to be ἄῤῥητον καὶ ἀνεκφώνητον, and could be read only by the High-priest that had it written upon the golden Plate on his Mitre, as Alcazar has observed, But in brief, it signifies the Incomprehensibleness and Imperscrutableness of the Divinity of our Saviour; he alone who is it, being able to compriſe it.

5. And in that his Vesture is said to be dipt in Blood, it is a Symbol of his Passion: so that we may know that it is the Messias that is here meant; of whom St. John in his Gospel has said, ὁ λόγος σὰρξ ἐγένετο, The Word was made Flesh. And here he is called ὁ λόγος τοῦ Θεοῦ, The Word of God, and yet in a bloody Garment, that indicates his his Humanity or Terreſtrial Body, (for this Body is but a Veſtment of the Soul, no enduring Part of the Man, according to the Platoniſts) which made him capable of ſuffering Death.

This is all ſpoken of our Head and Captain; and yet it may be not without ſome Reflexion upon his Body the Church. To whom alſo the riding upon white Horſes, belongs, as appears in the fourteenth Verſe. They have alſo flammeous and fiery Eyes, becauſe of their intellectual Graces, and it is ſaid that the ſpiritual Man diſcerneth all things, 1 Cor. 2. They have alſo a Name that no Man knows beſides themſelves, which is their New-birth, or the Participation of the Divine Nature. Their Garments alſo are dyed in Blood, in that ſo many have ſuffered Martyrdom for the Teſtimony of the Goſpel againſt the Idolatry and Tyranny of Antichriſt; and all have been martyr'd that is, ſlain and mortifi'd as to the Life of Sin, and beſprinkled alſo with the Blood of the Lamb in the Pardon of what-ever Tranſgreſſions are paſt. And, laſtly, they are to be crowned and reign as Kings upon Earth, for the Kingdom and Dominion, and the Greatneſs of the Kingdom, under the whole Heaven, ſhall be given to the People of the Saints of the moſt High, Dan. 7.

6. But to return to the Deſcription of this Heavenly Heros: A ſharp edged Sword is ſaid to go out of his Mouth. Which is analogical to that in the Epiſtle to the Hebrews, The Word of God is quick and powerful, ſharper than any two edged Sword. And in that he is ſaid to rule the Nations with a Rod of Iron, it is an Alluſion to the ſecond Pſalm, which is a Prophecy of the Meſſias, Thou ſhall rule them with a Rod of Iron, and break them in Pieces like a Potter's Veſſel. Which is a Prophetick Symbol of that wonderful Contrition of Heart that the Powerful Word of God makes when ſincerely and ſeaſonably evibrated againſt the Enemies of his Kingdom; as in the Epiſtle to the Hebrews it is ſaid to divide aſunder and cut betwixt Soul and Spirit, and hew down into the very Joints and Marrow. Such is the Militia of this Heavenly Hoſt. He ſhall ſmite the Earth with the Rod of his Mouth, and with the Breath of his Lips will he ſlay the Wicked. Iſaiah 11. 4.

7. And in that he is ſaid to tread the Wine-preſs of the Fierceneſs of the Wrath of Almighty God, it looks as if it referred to that of Iſaiah 63. Who is this that comes from Edom, with his dyed Garments from Bozrah, this that is glorious in his Apparel, travelling in the Greatneſs of his Strength? I that ſpeak in Righteouſneſs, mighty to ſave. Which anſwers to that in this preſent Viſion, Whoſe Name is faithful and True, and in Righteouſneſs doth he judge and make War. But it follows in Iſaiah, Wherefore art thou red in thy Apparel, and thy Garments like him that treadeth in the Wine-fat? I have troden the Wine-preſs alone, and of the People there was none with me. For I will tread them in my Anger, and trample them in my Fury, and their Blood ſhall be ſprinkled upon my Garments, and I will ſtain all my Raiment. For the Day of Vengeance is in my Heart, and the Day of my redeemed is come. This anſwers to what is ſaid of the Rider of the white Horſe in this Viſion, that he was clothed in a Veſture dipt in Blood: Which in both theſe Prophecies refers both to the Paſſion of Chriſt, and his Spiritual Victories over his Enemies. The Wine-Preſſes alſo anſwer to one another in each Viſion.

And being that the Harveſt is, as our Saviour ſays, the End of the World, the Vintage, which is ſomething later than it, muſt be a later Part of the End of the World. So that this Viſion of Edom and Bozrah will very well ſute in that Reſpect alſo to this of the Apocalyps. And it is farther conſiderable that Bozrah ſignifies Vintage, and Edom the carnal perſecutive Church, real Enemies to the true Jeruſalem, as the Edomites were to Iſrael. And I need not add that Edom and Iſmael are Types of one and the ſame thing. So that the Warfare ſeems plainly to be ſpiritual, as it may be I ſhall take Occaſion to clear up more fully in another Place.

8. Laſtly, in that it is written upon his Thigh, KING OF KINGS, AND LORD OF LORDS, it ſhews the Royal Deſcent of Chriſt even according to the Fleſh, as if he had laid claim to this Sovereignty by Deſcent from David the King, accordingly as it is ſaid, Chap. 22. I am the Root and Off-ſping of David, and the bright and morning Star. The Root of David as to his Divinity; (ῥιζα Δαβιδ γενέσθαι, ἐγω εἰμι) and the Off-ſpring of David, as to his Humanity. But the Meaning of this Part of the Viſion is, That the Word of God, that is to ſay, the the Law of Chriſt, inward and outward, is juſt upon the point to gain a moſt compleat and abſolute Victory and Triumph, though it had been kept under and plainly troden into the Dirt for ſo long a time in the Reign of the Two-horned Beaſt or the Whore.

6. But

*

9. But that the Church of Chriſt, which is his Body, has alſo a Share in this Part of the Viſion, is eaſily diſcoverable. For in that this Title of KING OF KINGS AND LORD OF LORDS is written upon his Thigh, it ſignifies alſo the Dominion of his Poſterity the Church, as Ribera and Alcazar have rightly noted, and accordingly as it is ſaid elſe-where in the Apocalyps, He has made us Kings and Prieſts, &c. And for the treading of the Wine-preſs of the Wrath of God, or the Subduing of Edom, does not Chriſt do it by the powerful and convictive Zeal of his Saints and faithful Miniſters of his Word, who ſeriouſly and weightily laying the Law, and the heavy Wrath of God againſt Sinners, in the Hearts and Conſciences of theſe carnally-complexionated Edomites, ſqueeze out, if I may ſo ſpeak, their corrupt Blood, that is, the Principle and Nouriſhment of that ungodly Life in them, (for in the Blood thereof is the Life thereof) and ſo making them dead as to Sin, after revive them into Righteouſneſs unto everlaſting Salvation?

And ſo for that ſharp-edged Sword which is here ſaid to come out of the Mouth of Chriſt; it is in Effect the very ſame that comes out of the Mouths of his Saints, who rule the World by convincing them of their Wickedneſs, and cauſing them to return to God. This ſharp, piercing and vehement Reproof out of the Mouths of the People of God againſt the Beaſt and the Falſe prophet is here ſaid to be a Sword coming out of the Mouth of Chriſt, becauſe their Mouths are his Mouth by right Uſe and Poſſeſſion, and he inſpires by his Spirit, and they are only his ὑποφῆται, that tranſmit this fiery Law, this Blaſt of Fire and flaming Breath, as it is called in Eſdras, whereby the wicked are conſumed; They are, I ſay, but as a ſeized Gate or Paſſage through which or in which this ſharp-edged Sword, wherewith the Nations are ſmitten, is ſo powerfully braniſhed by our victorious Saviour. For this Flame and this Sword I take to be clear Truth, and ſound and ſearching Reaſon inſpired from the Eternal Word, which whetted with an holy, ſincere and unaffected kind of Enthuaſiaſtick Zeal, and backed with an unexceptionable Life and Converſation, will be like a ſharp-edged Sword with the Weight of running Quick-ſilver in the Back of it, whoſe Stroke will fall with ſuch a Sway, that it will even chine the Enemy at one Blow, will divide aſunder Soul and Spirit, and pierce through the Joints and Marrow, as the Apoſtle ſpeaks.

But this is more than our preſent Scope intended, which was only to ſhew that that Antichriſtian Oppoſition which is particularly made againſt the Kingly and Prophetick Office of Chriſt is prefigured in the Prophets; which I hope I have ſufficiently done in the Viſions of the Two-witneſſes, of the little Horn with Eyes, and in this preſent Viſion of the Rider of the white Horſe.

CHAP. XVI.

1. That the reſt of the Sacred Titles of Chriſt are referrible to the Prophecies we have already treated of. 2. As likewiſe all the Oppoſitions to the Divine Life in general, ſaving that of turning the Church into a City of Merchandiſes. 3. Which ſeems predicted in the Lamentation over the Ruins of Babylon, Apoc. 18. Ver. 9. An Expoſition of the ninth and tenth Verſes. Ver. 11. The Meaning of the eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth Verſes. Ver. 14. Of the fourteenth, fifteenth and ſixteenth. Ver. 17. Of the ſeventeenth, eighteenth, nineteenth and twentieth. Ver. 21. The Expoſition continued from the twentieth to the End of the Chapter.

1. AS for thoſe other Attributes of Chriſt's Perſon, as where he is called The everlaſting Father, and ſtyled God, Light, Truth, The Prince of Peace; the Oppoſitions to them are referrible to thoſe Prophecies we have already treated of. The firſt to thoſe that concern the firſt Members of Antichriſtianiſm. For there is no greater Enemy againſt the Second Birth or Holy Regeneration than that Rabble of Idolatrous and Superſtitious Practices compriſed in the two firſt Members of Antichriſtianiſm. Thoſe Prophecies alſo of the Mauzzim or Dæmons to be worſhipped are Prophecies of the Oppoſition againſt Chriſt's Divinity; and the Darkneſs of Ægypt, of that againſt the Light of the Goſpel: The Falſe Prophet and makers of Lies, againſt the Truth; and the warring againſt the Saints, of the Rebellion againſt the Prince of Peace. Theſe Hints may ſuffice for thoſe remaining Attributes of Chriſt's Perſon.

We

We ſhall now proceed to the Predictions of the Antichriſtian Oppoſitions to the Divine Life.

2. And the firſt were ſuch as oppoſed the Divine Life in general. Of which ſort are indeed all thoſe Oppoſitions hitherto mentioned, groſs Idolatry, burthenſome Superſtition, the Oppoſitions againſt Chriſt as King, Prieſt and Prophet. To which thoſe particular Oppoſitions againſt the Divine Life in general which I noted are alſo referrible, and therefore treated of already.

Idea of Antichriſtianiſm. Book 2. Ch. 7. Sect. 3.

There is only one thing behind; which is the Turning of the Church of God into a Mart or Fair by thoſe religious Nundinations and Collations of Eccleſiaſtick Preferments for mere Worldly and Secular Intereſt, the turning the Exerciſe of Chriſtian Offices into a mere Trade of Gain for the Prieſts of what Dignity ſoever. This is known to be a groſs Miſcarriage in the Church of Rome, and is in my Mind moſt lively and graphically prefigured and depainted in that Lamentation upon the Ruin of Babylon, Apoc. 18. beginning at the ninth Verſe.

3. Which I ſhall endeavour briefly to give ſome Light to in my rehearſing the Prophecy.

9. And the Kings of the Earth, who have committed Fornication and lived Deliciouſly with her, ſhall bewail her and lament for her, when they ſhall ſee the Smoke of her burning.

10. Standing afar off for the Fear of her Torment, ſaying, Alas, alas, that great City Babylon, that mighty City! for in one Hour is thy Judgment come.

That this City Babylon is not a City of Brick and Stone, but a Polity, and particularly the Roman Hierarchy, I have evidently proved in my Joint-Expoſition. And truly it ſeems improbable to me, that the Spirit of God ſhould put the Apoſtle upon compoſing ſo long and copious a Threnodia upon her Ruin and Deſolation, if it ſignifi'd no more than the Burning of the City of Rome in a literal Senſe, and ſo ſlightly as did Totilas, and with ſo little Deſign or Effect. Wherefore in that Senſe which we have already given, and do not at all doubt but is true, let us hold on briefly to illuſtrate the Text.

In theſe two firſt Verſes comes in the Lamentation of the Kings of the Earth, ſuch as committed Fornication with her, that is to ſay, ſuch as were of her Idolatrous Profeſſion. For it is ſignified that the time ſhould come wherein ſhe ſhould be in ſuch Diſtreſs, that the Kings of the Earth, whom ſhe has made drunk with the Wine of her Fornication, ſhould not dare to aſſiſt her for Fear, but let her burn till the End. Which again ſhews that Babylon's Fall is not at once, but by Degrees, as I have already noted. For though her Judgment be come in one Hour, yet the Execution of it may take up a conſiderable time.

Ver. 11. And the Merchants of the Earth ſhall weep and mourn over her, for no Man buyeth her Merchandiſe any more.

12. The Merchandiſe of Gold, and Silver, and precious Stones, and of Pearls, and fine Linen, and purple, and ſilk, and ſcarlet, and all Thyine wood, and all Manner of Veſſels of Ivory, and all Manner of Veſſels of moſt precious Stones, and of Braſs and of Iron, and of Marble.

13. And Cinnamon, and Odours, and Ointments, and Frankincenſe, and Wine, and Oil, and fine Flower, and Wheat, and Beaſts, and Sheep, and Horſes, and Chariots, and Slaves, and the Souls of Men.

The firſt Sort of Mourners or Lamenters ſeem to be thoſe of the Secular Power; but by theſe ἔμποροι τῆς γῆς ſeem to be underſtood Eccleſiaſtick Perſons, that traffick in the Church, where all is ſuppoſed to paſs or be diſpoſed of for Money or Earthly Intereſt: and therefore in Reproach they are called the Merchants of the Earth, though otherwiſe their Titles and Profeſſions point to nothing but to Chriſt, and God, and Heaven; Divine, Holy, Sacred or Religious being the external Badge of them all.

The Varieties of the Commodities they deal in are ſo numerous, that it were too great a περιεργία to ſeek a Myſtery in them all, when it may poſſibly be nothing elſe but an Hylaſmus or dwelling upon Material Objects in a redundant Manner for the better adorning of the outward Cortex of the Prophecy, which may therefore be alſo accounted a Λεμματοκοσμησία. But the Ground in general of the Lamentation of theſe Merchants is, ὅτι τὸν γόμον αὐτῶν οὐδεὶς ἀγοράζει ἐκέτι· that the Fair is either violently broke up, or elſe quite unfrequented; that there is no buying and ſelling of ſuch Commodities in Babylon as was wont, ſith Babylon her ſelf is unacceſſible, as lying burning and ſmoking in the Wrath of God: no Sale of Gold, Silver, precious Stones, Pearls.

Pearls, fine Linnen, Purple, Silk, and Scarlet, the rich Attire of thoſe higher Parts of the Whore, (as you may ſee in the * foregoing Chapter) fit for Popes, Cardinals, and other great Perſonages of that Babyloniſh Body, and their Officers: No Thyine Wood for the Roof of their Temples, or for carved Idols to whom Sacrifice is done, or Offerings made; (for I ſuſpect ſome ſuch Alluſion in πᾶν ξύλον θύϊνον) no Incenſe for Burnt-Offerings for their adored Images; no Images of Ivory, precious Stone, Braſs, Iron, or Marble, nor any other ſacred Utenſils; for of this Latitude of Signification is σκεῦος, as the Uſe of the Word occurrs in the Byzantine Hiſtory, where Images of Silver and Gold are called τὰ ἅγια σκεύη. And Achmetes Chap. 12. Ἐὰν δὲ τὸ εἰδώλον χαλκοῦν ἢ σιδηροῦν ἢ μολιβδοῦν ᾖ, ὁ τοῦτο ἰδὼν ἁδδόπλουτος ἔσαι· ἰαῦτα γὰρ πάντα σκεύη τοῦ κόσμου εἰσίν. *Apoc. 17. 4.

But to proceed; No Trafficking any longer in Aromatick Odours, Oils, or Ointments for ſacred Unctions. No man will participate any longer of her Panis benedictus, nor taſte of her idolized Wafer made of the fineſt Flower, nor ſip of the Wine of her Chalice, even tho' they were willing to allow unto the Laity the Privilege of partaking thereof. The Tithe Calf and Lamb alſo with his conſecrated Wool ſhall fail; nor ſhall there be any more Redemption of Souls out of Purgatory by Maſſes hired for Money. The Merchandiſe alſo of Horſes, Chariots and Slaves ſhall ceaſe in that Day. The Greek has it, ἵππων καὶ ῥεδῶν καὶ σωμάτων. Which three Words being in the Genitive Caſe alone amongſt all the reſt, nor yet in regimine, as does appear if together with theſe you read the preceding and following Parts of the Verſe, καὶ σιμίδαλιν, καὶ σῖτον, καὶ κλήνη, καὶ πρόβατα, καὶ ἵππων, καὶ ῥεδῶν, καὶ σωμάτων, καὶ ψυχὰς ἀνθρώπων, plainly intimates that they muſt go together, and make up one thing. Which therefore I conceive to be the Pomp or uſual Equipage of ſome of thoſe greater Dignities in this Myſtical Babylon, and to be a Key to the meaning of the reſt of theſe Commodities, that they are undoubtedly thus to be underſtood; namely, ſome ſuch way as I have interpreted them, and would interpret theſe, not Horſes, Chariots, and Slaves, but as if it were written, καὶ ζεύγη ἓξ ῥέδης καὶ ἵππων καὶ σωμάτων συνεζυγότα, Rhedas bijugas, quadrijugas vel ſejugas, that is Chariots with two, four, or ſix Horſes, and Lacquays running on each ſide, who are here call'd σώματα, Bodies, not only becauſe this Word ſignifies Slaves, but more eſpecially perhaps becauſe theſe little Slaves uſed to run naked, that is without Gown or Cloak, called by the Spaniards, in Querpo. Now for ſuch Chariots with four or ſix Horſes and Livery-Men to be ſold altogether as one Merchandize, is doubtleſs an unuſual thing, which yet is ſuppos'd in the literal Senſe. Wherefore the true Senſe being myſtical, is, That the Merchandiſe of ſuch Dignities in their Church, as whoſe Equipage is to go with their Coach and Horſes and Lacquays to run by them, that this Merchandiſe will fail alſo amongſt the reſt, in the Ruin and Deſolation of Babylon. v. 13.

Ver. 14. And the Fruits that thy Soul luſteth after are departed from thee; and all things that were dainty and goodly are departed from thee, and thou ſhalt find them no more at all.

That is to ſay, Thoſe great and opime Preferments and Dignities which thy ambitious and worldly Mind ſo longingly hankers after. For theſe are the ὀπώρα τῆς ἐπιθυμίας, the Poma deſiderii, as the vulgar Latine has it, the τὰ λαμπρὰ καὶ τὰ λιπαρὰ, thoſe fat and fair Objects that make their Mouths run a-water ſo in this full Babyloniſh Market, where every thing is to be had for Money, and nothing without it.

15. The Merchants of theſe things, which were made rich by her, ſhall ſtand afar off, for the Fear of her Torment, weeping and wailing,

16. And ſaying, Alas, alas, that great City that was clothed in fine Linnen and Purple and Scarlet, and decked with Gold and precious Stones and Pearls! for in one Hour ſo great Riches are come to nought.

The Senſe is, As well the Buyers as Sellers of Spiritual Perferments, who had thriven on the Trade, ſhall be very ſorry to ſee the Ruin of that Polity that ſuſtained them, but not be able to help it; and ſhall magnify the great Pomp and Splendour of the Whore amidſt their Lamentations over their own Loſſes. For it is obſervable, that this ſixteenth Verſe is the very ſame in a manner with the Fourth of the preceding Chapter, where the Raiment of the Whore is deſcribed. Which is underſtood of the Pope, the Cardinals, and other Grandees of that Idolatrous Church

Ver. 17. And every Ship-maſter, and all the Company in Ships, and Sailers, and as many as Trade by Sea, ſtood afar off,

18. And cried, when they ſaw the Smoke of her Burning, ſaying, What City is like unto this great City?

19. And they caſt Duſt on their Heads, and cried, Weeping and Wailing, ſaying, Alas, alas, that great City, wherein were made rich all that had Ships in the Sea, by reaſon of her Coſtlineſs! for in one Hour is ſhe made deſolate.

If we conſider what Sea ſignifies ſtylo prophetico, the Multitudes of Men upon Earth; Analogy will eaſily lead us to the Underſtanding of what may be intimated by Ships, namely conſecrated Houſes disjoyned from the reſt, as Ships are uſually ſeparate in the Sea. It ſeems therefore to give a Glance at the Babyloniſh Churches abuſed to gainful Idolatries and Superſtitions, where they ſell the Uſe, the Sight or Poſſeſſion of ſeveral conſecrated things, exchange Souls out of Purgatory for Money, and may not improperly be ſaid, καπηλεύειν τὸν λόγον τῦ Θεῦ, turn the very Word of God into an adulterate Piece of Ware or Merchandiſe.

It might haply ſeem ſomething too fanciful to imagine that theſe πλοῖα ἐμπορεύσιμα, theſe Naves Mercatoriæ, have any Alluſion to that known Term of Church-Architecture, the Nave of the Church; and yet Mr. Mede thought that in the Viſion of the Goat, which ſtood for the Greek Empire, there is an Alluſion to αἴξ, from whence the Ægeadæ, which are the Macedonians, are named. Nor is there any Improbability (to anticipate the Objections of thoſe who deſervedly have a great Reſpect and Reverence for Places conſecrate to Divine Worſhip) that Chriſt, who complained that the Jews had made the Temple at Jeruſalem a Den of Thieves, ſhould in this Viſion, being as highly provoked, rebuke as ſeverely, in ſaying theſe Men of Babylon have turned his Churches, which ſtand for better Uſes, into ſo many Ships of deceitful and cunning Merchants. See the Prophetick Alphabet.

And they caſt Duſt on their Heads, &c. Theſe three Verſes do plainly allude to, and are in a manner a Tranſcript of, the Viſion of the Deſtruction of Tyre in * Ezekiel. And all that handle the Oar, the Mariners and all the Pilots of the Sea, ſhall come down from their Ships, they ſhall ſtand upon the Land; and ſhall cauſe their Voice to be heard againſt thee, and ſhall cry bitterly, and ſhall caſt up Duſt upon their Heads, they ſhall wallow themſelves in the Aſhes: And they ſhall make themſelves utterly bald for thee, and gird themſelves with Sack-cloth, and they ſhall weep for thee with Bitterneſs of Heart and bitter Wailing. And in their Wailing they ſhall take up a Lamentation for thee, and lament over thee, ſaying, What City is like Tyrus, like the deſtroyed in the midſt of the Sea? Which is like this concerning Babylon, Alas, alas, the great City, &c. What City is like to this great City? And ſo like Paſſages there are both in this Viſion of Ezekiel and in Iſaiah, Ch. 23. that I muſt confeſs I ſuſpect theſe alſo to be Prophecies of the ſame thing, eſpecially conſidering that the Whoredom of Tyrus is ſo much upbraided to her in thoſe Prophecies, as it is here to Babylon in this.

* Chap. 27. & 9, &c.

For in one Hour is ſhe made deſolate; that is to ſay, ſuddenly and unexpectedly is ſhe a-making deſolate. For ſhe may be a long while a-burning, and not ſet on Fire on all places at once, as I have intimated above. But that theſe Sea-Men ſhould ſet up ſo piteous a Note and Lamentation, the Cauſe is plain, their Trade and Livelihood is gone. For they were made rich by Reaſon of her Coſtlineſs; ſo the Engliſh Tranſlation, and accommodately enough to the literal Senſe. But ἐκ τῆς τιμιότητος may as well ſignifie out of that Treaſure of Honours, Dignities, Preferments, and Offices, wherewith ſhe was able to enrich theſe Merchants.

20. Rejoyce over her, thou Heaven, and ye holy Apoſtles and Prophets, for God hath avenged you on her.

That is to ſay, Rejoice ye heavenly-minded over theſe Merchants of the Earth, and ye that are Teachers of the Pure and Apoſtolick Doctrine, and declare the naked Truth of things unto the World, be ye glad that the Lord has avenged the Blood of your Predeceſſours upon her, the Blood of the Waldenſes and Albigenſes, and of thoſe that ſuffered in Queen Mary's Time, with the reſt of the holy Martyrs of Jeſus.

Ver. 21. And a mighty Angel took up a Stone like a great Mill-ſtone, and caſt it into the Sea, ſaying, Thus with Violence ſhall that great City Babylon be thrown down, and ſhall be found no more at all.

The Senſe is this, That at laſt there will be an utter Ruin and Diſſipation of this Idolatrous City or Polity, namely, at the pouring out of the Seventh Vial. But in the mean time, I cannot omit to note how unlikely a thing it is that this great Triumph and Rejoycing, and that ſo perfect and final Deſtruction figured out by the Plunging of a Mill-ſtone by a mighty Angel to the Bottom of the Sea, ſhould ſignify nothing elſe but Totilas his Sacking of Rome, (which preſently recovered again) and the the Spirits of the Apoſtles and Prophets their looking down through the Windows of Heaven, and making merry at that Spectacle, which could not but be very ſad and tragical to many a good Chriſtian.

22. And the Voice of Harpers and Muſicians, and of Pipers and Trumpeters ſhall be heard no more at all in thee; and no Crafts-man, of whatſoever Craft he be, ſhall be found any more in thee, and the Sound of a Mill-ſtone ſhall be heard no more at all in thee.

23. And the Light of a Candle ſhall ſhine no more at all in thee, and the Voice of the Bridegroom and the Bride ſhall be heard no more at all in thee: For thy Merchants were the great Men of the Earth; for by thy Sorceries were all Nations deceived.

24. And in her was found the Blood of Prophets and of Saints, and of all that were ſlain upon the Earth.

The twenty Second, and part of the twenty third Verſe, compriſe the ſad Silence and Deſolation of this City; the reſt the Reaſon of her Deſtruction. And the Voice of Harpers and Muſicians, &c. All this firſt Part may be either nothing elſe but a Prophetick Hylaſmus, (ſaving that it can ſcarcely be diſtinguiſhed from a Δεμματοκοσμοία) ſetting out one ſingle thing, the Deſtruction, Silence, and vaſt Solitude of this Idolatrous Hierarchy, by the Privation or Abſence of ſuch groſs and palpable Objects as occur in a City inhabited, as the Noiſe of Muſicians, the hammering and knocking of Artificers, the grinding of Mills, the Light of Candles in the Night, and the ſinging and dancing at Weddings, and the like: Or elſe there may be a more particularly contrived Allegory in reference to this Myſtical City here meant; As if we ſhould underſtand rather the Muſick at their Idolatrous Worſhip, by theſe here ſpecified, which were only a Dioriſmus; and by theſe τεχνῖται, ſuch as do technas conſuere ſophiſticas & politicas in Theology and Church-Adminiſtration, for the Intereſt of their Hierarchy, theſe Artifices Imperii in Imperio, and thoſe alſo that work curious Work in the Scholaſtick Divinity; by the Sound of the Mill-ſtones, their fraudulent Profit, for ὁ μύλος ἐις ζωλὼ καὶ πλοῦτον λείνεται, as you may ſee in Achmetes, and Millers you know are infamous even to a Proverb, for their Frauds and Thefts; by the Light of a Candle, Honour and Proſperity, as you may read in the ſame Author; and laſtly, by the Bridegroom and the Bride, not the Spiritual Marriages betwixt Chriſt and a Nun, or the Virgin Mary and a Monk in the Monaſteries, but the Propagation of this Pſeudo-Catholick Religion, that it ſhall be no longer propagated; for the End of Marriage is Propagation.

For thy Merchants were the great Men, &c. Now follows the Reaſon of this great Deſolation, which is threefold. The firſt, The Riot and Lordlineſs of theſe Myſtical Merchants; they were μεγιστᾶνες τῆς γῆς, that is to ſay, Great Men of the World, and greatly worldly, ambitious, covetous, and ſenſual, which is the very Eſſence of an earthly Mind. Which how much it has been amongſt the Popes, Cardinals, Abbots, and other μεγιστᾶνες, Primates or Maximates, if you will, of the Roman Church, Hiſtory and the Mouths of all Men are full of it.

The Second is, The debauching the World with Idolatry, accompanied and countenanced with the Pretence of a Power plainly magical of changing the Elements in ſuch a ſort as all the Magicians of Pharoah could never do, nor had the Face to attempt the like, it being ſo beyond all Credibility; beſides other magical Feats of an inferiour Rank, and Necromantick Stories of the Apparitions of dead Saints. Whence Idolatry is indigitated here by φαρμακία, as alſo that Cup in the Hand of the Whore is look'd upon as a Philtrum; and likewiſe their being ſaid to be deceived by theſe Sorceries implies their being ſeduced to Idolatry, to which they tend, as appears plainly from what is written of the Miracles of the Two-horned Beaſt, ch. 13. 13, 14.

The third and laſt Reaſon is, The bloody Cruelty of this Roman Hierarchy; In her was found the Blood of Prophets and of Saints, &c. namely, of ſuch as out of Conſcience to the Law of God and Chriſt could not ſubmit to their Idolatrous Profeſſion and Practice, but witneſs againſt them. And not their Blood only is laid to her Charge, but that of all that were ſlain upon the Earth, the common Bloodſhed in Chriſtendom by Wars and Tumults, which they, for the better rooting themſelves in Countries and Kingdoms, ingage the World in, or at leaſt abet and aſſiſt when begun by the Secular Powers; whenas if they were the true Succeſſours of the Apoſtles, as they boaſt themſelves to be, they would make it their Buſineſs that Chriſtians ſhould not ſpill one another's Blood, nor pious and conſciencious Men loſe their Liberties or Lives for being the faithful Profeſſors of the pure Apoſtolick Doctrine, nor ſuffer the Turk

Apoc. 9. 20, 21. to over-run Christendom rather than they will forsake their Idols and Dæmon-worship, or repent of their Prophet-murthering Fornications, Sorceries, and thievish Impostures.

CHAP. XVII.

1. This mystical Sense of the burning of Babylon confirmed out of his Joint-Exposition, and from Alcazar's Interpretation, and that the same is prefigured in the Distruction of Tyre. 2. How lively the Patriarch of Rome is typified in Ezekiel by the King of Tyre. 3. Another Vision to the same Purpose in the same Prophet. 4. A third Vision in Isaiah, concerning Tyre typifying Rome Pagan, Christian, and then Pagano-christian. Ver. 18. That Tyre (that is, Rome) will be reformed from her Pagano-christianism, and become purely Christian again and Apostolick according to this Vision. 6. That these Visions of Tyre must needs have a further Meaning than what literally concerns that City. 7. An Exposition of the eighteenth Verse of the last Vision comprising the Prediction of the Reformation of Rome Pagano-christian. & What is meant by מכסה ערוך, with a general Reflexion upon the Appositeness of these four last Propheeies for the setting out the Merchandizing of the Church of Rome in the Management of her Ecclesiastick Affairs.

Isa. 13.

1. THat there must be some such Mystical Sense as this in the general of the Burning of Babylon and of this Lamentation over her, my Joint-Exposition does make good, it being manifest there that the Whore of Babylon and the Two-horned Beast are all one, and that consequently not a City, but a Polity is understood thereby. And Alcazar himself interprets this Desolation not in a literal Sense, but mystical, understanding thereby the Conversion of Rome Pagan to Christianity, as I do of Rome Pagano-christian to the pure and apostolick Christianity again. Which seems to be intimated in the Vision of Tyre, which in the Mystery is the same with the Burning of Babylon. And the Spirit of God seems of set Purpose to point us thereto, by the transplanting so entirely the Phrases of the Visions of Tyre in Ezekiel and Isaiah into this Apocalyptick Vision of Babylon; as if he had a Mind that we should take Notice of a fourth Appellation of this mystical City, that it is as well Tyre, as Sodom, Ægypt and Babylon. But whereas Alcazar would have Rome Pagan understood by Tyre, I conceive that in Ezekiel Rome Pagano-christian, in Isaiah both Rome Pagan, Christian and Pagano-christian is typified; as we shall briefly see, and it is not out of our Way, these mystical Merchandises being still concerned therein.

2. Behold then how lively that High Priest at Rome is set out first in Ezekiel, under the Type of the King of Tyre, Chap. 28.

Ver. 2. Son of Man, say unto the Prince of Tyre, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thine Heart is lifted up, and thou hast said I am a God, I sit in the Seat of God, in the midst of the Seas; yet thou art Man, and not God, though thou set thine Heart as the Heart of God.

Is not this plainly he that sits in the infallible Chair in the midst of the Seas; that is, between the Thuscan and Adriatick in Italy, and exalts himself above every thing that is called God? But this belongs more properly to that Part of Antichristianism that is opposite to the Divine Grace of Humility.

3. Behold thou art wiser than Daniel; there is no Secret that they can hide from thee.

This is only a Diorismus, but sets out the pretended Infallibility and unerring Inspiration of that grand Pseudo-prophet at Rome; as it may also glance at their exquisite Cunning and Sagacity, and general Intelligence or Understanding for the Management of their Affairs. And some interpret the Text of Political Wisdom, wherein Daniel was also eximious. And indeed the very Pretence of Infallibity in Divine things is in this False Prophet only a Trick of Policy, and the Direction of their whole Frame of Policy entirely carried to the getting of Power and Riches. In Pursuance whereof they will not stick to alter, null or abrogate the Laws, Institutes and Decrees of God himself. Which some would fancy to be alluded to in the Name of Daniel, which signifies the Judgment of God, as if they could make Laws and Decrees more judiciously than He; whenas they are nothing but politick Contrivances for getting of Wealth as I said, and is plainly intimated in the following Verse.

ously

4. With thy Wisdom and with thy Understanding thou hast gotten thee Riches, and hast gotten Gold and Silver into thy Treasures.

5. By thy great Wisdom and by thy Traffick hast thou encreased thy Riches, and thy Heart is lifted up because of thy Riches.

This is that mystical Trade which we have already taken Notice of in the foregoing Vision of the Ruin of Babylon. The following Verses to the tenth are a Commination of his Destruction; at the End whereof it being added, Thou shalt die the Death of the uncircumcised, &c. it implies, that this King of Tyre in the Prophetick Style is a Jew, which in the Apocalyptick Visions sounds as much as Christian, whether in Profession or in Truth. Which is a farther Intimation of the Mystical Meaning of this Prophecy.

3. But these things are still farther cleared in the following Vision, in the same Chapter.

Verse 12. Son of Man, take up a Lamentation upon the King of Tyre, and say unto him, Thus saith the Lord God, Thou sealest up the full Sum of Wisdom and perfect in Beauty.

That is to say, There is no Policy nor Splendor of Empire to be compared with that of the Bishop of Rome.

13. Thou hast been in Eden the Garden of God; every precious Stone was thy covering, the Sardius, Topaz, and the Diamond, the Beryl, &c.

Adorned like the Whore of Babylon for precious Stones and Jewels, as well he may, the Whore and He being in Signification one and the same thing. But in that he is said to be in the Garden of Eden what can be more sutable to the Pleasantness and Deliciousness of Italy, which is accounted the Garden or Eden of Europe.

14. Thou art the anointed Cherub that covereth; and I have set thee so: thou wast upon the holy Mountain of God, thou hast walked up and down in the midst of the Stones of Fire.

The Sense is, Thou art look'd upon as the Infallible Oracle of Christendom, (for from the Cherubims did God speak) and thou art also that High Priest walking in his Sacerdotal Vestments, upon which were those glistering Stones that shone like Fire, and were an Emblem of the * Sun according to the ancient Cabbala. Which Height of Dignity though thou mayest be forward to ascribe to thy self and thy own Activity and Policy, yet thou art to know that all Power is from me, and that it is by my Strength that thou standest.

* See the Appendix to the Defence of my Philosophick Cabbala, Chap. 5. sect 3.

15. Thou wast perfect in thy Ways from the Day that thou wast created, till Iniquity was found in thee.

That is to say, There was no Evil nor Defect in thee from thy being created Bishop of Rome, (for Episcopacy is of my Institution) until thou didst degenerate into Superstition and Idolatry, and forsookest the first Apostolick Laws of thy Creation, and broughtest that sad Apostasie upon Christendom.

16. By the Multitude of thy Merchandise they have filled the midst of thee with Violence, and thou hast sinned: Therefore will I cast thee as prophane out of the Mountain of God, and I will destroy thee, O covering Cherub, from the midst of the Stones of Fire.

By the multipling of thy Traffick and Merchandises (such as I have described in the foregoing Vision of Babylon) thou committest Injustice, (these are thy * κλήματα) and hast laid violent Hands on those that speak against these ungodly Tradings, and hast slain the Witnesses of the Truth. Wherefore thou shall sit no longer on Seven-hilled Rome, which is holy for the Profession of the Name of my Son Christ; but I will bring thee down, who pretendest to be Universal Oracle and High Priest over Christendom, and strip thee out of thy Sacerdotal Raiments that glister with precious Stones like Fire, and thus I will destroy thee.

* Apocal. 9. 21.

17. Thy Heart was lifted up because of thy Beauty, thou hast corrupted thy Wisdom by Reason of thy Brightness; I will cast thee to the Ground, I will lay thee before Kings, that they may behold thee.

18. Thou hast defiled thy Sanctuaries (the Septuagint have ἐβεβήλωσας τὰ ἱερά σου) by the Multitude of thine Iniquities, by the Iniquity of thy Traffick; therefore will I bring forth a Fire from the midst of thee, it shall devour thee, and I will bring thee to Ashes upon the Earth in the Sight of all them that behold thee.

The Sum hereof is this: The Greatness and Splendour of the See of Rome, the Pursuit and Affectation thereof in her and proportionally in the rest of the Grandees of that that Clergy, made them corrupt their Policy with wicked Principles, so that they defiled their Sanctuaries, that is to say, the Christian Churches, with such Idolatrous and Superstitious Worship as made most for their own Gain; I mean with such like Iniquity of their Traffick, as I have already intimated in the Vision of Babylon, Mass-Money, Oblations to Saints and their Images, and the like. Wherefore this King of Tyre is (as the Whore of Babylon, which is a Type of the same thing) condemned to be burnt to Ashes by a Fire which shall break forth from the midst of him; as it is said of the Whore, that the ten Horns, which were Principalities of her own Jurisdiction, should hate her, and eat her Flesh, and burn her with Fire.

The Vision is so naturally applicable to the same that the Whore of Babylon is, and so hardly applicable in some Passages to the King of Tyre, that it is no small Assurance that the chief Scope of the Prophecy respects rather the Bishop of Rome than the Tyrian Prince.

4. Of which we may be farther assured by that other Prophecy to the same Sense in Isaiah Chap. 23. where Forerius conceives not only Rome Pagan to be spoken of, as Alcazar, but says expressly that John seems to understand Civitatem Antichristianorum by this City of Tyre in Apocal. 18. though he names not the City: ver. 19. Alas, alas, that great City, wherein were made rich all that had Ships in the Sea! And with Forerius and Alcazar joined together, I conceive by Tyre to be understood Rome become Antichristian, the Antichristian Hierarchy thereof being pointed at as it is in Babylon. For St. John, as I have above intimated, has plainly directed us to this Sense, by transplanting the very self same Phrases into the Vision of Babylon: As appears besides what we have already noted, from the eighth Verse of this Chapter; Who hath taken this Counsel against Tyre, the Crowning City, whose Merchants are Princes, whose Traffickers are the Honourable of the Earth? I omit to take Notice how patly the Crowning City fits that Polity that in ordine ad Spiritualia pretends to a Right of taking off and putting on the Crowns of Kings and Emperours, and have done it with the greatest Insultation imaginable: I only note that the rest answers exactly to Apocal. 18. 23. Thy Merchants are the great Men of the Earth; as here, Princes and the Honourable of the Earth. How well these terms agree to the Grandeur of the Pope and Cardinals, and such great Persons of that Church, is obvious to every one to conceive. But there is something more pleasant that follows in the latter Part of the Chapter and of a good Omen. Verse

15. And it shall come to pass in that Day, that Tyre shall be forgotten seventy Years according to the Days of one King; after the End of seventy Years shall Tyre sing as an Harlot.

Here is both good News and bad News in this Verse. For by Tyre is here meant, as has been already suggested, Idolatrous Rome, who must be forgotten seventy Years according to the Days of One King; which, say I, is one of the eight Kings in the Apocalyps, Chap. 17. And by the Cabbalistical Sense of the Number 70, it is easily discovered who he is; namely, the seventh King, which is the Succession of the Christian Cæsars, as I have there noted; the Space of whose Reign is not here intimated, but their Property, by multiplying 10 into 7. Of which the Cabbalistical Meaning is, That during the whole Reign of those Cæsars (for Ten is a Symbol of Totality) Tyre should be forgotten, that is, the Polity of Rome should not be professedly Idolatrous but after this Term, then Tyre shall again sing as an Harlot, as it follows, Verse

16. Take an Harp, go about the City, thou Harlot that hast been forgotten, make sweet melody, sing many Songs, that thou mayest be remembred.

That is to say, That at length it shall come to pass, that the Roman Hierarchy after that time of the Abrogation of Idolatry expired, by fair Pretences and bewitching Speeches, accommodating their Harangues and Exhortations with much Harmony and Agreeableness to the corrupt Inclinations of the People, and by singing melodious Hymns composed in Praise of the blessed Virgin and other Saints, shall, by these plausible Perswasions and other meretricious Ceremonies and Sense-striking Invitations, bring Idolatrous Worship again into the Roman Empire; the Will of God, so far as I see, in a manner ordaining, or permitting that it should be so; as it follows Verse

17. And it shall come to pass after the End of seventy Years, that the Lord will visit Tyre, and she shall turn to her Hire, and shall commit Fornication with all the Kings of the Earth.

And it shall come to pass: The more determinate Sense is, For it shall come to pass, otherwise it looks like a Tautology. Her Apostacy into Idolatry is here described, like that of the Whore of Babylon with whom the Kings of the Earth are said to com- mit Fornication. And whereas it is ſaid, For the Lord will viſit Tyre, that is anſwerable to that Apocal. 17. 17. For God hath put in their Hearts to fulfil his Will. Which Apoſtaſie alſo begins, as here after ſeventy Years, ſo there in the Apocalyps after the ſeventh King. But that which follows is moſt welcome;

Ver. 18. And her Merchandiſe and her Hire ſhall be Holineſs to the Lord: it ſhall not be treaſured nor laid up; for her Merchandiſe ſhall be for them that dwell before the Lord, to eat ſufficiently, and for durable Clothing.

Here the Scene of things is again changed, and that for the beſt. For Interpreters generally agree that here is a Converſion to Chriſt. But St. Jerom and ſome of the Hebrew Writers underſtand it of the Converſion of the City Tyrus herſelf; Alcazar of Rome Pagan. But I conceive this Converſion to be of Rome Pagano-chriſtian to the ancient, pure, and Apoſtolick Chriſtianity; which the Fitneſs of things as well in this Viſion of Iſaiah as thoſe of Ezekiel ſeems ſufficiently to aſſure us of.

Nor can it well but be expected, when it is ſo evident that the People of the Jews was one great Sacrament or Type of the Church of Chriſt to come, as is inculcated over and over again in the Apocalyps abounding ſo every where with that Figure we have ventured to term Iſraeliſmus, I ſay, it cannot but be expected, that thoſe Nations that were enemies to the Jews ſhould alſo bear the Type of ſuch as ſhould be found the Enemies of the true Church of Chriſt; and that the Prophets predicting things of them in Reference to the firſt Completion which is literal, ſhould in the Exaltedneſs of their Spirits be raiſed into ſuch Expreſſions as were more ſutable to thoſe whoſe Types they were, than to them themſelves: in ſuch Sort as ſeveral Prophecies concerning Chriſt are framed, and noted accordingly by Interpreters; which are either purely Allegorical, or Mixt; of which I have ſpoken in my Myſtery of Godlineſs. Book 7. Ch. 7. Sect. 2, 3, 4.

6. And truly I think theſe two Viſions of Tyre ſo perfect Predictions of Antichriſt and his Fall, that they deſerve to be received into the Number of the ſecond Kind, there being that in them which will not ſute with the firſt Completion of them. Amongſt which is Tyre's being called Whore, and her being ſaid to commit Fornication with all the Kings of the Earth. Which is no tolerable Senſe underſtood litterally of Tyrus, but eaſily and naturally underſtood of Rome Antichriſtian. What a Lapide ſaies of זונה, that it ſignifies Caupona as well as Meretrix, is but a poor Subterfuge; as if the Prophet for a verbal Jeſt's Sake would reproach a City ſo highly for uſeful Trades and Negotiations. Beſides, though זונה ſignifie as well Caupona as Meretrix, yet זנה ſignifies only ſcortari. And therefore את־כל־ממלכית האדמה וזנתה muſt determine the Senſe of the other. Iſaia. 23. 17.

Alſo the ſeventy Years Silence and Oblivion is ſo unapplicable to Tyre literally, as that Grotius (though I cannot approve of his Boldneſs) is fain to change the ſeventy Years into ſeven, as if the Text were corrupt: which verily is but an odd Way of interpreting Scripture, ſomething like the Cure of the Head-ach by Decollation. And when he has reduced theſe Years to ſeven; neither the Life nor the Reign of Salmanaſſar was ſeven Years, nor he King of that City: Which yet according to common Senſe ſeems neceſſary to be underſtood.

Again, The Prince of Tyre being threatned with the Death of the Uncircumciſed, implies him a pretended Member of the Church of God, and more eſpecially his being called the anointed Cherub, and ſet out by the Adornings of the High-Prieſt, and menaced to be caſt out of the Mountain of God as profane, and laſtly reproved for defiling the Sanctuaries. All theſe are more than Intimations that the King of Tyre is a Type of ſome great Perſon who is Prieſt in the Church of God, to whom this Viſion chiefly does belong, and will hardly be Senſe in ſome things if not underſtood of him.

7. But I will not dwell any longer on this Subject. Let me only give a brief Account of the Senſe of this laſt Verſe. And her Merchandiſe, that is to ſay, Then, or After this her Merchandiſe, (for of ſo lax a Senſe is ו, as we noted upon Dan. 11. 36.) her Merchandiſe and Hire ſhall be Holineſs to the Lord. The Meaning is, Thoſe Revenues and Preferments, of which Simony and other oblique and unjuſt Adminiſtration of the Affairs of the Church had made a mere Trafficking and Merchandiſe, as alſo that which had been the Hire of an Whore, that is to ſay, that had accrued to the Church of Rome by her Idolatrous and Meretricious Artifices, ſhall be taken and made good Uſe of, laid out in the true and ſubſtantial Service of God, and be dedicated to him, that is, be appropriated to his real Service. It ſhall not be treaſured nor laid up, that is, It ſhall not be raked together into a few Men's Hands to make them and their Families a Fortune, they ſhall not ſeize upon it and poſſeſs it as their own, (for ſo חסן may may seem to intimate) to satisfie their own either Luxury or Covetousness. For her Merchandise shall be for them that dwell before the Lord, that is, They shall be for the

Eph. 2. 19. Household of Faith, (Gal. 6. 10.) who elsewhere are called the Household of God, namely, such as walk as ever being in the Sight and Eye of God, and have a reverential Sense of his Presence in all their Conversation; for such as be of the Christian Faith, not of the Antichristian Faction, be they Laiety or Clergy. To eat sufficiently; That Men may have sufficient Sustenance, that good Hospitality may be kept, and that the Poor and Hungry may be satisfied.

8. And for durable Clothing, לִמכַסֶה עָתִיק. It may signifie either durable Clothing, or comely grave Clothing, such as becomes Aged-men. For מִכסֶה עָתִיק may be rendred Word for Word, Operimentum Senum, that is the Clothing or Garb of Aged Men; Ut vestiantur veste honestâ & decorâ, qualis decet senes & Presbyteros; It is a Lapide's own Gloss upon Vatablus his Interpretation: Ad Operimentum Senum. By which I conceive this Prophecy perstringes the Luciferian Pride and splendid Pomp of the Pope and Cardinals and other Grandees of that Church; predicting, that that Revenue which is mis-spent upon this Antichristian Vanity, the times will come when it shall be better bestowed in Christian Hospitality, and a common Care of the whole Body of Christ, that no Man want due Food and honest Raiment, neither Clergy nor Laiety. But these are Excursions farther than I intended.

In the mean time, I think I have made it exceeding plain, as well out of the Apocalyps as out of these Visions of Ezekiel and Isaiah, that that lewd Trafficking and Merchandising in the Church of Rome, as if she were a mere City of Trade, is very lively and graphically prefigured in Tyre and Babylon.

CHAP. XVIII.

1. Their lying Legends perstringed in St. Paul's Prophecy of the latter Times. 2. A more full Prefiguration of that Antichristian Opposition that is against Faith, in Part of his Prophecy of the Man of Sin. 3. A clear Exposition of that Part of the Prophecy. 4. Strictures in the Apocalyptick Visions to the same Purpose. 5. The Pride of the Bishop of Rome prefigured in the King of Tyre, as also his Down-fal, and how. 6. His gorgeous Splendour set out both in the King of Tyre and in the Whore of Babylon. 7. The Pride and Downfal of this Patriarch typified in the King of Babylon. The Meaning of the twelfth and thirteenth Verses. Ver. 14. The Meaning of the Prophecy from the Fourteenth to the Nineteenth Verse. Ver. 20. An Explication of the twentieth Verse. 10. Farther Prefigurations of the Papal Pride in the Whore and the little Horn. 11. An easie and genuine Exposition or Paraphrase of the thirty sixth and the thirty seventh Verses of the eleventh Chapter of Daniel, wherein the impious Self-elation of the Bishop of Rome is clearly foretold. 12. That the Sense of the two following Verses of this Prediction may be still the same with that of the most famous Mr. Mede's.

1. WE come now to the Parts of the Divine Life, the Root and the Branches. Upon the former whereof we shall not long insist, the Predictions being not so ample nor so frequent. But Prophecy is not altogether silent concerning those things which do so grosly oppose or undermine our Belief of Christian Religion. As, namely, concerning those Legendary Stories we have taken Notice of; are they not plainly foretold in that Prophecy of the Apostasie of the latter Times, That Doctrines of Dæmons should be brought in ἐν ὑποκρίσει ψευδολόγων, through the Hypocrisie of those that tell Lies, who by their Hypocritical Show in their professed Abstinence from Meats and Marriage, as if they were such Saint-like and Angelical Men themselves, gain by this Disguize the Opinion of Sanctity with the People, and therefore the more easily recommend to them the Worshipping of Saints by feigning of lying Legends, that contain their Miracles, which they are very ready to believe, by Reason of the Reverence they bear to these Vizards of Holiness? What can be more plain than this?

2. Again, 2 Thess. 2. there is a more full Prefiguration of the State of the lapsed Church in this Point. Verse

8. And then shall that wicked one be revealed, whom the Lord shall consume with the Spirit of his Mouth, and shall destroy with the Brightness of his Coming;

9. Even

9. Even him whose coming is after the working of Satan, with all Power and Signs and lying Wonders,

10. And with all deceivableness of Unrighteousness in them that perish; because they received not the love of the Truth that they might be Saved.

11. And for this Cause God shall send them strong Delusion, that they should believe a Lye:

12. That they all might be Damned who believed not the Truth, but had pleasure in Unrighteousness.

3. The Description seems to consist of those two Parts that are briefly expressed in the Apocalyps by ὁ ποιῶν and ὁ φιλῶν ψεῦδος, He that makes. and he that loves a Lie. This wicked One, that is the Pope with his Clergy, is the ὁ ποιῶν ψεῦδος the Lie-maker, whose coming is after the working of Satan the Father of Lies; ἐν πάσῃ δυνάμει καὶ σημείοις καὶ τέρασι ψεύδους. Where ψεύδους belongs to them all ἀπὸ κοινοῦ as if he should say, In all manner of false and counterfeit shows of Power, (viz. of Curing the Sick, Freeing Souls from Purgatory, &c.) Signs and Miracles. For he seems to add by way of farther Explanation, ἐν πάσῃ ἀπάτῃ τῆς ἀδικίας, in all unjust or injurious deceivableness. The same Accusation that seems to lie against them in the Apocalyps, ὅτι οὐ μετενόησαν ἐκ τῶν κλεμμάτων αὐτῶν, that they Repented them not of their Thefts. Chap. 9. 21.

But now the ὁ φιλῶν ψεῦδος follows, viz. the Description of the lovers of these Lies. They are those that perish for want of a sincere love of the Truth that they might be saved. For Hypocrisy is ordinarily at the bottom of those that can be gulled by these Impostors: They not seeking sincerely the Kingdom of God and his Righteousness, are made a Prey to these deceitful Men. As is farther hinted, v. 12. (where they are said εὐδοκῆσαι ἐν τῇ ἀδικίᾳ, to take Pleasure in Unrighteousness, and to be contented with that State) and that for this cause God sends them strong delusion, that they may believe Lies, that is, all the fabulous Impossibilities of Transubstantiation, Legendary Miracles, and affrightful Stories of Purgatory. Thus one part of their Church becomes Sots and Bigots; and the other that behold this Scene of things, though they profess themselves of their Church, become a Company of profane Atheists and clancular Deriders of all Religion. So miserably does the Christian Faith go to rack by these Impostures. Nay it is a great question whether those that do more superstitiously cleave to them, do it not rather in a kind of Confusion and Obstupefaction of Mind, out of Fear and Suspicion, than any determinate Assurance or firm Belief of the things they outwardly profess.

Nor does this Interpretation at all clash with their supposition that admit that there are sometimes things that happen extraordinarily in that Church. For supposing such things sometimes to be done, they yet serve to support the Belief of notorious Lies. And verily it is enough that they do so abound with, and glory of their Miracles, and that so very few of those numerous Stories of them are true at all, and that none of them are true Miracles, but prestigious Juggles of the Devil, that egregious ψηφοπαίκτης, as Theoderet calls him.

4. To these you may add Apocal. 13. v. 13. where the Two-Horned Beast (which is the same with the Pseudo-Prophet and this Man of Sin) is said to do great Miracles ἐνώπιον τῶν ἀνθρώπων, and ἐνώπιον τοῦ θηρίου, In conspectu hominum, & In conspectu Bestiæ; that is, saith Aretas, κλέπτων τὰς ὀφθαλμὰς τῶν ὁρώντων, Oculos hominum præstringens, and accordingly Bellarmine also interprets those Words. Which Juggle notwithstanding concerns the Eyes of the Mind as well as those of the Body. For Transubstantiation does not make the Bread look to the outward Eyes otherwise than usual, but to the Eyes of Faith and Reason; to which their being able to make a consecrated Wafer appear to be the very Body and Person of Christ is such a piece of Prestigiousness as has no Parallel.

The apparent Affectedness of accurate humane Policy, if not worse, in the Frame of their Religion, is perstringed in the Vision of the little Horn with Eyes: And their Atheism and Infidelity in the general, in those passages of the Revelation, Chap. 21. 8. But the fearful and unbelieving, &c. and Chap. 22. 15. For without are Dogs. Which places in what sense they make to the present Theme, I have already declared in my Idea of Antichristianism, and therefore hold it needless to repeat. Book 2. ch. 17.

5. We come now to the Oppositions to the Branches of the Divine Life, Humility, Purity, and Charity. And that against the first of them is plainly that unmatchable matchable Loftineſs and Haughtineſs, which we have deſcribed in the afore-named Idea, and which Hiſtory does every where complain of in the Biſhop of Rome. Which I conceive is very lively ſet out in that Viſion of Ezekiel, touching the King of Tyre. For that Tyre is a Type of Rome Antichriſtian, I have above, I think, made very rational. The words which I had occaſion to recite before were theſe: Son of man, ſay unto the Prince of Tyre, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe thine heart is lifted up, and thou haſt ſaid, I am a God, I ſit in the ſeat of God in the midſt of the Seas. Is not this the very Language which the Pope accepts of, Dominus Deus noſter Papa? And that the Seat and Tribunal of the Pope is the very Seat and Tribunal of God? Again, ver. 6. Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Becauſe thou haſt ſet thine heart as the heart of God, behold I will bring ſtrangers upon thee, the terrible of the Nations, &c. To ſet his heart as the heart of God, is to have his Will in all things and thereby to rule. Who has reſiſted his Will? Rom. 9. And do they not make the Will of the Pope a Law? Supremum numen in terris, at whoſe Beck and Nod all things are to be done, right or wrong; nay, they cannot be wrong if he will have them. Which is to make him have an heart like God in a moſt remarkable Senſe indeed, not only an irreſiſtible, but infallible one. Thus has he clombe in the confidence of his own Subtilty and Policy.

Ezekiel Chap. 28. 2.

But the terrible of the Nations ſhall draw their Swords againſt the beauty of his Wiſdom, and they ſhall defile his brightneſs, ſaith the Prophet. Which what it is in the literal Senſe, is eaſy to underſtand, and accordingly is applicable to the King of Tyre; and may ex accidenti be alſo applicable to the Deſtruction of Rome. But it may alſo have a more Myſtical ſenſe; And then עריצי גוים, which they render robuſtus gentium, may ſignifie nothing elſe but the zealous and reſolute Aſſertors and Abettors of Truth, than which nothing is more robuſtious and ſtrong. (Great is Truth and mighty above all things, Eſdras 4.) Theſe ſtout Champions therefore ſhall draw their Swords againſt the beauty of his Wiſdom; that is to ſay, They ſhall uſe the Sword of the Spirit, which is the Word of God, even that Sword that comes out of his Mouth that rides on the White Horſe, which is unſophiſticated Reaſon and Scripture, againſt the finely-wrought Subtilties whether Scholaſtick or Politick, and all the plauſible and goodly fair Pretences of the Pontifician Wiſdom; and the Glory of the Goſpel ſhall darken the Seat of the Beaſt, as the Sun-ſhine obſcures or puts out the Light of every artificial Fire. Thus ſhall the Pontifician Power periſh from the midſt of the Nations.

6. And then as for that more than Imperial Majeſty and Splendour in the Pope's Habiliments, it is ſaid of this King of Tyre, Every precious ſtone was thy Covering, the Sardius, the Topaz and the Diamond, ſo as it is ſaid of the Whore of Babylon, that ſhe was decked with Gold, and precious Stones and Pearls.

Which Pontifician Power though it be prefigured by the Image of a Woman in the Apocalyps, the better to ſet out the Meretricious Myſteries of that Church; yet the Haughtineſs thereof, and more particularly that of the Pope, ſeems alſo to be typified in the King of Babylon. For is it poſſible that any one ſhould doubt but that Babylon being ſuch an acknowledged Type of the Antichriſtian Church, the Head of this Antichriſtian Church is likewiſe typified in the King of Babylon.

5. Let us hear therefore what Eſay ſaith of this exalted Potentate in the fourteenth Chapter. Verſe 12 How art thou fallen from Heaven, O Lucifer, Son of the Morning! How art thou cut down to the Ground, which didſt weaken the Nations!

13. For thou haſt ſaid in thy heart, I will aſcend into Heaven, I will exalt my Throne above the Stars of God, I will ſit alſo upon the Mount of the Congregation in the ſides of the North.

How every Nation is weakened by the power of the Pope, we have adumbrated in our Idea of Antichriſtianiſm. His aſcending into Heaven, ſtylo Prophetico, and his exalting himſelf above the Stars of God, which is, the Stars of the greateſt Magnitude in this Heaven, is as much as his clambering into Imperial Power, and his advancing himſelf above all the Kings and Princes of the Roman Empire. His ſiting upon the Mount of the Congregation, is his ſitting in the Temple of God. So that there ſeems to be a double Alluſion, both to the Mount of the Temple of God at Jeruſalem, and to the Mountains, or, if you will, ſome one peculiar Mountain, at Rome, which is the chief City of the Church of Chriſt. This ſitting upon this Mount of the Congregation, or the Church of God, is marvellouſly coincident with that Prophecy of his (viz. The Man of Sin) ſitting in the Temple of God, 2 Theſſ. 2. Nor is [In the ſides

*

Sides of the North] put in for nothing, though a thing of little Moment in the Letter; for it ſeems to foretel that the Dominion of the Pope was to ſpread more notoriouſly Northward, and we know he could never make any great Buſineſs of the Southern Churches, the African ever reſiſting him very ſtoutly. Beſides other Conſiderations, which for Brevity I omit.

Ver. 14. I will aſcend above the Heights of the Clouds, I will be like the moſt High.

That is to ſay, I will be above all Rule and Dominion, I will be Abſolute, Uncontrolable, Infallible, as God.

15. Yet thou ſhalt be brought down to Hell, to the Sides of the Pit.

16. They that ſee thee ſhall narrowly look upon thee, and conſider thee, ſaying, Is this the Man that made the Earth to tremble, that did ſhake the Kingdoms?

The Meaning is, Is this the Man that did terrifie the World with his dreadful Thunder-Claps of Excommunication, and by the great Intereſt he had in the Princes of the Empire, and by the Power of his Clergy, could unhindge and diſſettle Principalities and Kingdoms, by reaſon of the Blindneſs and ſottiſh Superſtition of the People?

17. That made the World as a Wilderneſs, and deſtroyed the Cities thereof, that opened not the Houſe of his Priſoners?

That is to ſay, That filled the Roman Empire with inteſtine Wars by his wicked Incendiaries, and ſo brought great Depopulations and Deſtructions upon Cities, rather than he would let go thoſe that he held captive in this Babyloniſh or Ægyptian Slavery. Many of whom were moſt barbarouſly abuſed in the cloſe Priſons of the Inquiſition, and treated with ſuch Cruelty as exceeds all the Tragick Stories of the bloody and perſecutive Infidels.

18. All the Kings of the Nations, even all of them lie in Glory, every one in his own Houſe.

That is, All the Dynaſties or Polities of the Nations, the Secular Kingdoms and Powers have and ſhall expire with Glory in compariſon of thee, and have an honourable Burial and Memorial.

19. But thou art caſt out of thy Grave, like an abominable Branch----as a Carkaſs troden under foot.

The Meaning is, That the Pontifician Power ſhall not expire with any Honour at all, but the very Memorial thereof ſhall be abominable and execrable: it ſhall not have that Kingly Burial, whoſe dead Bodies were embalmed with Aromatick Odours, and Sepulchres adorned with goodly and ſplendid Artifice; but ſhall be as a ſtinking Carcaſs caſt into the High-way, that offends the Eyes and Noſtrils of every one that paſſes by. So unſavory a Stench ſhall ariſe from the Records and Hiſtories of this bloody and idolatrous Antichriſtian Polity, as is intimated in this laſt Verſe.

Ver. 20. Thou ſhalt not be joyned with them in Burial, becauſe thou haſt deſtroyed thy Land, and ſlain thy People. See Homily againſt Rebellion, part 5 & 6.

That is to ſay, As thou art a Power diſtinct from that of the Secular Powers and Potentates of the Earth, ſo thy Fate ſhall be manifeſtly diſtinct and ſingular; for thy Memorial ſhall be accurſed, and thy Name an Hiſſing to Poſterity. And the Reaſon is alſo ſingular, Becauſe thou haſt deſtroyed thy Land, and ſlain thy People: that is, becauſe whereas thou pretendeſt to be the Vicar of Chriſt, the Bridegroom of the Church, the Father of Chriſtendom, Univerſal Paſtor of the Flock; thou haſt played the bloody Butcher, the Thief and Robber, to forage in the Empire, to eat and grow fat, accordingly as it is written, Joh. 10. The Thief cometh not but for to ſteal, and to kill and to deſtroy: which thou haſt enormouſly done ſince thy Uſurpation in the Houſe of God, filling the Empire with inteſtine Broils, Devaſtations, Maſſacrees, Martyrdoms with Fire and Faggot, with Racks and Tortures and all manner of Cruelties; and this upon thine own Land and People, that is to ſay, upon Chriſtians, over whom thou pretendeſt to be Head, nay, the ghoſtly Father and tender Protector of them. Wherefore, as thine Outrages have been ſingular, thy Deſtruction ſhall be proportionable, and thine End execrable, and the Stench of thy Memory ſhall fume up into the Noſtrills of all Poſterities for ever and ever.

The Reaſon of this dreadful End of the King of Babylon is the very ſame with that of the burning of the Queen of Babylon or the Whore, (for they are Types of one and the ſame thing) And in her was found the Blood of Prophets, and of Saints, and of all that were ſlain upon the Earth. Apoc. 18. 24. And truly that laſt Clauſe of the Prophecy of the King of Babylon is ſo proper to the Papal Power, that it belongs to it only, and not to the King of Babylon. Which is a ſpecial Pledge and Aſſurance of this higher and more concerning Senſe of this Prophecy: And he muſt be very dull of Underſtanding indeed, and very much a Stranger to all Religion, who, conſidering the wonderful Fitneſs and Agreement of things in the Prophecies concerning the King and City of Tyre, and of the King of Babylon explained after this manner, is not raviſh'd with a pious Admiration of the Divine Providence, that is careful of the Affairs of the Church for ſo long a time to come. But I proceed.

10. The Height and Elevation of the Papal Power above that of the Emperor is alſo prefigured in the Whore's riding of the Beaſt: For certainly the Rider is ſuperiour to the Beaſt that is ridden. And it is expreſly ſaid of the Two-horned Beaſt, the ſame with the Whore, That he exerciſeth all the Power of the firſt Beaſt before him.

To theſe you may add that Prediction in Daniel, Chap. 7. 24. And another King ſhall ariſe after them; (which I have above ſhewed to be the Pope) and he ſhall be diverſe from the firſt, and he ſhall ſubdue three Kings: And he ſhall ſpeak great Words againſt the moſt High, and ſhall wear out the Saints of the moſt High, and think to change Times and Laws. Which Words plainly imply that extravagant Power that the Pope was to aſſume to himſelf, as is eaſily underſtood out of what we have already ſaid upon this Text.

11. And laſtly, it ſeems to me alſo to be very clear, that this enormous Pride of the Pope is prefigured again in Daniel, Chap. 18. 36, 37. Of which two Verſes I would make this brief Paraphraſe.

36. 'After the Reign of Antiochus Epiphanes, that Type of Antichriſt and notorious Enemy of the People of God in the Greek Empire, ſhall there ariſe 'a Rex Sacrorum, or rather a Regal Pontifex, if you will, who with his formed 'Body Politick, or Eccleſiaſtical Power, ſhall prove the very Antichriſt indeed, anſwering in the Roman Empire to that wicked Antiochus in the Greek that immediately preceded it. Which Eccleſiaſtick Prince or Pontifex, finding the Stream of 'Affairs and good Fortune to carry him along, ſhall at laſt exalt himſelf above every God, that is, every Supreme Magiſtrate, the Emperor himſelf not excepted; nay, ſhall ſpeak ſtupendious Words againſt the Sovereignty of God himſelf, againſt the God of Gods, as if he had Power to abrogate or diſpenſe with the Laws of God and Chriſt, and were himſelf Supremum Numen in terris. Which Impieties he will proſperouſly carry on for ſuch a time as it ſhall pleaſe Divine Providence to permit his People to be afflicted by his Fury. For the Time of the fulfilling of his Domination is determin'd, and fore-ordained of God; his Reign being to endure no longer than the Time and Times and half a Time be expired or at the laſt Gaſp.

37. 'But yet he ſhall not be a pure Pagan for all this, nor regard the Gods of his Anceſtors or Predeceſſors, (that is, of the Supreme Magiſtrates of Rome who reigned there a long time before him) ſuch Deities as Mars, Neptune, Jupiter, Venus, and the like. But this ſhall be notable in him, that he ſhall be outwardly a ſtrict Profeſſor of Cœlibate himſelf, and it ſhall be againſt his Pontifical Office to marry, and likewiſe his Clergy ſhall be tied to the ſame Laws, that he might thereby the better promote the Deſigns of his rampant and inſatiable Ambition; which Spirit of Pride and Worldlineſs ſhall grow ſo rank in him, that he ſhall in time caſt off the real and ſincere Senſe of all Religion, and care for no God at all, but magnifie himſelf above all.

12. In the two following Verſes there is no need of varying from Mr. Mede's Interpretation. For the Senſe as it reſpects theſe foregoing Verſes is only this, That by reaſon of this great Impiety and Irreligiouſneſs of him, or at leaſt of his Haughtineſs and Preſumption againſt the known Laws of God, he will for his own Advantage ſet up the religious (or rather irreligious and impious) Worſhip of Demons accordingly as we have above expounded it out of the learned Mr. Mede.

CHAP.

CHAP. XIX.

1. That the Truth of the foregoing Paraphraſe may be aſſured out of Saint Paul's Prophecy of the Man of Sin. The three firſt Verſes thereof interpreted. Ver. 4. Wherein this Man of Sin exalteth himſelf above all that is called God, and what it is to ſhew himſelf to be God. Ver. 5. The Meaning of [to be revealed in his time,] and what that is that withſtandeth. Ver. 7. [The Myſtery of Iniquity doth already work] how to be underſtood, and who the ὁ κατέχων. Ver. 8. What is meant by ὁ ἄνομος, and what the Meaning and Manner of his Deſtruction; with an Intimation of the exquiſite Applicability of this Prophecy to the Papal Power and Impoſture. 2. A ſhort Parallel betwixt the Little Horn in Daniel and this Son of Perdition.

1. THAT this is one aſſured Senſe of theſe two Verſes in Daniel, that Prophecy in the ſecond Epiſtle to the Theſſalonians will more fully evidence: which has ſo great Affinity with this, that I do not doubt but it points at the ſame enormous Power of this Roman Patriarch and his Clergy with it, and is in a manner a Tranſcript from it.

1. Now we beſeech you, Brethren, by the coming of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, and by our gathering to him, which I mentioned in my * former Epiſtle. 2 Theſſ. 2. * 1 Theſ. 4. 17.

2. That you be not ſoon ſhaken in Mind, or be troubled, neither by Spirit, nor by Word, nor by Letter, ὡς δι' ἡμῶν, as from us, as if we had propheſied, ſpoke, or wrote any thing by Letter, no not in that former to you, that could be rightly interpreted to any ſuch Senſe, as that the Day of Chriſt is at hand.

3. Let no Man deceive you by any means, either by Pretence of Inſpiration, or by Scripture, or by miſ-interpreting any Letter of mine; For that Day ſhall not come except there come a falling away firſt, ἐὰν μὴ ἔλθῃ ἡ ἀποστασία πρῶτον, before that eminent Apoſtaſie come, (for ſo Alcazar interprets the Article ἡ in this place) that Lapſe into Idolatrous Worſhip which is Rebellion againſt God and Chriſt; and that Man of Sin be revealed, the Son of Perdition.

That this is to be underſtood of that ſignal Antichriſt, is the current Opinion of Antiquity, yea of Alcazar, Ribera, and Bellarmine himſelf. But we ſay that this Antichriſt will prove the Pope with his Clergy. For it is a ridiculous Defence to excuſe it by ſaying that the Man of Sin muſt imply one ſingle Perſon; whenas a Man as well as a Woman in the Prophetick Style does eaſily ſignifie not only a Succeſſion of ſingle Men but of a Body Politick by an Henopœia, and ſo does here the Succeſſion of lapſed Popes with their Clergy; who are called the Son of Perdition, becauſe they are to be deſtroyed by the Brightneſs of the Coming of Chriſt, and the Power and Light of the Goſpel. Not by worldly Power nor by Might, but by my Spirit, ſaith the Lord of Hoſts.

Ver. 4. Who oppoſeth and exalteth himſelf above all that is called God, or what is worſhipped; ſo that he as God ſitteth in the Temple of God, ſhewing himſelf that he is God.

That the Biſhop of Rome fulfilleth every Tittle of this Prediction, any one will ſee that does but caſt back his Eyes upon what we have wrote in our Idea of Antichriſtianiſm, and what is generally known to all that have ſipped but never ſo little of the Hiſtory of the Affairs of Chriſtendom. For it is plain from thence that he oppoſeth and exalteth himſelf above all that is called God, in ſome eminent way or other. For he oppoſeth and exalteth himſelf above Chriſt, who is very God, in all his Offices, Regal, Sacerdotal, and Prophetical, as I have abundantly ſhewn, and therefore conſequently above all the Saints. Nay particularly he is ſet above the Saints and Angels, as Biſhop Downham proves at large in his Treatiſe De Antichriſto, lib. 4. c. 4. And as for the Emperours, he treads on their very Necks and makes them his Vaſſals, kicks off their Crowns with his Feet, and with his Feet ſets them on again. So plain is it that this Prince of the Crowning City does exalt himſelf ἐπὶ πάντα λεγόμενον θεὸν ἢ σέβασμα, that is to ſay, above all Powers whatſoever, whether Celeſtial or Terreſtrial, amongſt the latter of which are the Σεβασοὶ or Auguſti, the Roman Emperors.

Idea of Antichriſtianiſm, Book 2. Ch. 11.

An Hint is ſufficient; a more full Amplification of his enormous Pride is ſet down in the above-named Idea, which yet is no more than what is obvious and notorious, as well in common Fame as in Hiſtory. This Paſſage in this Verſe does ſo expreſly anſwer to that in Daniel, ch. 11. 36. He ſhall exalt himſelf and magnifie himſelf above every God, that I doubt not but that the Apoſtle had a reſpect to that King of Pride there deſcribed, and means here the ſame thing by the Man of Sin.

So that he as God ſitteth in the Temple of God, ſhewing himſelf that he is God. Ἀποδεικνύντα ἑαυτὸν ὅτι ἐστὶ θεός, that is to ſay, Doing and accepting ſuch things as, if they did rightly belong to him, would demonſtrate that he were God; but by ſo doing he does oſtentare ſe Deum eſſe, makes a Shew as if he were God. The Temple of God is here either materially to be underſtood; and then it is plain how well it fits with the Pope's receiving Honour ſitting on the high Altar in St. Peter's Church at Rome after his Election, and his being there adored: or if it be underſtood Figuratively for the People that bear the Name of Chriſt and are dedicated to him, here he ſits too and rules as God infallibly, uncontrolably, above all Law, antiquating or diſpenſing even with the Laws of God himſelf.

Ver. 5. Remember ye not that, when I was with you, I told you theſe things?

6. And now you know what withholdeth, that he might be revealed in his time.

That is to ſay, what hindereth his Revealing and Shewing of himſelf to be in the World. For all things are in the confuſed Potentiality of the Univerſe, if I may ſo ſay, but in a ſecret and hidden manner, as in the Seed, as a Roſe in Winter, but appear ἐν τῷ ἰδίῳ καιρῷ, in their Seaſon. But that which hindered this appearing of Antichriſt was, according to the general Opinion of Antiquity, the Entireneſs of the Roman Empire. Till the breaking of the Empire into Ten Kingdoms, Antichriſt was not to be, and, it may be, not to appear, in another Senſe, till afterwards. That this τὸ κατέχον is the Roman Empire, Alcazar brings in Plenty of Witneſſes out of Malvenda, Tertullian, Chryſoſtome, Ambroſe, Jerome, Auſtin, Theophylact, Oecumenius. To which he adds Anſelmus, Haymo, Strabus, Thomas, Lyranus, Cajetan, Bellarmine, Suarez and Pamelius.

Ver. 7. For the Myſtery of Iniquity does already work; only he that now letteth, will lett, until he be taken away.

Tertullian and Chryſoſtome, and moſt of the Expoſitors, as Alcazar does avouch, underſtand this working of Iniquity in the Apoſtles Time to be only as a Type and Figure of that which ſhould be under Antichriſt; That there was then ſomething either actually in being or a-brewing, that was a previous Repreſentation of the State of the Church under Antichriſt. Alcazar would have it the Roman Paganiſm or Worſhip of Idols. But that was no Myſtery of Iniquity. But it may be he will ſay, it may be a Type of that which, when it came, would be a Myſtery, and that a wonderful one, that is, the living Image of Paganiſm revived in Chriſtianity; and that therefore the future Myſtery did work in its Type as well as was in its Type. For the Empire revived into Idolatry is called the Beaſt that was, and is not, and yet is. The Conceit is not altogether extravagant.

But I am more inclinable to think that the Apoſtle might ſpeak of ſomething in Chriſtianity already (I mean in the Profeſſors of it) that bore ſome Similitude with that of the great Antichriſt that was to appear in his Seaſon; that he might intend by this preſent working of the Myſtery of Iniquity ſome Miſcarriage in ſome of the Chriſtians, or ſome Propenſions thereto in them, as having got a great Smack of the Antichriſtian Spirit, and particularly of the Spirit of Contention for Rule and Priority. Whether Simon Magus may not be here hinted at, I ſhall conſider in its due place.

But this Antichriſtian Heat of Ambition muſt play at leſſer Games till the ὁ κατέχων, till the Roman Emperour moſt properly ſo called, namely, he that has his Imperial Seat at Rome be taken away; ἕως ἐκ μέσου γένηται, until he be either removed from thence or deſtroyed. But the Series of theſe Roman Cæſars ended in Auguſtulus. After which Time the Pope play'd his Pranks in theſe Weſtern Parts of the Empire, and gleaned much Wealth and Power to himſelf in the Ruins thereof; and at laſt grew viſibly to the full Pitch and Stature of this Man of Sin or Antichriſt. Then he was big enough to be ſeen by all that were not blind, as it follows in the next Verſe.

Ver. 8. And then ſhall that Wicked one be revealed, whom the Lord ſhall conſume with the Spirit of his Mouth, and deſtroy with the Brightneſs of his Coming.

*

That

That wicked one, ὁ ἄνομος, that Lawleſs one who exalts himſelf above the Laws of God and Chriſt, and can diſpenſe with them as he pleaſes: whoſe Deſtruction is by the Preaching of the Goſpel, and by the victorious Evidence of Truth; by clear and convictive Reaſon divulged to the World by ſuch as ſpeak by the Spirit of God, and by a Principle of Life within them. For their Mouth is the Mouth of God, and their Breath as a flaming Torrent to conſume the ungodly Deceiver.

The Remainder of this Prophecy we have expounded already, and therefore need not renew our Expoſition in this place. No Prophecy, verily, can be more expreſly applicable to any Event than this is to the Papal Power and Impoſture. The Effect therefore being already in the World, who can doubt but that this is the Prediction of it, eſpecially we having the common Suffrage of Antiquity, that it is to be underſtood of one that is to appear after the breaking of the Roman Empire into pieces? But this Event is already happened above a Thouſand Years ago. If any one ask Tertullian who this ὁ κατέχων, he that hindered the revealing of Antichriſt, is, he ſhall have this round Anſwer from him, Quis niſi Romanus Status? cujus in decem reges abſceſſio diſperſa Antichriſtum ſuperinducet, & tunc revelabitur Iniquus: Accordingly as the faithful Servants of Chriſt have found to their great Sorrow and unſpeakable Affliction.

2. This Man of Sin therefore is that little Horn with the Eyes of a Man in it, (both Expreſſions intimating the humane Policy of the Papal Power) that King diverſe from the Ten, as being an Eccleſiaſtick Prince, and riſing up behind them, at length to over-grow them and over-top them by his Policy: Whom St. Paul calls τὸν ἄνομον the Lawleſs Man, as Daniel makes him a changer of Times and Laws, as not being content to be kept in and bounded by thoſe that were already, though they were the Sanctions of God and of his Chriſt. In that Horn alſo is a Mouth ſpeaking great things, and that againſt the moſt High, that is Treaſonable Words againſt the Sovereignity of God and Chriſt; as this Man of Sin does, this Papal Body, exalting their Head, the Pope, above every thing that is called God or is worſhipped. And, laſtly, as the little Horn in Daniel is to be burnt by the fiery ſtream iſſuing from before that dreadful Judge; ſo is this Man of Sin to be conſumed by the Spirit of the Mouth of the Lord, and by the fiery brightneſs of his Coming. Which Conſiderations may aſſure us, that one and the ſame Perſon is aimed at in the little Horn in the ſeventh of Daniel, and that the proſperous King in the eleventh that exalts and magnifies himſelf above every God; they both agreeing in this preſent Prophecy of the Man of Sin and Son of Perdition.

So plain is it that this Prophecy is not to be underſtood of either Caius or Simon Magus, as Grotius groundleſly conceits; whoſe Opinion I will now examine, becauſe the Name of that Author bears ſo much ſway with ſome Men, otherwiſe it were ſcarce worth the pains of peruſing.

CHAP.

CHAP. XX.

1. A ſummary Propoſal of Grotius his Expoſition of the foregoing Prophecy. 2. That the coming of Chriſt in this Prophecy cannot be underſtood of the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem: 3. Nor Apoſtacy attributed to Caius, nor he ſaid to ſit in the Temple of God, nor τὸ κατέχον to fit ſo well with Vitellius. 4 That Caius his Purpoſe of placing his Statue in the Temple was no Myſtery of Iniquity, but groſs Prophaneneſs. 5. Grotius his ridiculous Luxation of the ſence of the Prophecy in making Caius the Man of Sin, and Son of Perdition, concealed by Vitellius his ſtanding in the way; and yet upon Vitellius his Removal, not Caius, but Simon Magus to be the Man revealed and deſtroyed. 6. That in all likelihood the Story of Simon Magus is a Fiction, and from what occaſion. 7. That if it were true, it is not ſo applicable, this wicked Man Simon being not conſumed by the Spirit of Chriſt's Mouth, but only his Coach and Horſes. 8. That Grotius makes Paul Propheſy of things paſt, his Epiſtle being writ Ten Years after Caius his death, with a full Anſwer to Grotius his firſt Argument to the contrary. 9. An Anſwer to the Second. 10. A Demonſtration out of Scripture and Grotius his own Conceſſions that this Second Epiſtle was wrote Ten Years after Caius his Death, as alſo that the Fall of Simon Magus from his fiery Chariot was Eight Years before this Prophecy.

1. THE ſum of Grotius his Expoſition of this Second Epiſtle to the Theſſalonians is this:

'Firſt, He interprets the Coming of Chriſt of the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem.

'Secondly, The Apoſtacy or Falling away and the Revealing of the Man of Sin 'he underſtands of Caius Caligula, who indeed was a very impious Emperor, and 'would have had his own Statue ſet in the Temple of Jeruſalem.

'Thirdly, The τὸ κατέχον, or the ὁ κατέχων, he will have to be Lucius Vitellius 'Preſident of Syria, and conſequently of Judæa, who was a Friend to the Jews, 'and therefore in his time not ſo ſeaſonable for Caius to make the motion of ſet-'ting his own Statue in the holy Temple.

'Fourthly, By the working of the Myſtery of Iniquity he underſtands the Perſwa-'ſions of Helicon and other Ægyptian Impoſtors who were great with Caius, and 'were preparing the way to this grand piece of Impiety.

'Fifthly, But when he that letteth is taken out of the way, that is Lucius Vitelli-'us, who as yet hindred Caius from this impious Purpoſe of placing his Statue in 'the Temple at Jeruſalem, then ſhall that wicked one be revealed, (who has dealt 'under-board hitherto with his Conſpirators Helicon and the reſt) Caius, certainly you will ſay; no, Simon Magus, ſaith Grotius. Was there ever ſuch a ridiculous ἀνοσιούργημα in any ſerious Interpretation of Authors, much leſs of Holy Scripture.

'Sixthly and laſtly, But this is becauſe the reſt of the Prophecy ſeems to ſpeak 'of a Conjurer or Magician, ſuch as Simon Magus was famed to be, whom at Rome, 'riding in the Air with his fiery Chariot and Horſes, Peter by his Prayers to 'Chriſt made fall to the Ground. And thus was Simon conſumed by the Spirit of 'the Lord's Mouth, and by the brightneſs of his coming, as Grotius would have 'it.

2. This is a brief Account of his Expoſition, in which there is ſcarce one ſound Joint. For as for the Firſt, which underſtands the coming of Chriſt of the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem; Whoſoever conſiders that this Epiſtle is really the Second Epiſtle to the Theſſalonians, (as I ſhall hereafter prove) and that in the * foregoing Epiſtle he ſpeaks of the final coming of Chriſt, which is join'd with the Reſurrection of the dead and our being gathered together and meeting the Lord in the Air, he cannot, verily, without great Violence to the ſenſe of things, but underſtand this coming of Chriſt and our gathering together unto him, in this Second Epiſtle, of the ſame time and thing of which the Coming of Chriſt in the firſt is underſtood. And ſtill the rather, becauſe of that ſerious Obteſtation of the Apoſtle by this Coming of the Lord, and our Gathering together unto him, adding alſo, that they ſhould ſhould not be ſhaken in Mind nor troubled, μήτε σαλευθῆναι ἀπὸ τοῦ νοὸς μήτε θροεῖσθαι· Words that ſignify ſo high, as if they were at their Wits ends at the Apprehenſion of the Matter, whenas the ſacking of Jeruſalem could not ſo much concern them that lived at Theſſalonica. And, laſtly, [nor by Word, nor by Letter, as from us] ſeems to refer to the foregoing Epiſtle, where the Apoſtle ſpeaking by an ordinary ἀνακοίνωσις, as if he and the reſt then alive ſhould meet the Lord in the Air, gave the Theſſalonians Occaſion to apprehend that the day of Judgment would be very ſhortly: Which Miſtake therefore he rectifies in this preſent Epiſtle. Whence it is plain that the Coming of Chriſt is not here underſtood of the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, but of the laſt Judgment.

* Chap. 4. v. 15, 16, 17.

3. And for the Second Joynt, it is but weak alſo, in that Caius could not properly be ſaid to be an Apoſtate from the God of Iſrael, ſith he was never in Covenant with him. Nor did he ſet his Statue in the Temple at Jeruſalem, which is the chief thing that Grotius aims at; much leſs did he ſit there himſelf, which the Words do plainly import. Nor does ὥστε αὐτὸν εἰς τὸν ναὸν τοῦ θεοῦ καθίσαι ſignify to place himſelf in the Temple of God, but to ſit there, by the Unanimous Agreement of all Interpreters otherwiſe he had Written ἑαυτὸν not αὐτόν. So ſtrained is every thing in this Joint of the Expoſition.

The Third were ſenſe good enough, if the things were agreeable. And yet there ſeems ſome little Flaw in this too, if we conſider the Words themſelves. For if Vitellius were meant and nothing more, it would have been ὁ κατέχων in both places, as being moſt fit to expreſs a Perſon by.

4. And for the Fourth, It is ſurely very improper to call that private and concealed purpoſe of Caius his ſetting his Statue in the Temple of God at Jeruſalem, a Myſtery of Iniquity. For meer Privacy and Concealment does not make a thing preſently a Myſtery; otherwiſe every clancular Attempt of Theft, Murther or Adultery would be a Myſtery of Iniquity. But that is a Myſtery which, though it be ſpoke out in Words, is ſtill Myſterious in its own Nature, and has ſome Depth with it, be it a bad Myſtery or good. But this Purpoſe of Caius his placing his Statue in the Temple at Jeruſalem is no ſuch thing, but only a plain and conſpicuous Piece of Impiety, ſuch as every one would underſtand at firſt Sight. And therefore thoſe places alledged by Grotius, namely, Rom. 11. 25. 1 Cor. 15. 51. are nothing to this purpoſe. For thoſe are arduous and profound Myſteries there mentioned, even after they are divulged.

5. What an Exorbitant Luxation there is in the Fifth Joint, I have already taken notice, and indeed I think it cannot be concealed from any. For who would expect according to the common Tenour of Speech, but that when the Apoſtle had begun his Prophecy concerning the Man of Sin, whom he calls alſo the Son of Perdition, farther adding that he is to be revealed, and that there are under-hand Preparations making for it, and that only Lucius Vitellius hinders the Revealing of him in his Time, which Hinderance will be till the ſaid Vitellius be taken away; I ſay, Who would not but expect that the eighth Verſe, And then ſhall that wicked one be revealed, whom the Lord ſhall conſume with the Spirit of his Mouth, and deſtroy with the Brightneſs of his Coming,(accordingly as he was ſaid before to be as well the Son of Perdition as the Man of Sin) is to be underſtood of the ſame Perſon the Apoſtle began withal? And yet the Man of Sin and Son of Perdition is Caius, and the wicked Man whom the Lord here deſtroys (and ſo is plainly the Son of Perdition in an eminent Senſe) is Simon Magus. Upon ſo violent a Rack has Grotius ſet the Text to extort falſe Anſwers from it, and to make it accuſe Caius and Simon Magus, that the Pope may eſcape the Suſpicion of being taken for Antichriſt. Wherein Grotius his either Judgment or Conſcience does very hazardouſly lie at the Stake.

6. And in the laſt place, now he has gotten to Simon; though I confeſs the Story is not impoſſible of his fiery Horſes and Chariot, much leſs his Fall to the Ground by the Prayer of Peter; yet long before I knew this Uſe of it, the Narration ever ſeemed to me very incredible, though, I think, I believe the being of Spirits and Apparitions as firmly as moſt do. For it look'd always to me ſo like a gambal Trick, that I could not but place it among the earlier Legends or pious Fictions of the Church, invented by ſome idle Monaſtick to entertain the credulous and ſuperſtitious. So notorious a Paſſage as this happening in the City of Rome could not have been kept out of the Lives of the Cæſars, and particularly of Nero; in whoſe Life Suetonius only has this ſhort Indigitation amongſt thoſe Theatrick Shows, Ch.

12. Icarus primo ſtatim conatu juxta cubiculum Neronis decidit, ipſumque cruore reſperſit. Out of which luckleſs Repreſentation of a Poetical Fiction this Monaſtick Legend ſeems to be framed: in which Relators add and alter what they pleaſe; which does derogate much to the Credibility of the Story.

7. The moſt punctual and plauſible Narrative Dr. Hammond has choſen out of Arnobius. Viderant currum Simonis Magi & quadrigas igneas Petri ore diffiatas, & nominato Chriſto evanuiſſe: viderant pondere præcipitatum ſuo, cruribus jacuiſſe præfractis: poſt deinde perlatum Brundam, cruciatibus & pudore defeſſum, ex altiſſimi culminis ſe rurſum præcipitaſſe faſtigio. Now theſe Words [Quadrigas igneas Petri ore diffiatas evanuiſſe] agree well with [Whom the Lord ſhall conſume with the Breath of his Mouth,] (for, as Grotius excellently well and truly, Apoſtoli ſunt os Chriſti: according to which Analogy I have expounded the Viſion of the Rider of the White Horſe:) But when I ſee the Horſes and Chariot diſſipated and conſumed, but Simon Magus fall entire, excepting the breaking of his Shins, which, it ſeems, were afterwards at Brunda ſo well again, that he could ſtand on his Legs to caſt himſelf headlong from ſome Precipice, nay, go up to the higher Stories of an Houſe, (For who would have carried him ſo high, when a lower Room would better have fitted a lame Man?) I do not underſtand how the Prophecy is fulfilled in the wicked Man himſelf, which is the proper Subject of this Prediction, but only in his Chariot and Horſes. If this Accident had been aimed at in this Prophecy, doubtleſs Simon himſelf had been conſumed, not his Coach and Horſes only.

8. Wherefore admitting Grotius his Chronology, who, for his Advantage, pretends that this Second Epiſtle was wrote before the Firſt, and in Caius his Reign; you ſee how diſtorted, forced, and incompliable his Expoſition is to the Text, the ſame falling out here to him that has in his other Miſtimings of Prophecy. But to take away from him all Occaſion of Trifling at once, I ſay that both theſe Epiſtles were wrote about the ninth or tenth Year of the Reign of Claudius, that is, ſo many Years after Caius his Death; and that therefore Grotius makes Paul propheſie of things paſt. That this is the conſtant Tradition of the Church cannot be denied. But this is not the firſt time that Grotius has broke all the Bounds of Modeſty, to reach at that which vaniſhes in his Hand in the very graſping of it. I know he has ſome Pretences to prove the Second Epiſtle written before the Firſt, that he might fancy it written as early as he pleaſes: but the Arguments he draws out to defend this his Opinion, do cut his own Fingers.

The Firſt is from the Concluſion of this Second Epiſtle, The Salutation of Paul with mine own Hand, which is the Token in every Epiſtle: So I write, viz. The Grace of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt be with you all, Amen. This written with Paul's own Hand is his Mark or Token in every Epiſtle. And yet Grotius would from hence infer, that this Epiſtle was wrote firſt, becauſe there is no ſuch Mark in the foregoing Epiſtle; there being thoſe alive amongſt the Theſſalonians that knew his Hand already. But I anſwer, Firſt, That the foregoing Epiſtle has this Mark. For does not it end with The Grace of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt be with you all, Amen? And this, he ſaid before, is written with his own Hand in every Epiſtle. Wherefore the Mark is equal in both theſe Epiſtles.

Secondly, Unleſs he had ſent them ſome former Epiſtle with this Mark, they could not argue that this was his by it.

Thirdly, He did ſend an Epiſtle before this to them, as appears from Ch. 2. 15. Therefore, Brethren, ſtand faſt, and hold the Traditions you have been taught, whether by Word or our Epiſtle. Wherefore this Mark can be no Demonſtration of Priority, for ſo it had been before that other that really precedes it; which is a palpable Contradiction. And Grotius himſelf does not deny but the Epiſtle here mentioned was before this, but humourſomly and groundleſly pretends it to be loſt, rather than to be the Firſt Epiſtle according to Canon.

Fourthly, This firſt according to the Canon of the Church is this very Epiſtle mentioned Ch. 2. 15. as appears from the Subject of this ſecond Chapter, which plainly is nothing elſe but a clearing up his Meaning concerning the Coming of Chriſt, of which he had wrote in the foregoing Epiſtle, Ch. 4. 13. to the End; and Ch. 5, 1, 2, 3. where there are ſuch Expreſſions as if the Reſurrection and the laſt Judgment were near at hand, even hanging over their Heads.

And therefore, Fifthly and Laſtly, Paul does ſo ſolicitouſly give them notice that this Second Epiſtle is his, and that they may be ſure of it from his known Mark written,

written, as in every of his Epiſtles, with his own Hand, that they might by his Authority be quieted, by whoſe, through the Miſtake of his Meaning, they were ſo perplexed and troubled. So plainly does this firſt Allegation of Grotius make againſt himſelf.

9. His ſecond Argument for the Priority of this Second Epiſtle is this: That the Chriſtians at Theſſalonica were ſo few when Paul wrote, that they did not make a Church or Presbytery, could not make a Number ſufficient to conſtitute an Authoritative Church. And his Reaſon is, Quòd homines non ex regula viventes Apoſtolus hîc non excommunicari præcepit, quod juſti cœtûs fuerit; ſed vitari, quod jus ſingulorum eſt. To which that I may the more conveniently anſwer, I ſhall ſet down the Words of the Apoſtle, Ch. 3. 14, 15. And if any Man obey not our Word, by this Epiſtle, note that Man, and have no company with him, that he may be aſhamed: Yet count him not as an Enemy, but admoniſh him as a Brother. The Words in the Original are, μὴ συναναμίγνυσθε αὐτῷ, and νουθετεῖτε ὡς ἀδελφόν. The former occurs 1 Cor. 5. 11. But now I write unto you μὴ συναναμίγνυσθαι, not to keep Company, if any that is called a Brother be a Fornicator, &c. with ſuch an one not to eat. Which is an Explanation of τὸ μὴ συναναμίγνυσθαι. Where Grotius his own Note is, Hebræis mos erat cibum communem non ſumere cum eo qui erat in נדוי with him that was excommunicated. So that μὴ συναναμίγνυσθε αὐτῷ implies Excommunication, and ſhews that the Chriſtians in Theſſalonica were a Church, as Paul alſo ſtyled them, at that time when he wrote this ſecond Epiſtle to them.

And for νουθετεῖτε ὡς ἀδελφόν, is there not in the firſt to the Theſſalonians, Ch. 5. 14. νουθετεῖτε τοὺς ἀτάκτους; and yet Grotius acknowledges that there was then a Church in Theſſalonica properly ſo called. Whence it is plain that he has no reaſon at all to change the Order of theſe Epiſtles; and that therefore conſtant Tradition and the Authority of the Church muſt take Place, and that the Second muſt be the Second Epiſtle in the Church's Senſe, that is to ſay, written after the Firſt: As appears alſo from thoſe innate Arguments I produced in anſwer to the firſt Reaſon of Grotius.

10. But the Firſt Epiſtle according to Grotius his own Acknowledgement was written after Paul had been at Theſſalonica; and Paul had not been at Theſſalonica before that Synod which was held at Jeruſalem by the Apoſtles, as appears from Acts, Ch. 15, and 16. and the whole Series of the Hiſtory of the Apoſtles. Nor was this Synod of the Apoſtles at Jeruſalem held till Fourteen Years after the Converſion of St. Paul, as appears Gal. 2. 2. where Grotius himſelf acknowledges that Paul then went up to that Meeting. Nihil credibilius reperio quàm notari hîc illud ipſum Pauli iter cujus mentio Act. 15. 2. But after this Journey to Jeruſalem, Paul choſe Silas (that is, Sylvanus) and Timotheus, (as appears Acts 15. 40. and 16. 1.) to be his Companions, whoſe Names are prefixed to the Second Epiſtle to the Theſſalonians as well as to the Firſt; not to mention that in the Second, Paul makes mention of his having been preſent among the Theſſalonians, Chap. 2. v. 5.

Wherefore both the Second and Firſt were written Fourteen Years after Paul's Converſion, and conſequently about the Tenth Year of Claudius his Reign, that is to ſay, about Ten Years after Caius his Death, and about Eight Years after Peter had broke Simon Magus his Legs by making him fall from his fiery Chariot at Rome. For Grotius, out of Jerom and others, places that miraculous Feat in the ſecond Year of Claudius. So that he makes Paul propheſie of things paſt, as well by the Application of Simon Magus his Story as the Story of Caius to this Prediction touching the Man of Sin and Son of Perdition.

CHAP. XXI.

1. The Pre-eminence of this latter Interpretation above that of Grotius. 2. A ſummary Propoſal of the ſame. 3. The firſt part of this Expoſition the ſame with Grotius his, and therefore confuted already; The Second further confuted from Chronology; from a further Diſcovery of the Incredibility of the Hiſtory of Simon Magus; from his being ſufficiently Revealed before; and finally from hence, that he never did ſit in any Temple where he received Divine Honours. 4. The Third enervated, from the Chronology of the Ancients, and alſo from theſe Paſſages of Scripture, which ſignify that the Apoſtles did early deſert the Jews. 5. That ὁ κατέχων ſignifying a Perſon, cannot in good Grammar be us'd to denote a Thing. Nor does the Apoſtacy agree with Chronology, neither is the Impiety of the Gnoſticks a Myſtery, but an open Hoſtility againſt the Church. 6. The Harſhneſs of Interpreting whom, in [whom the Lord ſhall conſume, &c.] of two ſeveral Subjects, the one to be deſtroyed by the Breath of Chriſt's Mouth, the other by the Brightneſs of his Coming, and that in diſtinct Places and Times. 7. That if the Hiſtory of Simon Magus had been true, and the Application fit to this Prophecy, the moſt ancient Fathers would not have failed to have hit upon it; And that it might then have been a preludious Type to the great Antichriſt to come. 8. Brief Prophetick Strictures touching Antichriſtian Impurity. 9. The Antichriſtian Cruelty predicted in the Viſion of the King of Babylon and of the Little Horn. 10. Alſo in the Viſion of the Slain Witneſſes, and in the Two-horned Beaſt's cauſing the Ten-horned to kill as many as would not worſhip the Image of the Beaſt, nor receive his Mark. 11. In the Viſion of the Angel with the third Vial; and in the Declaration of the Cauſe of the Whore's Ruin. 12. And, laſtly, in the Deſcription of the Whore as drunk with the Blood of the Saints. 13. That all the Members of Antichriſtianiſm in our Idea are prefigured in the Prophecies of the Holy Writ ſo expreſly, that ſo clear an Evidence cannot be withſtood for ever. 14. That that ample Teſtimony of the Apocalyps cannot be evaded by the novel Expoſition of ἃ δεῖ γενέσθαι ἐν τάχει.

1. WHerefore a certain late, and indeed Learned Interpreter has with far better Judgment, provided Chronology would agree thereto, pitched upon the Reign of Nero for this Exploit of Simon, I mean his Riding in the Air in a Chariot and Horſes of Fire, that ſo at leaſt the Story might be conveniently apply'd to this Prophecy. Wherein he, making Simon the ſole Party concerned, has much the Advantage of Grotius, and does thereby avoid that violent Luxation of the Text in the eighth Verſe, which we noted in Grotius his Interpretation. But this varying of the Story of Simon as concerning the Time adds further Incredibility to the Fact: And though the Application be ingenious, yet it has ſo great Difficulties as cannot but hinder Belief in the Cautious. But ſuch as it is, I ſhall firſt briefly ſet it down, and then examine it, that it may more fully appear that there is no Interpretation that can ſtand in Competition with that which the ordinary Current of Proteſtants does agree in; which is uſually toward that Senſe which I have declared.

2. 'Firſt then, he, as Grotius, interprets the Coming of Chriſt of the Deſtruction 'of Jeruſalem.

'Secondly, The Revealing of the Man of Sin is Simon his Appearing at Rome 'at what Time he rode in his fiery Chariot, together with the Gnoſticks Perſe-'cution of the Chriſtians.

'Thirdly, The Apoſtaſie or Falling away he underſtands of a Defection from the 'Faith to the Hereſie of the Gnoſticks; or elſe of the Apoſtles their Leaving of the 'Jews, and no longer complying with them in the obſerving of the Moſaical Rites.

'Fourthly, ὁ κατέχων or τὸ κατέχον, He, or That which with-holdeth is the Apoſtles 'not giving over to preach to the Jews, nor as yet leaving them as refractary and 'hopeleſs.

'Fifthly, The Myſtery of Iniquity which doth already work, is a ſmothered Oppoſition againſt Chriſt and Chriſtians; and an expreſs Renouncing of Chriſtianity, in 'this Sect of Gnoſticks under Simon and Carpocrates, ready to break out ſo ſoon as 'the Apoſtles bad adieu to the Jews their Country-men.

'Sixthly,

'Sixthly and Laſtly, The Spirit of God's Mouth is the Prayer of Peter whereby 'Simon Magus was caſt to the Ground; and the Brightneſs of his Coming is the De-'ſtruction of Jeruſalem, whereby the perſecuting Jews and Gnoſticks were over-'thrown.

3. This is the Sum of his Interpretation, which we will now briefly, but carefully examine. Againſt the firſt Part whereof the ſame is to be ſaid which was againſt Grotius his, Chap. 20. Sect. 2. nor need I repeat it. It alone is enough quite to overthrow both their Interpretations, in the Judgment of any unprejudiced Reader.

The Second is the grand Baſis of the whole Expoſition. But here, in the firſt place, the Chronology of the Matter of Fact, as well of what is aſcribed to Peter as of what is attributed to Simon Magus, is repugnant thereto. For that Peter went to Rome in the ſecond Year of Claudius to encounter Simon Magus St. Hierom teaches us, ſaith Grotius, and that theſe things happened in the Reign of Claudius, not that of Nero, he confirms by the moſt ancient Teſtimonies of Juſtin, Irenæus, Euſebius, Cyril, and Theodoret. But that Philaſtrius, ſays, he, and ſome later Authors refer theſe things to the Times of Nero, is I believe a Miſtake which hath proceeded from the Ambiguity of the Name. For Claudius alſo was of the Family of the Nero's, and Nero was his Father's Name, &c. By this Authentick Computation of Time, therefore, this new Expoſition is utterly ſubverted, as being founded upon this Suppoſition; That Peter's Victory over Simon Magus fell out in the Times of Nero. But not to inſiſt upon the Chronology, I have already ſufficiently inſinuated that there is great Reaſon to doubt the Truth of the Hiſtory it ſelf. Which will be farther ſuſpected by any one that is not over-credulous, if he conſider what in Baronius is adjoyned thereto, namely, that Peter, by that extraordinary Miracle he did, in bringing down Simon Magus headlong out of the Air by his Prayers, was ſo far from gaining any Reſpect from Nero, the Spectator of the Combat, that he was impriſoned for ſo ſtupendious an Atchievement. Certainly if the People, for that Magical Power which Simon Magus vaunted of, honoured him as a God, they would have given much more Honour to him whom they found more powerful than Simon, who yet called himſelf the great Power of God.

But beſides this, Simon Magus could not properly be ſaid to be the Man of Sin that was to be revealed, when this Epiſtle was wrote; he having even in the Beginning of Claudius his Time, as is alſo granted by this late Interpreter, ſhewed himſelf an impious Blaſphemer by pretending to be a God, and receiving Divine Honours at Rome. And there is nothing appears to the contrary but that he continued ſo wicked from that Time to the End of his Days.

And then laſtly, for his Sitting in the Temple of God; What Seat or See had he any where? Or, What Temple was ever built to him? A Statue indeed is ſaid to have been erected to him, but this was in the Beginning of Claudius his Reign, and therefore long before this Prophecy was written, as appears Chap. 20. Sect. 10. But neither is this Statue a Temple, nor could Simon ſit in it, and it may be but a fictitious Statue, if Petrus Ciaconius his Conjecture be true, that the Riſe of that Story came from an old Pagan Inſcription upon a Marble dug up Anno 1574. in the place where this Statue of Simon was ſaid to be, which was Semoni Sango Deo Fidio ſacrum, as you may ſee in Baronius.

4. As to the Third, ſeeing it appears ſo manifeſtly from the Teſtimonies of the moſt Ancient Writers, that this unhappy airy Pomp of Simon Magus, and Peter's Combat with him, happened about the Beginning of Claudius his Reign, which, ſince Simon is that Wicked One, or Man of Sin, this Apoſtaſie, of whatever ſort it is, muſt of Neceſſity precede; it is evident that neither a Defection from the Faith to the Hereſie of the Gnoſticks, nor the Leaving of the Jews by the Apoſtles, nor any other thing that precedes this Appearing of Simon, can be here underſtood, becauſe the Epiſtle is of a later Date. But as to the Leaving of the Jews by the Apoſtles, to let Simon paſs, it is yet plain that it cannot be here meant, becauſe it was begun many Years before the Writing of this Prophecy; as appeareth from Act. 13. v. 46. It was neceſſary that the Word of God, ſays Paul and Barnabas, ſhould firſt have been ſpoken to you: but ſeeing ye put it from you, and judge your ſelves unworthy of everlaſting Life, lo, we turn to the Gentiles. Now this was done in the Year of Chriſt 41. in the very Beginning of Claudius's Reign. And this Deſerting of the Jews begun at this Time, was repeated Act. 18. v. 6. And when they [the Jews] oppoſed themſelves, and blaſphemed, he, [Paul] ſhook his Rayment, and ſaid unto them, Your Blood be upon your own Heads; I am clean: from henceforth I will go unto the Gentiles. But this fell out in the 51 Year of Chriſt, which was the Year after Paul wrote to the Theſſalonians. And this, verily, but very ill agrees with Ver. 1, 2, 3. Now we beſeech you, Brethren------that ye be not ſoon ſhaken in Mind,------as that the Day of Chriſt is at hand------except there come a Falling away (i. e. Departure of the Apoſtles from the Jews) firſt, &c. Which notwithſtanding was begun ten Years before, and again repeated within about a Year after the Writing of this Epiſtle. And therefore being ſo near, or rather having already happened to them, the Day of the Lord could not but be at the very Door, contrary to what is here aſſerted by the Apoſtles. To which may be added in the laſt place, that the Word Ἀποστασία may indeed ſignify a ſimple Departure or Going away, as well as a Defection or Falling away; but Ἀποστασία a Falling away only.

own

5. And for the Fourth Point; It is not ſo good Syntax to ſay ὁ κατέχων, when not a Perſon but a Thing is underſtood. Moreover, 'tis neceſſary that this ὁ κατέχων or τὸ κατέχον ſhould firſt have been removed before Simon Magus appear'd upon the Stage, becauſe this Hindrance being taken away, that Wicked One, 'tis ſaid, will immediately appear. But ſeeing the Revelation of Simon happen'd ten Years before this Epiſtle was written, How could the Apoſtle ſay, And now ye know what witholdeth? Yea ſince that Obſtacle, namely the Delaying of the Apoſtles their Abandoning the Jews, was at that time already taken away, as is manifeſt from Act. 13. v. 46. Not to add, in the laſt place, That it ſeems incredible that this could be the Hindrance to the Revealing of the Myſtery of Iniquity (that is, to the coming to paſs of the open and bare-fac'd Oppoſition and Perſecution of Chriſt and Chriſtians and the expreſs Renunciation of Chriſtianity by the Sect of the Gnoſticks under Simon and Carpocrates) which Obſtacle both Paul and the Theſſalonians well knew, as appears from the 6th Verſe; But had they known that this, to wit, the Delaying of their Departure from the Jews, was it, they would aſſuredly not have brought upon the Church ſuch great Calamities by their ſo ſudden Deſerting of them, ſeeing the Procraſtination of this thing would have been ſuch a powerful Defence and ſtrong Bulwark againſt the Inundation of Gnoſticiſm and Perſecution of the Church.

And touching the Fifth; There is ſomewhat the like Exception that was againſt Grotius his Expoſition, that ſeems to make any thing concealed, ſtreight to become a Myſtery, which is a falſe Notion of the Word. For an open and plain Oppoſition or Renunciation of Chriſtianity intended, but in the mean time kept concealed from others, (which is the ſuppoſed Caſe here) is no more a Myſtery than hidden Murther and Adultery, as I ſaid before.

Not to mention that Carpocrates with his Followers are here violently, and as it were by Head and Shoulders, drag'd in, both becauſe of the Diſtance of Time, and alſo upon this Account, that it does not appear either of Carpocrates himſelf, or other Gnoſticks, Simon only excepted, tho' they were Magicians and Idolaters, that they were either accounted by others, or boaſted themſelves to be Gods, or had Statues erected to them, and much leſs were ſaid to ſit in any Temple as Gods. Wherefore the Prophecy is to be reſtrained to Simon only, notwithſtanding which, the Prediction will ſtill follow after the Event.

6. And as for the Sixth and Laſt; It ſeems ſomewhat harſh and ſtrained to underſtand that Execution that is done by the Spirit of the Mouth of the Lord to appertain to Simon Magus at Rome, and yet that Deſtruction wrought by the Brightneſs of his Coming to belong to the Gnoſticks involved in the Deſtruction at Jeruſalem, eſpecially if we conſider that there was no Coalition of Simon Magus and the Gnoſticks into one Body Politick, but that the Gnoſticks ſeemed rather to deſcend from the Nicolaitans, as Baronius intimates, and ſo had no Reference one to another. Beſides that the Text ſays continuedly, Whom the Lord ſhall conſume with the Spirit of his Mouth, and ſhall deſtroy with the Brightneſs of his Coming. Which is nothing elſe but the bright Flame and fiery Spirit iſſuing out of his Mouth, (according to that Deſcription in Eſdras and Daniel) and upon one and the ſame Object, which is this Man of Sin, (the ſame with the Little Horn in Daniel, which is after this manner to be deſtroyed, namely by the illuſtrious Coming of Chriſt) whom Paul mentions in his former Epiſtle, as we have clearly demonſtrated. But that Simon Magus was deſtroyed by the Spirit of his Mouth, and ſome other Man of Sin by the Brightneſs of his Coming, is ridiculous.

7. To all which you may add, That if the Hiſtory of Simon be true, and that the Coming of the Lord be underſtood of the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, and not of the the laſt Judgment; it is a wonderful thing that the firſt Fathers of the Church, who had a nearer Proſpect into thoſe Tranſactions of the World, could not diſcern the Completion of the Prophecy in Simon Magus and the Gnoſticks, and Carpocratians; but that we that ſtand at the fartheſt Diſtance from the Events ſhould be the quickeſt-ſighted in diſcerning their Applicability to the Prophecy. But I have already produced Arguments to demonſtrate that this can't be the genuin Meaning of this Prediction of St. Paul. But if I could believe that the Condition of Simon and the Gnoſticks was in ſome Senſe here preſtringed, (as I muſt confeſs this pious and judicious Interpreter has bid very fair towards the Credibility of it) I ſhould look upon them as a preludious Type to the great Antichriſt, and ſhould think that Paſſage [For the Myſtery of Iniquity doth already work] to be underſtood of them, as it may, though the reſt of the Prophecy be in many things unapplicable to Simon and the Gnoſticks, and belong only to the great Antichriſt indeed, of whom this Magician may be only a Type or Figure, and truly not altogether an unfit and unſignificant one, if compared with the Characters of that great Antichriſt every where occurring in the Prophecies. As in the Viſion of the Little Horn, in the Viſion of the Whore of Babylon, of the King of Tyre, and of the King of Babylon, of the Two-horned Beaſt or Falſe Prophet, of the King of Pride, in the Alluſions to Sodom and Ægypt, and to the Carnal and Prophet-murdering Jeruſalem, in the Prophecy concerning the City of Tyre, and in the Mention of thoſe that are excluded from the Holy City, and the like, where the Characters either of the Head or of the Body of Antichriſt, or finally theſe of both the one and the other are found, and ſuch as indifferently well agree to Simon and the Gnoſticks.

For whereas this Simon, was a Magician or Sorcerer and Inchanter, ſo the Two-horned Beaſt is ſaid to do Wonders, and the Whore to hold a Cup φαρμακειας of Sorcery or Inchantment in her Hand, and thoſe who are excluded from the Holy City amongſt other Appellations have that of φαρμακεῖς, that is Magicians or Sorcerers.

Again, As Simon gave the Name and firſt Example of that wicked Sin of Simonie; ſo that great Antichriſt and his Body, in the Viſion of the King of Tyre, and of the City of Tyre, and in the Lamentation of Babylon, are deſcrib'd as noted Merchants for buying and ſelling of Things Holy and Spiritual.

Thirdly, Part of Simon's and the Gnoſticks Apoſtaſie was Judaizing while they made a Show of Chriſtianity: And in Alluſions to that Carnal Jeruſalem and Ægypt, 'tis manifeſt that this Mark is ſet upon Antichriſt and his Body, to denote their being a People burden'd with Ceremonies, like the Jews, and wearied and worn out by ſlaviſh Works available to none but Pharoah and his Servants.

Fourthly, Simon and the Gnoſticks were notorious for their Filthineſs and Uncleanneſs. And the Body of this great Antichriſt is plainly compared to the City of Sodom in the Viſion of the Two Witneſſes, and amongſt thoſe who are excluded from the Holy City are reckoned Dogs and Whoremongers and the Unclean.

Fifthly, Though Simon and the Gnoſticks were thus wicked and ſo impure and filthy in Life and Converſation, yet they were γνωστικοὶ, extraordinary Pretenders to, and Boaſters of the Certainty of their Knowledge even in the Divineſt Matters. But is not this the principal Character of Antichriſt in the Viſion of the King of Tyre, Behold thou art wiſer than Daniel, there is no Secret that they can hide from thee; and after in the ſame Chapter, Thou ſealeſt up the Sum, full of Wiſdom, and perfect in Beauty. And in the Viſion of the King of Babylon, mention is made of the Beauty of his Wiſdom, and Jezebel calls her ſelf a Propheteſs, Rev. 3. and the Two-horned Beaſt is the ſame with the Falſe Prophet; whereby is intimated, that the Head and Body of this Great Antichriſt aſſumes a certain Infallibility of Knowledge in things, eſpecially Divine, tho' at the ſame time in Life and Manners they are moſt vile and ſordid.

Sixthly, Simon and the Gnoſticks were Oppoſers and Perſecuters of the true Church, which is every where well known of that Great Antichriſt, as in the Viſion of the Little Horn making War with the Saints, and in very many other Places, which being ſo obvious need not here be ſet down.

Seventhly, The Followers of Simon polluted themſelves with Idols. And what I pray is the Babyloniſh Whore, but an Antichriſtian Idolatrous Body? And the Two-horned Beaſt is the Reſtorer as it were of Ancient Pagan Idolatry, &c. and no Body doubts but that Antichriſt is an eminent Idolater.

Eighthly and laſtly, Simon did boaſt great and marvellous things of himſelf, and exalted himſelf above every thing that is called God, and received Divine Honours in

in his own Perſon upon Earth. So the Little-Horn is ſaid to ſpeak great and wonderful things of himſelf in Daniel, and the King of Pride to exalt himſelf above every God, and to magnify himſelf, both in Daniel, and in the Epiſtle to the Theſſalonians.

So that while ſuch Things as theſe were acting in the World, and by ſuch as made ſome Show of Chriſtianity, St. Paul might well ſay of that great Myſtery of Iniquity, That it is already on foot, that it is in ſome Senſe acting already, namely in Simon and his Followers, as a Type and Prelude to the ſtrange Pranks of the great Antichriſt to come, and that there wants nothing but the Removing of that great Obſtacle at Rome, the Weſtern Cæſareate, and then that ὁ ἄνομος himſelf, that great Antichriſt indeed, will ſhew himſelf, of whom Simon is but the Figure. See Ch. 19. Ver. 7. This Expoſition verily is ſomething more plauſible than that there of Alcazar, (who underſtands the Myſtery of Iniquity already working of pure Paganiſm) but whether it may be the chiefeſt of all, I leave it to the Judgment of Pious and Learned Men.

In the mean time I think I have ſufficiently cleared the Truth of thoſe main Prophecies in Scripture that concern the enormous Haughtineſs and Pride of Antichriſt, which is ſo apparently oppoſite to the firſt Branch of the Divine Life, Humility and Lowlineſs of Spirit.

8. The next is Purity, whoſe Oppoſite is Uncleanneſs and Unchaſtity. The Predictions of the Cauſes that carry to that Vice I have touched already. But as for the Vice it ſelf, it being ſo inſeparable a Concomitant of Idolatry, which is Spiritual Adultery or Fornication, I conceive the Spirit of Prophecy for that very Reaſon was the more ſparing in particular Prefigurations or Predictions thereof. But I do not doubt but that it is concerned in that Deſcription of the great City, Apocal. 11. And their Bodies ſhall lie in the Street of the great City which is ſpiritually called Sodom, &c. And how unclean and obſcene a City Sodom was, no Man can be ignorant of.

Again, thoſe that are excluded out of the Holy City, which is ſo perfectly oppoſite to this City called Sodom, they are called Dogs, and ἐβδελυγμένοι, Abominable, by which, as I have above noted out of Grotius, are underſtood ἀρσενοκοῖται καὶ μαλακοὶ, Abuſers of themſelves with Mankind. Whoremongers alſo are named in the ſame Catalogue. But of theſe Texts I have ſpoke ſufficiently in my Idea of Antichriſtianiſm.

Apoc. 12. Finally, In that the Church is ſaid to become a Wilderneſs, it may be alſo an Intimation of the Exceſs of thoſe Actions of the Animal Life that proceed from Cruelty and Luſt. But theſe Intimations ſhall ſuffice concerning this ſecond Oppoſition to the Divine Life in the Branches thereof.

9. The Third and Laſt is that which is ſo conſpicuouſly oppoſite to that laſt and beſt of the three Chriſtian Graces, Divine Love or Charity; and that is The bloody Antichriſtian Cruelty againſt the ſincere Servants of Chriſt. Which is noted in ſeveral of thoſe Viſions we have already explained, and therefore we need only produce them. As firſt, that concerning the King of Babylon, who was a Type of the Pope. The Reaſon of his Ruin in that Viſion is declared to be his barbarous and Antichriſtian Cruelty. Iſa. 14. Becauſe thou haſt deſtroyed thy Land, and ſlain thy People, that is to ſay, the People of Chriſtendom, the Land over which thou challengeſt an Eccleſiaſtick Sovereignty, as being the Vicar of Chriſt, and yet doſt moſt bloodily murther and martyr his trueſt and moſt faithful Servants.

Again, Dan. 7. The Little Horn there, which is a Figure of the ſame Pontifician Power, is ſaid to make War with and to wear out the Saints of the moſt High, that is, to conſume them and deſtroy them with perpetual Perſecutions.

10. A third Preſignification is Apocal. 11. concerning the two Witneſſes. The Beaſt that aſcendeth out of the bottomleſs Pit, ſhall make War againſt them, and ſhall overcome them and kill them; and their dead Bodies ſhall lie in the Street of the great City which is ſpiritually called Sodom and Ægypt, where alſo our Lord was crucified. Which is a Deſcription of perpetual Oppoſition and Perſecution, taking away from the true Servants of God either their Honours, Offices, Goods, or Lives. So that the real and ſincere Church of Chriſt, which is his Body, lieth (during the treading under foot the Outward Court) like a dead Corps without any Political Life or Power, and alſo dreadfully wounded, all over Gore-blood, by the cruel Murthers, Martyrdoms and Maſſacres of the faithful Members thereof.

Fourthly, Apocal. 13. the Two-horned Beaſt is ſaid to animate the Ten-horned, (when he had revived into the ancient Idolatrous Form of Paganiſm) to deſtroy as many as would not yield Obedience to him in his Idolatrous Commands. And he had had Power to give Life to the Image of the Beaſt, that the Image of the Beaſt ſhould both ſpeak, and cauſe that as many as would not worſhip the Image of the Beaſt ſhould be killed; And that no Man might buy nor ſell, ſave he that had the Mark or the Name of the Beaſt, or the Number of his Name: that is, As many as would not profeſs themſelves Roman Catholicks, and thereby Paganize in Chriſtianity, ſhould be famiſhed and ſtarved, and not ſuffered to live. So great is the Charity of this Tyrannical and Antichriſtian Power towards the true Members of Chriſt. But bleſſed are the Dead that die in the Lord, as it is ſaid in the following Chapter concerning the Martyrdom of thoſe that are murthered by this Pontifician Power.

11. Fifthly, That alſo is a Record of the Antichriſtian Roman Cruelty, (for the Vials are poured upon the Beaſt, the Ægyptian Plagues upon the Antichriſtian Ægypt) Rev. 16. where the Angel of the third Vial which turns the Rivers into Blood ſpeaks thus; Thou art righteous, O Lord, which art, and waſt, and ſhalt be, becauſe thou haſt judged thus. For they have ſhed the Blood of Saints, and Prophets, and thou haſt given them Blood to drink; for they are worthy.

Sixthly, As the Ruin of the King of Babylon in Iſaiah, ſo the Ruin of the Whore of Babylon in St. John is imputed to this ſalvage and barbarous Antichriſtian Cruelty, the murthering of the Saints of God. The Voice of Harpers and Muſicians is heard no more in her, no Crafts-man of any Craft is found any more in her, the Light of a Candle ſhines no more in her, but ſhe is left to utter Darkneſs and Deſolation; becauſe in her was found the Blood of Prophets and Saints, and of all that were ſlain upon the Earth. Murtherers alſo are particularly noted in both thoſe Catalogues of them that are without the Holy City.

12. Seventhly and Laſtly, In the Deſcription of the Whore of Babylon, which I have above plainly ſhew'd to ſignify the Church (the Roman eſpecially) apoſtatized into Idolatry, there is expreſs and ſignificant Mention made of this odious Branch of Antichriſtianiſm, this bloody Perſecution of the true Members of Chriſt. And the Woman was arrayed in purple and Scarlet, and decked with Gold and precious Stones and Pearls, having a golden Cup in her Hand, full of Abominations and Filthineſs of her Fornication: And upon her Forehead was a Name Written, Myſtery, Babylon the Great, the Mother of Harlots and Abominations of the Earth. And I ſaw the Woman drunken with the Blood of the Saints and with the Blood of the Martyrs of Jeſus: and when I ſaw her, I wondred with great Admiration.

He that looks upon the gorgeous Pomp of the Pope and his Eccleſiaſtick Princes, the Cardinals and other great Men, as alſo on the coſtly and reſplendent Garniſhings of their gliſtering Altars and Temples, how this Whore has decked herſelf with Ornaments of all Kinds, how ſhe has adorned her Court with Laces, and curiouſly wrought Carpets of Ægypt, how ſhe has perfum'd her Bed with Myrrh, Aloes, and Cinnamon, with Incenſe and Aromatick Odours; if he have any Skill in the Prophetick Style, he cannot ſay but this Prefiguration of the State of the Roman Church is ſet out to the Life for the Splendour and Richneſs of it. For thus is Idolatry begun to the World in this golden Cup and coſtly outſide of things.

But this is not the only Miſcarriage of this Church, ſhe is alſo drunk with the Blood of the Saints and with the Blood of the Martyrs of Jeſus. Grotius his Gloſs upon this Part of the Text is very expreſſive and ſignificant: Vidit eam ore rabido deſpumante & evomente ſanguinem, ut ebrii ſolent; John ſaw the rabid or enraged Woman foaming at Mouth with ſtained Froth, and vomiting Blood as Drunkards do Wine. Which muſt needs be a Wonder to all her Spectators, that a Woman ſo richly and ſo glorioufly attired ſhould be of ſo ferine and ſalvage a Nature. Which Admiration certainly muſt be redoubled upon them, while they conſider how this illuſtrious Queen profeſſes herſelf to be the Catholick Church of Chriſt and Mother of Chriſtendom, and yet thus to froth at the Mouth, nay, to foul her Raiment by impotently eaſing of her Stomach over-charged with the Blood of her own Children. But by being thus laviſh of the Life of her Infants ſhe demonſtrates herſelf not to be that Catholick Mother, but a bloody and treacherous Harlot, accordingly as the Holy Ghoſt has inſcribed upon her Forehead, The Mother of Harlots and of the Abominations of the Earth.

13. Thus have we ſeen every Member of Antichriſtianiſm compriſed in our Idea, as they are eaſily found in the Church of Rome, ſo likewiſe moſt lively and expreſly prefigured in the Writings of the Holy Prophets, as appertaining to her, and that there is no Eluding or Evacuating ſo clear and perſpicuous Teſtimonies by any Fetches of Wit whatſoever; her abominable Enormities comprehended under thoſe three main Heads of Impoſture, Idolatry, and Bloodſhed being as determinately and legibly ſet down in theſe Prophecies, as the Tranſaction of things paſt in any Hiſtory. And therefore the Truth can be hid from none, but ſuch as either have not the Leiſure to underſtand the Prophetick Style, or are blinded with Prejudice and Intereſt: Which I believe is ſo powerful with ſome, that it would make them heſitant and ſceptical even in Mathematical Demonſtration. But ſo manifeſt Eviction in ſo concerning a Truth as we have here cleared up, I dare confidently pronounce, will not be enervated or eluded for ever.

14. Sure I am, that main Subterfuge that ſome ſo uſually fortify themſelves in, will fail them, I mean, thoſe Words in the very Beginning of the Apocalyps, ἃ δεῖ γενέσθαι ἐν τάχει. From which they would infer that no Events but ſuch as were to come to paſs within a ſhort time after the Communication of theſe Prophecies are to be applied to them. But this Scruple I have, I think, ſufficiently anſwered in my Myſtery of Godlineſs, by intimating that the Inference is as unreaſonable as if one upon the Report that ſuch a Comedy or Tragedy was to be acted within leſs than this half-quarter of an Hour, ſhould conclude that all the Acts and Scenes thereof would not reach beyond that time: whenas the Senſe is only, that the Comedy or Tragedy will begin to be acted within that time. And therefore Cornelius à Lapide, upon theſe Words [Quæ oportet fieri citò] apertly and judiciouſly gloſſes thus, Hoc eſt, quæ citò incipient fieri, licèt non citò finientur. And Alcazar upon the ſame Words, Quaſi diceret, In hac Revelatione continentur quædam quæ citò oportet fieri, & alia quæ non adeò citò implebuntur. And it is Grotius his own Note upon them, Alia citius, alia ſerius. But foraſmuch as ſome of theſe Series of Viſions which reach even unto the End of all things were ſuddenly to be fulfilled, it is ſaid at large, touching the Subject of them, ἃ δεῖ γενέσθαι ἐν τάχει. As I ſuppoſe one would ſay of an Army that reached a quarter of a Mile in length, that this Army is at the very Gates of the City, whenas only they that march firſt in Rank are there.

Again, Unleſs ἃ δεῖ γενέσθαι ἐν τάχει ſignify, which will be ſhortly a-doing, not finiſhed, it is a perfect Contradiction to the Nature of ſome of the things that are foretold; as the Reign of the Saints, and the Ligation of Satan. For the Continuance of theſe Events is predicted to be a thouſand Years. Wherefore unleſs a thouſand Years be but a ſhort Space of time, the Events foretold contradict the very Title of this Prophetick Volume, were that the Senſe of ἃ δεῖ γενέσθαι ἐν τάχει which is contended for. Whence it is manifeſt that ἃ δεῖ γενέσθαι does not, touching every Event, ſignify, which ſhall be finiſh'd, but which will be a-doing, ἐν τάχει, namely, in as much as the whole Series of things does then begin.

Apoc. 20.

Thirdly, For the Signification of this Phraſe, ἐν τάχει, how ſudden, how ſhort a time muſt it denote? Who will define it? For the Prophet Haggai, when he ſays, Yet a little while and I will ſhake the Heaven and the Earth, &c. his Prediction pitches on a Time about five hundred Years diſtant from the Time of the Prophecy. Whence there is no Neceſſity of ſeeking the Completion of the Seals and Trumpets in the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem. It is therefore to be underſtood comparatively, a little time, as Grotius alſo interprets that of Haggai. In which Senſe I would likewiſe underſtand that ſo often-repeated Saying in the Apocalyps, Ἰδοὺ ἔρχομαι ταχύ, Behold, I come quickly: Which I believe has an eſpecial Eye to the Sixth Seal, which is deſcribed as if it were the laſt Day, or Day of Judgment properly ſo called. But is indeed the Overthrow of the Dragon by Chriſt, and his taking the Roman Empire into his own Hands, upon the Converſion of Conſtantine to the Chriſtian Religion; which was in a good deal leſs Time than five hundred Years, and but a very little Time indeed in compariſon of the great Atchievement which was compaſſed in it.

Apoc. 6. 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17.

Fourthly, The firſt Six Seals, the Fight of Michael and the Dragon, the Inward Court of the Temple; all theſe Viſions, their Events I mean, are finiſhed within a leſs while than what Haggai calls little.

Fifthly, The Outward Court of the Temple, the Whore of Babylon, the Two-horned Beaſt, the Ten-horned Beaſt, the Two Witneſſes, the Virgin-Company, the Woman in the Wilderneſs; the Events alſo of all theſe Viſions are in fieri within leſs than that Time which the Prophet Haggai calls Little. The Trumpets alſo had begun to ſound within that Time. But the Affairs of the Seven Churches might be of a far earlier Accompliſhment, and it may be accompliſhable over and over again, they being flying Prophecies, and not ſo affixed to Time and Place as they ſeem, and as the reſt of the Viſions are. Which Grotius alſo has obſerved. And this I think is ſufficient to make good the Title of the Subject of these Prophecies, ἃ δεῖ γενέσθαι ἐν τάχει. And no more than this is supposed or rather demonstrated in Mr. Mede's Way of Interpreting the Apocalyps.

to

Sixthly, They themselves are fain to interpret some Prophecies of the Events that fell out or are to fall out above twice five hundred Years from the Prediction. As the * loosing of Satan, the Army of Gog and Magog, the Siege of the beloved City, the falling of Fire from Heaven upon the Besiegers, the General Judgment, and the like. Which are the more contradictious to their own Hypothesis, because they make no such Order or Concatenation of Visions as Mr. Mede does. And therefore it will be the harder to make them compliable with ἃ δεῖ γενέσθαι ἐν τάχει. But for the Way that I am for, where one thing so handsomly or necessarily hooks in another, the first Thunder the Seven Vials, the last Trumpet the Seven Thunders, the last Seal the Seven Trumpets, and the first Six of these Trumpets their Synchronals, as the first Six of the Seals theirs; the whole Volume of Visions in a manner is so of one Piece, and one thing follows another so continuedly, that when the first Events begin to appear, the whole Series may well be said to begin or to be a-doing, and if quickly, quickly. So little Repugnancy has Mr. Mede's Way with ἃ δεῖ γενέσθαι ἐν τάχει. *Apoc. 10.

And lastly, Forasmuch as I have so plainly demonstrated that the Apocalyps was not communicated to St. John before Domitian's time, and that therefore this Application of the Seals and Trumpets to the Destruction of Jerusalem is not only harsh (as any one may see in examining them) but also impossible, the Visions being since that Event; and that therefore those Affairs cannot be of the Number of those things ἃ δεῖ γενέσθαι ἐν τάχει, since they were then past, not future; and that this straining of this Phrase is merely for this Exposition's sake, which, if it were seriously stuck to, would make the Apocalyps utterly unintelligible, and consequently unprofitable to the Church, nay, bring an unspeakable Detriment thereto, by depriving us of so illustrious a Pledge of Divine Providence: I think these things put together are of infinitely more Moment to us for to adhere to that ordinary and ancient Interpretation of ἃ δεῖ γενέσθαι ἐν τάχει which I nominated at first, than to this novel one, that has been but newly started merely for the countenancing such Expositions of the Apocalyps as are not only extremely harsh and forced, but utterly impossible. See Chap. 2.

This I hope is even more than enough to remove all Prejudice to Truth, that may lie upon any one's Mind by reason of the mistaken Sense of these Words, and enable him without any farther Hesitancy to acknowledge the unexceptionable Perspicuity of those Expositions of the Apocalyps I have exhibited to his View.

CHAP. XXII.

1. The marvelous Completeness of the Reformation of the Church of England in her Doctrines and Institutes. 2. That she plainly condemns the Invocation of Saints for Idolatry. 3. As also the Adoration of the Sacrament or Host; where our Custom of Kneeling at the Communion is vindicated. 4. Her condemning the Worshipping of Images. 5. Her concluding the manner of the Papists worshipping Saints and Images to be plainly the same with that of Pagans. 6. Her free and just Censure touching the decking of their Images, and making them Lay-mens Books. 7. How perfectly she has freed us from that Ægyptian Yoke we lay under in the time of Popery. 8. The Celebration of Holy Days, the keeping of Lent, and the Use of the Surplice in the Sense of the Church of England, fully vindicated from all Imputation of Superstition or Antichristianism. 9. That the Use of the Surplice is not from any Grounds at all of Policy in the Church, but pure Charity: with a Vindication of the Sign of the Cross in Baptism.

1. HAving thus clearly set out the true Nature or Idea of Antichristianism, as also plainly made good that such an Antichristianism or Antichrist as is delineated in that Idea is that very Antichrist which the Prophecies in the Holy Scriptures do prefigure or foretel, we should now proceed to a more punctual Application of the said Idea and Prophecies to the State of the Church, from such times as it fell into this Antichriſtian Lapſe till this very Day. But that being ſomething a more voluminous Deſign, and leſs grateful to my Diſpoſition, who take far greater Pleaſure in the Vindication of an injured Friend, than in raking into the unſavory Miſcarriages of either a Stranger or profeſſed Enemy, I ſhall ſatisfy my ſelf with that part of Application only which concerns our Reformed Church of England: whereby I do not doubt but to free her from all Imputations or Suſpicions of being guilty of any point of true and real Antichriſtianiſm, in any of her Doctrines or Inſtitutes. Whence it will appear how little ſhe is concerned in this free and faithful Delineation thereof, unleſs it be to give Almighty God moſt humble and hearty Thanks, who did ſo graciouſly aſſiſt thoſe noble Hero's with Reſolution and Judgment for the atchieving of ſo happy and marvelous a Reformation, wherein nothing is left, no Member, nor the leaſt Joint or Article of that odious and hateful Image or Idea of Antichriſt which we have deſcribed, no Frauds or Falſifications of the Goſpel of Chriſt for the Intereſt of a worldly Church, and the feeding of the Prieſthood by a Trade of Lies and Impoſtures, which would have made any ingenuous Man aſhamed to be found of the Order or Profeſſion; whenas now, if no Prophaneneſs lurk in his Soul, he may well deem the Calling an Honour and Ornament to his Perſon. And that this is not a Boaſt, but a real Truth, I ſhall briefly make good by running through all thoſe Limbs of Antichriſtianiſm (whether oppoſing the Privative, or Poſitive Ends of the Goſpel) which I propoſed in my Idea.

2. The Firſt of the firſt kind whereof was Idolatry, in the Invocation of Saints and Angels, in the Worſhipping of the Sacrament or Hoſt, and in the Adoration of Images. Wherein though the univerſal Practice of the Church of England, does ſufficiently clear her from ſuch groſs Imputations, yet I think it not amiſs, for her greater Honour, to bring into Light her avowed and declared Judgment concerning theſe Matters, that all the World may take notice how ſound ſhe is at the Core in theſe weighty Points of Religion.

Touching therefore the Invocation of Saints (with the worſhipping of Images) That ſhe does apertly condemn it, appears in the Book of Articles, where ſhe calls it * a fond thing, vainly invented, and grounded upon no Warrants of Scripture, but that it is rather repugnant and contradictory to the Word of God; ſo far is it from being grounded thereupon. And the ſecond part of the Homily concerning Prayer is wholly ſpent in proving, That we are to addreſs our Prayers to none but to God himſelf: Where there are indeed excellent Arguments to that purpoſe, and where ſhe does plainly declare that Chriſt is our only Mediator and Advocate; as alſo ſhe does in the Liturgy, for the cutting away all Pretence for the praying to Saints, and does ſmartly and at once conclude, That Invocation is a thing proper to God, which if we attribute unto the Saints, it ſoundeth ill and to their Reproach, neither can they well bear it at our Hands, Which is equipollent to the judging of it Idolatry. For what elſe is Idolatry, but the doing that Worſhip to a Creature which is proper to God only? And therefore ſhe compares it with the Pagans offering Sacrifice to Paul at Lyſtra. And how the receiving of Divine Honour muſt redound to the Reproach of whatever Creature receives it, I have abundantly noted elſewhere.

I ſhall only urge one Place more, which is very explicit and of great Weight. The Argument runs thus: Invocation or Prayer may not be made without Faith in him on whom we call, but we muſt firſt believe in him before we can make our Prayer unto him; whereupon we muſt only and ſolely pray unto God. For to ſay we ſhould believe in either Angel or Saint or in any other living Creature, were mere horrible Blaſphemy againſt God. This is a very remarkable Paſſage, and a clear Demonſtration that the Invocation of Saints and Angels is flat Idolatry, and ſo accounted by the Church of England, it ſo plainly implying the Acknowledgment of that Excellency which is proper only to God. Nor can our holy Mother the Church, be thought to deem it leſs Idolatry for calling it Blaſphemy, ſince all Idolatry is ſo, and is ſeveral times called ſo in Scripture, as I have noted in his due place.

3. Now for the Second, The Worſhipping of the Hoſt, which ſuppoſes the Bread tranſubſtantiated, ſhe is moſt declaredly againſt both the Opinion and Practice. As in the Book of Articles; Tranſubſtantiation cannot be proved by Holy Writ, but it is repugnant

*Article 22. But here the Sentence of the Church is ſomewhat the milder, being at once pronounced againſt Purgatory, Reliques, and Indulgencies, as well as the Adoration of Saints and Angels.

Book 1. Ch. 12. Ver. 3. Sect. 4.

Book 1. Ch. 5. Sect. 11.

Article 28.

repugnant to the plain Words of Scripture, overthroweth the Nature of a Sacrament, and hath given occaſion to many Superſtitions. Whence ſhe rightly and demonſtratively concludes that the Sacrament is not to be carried about, lifted up, nor worſhipped. For there is none that can worſhip the Hoſt, upon Preſumption that it is Chriſt to whom Divine Worſhip is due, but he is ipſo facto an Idolater, as I have proved elſewhere more at large. And again in the ſame Book ſhe does expreſly declare, That the Sacrifices of Maſſes, in which it is commonly ſaid that the Prieſt does offer Chriſt for the Quick and the Dead, to have Remiſſion of Pain or Guilt, are blaſphemous Fables and dangerous Deceits. The Truth of which is eaſie to be underſtood out of what we have written in our Idea of Antichriſtianiſm touching Idolatry and the Abuſe of Chriſt's Perſon and Office in this enormous Error. Article 31.

And in the Homily concerning the Sacrament ſhe expreſly taxes the Popiſh Maſſes with Idolatry, imputing it to the Ignorance of the Nature of the Lord's-Supper. What hath been the Cauſe of this groſs Idolatry, but the Ignorance thereof? (meaning of the Lord's Supper). And a little after; Let us therefore ſo travail to underſtand the Lord's-Supper, that we be no Cauſe of the Decay of God's Worſhip, of no Idolatry, of no dumb Maſſing, of no Hate and Malice, &c. To all which you may add what is annexed, in our Liturgy, at the End of the Communion, viz. That the Sacramental Bread and Wine remain ſtill in their very natural Subſtances, and therefore may not be adored, (for that were Idolatry to be abhorred of all faithful Chriſtians:) And the natural Body and Blood of our Saviour Chriſt are in Heaven, and not here; it being againſt the Truth of Chriſt's Natural Body to be at one time in more Places than one. Which Rubrick is interſerted in our Liturgy with unexceptionable Judgment and Fidelity, and does fully reach the End of its Interſertion. For no Man, I think, can be ſo groſly ignorant or ſo openly malicious as to pretend that, after this ſo plain Declaration of our Church, either himſelf or any one elſe can become guilty of Idolatry by that humble Poſture of Kneeling at the Receiving of the Sacrament.

4. And laſtly, touching the Adoration of Images, there can be nothing more ſeriouſly proteſted againſt by any Church than this enormous Wickedneſs is by ours. To omit how ſhe has perſtringed them in the Book of Articles, ſhe does expreſly bind the Worſhippers of them under a Curſe in her Liturgy, in the Form of Commination, Curſed is the Man that maketh any carv'd or molten Image to worſhip it. And in her Homily againſt the Peril of Idolatry, with a paſſionate, but unexceptionable and judicious Zeal, ſhe does copiouſly inveigh againſt the very having of Images in Churches, I mean ſuch as are in any Capacity of being Worſhipped; nay againſt the very making of the Image of God, or any of the Perſons of the Holy Trinity, yea of Chriſt himſelf, foraſmuch as he is truly God, contending that no Image can be made of Chriſt but a lying Image, (as the Scripture peculiarly calls Images Lies;) for Chriſt is God and Man. Seeing therefore for the Godhead, which is the moſt excellent Part, no Image can be made, it is falſly called the Image of Chriſt. Wherefore Images of Chriſt be not only Defects, but alſo Lies. Homily againſt the Peril of Idolatry, Part 3.

Nor does ſhe ſtick here, but urges the Argument, and truly not without Judgment, againſt the Images of Saints, whoſe Souls, the moſt excellent part of them, can (ſaith ſhe) by no Images be repreſented and expreſſed.

But concerning the having ſuch Images in Temples, ſhe doth with an holy Jealouſy peremptorily contend and inculcate that it is plainly againſt the Second Commandment, adding this Reaſon, For they being ſet up, have been, be, and ever will be worſhipped, and thereupon become abominable Idols, nothing different from thoſe of the Heathen; they being made of the ſame Matter with them, and Men having the ſame Conceits of the Saints they are made to, and of their Offices, as the Heathen had of their Deities, they worſhipping them alſo with the ſame Rites and Ceremonies. And to ſhew they have the ſame Opinion of their Saints that the Pagans had of their ſeveral Gods, ſhe compares ſuch Saints as are made Guardians of Kingdoms to their Dii Tutelares, ſuch as Belus was to the Babylonians, Oſiris and Iſis to the Ægyptians, Vulcan to the Lemnians; the Guardian Saints of Cities to their Dii Præſides, ſuch as Apollo was to Delphos, Minerva to Athens, Juno to Carthage, and Quirinus to Rome; and, laſtly, their Templed-Saints to Jupiter in the Capitol, and Diana in the famous Temple of Epheſus.

And touching one and the ſame Saint's having Images in ſeveral places, ſhe parallels our Lady of Walſingham, our Lady of Ipſwich, and our Lady of Wilſdon, to Venus Cypria, Venus Paphia, and Venus Gnidia; to their Sea-Gods, Neptune, Triton, Nereus

Nereus and Venus, St. Chriſtopher, St. Clement, and the Bleſſed Virgin; to Vulcan and Veſta, Gods of the Fire, St. Agatha. And then intimating that, as in ancient Paganiſm the Affairs of Love, of War, of Diſeaſes in Men and Beaſts were aſſigned to ſeveral Deities, ſo to ſeveral Saints in the Popiſh Religion, ſhe at laſt breaks out into this moſt vehement as well as moſt religious Exclamation, Where is God's Providence and due Honour in the mean time? Who ſaith, The Heavens be mine, and the Earth is mine, the whole World and all that in it is. I give Victory, and I put to Flight. Except I keep the City, the Watchman waketh but in vain that keepeth it. Thou, Lord, ſhalt ſave both Man and Beaſt. But we have left him neither Heaven, nor Earth, nor Water, nor Country, nor City, Peace nor War to rule and govern; neither Men, nor Beaſts, nor their Diſeaſes to cure: That a godly Man might juſtly for zealous Indignation, cry out, O Heaven and Earth and Seas, What Madneſs and Wickedneſs againſt God are Men fallen into! What Diſhonour do the Creatures to their Creator and Maker! namely, by ſuppoſing as it were that God either could not or would not aſſiſt in Humane Affairs, or were not at leiſure to do it, and in repoſing a religious Truſt in thoſe Saints they invoke to theſe Purpoſes, which can belong to none other but God himſelf.

5. And as touching the Manner of their Worſhipping theſe Images and Saints; What meaneth it (ſaith ſhe) that they, after the manner of the Gentile Idolaters, burn Incenſe, offer up Gold to Images, hang up Crutches, Chains and Ships, Legs, Arms, and whole Men and Women of Wax before Images, as though by them or Saints (as they ſay) they were delivered from Lameneſs, Sickneſs, Captivity or Shipwrack? Is not this COLERE IMAGINES, to worſhip Images, ſo earneſtly forbidden in God's Word? And a little after, more fully and vehemently, Wherefore when we ſee Men and Women on heaps to go on Pilgrimages to Images, kneel before them, hold up their Hands before them, ſet up Candles, burn Incenſe before them, offer up Gold and Silver unto them, hang up Ships, Crutches, Chains, Men and Women of Wax before them; attributing Health and Safegard, the Gifts of God, to them or the Saints whom they repreſent, as they rather would have it; Who, I ſay, can doubt but that our Image-Maintainers, agreeing in all Idolatrous Opinions, outward Rites and Ceremonies with the Gentile Idolaters, agree alſo with them in committing the moſt abominable Idolatry?

Truly, for my part, I muſt confeſs I do not at all doubt of it; and therefore from ſuch Paſſages as theſe, and ſeveral other of the like Nature ſcattered up and down in this excellent Homily of our Church concerning Idolatry and Images, do think it an eaſie Task to prove ſuch a State of the Church as is here deſcribed to be the very Image of the Beaſt foretold in the Apocalyps, as any Man may diſcern out of my foregoing Diſcourſe. Apoc. 13. 14.

But I will give my ſelf the Trouble of tranſcribing one or two more Paſſages: as that upon that famous Act of the good King Hezekias in breaking a-pieces the Brazen Serpent, (when once abuſed to Idolatry) though ſet up by the ſpecial Commandment of God, and ſo myſterious a Figure of our Saviour himſelf. How think you (ſaith ſhe) would that godly Prince, if he were now living, handle our Idols ſet up againſt God's Commandment * directly, and being Figures of nothing but Folly, and for Fools to gaze on, with fixed Eyes and zealous Affection, till they become as wiſe as the Blocks themſelves they ſtare on, and ſo fall down like dared Larks in that gaze; and being themſelves alive, worſhip a dead Stock and Stone, Gold or Silver, and ſo become Idolaters abominable and curſed before the living God?

* The Church does here plainly declare her Judgment, which ſhe more modeſtly inſinuates Artic. 22. And by the Scripture it ſelf, are Idols called ſometimes τὰ μάταια, ſometimes βδελύγματα.

6. And again, Now concerning exceſſive decking of Images and Idols with Painting, Gilding, Adorning with precious Veſtures, Pearl and Stone; What is it elſe but for the farther Provocation and Enticement to ſpiritual Fornication, to deck ſpiritual Harlots moſt coſtly and wantonly? Which the Idolatrous Church underſtands well enough. For ſhe being indeed not only an Harlot, (as the Scripture calleth her) but alſo a foul, filthy, and withered Harlot, (for ſhe is indeed of ancient Years) and underſtanding her Lack of Nature and true Beauty, and great Loathſomeneſs which of her ſelf ſhe hath, doth, after the Cuſtom of ſuch Harlots, paint herſelf, and deck and tire herſelf with Gold, Pearl, Stone, and all kind of precious Jewels, that ſhe ſhining with the outward Beauty and Glory of them may pleaſe the fooliſh Fancy of fond Lovers, and ſo entice them to ſpiritual Fornication with her. Where it is moſt manifeſt that the Church of England doth (and that with Truth and Judgment) intimate, that that apoſtatized Church of Rome is prefigured in the Type of the Whore of Babylon, accordingly as I have above demonſtrated in this preſent Treatiſe. And anſwerable to this juſt Cenſure is that that which we may read in the following Page: Surely the Prophet Daniel in the eleventh Chapter declareth ſuch ſumptuous Decking of Images with Gold, Silver, and precious Stones, to be a Token of Antichriſt's Kingdom. Wherein undoubtedly Alluſion is made to thoſe Words of the Prophet, ואלה מעזים, And a God whom his Fathers knew not, ſhall he honour with Gold and Silver, and with precious Stones and pleaſant things: which is conſonant to that Senſe we have *above delivered of that Prophecy. Dan. 11. 38. *Ch. 11. Sects 6, 7.

And as touching that ordinary Pretence for Images, that they are the Lay-mens Books; ſhe doth roundly rebuke the Sophiſtry of ſo fond a Plea. But away for ſhame with thoſe coloured Cloaks of Idolatry, of the Books and Scriptures of Images and Pictures to teach Idiots, nay, to make Idiots and ſtark Fools and Beaſts of Chriſtians. Do Men, I pray you, when they have the ſame Books at home with them, run on Pilgrimage to ſeek like Books at Rome, Compoſtella, or Jeruſalem, to be taught by them? Do Men light Candles at Noon-day to their Books? Do they burn Incenſe, offer up Gold and Silver and other Gifts to them? And a little after; Wherefore call them what they liſt, it is moſt evident by their Deeds, that they make of them no other Books nor Scriptures than ſuch as teach moſt filthy and horrible Idolatry, as the Uſers of ſuch Books daily prove by continually practiſing the ſame. O Books and Scriptures! in the which the deviliſh School-maſter Satan hath penned the lewd Leſſons of wicked Idolatry for his daſtardly Diſciples (the οἱ δαιμονοὶ in the Apocalyps) and Scholars, to behold, read and learn, to God's moſt high Diſhonour, and their moſt horrible Damnation!

And at laſt ſhe, winding up towards a Concluſion, determines thus: True Religion then and pleaſing to God ſtandeth not in making, ſetting up, painting, gilding, clothing, and decking of dumb and dead Images, (which be but great Puppets and Babies for old Fools in Dotage and wicked Idolatry to dally and play with) nor in kiſſing of them, capping, kneeling, offering to them, incenſing of them, ſetting up Candles, hanging up Legs, Arms, or whole Bodies of Wax before them, or praying and asking of them or the Saints, things belonging only to God to give. But all theſe things be vain and abominable and moſt damnable before God: all ſuch not only beſtowing their Money and Labour in vain, but with their Pains and Coſt purchaſing to themſelves God's Wrath and utter Indignation, and everlaſting Damnation both of Body and Soul. And a little after; Wherefore God's horrible Wrath and our moſt dreadful Danger cannot be avoided without the Deſtruction and utter aboliſhing of Images and Idols out of the Church and Temple of God: Which to accompliſh, God put in the Minds of all Chriſtian Princes. Amen.

Thus freely, zealouſly and judiciouſly does our Church of England condemn the Roman Religion of groſs Idolatry in all thoſe Points which I have nominated in my Idea; nor has ſhe left or appointed any Uſage or Ceremony that bears any Similitude, or has any Affinity with that hainous Crime. So clear is ſhe from this Firſt Part of Antichriſtianiſm, which is the polluting of the Church of Chriſt with a Pagan-like Idolatry.

7. And now concerning that ſecond Part of Antichriſtianiſm, oppoſite to the Second Privative End of the Goſpel, which was the Removal of that Yoke of Judaical Inſtitutes and Ceremonies, in lieu whereof Antichriſt brings in an Heap and Lurry of Superſtitious Opinions, Rites and Ordinances, which prove a Load more intolerable, not only than the Law of Moſes, but the Tyranny of Ægypt it ſelf; I demand, Has not the Church of England, by the Appointment of the Royal Power of the Nation, freed us from this miſerable Bondage? Whoſe Patience is now ſet on the Tenter-hooks by attending of dumb Shows or mummiſh Maſſes, (as they are rightly called in our Book of Homilies) wherein the Unintelligibleneſs of the Tongue adminiſters no Life nor Devotion to the Hearer? Whoſe Limbs are now tired out with long Superſtitious Pilgrimages, exiled from Wife and Children, to ſalute a dead Statue or Image at Rome, Compoſtella, or Jeruſalem? Whoſe Soul or Body injured by raſh and fooliſh Vows of either Sacerdotal or Monaſtick Cœlibate? Or whoſe Wives or Daughters abuſed by the Hypocritical Profeſſors of the ſame? Whoſe Boſom broke open and rifled by extorted auricular Confeſſions, to the Sport of a prophane or hypocritical Prieſt, and to the clandeſtine Prejudice of the Penitent? Whoſe Mind beſotted or diſtracted by the ſecure Belief or unavoidable Diſſettledneſs in incredible and even impoſſible Opinions? Is any modeſt Matron now diſmay'd with that melancholick Conceit, that ſhe is big with a Child and Devil at once, and that that foul Fiend (whoſe proper Place is Hell) as often as ſhe is pregnant, muſt kennel in her Womb? Is any Man made ſuch a Sot as to creep into a Monk's Coul to ſhelter himſelf from the wrathful Preſence of God; or to kiſs the Tail of an Aſs, to be reconciled to his triumphant Rider? For in ſome place (ſays that Homily) is the Tail of the Aſs which our Lord Jeſus Chriſt ſate on, to be kiſſed and offered unto, for a Relique; breaking out thereupon into this juſt and zealous Exclamation, O wicked, impudent, and moſt ſhameleſs Men, the Deviſers of theſe things! O ſilly, fooliſh, and daſtardly Daws, and more beaſtly than the Aſs whoſe Tail they kiſſed, that believe ſuch things! Where I cannot but again note how fitly theſe Idolatries and Superſtitions are reſolved into a Daſtardlineſs and Cowardlineſs of Mind, and how correſpondently to the Deſcription of thoſe who are excluded the Holy City in the Apocalyps; whoſe firſt Character is Δειλοὶ, fearful, (not in regard of that Fear which ſeizes the Faint-hearted in War, but of thoſe Affrightments that befool Men in Religion) and is as much as Δεισιδαίμονες, Men whoſe Spirits are cow'd and intimidated by the Power of Superſtition.

But to proceed, or rather to break off, for it were both tedious and unneceſſary to repeat all thoſe Particulars I have inſiſted on in the Deſcription of this Limb of Antichriſtianiſm. 'Their crouching to exorcized Croſſes; Their having the Light 'of Reaſon extinct or drown'd in Holy-Water or enchanted Oils; their Eyes dimm'd 'or dazled with the Hiſtrionical Pomp of the masking Veſtments of their Prieſts, 'and their Faith abuſed to the imagining a Wonder-working Virtue in them by 'their being enchanted or conſecrated, as alſo in ſeveral other exorcized Materials; 'The unſeaſonable Trouble of Extreme Unction, and the naſty beſmearing the tender 'Noſe and Ears of the Infant in Baptiſm; The vexatious Colluctations betwixt the 'injured Body and illaqueated Conſcience about abſtaining from Meats; The Numerouſneſs and Superſtition of the Obſervations of Saints-days; The ſtripping the 'Souls of Men of the moſt comfortable Fruits of Chriſt's Suffering, making them 'believe that his Satisfaction reaches not to the ſheltering them from the Puniſh-'ment of Sin, but from the Guilt only; and laſtly, The affrighting them out of 'their Wits by that hideous Figment of an Helliſh Purgatory, and excoriating their 'Bodies by barbarous and Pagan-like Proceſſionary Flagellations: I demand concerning theſe, and whatever elſe looks any thing like either an Antichriſtian Impoſition or Impoſture, (belonging to this ſecond Limb of Antichriſtianiſm) whether the Care and Fidelity, whether the unbiaſſed Judgment and Piety of our Royal and Reverend Reformers, have not quite caſt them out as the Dirt and Dung of Superſtition?

8. I but you will ſay, we do ſtill celebrate Saints-Days, and do ſtill keep Lent; Surplices are ſtill worn, and the Sign of the Croſs in Baptiſm ſtill in uſe. But to theſe I eaſily and briefly anſwer: For the Charge is ſlight and trivial, and cannot reach to the leaſt Touch of Antichriſtianiſm.

For as for the Saints-Days in our Church, they are neither many, whereby the Obſervation of them may become burthenſome, nor are they Idolatrouſly or Superſtitiouſly obſerved; there being no Religious Worſhip done to the Saints, no Temple nor Altar dedicated to them, nor Prayers directed to them, but only an honourable Mention made of their Virtues for our Chriſtian Imitation. In which thing our Church is very explicite, joyning her Authority with that of St. Auſtin, and declaring, That neither Temples nor Churches ought to be builded or made for Martyrs or Saints, but to God alone; and that there ought no Prieſts to be appointed for Martyr or Saint, but to God alone: as you may ſee in the ſecond Part of the Homily againſt Peril of Idolatry. And he that reads what Order ſhe gives for the keeping of theſe Feſtivals, in her Conſtitutions and Canons Eccleſiaſtical, will but betray his Impiety in gain-ſaying ſo Religious a Purpoſe. For her Injunction is that we celebrate the Lord's-Day and other Feſtival Days according to the Rule of the Divine Will, and Inſtitutions of the Church of England, namely, in hearing the Word of God read and taught, in private and publick Prayer, in Acknowledging their Offences to God and Amendment for the ſame, and in reconciling themſelves charitably to their Neighbours where Diſpleaſures have been, in oftentimes receiving the Communion of the Body and Blood of Chriſt, in viſiting the Poor and Sick, uſing all godly and ſober Converſation.

And now concerning Lent; that our Church puts a Snare upon no Man's Conſcience in Difference of Meats, is plain out of what we meet with in that eminent Prelate Biſhop Jewel, Biſhop of Salisbury, in The Defence of his Apology, (a Book appointed for every Church by publick Authority) where he cites that excellent Saying out of Tertullian, Deus Ventre non colitur, nec cibis quos Dominus dicit perire, & in ſeceſſu, naturali lege, purgari. Nam qui per eſcas Dominum colit, propè eſt ut Dominum habeat ventrem ſuum. He whoſe Religion is ſo carnal, is but a Degree above them that make their Belly their God. And in the ſame Page he ſpeaks for himſelf and in plain Engliſh, We weigh not the Choice of Fiſh or Fleſh, but the Burthen of the Mind, and the Snare of the Conſcience. The Church her ſelf alſo doth declare in the Homily of Faſting, That there is no Holineſs at all in Meats, and that it is in it ſelf indifferent whether Lent be kept by eating of Fiſh, or by abſtaining from all manner of Food till Night, and then to eat without any Choice or Difference of Meats; and that keeping of Lent by Abſtinence from Fleſh is grounded merely upon Policy, and thereupon appointed by the Magiſtrate for the increaſing of Victuals, Beeves, and Sheep, for the greater Plenty and better Proviſion for the Poor; alſo for the more conveniently furniſhing out our Navies, and for the enriching the Sea-coaſt Towns by Fiſhing, and making them more populous, and better provided for to repulſe the Enemy at any Invaſion. Which is a very honeſt and ſolid Account for our celebrating Lent by Abſtinence from Fleſh-Meats and feeding on Fiſh, and devoid of all Popery and Superſtition.

 in

And Thirdly, Touching the Pompous, Hiſtrionical Veſtments of Prieſts, no Man can condemn them more heartily or deride them more wittily than our Church hath done in the third Part of that never-ſufficiently-commended Homily againſt the Peril of Idolatry: where, having noted how Lactantius compared the Idols of the Heathen to the little Puppets that little Girls uſed to play with, and that the ſaid Idols were but great Puppets for old Fools to play with; Our Churches (ſaith ſhe) ſtand full of ſuch great Puppets wondrouſly decked and adorned, Garlands and Coronets be ſet on their Heads, precious Pearls hung about their Necks, their Fingers ſhine with Rings ſet with precious Stones, their dead and ſtiff Bodies are clothed with Garments ſtiff with Gold. You would believe that the Images of Men-Saints were ſome Princes of Perſia-land with their proud Apparel; and the Idols of our Women-Saints were nice well-trimmed Harlots tempting their Paramours to Wantonneſs. Whereby the Saints of God are not honoured, but moſt diſhonoured, and their Godlineſs, Soberneſs, Chaſtity, Contempt of Riches, and of the Vanity of the World, defaced and brought in doubt by ſuch monſtrous decking moſt differing from their godly and ſober Lives. And then comes in what concerns the Prieſt; And becauſe the whole Pageant muſt throughly be play'd, it is not enough thus to deck Idols, but at the laſt come in the Prieſts themſelves likewiſe decked with Gold and Pearl, (that they may be meet Servants for ſuch Lords and Ladies, and fit Worſhippers of ſuch Gods and Goddeſſes,) and with ſolemn Pace they paſs forth before theſe golden Puppets, and fall down to the Ground on their Marrow-bones before theſe honourable Idols; and then riſing up again, offer up Odours and Incenſe unto them, to give the People an Example of double Idolatry, by worſhipping not only the Idol, but the Gold alſo and Riches wherewith it is garniſhed. What can be more expreſly againſt theſe Hiſtrionical Ornaments than this?

I but you will ſay, What is this to the Surplice? Truly, it is a thing of ſo little Moment, that I had almoſt forgot it. Why? What Antichriſtianiſm do you eſpy in that, provided it be white and clean? Is not the very Wife of the Lamb in the Apocalyps ſaid to be * arayed in fine Linen clean and white? And do you think that the Prophetick Style would adorn the Spouſe of Chriſt with ſuch an Habit as in the Letter were a ſpecial Badge of Antichriſt? Wherefore it is evident that there is neither Superſtition nor Antichriſtianiſm ſimply in wearing a White Garment, tho' there be no Garment but may be ſuperſtitiouſly uſed, and as ſuperſtitiouſly rejected. To conſecrate, exorcize, or enchant Veſtments for the Prieſts to wear, as is practiſed in the Apoſtatized Church, were indeed a palpable Piece of Superſtition; or to place any Holineſs in them: But this is a thing openly proteſted againſt in our Church, who plainly declares in her Conſtitutions Eccleſiaſtical concerning preſcribed Apparel, That her Meaning is not to attribute any Holineſs or ſpecial Worthineſs to the ſaid Garments, but that they are enjoyned only for Decency, Gravity, and Order.

* Chap. 19.

Canon 74.

9. And truly for to ſuſpect this kind of Ornament in our Engliſh Clergy to ſerve for either gratifying their Pride, or for an Out-ſide Recommendation of them to the People, that they may the more ſecurely want thoſe more requiſite and eſſential Ornaments of the Mind, is a very weak and groundleſs Surmize. For how can they be thought to pride themſelves in ſuch a Garment, or fancy themſelves recommendable to the People by ſuch an Ornament as they generally imagin foul and ſoiled by having been ſo many Ages worn by that Woman of Apoſtaſies? Wherefore look as narrowly as you will, you cannot eſpy thoſe Antichriſtian Sins of Pride and Hypocriſie lurking in any the cloſeſt Fold of this ſnowy Veſtment. Which did it not look ſo bright as to the blinding of your Eyes, you might inſtead of Antichriſtianiſm diſcover the choiceſt Chriſtian Graces wrapt up in the Uſe of it, I mean thoſe of Charity and Humility.

For undoubtedly our Heroical Reformers did not, as is the Uſe of ſome, act out of Peeviſhneſs and Spight, and pleaſe their own Humour and Impetuoſity of Spirit; but as being Part of the chaſte Spouſe of Chriſt, the true Apoſtolick Church, the Mother of us all, deals as a Mother with all thoſe that profeſs themſelves in any Senſe Children of Chriſt's Church, and therefore would not have them divided more than needs. Whence it is that, out of a Spirit of Charity and tender Kindneſs, ſhe has in ſome things in themſelves indifferent, humbly condeſcended to ſymbolize with that lapſed Lady of Rome, to bring off her abuſed Paramours to the pure Worſhip of God. Which Condeſcenſion of hers, and prudent and humble Accomodating her ſelf to the Capacity of others, as is well known, took good Effect for ſome Space of Years, and the Catholicks as they love to ſtyle themſelves, joyned in Publick Prayers and Service with us; till that Woman ſitting on the Seven Hills (who at every Turn diſcovers her ſelf not to be the Mother, but the Harlot that makes nothing of having the Child divided) forcibly rent off the Engliſh Roman Catholicks from ſo reaſonable and Chriſtian a Communion. And yet for all this does not our Church ceaſe to uſe this charitable Courtſhip and ſweet Condeſcenſion toward them ſtill, to win them off to ſuch a Worſhip as is every way as graceful as their own, but without the Poiſon of either Superſtition or Idolatry.

Which while I conſider how long it has been, without the leaſt Effect upon the Catholicks of this Nation, I muſt needs think him either dull-ſighted or unjuſt that will not acknowledge alſo a third Chriſtian Virtue in our Mother the Church of England, ſuperadded to the former, I mean an impregnable and invincible Patience; ſhe having not all this time fallen either into that Complaint in the Prophet, All Day long have I ſtretched forth my Hands unto a diſobedient and gain-ſaying People; or into that Reſolution of the Apoſtles, wearied out by the Refractarineſs of the Jews, Seeing you judge your ſelves unworthy of everlaſting Life, lo, we turn unto the Gentiles.

Rom. 10. 1.

Act. 13, 46.

Laſtly, as touching the Sign of the Croſs in Baptiſm, there is much-what the ſame Reaſon as of this laſt, ſaving that the Uſe thereof was more early in the Church, whence it becomes more venerable for its Antiquity, and is therefore retained upon that Account, as alſo for the Significancy of the Ceremony: but without the leaſt Reproach to the Sacrament it ſelf, it being acknowledged perfect and compleat without it. I will alſo add that it is now as ſeaſonable as ever, the Paſſion of our Saviour being ſo much undervalued and trode under Foot by a new Generation of Men that Paganize in their Hearts, though they cant in the Language of Chriſtians. But we need not be over-ſolicitous in this Point, there being ſo ample Satisfaction offered to the ſcrupulous in the Book of Eccleſiaſtical Conſtitutions. And therefore we will now proceed to thoſe Parts of Antichriſtianiſm that oppoſe the Poſitive Ends of the Goſpel. Wherein there is ſo little Difficulty, that it will be no hard Task to diſpatch with like Brevity as in theſe former.

Canon 30.

CHAP.

CHAP. XXIII.

1. The diametrical Oppoſition of our Church to that Part of Antichriſtianiſm which would ſubvert the Regal and prophetick Offices of Chriſt. 2. As alſo to that which ſtrikes at his Sacerdotal Office. 3. That ſhe holds nothing againſt thoſe other ſacred Titles of Chriſt, the Truth, Life, Light, &c. 4. A demonſtrative Vindication of Epiſcopacy from the Imputation of Antichriſtianiſm, out of the Apocalyps. 5. What an Eſtabliſhment that Book is, if rightly underſtood, to the Crown and Church of England. 6. That no Papal nor Presbyterian Power is of Right above the King, no not in Cauſes Eccleſiaſtical. 7. The Judgment of our Church thereupon. 8. The peculiar Glory of our Church that ſhe is ſo perfectly free from all Frauds and Impoſtures. 9. Her Freeneſs from Pride. 10. From Antichriſtian Impurity. 11. And from Cruelty. 12. Her Reformation an eminent Speciminal Completion of the Prophecy of the Reſurrection of the Two Witneſſes. 13. The Uſefulneſs of this Vindication of her for the Suppreſſing of Popery and Schiſm.

1. I Demand therefore concerning thoſe three known Offices of Chriſt, Regal, Sacerdotal, and Prophetical, Is not our Church very faithful and ſincere in this Point, and not at all guilty of ſuch Oppoſings and Underminings of them as I have ſpecified in my Idea of Antichriſtianiſm? Does our Church pretend to be Infallible her ſelf, or ſo much as connive or conſent to the pretended Infallibility of others? Nay, Has ſhe not plainly declared, That general Councils (foraſmuch as they be an Aſſembly of Men whereof all be not governed with the Spirit and Word of God) may erre, and ſometimes have erred, even in things pertaining to God: and that therefore things ordained by them as neceſſary to Salvation have neither Strength nor Authority, unleſs it be declared that they be taken out of the Holy Scripture? And in the foregoing Article ſhe does affirm, That it is not lawful for the Church to ordain any thing that is contrary to God's Word written, and that ſhe may not ſo expound one place of Scripture that it be repugnant to another; and finally concludes, That although the Church be a Witneſs and a Keeper of Holy Writ, yet as ſhe ought not to decree any thing againſt the ſame, ſo beſides the ſame ought ſhe not to enforce any thing to be believed for Neceſſity of Salvation. To which Effect ſhe alſo ſpeaks in another Article touching the Sufficiency of Holy Scriptures. Holy Scripture (ſaith ſhe) containeth all things neceſſary to Salvation; ſo that whatſoever is not read therein, nor may be proved thereby, is not to be required of any Man that it ſhould be believed as an Article of Faith, or be thought requiſite or neceſſary to Salvation.

Article 21.

Article 20.

Article 6.

And again to the ſame Purpoſe doth ſhe ſpeak in that excellent Exhortation to the Reading and Knowledge of Holy Scripture: where with all Earneſtneſs ſhe invites every one to the diligent Peruſing thereof, declaring, That in Holy Scripture is fully contained what we ought to do, and what to eſchew, what to believe, and what to love, and what to look for at God's Hands at the length; and tells us the beſt way for underſtanding of them, in a Paragraph worthy to be written in Letters of Gold, toward the End of the firſt Part of the Homily. And in Reading of God's Word (ſaith ſhe) he profiteth not moſt always that is moſt ready in turning of the Book, or in ſaying of it without-book, but he that is moſt turned into it, that is, moſt inſpired with the Holy Ghoſt, moſt in his Heart and Life altered and changed into that thing which he readeth; he that is daily leſs and leſs proud, leſs wrathful, leſs covetous, and leſs deſirous of worldly and vain Pleaſures; he that daily (forſaking his old vicious Life) increaſeth in Virtue more and more.

And in the Second Part of the ſaid Homily, ſhe heartens her Sons againſt thoſe Diſcouragements and Stumbling-blocks, which that falſe and treacherous Church caſts in their Way, of pretended inſuperable Difficulty and Obſcurity of the Scriptures; exhorting them to pray to God for Aſſiſtance in reading the Holy Scripture; aſſuring them that if they be ſedulous and ſerious, what they are at a loſs in, God will either ſend ſome pious and knowing Perſon (as he did Philip to the Eunuch reading the Prophets) to inſtruct them, or that Himſelf from Above will give Light into our Minds, and teach us thoſe things that be neceſſary for us, and wherein we be ignorant: farther adding out of St. Chryſoſtom, That humane and worldly Wiſdom or Science is not ſo needful for the Underſtanding of Scripture, but the Revelation of the Holy Ghoſt, who inſpireth the true Meaning into them who with Humility and Diligence do ſearch therefore.

And laſtly, ſhe concludes, That none be Enemies to the reading of God's Word, but ſuch as either be ſo ignorant, that they know not how wholeſome a thing it is; or elſe be ſo ſick, that they hate the moſt comfortable Medicine that ſhould heal them; or ſo ungodly, that they would wiſh the People ſtill to continue in Blindneſs and Ignorance of God. How diametrically oppoſite this Genius of our Church is to that Antichriſtian Spirit I have deſcribed in his Oppoſings and Undermings of the Regal and Prophetical Offices of Chriſt, is obvious for any Man to diſcern who liſteth but to compare them.

2. And now for his Sacerdotal Office, which is injured and affronted in multiplying Mediators, in pretending to offer up the very Body of Chriſt in the Maſs, and in derogating from the Virtue of that Sacrifice himſelf made for the Sins of the World, as if it reached not to the Puniſhment, but to the Guilt only, and that every Man muſt ſatisfie for himſelf in impoſed Mulcts and Penances, either here or in Purgatory. As for the Firſt, we have already proved it to be contrary to the Doctrine of our Church. And that one Article, part whereof I have cited already Article 31. againſt Tranſubſtantiation, will aſſure us of her Rejection of the two latter. The offering of Chriſt once made (ſaith ſhe) is that perfect Redemption, Propitiation and Satisfaction for all the Sins of the whole World, both Original and Actual; and there is no other Satisfaction for Sin but that alone. And then it follows, Wherefore the Sacrifices of Maſſes, in the which it was commonly ſaid that the Prieſt did offer up Chriſt
Article 11. for the Quick and the Dead, to have Remiſſion of Pain or Guilt, were blaſphemous Fables and dangerous Deceits. See alſo the Article of the Juſtification of Man, and the Homily, of Salvation and good Works. But this is ſo notorious a Doctrine in our Church, that I need not inſiſt any further upon the Proof of her avowing of it.

3. As for the Oppoſitions againſt the other Titles of Chriſt ſpecified in the ſixth Chapter of the ſecond Book of my Idea of Antichriſtianiſm, it is manifeſt that our Church is not concerned therein. For we traffick not in Legendary Lies and falſe Miracles, againſt the Sacred Title of Truth; nor deſire to keep the People ignorant of the Scriptures, and to hold them in Darkneſs, againſt the Sacred Title of Light; nor treſpaſs againſt the Sacred Title of Life, by making our Religion conſiſt of Dumb-Shows and Heaps of dead Rites and Ceremonies; nor derogate from the Divinity of Chriſt, by giving Religious Worſhip to Saints and Angels; nor offend againſt his Paternity, by making his Children a Company of Stocks and Stones, and by taking away the Judgment of Diſcretion from them, and forcing them to believe as the Church believes, right or wrong, with Scripture or againſt it; and are ſo far from injuring the Life of any Child of God by any captious and wicked Sanction, that we profeſs nothing requiſite to Salvation but what is plain in Scripture, as appears from what has been already produced out of the Articles of the Church. Which alone will alſo vindicate her from any Imputation of the following Points of Antichriſtianiſm againſt the Peace of Chriſt's Kingdom. And for Abſolving Princes from their Oaths, What Church, unleſs that of Rome, ever pretended to ſo blaſphemous a Power?

4. The next Antichriſtian Oppoſition, and which occurrs in the next Chapter, is that againſt the Divine Life in general. Such as Idolatry, and all manner of Superſtition, dumb-Shows, ſpeaking in an unknown Tongue, ſubſtituting ſilly Penances inſtead of real Repentance and Amendment of Life; all which our Church is ſo plainly and profeſſedly againſt in her Articles and Homilies every-where, and ſo acknowledgedly, that I will not give my ſelf the Trouble of Citation. Some not ſo well minded may peradventure be over-inclinable to imagin the Epiſcopal Office and Revenues to have a greater Propinquity with that Hypotheſis at the end of this Chapter, than any indifferent Man can poſſibly judge. For he muſt be very ignorant of the Conſtitution of Chriſtendom that does not plainly diſcern that in that Hypotheſis it is the Papal Hierarchy that is perſtringed and adumbrated: Which is done again more fully and particularly in the ninth and tenth Chapters. For, for my own Part, though I do not know the accurate Values of the ſeveral Biſhopricks of this Nation, yet conſidering the Largeneſs of their Dioceſes, and the great Burthen as well of Care as Expenſiveneſs in conſcientiouſly executing the Function, truly I cannot imagin them ſo great but that the Weight of the Office will weigh down every-where the Value of the Revenue, and we read in the Goſpel that *Luke 10. * the Work-man is worthy of his Hire. And concerning the Office and Dignity it

ſelf,

leſſ, it cannot ſink into my Mind, that that Order of the Church which was inſtituted and in Practice in thoſe Ages thereof which were Symmetral, can with any Face or Conſcience be judged Antichriſtian. And that the Church was Symmetral for about Four Hundred Years after Chriſt, is a demonſtrable Conſectary from my Joint-Expoſition, and that Joint-Expoſition ſo convincingly evident, that no Interpretation of any Scripture can be more.

5. Whence I cannot but wonder that any true Son of the Church of England ſhould be ſo ſhie of the Apocalyps, or ſo fearful of it, that they durſt not touch it without a pair of Mittens of Grotius his making, for fear it ſhould bite them, that is to ſay, unleſs it be unfolded, or rather folded up, in Grotius his fond and groundleſs Explications. For there is not any Book in the World that makes more for the Eſtabliſhment of the Crown and Church of England than this Holy Book of the Apocalyps, if rightly and ſolidly underſtood. A thing which that wiſe and ſagacious Prince, King James of Bleſſed Memory, had diſcovered betimes, and accordingly made uſe of it againſt the Uſurpations of the Church of Rome. And truly I find nothing in the Apocalyps, though the Style ſeems Myſterious and Ænigmatical, but what is very rational, and look upon it as the moſt Faithful and Philoſophical Writing that ever was penned. A Taſte whereof we have in that Catalogue of the evil Characters of them that are excluded the Holy City; wherein bloody and inhumane Zeal, as alſo vain and impoſturous Superſtition, is ſo plainly perſtringed. The former in φονεῖς, Murtherers; the latter in φαρμακοὶ, δειλοὶ, and πᾶς ὁ ποιῶν καὶ φιλῶν ψεῦδος, in Sorcerers, Exorciſts, or Enchanters, and lying Legendiſts; and in δειλοὶ fearful intimidated Spirits, that are ſuperſtitiouſly inclined to ſubmit to the Deluſions and Lies of ſuch ſhameleſs Deceivers. Theſe doth our faithful Redeemer of Souls, who deals bonâ fide with Mankind, to reſcue their abuſed Minds from the Tyranny and Burthen of Superſtition, note with a Mark of Infamy and Condemnation. So faſt a Friend is the Lord Jeſus to Humanity, to Equity, to Truth and Reaſon.

6. And not to inſiſt upon thoſe Paſſages of the Apocalyptick Viſions that imply it, (which are more than one or two either) there is the greateſt Equity and Reaſon in the World that every Chriſtian Prince ſhould next under Chriſt, be Supreme Head over all that Part of his Church over which he is King or Sovereign, over Clergy as well as Laity, in Cauſes Eccleſiaſtical as well as Civil; and that not any Papal or Presbyterian Power ſhould be above him, as our Engliſh Epiſcopacy does moſt juſtly and profeſſedly ſubmit unto him. For why ſhould any Clergy-men expect of a Prince who has received like precious Faith with themſelves, to fall in his Power by becoming a Chriſtian? Which is as unjuſt, as it were ridiculous to fancy that every proper Man ſhould be bound to remit ſo much of his natural Stature as would make him go lower than the Prieſt that baptized him. For Chriſtianity does not take away Nature nor Power, but rightly employs it.

Could any of the Pagan Emperours, think you, have been brought over to the Chriſtian Faith, if the Biſhop of Rome would have laid Claim to the Headſhip of the Empire ſo far as it became the Church of Chriſt? Or would they not have ſuſpected the Preaching the Kingdom of Heaven a Trick of the Prieſts, to make themſelves Lords of the Earth? No certainly, a Prince once become Chriſtian, that is, a Believer and Profeſſor of the Apoſtolick Faith compriſed in the Word of God and thoſe plain and generally-confeſſed Points of our Religion, is a Perſon ſo Sacred, that nothing can mount above him for Headſhip in his own Dominions. For the anointing of the Spirit whereby we believe to Salvation is infinitely more holy than any external Sacerdotal Oil whatſoever. Why may not then ſo ſacred a Fountain be the Head and the Origine of Life and Motion, in managing the Affairs of the Church? Or whether is Chriſt greater as he is Prieſt or King of Saints? Or who had the Pre-eminence in the Polity of the Jews, the Kings or High-Prieſts of Iſrael? And was not that Polity a Type or Figure of the Church of Chriſt?

The Plain Law of Chriſt is indeed immutable, and it ought certainly to be ſo; no Man upon Earth may diſpenſe with one Tittle thereof. But for authorizing Interpretations, Opinions, and the Rites and Ceremonies of Religious Worſhip, either this is in a Chriſtian Prince's Power, and not in the Prieſt's, or elſe his Kingdom and ſafe Adminiſtration thereof is not in his Power. For all theſe things, according to the eternal Law of Nature and of Reaſon, are to be in the Hand of him that is Supreme Governour, and it is a Contradiction to his Supremacy if it be not ſo. For he that holds the Reins of the Souls of Men rules their whole Perſons; and the ſtrongeſt Reins are thoſe of Religion. And therefore if any Power diſtinct from the Kingly, pretend to the Right of Ordering the Affairs of Religion farther than with his Allowance and Liking, that Power is really the King, and the King himſelf a precarious Power, to be blown about and blown out of his Throne by the falſe Breath of theſe Pretenders to the Headſhip of the Church, as often and as violently as they pleaſe.

and

Wherefore as the plain and confeſſed Law of Chriſt is immutable; ſo what is Doubtful and merely Ritual is to have its Interpretation, Change or Continuance at the Judgment and Diſcretion of every Chriſtian Prince, who has moſt juſtly and neceſſarily the Power of accommodating ſuch things to the Peace, Compoſure, and Proſperity of his Kingdom. Nor have the Eccleſiaſtick Powers any Right in an immutable and eſſential Manner to affix to the Chriſtian Religion any thing that is not expreſly and declaredly compriſed therein according to the Divine Authority of the Scriptures. For it is an high Wrong to that Religion which is to be Everlaſting and Univerſal, to be bound and fettered with either Rites or Opinions that are but Temporary or Topical; or that the Errors and Miſtakes of dark Antiquity ſhould become as a Law of the Medes and Perſians to more ſerious and clear-ſighted Poſterity; or what was fetched up upon ſome tranſitory Emergency, that all the Importunities and Neceſſities of After-affairs of the Church, or any Parts thereof, ſhould not be able to conjure it down again, for the making the Goſpel more freely to run and be glorified.

7. And therefore moſt apertly and judiciouſly has our Church declared in her Homily of Faſting, That God's Church ought not, neither may it be tyed to any Order now made or hereafter to be made and deviſed by the Authority of Man, but that it may lawfully for juſt Cauſes alter, change, or mitigate thoſe Eccleſiaſtical Decrees and Orders, yea recede wholly from them and break them, when they tend either to Superſtition or to Impiety, when they draw the People from God rather than work any Edification in them. And in the Book of Articles ſhe again plainly aſſerts, That it is not neceſſary that Traditions and Ceremonies be in all Places one or utterly alike; for at all times they have been diverſe, and may be changed according to the Diverſity of Countries, Times, and Mens Manners, ſo that nothing be ordain'd againſt God's Word. And laſtly in the Cloſe of that Article, Every Particular or National Church hath Authority to ordain, change, and aboliſh Ceremonies or Rites of the Church ordained only by Man's Authority, ſo that all things be done to Edifying. Which Affairs of ſo diſpenſable and changeable a Nature, if they could be ordered by a Power diſtinct from and independent of the Supreme Power of any Chriſtian Nation, and affecting and reliſhing a private Intereſt of their own, What wild Commotions and Confuſions might they cauſe in a Chriſtian State, while they gore and ſpur up the Aſs to go that Way where he ſees the Angel of the Lord with a drawn Sword to drive him back?

Art. 34.

Wherefore it is moſt ſafe and juſt that in all preter-Eſſentials to Chriſtian Religion, the Supreme Magiſtrate in every Chriſtian Nation have the Allowing or Diſapproving of them; and that no Rites or Opinions paſs into Decrees, but by his Authority; that the Prieſthood may not be able (as they ought to be ſo faithful to their Prince as not to be willing) to teach or decree any thing againſt his Intereſt whoſe Subjects they are, or againſt the Safety, Peace, and Proſperity of the whole State of which they are but Part, and therefore ought to have no Power to do any thing independently of the Prince, who is the Common Father of his whole Cauntry, and whoſe Intereſt is the Good and Welfare of all: Who therefore muſt needs be the Head of the Church over all Cauſes and Perſons as well Eccleſiaſtical as Civil, (as our Church does plainly acknowledge,) that vital Influence may indifferently flow from him into all the Members of his Dominions.

But this is a Point that might have been more ſeaſonably deferr'd till we came to the Antichriſtian Oppoſition to the firſt Branch of the Divine Life, which is Humility, and which the ſuperlative Pride of the Papal Supremacy does ſo apparently affront. But that there is not the leaſt Smut of Antichriſtianiſm in Epiſcopacy it ſelf, I have already abundantly evinced.

8. Now concerning thoſe Oppoſitions that be made againſt Faith, the Root of the Divine Life, our Church is ſo plainly free from them (as any one may perceive that pleaſes but to recount them) that it is enough merely to intimate ſo much. Onely I cannot let go this ſeaſonable Opportunity of Triumphing in her behalf, in that ſhe is ſo throughly reformed from that notorious, though ſubtile and ſlim,

Piece of Antichriſtianiſm, I mean that Self-ended Policy in thoſe Doctrines and Practices which are ſo many in the Church of Rome and ſo profitable, and yet our Heaven-directed Reformation has perfectly refined us and cleanſed us from them all. The Conſideration whereof muſt needs make our Mother the Church of England look very lovely and amiable to every ingenuous and diſcerning Eye, who cannot but bleſs God for that due Judgment and Faithfulneſs which he put into our Royal and Reverend Reformers; and muſt be a great Satisfaction to every honeſt Prieſt or Miniſter of our Church, that he neither feeds himſelf nor the People with Lies, after the manner of the Roman Prieſthood, nor puts one Morſel of Bread into his Mouth filched from the Laity by Fraud and Impoſture, and that as he labours in the Goſpel, ſo he lives by the Goſpel, and not by Figments and cunningly deviſed Fables.

9. Thoſe Oppoſitions alſo againſt that Divine Grace of Humility, which are ſpecified in the ninth, tenth and eleventh Chapters, that our Church is cleared from them, it is more apparent to any one that conſiders them than that I need give my ſelf the Trouble of particularly making it out. The Pope's Supremacy is not only declared againſt but ſworn againſt, as is very juſt and right. And though there be peculiar Habits for Clergymen, yet, as I have noted above, our Church does profeſſedly declare there is no Holineſs in any ſuch things, but that they are for Decency and Diſtinction. And Diſtinction betwixt Laity and Clergy is as ancient as Chriſtianity it ſelf, and runs through not only Part but all thoſe Symmetral Ages of the Church. So manifeſt is it that there is not left in the Frame of our Engliſh Church any thing of its own Nature antichriſtianly oppoſing that Heavenly and Chriſtian Grace of Humility. But if we come to take a more narrow View of Perſons, Who can help it but that a Lay-man may be proud as well as a Clergy-man, and a Presbyter as ſoon as a Biſhop? So that all would be Antichriſtian upon this Score.

10. And it is as evident that there are none of thoſe Oppoſitions againſt that celeſtial Grace of Purity (noted in the twelfth Chapter) to be found in our Church. And not ſo only, but I think we may without Vanity (provided it be done with humble Thankfulneſs to Almighty God, who inſpired our Heroical Reformers with ſuch exquiſite Prudence and Judgment) glory in that excellent and fit Conſtitution of things in our Univerſities: Where none are tied up to the Vows of Cœlibate, nor confined to ſeparate and ſolitary Cells, to be ſhewn diſguiſed in ſome uncouth Habit, with circumciſed Crowns and moaped or bloated Looks, as they are wont to ſhew ſtrange Animals through their ſeveral Grates at the Tower; but live under more free and manly Laws and ingenuous Exerciſes, without either the Laſh or Hypocriſie of Superſtition, and are appointed to ſpend their Time in ſuch things as may adorn their Souls with real Knowledge and Virtue: where alſo there is an honeſt and frugal Proviſion made for them that liſt to lay their Bodies as well as their Minds in the Duſt of an Academy. Which, if either Nature or ſome Diviner Power has fitted them for it, they may do with Honour; and if they be weary of a ſingle Life, they may leave the Univerſity when they will, without the leaſt Reproach. Which ingenuous and Chriſtian Freedom, in my Judgment, is infinitely to be preferred before the Superſtitious Slavery and Hypocriſie of the Roman Monaſteries, where People are caged up and impriſoned like ſo many Captives of the King of Babylon, or ſo many Bond-men or Bond-women of that Myſtical Pharoah, to work out I know not what imaginary Stuff to fill the Churche's Treaſury of Merits, which are vended for ready Money to encreaſe the Revenue and to ſupport the Pomp of this magnificent Tyrant of Ægypt.

11. Laſtly, Concerning thoſe moſt Antichriſtian Oppoſitions againſt that tranſcendent Grace of Charity; Our Engliſh Church is ſo far from oppoſing it, that ſhe is a moſt eminent Example of it, condemning the Doctrines and Practices of that worſt of Churches no more than needs muſt, and courting the adverſe Party to her Communion by all lawful Accommodations and Compliances in her publick Service, if by any Means ſhe may gain ſome of them over to the Truth. Whereas, on the other Side, that imperious Woman on the Seven-Hills ſits like a Queen, to whom every one muſt bow, but ſhe neither bend nor condeſcend to any thing, but ſtands as ſtiff as a Marpeſian Rock for the maintaining her own Humour and worldly Intereſt, though never ſo point-blank againſt the eternal Laws of God and right Reaſon.

Then for that bloody and butcherly Decree of Killing of Hereticks, namely, ſuch as hold againſt the Tenents of that Church, though thoſe Tenents of this Church be and the ſtrongeſt Reins are thoſe of Religion. And therefore if any Power diſtinct from the Kingly, pretend to the Right of Ordering the Affairs of Religion farther than with his Allowance and Liking, that Power is really the King, and the King himſelf a precarious Power, to be blown about and blown out of his Throne by the falſe Breath of theſe Pretenders to the Headſhip of the Church, as often and as violently as they pleaſe.

Wherefore as the plain and confeſſed Law of Chriſt is immutable; ſo what is Doubtful and merely Ritual is to have its Interpretation, Change or Continuance at the Judgment and Diſcretion of every Chriſtian Prince, who has moſt juſtly and neceſſarily the Power of accommodating ſuch things to the Peace, Compoſure, and Proſperity of his Kingdom. Nor have the Eccleſiaſtick Powers any Right in an immutable and eſſential Manner to affix to the Chriſtian Religion any thing that is not expreſly and declaredly compriſed therein according to the Divine Authority of the Scriptures. For it is an high Wrong to that Religion which is to be Everlaſting and Univerſal, to be bound and fettered with either Rites or Opinions that are but Temporary or Topical; or that the Errors and Miſtakes of dark Antiquity ſhould become as a Law of the Medes and Perſians to more ſerious and clear-ſighted Poſterity; or what was fetched up upon ſome tranſitory Emergency, that all the Importunities and Neceſſities of After-affairs of the Church, or any Parts thereof, ſhould not be able to conjure it down again, for the making the Goſpel more freely to run and be glorified.

7. And therefore moſt apertly and judiciouſly has our Church declared in her Homily of Faſting, That God's Church ought not, neither may it be tyed to any Order now made or hereafter to be made and deviſed by the Authority of Man, but that it may lawfully for juſt Cauſes alter, change, or mitigate thoſe Eccleſiaſtical Decrees and Orders, yea recede wholly from them and break them, when they tend either to Superſtition or to Impiety, when they draw the People from God rather than work any Edification in them. And in the Book of Articles ſhe again plainly aſſerts, That it is not neceſſary that Traditions and Ceremonies be in all Places one or utterly alike; for at all times they have been diverſe, and may be changed according to the Diverſity of Countries, Times, and Mens Manners, ſo that nothing be ordain'd againſt God's Word. And laſtly in the Cloſe of that Article, Every Particular or National Church hath Authority to ordain, change, and aboliſh Ceremonies or Rites of the Church ordained only by Man's Authority, ſo that all things be done to Edifying. Which Affairs of ſo diſpenſable and changeable a Nature, if they could be ordered by a Power diſtinct from and independent of the Supreme Power of any Chriſtian Nation, and affecting and reliſhing a private Intereſt of their own, What wild Commotions and Confuſions might they cauſe in a Chriſtian State, while they gore and ſpur up the Aſs to go that Way where he ſees the Angel of the Lord with a drawn Sword to drive him back?

Art. 34.

Wherefore it is moſt ſafe and juſt that in all preter-Eſſentials to Chriſtian Religion, the Supreme Magiſtrate in every Chriſtian Nation have the Allowing or Diſapproving of them; and that no Rites or Opinions paſs into Decrees, but by his Authority; that the Prieſthood may not be able (as they ought to be ſo faithful to their Prince as not to be willing) to teach or decree any thing againſt his Intereſt whoſe Subjects they are, or againſt the Safety, Peace, and Proſperity of the whole State of which they are but Part, and therefore ought to have no Power to do any thing independently of the Prince, who is the Common Father of his whole Cauntry, and whoſe Intereſt is the Good and Welfare of all: Who therefore muſt needs be the Head of the Church over all Cauſes and Perſons as well Eccleſiaſtical as Civil, (as our Church does plainly acknowledge,) that vital Influence may indifferently flow from him into all the Members of his Dominions.

But this is a Point that might have been more ſeaſonably deferr'd till we came to the Antichriſtian Oppoſition to the firſt Branch of the Divine Life, which is Humility, and which the ſuperlative Pride of the Papal Supremacy does ſo apparently affront. But that there is not the leaſt Smut of Antichriſtianiſm in Epiſcopacy it ſelf, I have already abundantly evinced.

8. Now concerning thoſe Oppoſitions that be made againſt Faith, the Root of the Divine Life, our Church is ſo plainly free from them (as any one may perceive that pleaſes but to recount them) that it is enough merely to intimate ſo much. Onely I cannot let go this ſeaſonable Opportunity of Triumphing in her behalf, in that ſhe is ſo throughly reformed from that notorious, though ſubtile and ſlim,

Piece of Antichriſtianiſm, I mean that Self-ended Policy in thoſe Doctrines and Practices which are ſo many in the Church of Rome and ſo profitable, and yet our Heaven-directed Reformation has perfectly refined us and cleanſed us from them all. The Conſideration whereof muſt needs make our Mother the Church of England look very lovely and amiable to every ingenuous and diſcerning Eye, who cannot but bleſs God for that due Judgment and Faithfulneſs which he put into our Royal and Reverend Reformers; and muſt be a great Satisfaction to every honeſt Prieſt or Miniſter of our Church, that he neither feeds himſelf nor the People with Lies, after the manner of the Roman Prieſthood, nor puts one Morſel of Bread into his Mouth filched from the Laity by Fraud and Impoſture, and that as he labours in the Goſpel, ſo he lives by the Goſpel, and not by Figments and cunningly deviſed Fables.

9. Thoſe Oppoſitions alſo againſt that Divine Grace of Humility, which are ſpecified in the ninth, tenth and eleventh Chapters, that our Church is cleared from them, it is more apparent to any one that conſiders them than that I need give my ſelf the Trouble of particularly making it out. The Pope's Supremacy is not only declared againſt but ſworn againſt, as is very juſt and right. And though there be peculiar Habits for Clergymen, yet, as I have noted above, our Church does profeſſedly declare there is no Holineſs in any ſuch things, but that they are for Decency and Diſtinction. And Diſtinction betwixt Laity and Clergy is as ancient as Chriſtianity it ſelf, and runs through not only Part but all thoſe Symmetral Ages of the Church. So manifeſt is it that there is not left in the Frame of our Engliſh Church any thing of its own Nature antichriſtianly oppoſing that Heavenly and Chriſtian Grace of Humility. But if we come to take a more narrow View of Perſons, Who can help it but that a Lay-man may be proud as well as a Clergy-man, and a Presbyter as ſoon as a Biſhop? So that all would be Antichriſtian upon this Score.

10. And it is as evident that there are none of thoſe Oppoſitions againſt that celeſtial Grace of Purity (noted in the twelfth Chapter) to be found in our Church. And not ſo only, but I think we may without Vanity (provided it be done with humble Thankfulneſs to Almighty God, who inſpired our Heroical Reformers with ſuch exquiſite Prudence and Judgment) glory in that excellent and fit Conſtitution of things in our Univerſities: Where none are tied up to the Vows of Cœlibate, nor confined to ſeparate and ſolitary Cells, to be ſhewn diſguiſed in ſome uncouth Habit, with circumciſed Crowns and moaped or bloated Looks, as they are wont to ſhew ſtrange Animals through their ſeveral Grates at the Tower; but live under more free and manly Laws and ingenuous Exerciſes, without either the Laſh or Hypocriſie of Superſtition, and are appointed to ſpend their Time in ſuch things as may adorn their Souls with real Knowledge and Virtue: where alſo there is an honeſt and frugal Proviſion made for them that liſt to lay their Bodies as well as their Minds in the Duſt of an Academy. Which, if either Nature or ſome Diviner Power has fitted them for it, they may do with Honour; and if they be weary of a ſingle Life, they may leave the Univerſity when they will, without the leaſt Reproach. Which ingenuous and Chriſtian Freedom, in my Judgment, is infinitely to be preferred before the Superſtitious Slavery and Hypocriſie of the Roman Monaſteries, where People are caged up and impriſoned like ſo many Captives of the King of Babylon, or ſo many Bond-men or Bond-women of that Myſtical Pharoah, to work out I know not what imaginary Stuff to fill the Churche's Treaſury of Merits, which are vended for ready Money to encreaſe the Revenue and to ſupport the Pomp of this magnificent Tyrant of Ægypt.

11. Laſtly, Concerning thoſe moſt Antichriſtian Oppoſitions againſt that tranſcendent Grace of Charity; Our Engliſh Church is ſo far from oppoſing it, that ſhe is a moſt eminent Example of it, condemning the Doctrines and Practices of that worſt of Churches no more than needs muſt, and courting the adverſe Party to her Communion by all lawful Accommodations and Compliances in her publick Service, if by any Means ſhe may gain ſome of them over to the Truth. Whereas, on the other Side, that imperious Woman on the Seven-Hills ſits like a Queen, to whom every one muſt bow, but ſhe neither bend nor condeſcend to any thing, but ſtands as ſtiff as a Marpeſian Rock for the maintaining her own Humour and worldly Intereſt, though never ſo point-blank againſt the eternal Laws of God and right Reaſon.

Then for that bloody and butcherly Decree of Killing of Hereticks, namely, ſuch as hold againſt the Tenents of that Church, though thoſe Tenents of this Church be plainly repugnant to expreſs Scripture; How contrary to this Antichriſtian and Diabolical Spirit is the Doctrine of our Church of England, who, as I have above noted, has declared, That no Church has Authority to decree any thing againſt Holy Writ, nor to enforce any thing to be believed for Neceſſity of Salvation beſides it, as you may ſee in the Book of Articles.

Article 20.

Nor can they juſtly frame any Excuſe for their abominable Cruelty from the Sanguinary Laws of this Realm againſt Prieſts and Jeſuites. For what a vaſt difference is there, when the one ſuffer as Traitors to their Liege Sovereign, the other (whom they call Hereticks) becauſe they will not be Traitors and Rebels to God and the Lord Jeſus Chriſt? for every Idolater is ſo. And no Man can ſubmit to the Church of Rome but he muſt ipſo facto ſubmit to Idolatry.

12. Verily while I conſider what an honeſt and faithful Spirit breaths in the Book of Homilies and other Writings of our Church, and how exquiſitely and perfectly we are ſet free from all that Impoſture and Wickedneſs that can properly be ſtyled Antichriſtian, by the wiſe Management and ſolid and ſound Judgment of our renowned Reformers, and how that Men of this Integrity of Mind and Soundneſs in the Faith were then advanced into Power as well in Church as in State by the Sovereign Authority; I cannot withhold from declaring that I do not at all doubt but that the Reformation of our Engliſh Church into ſuch a Condition as I have briefly repreſented, was one eminent Speciminal Completion of the Prophecy of the Riſing of the Two Witneſſes, and of that Voice from Heaven (that is to ſay, of the Sovereign Power) ſaying unto them, Come up hither. For every Tittle of the Prophecy is exactly applicable to the Event, as any one may find that will try. Beſides that ſo notable a Providence as the Proteſtant Reformation is no where propheſied of, if not in that Viſion. For the Vials are none of them within the Sixth Trumpet, as the Viſion of the Witneſſes is, but all within the Seventh, as I have above plainly enough proved: nor they expreſſive of the firſt Reformation in the chief Circumſtances thereof, nor any Viſion elſe ſave this of the Reſurrection of the Witneſſes.

Nor know I any thing that ſhould make a Man heſitate in this Matter, unleſs it be that the Witneſſes are ſaid to be raiſed up after three Days and an half, that is to ſay, three Times and an half, whenas our Reformation fell within theſe Times, namely, in the laſt Half of a Time. But no Obſervation can be more trivial than this; That the Deſignation of Time divided into Parts, unleſs ſome Intimation determinate it to one Senſe, may ſignify either ſuch a Space of Time fully finiſhed, or elſe expiring in the laſt Diviſion thereof. As if one ſhould ſay, Poſt triduum mortis reſurrexit Chriſtus, no Man can underſtand that of Chriſt's being dead three entire Days. And ſo, Aliquot poſt menſes, may as well be rendred Within ſome Months after, as After ſome Months. And the Seventy do expreſly tranſlate that in Geneſis, כמשלש חרשים, ὡσ τελμινον, whenas the genuin Senſe is, within three Months, cùm tertius menſis ageretur, as the Marginal Expoſition has it in Vatablus. Whence it is evident that ὡσ does not imply the Time fully run out, but that the laſt Part thereof muſt be then current. And ſo it is in this Prophecy, our Reformation happening in the laſt Half-Time or Half-Day. So eaſily is this Scruple removed: And therefore the Application ſo fit to the Event, that I doubt not but this Viſion was a Prediction of it. Which therefore ſhould make our Reformation the more Sacred, and awe Men off from either violently tearing it in Pieces, or more hiddenly and obliquely corrupting it by foiſting in any old out-caſt Ware diſallowed and rejected by our Pious and Judicious Reformers.

Ch. 38. 24.

13. But this is a Mantiſſa caſt in over and above the Bargain. I had before finiſhed my Task, which was briefly to prove (and, if I miſtake not my ſelf, I have done it clearly and convincingly) That the Heaven-inſpired Prudence and Judgment of the Royal, Heroical and Reverend Reformers of our Church of England have purged her and cleanſed her from what-ever Doctrine or profeſſed Practice may rightly and properly be deemed Antichriſtian, and that ſhe holds nor injoyns any thing that is contrary to the truly Catholick and Apoſtolick Faith. Which juſt and ſeaſonable Vindication of her joyntly conſidered with our free and faithful Deſcription of the true Nature and Idea of Antichriſtianiſm, ſuch as we have demonſtrated to be predicted in the Prophecies of Holy Scripture, will not fail, I hope, to prove for ever a Sovereign Remedy or ſafe Preſervative of her againſt thoſe two hateful and deſtructive Diſeaſes of the Church of Chriſt, Popery and Schiſm. Which good Effect of our Labours God of his infinite Mercy grant, for the only Merits of the Lord Jeſus. Amen.

FINIS.

A

PROPHETICAL EXPOSITION

OF THE

SEVEN EPISTLES

Sent to the

SEVEN CHURCHES

IN ASIA,

FROM HIM

That Is, and Was, and is to Come.

By H. MORE. D.D.

Cantic. Chap. 16. v. 10.

Who is ſhe that looketh forth as the Morning, fair as the Moon, clear as the Sun, and terrible as an Army with Banners?

Ezek. Chap. 43. v. 10.

Thou Son of Man, ſhew the Houſe to the Houſe of Iſrael, that they may be aſhamed of their Iniquities, and let them meaſure the Pattern.

LONDON,

Printed by Joſeph Downing in Bartholomew-Cloſe near Weſt-Smithfield, 1706.

PROPHETICAL

EXPOSITION

OF THE

SEVEN CHURCHES

SCATTERED

THROUGHOUT ASIA.

LONDON:

Printed by Joseph Downing, in Bartholomew-Close near West-Smithfield. 1706.

A PROPHETICAL EXPOSITION OF THE SEVEN EPISTLES Sent to the SEVEN CHURCHES IN ASIA

CHAP. I.

A Preparation toward the Myſtical or Prophetical Interpretation of the Seven Epiſtles ſent to the Seven Churches of Aſia.

1. WE ſhall firſt premiſe, That as thoſe two following Prophecies of the Seven Seals, and of the opened Book, reach from the Beginning to the End of the Church; ſo this of the Seven Churches reaches alſo from the Beginning of the Church to the End of the World. Which ſeems verily congruous both from the Nature of the Viſion it ſelf, and from the following Example of the Prophecies of the Seven Seals and the opened Book.

We ſhall premiſe in the ſecond place, That as it is conſpicuous that Four of the Names of theſe Seven Churches are directly ſignificant of ſome State and Condition they are in, viz. Smyrna, Pergamus, Philadelphia and Laodicea; ſo it is exceeding credible that the other three Names may allude to ſomething that may ſet our their Nature and Condition alſo, viz. Epheſus, Thyatira, and Sardis; as we ſhall take more expreſs Notice in the Proceſs of our Expoſition.

Laſtly, which might as well (if not better) have been noted at firſt, This more myſtical Senſe, which we are now a-rendring of the Seven Churches, doth not at all claſh with the Literal Senſe of the ſame, nor exclude that uſeful Applicability of them for the Reproof or Praiſe of any Churches particular in any Time or Age of the Chriſtian World, that are for the like things obnoxious or commendable. But the diſtinct Providence of God, and his Watchfulneſs and Foreſight of the Affairs of his Church, may haply be more illuſtrated and diſplay'd by this Myſtical way of Expoſition than either by the Literal or Moral.

2. We will therefore diſtinguiſh the whole Duration of the Church of Chriſt, (eſpecially ſo far forth as it is within the Limits of the Roman Empire, which alſo the other Prophecies in the Apocalyps ſeem chiefly to regard) into Seven Intervals, and will ſuppoſe the firſt Interval to end where the ſecond begins, viz. in the tenth Year of Nero, or Anno Chriſti 63.

3. Which Period therefore of the Ephesine Church ending so early, even about thirty Years before St. John's writing the Apocalyps, agrees excellently well with that Passage Ch. 1. v. 18, 19. where, after Christ's declaring himself the first and the last; (as before in the same Chapter he is called, He that was, and is and is to come) and his mentioning his own Death and Resurrection, and how that he will be alive to the End of the World to carry on the Affairs of his Church; he presently infers, Write therefore what things thou hast seen, what things are, and what things shall be hereafter, (which he expressly and immediately calls the Mystery of the seven Stars and the seven golden Candlesticks, ver. 20. which is worth the noting.) That is write what things thou hast seen already, in the Times of thy Life past, namely, the State of the Ephesine Church: and what things are now present, viz. the Smyrnian State of the Church in which thou art, and tastest of the Bitterness of it in this thy Exile here in Patmos (for the ten Persecutions were then already begun, and John was in the Second of them:) and what things shall be hereafter, namely, to the End of the World, in the Residue of the Period of the Smyrnian Church, and in the Periods of the Remainder of the Seven Churches succeeding. And questionless the Vision of the Rider of the * white Horse respects what was then past, namely, Christ's first Warfare upon his Conquest of Death, and his being mounted into his glorify'd Body; who after from on High sent down Succours to his Apostles and Disciples, and assisted and managed that illustrious Battel in the Beginning of the Apostolick Times so successfully and gloriously, that infinite Numbers of Men were brought under the Obedience of the Gospel, even within the Space of the Ephesine Period.

* Apoc. 6. 2.

4. So that there can be no Scruple of the Church of Ephesus representing a State of the Church past, but only that it seems improper to direct an Epistle to a Church then out of Being. But this can be no Argument with them that hold the seven Churches to be seven successive Conditions of the Church to the World's End. For make the Exitus of the Ephesine Church reach beyond St. John's Time, suppose to Anno Christi 100, or thereabout; the rest of the Epistles will be writ to Churches not yet in being, and some many hundreds, nay thousands of Years ere they shall be: which yet they must not count absurd.

5. The briefest Account therefore of this Matter is this; That the Spirit of God seems to drive on two main Designs in the Vision of these seven Churches at once. The one, most effectually to animate and encourage the Church to do well, to stick to Truth and Holiness through all the Tryals and Calamities of this present Life; as also to deter them from all kind of Sin and Wickedness of what Nature soever, whether Apostasie from the Faith, Idolatry, Sensuality, or whatever Remisness in Manners: For which Design this Epistolar Way is exceeding accommodate, it bearing the Form of personally speaking to People, and so the more forcibly makes them take notice, in a manner whether they will or no, of what is said unto them. The other Design, and that so laid as not to forego the former Advantage, is to instruct the Church in the Providence of God and his Foresight, and to shew how all things lie bare before his Eyes in such Order and Succession as they are in time to come to pass.

In the Literal Sense of these Epistles to the seven Churches, that former Design is plainly pursued and attained, understanding them directed to these seven Churches in Asia then in Being; and in a very great Measure in the Moral Sense. These Epistles, I say, being so applicable to any Part of the Catholick Church in any Age thereof, placed in the same or like Circumstances of Condition with these Asiatick Churches, this Epistolar Way will have a considerable Efficacy and Influence upon them, for either Animation or Reproof.

6. But now the great Question is, Why the Prophetical Design discoverable in the Mystical Interpretation should have been couched in this Epistolar Way, especially the Epistle to Ephesus, being writ after the Ephesine Period was expired. To which I answer, that this Prophetical Design and this Mystical Sense was not intended for the Ephesine Church, but for future Ages; and therefore, it is taken in only to make up the Entireness of the Church in its several distinct States from the Beginning to the End of all. But this Epistolar Way is still retained in this Mystical Sense, for the same Usefulness it had in the Literal to the seven Churches in Asia then in Being. For so soon as any of these Letters by this Mystical Sense is understood to be directed to any successive part of the Church, as now, for example, (as will appear anon) the Epistle to the Church of Sardis is directed to the Protestant Church or Reformed Christendom, this particular Succession of the Church

Church ought to be as much concerned therein, as that particular Church of Sardis was in Asia minor.

And this Intention of the Holy Ghost being once understood, it will be of the like Usefulness to the Philadelphian Church especially, and also to the Laodicean.

Wherefore the Objections would be but very small and weak, considering the Usefulness of this Epistolar Way, though there were no other Sense of these seven Epistles and the seven Churches but the Mystical. For as in an entire Vision, where the Beginning is touching something past or present, all goes under the Title of Prophetical, though that Part which respects Things past is but Historical Representation; so in this entire Epistolar Vision, though the first Part be Epistolar, yet it is but Historical Representation, exhibiting Times and Persons past (as if they were present to be writ to) and that, for Uniformity's sake, in the Form of an Epistle; as what is past in History is sometimes represented under the Form of Prophetical Vision, as is done in the Rider of the White-Horse, which is the first in the Vision of the Seals, though 'tis the Representation of what was partly past, and partly present. But what is to come is the proper Object of all Vision Prophetical.

But now besides all this, in the Literal Sense there being then a Church in Ephesus when that Epistle was wrote to it, and in a Moral Sense it being applicable to any Church that does Ephesize in any Part of Christendom and at any Time; the Objection, in my Judgment has melted into less than nothing. And therefore, notwithstanding this Exception, we will not stick to place the End of the Interval of the Ephesine Succession in the Tenth of Nero's Reign, and in the Year of Christ 63.

Till then let the Church of Christ be represented under the Title of Ephesus; from that time, till about three hundred and odd Years after Christ, under the Name of Smyrna: from thence, to the latter End of the Persecution of the Albigenses and Waldenses, let her be the Church dwelling in Pergamus: from that time till whole Nations fell off from the Pope, let the same Church bear the Name of Thyatira: but from that time Protestantism became the Religion of Nations, till the last Vial, let this Church bear the Title of the Church in Sardis: and then from that time till the fourth Thunder, let it wear the Name of Philadelphia: and finally* from the fourth Thunder till Christ come visibly to Judgment in the Clouds, let the Church bear the Name of Laodicea. These are the seven Intervals, which how well they will fit with the Titles of these distinct successive States of the Church and the Things spoken of them in the Vision, I will anon endeavour to unfold.

* See Divine Dialogues, Dialogue 5. Sect. 38.

CHAP. II.

A farther Preparation out of the first Chapter of the Apocalyps, whereby this Prophetical Meaning of the Vision of the Seven Churches is more clearly assured.

1. BUT in the mean time, for the greater Assurance of this Prophetical or Mystical Sense, we will first make some farther Remarks upon the first Chapter of the Apocalyps. Where we will make only this one and that a modest enough Supposition; That the Spirit of God sets down nothing immethodically nor in vain, or at least nothing vainly immethodical. Wherefore upon the very first Verse, which bears the Title of the whole Book; The Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave unto him, to shew unto his Servants things which must shortly come to pass, that is, things to come to pass; some shortly, and other some in Succession of Time, as all Interpreters agree; I cannot but note this, That if the Spirit of God do but, as they say, respicere Titulum, (as most certainly he will) he will set down no entire Visions, as this of the Seven Churches is, but they must in the main be of Things to come to pass, not of Things present merely, and not hid, but obvious to the Eyes of Men, as the State of the Churches here mentioned was to the World at that time. And therefore something farther must be meant by them than can be contained in the Literal Sense; which is not of Things to come, as the Title requires, but only of things present, or some Promises or Threatnings that do not properly amount to the Nature of Prophetical Prediction, no more than the Law of Moses is to be reputed a Prophecy because of the Promises and Threatnings thereto annexed. Apoc. 1. 1.

2. Blessed

2. Blessed is he that readeth, and they that hear the Words of this Prophecy, for the time is at hand. This again plainly shews that this Book is all of it, I mean all the entire Visions thereof, a Book of Prophecies; which, as I intimated before, mere Promises and Threatnings cannot make it no more than they do those Laws of Moses to which they are adjoyned. And though the several States of the Seven Churches may be applicable to several States of particular Churches of After-Ages in Christendom, yet it cannot properly be in this Literal Sense by way of Prediction, but only by way of Example of Virtue or Vice, and of pious or impious Actions, which repeatedly happen in all History. Whence if there be no more in it than thus, these Epistles to the Seven Churches cannot be deemed any Prophecy, and therefore are heterogeneous to the Scope and Title of this Book.

Verse 4. 3. But upon the so expressly calling this a Book of Prophecies for John to salute the Seven Churches in Asia with this Salutation, Grace be unto you, and Peace, from him which is, and which was, and which is to come; methinks it does even forcibly drive a Man to conceive that the Vision of the Seven Churches which he so immediately falls upon, is a Prophecy, according to the Title immediately mentioned in the foregoing Verse. Besides that the Description of the Party in whose Name he salutes them, which is, and which was, and which is to come, does very naturally insinuate that he is treating of what reaches from the Beginning of the Church to the latest Ages thereof. Which he insists more upon in the seventh Verse, (after he has spoken Verse 7. of the Person of Christ) Behold he cometh with the Clouds, (this reaches the last Period of Laodicea, when God will judge all People,) and every Eye shall see him, and they also which pierced him; and all Kindreds of the Earth shall wail because of him, (for the Earth shall then be burnt up with the Works thereof:) even so, Amen. This will certainly come to pass about the seventh Thunder, (in that dark hollow Dungeon, where there shall be Weeping and Wailing and Gnashing of Teeth,) let the Sons of Infidelity or Unbelief conceit what they will to the contrary. Wherefore the Mind and Scope of the Spirit of Prophecy seems here to be carried even to the utmost Ages of the World.

Verse 8. 4. According as he declares in the next Verse, I am Alpha and Omega, the Beginning and the Ending, saith the Lord, which is, and which was, and which is to come, the Almighty. That Wisdom and Power that reaches from one End to another mightily and sweetly orders all things. This methinks strongly insinuates that the Vision of the Seven Churches (as well as the Vision of the Seven Seals and of the opened Book) reaches from the Beginning of the Church to the End of all Things. Which Consideration is so often repeated to us, that certainly it must not stand for nought, but is to give infallible Aim at a higher Meaning of the Seven Churches than we are at first aware of. For the Summary of the Vision, before he descends to the particular Churches, begins and ends with this, v. 11. and 18. I am the First and the Last, and have the Keys of Hell and of Death. Which undoubtedly respects the Execution of the final Sentence under the seventh Trumpet.

Verse 10. 5. But there is first this Notable to be observed in the Tenth Verse: I was in the Spirit on the Lord's-Day, and heard behind me a great Voice as of a Trumpet. This pompous Entrance with the Sound of the Trumpet into this Vision of the Seven Churches, and the glorious Appearance of the Son of Man walking in the midst of the seven golden Candlesticks with seven Stars in his Right-hand, comes up so near to that splendid Preamble to the Vision of the Seven Seals, that any sagacious Man cannot but suspect that both the Visions be of like Extent and Importance, and not of such private Concern as merely to respect those Seven Churches in Asia. For at the Beginning of both these Visions there is the glorious Appearance of Christ in the midst of the Church: in the first, standing or walking in the midst of the Seven golden Candlesticks; in the latter, sitting in the midst of the four Beasts and four and twenty Elders: and both these Preambles to the future Visions ushered in with the Sound of the Trumpet. Wherefore the Pomp being equal, the Concern of each Vision in all likelihood is equal. Nor can it be pretended that the Pomp before the Vision of the seven Churches was designed as a fair Frontispice to the whole Book of Prophecies, because at least as splendid a Frontispice is again erected before the Vision of the Seven Seals. Wherefore it plainly appears that the former was entirely intended for the Visions of the Seven Churches, and therefore portends some mighty concerning Mystery conceal'd therein, and such as the present Affairs of those seven particular Churches in Asia could not reach much less exhaust. But we proceed.

6. Saying, I am Alpha and Omega, the firſt and the laſt: and what thou ſeeſt write in a Book, and ſend it unto the ſeven Churches which be in Aſia. Here again, immediately before his ſending of the Epiſtles to the ſeven Churches of Aſia, he diſplays thoſe Titles of himſelf that leaſt of all ſuit with the ſmall Continuance of thoſe particular Churches, But the holy Catholick Church endures from the Beginning to the End of all. Upon which therefore I cannot doubt but the Spirit of Prophecy had his Eye at this time, and in the Myſtery underſtood by the ſeven Churches in Aſia the holy Catholick Church divided into ſeven ſucceſſive Intervals, according to the Opinion of Petrus Galatinus. For indeed in all reaſon, (if there was not ſome grand Myſtery underneath,) Why ſhould only ſeven Churches in Aſia be writ to, when there were others, many others, either there, or at leaſt in other Parts of the Empire, in all likelihood as notorious for either the Faults, the Virtues, or the Sufferings that are noted in theſe? Verſe 11.

7. You'll ſay haply, that Aſia minor was the Special Dioceſs as it were of St. John. But they that anſwer thus forget that John was merely paſſive in theſe Viſions, and wrote no otherwiſe than he was moved by the Holy Ghoſt, which is no Reſpecter of Perſons. Beſides that there were certainly other Churches in Aſia beſides theſe Seven. Why therefore juſt Seven? And why theſe above others? But that Seven ſignifies Univerſality, is obvious in the Prophetick Style. Therefore to the ſeven Churches in Aſia is as much as to all the Churches in Aſia. But it's much that all the Churches in Aſia minor ſhould be thus carefully ſaluted by the Holy Ghoſt, and the reſt of the Churches in the Chriſtian World be taken no Notice of: As if it were according to the common Proverb, that Kiſſing goes by Favour; whenas yet it is expreſly ſaid in the Scripture, that God is no Reſpecter of Perſons, as I intimated before.

8. But you will farther urge, that we cannot poſſibly make out any more from hence than that all the Churches in Aſia are to be here underſtood, unleſs Aſia were turned into an Appellative. Which Conſideration will put a Bar to all Attempts for any Myſtical Interpretation, ſo that we muſt neceſſarily reſt in the Literal Senſe. But Hugo Grotius, who interpreteth all the Churches alſo Myſtically from the Reaſon of their Names, yet takes no Notice of any Alluſive Signification in the Word Aſia. So that in this learned Man's Judgment that ſequel is not ſo firm.

But beſides, though I do not love to play with Words more than needs muſt, I think it not hard to find out an Alluſive Signification appoſite enough in the Name of Aſia to the Myſtical Senſe intended. For both אשיה and עשיה (the former ſignifying Fundamentum, the latter Actio or Effectio) as to their paronomaſtical Sound are as near Aſia as the niceſt critical Ear can require in theſe Caſes. And for the Senſe of them both, it is extreamly accommodate to the preſent Purpoſe. For then will this Superſcription, To the ſeven Churches in Aſia, either ſignifie, To all the Churches in the Foundation, that is, that keep to the Apoſtolick Foundation in matter of Doctrine and Profeſſion; or elſe, To all the Churches in Action, that is to ſay, theſe Epiſtles are writ to them with an intended Cenſure of their Actions. And it is ſaid expreſly by the Logician touching the Topick of Effects and Actions, Hujus loci ſunt Laudes & Vituperationes: upon which all theſe Epiſtles altogether run. And, I know thy Works, begins every Epiſtle. Beſides that they are directed to none but ſuch as profeſs the Fundamentals of the Chriſtian Faith, and therewith mix nothing that is repugnant thereunto; as will appear in our Interpretation of them. Nor is it ſtrange that St. John, though writing in Greek, ſhould (himſelf being a Jew) make an Alluſion to Hebrew Words; nor is it verily without Example. For the Son of Sirach does plainly in that Paſſage in the Greek Text, Σοφία γὰρ κατὰ τὸ ὄνομα αὐτῆς ἐστιν, allude to the Hebrew Word צפה to hide, as if σοφία were as much as צופיה. Pet. Ram. lib. 1. c. 9. Eccleſ. 6. 22.

9. Theſe verbal Alluſions are ſo frequent in the Prophetick Style, that there is no need farther to take notice thereof: nor any Doubt, I think, but the Spirit of God would not in this Book of Prophecies, where all things are ſo comprehenſive and majeſtick, ſalute only ſeven particular Churches of all the Churches in the World, and that with ſuch pompous Circumſtances; nor when he had begun ſo magnificently a Book of Prophecies, and ſo expreſly intitled it ſo, that he would immediately afterwards, as if he had forgot what he was about, bring in a large Viſion conſiſting of ſeven Parts, wherein there is nothing at all Prophetical but only the Reproof or Praiſes, the Comminations or Promiſes to a few particular Churches. This is not according to the ſteddy Order and Method of Divine Wiſdom, eſpecially in this Book, than which there never was nor ever will be any thing more accurately written.

Verſe 16. 10. And he had in his Right-hand ſeven Stars. Methinks it is extremely harſh to conceit that theſe ſeven Stars are merely the ſeven Biſhops of any particular Churches of Aſia, as if the reſt were not ſupported nor guided by the Hand of Chriſt, or as if there were but Seven in his Right-hand, but all the reſt in his Left. Such high Repreſentations cannot be appropriated to any ſeven particular Churches whatſoever. But Seven muſt ſignifie All in both Coexiſtence and in Succeſſion to the End of the World. Which is a Senſe worthy ſo ſublime a Book as this of the Apocalyps, and correſpondent to the Meaning of the reſt of the Septenaries that occur in this Book of Prophecy, they ſignifying an entire Succeſſion of ſome ſeven Things or other, which they are brought in to repreſent.

Verſe 20. 11. The ſeven Stars are the Angels of the ſeven Churches, and the ſeven Candleſticks which thou ſaweſt are the ſeven Churches. Though according to the Literal Senſe theſe ſeven Churches and the ſeven Angels are eaſily applicable to thoſe particular ſeven Churches of Aſia above ſpecify'd; yet I cannot but conceive, that he not calling them here the ſeven Churches of Aſia, but ſeven Churches in general, it is an Invitation to the ſearching out ſome more large Prophetical Senſe, ſuch as we drive at; as alſo, in that he ſays the Angels of the ſeven Churches at large, and not of Aſia, nor names the Churches by Name; but eſpecially in that he calls them Angels, inſtead of Biſhops or Paſtours. For he continuing ſo in the Prophetical Style proper to this Book, that aſcribes all to the Miniſtry of Angels, it is a Sign that the Letters to the ſeven Angels of the Churches have alſo a Prophetical Senſe as well as a Literal, or rather that that is the Senſe that is moſt chiefly of all intended.

12. All theſe Intimations put together out of this firſt Chapter toward the Aſſurance of a Prophetical Meaning of the ſeven Churches of Aſia have Force with me, that though I could not my ſelf produce ſuch a continued Myſtical or Prophetical Senſe which would be all along eaſie and natural, yet I could not but vehemently ſuſpect that there is ſome ſuch Senſe, though it were not in my Power to reach it. But if I have through the Divine Aſſiſtance light on ſuch a Senſe as is both continually coherent, important, and according to the Analogy of the Prophetical Style, I hope this Preparation will even extort the Belief thereof from the Reader. But ſuch as it is I ſhall now preſent it to his View.

CHAP. III.

The Interpretation of the Epiſtle to the Epheſine Church.

1. IT was intimated out of the laſt Verſe of the foregoing Chapter, that the Omiſſion of the appropriating the ſeven Churches to Aſia by Name, was a fair Invitation to us to ſuſpect a more large and releaſed Senſe of this Viſion of the ſeven Churches. And indeed this Releaſement is more free in the Greek Copy than in our Engliſh Tranſlation and others of that Nature. For the Original runs thus; Καὶ αἱ ἑπτὰ λυίνχαι ἃς εἶδες ἑπτὰ ἐκκλησίαι εἰσὶν, And the ſeven Candleſticks which thou ſaweſt are ſeven Churches: not the ſeven Churches which in the Literal Senſe one might be prone to imagin to be none other than thoſe ſituate in Aſia minor; but this Diviſion of the Churches into Seven in the Myſtical Senſe is rather diſtributio ex adjunctis than è ſubjectis, the whole Catholick Church in its Succeſſion from the Beginning to the End being caſt into ſeven Intervals, according to ſeven notorious Qualifications or Conditions thereof. For ſo we ſay, the Primitive Church, the Apoſtatized Church, the Reformed Church, &c. denoting not their Place, but rather their Time and Quality; which the Genius of the Prophetick Style, if it were to expreſs them, would exhibit as ſo many Churches diſtinctly ſituate.

2. But beſides this, it is farther to be noted, that the Omiſſion of the appropriating theſe ſeven Churches to Aſia does alſo fairly quit the Myſtical Interpreter of giving any Account of the Signification of that Name, it being omitted in the Interpretation of the ſeven golden Candleſticks. Which I thought worth the noting, that all Pretence of Cavil might be taken from them that may haply prove leſs ſatisfy'd with our giving an Account of that Greek Name from an Hebrew Alluſion, though their Cavil to the more Judicious I hope will ſeem altogether groundleſs.

though

3. Nor, laſtly, does the returning of the Spirit of Prophecy to the Seven Churches by name, in theſe Epiſtles written to them, determine the Viſion ſolely and adequately to thoſe ſeven Churches of Aſia topically underſtood; foraſmuch as the Names of all thoſe Churches at leaſt by an Alluſion have an Appellative Signification, and manifeſtly denote the Quality and Condition of them myſtically underſtood; as we ſhall ſee in the Proceſs of our Expoſition.

4. Firſt therefore of the Church of Epheſus, which Chriſt ſalutes after this manner: Unto the Angel of the Church of Epheſus write; Theſe things ſaith he, that holdeth the ſeven Stars in his Right-hand, and who walketh in the midſt of the ſeven golden Candleſticks. Apoc. 2. 1. That by Angels, according to the Apocalyptick Style, all the Agents under their Preſidency are repreſented or inſinuated, I have already noted: and it is ſo frequent and obvious in the Apocalyps, that none that is verſed therein can any ways doubt of it. Wherefore Chriſt in his Writing to the Angel of the Church of Epheſus in this Myſtical Senſe, muſt be underſtood to write to all Biſhops, Paſtors and Chriſtians in this firſt Apoſtolical Interval of the Church.

And that particularly in this Epiſtle to this Church (I mean, in the Myſtical Senſe thereof) he recommends himſelf to them under the Character of him that holds the ſeven Stars in his Right-hand, and who walketh in the midſt of the ſeven golden Candleſticks, the Senſe ſtripp'd of this Prophetical Pomp, is, that I am he that ſupports all my Biſhops and Paſtors, and all that labour for the Intereſt of my Kingdom, from this time forth and for ever: I am preſent with them, and uphold them. As he ſaid at the firſt founding of the Church, Go ye therefore and teach all Nations, baptizing them in the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghoſt; Teaching them to obſerve all things whatſoever I have commanded you. And, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the End of the World. Math. 28. 19, 20. He is in the midſt of his Church whereever two or three are gathered together in his Name: He walks through, in the midſt of the Succeſſions of the ſeven Intervals of the Church, the ſeven golden Candleſticks, till the End of all. This is ſaid to encourage the Beginning of his Church, and is methodically put in the firſt place, as being general, and running through all the Intervals thereof till the End of the World.

But that the Frontiſpiece, as I before called it, to this Viſion of the Seven Churches, which was the glorious Character of our bleſſed Saviour, is made uſe of Piece-meal for an Entrance into the Parts of this Viſion, as it is in them all; (which is a further Argument that the principal Senſe of theſe Epiſtles is prophetical, and that they don't ſo much concern ſome particular Churches of Aſia, as the whole Church Catholick) I cannot but take notice how fitly it anſwers to the Viſion of the Seals, where the Parts of the Frontiſpiece are alſo made uſe of to uſher in four of the Seals; for the four Beaſts one after another (and that with appoſite Significancy, as here,) at the opening of the four firſt Seals are introduced uttering this Voice, Come and ſee. Wherefore there being the like Contrivance in both Viſions, it is a Apoc. 6. ſhrewd Intimation that they are Viſions of like Importance, that is, very reachingly and comprehenſively Prophetical; as I endeavoured to evince out of the firſt Chapter.

5. And how accommodate that Part of the Character of our bleſſed Saviour is to this part of the Viſion that concerns the Epheſine Church, is already declared. We ſhall now conſider the Fitneſs of the Paronomaſtical Alluſion in the Name. For that the Prophetical Style does affect ſuch Alluſions, both Grotius and Mr. Mede, and all Interpreters that I know, are agreed upon. And Grotius does particularly give the Reaſon of the Names of all theſe Churches in his Commentary on the Apocalyps. So that there is nothing of Levity or Indiſcretion in the attempting of the ſame. In Epheſus therefore, for ought I know, there may be a double Alluſion, both to ἄφεσις and ἔφεσις. For that ℵ, being one of the three matres Lectionis, as they are called, contained in it both E and A, it does plainly intimate, that the Sound of E and A are not ſo extremely different one from another. But as for the Senſe of ἄφεσις, it is hugely well and peculiarly accommodate to this Church, it being the firſt Interval of the Seven, as it were the ἀφετηρία, (and ἄφεσις ſignifies the ſame,) the Carceres or Liſts from whence the Race begins of the Succeſſion of all the Seven Churches, which ends in the End of the World. And St. Paul compares the Calling of Chriſtians to a Race.

And that no Scruple may remain concerning the firſt Alluſion, from hence, that Martinius ſpeaking of theſe three Matres Lectionis ו, י, א, ſays that the firſt anſwers to A, the ſecond to E and I, and the third to O and V, 'tis to be obſerv'd that nothing is more uſual in Hebrew Writings without the Points, than for א to be put for E; as in אצבע, אשכול, אלהים, and the like. And in the Greek Tongue, α and η, and α and ε, are, according to the Diverſity of the Dialect, chang'd for one another, ſo that in this matter there cannot remain any further Difficulty.

6. But as for the other Word, ἔφεσις, which Grotius alſo expreſly takes notice of, and pitches upon, the Alluſion thereto is unexceptionable both as to Sound and Signification. For it denotes that great Fervour and zealous Deſire the Church in thoſe firſt Primitive and Apoſtolick Times had to the Affairs of Chriſt, and to the Intereſt of his Kingdom; that they did ſincerely and earneſtly, under the Conduct of that Heros on the White Horſe, with his Bow and Arrow in his Right-hand, aim at and preſs toward the Mark of the Prize of the high Calling of God in Chriſt Jeſus; they were inflamed with the Deſire of enlarging the Kingdom of Chriſt here, and of obtaining that immarceſcible Crown hereafter, and of eating the Fruit of eternal Life in the celeſtial Paradiſe of God. This was the firſt Love of this Church, this was their ἔφεσις τῦ τέλυς, their vehement and ſincere Deſire, and only Scope of all their Actions, that they might ſerve Chriſt here, and enjoy him afterwards in his heavenly Kingdom. And therefore out of this fervent Love to Chriſt, and Senſe of their own Happineſs, they did at firſt eaſily devour all Difficulties.

Verſe 2, 3. 7. As it is noted in the two following Verſes: I know thy Works, and thy Labour, and thy Patience, and how thou canſt not bear with ſuch as are evil. For thoſe that are ſincerely and fervently good, it cannot but make them have an Antipathy againſt what is evil, and diſcern them that bear themſelves never ſo Apoſtolically, and yet are not right at the Bottom, to be but Hypocrites and Liers.

And thou haſt tried them which ſay they are Apoſtles, and are not. That there were falſe Apoſtles, deceitful Workers, transforming themſelves into the Apoſtles of Chriſt, in the Apoſtles time, (within which the Period of this Church is,) the Apoſtle Paul takes notice 2 Cor. 11. 13. which therefore is very agreeable to the Interval of this firſt Church. For when ſhould any pretend to be Apoſtles ſent from God, but in that Age there were Apoſtles ſent into the World by him?

And haſt born, and haſt Patience, and for my Name's ſake haſt laboured, and haſt not fainted. What is here is much-what the ſame Senſe and Words as were in the foregoing Verſe: but it is not repeated in vain. καὶ διὰ τὸ ὄνομά μυ κεκοπιακας, καὶ ὐ κέκμη-κας, have a ſpecial Correſpondence to the Reward promiſed in the ſeventh Verſe. He that will not labour ſhall not eat: but he that labours very much, and breaks not off by reaſon of any lazy Fainting or culpable Laſſitude, is worthy to be fed with the Bread of Life. But beſides this Labour and Patience in the higheſt Circumſtances is here repeated, the better to ſet off the preſent Negligence and Remiſneſs of ſome in this Epheſine Church, as it is in the next Verſe.

Verſe 4. 8. Nevertheleſs, I have ſomething againſt thee, becauſe thou haſt left thy firſt Love, ὅτι τὴν ἀγάπην συ τὴν πρώτην ἀφῆκας. Grotius and Dr. Hammond expound it, becauſe thou haſt left thy firſt Love, and ſo allow ἄφεσις to ſignifie Relaxation and Remiſſion in a contrary Senſe to Intention of Degrees: whence there may be another Ground of Alluſion in Epheſus to ἄφεσις, and in counterdiſtinction to ἔφεσις. So that this Epheſine Church may have its Name from its firſt intenſe Love and its after Remiſſion thereof, by this double Alluſion. But as the Alluſion to ἔφεσις is more perfect than to ἄφεσις, ſo queſtionleſs this firſt Interval of the Church was more famous for their ſincere and real Love to Chriſt, than for their Remiſneſs therein. Which ſerves ſomething for the countenancing of the Term of this Interval.

Becauſe thou haſt left thy firſt Love: that is to ſay, becauſe thou haſt ceaſed to be ſo fervent in Spirit as at the firſt. Which firſt Love, being according to the Meaſure of Chriſt's own Preſcript, was certainly ſuch as made the Epheſine Church love Chriſt more than Father, or Mother, or Wife, or Children, or any worldly Intereſt whatſoever, according as he requires. But towards the End of the Interval of this firſt Succeſſion of the Church this Love and Courage it ſeems began to abate, and too many began to Gnoſticize, as it is called, in that Point, and think it a ſmall thing to deny the Faith in the Time of Perſecution, even thoſe that yet profeſſed themſelves of the Church, and were Believers. That this was within the Interval of the Epheſine Church (in our Senſe) ſeveral Reproofs and Exhortations in the Epiſtles of the Apoſtles, do plainly evince. See the famous Dr. Hammond's Notes on this Church, which fully reach our Deſign. And the Epiſtles of Paul, and the firſt of Peter, and that to the Hebrews, were all writ within that Interval we have ſet for the Epheſine Church, and their Faults committed before. Which Defaults this Viſion rebukes and threatens them for, by way of Inſtruction for future Ages, as it is in the following Verſe.

9. Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent, and do the firſt Works. Verſe 5. He bids them return to their firſt Love, which was more ſtrong than Death. And it was fit to give this Command and Encouragement to the Church, becauſe of greater Trials to come in her Smyrnian Condition. For before the Ten Perſecutions Martyrdom was more rare.

Or elſe I will come unto thee quickly, and will remove thy Candleſtick out of his place, except thou repent; that is, by an Hypallage, I will remove thee from thy Candleſtick: which therefore is directed more eſpecially to the Biſhops and Paſtors of the Church at that time, as threatning them for falling into ſuch a remiſs Degree of Love themſelves, or ſuffering their Charges ſo to fall. For the ſeven Candleſticks are the ſeven Churches, Ch. 1. ver. 20. and the ſeven Stars are the Angels of the ſeven Churches; that is to ſay, the Biſhops and Paſtors of the Church. Wherefore this Commination to them may by an Hypallage ſignifie their being removed from the Church by ſome Judgment or other; that is, as many of them as were thus careleſs and remiſs. But to any Members of the Church the removing of the Candleſtick from them may be their Amiſſion of their Church-Memberſhip; as eripere alicui, or adimere alicui Civitatem, is to make him ceaſe to be a Citizen any longer. Which ſenſe is alſo competible to the Biſhops and Paſtors; Chriſt may cut them off in foro Divino from being any longer Members of his Church, and conſequently from Salvation. But foraſmuch as theſe figurative ways of ſpeaking may to ſome appear to be too harſh, (tho' they may be permitted ſo to expreſs themſelves, who will ſpeak ænigmatically or poetically) I will produce yet another ſenſe which pleaſeth me beſt of all, in which Victorinus, Andreas, Lyranus and Alcazar do all agree, who interpret the removing of the Candleſtick out of its Place, of the commination of ſome Commotion or Storm that ſhould overtake this Church; not that this Church ſhould be carried quite away, but moved or agitated as in a Storm or Earthquake. This they underſtand of the Epheſine Church in Aſia literally: which is an Argument that the Interpretation ſeemed very eaſie and genuine unto them. And it is as eaſily applicable to our Myſtical ſenſe. But I would raiſe the Storm a little higher, and make it ſignifie the Storm of that dreadful Perſecution that was to befal the Church in the Smyrnian Interval thereof. For it is look'd upon ſtill as one Apoſtolick Church from the beginning to the end, tho' diſtinguiſhed into theſe ſeveral Intervals. And it is very obſervable, That there is in every Epiſtle to the reſpective Church ſome Prediction to be fulfilled in the Interval of the following Church. Which I thought fit here to note at once, and ſhall particularly, as we proceed, take notice thereof in their proper places. The Senſe thereof ſeems to be this; That unleſs the Church in this Epheſine Interval would be raiſed to an higher pitch of Zeal, and Love, and Activity for the Propagating of his Kingdom, Chriſt would excite their courage, and exerciſe it with ſuch hot Perſecutions (ſanguis Martyrum ſemen Eccleſiæ) as would be more effectual for the bringing to paſs his Deſign. And it fell out accordingly in the Ten Perſecutions within the Smyrnian Period of the Church.

10. But this thou haſt, that thou hateſt the Deeds of the Nicolaitans, which I alſo hate. Verſe 6. The Church by this time had grown ſo ſoft and remiſs, that there was not that zealous Painfulneſs as heretofore in ſeveral of them, nor that reſolved Courage in ſuffering all things for Chriſt's Sake: yet they were not grown ſo corrupt and beaſtly as to be given up to the Impurity of the Nicolaitans, which in after-times ſome exerciſed from a Miſtake of an indiſcreet act of one Nicolas a Deacon in theſe very times of the Apoſtles. And from him were theſe beaſtly Fellows called Nicolaitans. But little or nothing of this Impurity appeared within the Period of this Epheſine Church, which yet the Spirit of God foreſaw would become deteſtably frequent and notorious in ſuch Wretches as, though they called themſelves Chriſtians, the Apoſtolick Church would not own. This is allowed the Epheſine Church for their Comfort and Credit, that they are free from Nicolaitiſm: and that they may add to their Purity invincible Patience and Fortitude, he adds,

To him that overcometh will I give to eat of the Tree of Life which is in the midſt of the Paradiſe of God. Verſe 7. For their Works and Labour and Pains-taking, here is Eating and Refreſhing promiſed them; for their Patience and Hardſhip, a Paradiſe of Plea-

Luke 23. 42, 43. sure; for their spending their Blood and laying down their Lives for the Gospel, the Enjoyment of eternal Life in the Kingdom of Christ. Lord, remember me when thou comest into thy Kingdom. Verily I say unto thee, This Day shalt thou be with me in Paradise.

But we had almost forgot the former Part of the seventh Verse: He that hath an Ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the Churches. Which being a common Epiphonema to all these seven Epistles, repeated in them from the first to the last, certainly must bear no small Importance with it. Two things therefore I conceive driven at by the affixing this Epiphonema to each Epistle. The one, to give us notice, that though there be a Literal Sense of these Epistles, yet that they are every one of them also a Parable; which is intimated from this repeated Form of Speech which Christ in his Life-time usually added at the End of Parables, He that has Ears to hear, let him hear. Besides that the very Sense of the Epiphonema implies so much; which is, He that has an Understanding to reach the Depth of the Meaning of these Epistles, let him reach it. For it is not within the Reach of every Man's Wit to find out the Drift of them. The other Thing driven at is, to intimate to us, that there is a Meaning lodged under these seven Parabolical Epistles of exceeding great Moment and Concernment to the Church. From whence I would infer, that that Interpretation of them that is of the greatest Consequence is the most likely to prove true, And such I conceive this will approve it self to the Judicious which we are now a-framing.

And thus much of the first Succession of the Church under the Title of Ephesus.

CHAP. IV.

The Interpretation of the Epistle to the Church in Smyrna.

Apoc. ch. 2. v. 8. 1. AND unto the Angel of the Church in Smyrna write. We come now to the second Succession of the State of the Church, whose Title is, the Church of the Smyrnians or the Church in Smyrna, and whose Interval is from the tenth of Nero, or Anno Christi 63. till Anno Christi 324. when Constantine the Great, a zealous Professor of Christianity, had subdued the most potent Enemies of it and himself. For then the Church was raised out of the Dust, or rather out of the Mire and Blood that she was troden down into by the ten cruel Persecutions, and began to be the Church ἐν πέργάμῳ, the Church in Sublimity and Exaltation, according to the Signification of that Word. But in this Interval of their Afflictions and Martyrdom she was the Church in Smyrna.

Now σμύρνα and μύῤῥα are all one, and signifie Myrrh; which whether you respect the Plant it self, which grows in sandy, dry, and uncultivated Places, and is it self rough and thorny with sharp pricking Leaves, or else the Gum of the Tree, which is biting and bitter to the Taste, and has its very Name from thence in the Syriack, מורא quia amara, as Martinius notes, it is very significative of this Interval of the Church that succeeds, wherein those horrible Pagan Persecutions raised against the Christians are comprehended. So that Smyrna signifies the bitter Affliction and Persecution of the Church, as that Lamp named Wormwood does the sad Calamity of the Western Cæsareate.

2. To which you may add that Smyrna, that is to say, Myrrh, was a main Ingredient in the Embalming of the Bodies of the Dead: which again reflects upon the many Funerals, or rather Deaths and Martyrdoms, of the Members of the Church which would be caused by the Persecutions of those Times. Besides that, as Myrrh keeps the Body from Corruption, it may be a Symbol of the eternizing of the Memory of the Martyrs to all Posterities. Not to take notice of their conserving of their very Bodies themselves, which they call Reliques; though this Allusion can be no Countenance to the Abuses in those things. And lastly, this Allusion to Myrrh is still the more emphatical, in that the Body of our Saviour, that faithful Witness, as he styles himself, after his Martyrdom on the Cross is said to be embalmed with Myrrh, Joh. 19. 39.

3. These things saith the First and the Last, who was dead, and is alive. The Titles that Christ adorns himself with when he speaks to the Church of Ephesus are, are, He that holds the ſeven Stars in his Right-hand, and who walketh in the midſt of the ſeven golden Candleſticks, namely, through all the Succeſſions of them; like that Promiſe, Behold, I am with you to the End of the World; intimating thereby the Preſence of his Spirit, through which he would in all Difficulties ſuſtain the Biſhops and Paſtours of his Church. Which general Signification ſeems well enough proportioned or fitted to the Condition of the Church of Epheſus, he expreſly requiring of them no more than Zeal and Courage in the General: But now he ſpeaks to the Church in Smyrna, and there enters a more bloody Scene and terrible, he ſeems to encourage them with higher and more palpable and particular Animations in the very Entrance of his Diſcourſe; Theſe things ſaith the Firſt and the Laſt, the ſame that began the War for this Kingdom we ſtrive for, and will be the laſt in the Field to aſſiſt my Friends and diſcomfit mine Enemies, as well as I was the firſt. And be not afraid of dying for the Truth; for though I was crucify'd my ſelf, yet, behold, I am now alive. And I tell you it for a Pledge unto you of the ſame Happineſs, if you lay down your Lives (as the Times will ſhortly require it) for me and for my Goſpel. This is very particular and appoſite to the Condition of the Church in this Smyrnian Interval, wherein there were to be ſo many and ſo bloody Perſecutions.

4. I know thy Works and Tribulation and Poverty: that is to ſay, I know the great Affliction and Miſery thou art oppreſſed withal, being deſtitute of all the Comforts of this preſent Life, and in Danger of Death every Moment. Which is a right Smyrnian Condition indeed, according to the Title of the Church in Smyrna. Verſe 9.

But thou art rich: namely, with thoſe ſpiritual Graces of Meekneſs, of Patience, of Chriſtian Courage and Fortitude, and of ſincere and invincible Love of the Lord Jeſus even to the Death it ſelf.

And I know the Blaſphemy of them that ſay they are Jews, and are not, but are the Synagogue of Satan. That is, I take notice of the Reproach that thoſe Men caſt upon Chriſtianity, who call themſelves Chriſtians, and yet make nothing of diſſembling and denying the Faith upon the ariſing of any Perſecutions for my Name's ſake; as if a Chriſtian could be ſuch a vile, falſe, and abject Hypocrite. This is to blaſpheme them that are called by my Name. The right Chriſtian is the true Jew, whoſe Heart is circumciſed, and therefore he will not lie with his Tongue; and whoſe Faith is ſo ſtrong in me, and Hopes ſo firm of a better Life, that he can, if the Cauſe of my Goſpel ſo require, willingly part with this for the Love of me and for the Intereſt of my Kingdom. Theſe are the true Members of my Church who are for ſuffering, the other the Synagogue of Satan; as I told Peter, when he would have diſſwaded me from undergoing the Death of the Croſs, Get thee behind me, Satan, Mat. 16. 23. for thou favoureſt not the things of God. That the Jews ſignifie the Chriſtian Church, there is nothing more frequent in the Apocalyptick Style than that. And this Mention of theſe falſe Chriſtians in Oppoſition to theſe Smyrnian Sufferers does plainly inſinuate that Senſe which I have given.

5. Fear none of thoſe things which thou ſhalt ſuffer. Do not imitate the baſe Cowardiſe of this Synagogue of Satan, theſe Hypocrites and Diſſemblers. After that ſharp Reprehenſion of Flinchers from the Faith, he returns to encourage and corroborate the Church in Smyrna: Behold, the Devil ſhall caſt ſome of you into Priſon, that ye may be tried, and ye ſhall have Tribulation ten Days. The red Dragon, that old Serpent, in his Fight with Michael, (for the things of that Viſion are co-incident with this Smyrnian Interval of the Church,) I ſay, the Pagans incenſed by the old Serpent, will caſt ſeveral of you into Priſon, that your Faith may be tried, and God may receive the Glory of your Fortitude and Conſtancy. This you ſhall have for ten Days, that is, till the time of Conſummation that Victory and Redemption be wrought for you, or that you die. Verſe 10.

Or rather thus, You ſhall have Tribulation for ten days: There will be ten Seaſons of bloody Perſecutions which you muſt run through; thoſe ten Perſecutions ſo famous in Church-Hiſtory, and ſo frequent in the Mouths of all Men. Which Conſideration, among others, does not a little ratifie this our Expoſition of the Church of Smyrna, and conſequently gives ſtrength to the whole Hypotheſis of the ſeven ſucceſſive Intervals.

6. Neither is their Objection at all to be regarded who reckon up more than ten Perſecutions, adding an eleventh under Conſtantius the Arian, a twelfth under Julian the Apoſtate, a thirteenth under Valens the Arian Emperour. For Prophecy being as it were an anticipatory Hiſtory, 'tis ſufficient if it ſpeak in the uſual Language of Hiſtorians, ſtorians, in whoſe Relations we have theſe ten ſo celebrated and diſtinctly known Perſecutions recorded. Neither are there more than Ten in that Interval we have aſſign'd to the Smyrnian Church. After which the Pergamenian State does manifeſtly come on, Chriſtianity triumphing over ancient conquered Paganiſm and its Perſecutions. And Julian reign'd not two whole Years, and his Enterpriſings were for the moſt part of diverſe kinds, none of them being ſo conſiderable as to marr this Computation. Not to mention that theſe things happen'd in an Interval of a various Nature and Denomination, and therefore are not worthy of Notice, being ſuch as compared with the Events of that Period of a contrary Nature, are altogether inconſiderable.

I acknowledge indeed that the Arian Perſecutions were ſufficiently remarkable, yet of a nature very different from theſe Ten. The Church exiſting ἐν τῷ πέργάμῳ, became Proud as well as exalted from the Duſt, and no leſs contentious than Proud, according to that of the Wiſe-man, Prov. 13. 10. Only of Pride cometh Contention, but with the well-adviſed there is Wiſdom. Chriſt therefore was faithful as to his Promiſe made to the Smyrnian Church, and prepared for them a Crown of Life and Security from the Pagan Cruelties and Perſecutions. But the Church afterwards in the Pergamean State exerciſed Enmity amongſt themſelves, the Fault is their own, not his who expreſly taught them, By this ſhall all Men know that ye are my Diſciples, if you love one another.

Wherefore I make no doubt but that by the ten Days theſe ten Perſecutions are alluded to. Tho' yet I will not deny but thoſe ten Years, notorious for the moſt cruel of all the Perſecutions under Diocleſian, may be in ſpecial pointed at, as well as thoſe ten Perſecutions in general, by a prophetick Henopœia.

7. Be ye faithful unto Death, and I will give you the Crown of Life. That is to ſay, Stand out till the Conſummation of the Ten Perſecutions wherewith ye ſhall be tried, and ye ſhall have the Crown of Life: I will crown you with the Imperial Crown, which will prove a Crown of Life unto you. Chriſtianity ſhall become at length the Religion of the Empire, which will ſave you for the future from the deadly Perſecutions of the red Dragon. You ſhall be no longer ſubject to the Cruelty of Roman Paganiſm for the Profeſſion of your Religion. This therefore will be a Crown of Life unto you. This is according to that Apoc. 21. 4. And there ſhall be no more Death; that is, there ſhall be no more Perſecution aud Killing for Conſcience ſake: Which was the ſad Caſe of this Smyrnian Church under the Pagan Cruelty in an eminent Manner. Wherefore when they had won their Freedom, it was a Crown of Life to them, by the Law of Contraries. That this is the genuin Senſe will farther appear from what follows.

Verſe 11. 8. He that hath an Ear to hear, let him hear what the Spirit ſaith unto the Churches. This being an uſual Epiphonema to Parables, plainly intimates, that what hitherto has been ſaid is a parabolical Prophecy. And the Nature of a Prophecy is, to foretel ſuch things as are to be tranſacted here on Earth. And therefore where the Promiſe is not Divine, or concerning the State after this Life, the Epiphonema follows: as is very conſpicuous in the Promiſe to the Church of Thyatria, which is the firſt Example of the Epiphonema coming laſt of all; which is a Sign that the whole Epiſtle there is Prophetical; Verſe 26. And he that overcometh, and keepeth my Words unto the End, to him will I give Power over the Nations, &c. Which therefore concerns the Stage of this Earth. And therefore this Promiſe here of the Crown of Life before the Epiphonema, I would interpret of a Reward in this Life on this Earth, according as I have expounded the Paſſage. But now that which follows this Epiphonema is a Promiſe of another ſort, viz. He that overcometh ſhall not be hurt of the ſecond Death: for it is the ſecuring of a bleſſed Immortality after this Life; and ſeems farther to correſpond with that Paſſage in the Apocalyps, Ch. 20. v. 6. Bleſſed and holy is he that has part in the firſt Reſurrection: on ſuch the ſecond Death hath no Power. Wherefore though not according to the Inference of rigid Syllogiſm, yet according to thoſe nice and delicate Hints in prophetical Intimations, I would conclude that the Promiſe of their Portion in the firſt Reſurrection is here propoſed to thoſe afflicted Smyrnians, which was the proper Portion of Martyrs and Confeſſors, according to the Opinion of the Primitive Church, as Mr. Mede has learnedly and judiciouſly obſerved. Which granted does hugely corroborate this Application of the Epiſtle to the Church in Smyrna to this Interval which contains the Times of all the Sufferings in a manner of the primitive Martyrs. The promiſe of a bleſſed Immortality had been very proper and accommodate to this Smyrnian State of the Church, that were ſo frequently to loſe their Lives for Profeſſion of the Goſpel: but for it to be intimated to them that theſe ſhall have their Portion in the firſt Reſurrection, which is proper to Martyrs, as appears by the Place above quoted, is ſo characteriſtical of this Interval, wherein all the Primitive Martyrs ſuffered, viz. in thoſe Ten Perſecutions, that it does marvelouſly confirm the Truth of the Expoſition of this preſent Epiſtle in this Myſtical way we have gone. And thus much of the Church in Smyrna, that is in מורא, in the Bitterneſs of Oppreſſion and Affliction, as the Alluſion to that Syriack Words imports. We proceed to the Church in Pergamus.

CHAP. V.

The Interpretation of the Epiſtle to the Church in Pergamus.

1. AND to the Angel of the Church in Pergamus write. The Interval of this Church is from the Year of Chriſt 324, when Conſtantine utterly defeated the Army of Licinius, not above thirty thouſand of one hundred and thirty thouſand eſcaping, and ſo with his own Victories made the Church alſo triumphant out of her long and unſupportable Miſeries, raiſing her aloft from her ſad Oppreſſions and Perſecutions. From this Year, I ſay, to the Year 1242, when the Pope's Legate Amelin made an end of the Albigenſian War with Trancavel Baſtard of the Earl of Beziers, let this be the Interval of the Church in Pergamus. Apoc. ch. 2. v. 12.

2. Of the Beginning of this Interval there can be no doubt. And for the Termination of it, there are theſe two Conſiderations to countenance it. The firſt, in that the latter of thoſe Numbers in the laſt of Daniel, viz. the Number 1335, does point to the Beginning of the Affairs of the Waldenſes and Albigenſes, who are both one Sect and from one Author, Waldo of Lyons, an holy and good Man, whoſe Preaching, and his own and his Followers Sufferings and Perſecutions, were about the term of that Number whoſe Epoche is the Prophanation of the Temple by Antiochus Epiphanes. So conſiderable a Paſſage of Providence is the appearing of the Waldenſes in thoſe Times betwixt the Year of Chriſt 1160 and 1170. For they were condemned for Hereticks by Pope Alexander in the Laterane Council in the Year 1162, upon which you may be ſure Perſecutions would immediately follow. And Mr. Mede with great Judgment will have this latter Number in Daniel to point at theſe Times. Nor does that Expreſſion of Daniel at all weaken his Opinion, in that he ſaith, Bleſſed is he that waiteth, and cometh to the thouſand three hundred and five and thirty Days, becauſe it is ſaid in the Apocalyps alſo, Bleſſed are the Dead which die in the Lord, that is, that die for the Cauſe of our Lord Jeſus. And of the Church of Smyrna it is ſaid, I know thy Tribulation and Poverty, but thou art rich. The Judgment of the Spirit of God and the Judgment of carnal Men are quite oppoſite in theſe things. What they call Poverty, the Spirit calls Riches; what they Miſery, the Spirit Bleſſedneſs. Wherefore the Affairs of the Waldenſes or Albigenſes is a notable, diſtinct, and conſpicuous Joint of Time, even according to the Judgment of the Spirit of Prophecy. Dan. 12. 12.

But then, in the ſecond place, I terminate the Interval of this Church in Pergamus, not in the Beginning, but the Concluſion, of theſe Waldenſian or Albigenſian Affairs, becauſe they being all in a manner one, and ſo plainly concluded in the Year I have mentioned, their Sufferings may the more punctually anſwer to the Sufferings of that one Martyr Antipas, who is here ſaid to be ſlain in Pergamus. But the Concinnity of theſe Things we ſhall better underſtand after we have deſcanted upon the Name Pergamus.

3. That by Pergamus is intimated a State of Exaltation or Sublimity, I intimated before. Sublimia omnia dicta Aſiaticis πέργαμα notat Heſychius, Suidas, & Servius, ſaith Grotius upon Apoc. 1. 11. whence he would have the Church in Pergamus to re-mind us of high and heavenly Things. But this a Moral, not a Prophetical Senſe. But with him howſoever I acknowledge that the Signification of Sublimity is alluded to in the general, but here moſt elegantly and ſeaſonably in reference to the precedent State of the Church in Smyrna, which was a State of Humiliation and bitter Affliction. But at the very Beginning of this preſent Interval ſhe ſo conſpicuouſly emerging out of this low, ſad, afflictive State into the State of Glory, Peace, and Proſperity, Proſperity, What can be more ſignificant than to ſalute her with the Title of the Church in Pergamus, accordingly as ſhe is here ſaluted; which is a kind of Congratulation to her freſh Emergency out of her late Miſeries. And this Senſe will hold good for a time in this Interval, namely, till the Days of her Apoſtacy: but then the Apoſtolick Church will be the Church in Pergamus ſtill, but in another kind of Meaning.

4. According therefore to the Richneſs of the Prophetick Style, Pergamus has alſo another Senſe, ſuch as the City Babylon and the City Tyrus, which are put for the City of Rome. But then not in ſuch a Senſe as to mean the Walls or Stones of the Roman City, but the Roman Church, and her Power and Juriſdiction. And in ſuch a Senſe is Pergamus alſo here put for Rome. So that this Epiſtle written to the Church of Chriſt in Pergamus, the truly Catholick and Apoſtolick Church, is directed to this Church dwelling under the Roman Church, or within the Roman Churche's Juriſdiction, underſtanding old Rome eſpecially; as all ſuch Apocalyptick Viſions perſtringe her moſt. Now that Rome in this Senſe is perſtringed by this Pergamus, is very evident, Firſt, in the eaſie Alluſion of Pergamus to Rome from the like Signification of the Words. For as Pergamus ſignifies Sublimity, ſo (as Martinius notes) Rome is from the Hebrew רום exaltari. Beſides that her Situation is high, and Buildings lofty, according to that of the Poet, Collibus è ſeptem totum circumſpicit orbem.

And the higheſt of all is the Biſhop of Rome himſelf, who exalts himſelf above all that is called God, or is worſhipped. Is not this therefore a fit Biſhop of Pergamus, that perks thus above all Kings and Emperours and Princes of the Earth? And our Interval of the Church of Pergamus reaches the higheſt Times of her Exaltation, it taking in both Gregory the ſeventh, who firſt excommunicated the Emperour, and took upon him the Power of making Emperours himſelf, and Alexander the third, who trode upon the Neck of the Emperour Frederick; as alſo Cæleſtine the third, that crowned Henry the ſixth and his Empreſs with his Feet, and in Scorn kick'd the Emperour's Crown off with his Foot when he had crowned him. Certainly the Popes of Rome were then Biſhops of Pergamus with a Witneſs. Nor after this Interval could they ever hold their Creſts ſo high. Boniface the eighth indeed was a Bluſterer, and excommunicated Philip the Fair of France; but he called him Fool for his Pains, and handled him in ſuch ſort, that, ſurprized at Anagnia, he was diſgracefully mounted on a poor Jade, and ſo carried Priſoner to Rome, where Pride and Regret broke his Heart, and ſo he there dy'd inglorioufly.

But ſecondly, It is ſaid of this Pergamus, that it was the moſt given to Idolatry of all the Cities of Aſia, (ſo Andreas Ceſarienſis reports of it,) which is the notorious Character of Rome above all Cities, and therefore elſewhere in the Apocalyps ſhe is called the Whore of Babylon for her inſatiable ſpiritual Fornications.

Thirdly, Theſe Pergamenians were very fierce and diligent Accuſers of the Apoſtolick Chriſtians, to bring them to Martyrdom, as Dr. Hammond upon the place notes out of an ancient Hiſtory. For which alſo Rome is taxed elſewhere in the Apocalyps, who is ſaid to be drunk with the Blood of the Saints, and with the Blood of the Martyrs of Jeſus.

Fourthly, It is recorded of the Prefect of this City Pergamus, that he would perſwade the Chriſtians to forſake the Apoſtolick Faith, and return to Heatheniſm, ὅτι τὰ πρεσβύτερα τιμιώτερά ἐστιν, becauſe the elder Religion was the more precious, and to be preferred: As Antiquity is the great Pretence of the Papal Church. That Prefect ſaid of Chriſtianity, that it was but ὀψέ ποτε ἀρξαμένην, that it began but the other Day. And ſo you may be ſure the Church of Rome ſaid of the Religion of the Waldenſes and Albigenſes. See Dr. Hammond upon the place.

And laſtly, That it ſhould be the Martyr Antipas that was ſlain in Pergamus, Can any Name more directly and aſſuredly point at the Church of Rome or the Papal Church than this? For πᾶς is Father, and πάππας, which is Papa, is but a Reduplication of πᾶς, as Euſtathius has noted: and ἀντὶ ſignifies as much as againſt. This verily is plain enough. It would not be reaſonable here to expect that Ἀντιπάππας ſhould have been uſed in this Prophecy, as we ſuppoſe it to be, inſtead of Ἀντίπας, which would have been inconſiſtent with the Laws of the Apocalyptick Style, which is no leſs ſolicitous of the due Concealment, than of the Certainty of the Revelation. So that a place ſo plain ſhould have appeared as it were to ſtick out beyond the reſt of the delicate and elaborate Fabrick of theſe Viſions in a too rude and groſs Manner, and had given occaſion to a too early Underſtanding of theſe Prophecies. Not to mention that Antipapas is not the proper Name of any Man, and that the Letter of the Hiſtory requires that it be Antipas. Wherefore the Indication, both as to the Senſe and Sound, in this Word Antipas, is no leſs exquiſite, if we conſider the Nature of the Apocalyptick Style, than it either could or ought to have been. And therefore who can be ſo blind as not to diſcern, how fit a Type this Antipas is of them that within this Interval of the Church ſhould ſuffer for being againſt that holy Father the Pope, as he is called. Nothing can ſound more congruouſly or harmoniouſly, whatever any Man by way of Cavil can ſay againſt it. The main Interpretation therefore of this preſent Epiſtle to the Church in Pergamus will reſpect the pure Apoſtolick Church abiding within the Juriſdiction of the Roman, as this Senſe plainly implies; the Woman in the Wilderneſs, as the Holy Ghoſt elſewhere expreſſes it.

of

Theſe things ſaith he that hath the ſharp Sword with two Edges. Chriſt is ſet out thus in this Epiſtle to the Church in Pergamus, becauſe this Sword of the Spirit, which is the Word of God, underſtood and reliſhed by the Divine Spirit in us, was the main Weapon whereby the Church in Pergamus defended her ſelf from the Pergamenian Corruptions, and ſo kept her ſelf pure from the falſe Gloſſes and unſound Traditions of either ſuperſtitious Men or crafty Deceivers. Verſe 12.

5. I know thy Works, and where thou dwelleſt, even where Satan's Seat is; and thou holdeſt faſt my Name, and haſt not denied my Faith, even in thoſe Days wherein Antipas was my faithful Martyr, who was ſlain among you, where Satan dwelleth. That is to ſay, I know thou doeſt well for the main, and to thy greater Commendation I conſider where thou dwelleſt, even where the Firſt-born of Lucifer has his Throne, he that exalts himſelf above all that is called God or that is worſhipped. (So Chriſt compares Satan to Lucifer or the King of Babylon (of whom the Prophet ſays, How art thou fallen, Lucifer, thou Son of the Morning!) Luke 10. 18. I beheld Satan as Lightning fall from Heaven.) And yet neither the Awe nor Glory of that Church could cauſe thee to forſake my Name, and, inſtead of being a true Chriſtian, to become a Member of Antichriſt, and ſo relinquiſh the pure Apoſtolick Faith, no not in thoſe Days that my faithful Martyr Antipas, that is, thoſe plain-hearted and openly-profeſſed Enemies of the Pope and his adulterate and idolatrous Religion, the Waldenſes and Albigenſes, were ſo cruelly perſecuted and murthered, who were ſlain among you who ſtood out and yet eſcaped, though in the very Synagogue of Satan, that is to ſay, in that Church which is a treacherous Adverſary to all my true Members, and a very bitter Cenſurer and Accuſer of them, only upon the Account of their not complying with the Laws of Wickedneſs which ſhe hath eſtabliſhed, and a worſe Adverſary than the Pagan Dragon before, whom therefore my Church overcame in a few Ages. This Satan, I ſay, is a more miſchievous Enemy than that red Dragon, by reaſon of his Cunning and Hypocriſie, and his Pretences that he is for me, when indeed he is againſt me, and by reaſon of the Abuſe of my Authority in Pretence, againſt the Members of my true Church. Wherefore I cannot but take Notice where thou dwelleſt, and how in that Regard thou art in a worſe Condition than the Smyrnian Church her ſelf, who were only to grapple with a profeſſed Enemy, but thou with both a malicious Enemy, and a falſe and hypocritical Friend. It is therefore well done of thee that thou holdeſt out in ſuch hard and difficult Circumſtances. Verſe 13.

6. This for the Senſe of that Verſe in general. But now particularly, why the Waldenſes and Albigenſes, that were perſecuted in this Interval of the Church, ſhould be called Antipas, why Martyr, why Faithful, and why Slain, rather than Burnt, we ſhall briefly give this Account. And that a Company or ſucceſſive Body of Men is repreſented in the Prophetick Style under one ſingle Perſon, is ſo ordinary that I need not note it. Alcazar makes Jezebel, mentioned in the next Epiſtle, to be the Church of the Jews; Aretas, the Sect of the Nicolaitans; Dr. Hammond, the Gnoſticks. But now that this one Perſon ſhould be called Antipas, there is nothing more congruous to the Doctrine of the Waldenſes and Albigenſes, who boldly preached that the Pope was Antichriſt, the Maſs an Abomination, the Hoſt an Idol, and Purgatory a Fable. And Waldo, the chief Beginner of this Sect, was of the ſame Mind, denying the Pope to be the Head of the Church, or that he had any Authority over the Kings and Princes of the Earth, who, he ſaid, depended immediately upon God alone. Was not this an Antipas indeed then, and exactly oppoſing the ſovereign Paternity of his Holineſs of Rome? But they were Faithful, becauſe they they did so plainly declare to the World such concerning Truths; and Martyrs, because they suffered Death for so doing, it being for the Cause of God, and for the Interest of the Kingdom of Christ. And they are said to be slain, (suppose with the Sword or any Weapon of War,) not burnt, because Burning was more rare within this Interval of the Church; but they were slain in the Field many hundred thousands of them. A great Number of the Waldenses that took Arms in Germany were cut in pieces in the Year 1220, (as Matthew Paris writes;) they being in such a disadvantageous Place, betwixt marish Ground and the Sea, that they could make no Escape. And Mr. Mede, out of Petrus Perionius in his Book of this Albigensian War, intimates that near ten hundred thousand of them were slain in Battel at times, and that in France alone. Wherefore slaying with the Sword is very characteristically spoken here in this Epistle of the faithful Martyr Antipas; Burning as yet being in it self not so frequent, and bearing no Proportion at all to this vast Number slain in the Field. Whence this is a considerable Note of Distinction betwixt this present Interval of the Church in Pergamus from that of her Abode in Thyatira, as we shall see in its due place. Neither ought there here any Scruple to be entertain'd, upon account of our applying this Place concerning the Martyr Antipas, to the Albigenses and Waldenses, who were slain in Battel, as if therefore they were not properly to be term'd Martyrs. For he that may save his Life by renouncing the Truth, and yet for the Sake thereof does lose it, altho' in Battel, is truly to be accounted a Martyr. And altogether thus stood the Case with these People. This is remarkably confirm'd by what the learned Mr. Mede has observed concerning them, which is, that When Simon Monfort, General of the Croisado, had given them a signal Overthrow, and the Bishop of Tholouse coming unto the Place of Slaughter, by a certain Religious whom he sent to those who, yet living, by chance remain'd in the Tents, exhorted them, that convinced by so great a Stroak of God, as it were in Wrath giving Judgment against them, they would now at last, laying aside their Fierceness, return to the Catholick Faith, as he called it; they immediately returned Answer, That they were the People of Christ overcome by the Beast, (Rev. 13. 7.) and so acknowledging this to be what was destin'd for them by the Divine Wisdom, thereby as with a Shield warded off the Force of the Temptation, and died courageously, being slain every Man of 'em by a Party of the Soldiers returning from the Pursuit. Whence 'tis evident they were Martyrs properly so called, according to our Definition of Martyrdom: As there were also many Antipases in this Interval, who suffered Martyrdom even in that manner, against which no Cavil can be raised, being altogether Passive, and making no Resistance against their Persecutors.

Verse 14. 7. But I have a few things against thee, because thou hast there them that hold the Doctrine of Balaam, who taught Balac to cast a Stumbling-block before the Children of Israel, to eat things sacrificed unto Idols, and to commit Fornication. This is spoken to the whole Body of those that in their Judgments did condemn both the Doctrine and Practices of the Church of Rome. But these may be cast into three sorts: such as notwithstanding this Judgment still held Communion with her, and pretended they did well in so doing; those that separated from her Communion; and those that not only separated, but suffered Death for so doing. These last were the Martyr Antipas above-named; the first the Balaamites here reproved, that were of a more Gnostick-like Temper, too much leaning towards the Flesh, thinking themselves wiser than the other in not exposing themselves for their Judgment in Religion. Ye do well indeed, saith he, in declaring against the Enormities of the Papal Church, and in condemning them in your own Thoughts and Consciences: but this I take ill of you, that ye permit (some of you) the Doctrine of Balaam to take effect, that is, by communicating with this Church of Rome in her idolatrous Eucharist, and by eating her Deus Panaceus, ye commit spiritual Fornication, and become guilty of Idolatry. (To eat things sacrificed to Idols is one Mode of Idolatry, but by a Prophetical Diorism it signifies Idolatry in general.) That ye indulge this Liberty to your selves or others, is to cast a Stumbling-block before the Children of Israel, and to occasion and encourage many to adhere to the Roman Communion, when they ought to separate from her, that there be no Prejudice done to my true Church, nor Dis-interest to my Kingdom. This may possibly seem hard to thee, that I interpret eating of things sacrificed to Idols of Communion with the Roman Church in her Idolatrous Mass. For how can that consecrated Bread be said to be offered to an Idol? 'Tis true indeed, that he to whom they pretend to offer it, is not an Idol, but the true God: Notwithstanding by their Idolatrous Customs of giving Divine Worship to that which is is not God, they ſo depreſs the Nature of the true God, that they ſeem to have loſt the true Knowledge of him, and inſtead of him to worſhip an Idol invented out of their own Brain. For the true God is not a thing ſo worthleſs and inconſiderable, that any other Thing may participate of his Worſhip. And therefore, after the Manner of the Prophetick Style ſharp and penetrating, thoſe who mix Idolatry with the Worſhip of the True God, are repreſented as having no true Knowledge of him. And moreover whatever Religious Worſhip they perform, ſeeing they are deſtitute of the Knowledge of the true God, they are judg'd of Neceſſity to do it to ſome Idol. Suitably to which is that of Amos to be underſtood; Have ye offered unto me Sacrifices, and Offerings in the Wilderneſs forty Years, O Houſe of Iſrael? But ye have born the Tabernacle of your Moloch, and Chiun your Images, the Star of your God which ye made to your ſelves. Where the true God, becauſe of their Idolatry in worſhipping other Objects, denies himſelf to have been at any time worſhipped by them, tho' doubtleſs they thought they had offered Sacrifices and Offerings to him. This ſurely is expreſs and appoſite enough to the propoſed Difficulty.

But in this our Expoſition we only intimated, that this was a Prophetick Dioriſmus or Synecdoche, whereby Idolatry in general is ſignified by this particular Kind thereof, Eating things ſacrificed to Idols. Which Manner of Expreſſion is here uſed with the greater Aptitude and Elegancy, in regard that Idolatry is committed in that Part of Religion which is perform'd in eating things conſecrated. And ſurely if we conſider that the Lord's-Supper is an Entertainment or Feaſt after a Sacrifice, according to that of St. Paul, For Chriſt our Paſſover is ſacrificed for us. Therefore let us keep the Feaſt; whenever we ſuppoſe this Sacrifice polluted by Idolatry, What more natural and appoſite Reprehenſion thereof can there be, than to compare it to the Pagans Feaſt of things ſacrificed to Idols? Wherefore in this Interpretation, there is not the leaſt Incongruity or Unhandſomneſs. 1 Cor. 5. 7, 8.

Moreover I believe it won't be amiſs to give a brief Touch upon the Signification of the Names themſelves in this Verſe occurring, being ſuch as are agreeable enough unto the Title of Pergamos. For as Pergamus ſignifies High or Lofty, ſo Balaam denotes a Lord of People. Which Balaam being a falſe Prophet, and a Type of the Pope and his Clergy, does wonderfully well agree with this Pergamenian Period, wherein he trampled upon the Necks of the Emperours, and with his Foot kick'd the Crowns from their Head. For what higher Exerciſe of Sovereignty than this can there be? And Balak, which is here the ſecular Power, whether it ſignifie Deſtruction or Emptineſs, is excellently well adapted to the Condition of theſe Times, in which the Papal Power had ſo ſubjected all unto himſelf, that the ſecular Magiſtrate was become but the cruel Executioner of his Edicts, or filled only the Place of an unſignificant Cypher, the Temporal Power being alſo altogether exhauſted or emptied by the Luxuriancy of the Spiritual.

8. So haſt thou alſo them that hold the Doctrine of the Nicolaitans, which thing I hate. That alſo is a Fault amongſt ſome of you, that you do not poſſeſs your Veſſels in that Holineſs and Sanctity ye ought to do: and though you can diſcover the ſpiritual Fornications of Pergamus and their Luciferian Pride, yet ye are not ſo pure and clean as ye ought to be, and free from the Luſts of the Fleſh, (which Vice is here noted by Nicolaitiſm dioriſtically, as Idolatry in general before by eating things ſacrificed to Idols.) Fleſh and Blood is over-prone to think little Ill of ſuch things, becauſe they are ſo natural and pleaſing to the Senſes: but I declare apertly unto you, that it is a thing that I hate. Be ye holy even as I am holy. Verſe 15.

Repent, or elſe I will come unto thee quickly, and will fight againſt them with the Sword of my Mouth. Amend theſe Faults, leſt I come to you ſuddenly in Judgment. Haply by the more ſedulous Activity of the Lords of the Inquiſition, whoſe Reign was moſt chiefly in the following Interval, as alſo of other Judicatures; the Pragmaticalneſs of whoſe Agents will be more than ordinarily ready to diſcover every one that diſſembles his Religion; and the frequent Terror of being burnt alive at the Stake will more effectually ſuppreſs the Flames of all Wantonneſs and Luſt. And as I will come to you thus in Judgment unleſs ye repent; ſo I am reſolved alſo farther to fight againſt your Adverſaries, the Pergamenians or Romaniſts, with the Sword of my Mouth, till I cut off great Branches from the Body of that far-ſpreading Tree, and diſmember whole Nations from the Community of that idolatrous Church by the Power of the Word and the Preaching of the Goſpel. This is that which is predictory of ſome Events to happen in the following Interval, according to the Genius of theſe Epiſtles. Verſe 16.

9. To him that overcometh will I give to eat of the hidden Manna. The Promiſe here following the Epiphonema, (He that hath an Ear to hear, let him hear.) muſt, according to the Rule, ſignify Theologically or Spiritually, not Phyſically or Politically. Wherefore the Senſe is, Thoſe of Pergamus indeed pretend, that when they give that white and ſweet conſecrated Wafer into the Mouths of their Communicants, they give them the true Manna, my very Body and Blood which was ſhed on the Croſs, and my very Fleſh that was there crucified and broken for them; whenas notwithſtanding they order their Euchariſt ſo, that they turn my Supper into a Feaſt of Idolothyta, and make the Partakers thereof guilty of Idolatry or ſpiritual Fornication, foraſmuch as they give Divine Worſhip to that which is not God. So that as, in the Caſe of Balaam, the Iſraelites were to eat things ſacrificed to Idols in order to carnal Fornication, ſo they that partake of this perverted Euchariſt are neceſſarily ipſo facto (eſpecially ſince the fourth Lateran Council) drawn into ſpiritual Fornication or Idolatry. But he that is courageous and abſtains from this illicit Communion, and through Faith overcomes all Difficulties, for the quitting that outward white viſible Wafer, I will give him to eat of the hidden Manna, of that true ſpiritual Manna mentioned Joh. 6. For my Fleſh is Meat indeed, and my Blood is Drink indeed. But the Words I there ſpeak they are Spirit, and they are Life. Or if he die in the Cauſe, I will give him the hidden Manna, even the inviſible Food of Angels, and his Soul ſhall paſs into the Society of the bleſſed Genii and holy Souls of Saints departed this Life.

10. And I will give him a white Stone, and in the Stone a new Name written, which no Man knoweth ſaving he that receiveth it. That is to ſay, Though he be accuſed and reproached for an Heretick and Schiſmatick in the Church of Pergamus, where Satan the Accuſer dwells, yet I will give him a white Stone, and quit him in Judgment, and eſtabliſh the Joy and Peace of a good Conſcience unto him. Or thus; I will give him a white Stone, in which there is a new Name written; that is, his Old-man ſhall be throughly crucified, and he ſhall attain to the State of the New-man in the Purity thereof, and enjoy that ineſtimable Jewel of the Divine Nature pure and permanent, which no Man knows the Excellency of till he be made Partaker thereof. I will conſummate Regeneration to him either in this Life, or upon his Paſſage into the other State, if he be ſnatched away by a ſudden Martyrdom. And this will more than countervail all the Injuries the lofty Church of Pergamus can do to him in Life, Goods, or Good-Name.

CHAP. VI.

The Interpretation of the Epiſtle to the Church in Thyatira.

Apoc. 2. 18. AND to the Angel of the Church in Thyatira write. The true Church of Chriſt is ſtill in the Power and within the Juriſdiction of the Church of Rome: and therefore as Rome has been ſet out by the City of Babylon, Tyre, and Pergamus, ſo is it here in this Interval neceſſarily to be underſtood by the City of Thyatira, I mean in ſuch a Senſe as it was by the City of Pergamus. That θυγάτηρ (from whence both Strabo and Pliny, and others that are Criticks, fetch the Reaſon of the Name Thyatira) is alluded to, I am inclinable to think from thoſe Authorities; and that the Womaniſhneſs of the Church of Rome in this Period is perſtringed. That her Softneſs and Luxury was more than ordinarily increaſed in this Interval is not to be doubted, as certainly her Covetouſneſs, as alſo her Prankings and Adornings in the Splendour of their Altars, and Churches, and Copes, and the like. Which could not be ſo continuedly and ſo high in the former Interval. But here all along ſhe may well be looked upon as θυγάτηρ ἁπαλὴ, Filia delicatula, a delicate Damoſel indeed, ſitting like a Queen, and knowing no Sorrow, when a little before ſhe was like to be over-run by the Waldenſes and Albigenſes, and was fain to enter the Field, and fight manfully for her own Safety. A little after the Beginning of this Interval did Innocent the Fourth appoint in the Council at Lyons, That the Cardinals ſhould go in their Roſie-coloured Hats and Robes, and ride upon Horſes with Furniture and Trappings ſuitable to the Greatneſs of their Order, and Delicacy of their Condition. And the Mitre of Paul the ſecond is taken ſpecial Notice of for the exceeding Preciouſneſs of the Jewels therein. And no doubt there was the like Encreaſe of the Eccleſiaſtick cleſiaſtick Bravery every-where. A little before the Beginning of this Interval did Honorius the Third appoint the Carmelites to go in White, that they might look more Maiden-like, and decreed that they ſhould be called the Family of the Virgin. And the Franciſcans and Dominicans are notorious all along this Interval, who had the Virgin Mary for their peculiar Patroneſs. And indeed within this Interval, the Roman Church ran ſo much in the Feminine Strain, that they generally profeſſed themſelves more under the Government and Providence of our Lady, than of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt. Gregory the Ninth, a little before the Beginning of this preſent Interval, ordained that Salve Regina, an Hymn to the bleſſed Virgin, ſhould be ſung in all Churches. Boniface the Eighth, in the Year 1293, compoſed that Oraiſon, Ave, Virgo glorioſa: and in the Year 1470, the Mary Pſalter and her Roſarie were compoſed by Alanus de Rupe*.

*See if there was not a Marie's Pſalter before, Antidote againſt Idolat. Chap. 6. Sect. 8.

2. And how feminine this Church was in this Interval, the Obſervations of that excellent Perſon Sr. Edwyn Sandys (though after the Expiration thereof, when one would think they ſhould in Policy have been more caſtigate in their Religion) will give us fully to underſtand. 'The Honour, ſaith he, which they do to the Virgin 'Mary is double for the moſt part unto that which they do unto our Saviour. 'Where one profeſſes himſelf a Devoto or peculiar Servant of our Lord, whole Towns 'are the Devoti of our Lady. The ſtatelieſt Churches are hers lightly, and in 'Churches hers the faireſt Altars. Where one prayeth before the Crucifix, two be'fore her Image: where one voweth to Chriſt, ten vow to her: and for one Miracle 'reported to be wrought by the Crucifix, not ſo few perhaps as an hundred are voiced 'upon the Images of the Virgin. Their Devils in Exorciſm are alſo taught to en'dure the Name of God or the Trinity without Trouble; but at the naming of our 'Lady, to toſs and ſeem much tormented. Where one faſts on Friday upon the 'Account of the Paſſion of our Lord, many faſt on Saturday upon the Account of his 'Mother. And to their Beads they ſtring up ten Salutations of our Lady to one 'of our Lord's Prayers. The *Bell alſo which is rung at Sun-riſe, at Noon and 'Sun-ſet, is called the Ave-Mary Bell, whereby all Men every-where at thoſe 'Set-times might be engaged to do their Devotions to the Virgin Mary. And, 'laſtly, their chief Preachers do teach in Pulpit, whatſoever is found in Scripture 'ſpoken of Chriſt the Son of God, to apply it to our Lady alſo, as being the 'Daughter of God. Is not therefore the Church of Rome rightly called Thyatira, as alluding to θυγάτειρα, which both Strabo and Pliny would have to be the Reaſon of the Name of that City? Which Cornelius à Lapide has expreſly noted upon this very Place. 'But Strabo (ſays he) Book 13. Pliny Book 5. Chap. 9. and many others 'write, That this City, meaning Thyatira, was firſt by Seleucus the Son of Nicanor 'nam'd, θυγάτειρα, upon the Occaſion of the Joyful News that were brought of his 'having a Daughter born to him, from whence came the Name of Thyatira. Where'fore in Greek Thyatira ſignifies a Daughter, which fitly enough agrees to the allu'ring Jezebel, who is here reproved. Thus far Cornelius.

*This was the Inſtitute of Pope John 22. and within the fore-part of the Interval of Thyatira. See Polydore Virgil. de Rerum invent. lib. 6. c. 12.

3. And, verily, tho' after having made Search for thoſe Places, cited out of Strabo and Pliny, I could not find what I ſought, yet I ſee no Reaſon why I ſhould depart from this Part of my Expoſition. Firſt, becauſe what Cornelius here cites, tho' they can't in theſe, yet perhaps in other Places of theſe Authors they may be found. Next, becauſe there is no need of ſuch a Notation of the Name, ſeeing a paronomaſtical Alluſion is ſufficient. And Thyatira of it ſelf comes near enough the Sound of Thygatira, as muſt univerſally be allow'd by thoſe who will have it to be derived from thence. Nor is it difficult to prove this from the eaſie Eliſion of the Letter G out of many Words. Such in the Engliſh are obvious enough. But it will be more to the Purpoſe to produce Examples from the Greek, in which ἄτα by the Poets is often put for γᾶτα. Even in the middle of Words, the Beotians pronouncing ἰὼ and ἰὼν for ἐγώ. And from the Latin Word Magis came the French one Mais, and from Magiſter, Maiſtre. And Caninius pronounces of it in general, thus, There are innumerable other Words that loſe G. Which is an Argument that it is a weak and vaniſhing Conſonant, and which readily degenerates into Γ, or according as 'tis plac'd, may be eaſily loſt. Which plainly evinceth that θυάτειρα and θυγάτειρα are like enough in Sound as to the Paronomaſtick Alluſion in the Judgment of any that is not an incompetent Judge in ſuch Matters.

But that θυγάτειρα is the ſame with θυγάτηρ, beſides the common Analogy of forming Nouns pariſyllabick, as they are called, from the fifth Declenſion, as from χεῖρ χειρὸς, χείρη, ἡγεμὼν ἡγεμόνος, ἡγεμόνη, we have an Example that exquiſitely anſwers to this of θυγάτειρα from θυγατέιρος, namely μήτειρα from μητέιρος. So that the Word is abundantly regular. And lastly, tho' we should grant that there are no such Places either in Pliny or Strabo as Cornelius has quoted from them; nevertheless in Stephanus Byzantius this same thing is found expresly in his Book περὶ πόλεων καὶ δήμων, whose very Words for the Reader's fuller Satisfaction I will here transcribe. Θυάτειρα πόλις Λυδίας, ἣ πρότερον Πελόπεια καὶ Σεμίραμις, Σελεύκου δὲ ὁ Νικάνορος Λυσιμάχῳ πολεμῶν, καὶ ἀκούσας ὅτι θυγάτηρ αὐτῷ γέγονε, τὴν πόλιν ἐκάλεσε θυγάτειρα· καὶ ἔδει θηλυκῶς, νῦν δὲ οὐδετέρως φασιν· that is, Thyatira a City of Lydia, was formerly called Pelopea and Semiramis, but Seleucus the Son of Nicanor, warring against Lysimachus, and hearing that he had a Daughter born, called the City Thygatira, and it ought to be pronounced in the feminine Gender, tho' 'tis now for the most part in the Neuter. And so much by the Bye of the Reason of the Name Thyatira.

to

4. I will only add one thing more. Alstedius calls this Interval of Time, which we attribute to the Church of Thyatira, Regnum Locustarum, because of the Variety of the Orders of Monks that started up within this Time. And verily 'tis exceedingly worthy the Noting what Polydor Virgil writes of that one Order of the Franciscans about those Times, who were peculiarly devoted to the Service of the Blessed Virgin. The whole World (says he) was filled by this one Family, insomuch as even the Vulgar at that time being astonish'd, did suspect that sometimes not so much Piety as Ease and Idleness was by many sought after. Wherefore when the Roman Church so swarmed with Monks and Friers that had abjured their Virility by an irrevocable Vow of Cœlibate, living an idle Life, running about, and walking too and fro to chat, telling fooliſh Stories to the People, as old Women and Nurses use to Children, with Faces also as smooth and bald as these of Women, having their Heads cover'd with Hoods and their Cloaths loose and long like Women, as if they had entertain'd a greater Ambition to be accounted the Waiting-Maids and Hand-maids of the Blessed Virgin, (whom the Doctors of the Church affect to call the Daughter of God) than Servants and Soldiers of Jesus Christ; Was it not very congruous for the Spirit of Prophecy, by way of just Reproach to this Womanishness, so to characterize the Church of Rome at this time, by calling her Thyatira, as if they had become rather the Daughters of Men than the Sons of Men by this so general Effeminacy in more than those monkish Garbs which I now mention? Besides that these Petticoatmen, the Dominicans especially, managed their Opposition against the true Church in a right Feminine manner, not manly, as before, by meeting their Enemy in the Field, but sneakingly, by Perfidiousness and Treachery, to bring them into the Inquisition, and then cruelly and insultingly in the Upshot; as it is easie to understand by reading the History of the Holy Inquisition, as they call it. Therefore there being all these Symptoms of Feminity in the Church of Rome in this Interval, it is not unreasonable to conceive, that this Corruption of hers is here perstringed by calling her the City of Thyatira, alluding to Thygatira, which signifies not a Son of Adam, but a Daughter.

5. But were it not for the Authority of Strabo and Pliny, or rather of Stephanus Byzantius, there is another paronomastical Allusion which I could produce that I should prefer before this. Wherefore, according to the Richness of the Prophetick Style, I should also conceive Thyatira to allude to θύα τείρειν, which is, to break or bruise Aromatick Spices, which makes them give the sweeter Savour: or else to θυατήρια or θυητήρια, Altars for the burning sweet Odours. Any of which, methinks, is less forced than either Grotius his θύειν ἀτειρέα, or Strabo's θυγάτειρα. And as to the Sense, the Paronomasia is very expressive of the Persecutions of the true Members of Christ within this Interval, and agrees exactly with History, wherein there is little Talk of Slaying with the Sword, as is intimated in that Expression in the foregoing Interval, where the Martyr Antipas is said to be slain; (which agrees admirably well with that great Slaughter of the Waldenses and the Albigenses, which were martyred in the Field by the Pontifician Forces, as the Word κτείνειν or ἀποκτείνειν signifies properly to slay, suppose with the Sword or any such Weapon of War; Ἀνδρὰς μὲν κτείνυσι, πόλιν δέ τε πῦρ ἀμαθύνει·)

But the Persecutions in the Thyatyrian Interval were usually Burnings or Rackings, and wasting away their Lives in miserable Imprisonments. But that which was most frequent and most famous in this Period, was the burning of Men alive with Fire and Faggot. This filled Thyatira with so many θυητήρια. Where though the Cruelty

Cruelty of the Perſecutors was moſt execrable; yet the Faith, Conſtancy, and devout Sincerity of our bleſſed Proteſtant Martyrs went up with the Flames and Globes of Smoak, ſweeter than any Odours or Incenſe, from the Altar, into the Preſence of Heaven, and were there accepted for his Sake who gave himſelf for us an Offering and a Sacrifice to God for a ſweet-ſmelling Savour.

6. The Frequency of theſe Burnt-Offerings in thoſe Times is noted by Sanderus a Papiſt; Infinitos Lolhardos & Sacramentarios in tota Europa nuper ignibus traditos fuiſſe. But nothing can be ſo ſignificative of the Change of the Scene of the Perſecution of the Church in Pergamus, where Antipas was ſlain, to this in Thyatira, whereby theſe θυπτεια are alluded to, as that Paſſage in the Hiſtory of the Albigenſes, lib. 2. c. 9. which gave me Occaſion to terminate the Pergamenian Interval in that Year viz. 1242. Here you ſee, ſaith he, the laſt Attempt which we find the Albigenſes to have made, and the laſt Expedition of Pilgrims levied againſt them. All the Purſuit againſt them afterwards was by the Monks and Inquiſitors, (the Dominicans he means, of whoſe Father, Dominicus, his Mother when ſhe went with Child with him, dream'd ſhe was big of a Dog that vomited Fire out of his Throat,) which Monks, ſaith he, now kindled their Fires more than ever. And taking theſe poor People diſarmed, and ſingling them out by retail, it was impoſſible for them any longer to ſubſiſt. And ſo this ſuffering Church of Chriſt paſſed out of that State where Antipas was ſlain with the Sword, to that of Thyatira, where the holy Martyrs of our Reformed Religion were with Fire and Faggot burnt at the Stake. And this, I think, will ſuffice to make us underſtand why the Power and Juriſdiction of the Roman Church in this Interval bears the Title of Thyatira. Downham de Antichriſt. lib. 6. cap. 5.

7. Theſe things, ſaith the Son of God, who hath his Eyes like to a Flame of Fire, and his Feet are like fine Braſs. Where verily I think it will not be amiſs to remark by the way, how fit this Title of Chriſt is, and as it were aſſumed on Purpoſe to upbraid unto the Roman Church her prepoſterous Study of worſhipping the Virgin Mary as the Daughter of God with Rites Superſtitious and manifeſtly Idolatrous, and of preferring her in a manner to Chriſt himſelf the true Son of God, as is before noted. But in a larger Senſe, the Son of God is here Chriſt, either Perſonally, or Myſtically underſtood for his Body the Church. Underſtanding it perſonally of Chriſt, his flaming Eyes denote his piercing and all diſcerning Foreſight and Providence; it portends alſo his Wrath and Vengeance againſt the Perſecutors of his Church with Fire and Faggot: but his Feet like fine Braſs, the peremptory Conſtancy and Purity of his Ways. But if we underſtand theſe Feet like fine Braſs of Chriſt's myſtical Body, we are to make a Supply of the Deſcription out of the former Chapter, ver. 15. And his Feet like fine Braſs, as if they burned in a Furnace; whereby is inſinuated the fiery Trial of his Church in this Interval of Thyatira even in the groſſeſt Senſe, ſo many of his Servants ſtanding ty'd to the Stake with their Legs in the midſt of flaming Fire, kindled by their barbarous Perſecutors. That the Son of God deſcribed in the foregoing Chapter is alſo Repreſentative of his Body myſtical, the Deſcription of his Voice ſeems plainly to intimate. His Voice being compared to the Sound of many Waters, that inſinuates that this Deſcription reſpects alſo his Body myſtical, which are a Multitude.

8. I know thy Works, and Charity, and Service, and Faith. The true Church then in Thyatira being in Oppreſſion and Affliction ſtood cloſe to one another in a moſt intimate and officious Friendſhip, and encouraged and comforted one another, and ſupported one another as well as they could, and endeavoured after an Exemplarity of Godlineſs and due Proficiency in the Power of Religion, as being Candidates for that Deliverance which they by Faith ſaw was not far off. Verſe 19.

And thy Patience, and thy Works, and the laſt to be more than the firſt. That is, I ſee the Works of thy Patience in ſuffering Impriſonment, Tortures, and even Death it ſelf, and particularly in giving up your ſelves, as an Oblation of Incenſe, to the Fire and Faggot in ſuch Numbers for the Teſtimony of my Truth. Which being toward the latter End of this Interval, it is moſt fitly ſaid, and the laſt to be more than the firſt. This verily moſt exactly agrees to what is found in Hiſtory.

9. Notwithſtanding I have a few things againſt thee, becauſe thou ſuffereſt that Woman Jezebel, which calleth her ſelf a Propheteſs, &c. viz. the Papal Hierarchy, that pretends to be infallible, and under colour of this brings in Idolatry, which is ſpiritual Fornication, and detains Men in the Communion of their idolatrous Maſs, which the Spirit of God here parallels to the eating of things ſacrificed to Idols. The Propheteſs Jezebel here therefore anſwers to the falſe Prophet after-mentioned in the Verſe 20.

Apoc. 19. 20. Apoc. 18. 4. Revelations; and this Exprobration to the Church in Thyatira, of permitting Jezebel thus to practiſe her Deceits, to that Voice of the Angel, Come out of her, my People, leſt ye be Partakers of her Sins and of her Plagues. It is a kind of Solicitation of the Princes and People in Chriſtendom, ſuch verily as diſcerned the Frauds and Idolatries of the Roman Church, to make a Defection from her, and ſuffer her Trumperies no longer. For the time of that Defection now drew near, and things were plainly ripe for it, and it was in the Power of them that diſliked the preſent Condition of Affairs to amend it: and therefore he ſaith, Becauſe thou ſuffereſt that Woman Jezebel. For it is no Fault in us to ſuffer thoſe things which it is not in our Power to help or redreſs.

10. This Jezebel is very expreſſive of the Roman Hierarchy, if we recurr to the Story of the Book of the Kings: not only for her Painting of her ſelf, (which is notorious in the Roman Church, (and eſpecially in this Interval,) and ſuch as the Homilies of our Church in England take eſpecial Notice of, comparing all thoſe rich and gorgeous Adornings of the Church of Rome, to the Painting of the wrinkled Face of an Harlot,) but alſo for her Whoredomes and Witchcraft, as it is noted 1 Kings 9. 22. What Peace, ſo long as the Whoredomes of thy Mother Jezebel and her Witchcrafts are ſo many? Which is exactly parallel to the Deſcription of the Whore of Apoc. 17. Babylon, who is ſaid to be the Mother of Fornications and Abominations of the Earth; deſcribed alſo by that Cup of Sorcery in her Hand, whereby ſhe intoxicates the Kings of the Earth, and makes them drunk with the Wine of her Fornication. And whereas ſhe is ſaid to be drunk with the Blood of the Saints, and with the 1 Kings 18. 4. Blood of the Martyrs of Jeſus, Jezebel alſo in her Hiſtory is famous for murthering the Prophets of God.

11. And thoſe groſs Wickedneſſes committed by Ahab, who did very abominably in following Idols, and in perſecuting the Servants of the true God, who is ſaid to have ſold himſelf to work Wickedneſs, all theſe things ſurely are imputed to 1 Kings 21. 25. this ſubtil murtherous Whore and Witch, as the Text plainly declares. But there was none like unto Ahab, who did ſell himſelf to work Wickedneſs in the Sight of the Lord, whom Jezebel his Wife ſtirred up. That is to ſay, the Roman Hierarchy (according as both the Viſion of the Whore of Babylon and of the two-horned Beaſt do plainly ſignifie,) was the Author, Contriver, and Inſtigator unto all thoſe murtherous and idolatrous Practices that the Secular Magiſtrate has been guilty of, during Apoc. 13. their Force and Tyranny over the true Servants of Chriſt. The Beaſt with two-Horns exerciſed all this Power before the Beaſt with ten Horns, or rather made uſe of the ſecular Power to effect all their deviliſh Deſigns againſt the Children of 1 Kings 21. 8. God; as Jezebel wrote Letters in Ahab's Name, and ſealed them with his Seal. The Church got the Stamp of the Imperial Authority upon all the wicked Dogmata of their Religion and Idolatrous Practices, which they contrived for their own carnal Advantages: and then if any Naboth would not part with the Inheritance of his Fathers, the Poſſeſſion of an holy, righteous, and rational Conſcience, nor profeſs nor act againſt the τὰ πατεινὰ σύμβολα, againſt thoſe native Truths and Notions which God of his infinite Mercy and Faithfulneſs has implanted in the Minds of Prov. 20. 27. all Men that have not done Violence to that innate Light, the Candle of the Lord ſearching all the Parts of the Belly, he was through the murtherous Contrivances of 1 Kings 21. 10. this Strumpet Jezebel falſly accuſed as a Blaſphemer of God and the King, as an Enemy to both the Catholick Faith and Secular Magiſtrate, and ſo was ſentenced to Death. And Death came by theſe wicked Accuſations in this Interval, as in the former Interval, wherein Antipas was ſlain, by openly fighting in the Field. Thus appoſite is the Alluſion to the Hiſtory of Jezebel, for the ſetting out the State of this Interval of the Church under the Tyranny of the Church of Rome.

12. Nor is it at all harſh, thus to interpret a Vineyard to ſo ſpiritual a Senſe as to make it ſomething within us, whenas both Philo and other ancient Interpreters have interpreted Paradiſe to that Senſe, or the Garden of Eden. And others alſo cannot but acknowledge that that Law of Moſes, Deut. 22. 9. Thou ſhalt not ſow thy Vineyard with divers Seeds, has alſo a Moral or Myſtical Meaning, and is a Precept of Simplicity or Sincerity of Heart. Wherefore the Vineyard of Naboth may very well ſignifie the Humane Will and Underſtanding that is ſown only or planted with ſuch Notions or Notices of things as are from God, whether they be thoſe innate Idea's of the Soul, or what is communicated farther by the Spirit of God in the Holy Writings of inſpired Men, or are more immediately inſpired into us by the Abode of that Spirit in us. All theſe Plants are of our Heaventhly Father's own planting, planting, and no other Seed is to be ſown among them repugnant thereunto. And this Vineyard is the Inheritance of all true Chriſtians, deſcending upon them from the Apoſtles Time to this very Day. But the Roman Empire being perverted by the Doctrines of the Whore or Two-horned Beaſt, or by the Corruptions alſo of their own Nature, had a Mind to invade this ancient Right as Ahab had to get into his Poſſeſſion Naboth's Vineyard, under Pretence that Men giving up their Will and Underſtanding to the ſupreme Power, Government might be the more ſecure. And all that wondred after the Beaſt gave up their Vineyards into the Hand of the ſecular Power, and profeſſed no otherwiſe than according to the Faith of the Empire, and ſo had their Vineyards ſown with divers Seeds, nay indeed with what was repugnant to the Apoſtolick Plantation. And their Minds were in a wonderful manner filled with groſs Lies, foul-Idolatries of all ſorts, and murderous Enmities againſt the true Children of God. Apoc. 13.

13. But as for the Vineyard of Naboth, that is the Vineyards of the true Prophets or Propheteſſes, as the Word Naboth ſeems to intimate; they were not given up, that is, thoſe that were not Chriſtians for Faſhion-ſake, and believed new-invented Lies and Apoſtolick Truth alike, but with a true and living Faith acknowledged Jeſus to be the Chriſt, theſe would rather loſe their Lives than quit their Vineyards that yielded them that noble Wine, that perpetual Feaſt of a good Conſcience, and of Peace and Joy in the Holy Ghoſt. Whence it was that this Whore and Sorcereſs Jezebel contrived their Death or Perſecution and Oppreſſion, as the Prophets are ſaid to both mourn in Sackcloth, and alſo to be ſlain. The Vineyard therefore of Naboth is that Senſe, and Knowledge, and Conſcience, and Life of the Spirit in the new-birth, whereby a Man diſcerning plainly and livingly betwixt the Ways of Chriſt and of Antichriſt, does as neceſſarily loath the one, as adhere to the other. Apoc. 11.

14. For the true and firm Belief in Chriſt is from the New-birth, as St. John alſo witneſſes, Every one that believeth that Jeſus is the Chriſt is born of God. And therefore this Spirit of Life muſt needs have an Antipathy againſt what is contrary to it ſelf: And is alſo the Spirit of Prophecy in the moſt concerning Senſe: As John likewiſe intimates in his general Epiſtle, where, upon his mentioning many falſe Prophets gone out into the World, he preſently adds, In this ye know the Spirit of God, Every Spirit that confeſſeth that Jeſus is the Chriſt come in the Fleſh, is of God. Which agrees exactly with that in the Apocalyps, where the Angel ſays to John, I am thy Fellow-Servant, and of thy Brethren that have the Teſtimony of Jeſus, that is to ſay, of ſuch as whoſe Hearts do witneſs to them firmly and lively that Jeſus is the Chriſt, and accordingly profeſs it; which none can do unleſs he be born of God, and ſo have the Spirit of God. Which is plainly implyed in the following Words: For the Teſtimony of Jeſus is the Spirit of Prophecy: that is to ſay, the being able in ſuch ſort to witneſs that Jeſus is the Chriſt, is from the Spirit and Life of God in us which inſpireth all holy Truth. From whence the Angel argues a kind of Parity betwixt John and himſelf, and indeed all ſuch as have the Teſtimony of Jeſus according to the Senſe declared, and therefore would not be worſhipped by them. 1 John 5. 1. 1 John 4. 12. Apoc. 19. 10.

15. But this is almoſt a Digreſſion, ſaving that it may illuſtrate that Paſſage in the Apocalyps, where the two Witneſſes are alſo called the two Prophets, (not ſo much from predicting Things to come, as from witneſſing to the Truth from the Spirit of Life in the New-birth, and being ſo firm in this Faith as to ſuffer for it even to the Death) and may alſo facilitate the Belief of this Myſtical Senſe of the Story of Naboth's Vineyard, or this Vineyard of Prophecy: it not implying any miraculous Predictions, but the being inſpired with a right Sentiment of Things from the Spirit of Life, and having the Confidence to ſpeak the Truth as it is in Jeſus. This is all that need to be underſtood thereby. Apoc. 11. 3. 10.

16. To teach and to ſeduce my Servants to commit Fornication, and to eat Things ſacrificed unto Idols. This Woman of Thyatira, (whether the Wife of the Biſhop of Thyatira, or ſome other Perſon of Quality, for Interpreters of the Letter vary in that) according to the Literal Senſe, is deſcribed from her Acts, as only guilty of pretending her ſelf to be a Propheteſs, and that thereby ſhe ſeduced the Servants of Chriſt to commit Fornication and to eat things ſacrificed to Idols, which is a chief Point of that which was called Gnoſticiſme. And the Truth of the ſuppoſed Hiſtory here we do in no wiſe deny. But we alſo add, that it is hugely improbable, that the Spirit of Prophecy would take Notice ſo particularly of any one Woman in ſo majeſtick a Writing (which Alcazar alſo very ſeriouſly and vehemently urges) if there were not some greater Matter aimed at. Wherefore I say, the Spirit of God taking the Advantage of the Significancy of the Miscarriages of this Woman in Thyatira; which would set out part of the Enormities of the Church of Rome here perstringed, added there to the Name of Jezebel, that the prophetick Prefiguration might be the more compleat, the Church of Rome in this Interval being lively adumbrated by this Allusion to Jezebel, joined to what is reported of this Woman in Thyatira, viz. That she pretends to be a Propheteſs as the Church of Rome to be infallible, that she drew the Servants of Christ to Idolatry and Uncleanness, as the Church of Rome does by engaging them in the Mass and other superficial Modes of serving God, that leave the Mind equally addicted to things sensual as before, and besides necessarily intangle them in Idolatrous Practices. Thus much from the Practice of this Woman.

17. Now in that she has this Name given her of Jezebel, assuredly the Spirit of God points us to her Story to make up this Parallel betwixt this Woman and Rome, viz. as she is also a Murderer of the Prophets and Servants of God, and a Contriver of false Accusations against them, as if by the keeping of the Inheritance of their Fathers, a pure Conscience according to the Ancient and Apostolick Faith and innate Notions of Truth that God has implanted in the Minds of all Men, they were Blasphemers of God and the King, and obnoxious to both the Civil and spiritual Magistrate. And lastly, (which is to be taken special Notice of) the Church of Rome in this Interval of the Succession of the Church of Christ is called Jezebel, because for all her Paintings and fine meretricious Pranking her self up, she was in a little time to be thrown out at the Window, and her Flesh to be devoured by Dogs: which the just Wrath of God and the Zeal of Jehu, (the noble Reformers) stirred up by the Spirit of God brought to pass at the End of this Interval of the Church, as it is threatned also in the following Parts of this Epistle.

1 Kings 18. 4.
1 Kings 21. 10.

18. Which Event indeed seems to be hinted at even by the Name of Jezebel it self. For as a severe enough Critick in the Hebrew Tongue in his Notation of the Name אִיזֶבֶל (the Composition of which is altogether like unto that of this Word אִיזֹבֶל) says that it may be compounded either of אַי ubi, where, or אוֹי væ, wo, or וַאי non, not, and כָּבוֹד Gloria, Glory; so I say that the Word אִיזֶבֶל may be compounded either of אַי, or of אַיִן, and זֶבֶל which signifies an Habitation, or of אוֹי and זֶבֶל which in the Chaldee (which is a Dialect of the Hebrew Tongue) signifies Dung. Which Reasons of the Name do very well agree to the History of Jezebel, and to the Fate of the Roman Church at the expiring of this Interval of Thyatira. For if we derive אִיזֶבֶל from אַי where, or אַיִן not, and זֶבֶל an Habitation, it will plainly have respect to the thrusting of Jezebel out of her Habitation by casting her headlong from the Window; but it will also most fitly prefigure the Ejection of the Roman Priests and Monks about the Beginning of the Reformation, namely, that they were to be violently expell'd from their Habitations, by the Edicts of the Magistrate.

Gregor. Franc. Lexit. Sanit. 107.

But if we deduce the Word אִיזֶבֶל from אוֹי Wo, or Alas and זֶבֶל Dung, both the Crime and Punishment of the Roman Church will be found couch'd in this Name, seeing the Filthinesses and Corruptions of it are likened to Dung; and a Punishment is intimated not unlike that of Jezebel, according as it is written, And the Carcase of Jezebel shall be as Dung upon the Face of the Field.

2 King. 9. 37.

So that the very Notation it self of the Name signifies with what Reproach and Disgrace the Papal Power and Superstition was to be abolish'd in these Places from which it was to be thrown out, namely that it was to be troden down into the very Mire. Insomuch that he who in the Pergamenian Interval was בַּל־עַם, that is, Lord of the People, (the Papal Hierarchy every where bearing Sway) upon him in the End of this Interval of Thyatira this insulting Lamentation might be taken up, with a paronomastical Allusion to the preceding Etymology as to the Sense not much differing, and near enough to the Sound of the Word אִיזֶבֶל, namely, אוֹי־צָא־בַל, Alas! the Dung, or Dirt of the Papal Dominion. Alas, how is it troden down into the Mire of the Streets! Which was remarkably accomplish'd in the Actions of Martin Luther against the Pope and Roman Clergy. It may possibly seem to some a thing too trifling to give our selves up so much to playing with Words; but indeed this ought not to be look'd on as a slight Matter, but to be of the highest Importance, that all the proper Names, whether of Men or Cities, in these prophetick Epistles do so fitly, unconstrainedly, and exactly agree to the Scope and Design of the Prophecies.

19. And

19. And I gave her ſpace to repent her of her Fornication, and ſhe repented not. Verſe 21. She had a fair time to conſider of her groſs Apoſtaſies from the Purity of my Worſhip ſince the Witneſs of the Waldenſes and Albigenſes againſt her, and yet ſhe remains ſtill obdurate and impenitent, and continues her old Trade of Whoring ſtill.

Behold, I will caſt her into a Bed, and them that commit Adultery with her into Verſe 22. great Tribulation, except they repent of their Deeds. Unleſs ſhe repent I will certainly caſt her into a Bed of Sickneſs and Languiſhment, for that Bed of Adultery wherein ſhe has entertained the Kings of the Earth. Her Strength and Glory ſhall be much diminiſhed, and her Paramours ſhall bewail the Calamity I ſhall bring upon her: For there ſhall be of the Kings that ſhall hate the Whore, ſhall make her deſolate in their Dominions, and naked, and ſhall eat her Fleſh and burn her with Fire. As it fell out in the late Defection of whole Nations from her.

And I will kill her Children with Death. That is, either ſlay them with the Sword Verſe 23. of the Spirit, and ſo make them dead as to her by their Converſion to the Truth, or elſe kill them not with a myſtical but a natural Death, ſuch I mean as come againſt my true Church, whether whole Armies or ſeditious Emiſſaries, as has often happened ſince the Reformation.

And all the Churches ſhall know that I am he that ſearches the Reins and Hearts, and will give unto every one of you according to his Works. That is, it will be in every one's Mouth and notoriouſly taken notice of in all Chriſtendom how juſt my Judgments are, and that I deal not with Jezebel according to her fair Pretences and Titles, who calls her ſelf Holy Church, and pretends all her Cruelties, and Impoſturous and Idolatrous Trumperies to be for my Glory, whenas they have run into all this Degeneracy for their worldly Intereſt. But mine Eyes which are a flaming Fire, ſearching into the Hearts and Reins, clearly ſee their abominable Hypocriſie, and my Feet like fine Braſs, that never go out of the Way of Purity and Juſtice, will be ſure to overtake them and do due Vengeance upon them. I will reward every one according to his Works.

20. But unto you I ſay, and unto the reſt in Thyatira as many as have not this Do- Verſe 24. ctrine. To you Paſtors of my true Church in Thyatira, and the reſt which are your Charge, that hold not the Idolatrous Doctrine or Faith of the Thyatirian, that is, of the Roman Church.

And which have not known the Depths of Satan, as thy ſpeak; that is, which have not approved the deep Myſteries (as they ſpeak) of Reaſon of State, or of the Roman Religion, (ſuch as murdering innocent Men for the Intereſt of Holy Church; Infallibility, Tranſubſtantiation and the like) but I who ſearch the Heart and Reins, do apertly declare to be the Depths of Satan, they tending to nothing but to Luciferian Pride, barbarous Perſecutions and Murders, and in fine, to groſs Impoſture and Idolatry.

I will put upon you no other Burden, but that which ye have already, hold faſt until Verſe 25. I come: I have already ſhew'd you my Approbation of your Ways, ver. 19. and in that ye do not communicate with the Idolatrous Jezebel, keep to where you are, and ſtand out to the laſt: let no Perſecutions diſmay you, till I come in Judgment againſt this Jezebel, the ſame with the Little Horn in Daniel, which in the expiring of the Time, and Times, and half a Time, will certainly be judged.

21. And he that overcometh and keepeth my Works unto the End, to him will I give Verſe 26. Power over the Nations. That Company of Men, or thoſe People that keep my Works to the End, to the laſt Semi-time of the Seven, they ſhall have Power over the Pagan Chriſtians, they ſhall get them under and be no more domineered over by them.

And he ſhall rule them with a Rod of Iron: that is, with ſufficient Power and Verſe 17. Strictneſs to keep them in Subjection.

As the Veſſels of a Potter ſhall they be broken to Shivers. The Stone ſhall ſmite the Image on the Feet and break them to Pieces. That ſhall be at the long-run.

Even as I received of my Father. I in you, and you in me; you in me by vertue of the Power of my Spirit ſhall thus reign; and I in you according as it is written, I ſhall give thee the Heathen for thine Inheritance, the uttermoſt Parts of the Pſalm 2. Earth for thy Poſſeſſion; Thou ſhalt break them with a Rod of Iron, thou ſhalt daſh them in Pieces as a Potters Veſſel. But this is ſomething further off.

22. And I will give him the Morning Star. In the mean time, and which is next Verſe 28. to ſucceed, I will give them the Morning-Star; that is, a conſiderable Dawning towards that greater Day of the illuſtrious Reign of Chriſt upon Earth, in his Saints by his Spirit. The Phoſphorus to the glorious Sun-riſe of the happy Millenium properly ſo called. This Interval will be the ſame with that of the Vials which are accompanied with ſuch a Smoak; as here the Promiſe, which is to be performed in the next Succeſſion of the Church, and there continued, is not expreſſed with that Vigor as elſewhere, where Chriſt in reference to his Kingdom is ſaid to be the bright Morning-Star, here onely the Morning-Star without the Ornament of that Epithet: The Kingdom of Chriſt therefore under the firſt Thunder may be ſaid to be the Morning-Star, but under the ſecond and forwards, the bright Morning-Star. And it is obſervable, that whereas in that other place he is called ἀστὴρ ὄρθρινος, in this he is called ἀστὴρ πρωϊνὸς, which may alſo have the Signification of a thing happening more early than was expected, which exquiſitely anſwers to the Event, it falling out toward the Fore-part of the laſt Semi-time. But theſe Things are only by the Bye.

Apoc. 22. 10.

Verſe 29. He that hath an Ear to hear, let him hear what the Spirit ſaith unto the Churches. There is nothing New remarkable in this Epiphonema, but the placing of it after the whole Epiſtle, which is a Sign that all the Epiſtle is a Parable, and is not only meant of the Church in Thyatira in the Literal Senſe (but that the Condition and Affairs of ſome other Church, the truly Catholick and Apoſtolick Church in the Interval defined, are here prefigured and deſcribed prophetically.) And that therefore the Promiſes are to be performed on this Stage of the Earth, as of their own Nature they appear to be ſuch that have a Political Senſe. Which therefore therewithal aſſures us, that ſuch a Tenour of Interpretation belongs to the three following Epiſtles, becauſe the Epiphonema is the Cloſe of every one of them. And therefore we ſhall ſteer the Courſe of our Interpretation accordingly.

CHAP. VII.

The Interpretation of the Epiſtle to the Church in Sardis.

Apoc. 3. 1.

1. AND unto the Angel of the Church in Sardis write. That Sardis was a City in Aſia is manifeſt Ch. 1. And conſidered no otherwiſe than ſo, does not at all illuſtrate the Condition of this fifth Succeſſion of the State of the Church. But acknowledging here again a Paronomaſtical Alluſion to Sarda the precious Stone, as Grotius does: or, taking Notice with Pliny, that that Stone is ſo called for its firſt being found about Sardis, it may prove very ſignificative of the Condition of Reformed Chriſtendom within that Interval, beginning from the riſing of the Witneſſes, and ending in the laſt Vial, in Part of it I mean. After which the Interval of Philadelphia comes in, and takes up alſo the ſecond and Third Thunder. Some ſpecial Qualities therefore of the Church of Sardis are to be read in this Stone Sarda, and ſome to her Praiſe, others to her Diminution. The Virtue of this Stone is, that carried about one it makes a Man chearful and couragious, and drives away Witchcraft and Enchantment, and expells Poiſon rightly adminiſtred, which adumbrate ſome peculiar Privileges in this Sardian Church. Their joyful and chearful Security in Juſtification by Faith in Chriſt's Blood, and their being rid of the poiſonous idolatrous Doctrines, and bewitching Enchantments of the Cup of the Whore. Here's nothing of Jezebel in this Church, nor any Mention of the eating of things offered to Idols, nor in the two following Epiſtles, which is no ſmall Ratification of the Truth of the myſtical Senſe of theſe Succeſſions. Both they and ſhe are well and ſound touching theſe Points.

But as to the Gladneſs or Cheerfulneſs before mentioned, 'tis plainly ſignifyed not by the Virtue of the Sardin Stone only, but alſo by the Name of the City of Sardis; for Sardis, as may be ſeen in the common Latin Dictionary, is as much as to ſay a Song of Gladneſs. As if Sardis were to be deduced from שׁר to ſing, and רים which comes from the Arabick רום to exult or leap for Joy, as פרדים a Paradice, ſeems to be derived from פרי and רים, becauſe it brings forth Fruits of Gladneſs, Which Etymologies I very well know are approved by thoſe who are moſt skilful in the oriental Tongues. Neither was this here to be omitted, ſeeing the Name Sardis, according to this Derivation, does ſo admirably agree with the Song of the Harpers, Apocal. 15. For the Song of the Harpers does immediately go before the Pouring out of the Vials, and is therefore coincident with the Beginning of the Sardian Interval. Which verily is a moſt beautiful Agreement of Things, but which there is is no further Occaſion of Proſecuting in this Place. And theſe are, for the moſt Part, the Things tending to the Praiſe of this Sardian Church, which were to be noted in the Paronomaſtical Alluſion.

2. But this Stone Sarda, which is alſo called Carnalina, and in the Hebrew אדם, Odem, as repreſenting humane Fleſh and Blood ſo lively, ſeems alſo to inſinuate ſomething to the Derogation of the Sardian Church, as if they were Fleſh, and not Spirit; which is the ſpecial Diſpenſation of the Church of Philadelphia. And whereas Chriſt's Conqueſt over Edom is, by letting out or ſqueezing out the corrupt Blood of old Adam, this Odem or Carnalina is ſaid to be of that Virtue as to ſtanch Blood and ſtop it from running out, and therefore ſeems to be ſignificative of whatever Doctrines in the Sardian Church that hinder the due and requiſite Mortification of the Old-man, as loth to weaken him too much, and let too much of his Blood and Life run out.

3. The Meaning therefore is, that though the Sardian Church be well rid of the foul Idolatries and groſs Trumperies of the Papal Church, yet her State as yet is but carnal moſt-what. It is not the Diſpenſation of the Spirit of Life, but the main ſtir is about external Opinion and Ceremony: they ſeem to know Chriſt only according to the Fleſh, not according to the Power of his Spirit, whereby he is able to ſubdue all things under him.

Whereas Chriſt after he had ſaid that his Fleſh was Meat indeed, and his Blood was Drink indeed, clearly explains himſelf, in declaring expreſly, that the Fleſh profiteth nothing; the Words that I ſpeak unto you, they are Spirit, and they are Life; yet a great Part of this Sardian Church, I mean the Lutherans, rack their own Wits, and diſturb the Reſt of the Reformed Chriſtendom, to maintain that odd Paradox of Conſubſtantiation, that ſo Men may eat and drink that groſs Fleſh and Blood of Chriſt that was crucify'd upon the Croſs in the Celebration of their Euchariſts. What can be more Carnaline-like than this? Beſides that there are over-many that do as groſly and carnally erre touching the Nature of the Reſurrection-Body, they phanſying it as terreſtrially modify'd (though it be called a celeſtial or ſpiritual Body in the Scriptures,) as that Body is that we put into the Grave, or is capable of the Embraces of the Nuptial Bed. To ſay nothing of other ſuch like groſs carnal Conceits (which I wittingly and willingly paſs by) that this Sardian Church has not yet expunged out of her Mind. John 6. 55. John 6. 63.

But as miſchievous a Mark as any of her Carnality is her Diſſention and Schiſmaticalneſs even to mutual Perſecution, as alſo the unnatural and unchriſtian Wars of one Part of Reformed Chriſtendom againſt the other. Theſe Things rankly ſavour of the Fleſh, and are infinitely contrary to the due Diſpenſation of the Spirit; which when it ſhall appear will bring in the Church of Philadelphia, the Church of ſincere and unfeigned Love and Charity, wherein, according to the Prediction of the Prophets, there ſhall not be the Noiſe of this Unchriſtian War any more. Finally, the inſatiable Deſire of heaping up Riches, may alſo here be mentioned, which makes the Church to merit the Epithet of Sardian in the worſt Senſe, as if we ſhould chooſe rather to affect the Wealth of Cræſus the King of Sardis, than the Poverty of Chriſt, or throwing off all worldly Deſires, to ſtudy the Advancement of his Kingdom by all honeſt Endeavours and Integrity of Manners. Theſe Touches may ſuffice to ſhew why the Spirit of God has denoted this Succeſſion of his Church by the Title of the Church in Sardis.

4. Theſe things, ſaith he that hath the ſeven Spirits of God. The Number Seven ſignifies Univerſality ſometimes; whence the Pythagoreans call it ὁλομέλεια. The Senſe therefore is, that hath in Readineſs to beſtow all the Spiritual or Divine Graces to make the Man of God perfect to every good Word and Work.

And the Seven Stars. That is to ſay, that holds the Seven Stars in his Right-hand: ſo it is in the Deſcription before his Speech to the Epheſine Church, which is repeated here for Encouragement; Chriſt hereby declaring his Power, and promiſing his Aſſiſtance to the renewing of Chriſtendom through the begun Reformation, as well as he did to the forming of it at firſt, and rooting out Paganiſm in the firſt Beginning of the Church, which is the Epheſine Interval.

I know thy Works, that thou haſt a Name that thou liveſt, and art dead. I diſcern plainly thy State and Condition. Thou haſt indeed a Semblance of Life, becauſe thou haſt a great deal of Heat and Zeal, and doſt with an external Fervour do many Performances that may raiſe a Fame of thee of being more than ordinarily religious. And many hot Diſputes there may be for this or that Ceremony, for this or that Opinion, and againſt them, much and very vehement Diſcourſe about Faith and Juſtification, and the like. Which Heat and Activity bears a Semblance of Life in thee. But aſſure thy ſelf, unleſs thou haſt that Faith that worketh by Love, all this Stir is but the Noiſe of tinkling Braſs or of ſounding Cymbals. And being thus alive, thou art notwithſtanding in my Sight little better than dead. And although thou doſt thus imitate warm Fleſh and Blood, yet thou art but a cold Sardius Stone

of

1 Tim. 5. to my Touch and Diſcernment. As ſhe that liveth wantonly is dead while ſhe liveth, though ſhe thinks ſhe is then moſt of all alive: So it is with him that, devoid of Chriſtian Love and Charity, is enlivened with an hot, bitter, ignorant and prepoſterous Zeal: This verily is not the Life of God, but of mere Nature and Carnality.

Verſe 2. 5. Be watchful, and ſtrengthen the things that remain that are ready to die. Take heed that want of Love and Life hazard not Faith too, and Remiſneſs in Manners bring not in Atheiſm and Infidelity over all.

For I have not found thy Works perfect before me. Thoſe things that have Life in them go on to Perfection. Wherefore if they ſtop before, and make no Progreſs, it is a Sign there is ſome deadly Diſtemper at the very Heart or Root, and ſuch a Plant muſt of neceſſity wither and die. Thy Works are neither Perfect, nor doſt thou eaſily admit of ſuch Doctrines as lead moſt effectually to Perfection.

Verſe 3. Remember therefore how thou haſt received and heard, and hold faſt and repent. That is to ſay, You that are my true Apoſtolick Church, remember what ye have received from me my ſelf, or my Apoſtles; ſtand faſt to the infallible Word, which will impartially inſtruct and excite you to all the due Meaſures of Godlineſs. And believe not the rotten and corrupt Gloſſes of deceitful Men, that would ſew Pillows under Mens Arm-holes, and frame Opinions and Precepts to favour the Luſts of the Fleſh. To dote upon Men, is a Piece of Carnality; but to dote on them for their carnal Opinions and Fleſh-favouring Documents, is Sardian or Carnaline of a double Dye. Repent therefore, for the Kingdom of God is at Hand; and he that has the Seven Spirits of God ſtands ready to aſſiſt and ſuccour with his Divine Graces all that ſincerely endeavour after Righteouſneſs. So that the Fault lies at your own Doors.

If therefore thou ſhalt not watch, I will come on thee as a Thief, and thou ſhalt not know what Hour I will come upon thee. If thou wilt not return to true Sobriety and Sincerity of Manners, I ſhall bring ſome ſignal Miſchief upon thee before thou beeſt aware; I ſhall ſuddenly come in Judgment againſt thee when thou leaſt dreameſt thereof. God of his infinite Mercy avert the ill Omen, and change our Hearts, that we may amend our Lives, and he may be reconciled to us.

Verſe 4. 6. Thou haſt a few Names even in Sardis, which have not defiled their Garments. Notwithſtanding the Diſpenſation of the Sardian Church be ſo generally carnal, in the very Hew of that Carnaline-ſtone that looks ſo like mere Fleſh and Blood, yet there are ſome few that have not defiled their Garments with that Colour, but are as it were the Primitiæ of the Diſpenſation of the Spirit, whoſe inward Man is renewed Day by Day into the Image of my ſelf, and are made Partakers of the Divine Nature, and are truly the Children of Light.

And they ſhall walk with me in white. Theſe ſhall not only enjoy glorious Converſes with me, and I communicate my ſpiritual Graces abundantly to them, but they ſhall be very ſucceſsful and proſperous in their Affairs. For to be cloathed in White ſignifies ſo in the Onirocriticks, accordingly as you may ſee in Achmetes.

For they are worthy. For I do to every one according to his Work.

Verſe 5. 7. He that overcometh, the ſame ſhall be clothed in white Raiment. He that overcometh all the Luſts of this terreſtrial Body, to him will I communicate the Celeſtial or Divine. This is a more Theological Senſe. But the Political is moſt proper, the Epiphonema concluding the whole Epiſtle. Wherefore to be clothed in white Raiment, it being here the Promiſe to him that overcomes, ſignifies (and that rather in this than in the foregoing Verſe) Succeſs and Proſperity in external Affairs, and Exemption from Griet and Affliction, as the Onirocriticks do expreſly interpret it. See Achmetes.

And I will not blot his Name out of the Book of Life. The more proper and Political Senſe may be, that when the Church by overcoming has emerged into the Philadelphian Condition, it ſhall never change, at leaſt as to the external Frame, but keep up to the End; and that God will avowedly acknowledge it to be his even to the laſt, even then when it is paſſed into the Laodicean State, and the State of Perſecution Perſecution ſhall never overwhelm it any more. So the Book of Life may ſignifie here as the Crown of Life before in the Epiſtle to the Church of Smyrna.

But I will confeſs his Name before my Father and before his Angels. That is to ſay, I will acknowledge his Nature to have become in a manner Divine and Angelical, and therefore to be a meet Aſſociate for their Companies in my heavenly Kingdom for ever. This may be a Moral or Theological Senſe. But the Political is chiefly aimed at, as is intimated by the placing of the Epiphonema laſt of all. The confeſſing therefore of the Names of theſe few in Sardis that are right as they ſhould be, and as many as make up to the Meaſure of their Sanctity, (which therefore are the Seed of the Philadelphian Church,) Chriſt his confeſſing of their Names before his Father and before his holy Angels, is the mentioning of their Names as of a People more peculiarly his, and extraordinarily dear unto him; that by thus owning them in ſuch an endearing Manner before God and his Angels, they may be in a more ſpecial Manner recommended to the Favour and Protection of God, and to the faithful and watchful Miniſtry of his holy Angels: which will be the efficient Cauſes of their being cloathed in White, and of their Name never being blotted out of the Book of Life; that is to ſay, of the Permanency of their outward Proſperity, and Security from Miſery and Oppreſſion; that thus Innocency and outward Felicity may go Hand in Hand in the bleſſed Millennium, which is in a manner the ſame with the Philadelphian Interval of the Church. Theſe few Names in Sardis will amount to this at laſt. For Salvation is to ſpring out of Sardis, not out of Babylon. Nor is it any Wonder that the Miniſtry of the holy Angels will be ſo extrordinarily exerciſed about a Church which will then have become ſo Angelical, as is more fully noted in the Divine Dialogues.

8. Theſe are the rouſing Motives which Chriſt uſeth to excite the carnal Church of Sardis to more hearty Endeavours after the Diſpenſation of the Spirit, that they may bring on the Beginning of thoſe moſt happy Times; the Conduct of which Affair is repreſented by that illuſtrious Heros on his White Horſe, Chap. 19. where his Armies follow him on white Horſes clothed in fine Linnen, white and clean. Which appertains to the laſt End of the Interval of this Church of Sardis, a great part of whom by this time it's likely may have turned their Carnaline-Colour into pure White, and be ready to march with him there to that ſpiritual Warfare, as ſome are ſaid here to walk with him in white, and that with marvellous Succeſs and Proſperity, as their white Cloathing does alſo intimate.

He that hath an Ear to hear, let him hear what the Spirit ſaith unto the Churches. Verſe 6. Reformed Chriſtendom eſpecially, ſhe is ſo much concerned therein. For ſhe, as I ſaid at firſt, is this Sardian Church; the Beginning of whoſe Interval, being adorned with more true Holineſs and Sincerity of Zeal, the better deſerved the Title of the Riſing of the Witneſſes: And though they be here much reproved for their Faults, yet they are acknowledged to be one of the ſeven Churches in Aſia, Chap. 1. 11. that is to ſay, באשׁית in Fundamento, and are the true and Apoſtolical Church ſtill, and juſtly witneſs againſt the Idolatries and groſs Antichriſtian Practices of the Church of Rome, ſuch, I mean, as with them have become a Law, and thereby are properly Antichriſtian.

This I thought fit to add, to ſtop the prepoſterous Proneneſs of ſome toward the Roman Church from the Conſideration that all things are not ſo perfect in the Reformed Churches as might be deſired. For though they be not ſo well as they ſhould be, yet they muſt needs appear to any but an Humoriſt exceeding much better than in the Church of Rome.

And thus much of the Sardian Church.

CHAP.

CHAP. VIII.

An Interpretation of the Epistle to the Church in Philadelphia.

Apoc. 3: ver. 7.

1. AND to the Angel of the Church in Philadelphia write. The Meaning of Philadelphia is plain, and is no Riddle. The Word signifies Brotherly Love: which rightly understood is the fulfilling of the Law. So that I understand by φιλαδελφία the same that ἀγάπη, universal Love, (for we are all Brothers in Adam;) but especially the Love of those of the Houshold of Faith; that is to say, of Christian Believers. In the Sardian Church, the greatest Noise and Stir there is about Faith, but her Works were not found perfect before God. But the Inscription of this Church is Love, which is the fulfilling of the Law, as I hinted before. And his Banner over me was Love. This is the Ensign of the Church of Philadelphia, who elsewhere is said to be beautiful and terrible as an Army with Banners; Who is she that looketh forth as the Morning, fair as the Moon, clear as the Sun, and terrible as an Army with Banners? Why? Who can it be but this Church of Philadelphia, as famous for Feats of Arms as for Love, as we shall see in the Process? For the Interval of this Church begins in the last Vial, and reaches to the fourth Thunder.

Cant. 2. 4.

Cant. 6. 10.

These things, saith he that is Holy. And speaks to that Church that loves to hear those Instructions: Be ye holy, for I am holy; and, Be ye perfect, as your Father which is in Heaven is perfect.

He that is true. He that will make good all his Promises and glorious Predictions touching his Church in this State thereof which is figured out by the Church of Philadelphia, and writes to those that believe it, and have a firm Faith in the Power and Spirit of Christ and of God.

He that hath the Key of David; he that openeth and no Man shutteth, and shutteth and no Man openeth. What Eliakim was to Hezekias, who was of the Stock of David, the same is Christ to God the Father, whom St. John calls Love, חר He is chief Minister of State under God, and carries all as he pleases by the Authority committed to him; of which Power a Key is the Symbol. (See Grotius upon the Place.) There is nothing so hard and impervious but he can make way through it, and open a Door to Success, and again shut it against his Enemies.

Verse 8.

2. I know thy Works. And that so as to approve of them, because they are the Fruits of the Divine Love, than which there is nothing to me more precious. Thou actest not out of bitter Zeal and Strife, or vain Ostentation, or any secular Respect, but merely out of Love to me and my Righteousness, and out of Love to Mankind, whose both present and future Happiness thou dost sincerely endeavour to promote.

Behold, I have set before thee an open Door, and no Man can shut it. Behold, I have brought Things about so by my Providence, and will so effectually second what I have begun by my special Assistance, that, maugre all the Machinations of Men and Devils, thou shalt find Opportunities of most gloriously and successfully carrying on the Interest of my Kingdom. This is performed in the last Vial, in that great Battel of God Almighty, when also the Beast and the false Prophet are said to be taken and cast into the Lake of Fire and Brimstone. See the Divine Dialogues.

Apoc. 16. & 19.

For thou hast a little Strength, and hast kept my Word, and hast not denied my Name. Grotius himself interprets it, a little Army: and so indeed δύναμις will signifie, and appositely to the present Scope, and answerably to the Battel I named before. The Sense is; Because, though ye be but a few in comparison of the rest of my Church and Kingdom, (for the Sardian Church is his Kingdom and Church too, out of which the Philadelphian Church is emerging) and especially in respect of the Infidel and Antichristian Party, those under the Dragon and the Beast and the false Prophet, yet ye have kept my Word, and not denied my Name, that is, have both kept to what is holy and true in your Hearts, and professed it in your Words and Works: therefore I will be with you in this glorious manner, and make you so successful in the promoting of the Interest of my Kingdom. Of this Church therefore of Philadelphia are those Armies seen in Heaven, Apoc. 19. following Christ upon white Horses clothed in fine Linnen, white and clean; which implies both the Justness of their Cause, and the Certainty of their Success. As also those Boanergesses in in the laſt Vial, (ſynchronal to that other Viſion) that thunder and lighten over the City divided into three Parts, whereby the Cities of the Nations fell, and Babylon and her Daughters were utterly overthrown. Apoc. 16. 18. 19.

Apoc. 16.

3. Behold, I will make them of the Synagogue of Satan (which ſay they are Jews, and are not, but do lie.) Jews, as I noted before, according to the Style of the Apocalyps, are Chriſtians; and the Jews which profeſs themſelves ſuch, and are not, but do lie, are pſeudo-Chriſtians, or the Antichriſtian Party; but are judged here to be of the Synagogue of Satan, becauſe of their abominable Lies and bloody Murders. For the Devil was a Murderer from the Beginning; and he is alſo in the ſame place by our Saviour termed a Liar. Beſides the Luciferian Pride of that Church, like Satan's, the Prince of the Devils. Verſe 9. Joh. 8. 44.

Behold, I will make them come and worſhip before thy Feet. Even thoſe that before kiſſed the Feet of the Pope, that lofty Prelate. This anſwers very patly to that Paſſage in the fore-named Viſion; where the Beaſt and Falſe-prophet are taken, and put alive into a Lake of Fire: that is to ſay, the Beſtian and Pſeudo-prophetical Power, as ſuch, is burnt and deſtroyed and aboliſhed, and the Philadelphian Power then appears above all, or rather the Lord alone will be exalted in that Day; for to this time eſpecially belongs that Saying, Not by Might, nor by Power, but by my Spirit, ſaith the Lord of Hoſts. Apoc. 19. 20.

For, indeed, the ſtruggling of the Sardian Church hitherto againſt the City that is called Sodom and Ægypt, though it has been in its kind laudable, yet it has been in a manner Edom againſt Edom, a Part ſomething more refined againſt that which is more impure, I mean as to Life and Godlineſs; and the Weapons of their Warfare have not been ſo ſpiritual as they ought, they have not rid upon white Horſes, nor have been clothed in fine Linnen, white and clean; they have not endeavoured to be that Church which is without Spot and Wrinkle, or any ſuch thing, but the Sardian Tincture has too much diſtained them.

But as it is true in the natural Senſe, that Fleſh and Blood cannot inherit the Kingdom of God; ſo it is alſo in the Political, that thoſe glorious Times of the Kingdom of God cannot appear till the Church emerge out of the Sardian or Carnaline State into the Philadelphian. Againſt which Church Chriſt exhibits no Complaint at all, but loves her, and likes her entirely, even as he is cordially loved of her. And without queſtion the State of that Church is ſo lovely, that ſhe will charm even her Enemies to a liking of her, and unto a willing Submiſſion to her, all things being ſo irreprehenſible in her. But commonly wicked Men are very domineering and ferocient againſt good Men that have any Blot or Infirmity on them, unleſs they be of their own Faction.

And therefore this Philadelphian Church, if any, muſt be the Church that can mollifie the Hearts of the Papiſts, and bring over as many as God pleaſeth to the Belief of the Truth. But for the Cities of the Nations, their Conqueſts will be unſpeakable amongſt them. For theſe are thoſe powerful Thunderers, by whoſe Thundering and Lightning the Cities of the Nations are to fall, as I intimated before.

And to know that I have loved thee. The Papiſts themſelves ſhall diſcern, by the ſtupendious Succeſs of the Philadelphian Church, what a Value Chriſt puts upon her, and how far he prefers her Integrity, Simplicity, Brotherly-kindneſs, Humility, Meekneſs, and Purity of Worſhip, before the Roman Frauds and Impoſtures, their barbarous Perſecutions and Cruelties, their Luciferian Pride, and ſuperſtitious and idolatrous Practices.

4. Becauſe thou haſt kept the Word of my Patience; that is, Becauſe thou art both meek-hearted, and haſt been faithful and not flitting in the Time of Trial, but endureſt all things for my Name's ſake; Verſe 10.

I will keep thee from the Hour of Temptation that ſhall come upon all the World. Namely, at what time all the World be in an hurly-burly, and caſt into manifold Streights and Calamities. Which is in the laſt Vial, when the three unclean Spirits go forth unto the Kings of the Earth and of the whole World, to gather them to the Battel of that great Day of God Almighty; and when there ſhall be ſo great an Earthquake as has not been ſince Men were upon Earth, ſo mighty an Earthquake and ſo great. In this mighty Tempeſt and Hurry of things, will I preſerve thee from Danger, and thou ſhalt carry it ſafe through all. Thou ſhalt eſcape better than any Party of Men, by reaſon of thy conſpicuous Innocency, Sincerity, and Exemplarity of Life, and unexceptionable Apoſtolicalneſs of Doctrine, and ſingular Love to me and all Mankind. Becauſe thou art mild and courteous and benign and beneficent to all; becauſe thou art a Lover of Unity, un-ſelf-intereſſed, a Foe to no Body, and only an Enemy to the Vices and Miſeries of Men: This, with my ſingular Favour to thee, ſhall protect thee in that great Confuſion and high Fermentation of Mens Spirits under the laſt Vial. Who is he that will harm you, if you be Followers of that which is good?

1 Pet. 3. 13.

Verſe 11. 5. Behold, I come quickly. Thou art already in that Period of Time wherein this great Judgment will come upon the Earth, namely, under the firſt Thunder. Or rather, becauſe the Philadelphian Church is not ſuppoſed to be in diſtinct Being or Appearance till the laſt Vial, the laſt Vial muſt be this Period. And then this Coming in reſpect of that time will be quickly indeed.

Hold thou faſt what thou haſt, that no Man take thy Crown. Thou verily art a Church after my own Heart, O Philadelphia, and I blame thee for nothing, thou walkeſt uprightly with me and art perfect: Wherefore hold that Ground which thou haſt got in Truth and Integrity, that thou mayſt not be deprived of that Crown I intend thee; for in thee will I accompliſh all the glorious Promiſes touching my Kingdom upon Earth.

Verſe 12. 6. Him that overcometh will I make a Pillar in the Temple of my God, and he ſhall go no more out. Ὁ νικῶν, He that overcomes, that is, in the Apocalyptick Style, All, or the whole Company that overcomes, which is here meant of the Philadelphians. They ſhall be as a Pillar in the Temple of God; that is, they ſhall be a ſteddy and ſtanding Holy People, a true holy Catholick Church that ſhall never fail, but ſhall laſt till I come in the Clouds to Judgment in the laſt Day. All other Forms and Denominations ſhall fail, but this ſhall keep the Sovereignty to the laſt.

And I will write upon him the Name of my God. This is in purſuance of the former Metaphor of a Pillar, with a farther Alluſion to the φιλογεωφία of the Ancients. Theſe Philadelphians ſhall have the Name of God written upon them; that is, their Converſation and Manners will be ſo holy and divine, that it will be as conſpicuous to all, as if it were writ upon their Foreheads that they are the holy Church and choſen People of God. Or more briefly and in a more political Senſe; The Name of my God may allude to Jehovah Shammah, intimating, that theſe Philadelphians ſhall be that Church which is repreſented by the City Jeruſalem deſcribed by Ezekiel, which is called Jehovah Shammah. Of which the following Words ſeem to be a more expreſs Signification.

And the Name of the City of my God, which is, New Jeruſalem, which cometh down out of Heaven from my God. The Name of the City, the New-Jeruſalem, as well as Jehovah Shammah, will be written upon them, The City where God dwelleth and ruleth by his Spirit; that is to ſay, they will be that City of Jeruſalem formally and actually under the ſecond Thunder. For to be called, and to be, are all one in the Hebrew Idiom.

And his Name is called the Word of God, Apoc. 19. 3. is as much as, He is the Word of God. Wherefore this Philadelphia under the ſecond Thunder paſſes into the ſame with the New-Jeruſalem; but the Title of Philadelphia begins ſooner, and reaches farther to the fourth Trumpet.

This Inſcription of the Philadelphians, that they are called the New-Jeruſalem, &c. in the very Words in which it is deſcribed afterwards Apoc. 21. is a notable Indication that by the Church of Philadelphia is meant that Succeſſion of the Church that is under the ſecond and third Thunder, but was emerging in the laſt Vial. For it is the New-Jeruſalem which cometh out of Heaven from God. Which therefore having this manifeſt Political Senſe, would be very hardly attributed to that City of Philadelphia in Aſia litterally underſtood, but with an Eye to this ſucceſſive Interval of the Church which we here ſpeak of. And the Promiſe was not performed to the Literal Church of Philadelphia, which has periſhed; that was no ſuch laſting Pillar. And therefore there is a Neceſſity of a farther Senſe Myſtical or Prophetical.

7. And I will write upon him my new Name. It is expreſly ſaid, Apoc. 19. 16. that Chriſt has a Name written upon his Veſture and upon his Thigh, King of Kings, and Lord of Lords. This Name Grotius would have underſtood here. And there is no ſmall Reaſon for it, that Name being ſo particularly and pompouſly ſet out for a ſpecial Name of his. And though he has ever had a Right unto it; yet becauſe the getting into Poſſeſſion of this Right will be new and freſh in this Philadelphian Interval after the Battel of the Heros on the white Horſe, it is rightly termed a new Name, and very fittingly writ upon theſe Philadelphians, becauſe they are ſo inſtrumental in his Atchievements. Theſe are the Boanergeſſes, (thundering over the great City divided into three Parts) and alſo thoſe Horſemen on white Horſes, as I intimated before. Chriſt therefore through theſe becomes King of Kings, and Lord of Lords; or rather, he has made them the greateſt Kingdom upon Earth. The Mountain of the Lord's Houſe is exalted upon the Top of the Mountains, and all Nations flow unto it; as it is to come to paſs under the third Thunder. Through which third and ſecond Thunder, and ſeventh Vial, is drawn the Interval of the Succeſſion of the Church of Philadelphia, as I have hinted above.

inſtrumenta

He that hath an Ear to hear, let him hear, &c. We need not here urge the Intimation of this Political Senſe of things from the putting of the Epiphonema laſt, the very Nature of the Expreſſions calling for it, though we had no ſuch Guide. But we may rather argue, that ſeeing the things themſelves are of ſo manifeſt Political Senſe, not Moral or Spiritual, this confirms our Rule touching the Poſition of this Epiphonema. But this by the Bye. We proceed to the Church of Laodicea. Verſe 13.

CHAP. IX.

The Interpretation of the Epiſtle to the Church of Laodicea.

1. AND to the Angel of the Church of the Laodiceans write. The Interval of the Succeſſion of the Church of Laodicea is the fourth and fifth Thunders, that is, from the looſing of Satan to the appearing of Chriſt coming to Judgment under the ſixth Thunder. In this Interval the Scene of Philadelphia is paſt, and Laodicea takes place: which is acknowledged a true Church as to Worſhip and Doctrine, but is repreſented as a lazy, lethargical Church; in which that former Philadelphian Zeal is extinguiſhed as to the Generality of the Church, though it's likely this Degeneracy comes on by degrees in this Interval. Apoc. 3. 14.

2. Thus therefore it is foreſeen in the Series of Divine Providence, that after that glorious Eſtate of the Church which is ſynchronal to the ſecond and third Thunder (during which Space and a little before, the Scene of Philadelphia adorned the Stage) had well purged the Chriſtian World from all fooliſh Opinions and Superſtitions, and of that accurſed Cuſtom of Perſecuting one another for them, and that the Truth of the Goſpel had clearly ſhined in the Simplicity thereof, and ſo convictively againſt all the Follies and Impoſtures of the former Ages, that the Church had no great Hazard of being again cheated with them; and that they had ſeen all Prophecies in a manner fulfilled before their Eyes, ſo that there could be no doubt to them, but that the Philadelphian Church was the true Church, nor be in any Capacity of any Change in Faith or Worſhip: after this, I ſay, as all things are in ſome ſort or other variable under the Sun, ſo it ſeems this Philadelphian Church was at laſt to degenerate into this Laodicean State; and that which was before the Reign of the Spirit and the living Righteouſneſs of God, would now become the Church of Laodicea; which ſignifies a more popular or external political Righteouſneſs, or the Righteouſneſs of the People. An external Profeſſion and Performance of that Mode that was uſed by the Philadelphians in a living way, and with the Power of the Spirit, the ſame will this Church of Laodicea hold on ſpiritleſly and lazily, with little Life or Zeal, and yet applaud themſelves by reaſon of the Abundance of Knowledge ſhe has, becauſe of the Completion of the Prophecies, and by reaſon of the Purity of the external Worſhip ſhe ſtill retains, as if all was ſtill well with her, and as if ſhe wanted nothing.

3. This in brief is the Condition of this Church, as it is moſt ſignificantly intimated in the very Name. For λαοδίκεια ſignifies as much as the Righteouſneſs of the People. And the People are any Multitude of Mankind gathered into a Body politick; as is manifeſt in that Notation of βασιλεὺς, as if it were from βάσις and λαὸς· and then again in Homer,

Ὦ λαοὶ τ' ἐπίστεφάλαι ——

And therefore the People, being a Body politick, are ruled by ſuch and ſuch Laws, which if they obſerve, it is not regarded quo animo, or out of what Principle they obſerve them. The New Nature, Regeneration and the Spirit, are quite out of his Road. And a National or Oecumenical Religion, Doctrine or Worſhip, as they are ab extrà, are but as a political Law, and the Righteouſneſs therein but a Laodicean Righteouſneſs, as has been abundantly inculcated already.

But beſides this Meaning of the Name Laodicea, which I doubt not but is particularly intended, there may, according to the multifarious Alluſiveneſs of the Prophetical Style, another notable Meaning be alſo intimated, and that very appropriate to this Church. For the ratio nominis in Laodicea may be likewiſe παρὰ τὸ δῆλας δηλῶσθαι τοῖς λαοῖς, becauſe in the Interval of this Church God will in ſome moſt notorious and terrible manner come to judge the People. Becauſe the Cloſure of this Church brings in the laſt Judgment properly ſo called, therefore this laſt Interval of the Church is called Laodicea, The Judging of the People, all the Nations of the World, at the laſt Day. And there is nothing more frequent in the Scripture, than the giving of Names from ſome notable external Accident, that reſpects the thing or Perſon ſo named.

4. Theſe things ſaith the Amen, the faithful and true Witneſs. Paul, in his ſecond Epiſtle to the Corinthians, ſays, That all the Promiſes of God in Chriſt are Yea and Amen; that is to ſay, they are ſo ſure and certain, that no Man need doubt but they will be performed. Wherefore this Attribute of Chriſt is ſo ſeaſonably here brought in, as reſpecting both the Completion of the Promiſes already performed, in bringing his Church to that admirable glorious Condition in the Succeſſion of Philadelphia, as alſo the Performance of that material Promiſe at the End of this Epiſtle, touching eternal Life or a bleſſed Immortality in Chriſt's Heavenly Kingdom; which theſe Laodiceans, or degenerated Philadelphians, like our modern Familiſts, that pretend to the Philadelphian Diſpenſation, may ſome of them, it's likely, be prone to diſtruſt.

But Chriſt is here alſo called the faithful and true Witneſs, becauſe he does ſo impartially witneſs concerning the Truth of the Condition of the Laodiceans, and ſo faithfully diſcover to them the Danger thereof. And the Declaration ſeeming ſo paradoxical to them, it was the more requiſite to inculcate into them his own Truth and Faithfulneſs, that he might gain Belief of them againſt their own falſe Senſe and Opinion of themſelves.

The Beginning of the Creation of God. This hath a more high Meaning, like that in the Beginning of St. John's Goſpel, and reſpects the Divinity of Chriſt, by whom all things were made, and in whom all things are. But I believe alſo that is more particularly inſinuated here which is expreſly declared of him (according to Iſa. 9. 6. the Seventy) by the Prophet Iſaiah; πατὴρ τοῦ μέλλοντος αἰῶνος, The Beginner of that World or Age under the Meſſias; wherein he having, as I intimated before, carried on all things ſo compleatly according to Promiſe and Prediction, this ſeems an advantageous Repetition of what was intimated before in that Attribute of Amen: As if he ſhould ſay, I was the Beginner of this marvellous Scene of Things from the Time of my living on this Earth in the Fleſh to this very Day, and you ſee how ſteddily all things have been carried on, according to Predictions and Prophecies: wherefore believe me in the reſt (whether Comminations or Promiſes) which I ſhall now declare unto you. This ſeems to be the genuin Senſe of this Preface to the Epiſtle.

Verſe 15. 5. I know thy Works, that thou art neither cold nor hot. I ſee thee to be in a tepid formal, remiſs Diſpenſation: Thou holdeſt ſtill the Outſide of the Philadelphian Church for Doctrine and Worſhip: But thou art deſtitute of that Spirit of Life, in the New-birth which was the proper Character of thy deceaſed Siſter of Philadelphia.

I would thou wert cold or hot. Though it be not better in it ſelf, yet it were better for thee thou wert not ſo externally Good as thou art, that thou mighteſt the ſooner be convinced of thine own Wants, and get into the State of Repentance, of Mortification, and finally of Regeneration, that ſo thou mighteſt partake of my Spirit. But now thou art but an external Image of warm Fleſh out of which Life and Soul did lately depart, even then when thy Siſter Philadelphia departed out of this World. Thou art the external Frame of that Philadelphia, but the Spirit has left thee.

Verſe 16. 6. So then, becauſe thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will ſpew thee out of my Mouth. That is, I will declare in a Torrent of Words againſt thee, how nauſeous and diſtaſtful thou art to me, and how my Stomack riſes againſt thee. Which is done in the following Verſe, where he pours out thoſe juſt Reproaches againſt her, that ſhe is wretched, and miſerable, and poor, and blind, and naked. Or, it may be, there may be a more profound, and yet not leſs ſolid, meaning in this Commination, and that it may be predictive of her utter Extermination; that the Continuance of the Church of Chriſt upon Earth ſhall ceaſe in her. For the Immenſeneſs of Chriſt's Divinity incompaſſing all things that are, he can vomit nothing out from him but it muſt therewith be caſt into Non-entity. And the Laodicean Church is the laſt Scene of Providence, and this Church, and indeed the whole Scene of Affairs on this Earth for her ſake, is ſhortly to have an End. For in the next Thunder to this Laodicean Interval, which is the laſt of all, comes the Conflagration. And Satan is to be let loſe but a little time; ſo that the time of the Laodicean Church cannot be long. Wherefore the Commination, I will ſpew thee out of my Mouth, may well be a Prediction of the utter Extermination of the Church out of Being, that is, as to the State of a Church upon Earth. For as before the coming of the Flood God is ſaid to repent him that he had made Man upon the Earth, Gen. 6. 6. and that it grieved him at his Heart: ſo Chriſt here expreſſeth how nauſeous and Stomack-ſick he is againſt his Church under this Interval and Title of Laodicea, how his Choler and Indignation riſes againſt her Luke-warmneſs; and that therefore he will vomit her out in a Flood of Fire, and overwhelm her in a Deluge of hot ſcalding ſulphureous Flames: which will come to paſs at the Conflagration. The State of the Church now in its old Age naturally growing worſe, Chriſt will think fit to put an End to the Scene of things, and carry his to his Celeſtial Kingdom.

 nauſeous

7. Becauſe thou ſayeſt, I am rich, and increaſed with Goods, and have need of nothing. Verſe 17. And this is one Reaſon of the Spiritleſneſs and Inactivity of the Laodicean Church, that ſhe thinks ſhe has all things deſirable already, Peace, Plenty, Power, and Dominion, Security from Enemies, Profeſſion of the Truth, Purity in external Worſhip, rid of Superſtition and Idolatry, abundance of Knowledge as well Natural as Theological, the Underſtanding of all Prophecies, by reaſon of their clear Completion, and the faithful and judicious Interpretations of her Predeceſſours; no Oppreſſion, no Perſecution for Conſcience ſake; every Man lives at quiet, and enjoys himſelf under his own Vine and under his own Fig-tree: What want we therefore to be compleatly happy? Are we not ſtill the true Philadelphian Church, and the New-Jeruſalem deſcended from Heaven, in all the Riches and Glories thereof? One would think ſo indeed, according to the Judgment of any carnal Eye. But let us hear what the Amen ſays, the true and faithful Witneſs.

And knoweſt not that thou art wretched, and miſerable, and poor, and blind, and naked. Chriſt ſaith to the Church in Smyrna, I know thy Works, and Tribulation, and Poverty; but thou art rich. The Primitive Church, while the Spirit of Life was in them, though in the midſt of the Want of all external Comforts, and under moſt dreadful Perſecutions, in the Judgment of Chriſt are yet accounted rich: but the Laodiceans, in the greateſt Affluence of all external Bleſſings, becauſe they want that Spirit of Life, are deemed poor, and miſerable, and naked, as if they had not a Rag to hang on their Backs; nay, blind alſo, for all their abundance of Knowledge, becauſe they are devoid of the Knowledge and Experience of the Myſteries of the Spirit of Life in the New-birth, and the Renovation of the Soul into inward living Righteouſneſs, but take up with the external Laodicean State or Condition.

8. I counſel thee to buy of me gold tried in the Fire, that thou mayeſt be rich. Verſe 18. I adviſe thee, ſincerely to endeavour (for that is the Price thou muſt pay for this Gold) after the Recovery of thy ſelf into the State of the New-Jeruſalem deſcended from Heaven; which City was of pure Gold, ſo purify'd in the Fire, that it was as clear as tranſparent Glaſs. This is the New Creature in thee, the Transformation of thy Nature into the Image of the Heavenly Adam. This is ſolid and durable Riches indeed, and ſuch as will go along with thee into the higheſt Heavens, when this Earth and the Metals therein ſhall melt with Fire. Labour therefore with all thy Might after ſuch a ſolid Treaſure as will abide thoſe fatal Flames, and will not periſh with thee in the general Conflagration.

And white Rayment, that thou mayſt be cloathed, and that the Shame of thy Nakedneſs do not appear. Groan then earneſtly in this, O thou Spiritleſs Laodicea, deſiring to be cloathed upon with that ſpiritual Houſe which is from Heaven; that, being ſo cloathed, thou mayſt not be found naked. For while thou art in this earthly Tabernacle, thou oughteſt to account it a Burthen, and not to ſet up thy Sraff in the

Enjoyments

Enjoyments of this Life, becauſe all things are peaceful and proſperous with thee. Not that I would adviſe thee to ſhorten thy Days here, but that, being thus cloathed by this ſpiritual Veſtment, Mortality might be ſwallowed up of Life. And it is the Spirit of Life and Divine Love that worketh in thee this one great thing that thou ſo greatly wanteſt, and yet art inſenſible thereof.

And anoint thine Eyes with Eye ſalve, that thou mayſt ſee. That is, Cleanſe thy ſelf with ſuch a due Meaſure of Mortification, and Purification of the inward Man from all Filthineſs of Fleſh and Spirit, that thou mayſt attain to the Divinely moral Prudence which will enable thee to have a right Judgment and Diſcerning in all things. This therefore is the Collyrion which I would adviſe thee to anoint thine Eye-ſight with, even the Purgation of thy ſelf from all the Animal Corruptions, that thou mayſt perfect the inward Righteouſneſs in my Fear: For the Outward alone carries none to Heaven. The Ointment I preſcribe will indeed ſmart; but without it thou wilt ſtill continue blind, and never find the Way to everlaſting Salvation.

Verſe 19. 9. As many as I love, I rebuke. I deal plainly, truly, and faithfully with thee; and not out of any ill Will is it that I thus rebuke thee: But it is ex amore benevolentiæ, though not ex amore complacentiæ. For, as thou art, thou art but a nauſeous and irkſome Spectacle to me. And therefore I thus rebuke thee and inſtruct thee, that thou mayſt amend.

And chaſten, καὶ παιδεύω. Which ſignifies to chaſtiſe and ſcourge, as well as to inſtruct. But the former ſeems here principally intended. Which therefore may ſeem to be the Commination of ſome external Calamity and Affliction that Chriſt would bring upon the Laodiceans, if they did not repent them of their Remiſneſs; and in ſuch a Way as themſelves may haply be the Cauſes of, through their Remiſneſs and Lukewarmneſs. For that former Philadelphian Zeal and Activity ceaſing, which that Church exerciſed in the Behalf of the Intereſt of the Kingdom of God, their Enemies may more than ordinarily encreaſe upon them, eſpecially the Devil being let looſe, and being very active ao deceive the Nations; whom they ſhould counterplot, by being as active to convert them to the Truth. And this may be the time wherein the Prediction of Gog and Magog is to be fulfilled, who are ſaid to be gathered together to Battel, and to encompaſs the Camp of the Saints and the beloved City, which in this State is termed the Church of Laodicea; but in that Viſion, the Camp of the Saints, becauſe there were not only many Saints amongſt them of the old Philadelphian Strain, but that they were ſtill in their external Frame an holy People and an holy City, not prophaned by the Gentiles, that is to ſay, not polluted by Heatheniſh Superſtition, and Idolatry, and Impoſture, and Cruelty; nor brought under their Power and Dominion that were. Which yet was once the Condition of the Holy City for a Time and Times and half a Time, or forty two Months, Apoc. 11. 2.

10. And it is ſtill called the beloved City alſo for the ſame Reaſon: but not the new Jeruſalem deſcended from Heaven, becauſe ſo generally that new and heavenly Nature was loſt amongſt them. But this Church of Laodicea is ſtill beloved of Chriſt, partly for her own ſake, and partly for her deceaſed Siſter's ſake, the lovely Philadelphia, whom ſhe ſo much reſembles in all her external Features, that deareſt Spouſe of Chriſt.

And therefore the Title of the beloved City agrees very well with this Paſſage in the preſent Text, Whom I love, I rebuke, yea and ſcourge too. For theſe Streights that the Laodiceans are to be caſt into by the Siege of Gog and Magog ſeems the moſt probable way to rowze them out of their Lukewarmneſs and lazy Formality. But that Things may not run the Hazzard of growing worſe and worſe, nor there be an infinite Repetition of the Viciſſitude of Scenes on the Stage of this Earth, Providence will knock off at ſuch a time as that the wicked and prophane Rabble of the World ſhall not again get the Dominion over his true Church, but he will put a Period to the Conteſt by a Deluge of Fire from Heaven, as it is intimated in that Viſion. But this is more than falls to the Share of this preſent Verſe.

Be ye zealous therefore, and repent. That is, Amend thy dead Formality and Lukewarmneſs, by attaining to the Spirit of Life through Mortification and Regeneration, that ſo thou mayſt recover the old Philadelphian Zeal and Love: For this is the only thing thou wanteſt.

Verſe 20. 11. Behold, I ſtand at the Door and knock. Do not pretend Difficulties: I am ready not only to aſſiſt thee, but do alſo importune thee: I ſuggeſt good Motions to thee; do thou but purſue them and faithfully improve them.

If

If any Man hear my Voice, and open the Door; that is, If any Man obey thoſe Dictates of Conſcience and Overtures of Light and Grace that Chriſt ever and anon offers him, and ſo becomes ſincere in all things, and not willingly offends him in any thing, great or ſmall, (which will not fail to be done where the Deſire is ſincere; and this ſincere Deſire is the Door that lets in Chriſt, for he paſſes into us through an unfeigned Hunger and Thirſt after Righteouſneſs;) then, ſays he,

I will come in to him, and ſup with him, and he with me. That is, I will communicate my Nature and Spirit unto him, and he ſhall eat my Fleſh, which is Meat indeed, and drink my Blood, which is Drink indeed: that is to ſay, He ſhall partake of my Body and Blood, not in Symbols only, (which ye do well to keep up till I come,) but in a true and living Way; whereby that ſhall be accompliſhed, I in my Father, and ye in me, and I in you. If any Man love me, he will keep my Words, and my Father will love him; and we will come unto him, and make our Abode with him. Wherefore, being thus repleniſhed with the God of Life and Father of Lights, thou canſt not fail of being full of the Spirit, and of all Alacrity and Readineſs to every good Work: Thy Lukewarmneſs and Dulneſs will go away. John 14. 20. ver. 23.

12. To him that overcometh will I grant to ſit with me in my Throne; even as I alſo overcame, and am ſet down with my Father in his Throne. And that thou mayſt be the more effectually rowzed up out of this Tepidity and Lethargicalneſs, thou ſhalt not only enjoy me and my Father on this earthly Stage, but, if thou ſtriveſt ſo as to get the Victory in the way I have inſtructed thee, I will tranſlate thee to that Heavenly Kingdom moſt naturally and properly ſo called; where thou ſhalt ſit down, and drink of the Fruit of the Vine in the Kingdom of my Father. As I, after I had overcome, aſcended up to Heaven into thoſe glorious Manſions, and there ſate down at the Right-hand of God: ſo him that overcometh the Temptations and Incumbrances, the Pleaſures and Enticements of this lower World, will I cauſe to ſit down with me in the Heavenly Places at the laſt Day. Which Monition is the more ſeaſonable, by how much more near the Approach of that great Day is. For I ſhall come viſibly to Judgment in the very next Thunder to the Siege of Gog and Magog, when I will transform your vile Bodies into the Similitude of my glorious Body, that ye may be fit Companions for me in Heaven for ever. Behold, I ſhew you a Myſtery: Ye ſhall not at all ſleep, yet ye ſhall all be changed; that Mortality may be ſwallowed up of Life. This is indeed a great and ſtupendious Promiſe; but thou art to conſider that it is ſpoken by him that is the Amen, the true and faithful Witneſs, and the Beginning of the Creation of God, and therefore both will and can carry on all his Deſign to the very End, Amen. Verſe 21. 1 Cor. 15. 51, 54.

13. He that hath an Ear to hear, let him hear what the Spirit ſaith unto the Churches. From the Epiphonema coming here laſt, as in all theſe four laſt Epiſtles, one may haply raiſe this Objection, as if this Senſe of the Promiſe immediately preceding it were not Political, or Prophetical enough, but merely Theological, the Promiſe being to be performed in the other World, and therefore not the proper Object of Prophecy, which concerns the Affairs of the Stage of this Earth: And that this therefore is againſt our profeſſed Rule. Verſe 22.

But I anſwer, that though the Promiſe of obtaining Heaven after this Life upon the Death of the Body be merely a Theological Promiſe, and of a thing more ſpiritual and inviſible, and not to be ſeen upon the Face of this Earth; yet this Promiſe of obtaining Heaven at the Reſurrection and general Day of Judgment, it being the Day of that great and viſible Aſſizes wherein the Souls of the Saints ſhall appear in glorify'd Bodies, may well be ranged in the ſame Order with the reſt of the Promiſes immediately preceding the Epiphonemata of each Epiſtle, and to be accompliſhed viſibly in this Life. For the Senſe of the Promiſe in brief is this; That as Chriſt, after his Sufferings, his Death and Paſſion, aſcended viſibly into Heaven, (for Heaven is ſaid to be the Throne of God in the Scripture,) and ſo Heaven became alſo Chriſt's Throne; ſo thoſe of Laodicea, who upon the Mortification of their Luſts ſhould attain to the State of Life in the New-birth, ſhould aſcend viſibly into Chriſt's Throne, that is, into Heaven, in the open View of them that ſhould be left here on the Earth and in the inferiour Regions of the Air, ſentenced to that everlaſting Fire prepared for the Devil and his Angels.

This is a plain and obvious Senſe of this Promiſe, and ſuch as the placing of the Epiphonema requires, and is, in my Judgment, no mean Ratification of the true and literal Senſe of that Article of our Faith, touching the viſible Reſurrection and Glorification

tion of our Bodies, and their Aſcenſion into the Heavenly Regions, againſt ſuch as would whiffle away all theſe Truths, by reſolving them into a mere moral Allegory.

Thus conſonant every way are the Interpretations of theſe Epiſtles both to themſelves, and to the Apoſtolick Truth.

CHAP. X.

A Recapitulation of the main Evidences of the Truth of this Myſtical or Prophetical Expoſition of the Seven Epiſtles to the Seven Churches of Aſia, by way of Solution of Difficulties touching the ſaid Epiſtles and their Circumſtances, otherwiſe hardly or not at all to be ſolved.

1. AS in natural Hypotheſes thoſe are accounted trueſt that ſolve the Phænomena of Nature the moſt naturally and eaſily, and eſpecially if ſuch as are no otherwiſe ſolvible than upon the propoſed Hypotheſis: ſo that Meaning of Scripture, I mean eſpecially of any conſiderable Portion thereof, ought to be eſteemed trueſt that can ſolve the moſt Difficulties that may be raiſed concerning the ſame, or the Contexts precedent or ſubſequent thereto; and if all, ſtill the more certain; and if unſolvible otherwiſe, there is ſtill the more Aſſurance of undeniable Demonſtration. Now how near this Myſtical or Prophetical Expoſition of theſe Epiſtles approaches to the Clearneſs of this Caſe, I will leave to the Reader to judge, after he has conſidered the Solutions of the Queſtions eaſily raiſed out of the Epiſtles themſelves, or the precedent Chapter, and not eaſily anſwered, nor at all ſatisfactorily, at leaſt moſt of them, but upon the Hypotheſis we have gone.

2. As firſt, If a Man enquire why the Spirit of Prophecy, after he has ſo ex-
Apoc. 1. 1, 3. preſly given Notice that this Book of the Apocalyps is to ſhew unto his Servants Things that are to come, and called it plainly a Book of Prophecies, ſhould ſtart ſo unexpectedly from the Title and intended Subject, as to write no leſs than ſeven Epiſtles to certain Churches, that have nothing conſiderable of Prophecy in them, before he deliver any Prophecies properly ſo called, but only Promiſes and Comminations; and that he ſhould do this with as great Pomp and as high a Preamble as he does when he begins ſo famous Prophecies as thoſe of the Seven Seals, and the opened Book. But according to our Hypotheſis the Anſwer is eaſie; viz. That though theſe ſeven Epiſtles to the ſeven Churches of Aſia have a literal Senſe, yet they are alſo a Parable or Prophecy, and of as high Concern for both Matter and Extent of Time (they reaching from the Beginning of the Church to the End of the World) as the Prophecy of the Seals and Opened Book; and that they are uſhered in with this great Pomp on purpoſe to give us notice thereof.

Secondly, A Man would be prone to enquire, Why the Spirit dictates Letters unto the Churches in Aſia, and not rather to the Churches in Europe, Aſia and Africk. For certainly the Church had diſpred it ſelf into all theſe Quarters of the World by that time. As if the Spirit of Truth were a Reſpecter of Perſons. For theſe are not the Letters of John, but of the Holy Ghoſt. But our Anſwer is ready at hand, That for the Significancy of the Word Aſia to comport alſo with the Significancy of the Names of the Seven Churches, Aſia alone was pitched upon. But, according to the prophetical Senſe, the true Catholick Church is writ unto under ſuch diſtinct Conditions as ſhe was to vary into unto the End of the World. So that there is no Partiality nor Acception of Perſons in this.

Thirdly, If a Man demand, touching the Order or Precedency of theſe Seven Churches that are writ unto: What a plain and manifeſt Account is there to him that compares the Epiſtles in their prophetical Senſe with the Intervals of the Church Catholick lying in that order that theſe Churches are ranged? This is a ſatisfactory Reaſon, and worthy the Spirit that wrote theſe Epiſtles. But whether they are ranged in this order, becauſe that a Letter-carrier going from Patmos, his firſt Journey will be to Epheſus, and then to Smyrna, and ſo in order till he come to Laodicea; whether the holy Spirit of Prophecy regarded that in the dictating of his Letters, (though Alcazar the Jeſuite be for it,) I cannot but ſuſpend my Judgment, and that not without a Smile. But of this Ataxie more particularly anon.

3. Fourthly,

3. Fourthly, If it be demanded why juſt Seven Churches in Aſia are writ to, neither more nor leſs, (eſpecially that in Thyatira, according to the Acknowledgement of Epiphanius, being then not founded, but after the Writing of theſe Epiſtles,) it is hard to give a ſatisfactory Anſwer in the literal Senſe. For to ſay this Book of the Apocalyps affects the Number Seven, and that, becauſe it runs upon the Number Seven altogether in the enſuing part of the Book, which is Prophetical, it therefore, for Conformity ſake, chuſes this Number in writing to the Churches though literally underſtood, ſeems but a meagre, mean, and triffling Account, a Deſign altogether unworthy the Holy Spirit that dictated this Book. But the uſing this Number Seven all over is rather an Intimation that the Book is Prophetical all over, and that theſe Epiſtles are alſo a Prophecy, accordingly as we have explained them. And taking them ſo, the Anſwer is plain and obvious, viz. The Number Seven is here choſen out as Symbolical, it being the Note of Univerſality; whence the Pythagoreans, as I above noted, call it ἑβδομάδα.

Wherefore Seven (and no more than Seven) Churches are writ unto, as ſtanding for the ſeven Intervals of the Church from the Beginning to the End of all.

Fifthly, If it be demanded why theſe ſeven Churches rather than any others, which in all likelihood may have the ſame Virtues and Vices that theſe are commended and taxed for: The Reaſon of this is writ in the very Notation of their Names, every Name being ſignificative of the Condition of the Church Catholick in that ſucceſſive Interval of Time that this or that Church ſo named ſtandeth for, and in ſuch Order as they are repeated.

Sixthly, If one enquire a Reaſon why Chriſt is deſcribed by holding the ſeven Stars in his Right-hand in the Epiſtles to the Churches of Epheſus and of Sardis, why the ſame Deſcription in both, or why in either? In the literal Senſe it will be hard to find any peculiar Reaſon; but in the prophetical Senſe already declared it is obvious enough. For the ſeven Stars ſignifie all the Paſtours, whether in preſent Exiſtence, or Succeſſion. And Epheſus is the Beginning-State of the Church; and therefore it is both very ſeaſonable and methodical to repreſent the firſt Founder, Suſtainer, and Continuer thereof by this Emblem; Lo, I am with you to the End of the World. And that this again is hinted at in the Epiſtle to the Church of Sardis, is with evident Proportion and Analogy to the Affairs of the Church there repreſented. For the Church of Sardis is as it were the Beginning again anew or the emerging of the true Church or Kingdom of Chriſt out of the Power and Kingdom of Antichriſt.

4. Seventhly, Why the Church of Epheſus, of all other Churches, ſhould be commended for their trying falſe Apoſtles. Why might not other Churches be attacqued by them, and alſo diſcover them, as well as the Church of Epheſus? The Solution of which Problem is eaſie in this Myſtical Senſe of the Epiſtles, that places the Epheſine Interval within the Apoſtles Times, but the reſt on this ſide of them.

Eighthly, If any one demand why it is ſaid to the Church of Smyrna, more than to any other Church, Be thou faithful unto Death, and I will give thee the Crown of Life; and again, He that overcometh ſhall not be hurt by the ſecond Death: In the literal Senſe it will be very hard to find any peculiar Reaſon why this might not as well be ſaid to the Church in Pergamus, where there was killing for Religion, it ſeems, by the Mention of the Martyr Antipas. I, but there was no obtaining the Crown of Life there in any peculiar Senſe; but the Crown of Life, that is, the Imperial Crown, was given to the Sufferings of the Primitive Martyrs under the Ten Perſecutions: to whom alſo, according to the Opinion of the ancient Church, the Promiſe of the firſt Reſurrection belonged. Which is here obliquely glanced at, (according to the Mode of the Apocalyptick Style, that loves to hint things by Ellipſes,) in that Promiſe, He that overcometh ſhall not be hurt by the ſecond Death; implying thereby, that he ſhall be made Partaker of the firſt Reſurrection. Apoc. 2. 10, 11. Apoc. 20. 6.

Ninthly, If any one will again object more particularly againſt the Ataxie of the Churches, that they are ranged neither according to the Merit nor Congeneracy of their Conditions, pretending that it had been far better to have joined the two irreprehenſible Churches together, Smyrna and Philadelphia, againſt whom there is no Complaint at all; and then Epheſus, Sardis, and Laodicea, againſt whom there is no Complaint of eating things offered unto Idols; and afterwards Pergamus and Thyatira, in which Churches alone there is: If any one, I ſay, contend that this Method had been more exact; truly, in the literal Senſe it will be hard to frame an handſome and ſatisfactory Anſwer; eſpecially if he urge that God is the Author of Method, as well as the God of Order. But in this Myſtical or Prophetical Senſe the Anſwer is ſolid and exquiſite, and much-what the ſame that was given to the like Difficulty more generally propounded before, namely, That the Churches of Aſia are named in that Order the ſucceſſive Intervals of the Church Catholick were to proceed in, of which theſe Aſiatick Churches are but the Symbols or Hieroglyphicks. And therefore thoſe two Intervals of Time which take in the Reign of the Beaſt and the Falſe Prophet, viz. the Intervals of the Church of Pergamus and of Thyatira, muſt come after Epheſus and Smyrna, becauſe till the Expiration of thoſe two Intervals Idolatry had not again re-entred the Apoſtatizing Church. And the three following Intervals of Sardis, Philadelphia, and Laodicea are the Intervals of the true Church elapſed out of the Hands of domineering Idolatry; and therefore we hear no more in them of things ſacrificed to Idols, nor of any Jezebel. And Philadelphia, which is the moſt holy and the moſt glorious Interval of the Church that is to appear ou the Face of the Earth, is not to be named according to her Dignity, but according to her Succeſſion in Time, toward the latter End of the World, as ſhe is here ranged. But of this more than enough, becauſe we had touched on it in the General before.

Apoc. 1. 16. Apoc. 2. 12. 5. Tenthly, Why is Chriſt in his Deſcription before the Epiſtle to the Church in Pergamus ſet out by a two-edged Sword, coming, ſuppoſe, out of his Mouth, (according to the Ellipticalneſs of the Apocalyptick Style?) What Reaſon in the Letter can be given of that? for (eſpecially if this Supplement be made) it cannot reſpect the ſlaying of Antipas with the Sword. What peculiar Thing then in this Church of Pergamus is there to require this Deſcription? Truly nothing at all appears in the Letter. But in the Prophetical Senſe it is very proper, The Waldenſes and Albigenſes in this Interval aſſaulting the Church of Rome, or at leaſt defending themſelves and their pure Faith, ſo ſignally by this Weapon, I mean, by the Sword of the Spirit, which is the Word of God; though themſelves died ſo many thouſands of them in the Field by the Sword for the Faith they thus defended.

Apoc. 2. 12. And in the Eleventh place, The Deſcription of Chriſt before the Epiſtle to the Church in Thyatira, And his Feet like fine Braſs, (as if they burned in a Furnace;) (for that Supplement is to be underſtood out of his Deſcription in the firſt Chapter, as before:) But now what peculiar Significancy has this Deſcription, or what Congruity to any thing in the Church of Thyatira literally underſtood? ſurely none. But in the prophetical Senſe it is very expreſſive of thoſe lower Members of Chriſt's Body, his Church here on Earth, of their invincible Zeal, and Patience, and Sincerity of Affection, ſuch as did abide the moſt fiery Trials that could be put upon them, and made them ſtand at the Stake amongſt burning Faggots with the Flames about their Ears, and never flinch for it: as has been noted in the Interpretation of that Epiſtle. This was the State of that Interval of the Church.

Twelfthly, In a Book that is ſo full of Ænigmatical Involutions, and Coverings upon Coverings, where he calls the Churches Golden Candleſticks, and the Biſhops or Paſtours Stars and Angels, even then when he interprets and offers to be more plain; that the ſame Author ſhould ſo openly and plainly mention any one by Name as he does the Martyr Antipas, if there were not ſome farther Myſtery in it, would be a great Difficulty, and hardly to be digeſted by the more Sagacious and Curious. I muſt confeſs I have often wondred at this naming Antipas by Name, till I underſtood a farther Senſe thereof, ſuch as we have rendred in the Expoſition of that Epiſtle.

6. In the Thirteenth place, One might well demand why Chriſt expreſſes a greater Diſguſt againſt the Church of Laodicea than that of Sardis. For tho' the former is ſaid to be lukewarm; yet the other, making a great Show of Life, is notwithſtanding declared to be dead. That Chriſt ſhould be more enraged againſt Lukewarmneſs than Hypocriſie, and threaten it more deeply than the other, I will ſpew thee out of my Mouth (which is quite to caſt a thing away, never to be reſumed again,) muſt ſeem marvellous to the Conſiderate. Certainly, if there were not ſome greater Matter in it, the Spirit of Chriſt would not ſpeak ſo ſeverely only to follow a Metaphor. But in the prophetical Senſe the Solution is eaſie, that Paſſage being predictive of the Extermination of the Church from the Face of the Earth at the cloſe of the World, as I have expounded it.

In the Fourteenth place, It may be demanded, why ſo affectedly and repeatedly in every Epiſtle that Phraſe is uſed, I know thy Works, without any Variation or Omiſſion. Which ſeems a thing but of ſmall Importance in the literal Senſe of theſe Epiſtles Epiſtles: but in the Prophetical it ſeems on purpoſe ſo repeated, to intimate an Alluſion in Aſia to the Hebrew Word עשה, (as if οἶδά σου τὰ ἔργα was intended on purpoſe to anſwer to ירעתי מעשיך) that Aſia may alſo be ſignificant as well as the Names of the Seven Churches: which they all being, it is a ſhrewd Preſumption this Repetition was for ſome ſuch Deſign as has been declared. Whereas the literal Senſe can give no Account thereof.

Fifteenthly, Alcazar himſelf is much ſtumbled, that the Spirit of God ſhould be thought to take notice of any one particular Woman in the Church of Thyatira, and ſo call her by the Name of Jezebel, as is ordinarily ſuppoſed. And indeed theſe things are too little for the Majeſty of this writing of the Apocalyps. But how can we help it in the literal Senſe, if we will interpret with Conſtancy and Coherency? But in the prophetical Senſe there is no ſuch Incongruity. The Obj & is worth the Spirit's taking notice of in this kind; this Jezebel being that painted Woman of Rome, intoxicating the Kings of the Earth with the Cup of her ſpiritual Fornications, as has been ſhewn upon the Text.

7. Sixteenthly, It ſeems very ſtrange and foreign to the purpoſe that that Promiſe of ruling over the Nations, and receiving the Morning-Star, (which doubtleſs are political Promiſes,) ſhould be made to the Church in Thyatira, more than to that in Pergamus, or Epheſus, and others. What Victories or Dominion did the Church in Thyatira in Aſia get over the Nations more than other Churches? This is an hard Knot in the literal Senſe. But in the Prophetical it is looſned at the firſt Sight. For the Cloſure of the Interval of the Church of Thyatira brings in the Time wherein whole Nations revolted from the Pope and his Idolatrous Church, and profeſſed the Reformed Religion, and ſo in theſe Parts got the Pontifician Party under them.

Seventeenthly, In the Epiſtle to the Church in Philadelphia there is mention made of a mighty Temptation that is to come upon all the World, to try them that dwell upon the Earth, touching which he ſaith, Behold, I come quickly. Why ſhould this be ſaid to the Church of Philadelphia more than to any other of the Churches here ſpecified? There are not the leaſt Footſteps of Reaſon to be found in the literal Senſe. But in the Prophetical Senſe the thing is plain. For the Interval of Philadelphia beginning in the laſt Vial, wherein that mighty and terrible Earthquake is to happen, the great Temptation, what it is, is plainly thence underſtood, and how in reſpect of this Philadelphian Church it will come quickly, ſhe commencing but in the very ſame Vial that this is to happen under.

Eighteenthly, Why upon this Philadelphia, a private Aſiatick Church, ſhould the Name of the City of God, the new Jeruſalem which cometh down out of Heaven from God, (the very ſame that is expreſſed Apoc. 21.) be ſaid to be written? This Title were too big and turgent for any private Church; were it not a Type or Symbol of ſome greater matter. But by the prophetical Interpretation this Difficulty is quite removed. For the Interval of the Philadelphian Church is coincident with the Times of the New-Jeruſalem, (mentioned at the End of the Apocalyps,) and of the Millennial Empire of Chriſt upon Earth.

8. Nineteenthly, The Curious may be prone to enquire, Why the Church of Laodicea in thoſe Times ſhould account her ſelf ſo hugely and extraordinarily rich, increaſed in Goods, and to have no Want of any thing. And truly why this ſhould be her Eſtate rather than any of the Churches ſpecify'd, from the literal Ground we can fetch no Reaſon. But admitting the prophetical Senſe, and that this is the laſt Interval of the Church of Chriſt, it will naturally ſo come to paſs: For this Laodicea will be left Heir to all the Riches of her Siſter Philadelphia, to Peace, Proſperity, Purity in Worſhip, Abundance of natural Knowledge, univerſal Skill in the Interpretations of the Prophecies, and what-ever good thing there is belonging to the Church, ſaving the Life and Spirit which Philadelphia carried along with her into the other World. How eaſily then and naturally, or rather neceſſarily, does this Deſcription of the Church of Laodicea fall upon the laſt Interval?

And, laſtly, It is a Queſtion extremely obvious to demand, Why that Phraſe, He that hath an Ear to hear, let him hear, which our Saviour ſo often is found to add at the End of his Parables to the People, ſhould be uſed here ſo repeatedly in every Epiſtle they being no Parables, but Epiſtles ſent to each of thoſe ſeven Churches in Aſia reſpectively: And then, why this Epiphonema is ſometimes the laſt Cloſe of the Epiſtle, ſometimes not. To which Problem there is no tolerable Solution in the literal teral Senſe of theſe Epiſtles. But ſuppoſing a Myſtical or Prophetical Senſe, there was a Neceſſity of affixing this Epiphonema, to ſhew there was a farther Senſe intended than that of the Letter: and alſo, that ſometimes this Epiphonema ſhould come laſt of all, (as in the four laſt Epiſtles,) that the Promiſe to the Conqueror, to him that overcomes, might be more certainly underſtood to be of a proper Prophetical or Political Senſe, not merely Theological, Moral or Spiritual; as has been abundantly declared in the Expoſition.

9. We might have drawn many more Queſtions and Solutions from the Conſideration of the Letter, and of this Hypotheſis we go upon, to ſhew its Solidity and Fitneſs, but that we hold it needleſs, having produced ſo many already: which jointly conſidered, with the perpetual Eaſineſs and Naturalneſs of the whole Expoſition of all the Epiſtles, and the exact Chrreſpondency of the Names of the Churches to the Events of the ſucceſſive Intervals of the true Catholick Church which they repreſent, one would think they ſhould not fail to ſatisfie any unprejudiced Peruſer of our Expoſition of theſe Epiſtles, touching the Truth thereof. But I am abundantly taught by Experience, that both the finding out, and receiving of Divine Truths found out by others, is a ſpecial Gift of God. And therefore to him alone be the Glory for ever and ever. Amen.

THE CONCLUSION,

Shewing the Uſefulneſs of the Expoſition of theſe ſeven Epiſtles.

1. AND ſo much for the Truth of our Expoſition; we will now add a few things concerning the Uſefulneſs thereof. And certainly the Uſefulneſs of it is equal to that of any other Expoſition of the Apocalyptick Viſions, and of ſo much the greater Importance is it, in regard of its Comprehending as in a Compendium the Scope and Deſign of 'em all.

For firſt of all, It ſerves to confirm our Faith in the particular Providence and Watchfulneſs of Chriſt over his Church; ſeeing it is ſo manifeſt from this Expoſition, with how much Care and Conſtancy he hath hitherto govern'd and order'd Affairs in theſe firſt five Intervals, and that they have not hitherto been in any other Condition, than that, wherein, in theſe Epiſtles, he foretold they ſhould be.

2. Furthermore, in the ſecond Place, We have here an ample and early Teſtimony for the Cauſe of the Proteſtants; I mean all thoſe who have declar'd againſt, and renounc'd the Communion of the Roman Church, from the Times of the Waldenſes to the firſt Reformers commonly ſo call'd. For the Waldenſes are here acknowledg'd to be the faithful Martyrs of Chriſt; and thoſe others who lived within the Interval of the Church in Thyatira, receive no leſs Commendation, being thus Apoc. 2: 19. deſcrib'd in the Epiſtle to that Church, I know thy Works, and Charity, and Service, and Faith, and thy Patience, and thy Works: and the laſt to be more than the firſt. So that they ſtill made greater Advances, until at length Reformations became national. Are not our firſt Reformers therefore worthy to whom the Viſion of the Re-
Apoc. 11. 11, 12. ſurrection of the Witneſſes ſhould be applied, who receive ſo ample a Teſtimony from Chriſt, whom the Father hath appointed Judge of the World? May not thoſe alſo in a political Senſe rightly be ſaid to have aſcended up to Heaven, to whom that Apoc. 2. 26. Promiſe made to the Church in Thyatira is performed, To him that overcometh will I give Power over the Nations, &c. This therefore concerning the Church in Thyatira, further confirms what we have elſewhere affirmed of the Reſurrection of the Witneſſes. Namely, That the fulfilling of that Prophecy was accompliſh'd in that wonderful Reformation, which God brought to Perfection, by Luther and others, beyond the Expectation of all Men.

To

To which notwithſtanding this will be conſequential, that the Sounding of the Sixth Trumpet has already happen'd, andthe forty two Months, the one thouſand two hundred and ſixty Days, or Time, Times, and half a Time as to the fulfilling of the Prophecy is paſt, and that therefore 'twould be in vain for any to calculate future Events upon this Suppoſition, that theſe are yet to come; and that thoſe who do ſo will find themſelves confuted by the Diſagreement of the Events from the Predictions, and by this means will expoſe the Study of Interpreting Prophecies to Deriſion and Contempt, and alſo weaken the Belief Men have of theſe Expoſitions that are true, and thereby notably promote the Intereſt of the common Adverſary.

3. But as this is moſt true in it ſelf, ſo it makes greatly for the Advantage of Reformed Chriſtianity, that we acknowledge the Reformation of the Proteſtants to be a Fulfilling of the Reſurrection of the Witneſſes, and their Aſcending up into Heaven, that ſo the Honour may be given to the Reformation which is due to it, (of which there is ſo manifeſt a Confirmation by Divine Teſtimony, and of its Rectitude and Equity in oppoſition to the Idolatry and Tyranny of the Roman Church;) and that Magiſtrates and People may be every where upon this account more intimately united, and all Sects, which hold the Foundation, may have a greater mutual Eſteem, and may not, as is uſual, ſo much contemn and hate one another, but may be diſpoſed to Chriſtian Union and Love. For 'tis this Diſpenſation of the Spirit which is to inflict upon Antichriſt the greateſt Wound of all, and not a fiery Sword proceeding out of the Mouth of him that ſits on the White-horſe literally underſtood, or large Floods of Fire poured out upon him from Heaven, or any other ſuch prodigious Aſſiſtance, as ſome at the End of one thouſand two hundred and ſixty Days do expect. Which abſurd Suppoſition tends to nothing elſe, but to fill the Mind with vain tho' vehement Paſſions and Preſumptuous Opinions; to which no other Anſwer ſhall be given but Shame and Diſappointment.

But this bright and conſpicuous Truth underſtood ſo as it is, naturally conduceth to the begetting in the whole Reformed Chriſtian World a mutual Eſteem for one another, and to the ſuppreſſing that vain Preſumption in Sects, as if themſelves were the only People concern'd in the Viſion of the Witneſſes, and therefore ought to expect wonderful things for themſelves, which ſhall be accompanied with the Deſtruction or Suppreſſion of all others that are not of their Sect. Which Opinions being uſeleſs unto, or rather inconſiſtent with all Chriſtianity, are altogether deſtroyed by the true and faithful Expoſition of the Reſurrection of the Witneſſes. For this reduces them into the Way of reciprocally yielding to one another the Honour due, and of promoting with united Endeavours, in the Spirit of Sobriety, the common Intereſt of the Reformed Chriſtian World, rather than that any one Part ſhould ſo vainly and proudly preſume of themſelves beyond all others, as if they were hereafter to triumph in their Ruin.

4. And laſtly, This abſurd Expectation of ſuch miraculous Events at the End of One thouſand two hundred and ſixty Days, being removed, (ſeeing that Time as to the Fulfilling of the Prophecies is already paſt, and no Time for the future is determined, but only the Order of Things in the Viſion of the Vials;) this only remains for Proteſtants, That they compute the Approaching of the final Ruin of Antichriſt, and of the bleſſed Millennium, according to their Advances in the Myſtery of real Regeneration and in the indiſpenſable Duties of Chriſtianity. The more holy, the more innocent, the more humble, the more vehemently aſpiring after heavenly Goods they find one another; The more prudent they be, the more faithful and obedient to the publick Magiſtrate; The more meek and benevolent towards one another, and the more earneſtly they bend all their Endeavours to promote the publick Good and the common Felicity of all Mankind, (which aſſuredly will introduce the Philadelphian Interval) The more near they may conclude the Ruin of Antichriſt, and the glorious Reign of Chriſt with his Saints in the Bleſſed Millennium to be. But what other Signs there are beſides theſe, in the prophetical Viſions, whereby we may diſcern the Approaches of theſe Times, I ingenuouſly confeſs my Ignorance. And now 'tis time to return from this ſudden Excurſion.

5. Thirdly, Foraſmuch as 'tis ſaid, Notwithſtanding I have a few things againſt thee, becauſe thou ſuffereſt that Woman Jezebel, which calleth her ſelf a Propheteſs, to teach, and to ſeduce my Servants, to commit Fornication, and to eat things ſacrificed to Idols, &c. here verily is to be ſeen a moſt illuſtrious Abſolution of the Reform'd Proteſtants from that atrocious Crime of Schiſm, which the Roman Church does ſo magiſterially lay to their Charge, ſeeing it plainly intimateth, that their Separation Apoc. 2. 20.

from the Roman Church was not only no Fault but even a Virtue, and an inviolable Part of the Obedience neceſſarily due to the Commands of Chriſt; and that not to have ſeparated had been Diſobedience and Rebellion againſt Chriſt, and therefore could not poſſibly be accounted Schiſm. Which thing verily is worthy our moſt ſerious Obſervation and attentive Conſideration.

In like manner alſo this, (againſt the Opinion of ſome Men, otherwiſe learned) That to ſeparate from the Roman Church becauſe of her Idolatry, is not Schiſm before God, but only in the Opinion of Men, and theſe, as may be thought, not of the pureſt Minds, but rather ſuch as are more affected with the Senſe of the worldly Advantage of the Church, than with the Glory of God or Purity of his Worſhip. For Chriſt, who is God bleſſed for ever, reproveth here the Church in Thyatira, that ſhe bare longer with the Woman Jezebel, and did not altogether put her away, (as of old in the Type the Eunuchs threw her out of the Window) and that for this very Cauſe of being the Ordainer of Idolatry, and the Author and Encourager of ſpiritual Fornication; as is evident in the Text. So that before God, that is in his Sight or Eſtimate, both the Roman Church is manifeſtly guilty of Idolatry, and alſo the Proteſtants themſelves, who have renounc'd Communion with her upon that Account, are plainly abſolv'd even from the leaſt Spot or Suſpicion of Schiſm. But that the Spirit of God beareth Witneſs with our Spirits to the Truth of this, my Treatiſe of Idolatry will ſufficiently demonſtrate to all who have not loſt the free Uſe of Reaſon.

6. Fourthly, From hence, that the Reformed Chriſtian World (eſpecially after the Relaxation of Probity of Life and Manners, and the noiſy Debates and Contentions about mere Triffles) is repreſented under the Type of the Church in Sardis as in a very imperfect State, howſoever eſcap'd from the groſs Idolatries of Popery, (for here there is no longer any Complaint either of the Doctrine of Balaam, or of Jezebel) from hence, I ſay, we ought verily to learn to be humble, not too headſtrong and confident in our own Doctrines and Opinions, but with all Meekneſs to bear with one another, and to be ready to receive Inſtruction from one another to the Manifeſtation of the Truth.

But in the mean time, even while things are not in a better Condition, ſeeing they are in a worſe than was foretold, we ought hence to learn, that it is our Duty not to ſuffer our Hearts to turn back again unto the Fleſh pots of Egypt, or to conclude with our ſelves, that it will be all one to us, if we return again to Rome, or never be in any better State than now we are. For this Sardian State, is not unlike the Wandring in the Deſart between Egypt and the Land of Promiſe, which is the Philadelphian State, into which there is no Entring till after the Seven Vials, that is, before the laſt Vial is either poured out or at leaſt a-running. Even as it is written in the fifteenth Chapter of the Apocalyps; And the Temple was filled with Smoke from the Glory of God, and from his Power, and no Man was able to enter into the Temple, till the ſeven Plagues of the ſeven Angels were fulfilled. Where, No Man, according to the Apocalyptick Style, ſignifies that Aſſembly or Multitude of Men that were to enter therein, and to conſtitute that State of the Church which is here call'd Ναὸς, the Temple; Namely that living Temple of God, were not to appear in that eminent Condition, but after the Vials, to wit the laſt either running or run out. Which admirably agrees with that Place of the Epiſtle to Philadelphia, Him that overcometh, will I make a Pillar in the Temple of my God. So that theſe Philadelphians after the Smoke of the Vials are not only to enter into the Temple, but are never to go out thence, in that Senſe we have explain'd.

Apoc. 3. 12.

Wherefore ſeeing we are now in a Wilderneſs Condition, we ought with Faith, Meekneſs and Patience to wait till God bring us into that happy Land, and not to murmur againſt him, and to reproach his Providence, becauſe it hath ſeem'd good in his Sight that things ſhould go on in ſo ſlow a Pace, nor proudly and falſely to declare, That it were equally our Intereſt to return to Rome, and that 'tis a Queſtion whether that late Reformation has been more advantagious or detrimental to the Chriſtian World. For Thoughts or Speeches of this Nature, are falſe, abſurd and ungrateful Reproaches againſt the holy Providence of God, whoſe Ways theſe ſpiteful, ſuperficial, and prophane Wits underſtand not, whoſe Eyes the Spirit of this World hath altogether blinded.

And for as much as in the Epiſtle to the Church of Sardis there is not found any Complaint of Idolatry, nor even the leaſt Encouragement to Separation, contrary to what is done before; all the Churches of the Reform'd Chriſtian World, and and all the particular Sects and Members thereof, ought moſt diligently to take Care that (becauſe of the Diverſity of Ceremonies and Opinions) they be not divided amongſt themſelves, or break off Communion with one another, but all unviolably holding the Foundation, and jointly bearing Witneſs againſt the groſs Idolatries and outragious Enormities of the Roman Church, to ſtudy Peace and mutual Forbearance, that the Body of the Reformed Chriſtian World may become thereby the more vigorous, and the more compacted for Reſiſting the common Adverſary.

But above all, this one thing is with the greateſt Application to be endeavoured, that we purify our ſelves from all Filthineſs of Fleſh and Spirit, perfecting Holineſs in the Fear of God; to turn away that cruel Deſtruction which Chriſt threatens to be ſuddenly and unexpectedly to come upon the Church in Sardis. And theſe, in my Judgment, are no deſpicable Advantages which are to be ſeen in the Expoſition of the Epiſtle to the Sardian Church. Apoc. 3. 3.

7. Fifthly, And as for the Expoſition of the Philadelphian Church, it is verily of the greateſt Importance for the bringing about the Reformation of the World. For this is a common Excuſe, why Impiety and Wickedneſs is every where ſo reigning: namely That Men will be Men, ſo long as the World endures, and 'tis much more probable that things will ſtill grow worſe and worſe than better: And therefore there are few or none that either endeavour to become better themſelves, or give Advice to others ſo to do. When yet from the prophetical Senſe of the Epiſtle to the Philadelphian Church 'tis manifeſt, that the Time will come when Righteouſneſs and true Holineſs ſhall reign glorioufly upon the Earth.

But ſuch as are averſe from this Perſwaſion, are alſo, for the moſt part, not inclin'd to the Belief that there is any Certainty in interpreting of Prophecies. They, forſooth, will not be ſo preſumptuous as to pretend they underſtand them, eſpecially if they be ſuch as ſeem to denounce Judgments againſt the abominable Wickedneſs of the Roman Church, or to promiſe Times much better than the preſent. Which is a kind of Hypocriſie not much unlike to that of Ahaz, when the Prophet bid him ask a Sign from the Lord his God; But he, good and modeſt Hypocrite, refuſed to ask a Sign, or to tempt Jehovah. The Meaning of which Anſwer is this, That he would not diſquiet and diſtract his Mind, nor render himſelf more obnoxious, by being any way made Conſcious of ſupernatural Evidence contrary to his natural Senſes, and the Perſwaſions of his carnal Mind; to the Government of which, wholly to ſubmit himſelf, he had obſtinately reſolv'd, and would not be diſturbed by the letting in of any Diviner Light. The Application is very eaſie and obvious. Iſaiah. 7. 12.

8. And laſtly, The Prophetical Senſe of the Epiſtle to the Church of Laodicea being admitted, is of great uſe to confirm the Belief of that noble Article, That this terreſtrial Theater will have an End, and that Chriſt at the latter End of things will come viſibly to Judgment to render unto Men according to their Works; That he will judge both the Quick and the Dead, according ro the orthodox Meaning of the Apoſtolical Doctrine.

To all which may be added, That, as the Expoſitions of theſe ſeven Epiſtles to the ſeven Churches in Aſia, have much-what the ſame Strength of Argument as any other Viſions in the whole Apocalyps; ſo they are much more eaſie, and reach the principal Scope in leſs Compaſs of Words, neither are they attended with that Difficulty of Synchroniſms for the clearing of the Senſe, as others, but are only ſeven Intervals manifeſtly ſucceeding one to another, the Bounds whereof, in ſo far as the things are already paſt, are eaſily determined. And we know that the Sardian Interval ends where the Philadelphian begins. And that Laodicea is the utmoſt Bound of all. Which Facility and Eaſineſs to be comprehended does not a little enhance the Uſefulneſs of theſe Expoſitions.

9. But amongſt all the Advantages, whether general or ſpecial, of theſe Expoſitions, none is ſo comfortable and refreſhing to me, as the moſt ſweet Remembrance of the Character of the Philadelphian Interval. For Philadelphia as we have remark'd ſignifies Brotherly Love, or Love of our Neighbourhood But who is our Neighbour our Saviour teaches in the Parable of the Samaritan: and nothing is more in every one's Mouth than that we are all Brethren in Adam. Philadelphia therefore ſignifies the Love of our Neighbour, that is the Love of all Mankind. Which upon this Account is a Love truly Divine, becauſe it comes from God, according to that of John, Beloved, let us love one another: for Love is of God: and every one that loveth, is born of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not, knoweth not God; for God is Love. And all this is ſaid of the Love of our Neighbour, becauſe it is a cer- 1 Joh. 4, 7, 8.

tain

tain Image or Off-ſpring of the Love of him who is the true God. And therefore it can't but be truly Divine both in Original and Operation, ſeeing it is from God, and is extended to all the Creation, as that of God himſelf, and containeth in it ſelf the true Knowledge of God; even that ſelf ſame Knowledge of God, of which, toge-
Iſa. 11. 9. ther with theſe Philadelphian Times, Iſaiah hath ſo clearly propheſied, They ſhall not hurt nor deſtroy in all my holy Mountain; for the Earth ſhall be full of the Glory of the Lord, as the Waters cover the Sea.

Which aſſuredly is a very firm and ſolid Concluſion, That nothing ſhall hurt or deſtroy in the Holy Mountain, becauſe the Earth ſhall be ſo full of this true Knowledge and Diſcerning of God, which is Divine Love. For this Love we, through Enchirid. the Teaching of God, have learnt, and in our Enchiridion Ethicon have propoſed to Eth. Lib. 3. be learnt by others, That it is the firſt Meaſure of all moral Vertues, and the laſt Reaſon into which every good Action ſhould, and may be reſolved, and without which none can be good. Whence the Apoſtle himſelf enjoyns, that All things be done with Charity, becauſe without it nothing can be rightly done. So ſuitable verily is it that what is the Mother and firſt Principle of all righteous Actions, the ſame be alſo the Mark and proper Appellation of the moſt happy and perfect State of the Church.

Which ſurely is a thing of the greateſt Importance to be obſerv'd, that by this Rule we may examine both our own and others Words and Actions, yea and all Undertakings whatever, and try the Spirits whether they are from God, mindful of that Saying of the Apoſtle, He that loveth not, knoweth not God, for God is Love.
1 Cor. 16. 14. He that cometh without this Doctrine or Teſt, we ought not ſo much as bid him God ſpeed. Now whoſoever fomenteth Diſſentions and Schiſms about unneceſſary Things or Opinions, he comes without this Doctrine, than which Practice nothing is more inconſiſtent with the Philadelphian Genius. But he that doth things which diſcover a moſt free and unconſtrained Love of Mankind, which make for the Peace and Concord of the Chriſtian World, which tend to turn the Hearts of the Fathers to the Children, and the Hearts of the Children to the Fathers; he only hath the Spirit of Truth which is ſent from Chriſt, and is as it were the Fore-runner and John 13. 34. Harbinger of the Philadelphian Age, to which all Men ought to give heed. By this ſhall all Men know that ye are my Diſciples, if ye have love one to another.

FINIS.

A BRIEF

DISCOURSE

Of the true

GROUNDS

OF THE CERTAINTY

OF

FAITH

In Points of

RELIGION.

FAITH and Belief, though they be uſually appropriated to Matters of Religion, yet thoſe Words in themſelves ſignifie nothing elſe but, A Perſwaſion touching the Truth of a thing ariſing from ſome Ground or other. Which Perſwaſion may be undoubted or certain to Us, that is to ſay, We may be certainly perſwaded without any Staggering, though the Grounds be falſe, and the Thing it ſelf falſe that we are thus firmly perſwaded of. So that the being firmly perſwaded is no ſure Sign to others, nor ought to be to our ſelves, that either the Grounds or the Belief it ſelf is true. Οἱ ἰδιογνώμονές εἰσιν ἰσχεογνώμονες And this Ἰδιογνωμοσυνὴ may very well ariſe from an Ἰδιοσυγκρασία or Ἰδιοπάθεια. Peculiarity of Complexion or the Beſottedneſs of Education may be ſo prevalent, as very forcibly to urge Falſhood upon our Belief, as well in things Natural as Religious, either upon very weak and falſe Grounds, or no other Grounds at all but that of Complexion and Education, Paſſion or Intereſt, or the like.

But the true Grounds of the Certainty of Faith are ſuch as do not only beget a certain and firm Faith, but a true one, and this in vertue of their own Truth and Solidity, as being ſuch as will appear true and ſolid to all impartial and unprejudiced Examiners, that is to ſay, to all ſuch as neither Complexion, nor Education, nor Paſſion, nor Intereſt does pervert their Judgment, but have their Κεῖνον clear as the Eye to diſcriminate Colours. Whence it is plain that the firſt and moſt neceſſary Preparation to the Diſcovery of the true Grounds of the Certainty of Faith is Moral Prudence, in ſuch a Senſe as the Nature of it is deſcribed in a late Moral Diſcourſe entitled Enchiridion Ethicum, lib. 2. cap. 2. This ought to be antecedaneous to our Judgment touching either Authority or Reaſon. But for a Man of a polluted Spirit to take upon him to diſſent from the Conſtitutions of the Church he is born under, is a very raſh and inſolent Attempt. As if God were more bound to aſſiſt a ſingle wicked Man for the finding out of Truth, than a Multitude; or as if a Man could more ſafely or more creditably err alone, than with a Company that has the Stamp of Authority upon them. But if thy Endeavour be to perfect Holineſs in the Fear of God, and to walk in all Humility before him and before Men, thou mayeſt by ſuch rational Grounds as theſe examine the Fidelity of thy Teachers, and the Truth of their Doctrines of Religion.

I. Firſt then, It is plain that Certainty of Faith preſuppoſeth Certainty of both Reaſon and Senſe rightly circumſtantiated. For, foraſmuch as Faith properly ſo called is nothing but an unwavering Aſſent to ſome Doctrine propoſed upon the Ground of infallible Teſtimony, there muſt be ſome Reaſon to perſwade us that that Teſtimony is infallible; that is to ſay, that they that teſtifie are neither obnoxious to Errour in the things they witneſs of, nor have a Mind to make others to err or to think what is falſe, or elſe that they never had any Opportunity of falſifying in the Points they propound to our Belief. Certainty of Senſe is alſo required. For if the Senſe be not certain, there could be no infallible Teſtimony of Matter of Fact, and Moſes's converſing with God in the Mount may be but a Dream; nor could there be any certain Eye-witneſs of our Saviour's Reſurrection and Aſcenſion, if God will delude our Senſes. Wherefore to take away the Certainty of Senſe rightly circumſtantiated, is to take away all Certainty of Belief in the main Points of our Religion.

II. 2dly, Senſe and Reaſon are rightly circumſtantiated, the one, when the Organ is ſound, the Medium fitly qualified, and the Diſtance of the Object duly proportionated, and the like; the other, when it is accompanied with moral Prudence rightly ſo called, ſuch as Lib. 2. C. 2. it is defined in the above-ſaid Enchiridion, that is to ſay, That this Reaſon be lodged either in a perfectly-unprejudiced Mind, or at leaſt unprejudiced touching the Point propounded. For there are ſome Truths ſo clear, that Immorality it ſelf (provided it do not beſot a Man or make him quite mad) puts no Bar to the aſſenting to them, that is, puts no Bar to their appearing to be true, no more than it does to the Eye unhurt to the diſcerning of Colours; which the Wicked and Godly do alike upon this Suppoſition. Wherefore

III. The 3*d* Concluſion ſhall be, That there be Natural Truths, whether Logical, Phyſical, or Mathematical, that are ſo palpably true, that they conſtantly and perpetually appear ſo as well to the Wicked as the Good, if they be Compotes mentis, and do not manifeſt Violence to their Faculties.

IV. The 4*th*, That theſe natural Truths, whether Common Notions or Scientifical Concluſions, that are ſo palpably true that they perpetually appear ſo as well to the Evil as the Good, are at leaſt as certain and indubitable as any thing that the Reaſon and Underſtanding of a Man can give Aſſent to; that is to ſay, There is at leaſt as great a Certainty of theſe Axiomes that they are true, as there can be of any. And therefore, becauſe there is acknowledged a Certainty in ſome Points that our Underſtanding and Reaſon cloſeth with, let us ſet down for

V. The 5*th* Concluſion, That theſe Natural Truths that conſtantly appear ſuch as well to the Evil as the good (if they be not crack'd-brained nor do Violence to their Faculties) are in themſelves moſt certainly true.

VI. The 6*th*, That what is a Contradiction to a certain Truth is not only uncertain, but neceſſarily falſe: foraſmuch as both the Parts of a Contradiction cannot be true.

VII. The 7*th*, That no Revelation which either it ſelf, or the Revealing thereof, or its manner of Revealing, is repugnant to the Divine Attributes, can be from God.

VIII. The 8*th*, That no Tradition of any ſuch Revelation can be true, foraſmuch as the Revelation it ſelf is impoſſible.

IX. The 9*th*, That no Revelation is from God that is repugnant to Senſe rightly circumſtantiated. This is manifeſt from the firſt Ground, That Certainty of Faith preſuppoſeth Certainty of Senſe duly circumſtantiated. For if our Senſes may be miſtaken when they act in due Circumſtances, we cannot be aſſured that they are at any time true. Which neceſſarily deſtroys the Certainty of all Revelation ab extra and of all Tradition, and conſequently of our Chriſtian Religion. Wherefore God cannot be the Author of any ſuch Revelation, by Concluſion the Seventh: For it were repugnant to his Wiſdom and Goodneſs.

X. The 10*th*, That no Revelation is from God that contradicts plain Natural Truths, ſuch as were above deſcribed. This is abundantly clear from Concluſion the 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7. For if Reaſon where it is cleareſt is falſe, we have no Aſſurance it is ever true and therefore no Certainty of Faith, which preſuppoſes Reaſon, by Concluſion the firſt. Beſides, by Concluſion the ſixth, That which is contradictory to a certain Truth is certainly falſe: But Divine Revelation is true: Therefore there can be no Revelation from God that bears with it ſuch a Contradiction. Nay we may add, That if there were any Truth that would conſtantly appear to Reaſon rightly circumſtantiated contradictory to any conſtant Natural Truth, God would not communicate any ſuch Truth to Men, by Concluſion the ſeventh. For the revealing of ſuch a Truth were repugnant to his Attribute of Wiſdom, it making thereby true Religion as obnoxious to Suſpicion and Exception, as falſe. For there is no greater Exception againſt the Truth of any Religion, than that it propoſes Articles that are repugnant to common Notions or indubitable Science. Beſides that one ſuch Pretence of true Revelation, would enable a falſe Prieſt-hood to fill the World with Figments and Lies. Wherefore God will never be the Author of ſo much Miſchief to Mankind. And laſtly, ſince the firſt Revelation muſt be handed down by Tradition, and Tradition being but humane Teſtimony, and infinitely more lubricous and fallible than the κοιναὶ ἔννοιαι or natural Science; How will it be poſſible for any but Sots or Fools to believe Tradition againſt ſolid Science or a Common Notion? So that the Reſult muſt needs be either blind Superſtition, groſs Irreligion, or univerſal Scepticiſm.

The 11*th*, That no Revelation that enforces, countenances, or abets Immorality or Diſhoneſty can be from God. This is manifeſted from the ſeventh Concluſion. For it is repugnant to God's Attributes, his Juſtice, Fidelity, Goodneſs, and Purity or Sanctity. The Image of God is Righteouſneſs and true Holineſs: Wherefore no Doctrine that tends to Injuſtice, Unrighteouſneſs and Impurity can be a Revelation from God. XI.

The 12*th*, That no Interpretation of any Divine Revelation that is repugnant to Senſe or Reaſon rightly circumſtantiated, or to plain and indubitable Morality, whether it be made by a private or publick Hand, can be any Inſpiration from God. There needs no new Confirmation of this Concluſion. For the ſame Arguments that prove that no Divine Revelation can be in this ſort repugnant, do prove alſo that no Interpretation of any Revelation in this ſort repugnant to Senſe, Reaſon, or ſound Morality, can be Divine. XII.

The 13*th*, That no Interpretation of Divine Writ that juſtifies Sedition, Rebellion, or Tyranny, can be any Inſpiration from God. This is eaſily evinced from the foregoing Concluſion. For Sedition and Rebellion are groſs and ponderous Species of Injuſtice againſt the Magiſtrate, as Tyranny is alſo againſt the People; both ſuch high Strains of Immorality, that no Interpretation of Scripture that juſtifies theſe can be true, much leſs Divinely inſpired. XIII.

The 14*th*, No Church that propounds as Articles of Belief ſuch things as are repugnant to rightly-circumſtantiated Senſe and Reaſon, or ſound Morality, can rightly be deemed Infallible. The Reaſon is plain: For it appears out of what has hitherto been ſaid, that they are already actually deceived, or at leaſt intend to deceive others. XIV.

The 15*th*, That the Certainty of Faith cannot be grounded upon the Infallibility of any Church, particular or univerſal, as infallibly inſpired, that is deprehended to be actually deceived in any Points ſhe propoſes to be believed as neceſſary Articles of Faith. This is ſo plain, that it wants no farther Proof. XV.

The 16*th*, That the Moral and Humane Certainty of Faith is grounded upon the Certainty of univerſal Tradition, Prophecy, Hiſtory, and the Nature of the things delivered, Reaſon and Senſe aſſiſting the Mind in her Diſquiſitions touching theſe Matters. That Certainty of Faith I call Moral or Humane that is competible even to a carnal Man or a Man unregenerate; as it is ſaid of the Devils, that they believe and tremble. By Univerſal Tradition I underſtand ſuch a Tradition as has been from the Apoſtles, that is to ſay, has been always (ſince the Completion of their Apoſtleſhips,) as well as in every place of the Church. For ſince there was to be ſo general and ſo early a Degeneracy of the Church as is witneſſed of in the Holy Scriptures, the Generality of the Votes of the Church was not always a ſufficient Warrant of the Truth of Tradition. But thoſe Truths that have been conſtantly held and unalterably from the Apoſtles Times till now, it is a Sign that they were very Sacred, unqueſtionable and aſſured Truths, and ſo vulgarly and univerſally known and acknowledged, that it was not in Man's Power to alter them. By Prophecy I underſtand as well thoſe Divine Predictions of the Coming of Chriſt, as thoſe touching the Church after he had come. By Hiſtory I mean not only that of the XVI.

Bible, and particularly the New-Teſtament, but other Hiſtory as well Eccleſiaſtick as Prophane. And what I mean by the Nature of the things delivered is beſt to be underſtood out of ſuch Treatiſes as write of the Reaſonableneſs of Chriſtianity, ſuch as Dr. Hammond's, and Mr. Baxter's late Book. See alſo Dr. More's Myſtery of Godlineſs, where the Reaſonableneſs of our Chriſtian Faith is more fully repreſented, and plainly demonſtrated, *That it has not been in the Power of the Church to deceive us as touching the main Points of our Belief, though they would.

*Book 7. chap. 9, 10; 11.

XVII. The 17*th*, That no Tradition is more univerſal and certain than the Tradition of the Authentickneſs of ſuch Books of the Bible as all Churches are agreed upon to be Canonical. There can be no more certain nor univerſal Tradition than this; in that it has the Teſtimony of the whole Church and all the Parts thereof with one Conſent, though in other things they do ſo vehemently diſagree. Wherefore no Tradition can be of any comparable Authority to this. And therefore we may ſet down for Concluſion

XVIII. The 18*th*, That the Bible is the trueſt Ground of the Certainty of Faith that can offered to our Underſtanding to reſt in. The Reaſon is, becauſe it is the moſt unibeverſal both for Time and Place, the moſt unexceptionable and univerſally-acknowledged Tradition that is; and that upon account of peculiar and moſt ſolid Reaſons.

XIX. The 19*th*, That the Bible or Holy Writ dictated by the Spirit of God, that is, written by Holy and Inſpired Men, is ſufficiently plain to an unprejudiced Capacity in all Points neceſſary to Salvation. This muſt of Neceſſity be true by Concluſion the Seventh. Otherwiſe the Manner of God's Revealing his Truth in the Holy Scriptures would be repugnant to the Divine Attributes, and, which were Blaſphemy to utter, he would ſeem unskilfully to have inſpired the Holy Pen-men, that is to ſay, in ſuch a way as were not at all accommodate to the End of the Scriptures, which is the Salvation of Mens Souls; nor to have provided for the Recovering of the Church out of thoſe groſs Errours he both foreſaw and foretold ſhe would fall into.

XX. The 20*th*, That the true and primarie Senſe of Holy Scripture is Literal or Hiſtorical, unleſs in ſuch Parts or Paſſages thereof as are intimated to be Parables or Viſions writ in the Prophetick Style, or the literal Meaning be repugnant to rightly-circumſtantiated Senſe or natural Science, &c. For then it is a Sign that the Place is to be underſtood Figuratively or Parabolically, not Litterally. The Truth of this appears out of the immediately-foregoing Concluſion. For elſe the Scripture would not be ſufficiently plain in all Points neceſſary to Salvation: Indeed in no Points at all: but all the Articles of our Faith that reſpect the Hiſtory of Chriſt might be moſt frivolouſly and whifflingly allegorized into a mere Romance or Fable. But that the Hiſtory of Chriſt is literally to be underſtood, is manifeſt both from the Text it ſelf, and from perpetual and univerſal Tradition. Which if it were not the right Senſe, it were a Sign that it is writ exceedingly obſcure even in the chief Points of Faith: which is contrary to the foregoing Concluſion. But that thoſe Places or Paſſages that are repugnant to rightly-circumſtantiated Senſe or natural Science are to be interpreted figuratively, is plain from the general Conſent of all Men, in that they univerſally agree, when Chriſt ſays, I am the Door, I am the true Vine, &c. That theſe things cannot be litterally true. And there is the ſame Reaſon of Hoc eſt Corpus meum, This is my Body.

XXI. The 21*ſt*, That no Point of Faith profeſſed from the Apoſtles Time to this very Day, and acknowledged by all Churches in Chriſtendom, but is plainly revealed in the Scripture. This may be partly argued out of the nineteenth and twentieth Concluſions, and alſo farther approved by comparing theſe Points of Faith with Texts of Scripture touching the ſame Matter.

XXII. The 22*d*, That the Comprehenſion of theſe Points of Faith always and every-where held by all Chriſtian Churches from the Apoſtles Time till now, and ſo plain by Teſtimony of Scripture, is moſt rightfully termed the Common or Catholick and Apoſtolick Faith.

XXIII. The 23*d*, That there is a Divine Certainty of Faith, which, beſides the Grounds that the Moral or Humane Certainty hath, is ſupported and corroborated by the Spirit of Life in the new Birth, and by illuminated Reaſon. This is not to be argued, but by an Internal Senſe to be felt. In the mean time no more is aſſerted than this, That this Divine Certainty has an higher Degree of Firmneſs and Aſſurance of the Truth of the Holy Scriptures, as having partaken of the ſame Spirit with our Saviour and the Apoſtles, but does not vary in the Truths held in the common Faith.

The

The 24*th*, Whatever pretended Inſpiration or Interpretation of the Divine Oracles is XXIV. repugnant to the above deſcribed Common or Catholick and Apoſtolick Faith, is Impoſture or Falſhood, be it from a private Hand or publick. The Reaſon is apparent, becauſe the Articles of this common Faith were the Doctrines of Men truly inſpired from above, and the Spirit of God cannot contradict it ſelf.

The 25*th*, None of the Holy Writ is of it ſelf unintelligible, but accordingly as XXV. Mens Spirits ſhall be prepared, and the Time ſutable; as God has already, ſo he may (as Seaſons ſhall require) ſtill impart farther and farther Light to the Souls of the Faithful, for a fuller and a more general Underſtanding the obſcureſt Paſſages in the Divine Oracles. The Truth of this Aſſertion is ſo clear, that it ſeems little better than Blaſphemy to contradict it. For to ſay the Holy Writ is in ſelf unintelligible, is equivalent to the pronouncing it Non-ſenſe: or to aver that ſuch and ſuch Books or Paſſages of it were never to be underſtood by Men, is to inſinuate as if the Wiſdom of God did not only delight it ſelf with the Children of Men, but even fool with them. This is but a Subterfuge of that conſcious Church, that is afraid of the Fulgour of that Light, that ſhines againſt her out of ſuch Places of Scripture as have for a long time ſeemed obſcure.

The 26*th*, That there are innumerable Paſſages of Scripture, as well Preceptive XXVI. as Hiſtorical, that are as plainly to be underſtood as the very Articles of the common Faith, and which therefore may be very uſeful for the clearing thoſe that may ſeem more obſcure. This wants no Proof but Appeal to Experience and the twentieth Concluſion.

The 27*th*, That no Miracle, though done by ſuch as may ſeem of an unexceptio- XXVII. nable Life and of more ſingular Sanctity, can in reaſon ratifie any Doctrine or Practice that is repugnant to rightly-circumſtantiated Senſe, or Natural Truths or Science, or the common Chriſtian Faith, or any plain Doctrine or Aſſertion in Scripture. The Truth of this is manifeſt from hence, That no Man can be ſo certain that ſuch a Man is not a crafty and cautious Hypocrite, and his Miracle either a Juggle or Deluſion of the Devil, or (if he was not an Eye-witneſs of it) a falſe Report of a Miracle, as he is certain of the Truth of rightly-circumſtantiated Senſe, of Common Notions and Natural Science, of the Articles of the Apoſtolick Faith, or of any plain Aſſertion in the Scripture. And therefore that which is moſt certain in this Caſe ought in all Reaſon to be our Guide.

The 28*th*, That it is not only the Right but the Duty of private Men to converſe XXVIII. with the Scriptures, being once but precautioned not to preſume to interpret any thing againſt rightly-circumſtantiated Senſe, Natural Truth, common Honeſty, the Analogy of the Catholick Faith, or againſt other plain Teſtimonies of Holy Writ. The Truth of this appears from the Concluſion immediately preceding. For why ſhould they be kept from having Recourſe to ſo many and ſo profitable and powerful Inſtructions from an infallible Spirit, when they are ſo well fore-armed againſt all Miſtake, and are ſo laid at by ſo many not only fallible but fallacious and deceitful Perſons to ſeduce them? And why is there not more Danger of being led into Error by ſuch as are not only fallible, but falſe and deceitful, than by thoſe Inſpired Men that wrote the Scripture, who were neither fallible in what they wrote, nor had any Deſign to deceive any Man? Wherefore there being no ſuch ſafe Guide as the Scripture it ſelf, which ſpeaks without any Paſſion, Fraud, or Intereſt, it is not only the Right but the Duty of every one to conſult with the Scripture, and obſerve his Times of converſing with it, as he tenders the Salvation of his own Soul.

The 29*th*, That even a private Man aſſiſted by the Spirit of Life in the new Birth, XXIX. and rightly-circumſtantiated Reaſon, being alſo ſufficiently furniſhed with the Knowledge of Tongues, Hiſtory, and Antiquity, and ſound Philoſophy, may by the Help of theſe, and the Bleſſing of God upon his Induſtry, clear up ſome of the more obſcure Places of Scripture to full Satisfaction and Certainty both to himſelf, and any unprejudiced Peruſer of his Interpretations. That this Aſſertion is true may be proved by manifold Experience, there having been ſundry Perſons that have cleared ſuch Places of Scripture as had for a time ſeemed obſcure and intricate, with abundant Satisfaction and Conviction. But it is to be evinced alſo à priori, viz. from the ſeventeenth and eighteenth Concluſions, which avouch the Scripture to be the moſt Authentick Tradition that is; as alſo from the twenty fifth, that concludes it not unintelligible in it ſelf nor to mankind; and laſtly out of the firſt, that aſſerts that Certainty of Faith preſuppoſes Certainty of Reaſon. For thus the Object of our Underſtanding being here certain, and we not ſpending our Labour upon a Fiction or Mockery, Mockery, and our Reaſon rightly-circumſtantiated, not blinded by Prejudice, nor precipitated into Aſſent before due Deliberation and clear Comprehenſion of the Matter; if after ſo cautious a Diſquiſition ſhe be fully ſatisfied, ſhe is certainly ſatisfied, or elſe there is no Certainty in rightly-circumſtantiated Reaſon, which yet is preſuppoſed in the Certainty of Faith, by the firſt Concluſion. So that the Certainty of Faith it ſelf ſeems ruinous, if no private Man have any Certainty of any Interpretation of Scripture that has once been reputed obſcure. Not to add, that all the Scripture that has been once obſcure, and the Interpretation thereof not yet declared by the Church univerſal, has been hitherto, and will be, God knows how long, utterly uſeleſs. Which is a very wild Suppoſition, and ſuch as none would willingly admit, unleſs thoſe that would rather admit any thing, than that Light of the Scripture that diſcovers who they are, and what unworthy Impoſtures they uſe in their Dealings with the Children of Men.

XXX. The 30*th*, That no Tradition can be true that is repugnant to any plain Text of Scripture. The Reaſon is, becauſe the Scripture is the moſt true and the moſt Authentick Tradition that is, and ſuch as the univerſal Church is agreed in.

XXXI. The 31*ſt*, That if any one Point grounded upon the Authority of Tradition, that has been held by the Church Time out of Mind, prove falſe, there is no Certainty that any Tradition is true, unleſs ſuch as it has not been in the Power of the Church to forge, corrupt, deprave, or elſe their Intereſt not at all concerned ſo to do. The Reaſon is, becauſe the Certainty of Tradition as Tradition is placed in this by thoſe that contend ſo much for it, that nothing can be brought into the Church as an Apoſtolick Practice or Doctrine but what ever was ſo from the Apoſtles. Wherefore if once a Point be brought into the Church, and profeſs'd and practiſed as Apoſtolical, that may be clearly proved not to be ſo, this Ground for Tradition as Tradition is utterly ruined, and, conſidering the Falſeneſs and Impoſture that has been ſo long practiſed in Chriſtendom, can be held no Ground of Certainty at all: As not Reaſon, quà Reaſon, nor Senſe, quà Senſe, but quatenus rightly-circumſtantiated, can be any Ground of Certainty of Knowledge; ſo not Tradition, quà Tradition can be the Ground of the Certainty of Faith, but only ſuch a Tradition as it were not in the Power of the degenerate Church to either forge or adulterate. And ſuch were the Records of the Holy Bible only.

XXXII. The 32*d*, That rightly-circumſtantiated Senſe and Reaſon and Holy Writ are the trueſt Grounds of the Certainty of Faith. This is the common Proteſtant Doctrine, and a great and undeniable Truth, and will amount to the greateſt Certainty deſirable, if the Spirit of Life and of God aſſiſt. For that will ſeal all firm and cloſe, and ſhut out all Doubts and Waverings. In the mean time, even in mere Moral Men, but yet ſuch as uſe their Senſe and Reaſon rightly circumſtantiated in their Dijudications touching the Truth of Holy Writ and Religion, it is plain they are upon the trueſt Grounds of Faith they can go or apply themſelves to, foraſmuch as the Holy Writ is the trueſt and moſt certain Tradition, and no Tradition to be diſcerned true but upon the Certainty of rightly-circumſtantiated Senſe and Reaſon, as appears by the firſt Concluſion.

Theſe Advertiſements, though ſomething numerous, are yet brief enough, but very effectual, I hope, if ſtrictly followed, to make thee ſo wiſe, as neither to impoſe upon thy ſelf, nor be impoſed upon by others, in Matters of Religion; and ſo Orthodox, as to become neither Enthuſiaſt nor Romaniſt, but a true Catholick and Primitive Apoſtolick Chriſtian.

THE END.

AN

ANTIDOTE

AGAINST

IDOLATRY:

OR, A

BRIEF DISCOURSE

Containing ſundry

CONSIDERATIONS & CONCLUSIONS

Tending to the

DISCOVERY

Of what is or ought to be held to be

IDOLATRY

AMONGST

CHRISTIANS

WITH

APPLICATION

To the Doctrine of the

COUNCIL OF TRENT,

And for the putting a Stop as much as may be to the ROMISH INFECTION.

MATTH. 4. 10.

Thou ſhalt worſhip the Lord thy God, and Him only ſhalt thou ſerve.

A BRIEF DISCOURSE OF THE ROMISH IDOLATRY

AN IDOLE

AN ANTIDOTE AGAINST IDOLATRY.

CHAP. I.

What is Idolatry according to Divine Declaration.

THERE are two Ways in general of Diſcovering what is or ought to be held to be Idolatry amongſt Chriſtians; the one, Divine Declaration, the other clear and perſpicuous Reaſon: Which though they may haply reach the one no farther than the other, that is to ſay, that whatſoever may be concluded to be Idolatry by Divine Declaration, the ſame may alſo by unprejudiced Reaſon, and vice verſâ; yet their joint Concurrence of Teſtimony is a greater Aſſurance to us of the Truth; and two Cords twiſted together are ſtronger than either ſingle. Wherefore we will make uſe of both, and begin with Divine Declaration firſt.

I. 2. The firſt Concluſion therefore ſhall be, That as in civil Governments it is the Right of the Supreme Power to define and declare what ſhall be or be held to be Treaſon, and puniſhable as ſuch: ſo it is moſt manifeſtly the Right of God Almighty, who is alſo infinitely Good and Wiſe, to define and declare to his People what ſhall be or be held to be Idolatry, which is a kind of Treaſon againſt God, or Crimen læſæ majeſtatis Divinæ. And what is thus declared Idolatry by God is to be held by us to be ſuch, though the Ludicrouſneſs and Fugitiveneſs of our wanton Reaſon might otherwiſe find out many Starting-holes and fine Pretences to excuſe this thing or that Action from ſo foul an Imputation, and to extenuate or cover its Diſhoneſty.

But as in civil Affairs the declaring ſuch and ſuch things to be Treaſon does in a political Senſe make them ſo ipſo facto: ſo God's declaring ſuch and ſuch things to be Idolatry, they do to us ipſo facto become Idolatry thereby: though to an ordinary Apprehenſion, perhaps, neither this would have ſeemed Treaſon, nor that Idolatry, without theſe antecedent Declarations. But where the Law-giver is infallible, there is all the Reaſon in the World we ſhould ſubmit not only to his Power, but to his Judgment in the Definitions of things, and reſt ſure that that is indeed Idolatry which he has thought fit to declare ſo to be.

II. 3. The ſecond Concluſion; That what is declared Idolatry by God to the Jews ought to be acknowledged Idolatry by us Chriſtians. The Ground of this Concluſion is fixed in the Nature of the Chriſtian Religion. For Chriſtianity being a far more ſpiritual Religion than that of Judaiſm, and therefore abhorring from all Superſtition, there cannot be the leaſt Relaxation to the moſt rancid of all Superſtitions, Idolatry it ſelf. Wherefore whatſoever was accounted Idolatry amongſt the Jews, and ſo defined by a Divine Law, muſt be reckoned much more ſuch under Chriſtianity, there being not the leaſt Pretence for any Relaxation.

Beſides, there was nothing under the Jews (or can by any People be) rightly deemed Idolatry, but it is carefully enough cautioned againſt, and plainly forbid in the firſt and ſecond Commandments of the Decalogue. But the whole Decalogue is Moral, and ſo declared by God, in that it is ſaid to be writ by his own Finger on the Tables of Stone, (which are Symbols of the permanent Subſtance of our Souls, on which all the general Precepts of Morality are engraven as innate Notions of our Duty.) And therefore it is hereby intimated, that the Precepts of the Decalogue are juſt and fitting, not only νόμῳ, but φύσει, not only by an external Law, but engraffed in our very Nature and Reaſon; and that the Root and Ground of them will eaſily be fetch'd from thence.

Exod. 31. 18.

To which you may add, That it were a very immethodical and heterogeneous Botch, unworthy of the Wiſdom of God and of his Servant Moſes, whenas all the reſt of the Decalogue is Moral, to fancy one or two of the Commandments of another Nature. This is ſo raſh and groſs a Reproach to the Divine Wiſdom, as truly, in my Judgment, ſeems inexcuſable.

But beſides this, The Morality of the Decalogue is alſo acknowledged by the Church, it making part of their Liturgy every where, and we begging an Ability of obeying the Second Commandment as well as the reſt: and Chriſt alſo refers to the Decalogue for Eternal Life.

Mark 10. 18, 19.

And laſtly, It ſeems, as it were, ſingled from all the reſt of Moſes Laws, as a laſting and permanent Law to the Church of God, (whence it is entred into our very Catechiſms,) never to be aboliſhed, or rather vigorouſly to be kept in force, for the Second Commandment's ſake particularly, that it might ſtrongly bear againſt thoſe Invitations to Idolatry that may ſeem to offer themſelves in the Nature of our Religion, or reclaim the Church from it when they were fallen into it, as well as it was to keep back the Jews from joyning in Worſhip with their Idolatrous Neighbours round about them. Wherefore all manner of Idolatry being cautioned againſt by the Moral Decalogue given to the Jews, there are no Kinds thereof that ought to be entertained or allowed of by any Chriſtians.

III. 4. The third Concluſion; That what-ever was Idolatry in the Heathen, the ſame is Idolatry in us, if we commit it. The Reaſon of which Aſſertion is this, Becauſe the Heathen had not ſo expreſs a Declaration from God againſt all manner of Idolatry as the Jews and Chriſtians have: and therefore where-ever they are guilty of Idolatry, the Jew and Chriſtian, if they do the like things, are much more.

IV. The fourth Concluſion; The Idolatry of the Pagans conſiſted in this, viz. in that they either took ſomething to be the Supreme God that was not, and worſhipped it for ſuch; or elſe worſhipped the Supreme God by an Image; or gave religious Worſhip, that is to ſay, erected Altars, Temples and Images, offered Sacrifice, made Vows to, and invoked, ſuch as they themſelves knew not to be the Supreme God, but either the Souls of Men departed, or other Dæmons, or elſe particular Appearances, or Powers of Nature.

V. The Fifth; That both Divine Declaration, and the common Conſent of Chriſtendom do avouch to us, That all the aforeſaid Pagan Modes of Idolatry practiſed by them, were in thoſe Pagans Practices of Idolatry. And therefore, by the third Concluſion, they muſt be much more ſo in either the Jew or Chriſtian.

VI. 5. The Sixth; That giving religious Worſhip, that is to ſay, erecting Temples, building Altars, Invoking, making Vows, and the like, to what is not the Supreme God, though not as to him, but as to ſome inferiour helpful Being, is manifeſt Idolatry. This is plain out of the precedent Concluſion; and may be farther confirmed from this Conſideration, That Idolatry was very rare amongſt the Nations, eſpecially the Romans, if this Mode of Idolatry be not truly Idolatry. And ſcarce any thing will be found Idolatry amongſt them, but taking that to be the Supreme God which is not, and worſhipping it for ſuch. But if any Being on this ſide the Supreme God may be worſhipped with religious Worſhip void of Idolatry, all things may, though ſome more non-ſenſically and ridiculouſly than others. Wherefore to uſe any of the aboveſaid Modes of Worſhip to what is inferiour to the Supreme Being, though not as to the Supreme Being, muſt of neceſſity be Idolatry; or elſe the Roman Paganiſm it ſelf is very rarely, if at all, chargeable therewith, they having a Notion accurate enough of the Supreme God, and diſtinct enough from their other Deities; ſo that unleſs they chance to worſhip him by an Image, they will ſeldom be found Idolaters, or rather never, according to the Opinion of ſome, who ſay, none that have the Knowledge of the one true God can be capable of Idolatry.

6. The

6. The Seventh; That to ſacrifice, burn Incenſe, or make any religious Obeiſance or Incurvation to an Image in any wiſe, as to an Object of this Worſhip, is Idolatry by Divine Declaration. This is manifeſt out of the ſecond Concluſion and the firſt, as may appear at firſt ſight. For it is plainly declared in the ſecond Precept of the Decalogue touching Images, Thou ſhalt not bow down to them, nor worſhip them: Of which undoubtedly the Senſe is, They ſhall not be in any wiſe the Object of that Worſhip which thou performeſt in a Religious way, whether by Bowing down to them, or by what other way ſoever. For the ſecond Commandment certainly is a Declaration of the Mind of God touching Religious Worſhip, let the Ceremonies be what they will. VII.

The Eighth; That to erect Temples, Altars, Images, or to burn Incenſe, to Saints or Angels, to invoke them, or make Vows to them, and the like, is plain Idolatry. This is apparent chiefly out of the third, fourth, fifth and ſixth Concluſions of this Chapter. For the Pagans Dæmons exquiſitely anſwer to the Chriſtians Saints and Angels in this Point; ſaving that this Spiritual Fornication is a Rape upon our Saints and Angels, but only ſimple Fornication in the Heathen with their impure Dæmons. VIII.

The Ninth; Religious Incurvation towards a Crucifix, or the Hoſt, or any Image, as to an Object, and not a mere unconſidered accidental Circumſtance, is Idolatry. This is manifeſt out of the ſeventh and eighth Concluſions. But the Worſhip of Latria exhibited to the Hoſt upon the Opinion of Tranſubſtantiation is Idolatry, by the Third and Fourth. IX.

7. Concluſion the Tenth; To uſe on ſet Purpoſe in religious Worſhip any Figure or Image only circumſtantially, not objectively, but ſo as to bow towards it, or to be upon a Man's Knees before it with Eyes and Hands devoutly lifted up towards it, but with an Intention of making it in no ſenſe any Object of this religious Worſhip, yet if this were in a Country where Men uſually and profeſſedly do, ſo it were notwithſtanding for all this Intention a groſs piece of Idolatry. X.

But if the whole Countrey ſhould conſpire to make this more plauſible ſenſe of thoſe Incurvations and Poſtures; admit we might hope it were not Idolatry, yet it would be certainly a moſt impious and wicked Mocking of God, and eluding his Mind in the ſecond Commandment, (that naturally implies the forbidding any Worſhip or Incurvation toward Images in a way of Religion,) and a Crime as ſcandalous and near to Idolatry as the going into Bed to another Man's Wife, with chaſt Pretenſions, would be to groſs Adultery.

Nay, indeed, it is very queſtionable, if he knowingly and deliberately put himſelf into theſe poſtures before an Image, whether the Image will not be the Object of thoſe Poſtures and Incurvations whether he will or no. Or rather it ſeems plain, beyond all queſtioning, that it will be ſo. For there is a corporeal Action ſignificative of Honour and Reſpect corporeally (though not mentally) directed towards and received by the Image, and this at the choice of the Religioniſt, (for 'tis in his Power to refrain) which intitles him to the Fact.

But we need not labour much touching this laſt Concluſion, the two former abundantly convincing the Church of Rome of multifarious Idolatries, if they will ſtand to Divine Definitions, or the Declarations of holy Scripture touching this Point.

CHAP. II.

What is Idolatry according to the Determination of clear and free Reaſon.

1. WE will now try how obnoxious the Romaniſts are out of the plain Definitions and Determinations of free and clear Reaſon. In which Method let us ſet down for

The firſt Concluſion, That Idolatry is a kind of Injuſtice againſt God. That this is true, may appear from that Definition of Religion in Tully, who defines it Juſtitiam adverſus Deum. Which is not the ſenſe of Tully only, but the very Voice of Reaſon and Nature. And therefore Idolatry being one kind of Irreligion or Impiety, it muſt needs include in it a kind of Injuſtice againſt God. 1.

II. 2. The ſecond Concluſion; That Idolatry is a very ſore and grievous Diſeaſe of the Soul, vilely debaſing her, and ſinking her into Senſuality and Materiality, keeping her at a vaſt Diſtance from the true Senſe and right Knowledge of God, and leaving her more liable to bodily Luſts: That the natural Tendency of Idolatry is this, and yet the Souls of Men in this lapſed State, are naturally prone to ſo miſchievous a Diſeaſe, as both Hiſtory and daily Experience do abundantly witneſs. See the Miſchiefs of Idolatry in my Myſtery of Iniquity, Part 1. Lib. 1. Ch. 16.

Nor can it infringe the truth of this Concluſion, That a Man, retaining ſtill the true Notion of God according to his Divine Attributes, may, according to a Senſe of his own, bow down toward a corporeal Object of Worſhip. For he muſt retain it by force againſt ſuch a Practice as would and does naturally debauch the Uſers of it. And beſides, if he had really the Life of God in him as well as the Notion of him, he would feel ſuch Actions grate againſt his Heart, and perceive how they would invade and attempt the abating and extinguiſhing the more true and pure Senſe of God and of his Worſhip, and ſeduce the Soul to an external Vanity.

But ſuppoſe a Man or two could keep their Minds from ſinking down from a right Notion of the Deity; yet thy are as guilty of Idolatry, if they give religious Worſhip to corporeal Objects, as he is of Adultery and Fornication that yet uſes them ſo cautiouſly, as neither to impair his bodily Health, nor beſot his natural Parts thereby. And therefore, though there may be ſome few ſuch, yet the Laws againſt Fornication and Adultery ought notwithſtanding to be very ſacred to every one, even to thoſe diſcreeter Tranſgreſſours of them, and ever to be obeyed by them, becauſe the Obſervation of them is of ſuch infinite Importance to the Publick.

And what we have ſaid of the Worſhip of God is analogically true of honouring of the Saints, who are beſt honoured by the Remembrance and Imitation of their Virtues, not by ſcraping Legs to, or clinging about their Images, which are no more like them than (according to the Proverb) an Apple is to an Oiſter.

III. 3. The third Concluſion; That thoſe high Expreſſions of the Jealouſie of God, and his ſevere Diſpleaſure againſt Idolatry, are very becoming the Nature of the thing, and his paternal Care of the Souls of Men. This appears from the foregoing Concluſions. For both the Prerogatives and Rights of the Divine Majeſty himſelf are concerned, and alſo the Perfection, Nobilitation and Salvation of the Souls of Men: This we diſcover by Reaſon, and our Reaſon is again more ſtrongly ratify'd by Divine Suffrage.

IV. The fourth; That Idolatry, though it be ſo hainous a Sin, yet where it is committed moſt, in good earneſt does neceſſarily involve in it Ignorance or Miſtake in the Act of Worſhip, or in the Object; they either taking the Object to be God when it is not, or to have ſome Attribute of God when it has not; or to enjoy ſome Prerogative of God, which yet it does not; or elſe, miſtaking in the Act and the kind of it, they judge the Worſhip not to be Divine when it is; or laſtly, they miſtake in the Application of the Worſhip, thinking they do not apply Divine Worſhip to an Object when they do.

V. The fifth; That to be miſtaken in the Object of Worſhip, or in the Kind of Worſhip, or in the Application, cannot excuſe any thing from being downright Idolatry; forasmuch as none are in good earneſt Idolaters without ſome of theſe Miſtakes.

VI. The Sixth; That the peculiar Honour or Worſhip which is given to God, is given to him not ſo much as his Honour and Worſhip, as his Due and Right: inſomuch that he that does not give it to God, or communicates it to another, does an Injury to the Divine Majeſty. This is plain, and conſonant to what was ſaid on the firſt Concluſion, That Religion is a kind of Juſtice towards God. And indeed if Divine Honour was not given to God as his Due and Right, it were no Honour at all, but rather a Benevolence.

VII. 4. The Seventh; The Right of that peculiar Honour or Worſhip we do to God, is grounded either in the Nature of his incommunicable Excellencies, or in his Excellencies ſo far as we know incommunicated to any Creature; or laſtly, in Divine Declaration or Preſcription of the Ways or Modes of thus or thus worſhipping him, which himſelf has ſometime ſet down.

VIII. The Eighth; That any Actions, Geſtures or Words directed to any Creature as to an Object, which naturally imply or ſignifie either the incommunicable or incommunicated Eminencies of God, is the giving that Worſhip that is the Right and Due of God alone to that Creature, and that Injury againſt the Divine Majeſty, which is properly termed Idolatry. The Evidence of this Concluſion may appear from hence, becauſe becauſe there is no other Way of Application of external Worſhip than by directing ſuch ſignificant Actions, Geſtures, or Words, toward ſuch a Being as to an Object.

IX. The Ninth; That the uſing any of thoſe Actions or Geſtures, or doing any of thoſe things that the true and Supreme God did chuſe and challenge in the ſetting out the Mode of his own Worſhip, towards or in Reference to any Creature as to an Object, this alſo is that Injury againſt God which we term Idolatry.

The Reaſon is this, Becauſe ſuch a Mode of Worſhip does thus manifeſtly appear to be the peculiar Right of God, which none can transfer to another but God himſelf. Wherefore this Right having not been communicated by him to any other, whenever ſuch a kind of Worſhip is uſed, it muſt be uſed to him, and to none elſe.

Nor can his Derelict̃ion of any ſuch Mode of being worſhipped, warrant the Uſe of it to any Creature afterwards, becauſe no Creature can be God in thoſe Circumſtances as he thought fit to inſtitute ſuch a Worſhip for himſelf in: For no Creature can be God at all, and therefore never capable of any of thoſe Modes of Divine Worſhip which God ever at any Time inſtituted for himſelf. Beſides, if this Derelict̃ion and Diſuſe of any Mode of Divine Worſhip might make it competible to a Creature, then might we ſacrifice Beeves and Sheep (beſides other Services of the Temple) to any Saint or Dæmon, without incurring the Guilt of Idolatry.

X. 5. The Tenth; An omnipercipient Omnipreſence, which does hear and ſee what-ever is ſaid or tranſacted in the World, whether conſidered in the whole, or as diſtributed into terreſtrial, celeſtial, and ſuperceleſtial, not only all theſe Omnipercipiencies but any one of them is a certain Excellency in God, and, for ought we know, incommunicated to any Creature.

XI. The Eleventh; That this Omnipreſence or Omnipercipience terreſtrial is one main Ground of that Religious Worſhip due to God which we call Invocation. This is plain, that upon this very Ground that God hears and ſees (though himſelf be inviſible) what-ever is ſaid or done upon Earth, he has the Honour of being invoked any-where or every-where, and of having Temples built to him; becauſe he that is omnipreſent cannot be abſent from his Temple, but is alway there to be invoked.

XII. The Twelfth; That if Omnipreſence or Omnipercipience, at leaſt terreſtrial, (if not celeſtial,) be not communicated to Saints and Angels by God, the Invocation of either is palpable Idolatry. This is manifeſt from the eighth Concluſion. For Invocation implies an incommunicated Divine Excellency in the Saints or Angels, and ſo communicates that Right to them that appertains only to God, and is that Injury againſt God that is called Idolatry.

So that it is a vain Evaſion that pretends that we honour God the more in making him ſo good to the Saints and Angels, as to beſtow this Excellency on them; whenas yet his Wiſdom has not thought fit ſo to do. For we are ſo far from honouring him thereby, that we injure him in giving his Right to another; and we diſhonour him in preſuming he had done wiſelier or better, in doing what he has not done. Whenas indeed, if he were ſo laviſh in imparting his proper Excellencies to Creatures, as ſome would make us believe he is, to palliate their own Idolatries, it were the next Way to make Men forget all Applications to God, and to caſt him out of their Memory, and take up with the more particular Patronages of Saints and Angels.

XIII. 6. The Thirteenth; That our thinking ſuch a Saint or Angel can hear us whereever we invoke him, is no Excuſe for our Invocation of him, nor ſaves us from Idolatry, ſince all Idolatry committed in good earneſt implies ſome Miſtake, as has been noted in our fourth Concluſion.

XIV. The Fourteenth; That all the Modes or Ways of the Communication of this Omnipercipiency to Saints or Angels are either very incredible, if not impoſſible, or extremely ridiculous as to any Excuſe for their Invocation. For the uſual Reſidence of Saints and Angels being in ſede Beatorum, as the Roman Church holds, and that Place on the Cœlum Empyreum above all the Stars, That the Angels and Saints ſhould upon the Account of the Exaltedneſs of their Natures ſee and hear from thence what is done or ſaid from one Side of the Earth to the other, is extremely incredible, if not impoſſible; yea, ſufficiently incredible, or rather impoſſible, though they had their Abode on this Side of the Moon.

And that they ſhould ſee all Things and Tranſactions, hear all Prayers and Orations, in Speculo Divinitatis, is alike incredible; a thing which the Humanity of Chriſt himſelf, though hypoſtatically united to the Divinity, did not pretend to.

But

But that God ſhould either in this Speculum or any otherwiſe advertiſe them that ſuch a one prays to them that they would pray to him for that Party, is it not at firſt Sight above all Meaſure ridiculous?

And alike ridiculous it is to pray to Saint or Angel, as if they were preſent and heard our Prayers, when indeed they are abſent, and cannot tell that we did pray unleſs by ſome Intelligencers. This Devotion is an improper and unnatural Act, and ſhews that we do that to an inviſible Creature which is only proper to be done to the inviſible God; and that therefore it is Idolatry, as giving that Right of Worſhip to others which is only congruous to him.

XV. 7. The Fifteenth; That though there were communicated by God to Saints and Angels at leaſt a terreſtrial Omnipercipiency, yet if he have not communicated the Knowledge thereof to us, as moſt certainly he has not, the Invocation of them is notwithſtanding a very peſumptuous Invaſion of the indubitable Rights of God, and the intrenching upon his Prerogatives, and therefore as to the internal Act no leſs than the Sin of Idolatry.

The Reaſons of this Concluſion are, Firſt, That God concealing from us the Knowledge of the Communication of this Excellency, does naturally thereby intimate that he would not have them invoked, but reſerves the Honour of our Invocation of an inviſible Power unto himſelf only.

Secondly, That whatſoever is not of Faith is Sin: And therefore the Ground of Invocation of Saints or Angels being at leaſt dubitable, their Invocation is Sin; and it being committed againſt the Rights of God in his Worſhip, what can it be better eſteemed than Idolatry?

Thirdly, This Principle of feigning or groundleſly conceiting, without any Revelation from God, that any Creatures are capable of ſuch Honours as are God's indubitable Right and Prerogative, is the Forge and Shop, the Palliation and Pretence, for infinite Sorts and odly-excogitated Varieties of Idolatrous Objects: And therefore ſo preſumptuous and ſo abominable a Principle, which is the Mother and Nurſe of ſuch infinite Ways of Idolatry and Injuſtice againſt God, even according to human Reaſon ought to be declared againſt as Idolatrous; and, conſequently all the Practices thereupon are alſo to be declared Idolatry, becauſe they ſpring from a Principle taken up which is ſuch a fundamental Piece of Idolatry, and Injuſtice againſt God, and expoſes him to all Manner of Idolatrous Injuries.

Fourthly, To dare to do an Act we know not whether it may be Idolatry or no, and this needleſly, our Conſcience not at all compelling us thereto, this is to dare to commit Idolatry; and the Daring to commit Idolatry, and ſo to do Defiance to the Majeſty of God, what is it leſs than to be an Idolater? For according to his inward Man and the main Morality of the Action he is ſo: As he is morally a Murtherer that, doubting or not knowing but that it is his own Friend, by luck killed his intended Enemy: For the Senſe is, that rather than not to be avenged of his Enemy, he will not ſtick to kill his deareſt Friend.

And finally, This Idolatry is the more diſcernible, and aggravable in the Invocation of Saints or Angels, their Omnipercipiency being ſo extremely incredible, if not impoſſible or ridiculous, upon any Ground, as appears by the foregoing Concluſion.

XVI. 8. The Sixteenth; That the erecting of a ſymbolical Preſence with Incurvations thitherward, the Conſecrating of Temples and Altars, the making of Oblations, the burning of Incenſe, and the like, were declared by the Supreme God, the God of Iſrael, the Manner of Worſhip due to him, and therefore, without his Conceſſion, this Mode of Worſhip is not to be given to any elſe; as appears by Concluſion the ninth.

XVII. The Seventeenth; That the Pagans worſhipping their Dæmons, though not as the Supreme God, by ſymbolical Preſences, Temples, Altars, Sacrifices, and the like, become ipſo facto Idolaters. This is manifeſt from the ninth, the fifteenth, and the foregoing Concluſion.

XVIII. The Eighteenth; Though it were admitted that there is communicated to Saints and Angels at leaſt a terreſtrial Omnipercipiency, and that we had the Knowledge of this Communication, and ſo might ſpeak to them in a civil Way, though unſeen; yet to invoke them in ſuch Circumſtances, as at an Altar, and in a Temple dedicated to them, or at their ſymbolical Preſence, this were palpably Idolatry. The Truth is manifeſt again from the ninth and ſixteenth Concluſions.

*

9. The

9. The Nineteenth; Incurvation in Way of Religion towards any open or bare ſymbolical Preſence, be it what-ever Figure or Image, as to an Object, is flat Idolatry: in the Worſhip of Saints, Angels and Dæmons, double Idolatry; in the Worſhip of the true God, ſingle. The Reaſon hereof is reſolved partly into the ninth and ſixteenth Concluſions, and partly into the Nature of the Application of this Worſhip. For external Worſhip is not any otherwiſe to be conceived to be apply'd to a ſymbolical Preſence, but by being directed towards it as towards an Object. Wherefore if religious Incurvation be directed towards any Figure or Image as to an Object, this Figure or Image neceſſarily receives this Religious Incurvation, and partakes with God (if the Image be to him,) in it; which is manifeſt Idolatry. For the Direction of our Intention here is but a Jeſuitical Juggle. And therefore I will ſet down for Concluſion XIX.

The Twentieth, That Religious Incurvation toward a bare ſymbolical Preſence, wittingly and conſcientiouſly directed thither, though with a mental Reſerve, that they intend to uſe it merely as a Circumſtance of Worſhip, is notwithſtanding real Idolatry. XX.

The Reaſon is, becauſe an external Action toward ſuch a Thing as is look'd upon as receptive of ſuch an Action, (and has frequently received it,) if it be thus or thus directed, will naturally conciliate the Notions or Reſpects of Action and Object betwixt theſe two, whether we intend it or no. And it is as ridiculous to pretend that their Motions or Actions toward or about ſuch a ſymbolical Preſence are not directed to it or converſant about it as an Object, as it were for an Archer to contend that the Butt he ſhoots at is not the Scope or Object, but a Circumſtance of his ſhooting; and he that embraces his Friend, that his Friend is not an Object, but a Circumſtance, of his embracing. Which are Conceits quite out of the Road of all Reaſon and Logick. See the laſt Concluſion of the foregoing Chapter.

10. The Twenty-firſt; That the Adoration of any Object which we, out of Miſtake, conceive to be the true God made viſible by hypoſtatical Union therewith, is manifeſt Idolatry. The Reaſon is, becauſe Miſtake does not excuſe from Idolatry, by Concluſion the Fourth and the Fifth. And in this Suppoſition we miſs of one Part of the Object, and the only Part that ſingle is capable of Divine Honour. For God to be diſunited from this adored Object is in this Caſe all one as to be abſent: For God is not conſidered nor intended in this Act of Adoration but as united with this viſible Object. Which Reſpect of Union if it fail, that Conſideration or Intention alſo fails, and the Worſhip falls upon a mere Creature. XXI.

In brief, If out of Miſtake I ſalute ſome lively Statue or dead Body for ſuch or ſuch a living Man, though this Man or his Soul were preſent, and ſaw and heard the Salutation, yet I play the Fool, and make my ſelf ridiculous, and am conceived not to have ſaluted him I would: So if I do Adoration to any Object, ſuppoſe the Sun or ſome Magical Statue, for the true Deity viſible, whenas neither of them are ſo, I play the Idolater, and make my ſelf impious, and have miſſed of the due Object of my Adoration.

11. The Twenty-ſecond; That the Adoration of the Hoſt upon the Preſumption that it is tranſubſtantiated into the living Body of Chriſt is rank Idolatry. This appears from the precedent Concluſion. To which you may add, that the Romaniſts, making Tranſubſtantiation the true Ground of their Adoration of the Hoſt, do themſelves imply, that without it were ſo their Adoration thereof would be Idolatry. But that it is not ſo, and that their Ground is falſe, any Body may be as well aſſured of, as he can of any Thing in the World: and no leſs aſſured that they are Idolaters according to their own Suppoſition and Implication, as Coſterus indeed does moſt emphatically and expreſly acknowledge it, if they be miſtaken in their Doctrine of Tranſubſtantiation; as we ſhall hear anon. XXII.

The twenty-third Concluſion; That Adoration given to the Hoſt by Proteſtants or any elſe that hold not Tranſubſtantiation is manifeſt Idolatry. The Reaſon is to be fetch'd from the nineteenth and twentieth Concluſions. For it is Religious Veneration towards a bare corporeal Symbol of the Divine Preſence, not God himſelf as the * Papiſts think, and, to make the Action more aggravable, towards a Symbol that has Imagery upon it, and that of the Perſon that is pretended to be worſhipped thereby. What can be Idolatry if this be not? XXIII.

* See the Appendix.

The Twenty-Fourth; That the Invocation of Saints and Angels, though attended with theſe Conſiderations, That both that Excellency we ſuppoſe in them, and which makes them capable of that Honour, is deemed finite, and alſo (be it as great as it will) wholly derived to them from God, yet it cannot for all this be excuſed from from groſs Idolatry. This is very clear from the Seventh, Eighth, Tenth, and ſo on till the Sixteenth Concluſion. For though this Excellency be ſuppoſed finite, yet if it be ſo great as that it is no where to be found but in God, it is his Right only to have ſuch Honours as ſuppoſe it. And though it be deemed or conceived to be derived from God, yet if it be not, we give an uncommunicate Excellency to the Creature, and rob God of his Right and Honour. And, laſtly, though this Excellency were communicated, but yet the Communication of it unrevealed to us, it were a treaſonable Preſumption againſt the Majeſty of God, thus of our own Head to divulge ſuch things as may violate the peculiar Rights of his Godhead, and (for ought we know) fill the World with infinite bold Examples of the groſſeſt Idolatry: And therefore all our Practices upon this Principle muſt be Idolatrous, and Treaſonable againſt the divine Majeſty. Conſider well the Fifteenth Concluſion.

XXV. 12. The laſt Concluſion; That this pretended Conſideration, that where Chriſt is corporeally preſent, Divine Worſhip is not done to his Humanity, but to his Divinity, and that therefore, though the Bread ſhould not prove tranſubſtantiated, the Divine Worſhip will ſtill be done to the ſame Object as before, viz. to the Divinity, which is every where, and therefore in the Bread; this will not excuſe the Adoration of the Hoſt from palpable Idolatry.

For firſt, That part of the Pretence that ſuppoſes Divine Worſhip in no Senſe due, or to be done to Chriſt's Humanity, is falſe. For it is no greater Preſumption to ſay, that in ſome Senſe divine Worſhip is communicable to the Humanity of Chriſt, than, that the Divinity is communicated thereto. In ſuch Senſe then as the Divinity is communicated to the Humanity, which are one by Hypoſtatical Union, may divine Worſhip alſo be communicated to it; namely, as an Acknowledgment that the Divinity with all its adorable Attributes, is hypoſtatically, vitally, and tranſplendently reſiding in this Humanity of Chriſt. Which is a kind of Divine Worſhip of Chriſt's Humanity, and peculiar to him alone, and due to him; I mean, to his Humanity, though it be not God eſſentially, but only hypoſtatically united with him that is; and does as naturally partake of Religious or Divine Worſhip in our Addreſſes to the Divinity, as the Body of an eminently vertuous, holy and wiſe Man does of that great Reverence and civil Honour done to him for thoſe Excellencies that are more immediately lodged in his Soul.

Which Honour indiſtinctly paſſes upon the whole Man: And as the very bodily Preſence of this virtuous Perſon receives the civil Honour, ſo in an eaſie Analogy doth the Humanity of Chriſt receive the Divine; but both as partial Objects of what they do receive, and with ſignification of the State of the whole Caſe, viz. that they are united, the one with the Divinity, the other with ſo vertuous a Soul. Hence they both become due Objects of that entire external Worſhip done towards them, to the one civil, to the other divine.

And therefore, in the ſecond place, it is plain, that there is not one and the ſame due Object capable of Religious Worſhip in either Suppoſition, as well in that which ſuppoſes the Bread tranſubſtantiated, as in that which ſuppoſes it not tranſubſtantiated. For in the former it is the true and living corporeal Preſence of Chriſt, whoſe whole Suppoſitum is, as has been declared, capable of divine Honour; but in the latter there is only, at the moſt, but his ſymbolical Preſence, whoſe Adoration is Idolatry, by the nineteenth, twentieth, and twenty-firſt Concluſions.

And laſtly, The pretending that though the Bread be not tranſubſtantiated, yet the Divinity of Chriſt is there, and ſo we do not miſs of the due Object of our Worſhip; this is ſo laxe an Excuſe, that it will plead for the Warrantableneſs of the Laplanders worſhipping their Red Cloth, or the Americans the Devil, let them but pretend they worſhip God in them. For God is alſo in that Red Cloth, and in the Devil in that Notion that he is ſaid to be every where. Nay, there is not any Object in which the ancient Pagans were miſtaken, in taking the divine Attributes to be lodged there, whether Sun, Heaven, or any other Creature, but by this Sophiſtry the Worſhipping thereof may be excuſed from Idolatry. For the divine Attributes, as God himſelf, are every where.

To direct our Adoration toward a ſupernatural and unimitable Tranſplendency of the divine Preſence, or to any viſible corporeal Nature that is hypoſtatically united with the Divinity, moſt aſſuredly is not that ſunk and ſottiſh, that dull and dotardly Sin of Idolatry. For, as touching this latter, to whatever the Divinity is hypoſtatically united, or (to avoid all Cavil about Terms) ſo ſpecially and myſteriouſly communicated as it is to Chriſt, the Right of divine Worſhip is proportionably communicated therewith, as I have already intimated. And as for the former, That through which the divine Tranſplendency appears is no more the Object of our Adoration, than the diaphanous Air is through which the viſible Humanity of Chriſt appears when he is worſhipped.

But the Euchariſtick Bread, being neither hypoſtatically united with the Divinity, nor being the Medium through which any ſuch ſupernatural Tranſplendency of the divine Preſence appears to us, Adoration directed toward it cannot fail of being palpable Idolatry. For the Euchariſtical Bread will receive this Adoration as the Object thereof, by Concluſion the Nineteenth and Twentieth. But the Adoration, or any Divine Worſhip of an Object in which the Divine Attributes do not perſonally reſide, (in ſuch a Senſe as is intimated in thoſe Words of St. John, And the Word was made Fleſh) but only locally, as I may ſo ſpeak, this, according to ſound Reaſon, and the Senſe of the Chriſtian Church, muſt be down-right Idolatry. John 1. 14.

CHAP. III.

That the Romaniſts worſhip the Hoſt with the higheſt kind of Worſhip, even that of Latria, according to the Injunction of the Council of Trent; and that it is moſt groſs Idolatry ſo to do.

1. AND having thus clearly and diſtinctly evinced and declared what is or ought to be held Idolatry amongſt Chriſtians; let us at length take more full notice of ſome Particulars wherein, according to theſe Determinations, the Church of Rome will be manifeſtly found guilty of Idolatry, and that according to the very Definitions of their own Council of Trent. As firſt, in the Point of the Adoration of the Hoſt, touching which the very Words of the Council are, Latriæ cultum, qui vero Deo debetur, huic ſanctiſſimo Sacramento in veneratione eſſe adhibendum: and again, Si quis dixerit, in ſancto Euchariſtiæ Sacramento Chriſtum non eſſe cultu Latriæ etiam externo adorandum, & ſolenniter circumgeſtandum populóque proponendum publicè ut adoretur, Anathema ſit. Concil. Triſ dent. Seſſ. 3. Cap. 5. Can. 6.

2. This confident Injunction of groſs Idolatry, as it is certainly ſuch, is built upon their confidence of the truth of their Doctrine of Tranſubſtantiation. For the Chapter of the Adoration of the Hoſt ſucceeds that of Tranſubſtantiation, as a natural, or rather neceſſary, Inference therefrom. Nullus itaque dubitandi locus relinquitur, &c. That is to ſay, The Doctrine of Tranſubſtantiation being eſtabliſhed, there is no Scruple left touching the Adoration of the Hoſt, or giving Divine Worſhip to the Sacrament (or Chriſt, as it is there called,) when it is carried about, and expoſed publickly in Proceſſions to the View of the People.

But the Doctrine of Tranſubſtantiation being falſe, it muſt needs follow, that the giving of Divine Worſhip to the Hoſt, is as groſs a piece of Idolatry as ever was committed by any of the Heathens. For then their Divine Worſhip, even their Cultus Latriæ, which is only due to the only true God, is exhibited to a mere Creature, and that a very ſorry one too; and therefore muſt be groſs Idolatry, by the Twenty-firſt and Twenty-ſecond Concluſions of the ſecond Chapter.

3. But now, that their Doctrine of Tranſubſtantiation is falſe, after we have propoſed it in the very Words of the Council, we ſhall evince by undeniable Demonſtration. Per conſecrationem Panis & Vini converſionem fieri totius ſubſtantiæ Panis in ſubſtantiam Corporis Chriſti, & totius ſubſtantiæ Vini in ſubſtantiam Sanguinis ejus; quæ converſio convenienter & propriè à Sancta Catholica Eccleſia Tranſubſtantiatio eſt appellata. And a little before, Cap. 3. Si quis negaverit in venerabili Sacramento Euchariſtiæ ſub unaquaque ſpecie, & ſub ſingulis cujuſque ſpeciei partibus, ſeparatione facta, totum Chriſtum contineri, Anathema ſit. In which Paſſages it is plainly affirmed, that not only the Bread is turned into the whole Body of Chriſt, and the Wine into his Blood, but that each of them are turned into the whole Body of Chriſt, and every part of each, as often as Diviſion or Separation is made, is alſo turned into his whole Body. Which is ſuch a contradictious Figment, that there is nothing ſo repugnant to the Faculties of the human Soul. Concil. Triſ dent. Seſſ. 3. Cap. 4. Cap. 3. Can. 3.

4. For thus the Body of Chriſt will be in God knows how many thouſand Places at once, and how many thouſand Miles diſtant one from another. Whenas Amphitruo rightly expoſtulates with his Servant Soſia, and rates him for a Mad-man or Impoſtor, that he would go about to make him believe that he was at home, though but a little way off, while yet he was with him at that Diſtance from Home. Quo id (malum!) pacto poteſt fieri nunc uti tu hic ſis, & domi? And a little before, in the ſame Colloquie with his Servant, Nemo unquam homo vidit, ſaith he, nec poteſt fieri, tempore uno homo idem duobus locis ut ſimul ſit. Wherein Amphitruo ſpeaks but according to the common Senſe and Apprehenſion of all Men, even of the meaneſt Idiots.

5. But now let us examine it according to the Principles of the Learned, and of all their Arts and Sciences, Phyſicks, Metaphyſicks, Mathematicks and Logick. It is a Principle in Phyſicks, That that internal Space that a Body occupies at one time, is equal to the Body that occupies it. Now let us ſuppoſe one and the ſame Body occupy two ſuch internal Places or Spaces at once; this Body is therefore equal to thoſe two Spaces, ſeeing it fills them both at the ſame time, which yet are double to one ſingle Space; wherefore the Body is double to that Body in one ſingle Space, and therefore one and the ſame Body double to it ſelf; which is an enormous Contradiction.

Again, in Metaphyſicks; The Body of Chriſt is acknowledged one, and that as much as any one Body elſe in the World. Now the Metaphyſical Notion of one is, to be indiviſum à ſe, (both quoad partes, and quoad totum) as well as diviſum à quolibet alio. But the Body of Chriſt being both in Heaven, and, without any Continuance of that Body, here upon Earth alſo, the whole Body is divided from the whole Body, and therefore is entirely both unum and multa: which again is a perfect Contradiction.

6. Thirdly, in Mathematicks; The Council ſaying, that in the Separation of the parts of the Species, (that which bears the outward Show of Bread or Wine) that from this Diviſion there is a parting of the Whole, divided into ſo many entire Bodies of Chriſt, the Body of Chriſt being always at the ſame time equal to it ſelf, it follows, that a part of the Diviſion is equal to the whole, againſt that common Notion in Euclide, That the Whole is bigger than the Part.

And laſtly, in Logick it is a Maxime, That the Parts agree indeed with the Whole, but diſagree one with another. But in the aboveſaid Diviſion of the Hoſt or Sacrament, the Parts do ſo well agree, that they are entirely the very ſame individual thing. And whereas any Diviſion, whether Logical or Phyſical, is the Diviſion of ſome one into many; this is but the Diviſion of one into one and it ſelf, like him that for Brevity-ſake divided his Text into one Part.

To all which you may add, That, unleſs we will admit of two Soſia's and two Amphitruo's in that Senſe that the Mirth is made with it in Plautus his Comedy, neither the Bread nor the Wine can be tranſubſtantiated into the entire Body of Chriſt. For this plainly implies that the ſame thing is, and is not, at the ſame time. For that individual thing that can be, and is to be made of any thing, is not. Now the individual Body of Chriſt is to be made of the Wafer conſecrated, for it is turned into his individual Body. But his individual Body was before this Conſecration. Wherefore it was, and it was not, at the ſame time: which is plainly againſt that Fundamental Principle in Logick and Metaphyſicks, That both Parts of a Contradiction cannot be true; or, That the ſame thing cannot both be, and not be, at once.

Thus fully and intirely contradictious and repugnant to all Senſe and Reaſon, to all indubitable Principles of all Art and Science, is this Figment of Tranſubſtantiation; and therefore moſt certainly falſe. Read the Ten firſt Concluſions of the brief Diſcourſe of the true Grounds of Faith.

7. And from Scripture verily it has not the leaſt Support. All is, Hoc eſt corpus meum, when Chriſt held the Bread in his Hand, and after put part into his † own Mouth, (as well as diſtributed it to his Diſciples:) in doing whereof he ſwallow'd his whole Body down his Throat at once, according to the Doctrine of this Council, or at leaſt might have done ſo, if he would. And ſo all the Body of Chriſt, Fleſh, Bones, Mouth, Teeth, Hair, Head, Heels, Thighs, Arms, Shoulders, Belly, Back, and all, went through his Mouth into his Stomach; and thus all were in his Stomach, though all his Body intirely, his Stomach excepted, was ſtill without it. Which let any one judge judge whether it be more likely, than that this Saying of Chriſt, This is my Body, is to be underſtood figuratively; the Uſing the Verb ſubſtantive in this Senſe being not unuſual in Scripture; as in, I am the Vine; The ſeven lean Kine are the ſeven Years of Famine; and the like: And more particularly, ſince our Saviour, ſpeaking elſewhere of eating his Fleſh and drinking his Blood, ſays plainly, That the Words he ſpake they were Spirit, and they were Truth, that is to ſay, a ſpiritual or ænigmatical Truth, nor carnally or literally to be underſtood.

† See Paul Fag. upon Deut. 8. 10.

John 15. 5. Gen. 41. 27. Joh. 6. 63.

And for the Truſting of the Judgment of the Roman Church herein that makes it ſelf ſo ſacroſanct and infallible, the Pride, Worldlineſs, Policy and multifarious Impoſtures of that Church, ſo often and ſo ſhameleſly repeated and practiſed, muſt needs make their Authority ſeem nothing in a Point that is ſo much for their own Intereſt, eſpecially ſet againſt the undeniable Principles of common Senſe and Reaſon, and of all the Arts and Sciences God has illuminated the Mind of Man withal. Conſider the twelfth Concluſion of the above-named Treatiſe, together with the other Ten before cited. Wherefore any one that is not a mere Bigot, may be as aſſured that Tranſubſtantiation is a mere Figment or enormous Falſehood, as of any Thing elſe in the whole World.

8. From whence it will unavoidably follow, and themſelves cannot deny it, that they are moſt groſs and palpable Idolaters, and conſequently moſt barbarous Murtherers, in killing the innocent Servants of God for not ſubmitting to the ſame Idolatries with themſelves. Coſterus the Jeſuit ſpeaks expreſly to this Point, (and conſonantly, I think, to the Suppoſition of the Councils) viz. That if their Church be miſtaken in the Doctrine of Tranſubſtantiation, they ipſo facto ſtand guilty of ſuch a Piece of Idolatry as never was before ſeen or known of in the World.

Franciſc. Coſter. Enchirid. Controverſ. Cap. 12.

For the Errors of thoſe, ſaith he, were more tolerable who worſhip ſome Golden or Silver Statue, or ſome Image of any other Materials, for their God, as the Heathen worſhipped their Gods; or a red Cloth hung upon the Top of a Spear, as is reported of the Laplanders; or ſome live Animal, as of old the Ægyptians did; than of theſe that worſhip a Bit of Bread, as hitherto the Chriſtians have done all over the World for ſo many hundred Years, if the Doctrine of Tranſubſtantiation be not true.

What can be a more full and expreſs Acknowledgment of the groſs Idolatry of the Church of Rome than this, if Tranſubſtantiation prove an Errour? Than which notwithſtanding there is nothing in the World more certain to all the Faculties of a Man; as is manifeſt out of what has been here ſaid. And therefore the Romaniſts muſt be groſs Idolaters, from the Second, Third, Fourth, Seventh and Ninth Concluſions of the firſt Chapter, and from the Fourth, Fifth, Eighth, Ninth, Twenty-firſt, Twenty-ſecond and Twenty-Fifth of the ſecond Chapter. All theſe Concluſions will give Evidence againſt them, that they are very notorious Idolaters.

9. And therefore this being ſo high and ſo palpable a Strain of Idolatry in them touching the Euchariſt, or the Eating the Body and drinking the Blood of Chriſt, wherein Chriſt is offered by the Prieſt as an Oblation, and the People feed upon him as in a Feaſt upon a Sacrifice, which is not done without Divine Adoration done to the Hoſt, according to the Precept of their Church; This does hugely confirm our Senſe of the Eating of things offered unto Idols in the Epiſtles to the Churches in Pergamus and in Thyatira, this Worſhipping of the Hoſt being ſo expreſly acknowledged by the Pope and his Clergy, and in that high Senſe of Cultus Latriæ, which is due to God alone. And therefore it is very choicely and judiciouſly perſtringed by the Spirit of Prophecy above any other Modes of their Idolatry, it being ſuch a groſs and confeſſed Specimen thereof, and ſuch as there is no Evaſion for or Excuſe.

Hoc teneas vultus mutantem Protea modo.

CHAP. IV.

The groſs Idolatry of the Romaniſts in the Invocation of the Saints, even according to the Allowance of the Council of Trent, and the authorized Practice of that Church.

1. BUT we will fall alſo upon thoſe Modes of Idolatry wherein the Church of Rome may ſeem leſs bold; though indeed this one, that is ſo groſs, is ſo often and ſo univerſally repeated every where in the Roman Church, that by this alone, though we ſhould take Notice of nothing farther, Idolatry may ſeem quite to have overſpread her like a noiſom Leproſy. But, however, we ſhall proceed; and Firſt to their Invocation of Saints. Touching which the Council of Trent declares this Doctrine expreſly: Sanctos utique unà cum Chriſto regnantes Orationes ſuas pro hominibus offerre, bonúmque atque utile eſſe ſuppliciter eos invocare; & ob beneficia impetranda á Deo per Filium ejus Jeſum Chriſtum, ad eorum orationes, operam auxiliúmque confugere. Where Invocation of Saints is plainly allowed and recommended: And beſides their praying for us, or offering up our Prayers to God, it is plainly imply'd that there are other Aids and Succours they can afford, if they be ſupplicated, that is, invoked with moſt humble and proſtrate Devotion. And the pretending that this is all but the Way of procuring thoſe good things we want from God, the firſt Fountain, and that through his Son Chriſt; that makes the Saints the more exactly like the Pagans Dii medioxumi, and the Dæmons that negotiated the Affairs of Men with the higheſt Deity.

Concil. Trident. Seſſ. 9.

2. I ſay then, that though they went no farther than thus, even this is downright Idolatry which the Council of Trent thus openly owns, (and conſequently the whole Church of Rome,) as appears from the Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth and Eighth Concluſions of the firſt Chapter; as alſo by the Fifth, Seventh, Eighth, Tenth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Fifteenth and Twenty-fourth of the Second. But if we examine thoſe Prayers that are put up to the Saints, their Invocation will be found ſtill the more unexcuſable.

3. Wherefore, looking to the publick Practice of the Church of Rome, authorized by the Popes themſelves, the Invocation of a Saint does not conſiſt in a mere Ora pro nobis, as People are too forward to fancy that the State of the Queſtion, (though the mere invoking of them to pray for us would be Idolatry, as is already proved:) but, which is inſinuated in the Council it ſelf, there are other more particular Aids and Succours that they implore of them, and ſome ſuch, if we conſider the Forms of Invocation, as it is proper for none but God or Chriſt to give: Such as Protection from the Devil, Divine Graces, and the Joys of Paradiſe. But as the Things they ask of the Saints are too big for them to be the Diſpoſers of; ſo the Compellations, of the Virgin Mary eſpecially, are above the Nature or Condition of any Creature. Whence this Invocation of Saints will appear a moſt groſs and palpable Mode of Idolatry in that Church. As I ſhall make manifeſt out of the following Examples, taken out of ſuch Pieces of Devotion as are not muttered in the Corners of their Cloſets, but are publickly read or ſung with Stentorian Voices in their very Churches. I will only give the Reader a Taſt of this Kind of their Idolatry; for it were infinite to produce all we might.

4. And firſt, to begin with the ſmaller Saints, (as indeed they are all to be reckoned in Compariſon of the Bleſſed Virgin, to whom therefore they give that Worſhip which they call Hyperdulia, as they give Dulia to the reſt of the Saints, and Latria to God alone, and to Chriſt as being God:) That Prayer to St. Coſmas and St. Damian is plainly a Petition to them to keep us from all Diſeaſes, as well of Soul as of Body, that we may attain to the Life of the Spirit, and live in Grace here, and be made Partakers of Heaven hereafter.

O Medici piiſſimi,
Qui Meritis clariſſimi
In Cœlis refulgetis,
A peſte, clade corporum
Præſervetis, & operum,
Moribus nè langueamus:
Nec moriamur ſpiritu,
Sed Animæ ab obitu
Velociter ſurgamus;
Et vivamus in Gratia,
Sacra Cœli palatia
Donec regrediamur.

5. Such

5. Such a Piece of Devotion as this is that to St. Francis: Sancte Franciſce, propere veni; Pater, accelera ad populum, qui premitur & teritur ſub onere, palea, luto, latere, & ſepultos Ægyptio ſub ſabulo nos libera, carnis extincto vitio. Which is plainly a Prayer to this Saint that he would deliver us from the Bondage and Drudgery of Sin, which is only in the Power of our great Saviour and Redeemer Chriſt for to do.

That Invocation of St. Andrew is alſo for that ſpiritual Grace of duly bearing the Croſs here, that we may obtain Heaven afterwards.

Jam nos foveto languidos,
Curámque noſtrî ſuſcipe,
Quò pro Crucis victoriam
Cœli petamus gratiam.

But that to St, Nicolas is againſt the Aſſaults of the Devil:

Ergò piè nos exaudi
Aſſiſtentes tuæ laudi,
Nè ſubdamur Hoſtis fraudi,
Nobis ſer auxilia.
Nos ab omni malo ducas,
Vitâ rectâ nos conducas,
Poſt hanc vitam nos inducas
Ad æterna gaudia.

The like Devotion is done to St. Martin. St, Andrew, St. James, St. Bartholomew, and others, though not in the ſame Words.

6. When I have given an Example or two of their Prayers put up to their She-Saints, I ſhall a little more copiouſly inſiſt on thoſe to the bleſſed Virgin. They beg of St. Agnes the greateſt Grace that God is able to impart to the Soul of Man, that is to ſay, to ſerve God in perfect Love. And this Gift this one poor ſingle She-Saint is ſollicited to beſtow on all Men.

Ave, Agnes glorioſa,
Me in fide ſerves recta,
Dulcis Virgo & dilecta,
Te exoro precibus:
Charitate da perfectâ
Deum, per quem es electa,
Colere piè omnibus.

That Devotion put up to St. Brigitt is, that ſhe would play the skilful Pilot, and lead us through all the Tempeſts and Hazzards of this World ſo ſafely, that at laſt, by her good Conduct, we may attain to Everlaſting Life. The Rhyme runs thus:

O Bregritta, mater bona,
Dulcis Ductrix & Matrona;
Nobis ſer ſuffragia;
Naufragantes in hoc Mari
Tuo ductu ſalutari
Duc ad vitæ bravia.

7. But that to St. Catherine is a Piece of Devotion ſomething of an higher Strain, or rather more copious and expreſs: For ſo great a Boon they beg of her as is in the Power of none to give but God alone.

Ave, Virgo Dei digna,
Chriſto, prece, me conſigna,
Audi preces, præſta Votum;
Cor in bono fac immotum.
Confer mihi Cor contritum;
Rege Viſum & Auditum;
Rege Guſtum & Olfactum,
Virgo ſancta, rege Tactum.
Ut in cunctis te regente,
Vivam Deo purâ mente.
Chriſtum pro me interpella,
Salva Mortis de procella.
Superare fac me Mundum,
Nè demergar in profundum.
Nè me ſinas naufragari
Per Peccata in hoc Mari.
Viſita tu me infirmum,
Et in bonis fac me firmum.
Agoniſta Dei fortis,
Præſtò ſis in hora mortis.
Decumbentem fove, leva,
Et de morte ſolve ſæva;
Ut reſurgam novus homo
Civis in cœleſti domo.

8. Now it is obſervable in this devotional Rhyme to St. Catherine, that whereas the Council of Trent adviſes Men, ad Sanctorum orationes, opem auxiliúmque confugere, that in theſe many Verſes there are not paſſing two or three that are an entreating of the Saint to pray for us, but to aid and ſuccour us in ſuch a Way as the the Story of the Saint and the Alluſion to her Name moſt naturally leads the Fancy of the Devotioniſt to think ſuitable for her: As if ſhe were the Giver of Courage, of Patience, and of Purity of Mind, and was to comfort and ſupport us in the very Agony of Death by her Preſence. Which Petition is very frequent to other Saints alſo. So plain a Thing is it, that this Invocation of the Saints is not a mere deſiring of them to pray for us.

But here the Devotioniſt commits the whole Regimen of both his Soul and Body unto this Saint, to rule all his Faculties and Senſes, and begs ſo high Virtues and Graces, as that none but God can ſupply us with them; as I intimated at firſt. Whence the Invocation upon that very Account alſo muſt appear moſt groſly Idolatrous, as Grotius, who yet is no ſuch Foe to the Papiſts, does expreſly acknowledge and declare.

CHAP. V.

Forms of Invocation of the bleſſed Virgin, uſed by the Church of Rome; egregiouſly Idolatrous.

1. AND if they can contain themſelves no better in their Devotions toward theſe leſſer Saints, to whom their Church-Men will allow only the Worſhip they call Dulia, how wild and extravagant will they ſhew themſelves in their Addreſſes to the Virgin Mary, the Mother of God, to whom they allow the Worſhip they call Hyperdulia? And that is the thing I will now take Notice of, though not according to the Copiouſneſs of the Subject; for it would even fill a Volume. But ſome Inſtances I will produce, and thoſe ſuch as are publick and authentick, as I intimated at firſt. In the Roſarie of the Bleſſed Virgin ſhe is ſaluted thus:

Reparatrix & Salvatrix deſperantis Animæ,
Irroratrix & largitrix ſpiritualis Gratiæ,
Quod requiro, quod ſuſpiro, mea ſana Vulnera,
Et da menti te poſcenti Gratiarum munera;
Ut ſim caſtus, & modeſtus, dulcis, fortis, ſobrius,
Pius, Rectus, circumſpectus, ſimultatis neſcius,
Eruditus, & munitus Divinis eloquiis,
Conſtans, gravis, & ſuavis, benignus, amabilis,
Corde prudens, ore ſtudens veritatem dicere,
Malum nolens, Deum volens pio ſemper opere.

A very excellent Prayer, if it had been directed to a due Object. But ſuch things are asked as are in the Power of none but of Jeſus Chriſt himſelf, as he is God, to give.

2. For the Virgin Mary is here made no leſs than a Saviour and Giver of all ſpiritual Graces; as ſhe is alſo a giver of eternal Life in what follows in Proſe, Peccatorum conſolatrix, infirmorum curatrix, errantium revocatrix, juſtorum confirmatrix, deſolatorum ſpes & auxiliatrix, atque mea promptiſſima adjutrix, tibi, Domina gloriosa, commendo hodie & quotidie Animam meam; ut me in cuſtodiam tuam commendatum ab omnibus malis & fraudibus Diaboli cuſtodias, atque in hora mortis conſtanter mihi aſſiſtas, ac animam ad æterna gaudia perducas. Here is the commending of the Soul of the Devotioniſt into the Protection of the Virgin, that he may be kept from all Evil, and from the Frauds of the Devil, and that ſhe would aſſiſt at the Hour of Death to convey his Soul to the Eternal Joys of Heaven.

3. To this is not unlike that which is found at the End of the Roſarie; Cor meum illumina, fulgens Stella Maris, Et ab hoſtis machina ſemper tuearis. O glorioſa Virgo Maria, mater regis æterni, Libera nos ab omni mala, & à pœnis Inferni. Which is a Petition for Illumination of Heart, for Security from the Devil and from Eternal Death: Which is only the Privilege of the Son of God, the Eternal Wiſdom of the Father, to grant, who is ſaid alſo to have the Keys of Hell and of Death.

Apoc. 1. 18.

4. But

4. But the thing which is very obſervable, and which I mainly drive at, is this, That the Roman Church toward the latter End, before the Reformation broke out, had run ſo mad after the Patronage of the Virgin, that they had almoſt forgot the Son of God, and ſpent all their Devotions on her, whom they do at leaſt equalize to Chriſt, and ſo really make her, as well as ſome love to call her, the Daughter of God, in as full and high a Senſe as Chriſt is his Son; as will farther appear in the Proceſs of our Quotations. As in that Prayer to the bleſſed Virgin that follows in Chemnitius: Te, Mater illuminationis cordis mei, te, nutrix ſalutis meæ mentis, te obſecrant quantum poſſunt cuncta præcordia mea. Exaudi, Domina, adeſto propitia, adjuva potentiſſima, ut mundentur ſordes mentis meæ, ut illuminentur tenebræ meæ. O glorioſa Domina, Porta vitæ, Janua ſalutis, Via reconciliationis, Aditus recuperationis, obſecro te per ſalvatricem tuam fœcunditatem, fac ut peccatorum meorum venia, & vivendi gratia concedatur, & uſque in finem hic ſervus tuus ſub tuâ protectione cuſtodiatur. Which Petition and Compellations, ſaving what belongs to the Sex, are moſt proper and natural to be uſed towards Chriſt. But the Virgin is here made our Saviour and Mediatour in the Feminine Gender.

5. As ſhe is again moſt expreſly in that Prayer to her in her Feaſt of Viſitation:

Veni, præcelſa Domina Maria; tu nos viſita: Ægras mentes illumina per ſacræ vitæ munera.

Veni, Salvatrix ſeculi; Sordes aufer piaculi; In viſitando populum pœnæ tollas periculum.

Veni, Regina gentium; dele flammas reatuum; dele quodcunque devium; da vitam innocentium.

In which Invocation the Virgin Mary is plainly called the Saviour of the World, and pray'd unto for Spiritual Illumination of the Soul, and for the Purgation thereof from the Filth both of Sin and Guilt: whereby ſhe is plainly equalized to the Son of God, and made as it were a She-Chriſt, or Daughter of God.

To this Senſe alſo are thoſe Prayers put up to her in her Feaſt of the Conception and of the Annunciation: But it were infinite to produce all. Read that Prayer in Chemnitius ſung to her by the Council of Conſtance: It is a perfect Imitation of the ancient Prayer of the Church to the Holy Ghoſt.

CHAP. VI.

More Forms of Invocation of the Bleſſed Virgin out of the Mary-Pſalter, ſo called, extreamly Idolatrous and Blaſphemous.

1. WE will now only note ſome Paſſages in the Mary-Pſalter, as it is called, wherein how much at that time the Church of Rome had thruſt themſelves under the Protection and Patronage of the Virgin, and made her the Daughter of God, inſtead of approving themſelves faithful touching the Rights and Prerogatives of the Son and his Worſhip, will be moſt notoriouſly evident. I will begin with the Thirtieth Pſalm: In te, Domina, ſperavi; non confundar in æternum. In gratiam tuam ſuſcipe me; inclina ad me aurem tuam, & in mœrore meo lætifica me. Tu es fortitudo mea, & refugium meum, conſolatio mea & protectio mea: ad te clamavi cum tribularetur cor meum, & exaudiſti de vertice collium æternorum. In manus tuas, Domina, commendo ſpiritum meum, meam totam vitam, diem ultimum. This is that whole Pſalm to the Virgin: juſt in ſuch a Form, and with ſuch a Repoſe of Spirit as David prays in to God himſelf.

2. But we will content our ſelves with tranſcribing only ſome ſelect Pieces. As Pſalm 71. Reſperge, Domina, cor meum dulcedine tuâ. Fac me obliviſci miſerias hujus vitæ: Concupiſcentias æternas excita in animâ meâ, & de gaudio Paradiſi inebria mentem meam. And again, Pſalm 104. Salus ſempiterna in manu tuâ eſt, Domina; qui te dignè honoraverint ſuſcipient illam. Clementia tua non deficiet à ſeculis æternis, & miſericordia tua à generatione in generationem. And Pſalm 117. Diſpoſitione tuâ mundus preſeverat, quem tu, Domina, cum Deo fundâſti ab initio. Tuus totus ego ſum, Domina; ſalvum me fac, quoniam deſiderabiles ſunt laudes tuæ in tempore peregrinationis meæ. No Man can ſay more to, or expect more from, the Eternal God himſelf.

Whence

Whence they make the eternal Godhead as hypoſtatically united with the Virgin as with Chriſt himſelf, and carry themſelves to her as if ſhe were as properly the Daughter of God, as he the Son. For elſe how could ſhe be ſaid to have everlaſting Salvation in her Power, and to have laid the Foundations of the World from the beginning with the eternal Deity?

3. There are alſo other Paſſages in this Pſalter whereby they make the Virgin Mary a She-Chriſt, the Daughter of God, as he is the Son of God; and that is by the applying of the very Phraſes ſpoken of him in the Scripture, unto her. As in Pſalm 2. Venite ad eam omnes qui laboratis & tribulati eſtis, & refrigerium & ſolatium dabit animabus veſtris. And Pſalm 81. Terge fœditatem meam, Domina, quæ ſemper rutilas puritate. Fons vitæ, influe in os meum, ex quo viventes aquæ profluunt & emanant. Omnes ſitientes venite ad illam, & de fonte ſuo gratanter vos potabit. This is the Gift of the Spirit belonging only to Chriſt to give to them that believe on him. And he is alſo ſaid to be the Eaſe and Reſt of all them that are weary and heavy laden.

John 7. 37, 38.
Matth. 11. 28.

And again, Pſalm 46. Omnes gentes, plaudite manibus, pſallite in jubilo Virgini glorioſæ. Quoniam ipſa eſt porta vitæ, janua ſalutis, & via noſtræ reconciliationis, ſpes pœnitentium, ſolamen lugentium, pax beata cordium atque ſalus. This is attributed to the Virgin, whenas it is Chriſt alone that is the way of our Salvation and Reconciliation with God.

4. This is a foul and tedious Subject, and therefore to make an end at length, let us conſider the Blaſphemy of the 41 Pſalm; Quemadmodum deſiderat cervus ad fontes aquarum, ità ad amorem tuum anhelat anima mea, Virgo ſancta. Quia tu es genitrix vitæ meæ, & altrix reparationis carnis meæ: Quia tu lactatrix Salvationis animæ meæ, initium & finis totius ſalutis meæ. Here is that attributed to the Virgin which is ſaid of Chriſt, that he is the Author and Finiſher of our Faith and Salvation. Nay, the Creation or Generation of our Life and Fleſh, as well as our Salvation, is here aſcribed to the Virgin. Which can have no Senſe or Truth, unleſs ſhe were Θεόγυνον, God-woman, in that Senſe that Chriſt is Θεάνθρωπος or Θεάνηρ, God-man, and, as I ſaid, were as properly the Daughter of God, as he is the Son of God.

5. As ſhe is expreſly called in her Litany, Filia Dei, the Daughter of God. Which, conſidering what high Titles they give her both in that Litany and elſewhere, as, Illuminatrix cordium, Fons miſericordiæ, Fulmen ſapientiæ, Mater Dei, Regina cœli, Domina mundi, Domina cœli & terræ, would be but a dwindling Title, (it belonging to all Women that are Believers) if there was not ſome ſuch raiſed and ſublime Senſe of it, as I have intimated.

And therefore their humble Addreſſes to her being as if ſhe were, as I ſaid, a She-Chriſt, and the Daughter of God, in as high a Senſe at leaſt, as Chriſt is the Son of God, and ſhe being called the Daughter of God in the Litania Mariæ, in her Litany or publick Supplication to her, it is plain, that in that Interval of the Church wherein this moſt conſpicuouſly and notoriouſly happened, the Church of Rome, by reaſon alſo of the abundance of their Devotions then to the Virgin, might be ſaid to be rather the Worſhippers of the Daughter of God than of the Son of God. And that therefore the Spirit of Prophecy foreſeeing theſe times, whenas for ſuch a ſpace he called Rome Pergamus, this ſucceeding Scene coming on, he might very well change the Title of Pergamus into that of Thyatira, with a deriſorious Alluſion to the Occaſion of the Name of that City, from the News of a Daughter being born to Nicanor. As if God Almighty had the like Occaſion of changing the Name of Pergamus into Thyatira, (which ſignifies a Daughter) from the Romaniſts turning the Virgin Mary into the Daughter of God.

6. For a Stop to which Inſolency Chriſt ſeems on purpoſe in the Epiſtle to the Church in Thyatira to reſume to himſelf the Title of the Son of God, notwithſtanding that he is called the Son of Man in the Viſion in the foregoing Chapter, out of which he ever draws a Deſcription of himſelf for an Entrance before each Epiſtle to the Churches. Which, in my Judgment, is a thing ſpecially well worth the marking; and that this making the Virgin Mary the Daughter of God in this Interval, might alone be a ſufficient Occaſion of changing the Name of the Church of Rome from Pergamus to Thyatira. But other things that are appoſite, are alſo comprehended by a prophetical Henopœia.

Apoc. 2. 18.
Apoc. 1. 13.

7. But this is an Overplus to our preſent purpoſe, which was mainly to diſcover the groſs Idolatry of the Church of Rome in the Invocation of their Saints, and eſpecially of the Virgin Mary; and how both the Definition of the Council of Trent is idolatrous in this Point, and much more the Practice of the Church countenanced by publick Authority.

8. For

8. For this Mary-Pſalter it ſelf, that has the moſt enormous and blaſphemous Forms of idolatrous Invocation of any, is not the private Contrivance of ſome ſingle, obſcure, ſuperſtitious Monk, but bears the Title of that Seraphick Doctor S. Bonaventure, once Cardinal of Rome: which is no ſmall publick Countenance thereto. And that nothing might be wanting to the Grace and Furtherance of ſo devotional a piece of Idolatry, there was inſtituted a peculiar Society, entitled, The Fraternity of the Mary-Pſalter, confirmed afterward by Sixtus the Fourth, many Indulgences being added Anno 1470. And Innocent the Eighth added to theſe Indulgences plenary Remiſſion â pœnâ & culpâ once in their Life, and once in articulo mortis, to as many as entred into that Fraternity.

9. And in ſuch Caſe ſtands the Church of Rome at this very Day, that is to ſay, ſhe is ſtill Thyatira, notorious for her Idolatrous Worſhip of the Virgin Mary. But the Interval of the true Church in Thyatira ceaſed upon the Reformation, when we caſt off the Pope, or ſuffered Jezebel to delude the Servants of God no longer, nor to debauch them with Idolatrous Modes of Worſhip. But this is only by the Bye.

In the mean time it is abundantly manifeſt, that the Invocation of Saints in the Roman Church is not only the praying to them that they would pray to God for us, but the asking Aids of them, and ſuch frequently as are in the Power of none but of God, and of Chriſt as he is God, for to give; and therefore is ſtill the groſſer Idolatry.

CHAP. VII

That the Doctrine of the Council of Trent touching the Worſhipping of Images is Idolatrous, and the Reaſon of the Doctrine weak and unſound.

1. AND thus much for their Idolatry in the Invocation of Saints. Let us now conſider what the Senſe of the Council of Trent is touching the Worſhiping of Images. Imagines porrò Chriſti, Deiparæ Virginis, & aliorum Sanctorum, in templis præſertim, habendas & retinendas eſſe, eiſque debitum honorem & reverentiam impertiendam. Quoniam honos qui eis exhibetur refertur ad Prototypa, quæ illæ repræſentant; ità ut per Imagines quas oſculamur, & coram quibus caput aperimus & procumbimus, Chriſtum adoremus, & Sanctos, quorum illæ ſimilitudinem gerunt, veneremur. Id quod Conciliorum, præſertim verò ſecundæ Nicænæ Synodi, Decretis contra Imaginum oppugnatores eſt ſancitum. Concil. Trid. Seſs. 9.

The Meaning of which in brief is this, That the Images of Chriſt, of the bleſſed Virgin and other Saints, are to be had and retained in Churches, and that due Honour and Reverence is to be done to them. For which are produced two Reaſons. The Firſt, In that the Honour that is done to the Images, is referred to the Prototypes. The Second, In that this Injunction is but what the ſecond Nicene Council had of old decreed.

2. To which I anſwer, That thus much as the Council of Trent has declared touching Images, is plain and open Idolatry, by the ſeventh Concluſion of the firſt Chapter, and expreſly againſt the Commandment of God, who forbids us to make any graven Image to bow down to or worſhip. But the Council of Trent on the contrary ſays, Yes, ye may make graven Images of the Saints, and ſet them up in their Temples, and give them their due Honour and Worſhip; nay, ye ought to do ſo; and Inſtances in the very Act of Bowing or Kneeling and proſtrating our ſelves before them. This Definition of the Council is ſo palpably againſt the Commandment of God, that they are fain to leave the ſecond Commandment out of the Decalogue, that the People may not diſcern how groſly they go againſt the expreſs Precepts of God in their ſo frequent Practices of Idolatry. See the Firſt, Second, Ninth and Tenth Concluſions of the firſt Chapter; as alſo the Third, Fourth, Fifth, Eighteenth, Nineteenth and Twentieth of the Second.

3. Nor can all their Tricks and Tergiverſations and ſubtil Eluſions ſerve their Turn. For undoubtedly the Decalogue was writ to the eaſie Capacity of the People, and therefore their Hearts and Conſciences are the beſt Interpreters. Not the fooliſh Evaſions and Subterfuges of perfidious Sophiſters, who, to the betraying of weak Souls to Idolatry and Damnation, and for the wider opening their Purſes, would make them believe that the Council of Trent's enjoyning of Images in Churches, and the Honouring them or Worſhiping them and bowing down before them, can conſiſt with God's forbidding to make any graven Image, and to bow down to it and worſhip it. So that I ſay, the Council it ſelf does appoint flat Idolatry to the Chriſtian World to be practiſed. And it being ſo monſtrous a thing, I pray you now let us conſider the Reaſons why they do ſo.

4. The Firſt is, Becauſe the Honour done to the Image is referr'd to the Prototype, But I anſwer, that this Reference is either in Virtue of that Similitude the Images have with thoſe Perſons they repreſent, which the Words of the Council ſeem to imply, at leaſt touching the Saints, quorum illæ ſimilitudinem gerunt; as when we praiſe a Picture of ſuch or ſuch a Perſon, that it is a very comely and lovely Picture, this Praiſe naturally has a Reference to the Perſon whoſe Picture it is, in Virtue of the Similitude betwixt the Picture and the Party.

Or elſe this Reference, without any Regard to perſonal Similitude, is from the Direction of the Intention of the Devotioniſt, if we may ſo ſpeak, that he intends upon the ſeeing and bowing, ſuppoſe, to the Image of Chriſt, the bleſſed Virgin, or any Saint, to take this Occaſion to worſhip Chriſt, the Bleſſed Virgin, or the Saint thereby, the Image being but at large a ſymbolical Preſence of them, it being not regarded whether the Symbol or Image have any perſonal Similitude with the Party it repreſents or no.

5. But now as for the former, it is evident, that it is infinitely uncertain whether any Image of Chriſt, the Bleſſed Virgin, or of this or that Saint, be like the carnal Figure of theſe Perſons while they were alive upon Earth, or no. Nay, it is in a Manner certain to the contrary, none of theſe holy Souls being given to ſuch Follies as to have their Pictures drawn while they were alive. See my Myſtery of Iniquity Part 1. Book 1. Chap. 14.

But being it is extremely improbable but an Image ſhould be like ſome or other, that are either now alive, or have lived on the Earth ſince the Beginning of the World, according to this firſt Suppoſition, this Honour or Religious Worſhip intended to Chriſt, the bleſſed Virgin, or any other Saint, will not only miſs them, but certainly fall on ſome other who, inſtead of being Saints, haply are or have been the moſt vile and wicked Perſons that ever liv'd upon the Earth.

6. But beſides, no Saints are worſhipped before they be in Heaven, nor indeed are properly Saints till then; and the Glories in their Pictures that are about their Heads ſhew plainly, that they intend to repreſent the Saints in their preſent Condition of Glory in Heaven. Whence it is plain that the Images are nothing like them they are made for. For how can theſe Images of Braſs or Stone or Wood, or any other Materials, bear the Image of a ſeparate Soul, which all the Saints are for the preſent? And what likeneſs can there be betwixt the glorious Body of Chriſt Heavenly and ſpiritual, and an Image of any terreſtrial Matter? No more than betwixt a Piece of Dirt or Soot and the Sun or bright Morning-Star.

And, which is moſt of all to be conſidered, what terreſtrial Image can poſſibly repreſent him that is truly θεάνθρωπος, God-man, and is not the Object of our Adoration but as he is this Divine Complexum as well of the Divinity as the Humanity? But what Statuary can carve out the Effigies of the Deity? So that the Pretence of this Reference of the Honour to the Prototype in this firſt Senſe thereof is very weak and vain. Nor, though there were this natural Reference, would it follow that we are to honour them this Way, it being ſo plainly forbid, and there being better Ways than this, viz. the Commemorating and imitating there Virtues.

7. And for that ſecond Senſe, it is indeed diſſinvolved of thoſe former Difficulties; but greater here occurr. For as touching our Saviour Chriſt, foraſmuch as his pretended Image is but his ſymbolical Preſence, the Doing of Divine Worſhip towards it is again plain Idolatry, as appears by that Example of the Iſrae-
Exod. 32. 4, 5. lites, who worſhiped the golden Calf in Reference to Jehovah, as appears plainly in the Story. And for the Bleſſed Virgin and the reſt of the Saints, that Incurvation toward ward their ſymbolical Preſences is flat Idolatry, is manifeſt from the Eighth, Ninth and Tenth Concluſions of the firſt Chapter, and the Fifth, Nineteenth and Twentieth of the ſecond of this Treatiſe.

And indeed thus to make the Images of the Saints ſo called only their ſymbolical Preſences, and ſo to worſhip them before theſe Images, is an attributing Divine Honour to them. For this naturally does declare that they have at leaſt a terreſtrial Omnipreſency, which no inviſible Power which we know has, but only God. But to make a low Obeiſance to an abſent Perſon, God knows how many millions of Miles off, is ſtill a more forced and ridiculous thing. And therefore the Saluting of the Saints thus at their ſymbolical Preſences or Images, and in the mean time acknowledging them to be in ſede Beatorum, (which they do, and muſt do, unleſs they exclude them Heaven,) is to acknowledge one Soul to fill Heaven and Earth with its Preſence, or to have both a celeſtial and terreſtrial Omniſciency, which is that vaſt Privilege of God Almighty only; and therefore this Worſhip to them is groſs Idolatry, as naturally ſuppoſing ſuch a Perfection in them as is no where but in God.

Beſides what was intimated before, that let this Reference be what it will, there being an Incurvation or Proſtration before Images, whether they be mere Symbols, or exact Repreſentations, it muſt be ipſo facto Idolatry by the Seventh Concluſion of the firſt Chapter. From whence it follows, that the Saints are not honoured by this worſhipping of their Images, but hideouſly reproached, it ſuppoſing them to be pleaſed and gratify'd with that which is an Abomination to the Lord, and a groſs Tranſgreſſion of his expreſs Commands. It implies, I ſay, that they are ambitious, vain-glorious and rebellious againſt God. And therefore they that the moſt vehemently oppoſe this way of honouring of them by Images and Invocation, are the moſt true and faithful Honourers of them, they ſo zealouſly vindicating them from the great Reproaches theſe others caſt upon them. So far are they from being guilty herein from any Rudeneſs or Clowniſhneſs againſt the Saints of God.

CHAP. VIII.

The Doctrine of the ſecond Council of Nice, touching the Worſhip of Images, (to which the Council of Trent refers) that it is groſly Idolatrous alſo.

1. BUT now as for the other Reaſon of theſe Tridentine Fathers, whereby they would ſupport their Determination in this Point, viz. the Authority of the ſecond Council of Nice held about the year 780, (to omit, that long before this time the Church had become aſymmetral, which yet is a very ſubſtantial Conſideration) I ſhall only return this brief Anſwer. The God of Iſrael, which is the Father of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, has given this expreſs Command to his Church for ever, Thou ſhalt not make to thy ſelf any graven Image, thou ſhalt not bow down to it, nor worſhip it. But on the contrary, the ſecond Council of Nice ſays, Thou mayſt, and ſhalt bow down to the Image of Chriſt, of the bleſſed Virgin, and of the reſt of the Saints. Now whether it be fit to believe and obey God, or Men, judge ye. I might add farther, Men ſo ſilly and frivolous in the Defence of their Opinion, ſo falſe and fabulous in the Allegation of their Authorities, and the Recital of miraculous Stories, as Chemnitius has proved at large in his Examen of the Council of Trent.

2. I will give an Inſtance or two. No Man lighteth a Candle, and putteth it under a Buſhel; therefore the Images of the Saints are to be placed on the Altars, and Wax-candles lighted up before them, in due Honour to them, Again, Pſalm 16. But to the Saints that are on the Earth: But the Saints are in Heaven, ſay they; therefore their Images ought to be on the Earth, &c. As for the Miracles done by Images, as their Speaking, the Healing of the Sick, the Revenging of the Wrong done to them, the Diſtilling of rorid Drops of Balſam to heal the wounded, ſick or lame, their Recovering Water into a dry Well, and the like, it were too tedious to recite theſe Figments. Mat. 5. 15.

But that of the Image of the Virgin, to whom her Devotioniſt ſpake when he took Leave of her, and was to take a long Journey, intreating her to look to her Candle, which he had lighted up for her, till his Return, I cannot conceal. For the Story ſays, the ſame Candle was burning ſix Months after, at the Return of her Devoto. An Example of the moſt miraculous Prolonger that ever I met withal before in all my Days. Such an Image of the Virgin would ſave poor Students a great deal in the Expence of Candles, if the thing were but lawful and feaſible.

3. From theſe ſmall Hints a Man may eaſily diſcover of what Authority this ſecond Council of Nice ought to be, though they had not concluded ſo point-blank againſt the Word of God. But becauſe that Clauſe in this Paragraph of the Council I have recited, Id quod Conciliorum, præſertim vero ſecundæ Nicænæ Synodi, &c. may as well aim at the Determination of what theſe Fathers mean by that debitus honor & reverentia, which they declare to be due to the Images of Chriſt and the Saints, as confirm their own Concluſion by the Authority of that Nicene Council, we will take notice alſo what a kind of Honour and Reverence to Images the Nicene Council did declare for, and in ſhort it is this;

That they are to be worſhipped and adored, and to be honoured with Wax-candles, and by the ſmoking of Incenſe or Perfumes, and the like. Which ſmells rankly enough in all conſcience of Idolatry, as Grotius himſelf upon the Decalogue cannot but acknowledge. But this is not all. The Invocation of Saints, their Mediation and propitiating God for us for adoring their Images, healing of Diſeaſes, and other Aids and Helps, beſides Ora pro nobis, are manifeſtly involved in the Worſhip of theſe Images, according to that Nicene Council.

4. And truly, according to the Collections of Photius in Juſtellus, one would think that they meant the Cultus Latriæ to the Image of Chriſt, they uſing the Word διαβαίνειν, as if that Worſhip which was done to the Image, paſſed through to Chriſt himſelf, which would not be ſuitable to him, if it were not Divine Worſhip. And where that Word is not uſed, yet the Senſe makes hugely for it. As in this Paragraph touching the ſecond Council of Nice according to Photius; Τῷ δὲ εἰκόνα χειρὶ ὁπὶ τιμῇ καὶ σεβασμιότητι τὲ εἰκονιζομένε προσκυνεῖσθαι καὶ τιμᾶσθαι ψήφοις ἁπάσαις ἐπικύρωσέ τε καὶ ἐπεσφραγίσατο, τῆς προσκυνήσεως καὶ τιμῆς δηλονότι προσαγομένης καθ' ὃν τρόπον καὶ τοῖς ἄλλοις ἱεροῖς συμβόλοις καὶ τύποις τῆς καθ' ἡμᾶς ἁγιωτάτης λατρείας προσερχόμεθα. Οὐ γὰρ ἐν αὐτοῖς ἱστῶμεν καὶ συμπεκλείομεν τὴν τιμὴν καὶ προσκύνησιν, οὐδὲ εἰς ἑτερόφυλα καὶ διάφορα τέλη χιζόμεθα· ἀλλὰ διὰ τῆς φαινομένης διαφόρε καὶ μιᾶς αὐτῶν θεραπείας καὶ προσκυνήσεως ἱεροπρεπῶς τε καὶ ἀδιαιρέτως εἰς τὸν ἀμείεσον ἐκείνῳ ἐνοειδῆ τε καὶ ἑνοποιὸν θειότητα ἀναγόμεθα.

This ſeventh Synod, ſaith he, (that is to ſay, the ſecond of Nice) with joint Suffrages hath eſtabliſhed and ratify'd the worſhipping of the Image of Chriſt for the Honour and Reverence of him that is expreſſed by it; this Worſhip and Honour being done in ſuch manner as when we approach the holy Symbols or Types of our moſt holy and divine Worſhip: (for the Word is λατρεία.) For we do not ſtop at them, nor reſtrain our Worſhip and Devotion to them, nor are we divided toward heterogeneous and different Scopes ond Objects; but by that Service and Worſhip of them that appears divided, are we carried up devoutly and undividedly unto the one and indiviſible Deity. Whereby it is plainly declared, That that very Worſhip which paſſes to the Deity is done towards the Image of Chriſt firſt or jointly, as being one and the ſame undivided Worſhip in Truth and Reality; as alſo that this Worſhip is that Worſhip which is called Latria, and is due to the higheſt God only.

5. But that religious Worſhip is done to the Images of all the Saints, ſeems imply'd in what comes afterwards, where it is ſaid, That this ſecond Council of Nice, (which the ſame Photius calls ἁγίαν καὶ θεόφορον πανήγυειν) ὃ μόνον τῷ εἰκόνα χειρὶ, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἀειπαρθένε Μαρίας καὶ πάντων τῶν ἁγίων τὰς ἱερὰς εἰκόνας, κατ' ἀναλογίαν τῆς τῶν πρωτοτύπων ὑπεροχῆς καὶ σεβασμιότητος, τιμᾶσθαι καὶ προσκυνεῖσθαι ἐπισφραγίσί τε καὶ ἐπεκύρωσεν· καὶ γὰρ καὶ δι' αὐτῶν εἴς ἑνοποίον τινα καὶ συναγωγὸν ἀναγόμεθα θεωρίαν, καὶ πρὸς τὸ ἀκρότατον τῶν ὀρεκτῶν δι' αὐτῆς ἀξιούμεθα θείας καὶ ὑπερφυοῦς συναφείας. That this Council has not only eſtabliſhed and appointed that the Image of Chriſt ſhould be honoured and worſhipped, but the holy Images of the Virgin Mary, and of all the Saints, according to the Excellency and Venerability of their Prototypes. For even by theſe are we carried up into a certain unitive and conjunctive Viſion, and thereby are vouchſafed that divine and ſupernatural Conjunction or Contact with the higheſt of all deſirables, that is, God himſelf.

6. Can any thing more inflame the Souls of Men with that myſtical Luſt after Idols than the Doctrines of this Nicene Synod? For as for the Image of Chriſt, the ſame Devotion and Worſhip is done to that which is done to God himſelf. And for the Images of the Virgin Mary, and the reſt of the Saints, though that Worſhip is alloted them only that is proportionable to their Prototypes, yet they are worſhipped ſuch a way as that thereby, while we adhere to their Images or Statues, we are declared clared to be made fit for, and to be vouchſafed a tactual Union with God himſelf. What Philtrum more effectual to raiſe up that Idolomania, that being mad and Love-ſick after Images and Idols, than this? What can inrage their Affections more towards Idolatry, than to fanſie that while they worſhip Idols, and cling about dead Statues, that very individual Act (and therefore it cannot be too intenſe) is that wherewith they are united to, and lie in the very Embraces of, the ever-living and true God?

7. The Senſe of the Synod is, according to the Repreſentation of Photius, That we worſhip and unite our ſelves with God, as well in the worſhipping the Images of the Virgin, and of other Saints, as in the worſhipping of the Image of Chriſt. So that all is religious Worſhip, and conſequently groſs Idolatry, it being done to Stocks and Stones, and ſuch like ſenſeleſs Objects. For the drift of all Idolatry is, when it is queſtioned, and craftily defended, that through the Worſhip of Dæmons and Images they reach at the Worſhip of, and the joining their Devotion to, the firſt and higheſt Godhead. Wherefore the Council of Trent declaring with the ſecond Council of Nice, that is to ſay, The Blind leading the Blind, they have both fallen into this dreadful Pit of Idolatry.

CHAP. IX.

The Meaning of the Doctrine of the Council of Trent touching the Worſhip of Images more determinately illuſtrated from the general Practice of the Roman Church, and Suffrage of their Popes, whereby it is deprehended to be ſtill more courſely and Paganically Idolatrous.

1. BUT it may be it may give more Satisfaction to ſome, to know what is the Church of Rome's own Senſe of this Honor debitus ſhe declares ought to be done to the Images of Chriſt and the Saints. Putting off a Man's Hat, and lying proſtrate before them, the Council does not ſtick to inſtance in by the Bye. But becauſe the Council calls this neither Dulia, nor Hyperdulia, nor Latria, ſome will, it may be, be ready to ſhuffle it off with the Interpretation of but a civil Complement to theſe Images or their Prototypes.

But ſince the Council of Trent has declared nothing farther, what can be a more certain Interpreter of their Meaning than the continued Cuſtom of their Church, and the Senſe of ſuch Doctors as have been even ſainted for their Eminency, as Thomas Aquinas and Bonaventure, who both of them have declared, That the Image of Chriſt is to be worſhipped with the Worſhip of Latria, the ſame that Chriſt is worſhipped with?

2. And Azorius the Jeſuite affirms, That it is the conſtant Opinion of the Theologers, (their own, he means, you may be ſure) that the Image is to be honoured and worſhipped with the ſame Honour and Worſhip that he is whoſe Image it is. Which is not unlike that in the Council of Nice, κατ' ἀναλογίαν τῆς τῶ πρωτοτύπων ὑπαρχῆς, in the foregoing Citation. But that they are all capable of religious Worſhip, the Council of Trent it ſelf (as well as Bellarmine and others, if not all the Theologers of that Church) does plainly acknowledge, in that it determines for their Invocation, which is competible to no inviſible Power but the Godhead it ſelf. Wherefore it is manifeſt that their Images are worſhipped with religious Worſhip alſo.

3. But we ſhall make ſtill the clearer Judgment thereof, if we conſider the Conſecration of theſe Images, which the Council of Trent declares are to be worſhipped. For the Conſecration and Worſhipping of them makes them perfectly as the Idol-Gods of the Heathen, as Octavius jeerlingly ſpeaks of the Heathen Gods, that is, their Idols, in Minutius Felix: Ecce funditur, fabricatur, ſcalpitur; nondum Deus eſt. Ecce plumbatur, conſtruitur, erigitur; nec adhuc Deus eſt. Ecce ornatur, conſecratur, oratur; tunc poſtremo Deus eſt. Behold it is cloathed or adorned, it is conſecrated and prayed unto; then at length it becomes a God. And if this will do it, the Church of Rome's Images will prove as good Idol Gods as any of them all.

4. Chemnitius recites ſome Forms of Conſecration: I will cull out only thoſe of the Images of the Bleſſed Virgin and of St. John. That of the bleſſed Virgin is this: Sanctifie, O God, this Image of the bleſſed Virgin, that it may aid and keep ſafe thy faithful People; that Thunderings and Lightnings, if they grow too terrible and dangerous, may be quickly expelled thereby; and that the Inundations of Rain, the Commotions of Civil Civil War, and Devaſtations by Pagans, may be ſuppreſſed by the Preſence thereof. Which is moſt effectual to make all Men come and hurcle under the Protection of the Virgin's Image in ſuch Dangers, as under the Wings of the Great Jehovah. This is hugely like the conſecrated Teleſms of the Pagans.

But let us hear the Form of the Conſecration of the Image of St. John alſo: Grant, O God, that all theſe that behold this Image with Reverence, and pray before it, may be heard in whatſoever Streights they are. Let this Image be the holy Expulſion of Devils, the conciliating the Preſence and Aſſiſtance of Angels, the Protection of the Faithful; and that the Interceſſion of this Saint may be very powerful and effectual in this Place. What a mighty Charm is this to make the Souls of the feeble to hang about theſe Images, as if their Preſence were the Divine Protection it ſelf?

5. Theſe Forms Chemnitius recites out of the Pontifical he peruſed. But the Rituale Romanum, publiſhed firſt by the Command of Paulus Quintus, and again authorized by Pope Urban the Eighth, will do our buſineſs ſufficiently, they being both ſince the Council of Trent; and therefore by the Expoſition of theſe Popes we may know what that debitus Honor is, which the Tridentine Fathers mention, as that which ought to be done to the Images of Chriſt, the bleſſed Virgin, or any other Saint. For the Conſecration of their Images runs thus:

Grant, O God, that whoſoever before this Image ſhall diligently and humbly upon his knees worſhip and honour thy only begotten Son, or the bleſſed Virgin, (according as the Image is that is a-conſecrating, or this glorious Apoſtle or Martyr, or Confeſſor, or Virgin, that he may obtain by his or her Merits and Interceſſion Grace in this preſent Life, and eternal Glory hereafter.

So that the Virgin and other Saints are Fellow-diſtributers of Grace and Glory with Chriſt himſelf to their Supplicants before their Images, and that upon their own Merits, and for this Service done to them in kneeling and pouring out their Prayers before their Statues or ſymbolical Preſences. What greater Blaſphemy and Idolatry can be imagined? Ornatur, conſecratur, oratur, tunc poſtremò fit Deus: that is to ſay, The Image is pray'd before, but the Dæmon pray'd unto. There is no more in Paganiſm it ſelf. And yet by the Pope's own Expoſition this is the debitus Honor that is owing to the Images of the Saints. Conſider the latter end of the laſt Concluſion of the firſt Chapter, and the Forms of Invocation in the fourth and fifth, as alſo the eighteenth Concluſion of the ſecond Chapter.

6. This is all plain and expreſs, according to the Authority of their Church. And that, beſides their Adoration and Praying before theſe Images, (which, conſidering the Poſtures of the Supplicant and the Image, is as much praying to them as the Heathens will acknowledge done to theirs) there are alſo Wax-candles burning before them, and the Oblation of Incenſe or perfuming them; Feaſts likewiſe, Temples and Altars to the ſame Saints, and the carrying them in Proceſſion, (which was the Guiſe of ancient Paganiſm) is ſo well known, that I need not here quote any Authors. And that this is the Practice of the Roman Church jointly and coherently with their Worſhip of Images, is manifeſt to all the World; and that therefore it is as arrant Idolatry as Paganiſm it ſelf, and conſequently real Idolatry by the third Concluſion of the firſt Chapter. And laſtly, it is to be noted, that the Council of Trent, naming the debitus Honor of Images, and not excepting theſe in known Practice then amongſt them, muſt of all Reaſon be conceived to mean theſe very Circumſtances, as Paganical as they are, of the worſhipping of them.

7. And the rather, becauſe they do pretend to rectifie ſome Miſcarriages in the buſineſs of Images, as any unlawful or diſhoneſt Gain by them, all laſcivious Dreſſes of the Images, all Drunkenneſs and diſorderly Riot at their Feaſts, and the like. Which, methinks, is done with as great Caution againſt Idolatry, as if, for ſuppreſſing Fornication, they had decreed that all the Whores in Rome ſhould forbear to go in ſo gariſh Apparel, that they ſhould be ſure to wear clean Linen, to be favourable to poor younger Brothers in the Price of a Night's Lodging, that they keep themſelves wholeſome and clean from the Pox, and the like; which were not the putting down, but the eſtabliſhing of Whores and Whoredom in the Papacy. And ſo are theſe Cautions touching Images. Exceptio firmat regulam in non exceptis: Wherefore theſe Circumſtances of Idolatry being not named by the Tridentine Fathers in their Exception; 'tis manifeſt they are thereby ratify'd. Which yet are ſo like the old Pagan Idolatry, that Ludovicus Vives, one of their own Church could not abſtain from profeſſing, non poſſe aliquod diſcrimen oſtendi, niſi quod nomina tantum & titulos mutaverint; That only the Names and Objects were changed, not the Modes, of the ancient Idolatry of the Heathen.

8. If the Council of Trent would have really and in good earneſt rectify'd their Church in the point of Images, they ſhould have followed the Example of that skilful and famous Phyſician Dr. Butler, they ſhould have imitated his Preſcript touching the ſafe eating of a Pear, viz. That we ſhould firſt pare it very carefully, and then be ſure to cut out or ſcoup out all the Coar of it, and after that, fill the Hollow with Salt, and when this is done, caſt it forthwith into the Kennel. This is the ſafeſt way of dealing with thoſe things that have any intrinſick Poiſon or Danger in them. See thoſe moſt wholeſome and judicious Homilies of our Church of England againſt the Peril of Idolatry.

9. And thus much ſhall ſerve for the ſetting out the Idolatry of the Church of Rome ſo far as it ſeems to be allow'd by the Church it ſelf. But for thoſe more groſs Extravagancies, which, though they have connived at, yet they would be loath to own upon publick Authority, I will neither weary my ſelf nor my Reader by meddling with them. Such as the making the Images to ſweat, their Eyes to move, the making them to ſmile, or lour and look ſad, as Occaſion requires, yea, to feel heavy or light, or the like. Which does neceſſarily tend to the engaging of the People to believe and have Affiance in the very Images themſelves, as thoſe Conſecrations alſo imply which I cited out of Chemnitius, and which that Rhyme ſeems to acknowledge which they ſay to that Face of Chriſt which they call the Veronica. Which Rhyme runs thus:

Nos perduc ad patriam, felix ô Figura,
Ad videndam Faciem quæ eſt Chriſti pura.
Nos ab omni macula purga Vitiorum,
Et tandem conſortio junge Beatorum.

And with ſuch like blind Devotion do they likewiſe ſpeak to the Croſs:

O Crux, ſpes unica,
Hoc Paſſionis tempore
Auge piis Juſtitiam,
Reiſque dona Veniam.

This muſt ſound very wildly and extravagantly to any ſenſible Ear. And yet the invoking any Saint before his Image for Aid and Succour, (the Image bearing the Name and Repreſentation of the Saint,) with Eyes and Hands lift up to it, is as arrant talking with a ſenſleſs Stock or a Stone as this, and as groſs a Piece of *Idolatry, though approved of by the Authority of the Roman Church. But I intended to break off before. Yet I cannot forbear to add this one thing, That ſo much more odious and reproachful Spectacles are Images in the Church of Rome, by how much more plainly it appears that, beſides other things, they are ſo many Inſtruments of theſe κλεμμάτα, Thefts, of which Mention is made in the Apocalyps. Chap. 9. v. 21

*See Ch. I. Concluſ. 10.

CHAP. X

Several Important Conſectaries from this clear Diſcovery of the groſs Idolatry of the Church of Rome; with an hearty and vehement Exhortation to all Men, that have any ſerious Regard to their Salvation, to beware how they be drawn into the Communion of that Church.

1. THUS have we abundantly demonſtrated that the Church of Rome ſtands guilty of groſs Idolatry even according to the Conceſſions and Definitions of their own Council of Trent; that is to ſay, though we charge them with no more than with what the Council it ſelf doth own, touching the Adoration of the Hoſt, the Invocation of Saints, and the Worſhiping of Images. But we muſt not forget, in the mean time, that the Crime is ſtill more aggravated, and appears with a more frightful Aſpect, if we conſider the particular Forms of their Invocation of the Saints, and the Circumſtances of their Worſhiping their Images, and yet ratify'd by the Popes, and corroborated by the uncontrolled Practice of their whole Church: Which therefore muſt in all Reaſon be the Interpreter of the Mind of the Council. So that there is no Evaſion left for them, but that they are guilty of as groſs and palpable Idolatry as ever was committed by the Sons of Men, no leſs groſs than Roman Paganiſm it ſelf.

2. From whence, in the next place, it neceſſarily follows, that they are the moſt barbarous Murtherers of the Servants of God that ever appeared on the Face of the Earth. For indeed if they had had Truth on their Side ſo far, as that the things they required at the Hands of the Diſſenters had been lawful, (though not at all neceſſary;) yet conſidering the expreſs Voice of Scripture, which muſt be ſo exceeding effectual to raiſe conſciencious Scruples, and indeed to fix a Man in the contrary Opinions, beſides the irrefragable Votes of common Senſe and Reaſon, and the Principles of all Arts and Sciences that can pretend any Uſefulneſs to Religion in any of its Theoretical Diſquiſitions; I ſay, when it is ſo eaſie from hence, if not neceſſary, for ſome Men to be born into a contrary conſciencious Perſwaſion, it had undoubtedly even in this Caſe been notorious Murther in the Pontifician Party, to have killed Men for diſſenting from the Doctrine and Practice of their Church.

But now the Murtherers themſelves being in ſo palpable an Errour, and requiring of the Diſſenters to profeſs Blaſphemies and commit groſs Idolatries with them, which is openly to rebel againſt God under pretence of obeying Holy Church, as they love to be called, they murthering ſo many hundred thouſands of them for this Fidelity to their Maker, and their indiſpenſable Obedience to the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, this is Murther of a double dye, and not to be parallel'd by all the barbarous Perſecutions under the red Dragon, the Pagan Emperors themſelves.

3. From which two main Conſiderations it follows in the third place, that, conſidering the fit and eaſie Congruity of the Names of the Seven Churches and of the Events of the ſeven Intervals (denoted by them) to the Prefigurations in the Viſions, there can be no Doubt but that by Balaam mentioned in the Epiſtle to the Church in Pergamus, wherein Antipas, that is, the Oppoſers of the Pope, are murthered, the Papal Hierarchy is underſtood; as it is alſo by the Propheteſs Jezebel in the Epiſtle to the Church in Thyatira, who was alſo a Murthereſs of the Prophets of God, and both of them expreſly Patrons of Idolatry, as is manifeſt in the very Text.

Nor is it at all wonderful that Balaam and Jezebel, the one a Man, the other a Woman, ſhould ſignifie the ſame thing. For the Falſe Prophet and the Whore of Babylon in the following Viſions of the Apocalyps ſignifie both one and the ſame thing, viz. The Hierarchy of Rome, from the Pope to the reſt of their Eccleſiaſtick Body.

4. And what I have ſaid of the Viſion of thoſe Seven Churches, the ſame I ſay of all thoſe Expoſitions of the thirteenth and ſeventeenth Chapters of the Apocalyps, and that of the little Horn in Daniel; namely, The words of the Prophecies being ſo naturally applicable to the Affairs of that Church, beſides the Demonſtration of Synchroniſm, that the Weight of thoſe two foregoing Concluſions being added thereto, there cannot be the leaſt Doubt or Scruple left, but that thoſe Interpretations are true; and that the Church of Rome is that Body of Antichriſt, that Mother of Fornications and Abominations of the Earth, that is, of multifarious Modes of groſs Idolatries, or that ſcarlet Whore on the Seven Hills, that is alſo drunk with the Blood of the Saints, and with the Blood of the Martyrs of Jeſus.

5. And that therefore, in the fourth place, in the Church of Rome the Poiſon exceeding the Strength of the Antidote, there can be no Reaſon that Salvation ſhould be hoped for there. It is a ſad and lamentable Truth, but being a Truth, and of ſuch huge Moment, it is by no Means to be concealed. What God may do in his more hidden Ways of Providence, he alone knows. And therefore we cannot ſay that every Idolatrous Heathen muſt periſh eternally: But to ſpeak no farther than we have Commiſſion, and according to the eaſie Tenour of the Holy Scriptures, we muſt pronounce, though with great Sadneſs of Heart, that we have no Warrant therefrom to think or declare any of the Popiſh Religion, ſo long as they continue ſo, to be in the State of Salvation; and eſpecially, ſince that Voice of the Angel which ſounded in the Interval of Thyatira, ſaying expreſly, Come out of her my People, that ye be not Partakers of her Sins, and receive not of her Plagues; and the

Apoſtle

Apoſtle in his firſt Epiſtle to the Corinthians, Be not deceived, neither Fornicators, nor Idolaters, nor Adulterers, &c. ſhall inherit the Kingdom of God. And thoſe of the Church of Rome are bound to continue Idolaters as long as they live, or elſe to renounce their Church; and therefore they are bound to be damned by adhering to the Roman Church, unleſs they could live in it for ever. For he that dies in ſuch a capital Sin as Idolatry without Repentance, nay, in a blind, obſtinate Perſeverance in it, How can he eſcape eternal Damnation?

6. But though we had kept our ſelves to the Apocalyps, the thing is clear in that Book alone, ch. 22. ver. 14, 15. where all Idolaters are expreſly excluded from the Tree of Life: Bleſſed are they that do his Commandments, (and one of them, though expunged by Rome, is, Thou ſhalt not worſhip any Graven Image,) that they may have Right to the Tree of Life, &c. For without are Dogs, and Sorcerers, and Whoremongers, and Murtherers, and Idolaters, and whoſo loveth and maketh a Lie. All theſe are excluded the Heavenly Jeruſalem, and from eating the Tree of Life. Of which who eateth not is moſt aſſuredly detain'd in eternal Death. As it is written in the foregoing Chapter, that Murtherers, and Whoremongers, and Sorcerers, and Idolaters, and all Liars, ſhall have their Part in the Lake which burneth with Fire and Brimſtone; which is the ſecond Death. What Sentence can be more expreſs than this? Apoc. 21. 8.

7. But beſides this Divine Sentence againſt them, they are alſo αὐτοκατάκριτοι, they are ſelf-condemned, or at leaſt give Sentence againſt themſelves, while they ſo freely pronounce that no Idolaters are to be ſaved; which they frequently do, to ſave their own Church from the Reproach of Idolatry. For, becauſe ſome Proteſtants have declared for the Poſſibility of Salvation in the Romiſh Church, they farther improve the Favour to the quitting themſelves of the Guilt, from others hopeful Preſages that by an hearty implicit Repentance of all their Sins (even of thoſe that are the proper Crimes of that Church,) they may, through God's Mercy in Chriſt, be delivered from the Puniſhment.

This Piece of Charity in ſome of our Party they turn to the fencing off all Imputation of Idolatry from themſelves, arguing thus; That no Idolaters can be ſaved: But thoſe in the Romiſh Church may be ſaved, according to thoſe Proteſtants Opinion: Therefore thoſe in the Romiſh Church are no Idolaters.

But moſt aſſuredly while they thus abuſe the Charity of ſome, even by their own Propoſition they muſt bring the Sentence of Condemnation from all the reſt upon their own Heads, as they have herein given it againſt themſelves, in ſaying that all Idolaters are damned, or that no Idolater can be ſaved. For it is demonſtrated as clear as the Noon-light, in this preſent Diſcourſe, that the Church of Rome are Idolaters.

8. And in that of thoſe of our Church that ſay they may be ſaved upon a ſincere and hearty implicit Repentance of all their Sins, (wherein they include the Idolatries and all other Miſcarriages which they know not themſelves guilty of, by reaſon of the blind Miſ-inſtructions of their Church,) no more is given them by this than thus, viz. That they are ſaved by diſowning of and diſmembring themſelves from the Roman Church, as much as it is in their Power ſo to do, and by bitterly repenting them that they were ever of that Church as ſuch, and by being ſo minded, that if they did know what a corrupt Church it is, they would forthwith ſeparate from it. So that in effect thoſe of the Roman Church that ſome of ours Conceit may be ſaved, are no otherwiſe ſaved, if at all, than by an implicit renouncing Communion with it, which in Foro Divino muſt go for an actuall and formal Separation from it.

In which Poſition if there were any Truth, it will reach the honeſt-minded Pagans as well; but it can ſhelter neither, unleſs in ſuch Circumſtances, that they had not the Opportunity to learn the Truth, which ſince the Reformation, and eſpecially this laſt Age, by the Mercy of God, is abundantly revealed to the World. So that all Men, eſpecially thoſe that live in Proteſtant Nations or Kingdoms, are without all Excuſe; and therefore become obnoxious to God's eternal Wrath and Damnation, if they relinquiſh not that falſe Propheteſs Jezebel, as ſhe is called in the Epiſtle to the Church in Thyatira, who by her corrupt Doctrines deceives the People, and inveigles them into groſs Idolatrous Practices.

9. Thus little is conceded by thoſe of our Reformed Churches, that ſpeak moſt favourably of thoſe in the Church of Rome. And yet this little muſt be retracted, unleſs we can make it out, that any of that Church are capable of ſincere and unfeigned Repentance while they are of it. For to repent as a Thief, becauſe he is afraid to be hanged, is not that ſaving Repentance. But to repent as a true Chriſtian none can do, unleſs he has the Spirit of God, and be in the State of Regeneration.

For true Repentance ariſes out of the Deteſtation of the Uglineſs of Sin it ſelf, and out of the Love to the Pulchritude and Amiableneſs of the Divine Life and of true Virtue, which none can be touched with but thoſe that are regenerate or born of God. Now thoſe holy and divine Sentiments of the new Birth are ſo contrary to the Frauds and Impoſtures, to the groſs Idolatries and bloody Murthers of the Church of Rome, which they from time to time have perpetrated upon the dear Servants of Chriſt, that it is impoſſible for any one that has this holy Senſe, but that he ſhould incontinently fly from that Church with as much Horrour and Affrightment as any Country-man would from ſome evil Spectre, or at the Approach of the Devil.

1 John 5. 18. 10. He that is born of God ſinneth not, ſaith St. John: How then can they be ſo born whoſe very Religion is a perpetual Trade of Sin, and that of the higheſt Nature, they ever and anon exerciſing groſs Acts of Idolatry? Beſides that they are conſenting (by giving up their Belief and Suffrage to the murtherous Concluſions of that Church) to all the barbarous and bloody Perſecutions of the Saints that either have happened or may happen in their own times, or ever ſhall happen, by that Church; they become, I ſay, guilty thereof by adjoyning themſelves to this blood-thirſty Body of Men, with whom the Murther of thoſe that will not commit Idolatry with them, and ſo rebel againſt God, is become an holy Papal Law and Statute.

And therefore, I ſay, How can any Man conceive that thoſe Men are born of God who are thus deeply defiled with Murtherous and Idolatrous Impurities, but rather that they are in a mere blind carnal Condition, and uncapable, while they are thus, of any true and ſincere Repentance, and conſequently of repenting of their daily Idolatries which they commit, and ordinarily (to make all ſure) in ipſo articulo mortis, and therefore are out of all Capacity of Salvation while they are Members of that Church? As plainly appears both by this preſent Reaſon fetch'd from the Nature of Regeneration, as alſo from the Judgement of the Romaniſts themſelves touching the State of Idolaters after this Life, and chiefly from the expreſs Sentence of the Spirit of God in Scripture, as I intimated before.

11. And therefore, in the fifth and laſt place, it is exceeding manifeſt how ſtupid and regardleſs thoſe Souls are of their own Salvation, that continue in the Communion of the Church of Rome; and how deſperately wild and extravagant they are who, never having been of it, but having had the Advantage of better Principles, yet can find in their Hearts to be reconciled to it. This muſt be a Sign of ſome great Defect in Judgment, or elſe in their Sincerity, that they can be allured to a Religion that is ſo far removed from God and Heaven.

12. But this Church, as the Woman in the Proverbs, is, I muſt confeſs, both very fair of Speech and Subtile of Heart, and knows how to tamper with the ſimple right skilfully. She knows how to overcome all their carnal Senſes by her luxurious Enticements. She has deck'd her Bed with Coverings of Tapeſtry, with carved Works, with fine Linnen of Ægypt. She has perfumed her Bed with Myrrh, Aloes and Cinnamon. She entertains her Paramours with the moſt delicious Strains of Muſick, and chants out the moſt ſweet and pleaſing Rhymes, to lull them ſecure in her Lap: Such as thoſe Idolatrous Forms of the Invocation of the Virgin Marie, and of other Saints, which I have produced, of which ſhe has a numerous Store. Unto which I conceive the Prophet Iſaiah to allude in that Paſſage touching the City of Tyre, repreſenting there myſtically the relapſing Church of Rome: Take an Harp, go about the City, thou Harlot that haſt been forgotten, make ſweet Melody, ſing many Songs, that thou mayſt be remembered. See Synopſis Prophetica, Book 2. ch. 17. Sect. 4.

Prov. 7. 16, 17.

Iſa. 23. 16.

13. She gilds her ſelf over alſo with the goodly and ſpecious Titles of Unity, Antiquity, Univerſality, the Power of working Miracles, of Sanctity likewiſe, and of Infallibility; and boaſts highly of her ſelf, that ſhe has the Power of the Keys, and can give ſafe Conduct to Heaven by Sacerdotal Abſolution; and, if need be, out of the Treaſury of the Merits of Holy Men of their Church, which ſhe has the keeping and diſpoſing of, can add Oyl to the Lamps of the unprovided Virgins, and ſo ſo piece out their Deficiency in the Works of Righteouſneſs. Such fair Speeches and fine glozing Words ſhe has to befool the Judgments of the Simple.

14. But as to the firſt, it is plain that that Unity that is by Force is no Fruit of the Spirit, and therefore no Sign of the true Church: nor that which is from free Agreement, if it be not to good Ends. For Solomon deſcribes an Agreement of Thieves or Robbers, heartening one another to Spoil and Bloodſhed, and to enter ſo ſtrict a Society as to have but one Purſe. And therefore for a Company of Men, under the Pretence of Spirituality, to agree in the inventing or upholding ſuch Doctrines or Fictions as are moſt ſerviceable for a worldly Deſign, and for the more eaſily riding and abuſing the Credulous and Carnal-minded, thereby to be Maſters of their Perſons and Wealth, this is no holy Unity, but an horrid and unrighteous Conſpiracy againſt the deluded Sons of Adam. Prov. 1. 14.

15. And for Antiquity and Univerſality, they are both plainly on the Proteſtants Side, who make no Fundamentals of Faith but ſuch as are manifeſtly contained in the Scripture; which is much more ancient, and more univerſally received, than any of thoſe things upon whoſe Account we ſeparate from the Church of Rome, which are but the Fruits of that Apoſtaſie which, * after four Hundred Years or thereabout, the Church was to fall into according to Divine Prediction. So that we are as antient and univerſal as the Apoſtolick Church it ſelf, nor do we deſire to appear to be the Members of any Church that is not Apoſtolical. *Synopſ. Prophet. lib. 2. c. 6.

And for their Boaſt of Miracles, which are produced to ratifie their craſty Figments, they are but Fictions themſelves framed by their Prieſts, or Deluſions of the Devil, according as is foretold concerning the coming of Antichriſt, that Man of Sin, (which the Pope and his Clergy moſt aſſuredly is,) namely, that his coming is after the working of Satan, with all Power, and Signs, and lying Wonders. So that they glory in their own Shame, and boaſt themſelves in the known Character of Antichriſt, and would prove themſelves to be Holy Church by pretending to the Privileges of that Man of Sin, and by appealing to the palpable Signs of the Aſſiſtance of the Devil. For from thence are all Miracles that are produced in Favour of Practices that are plainly repugnant to the Doctrines of the Holy Scriptures. 2 Theſ. 2. 9.

16. But now, as for their Sanctity, What an holy Church they are, any one may judge upon the reading of the Lives of their Popes and Hiſtory of their Cardinals, and other Religious Orders of that Church of Rome; how rankly all things ſmell of Fraud and Impoſture, of Pride and Covetouſneſs, of Oſtentation and Hypocriſy; What monſtrous Examples of Senſuality their Holineſſes themſelves have ordinarily been, of Fornication and Adultery, of Inceſt and Sodomy; to ſay nothing of Simonie, and that infernal Sin of Necromancy. But for Murther and Idolatry, thoſe horrid Crimes are not only made familiar to them, but have paſſed into a Law with them, and are interwoven into the very Eſſence of their Religion. Judge then how holy that Church muſt be, whoſe Religion is the Eſtabliſhment of Idolatry and Murther. Of the latter of which Crimes the Holy Inquiſition is an Inſtance with a Witneſs. And yet that Den of Murtherers, whoſe Office it is to kill Men for not committing Idolatry, with the Church of Rome muſt needs bear the Title of Holy.

17. And for their Pretence of Infallibility, it is expreſly predicted in the Apocalyps of St. John, as well as their laying Claim to Miracles. For as the two-horned Beaſt is ſaid to do great Wonders, and to bring Fire from Heaven, which Two-horned Beaſt is the Pope and his Clergy; ſo Jezebel, which is the ſame Hierarchy, is called the Woman that gives to her ſelf the Title of a Propheteſs, whoſe Oracles you know muſt be infallible. For ſhe does not mean that ſhe is a falſe Prophetheſs, though indeed and in Truth ſhe is ſo. And the Pope with his Clergy is judged to be ſo by the Spirit of God, in that he is called the Falſe Prophet, as well as the Two-horned Beaſt, in thoſe Viſions of St. John. Apoc. 13. 13. Apoc. 2. 20. Apoc. 16. 13.

And while he pretends himſelf to be a Prophet, even without Divine Revelation, one may plainly demonſtrate that he is a falſe one from this one notorious Inſtance of Tranſubſtantiation; which is a Doctrine repugnant to common Senſe and Reaſon, and all the Faculties of the Mind of Man, and bears an open Contradiction to the moſt plain and indubitable Principles of all Arts and Sciences, as I have proved above. So that we may be more ſure that this is falſe, than that we feel our own Bodies, or can tell our Toes and Fingers on our Hands and Feet. Judge then therefore whether is more likely, that the Church of Rome ſhould be infallible, or Tranſubſtantiation a mere Figment, eſpecially it being ſo ſerviceable for their worldly Advantages, and they being taken tardy in ſo many Impoſtures and Deceits. So that Infallibility is a mere empty Boaſt.

18. And now for their Sacerdotal Abſolution, that they can ſo ſafely diſmiſs Men to Heaven or ſecure them from Hell thereby, this Power of their Prieſt is John 3. 3. ſuch another vain Boaſt as that of Tranſubſtantiation. Except a Man be born again, he cannot enter into the Kingdom of God. And the Form of Words upon one's Death-bed can no more regenerate any one, than their Quinqueverbial Charm can tranſubſtantiate the Bread and Wine into the Body and Blood of Chriſt. Where the Form of Abſolution has any Effect, it muſt be on ſuch Perſons as are already really regenerate and unfeignedly and ſincerely penitent: which I have ſhewn to be incompetible to any one ſo long and ſo far forth as he adheres to the Roman Church. So that in this Caſe one Æthiopian does but waſh another, which is Labour ſpent in vain.

There muſt be a Change of Nature, or no external Ceremony nor Words can do any thing. For the Form of Abſolution is not a Charm, as I ſaid, to change the Nature of Things, but only a Ticket to paſs-Guards and Scouts, and to procure ſafe Conduct to the Heavenly Regions. But if by Regeneration and due Repentance one has not contracted an Alliance and Affinity with the Saints and Angels, but is really ſtill involved in the Impure and Helliſh Nature, the grim Officers of that dark Kingdom will moſt certainly challenge their own, and they will be ſure to carry that Soul captive into a ſutable Place, let the flattering Prieſt have diſmiſſed her hence with the faireſt and moſt hopeful Circumſtances he could. This is the moſt hideous, the moſt dangerous, and the moſt perfidious Cheat of that Church of Rome that ever ſhe could light on for the damning of poor credulous Souls, that thus ſuperſtitiouſly depend on the vain Breath of their Prieſt for the Security of their Salvation.

19. And yet they are not content with this Device alone to lull Men ſecure in Wickedneſs, but beſides their Pretence of Singing them out of Purgatory by mercenary Maſſes, and pecuniarie Redemptions by Pardons and Indulgencies, and I know not what Trumperies, they allure Men to come into their Church as having that great Store and Treaſury of the Merits of Holy Men and Women, their Works of Supererogation, which they pretend to have the keeping and diſpoſing of. So that a poor Soul that is bankrupt of her ſelf, and has no Stock of good Works of her own, may ſufficiently be furniſhed for Love or Money by the Merchants of this Storehouſe. Which, beſides that it is a blaſphemous Derogation to the Merits of Chriſt, is the groſſeſt Falſhood that ever was uttered.

For theſe Holy Men, as they are called, and Virgins, were, God wot, themſelves moſt miſerable Sinners, and died in moſt horrid Idolatries, as dying in the Practices of that Church; and he that comes to that Church does neceſſarily become a groſs Idolater himſelf; beſides that he ſets to his Seal and makes himſelf Acceſſory to all that innocent Blood, the Blood of thoſe many hundred thouſands of Martyrs for the Proteſtant Truth, which that Woman of Blood that ſits on the Seven Hills has with the moſt execrable Circumſtances imaginable ſo frequently murthered.

20. Wherefore whoever thou art that haſt any Senſe or Solicitude for thy future State and Salvation, believe not this Woman of ſubtil Lips and a deceitful Heart, and give no Credit to her Fictions and high Pretenſions; but the more ſhe goes about to magnifie her ſelf, do thou humble her the more, by ſhewing her her ugly Hue in the Glaſs of the Holy Scriptures.

Pſal. 122. 3. If ſhe boaſt that ſhe is that holy Jeruſalem, a City at Unity within it ſelf, whenas the reſt of the World are ſo full of Sects and Factions; tell her, That ſhe is that carnal Jeruſalem, wherein Chriſt in his true Members hath been ſo barbarouſly perſecuted and murthered, and that the Stones of her Buildings are no living Stones, but held together by a mere iron Violence, and the Cement of her Walls tempered with the large Effuſion of innocent Blood; foraſmuch as ſhe is that two-horned Apoc. 13. Beaſt that gave Life to the Image of the Beaſt, and cauſed him to decree that as many as would not obey his Idolatrous Edicts ſhould be ſlain. This is the Power of your Unity, which is not from the Spirit of God, but from the Spirit of the Devil, who was a Murtherer from the Beginning. But the Diviſion of us Proteſtants is both a Sign of our ſincere Search after the Truth, and a more ſtrong Teſtimony againſt you of Rome, in that we being ſo divided amongſt our ſelves, yet we ſo unanimouſly give Sentence againſt you: your Miſcarriages and Crimes being being ſo exceeding groſs, that no free Eye but muſt needs diſcern them.

21. If ſhe vaunts of her Antiquity; give her enough of it, and tell her ſhe derives her Pedigree from that great Dragon, the Old Serpent, that is called the Devil and Satan, that Murtherer of Mankind from the Beginning. Ye are of your Father the Devil, ſaith our Saviour, and the Works of your Father will ye do. We grant that the Viſage and Lineage of your Church reaches even beyond the Times of the Apoſtles, the two horned Beaſt reviving the Image of the Pagan Beaſt, the great red Dragon, by bringing up again his old bloody Perſecutions and Idolatries. It ſuffices us, that our Church began with the Apoſtles. Apoc. 12. 9. John 8. 44.

If ſhe glories in her Univerſality, and in her large Territories; tell her, ſhe is that GREAT City which ſpiritually is called Sodom and Ægypt, where our Lord was crucified: And that ſhe is Babylon the GREAT, the Mother of Fornications and the Abominations of the Earth. Apoc. 11.

If ſhe boaſt of the Power of the Keys, and of Sacerdotal Abſolution; tell her, that he that is holy, he that is true, he that has the Key of David, he that openeth and no Man ſhutteth, and ſhutteth and no Man openeth, that is to ſay, our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, will never part with theſe Keys to his inveterate Enemy, that notorious Man of Sin, or Antichriſt. Apoc. 3.

If ſhe ſpread before thee her goodly Wares of Mercenary Maſſes, of Pardons, and Indulgences, of the mutatitious good Works of their pretended Holy Men and Women, or the Wealth and external Glories of their Church, and Varieties of rich Perferments and Dignities; ſay unto her, that ſhe is that City of Trade of whom it is written, that no Man buyeth her Merchandiſe any more; and again, Alas, alas! that great City that was cloathed in fine Linnen and Purple and Scarlet, and decked with Gold and precious Stones and Pearls: For in one Hour ſo great Riches are come to nought. For her Merchants were the great Men of the Earth, and by her Sorceries were all Nations deceived. And in her was found the Blood of Prophets, and of Saints, and of all that were ſlain upon the Earth. c. 18.

22. If ſhe would amaze thee with the Stories of the wonderful Miracles done by her; tell her that ſhe is that two-horned Beaſt that doth great Wonders, and that deceiveth them that dwell on the Earth by Means of thoſe Miracles which he had Power to do in the Sight of the ten-horned Beaſt; or that falſe Prophet working Miracles, and deceiving them that receive the Mark of the Beaſt, and worſhip his Image, who together with the Beaſt is to be taken, and caſt alive into a Lake of Fire burning with Brimſtone; or laſtly, that Man of Sin and Son of Perdition, whoſe coming is after the working of Satan, with all Power, and Signs, and lying Wonders. Apoc. 13. 13. 14. Apoc. 19. 20. 2 Theſ. 2. 9.

If ſhe would inveagle thee with her Pretences of Infallibility; tell her that ſhe is that Woman Jezebel, that calleth her ſelf a Propheteſs; or the Prophet Balaam, that inſnared the Iſraelites in Idolatry; and that very falſe Prophet that together with the Beaſt is to be caſt alive into the Lake of burning Brimſtone. Apoc. 2. 20. Apoc. 2. 14. Apoc. 19. 20.

23. And laſtly, if ſhe would gull thee with that ſpecious and much-affected Title of Holy Church; tell her that the Spirit of Truth in the Divine Oracles, let her commend her ſelf as much as ſhe pleaſes, gives no ſuch Character of her, but quite contrary, declaring the See of Rome to be the *Seat of Satan, and their Church (a) his Synagogue; the Pope and his Clergy to be (b) Balaam the Son of Bozor, who loved the Wages of Unrighteouſneſs, and who was the Murtherer of Chriſt's faithful Martyr Antipas; to be that (c) Woman Jezebel who calls her ſelf a Propheteſs, but was indeed a Sorcereſs, and a Murtherer of the true Prophets of the Lord; to be alſo that (d) falſe Prophet, that is to be taken alive, and caſt into the Lake of Fire and Brimſtone; to be that (e) great City that ſpiritually is called Sodom and Ægypt, where our Lord was crucified; to be (f) the Beaſt that has the Horns of a Lamb, but the Voice of the Dragon, decreeing Idolatries and cruel Perſecutions againſt God's People; to be that (g) Babylon the great, the Mother of Harlots and Abominations of the Earth; the Woman on the ſeven Hills, that is drunk with the Blood of the Saints and with the Blood of the Martyrs of Jeſus; and laſtly, to be that (h) Man of Sin, that notorious Antichriſt, that oppoſeth and exalteth himſelf above all that is called God or is worſhipped, whoſe Coming is with all Deceivableneſs of Unrighteouſneſs in them that periſh, becauſe they receive not the Love of the Truth that they may be ſaved. For which Cauſe God ſends them ſtrong deluſion, that they believe a Lie. That they all might be damned that believe not the Truth, but have Pleaſure in Unrighteouſneſs. As well πᾶς ὁ φιλῶν, as πᾶς ὁ ποιῶν ψεῦδος,

* Apoc. 2. 13.
a Apoc. 3. 9.
b Apoc. 2. 13, 14.
c Apoc. 2. 20.
d Apoc. 19. 20.
e Apoc. 11. 8.
f Apoc. 13. 11.
g Apoc. 17.
h 2 Theſ. 2.

as well all they that love the Romiſh Lies and Impoſtures, as all they that invent them, are here plainly declared in the State of Damnation.

With this Noſegay of Rue and Wormwood antidote thy ſelf againſt the Idola-
Prov. 5. 3. trous Infection of that ſtrange Woman's Breath, whoſe Lips yet drop as an Hony-comb, and her Mouth is more ſmooth than Oyl. And be aſſured that that cannot be the true Holy Church wherein Salvation is to be expected, which the Spirit of God has marked with ſuch unholy and helliſh Characters, let her boaſt of her own Holineſs as much as ſhe will.

24. And if ſhe return this Anſwer to thee, That this is not to argue, but to rail in Phraſes of Scripture; do thou make this ſhort Reply, That whiles ſhe accuſes thee of railing againſt ſinful and obnoxious Men, ſhe muſt take heed that ſhe be not found guilty of blaſpheming the Holy Spirit of God. I confeſs theſe Prophetical Paſſages apply'd to ſuch Perſons as to whom they do not belong, were an high and rude Strain of Railing indeed, and quite out of the Road of Chriſtianity and common Humanity: But to call them Railings when they are apply'd to that very Party to whom they are really meant by that Spirit that dictated them, is indeed to pretend to a Senſe of Civility towards Men, but in the mean time to become a downright Blaſphemer againſt the Holy Ghoſt that dictated theſe Oracles.

And that they are not miſ-apply'd, any impartial Man of but an ordinary Patience and Comprehenſion of Wit, may have all Aſſurance deſirable from that Demonſtration of the Truth compriz'd in the eight laſt Chapters of the firſt Book of Synopſis Propheticа; to ſay nothing of the preſent Expoſition of the Seven Epiſtles to the Seven Churches in Aſia, and the tenth and laſt Chapter of it.

25. Wherefore, O ſerious Soul, whoever thou art, be not complemented out of the Truth and an earneſt Purſuance of thine own Salvation from a vain Senſe of the Applauſes or Reproaches of Men, or from any Conſideration what they may think of thee for atteſting or ſtanding to ſuch Verities as are ſo unwelcome to many Ears, but of huge Importance to all to hear. For no leſs a Game is at Stake in our Choice of what Church we adhere to, that of Rome or the Reformed than the Poſſeſſion of Heaven and eternal Life.

Wherefore being provided with theſe Arms, ſtand ſtoutly upon thy Guard, and whenſoever thou art accoſted by the fair Words and ſugar'd Speeches of that cunning Woman, (who will make Semblance of great Solicitude for thy future Happineſs, moſt paſſionately inviting thee to return into the Boſom of Holy Church,) be ſure to remember what an Holy Church ſhe is according to Divine Deſcription; and that if thou aſſenteſt to her ſmooth Perſwaſions and crafty Importunities, thou doſt ipſo facto (pardon the Vehemence of Expreſſion) adventure thy ſelf into the Jaws
Mat. 23. 15. of Heli, and caſt thy ſelf into the Arms of the Devil.

God of his infinite Mercy give us all Grace to conſider what has been ſpoken, that we may evermore eſcape theſe Snares of Death. Amen.

THE END.

AN

APPENDIX

To the late

ANTIDOTE

AGAINST

IDOLATRY:

WHEREIN

The true and adequate Notion or Definition of IDOLATRY, commonly ſo called, is propoſed;

Many Inſtances of this Kind of Idolatry in the ROMAN CHURCH

Are thereby Examined,

And ſundry USES in the Church of England

CLEARED;

With ſome

SERIOUS MONITIONS

TOUCHING

SPIRITUAL IDOLATRY

Thereunto Annexed.

LONDON,

Printed in the Year MDCCVI.

APPENDIX

AN

APPENDIX

To the late ANTIDOTE againſt

IDOLATRY.

1. I Have already, in my Antidote againſt Idolatry, with ſufficient Evidence and Certainty, as to Religious Uſes, diſcovered what is and ought to be held to be Idolatry amongſt Chriſtians; but in ſuch a way, that I only exhibited ſeveral Caſes or Inſtances of Idolatry, and proved them ſo to be, either by Divine Teſtimony, or the common Suffrage of Men, I mean ſuch as are Chriſtians, rather than from the intrinſick general Notion of Idolatry, not at all intended to be propoſed in that Treatiſe; that Method I then took, being ſufficient for the Uſe and Purpoſe then aimed at, which was to convince the World by plain and obvious Arguments, what things profeſſed and practiſed in the Roman Church, might juſtly be eſteemed Idolatrous.

I. A brief Account of his proceeding in his Antidote againſt Idolatry.

2. But now for the greater Satisfaction of the more Curious and Philoſophical Genius, we ſhall make a more nice and accurate Search, and out of thoſe ſeveral Inſtances in the above-ſaid Treatiſe, draw one common Notion or Definition of Idolatry commonly ſo called, both true and adæquate, which will be a certain Meaſure whereby we may expeditely underſtand whatever is truly Idolatry, and what not. For, it is plain, that to whatſoever the Definition belongs, the thing defined belongs to the ſame; and to whatſoever the Definition does not belong, the thing defined cannot belong to it. Whereby we ſhall cut off all Occaſion of endleſs λογομαχίαι, or Wrangling about Words, and put a Stop in their Way, who run for Shelter to the wandring Uncertainty of Words and Notions. Of ſo great Importance is it therefore to propoſe a true and adæquate Definition of Idolatry; which I conceive is this: Cultus ritualis ſuperſtitioſus, quo, aut ex vi inſtituti conſuetudiniſque, aut ex naturali rerum verborumve ſignificatu, peculiaritates divinæ violantur. i. e. Idolatry is a ritual ſuperſtitious Worſhip, whereby, either through the Force of Inſtitution and Cuſtom, or becauſe of the natural Signification of things or Words, the Peculiarities of the Godhead are violated. There is no Kind or Act of Idolatry commonly ſo called, which will not fall under this general Notion, nor any Kind or Act of Ritual Worſhip that falls under it, that is not Idolatry, as will more plainly appear after the Explication of the Definition.

II. The Definition of Idolatry with the Uſefulneſs thereof.

3. As for the Term defined, Idolatry, there is no Man ſo unskilful, (though according to the Notation of the Word, it ſignifies properly the Worſhip of an Image or Idol) as to think that to be the adæquate Senſe of Idolatry, ſince they that worſhip the Sun are acknowledged to be Idolaters, though they worſhip him without an Image. And therefore that Scruple paſſed over, nothing hinders but that the Notion of Idolatry may be as large, as the propoſed Definition which is a ritual ſuperſtitious Worſhip, whereby, either through the Force of Inſtitution and Cuſtom, or becauſe of the natural Signification of Things or Words, the Peculiarities of the Godhead are violated. The Import and Senſe of all which Terms we will briefly explain. 1. Firſt, therefore, by Worſhip is not meant ſome Opinion only concerning the Object of Worſhip. For a mere Opinion concerning the Nature of an Object, regards it as an Object of Speculation, not of Worſhip. But Worſhip reſpects the Object as ſuch, to which the Mind is carried with ſome Affection of Honour or Devotion, either real, or at leaſt pretended. Whence 'tis manifeſt, that a mere Opinion can't be Worſhip, and therefore not Idolatry, tho' it were of that Nature, that the Peculiarities of the Godhead were thereby violated. 2. And much leſs can it be a Ritual Worſhip, which is an expreſſing of Honour given to an Object, by external

III. The Explication of the Definition.

Particle 1. of the Explication.

Partic. 2.

and ſenſible Signs, namely by Words, bodily Geſtures, or other Actions; none
Partic. 3. of all which accompany a mere Opinion. 3. But not ſatisfied with theſe, I add in the third place, Superſtitious to Ritual Worſhip, that the Genus may be the more immediate or the neareſt. By Superſtitious I underſtand Pſeudoreligious, if we Partic. 4. may ſo ſpeak, that is, falſe or depraved Religious Worſhip. 4. But I name no Object, becauſe I would not reſtrain it to any one kind of Object; but, by the Pretence of worſhipping God, Saints, Angels, or whatſoever Object elſe, when it is in ſuch a Way, as that the Divine Peculiarities are violated, that is Idolatry ac-
Partic. 5. cording to this Definition. 5. Ritual ſuperſtitious Worſhip, therefore, is the neareſt Genus in the Definition; what remains is the Difference, viz. Whereby through the Force of Inſtitution and Cuſtom, or from the natural Signification of Things or Words,
Partic. 6. the Peculiarities of the Godhead are violated. 6. Whereby] That is, by the Performance of which. Through the Force of Inſtitution and Cuſtom] The Senſe is, if this Ritual Worſhip is perform'd, the Intention of the Worſhipper cannot hinder it from paſſing unto the Object; but how much ſoever the internal Act of Worſhip be reſtrained, through the very Force of Inſtitution and Cuſtom, it will certainly terminate upon the wonted and commonly known Object of the Worſhip. As if one in a Nation where they worſhip the Sun in Temples, by bowing towards the Eaſt, ſhould in one of theſe Temples bow himſelf alſo with the reſt towards the Eaſt; tho' he ſhould reſtrain the internal Worſhip of the Mind, yet by that external Incurvation he would really Worſhip the Sun, and commit manifeſt Idolatry.
Partic. 7. 7. Or from the natural Signification of Things or Words.] There is almoſt the ſame Reaſon of this as of the former Clauſe, and the ſame thing is therein ſignified. Namely, That the Performance of true Ritual Worſhip, conſider'd as ſuch, depends not upon our Intention, but on the natural Signification of Things or of Words, which Prov. 26. 18. our Intention cannot change. As a Mad-man, ſays Solomon, who caſteth Firebrands, Arrows, and Death; ſo is the Man that deceiveth his Neighbour, and ſaith, Am not I in Sport? But thoſe Actions did not ſignifie Sport, but a malicious Deſire of doing Miſchief. They therefore who practiſe Fraud, Injury and Impoſture, their Actions are by no means to be interpreted according to their profeſs'd, or pretended Intention, but by the natural Signification of the Thing it ſelf. Whatever is pretended contrary to the genuin and peculiar Signification of the Thing it ſelf, ought not to be deemed a true Interpretation, but the abſurd and diſtorted Tergiverſation of Partic. 8. Men found out in ſome treacherous Contrivance. 8. But as to the Natural Signification of Words, 'tis not ſo to be underſtood, as if no figurative Senſe of Words were to be admitted, but only that which is native or proper: What we intend is, That a Figurative Senſe is not to be admitted, unleſs it be alſo natural, and conformable to the allowed Rules of a figurative Signification. For neither ought every Senſe of Words that may be us'd different from the Native, be immediately accounted Figurative, unleſs it belong to a certain Figure, and is not uſed inconſiſtently with the general Scope of Rhetorick. For we ought not to coin new Rhetorical Figures at Pleaſure, no more certainly than new Moods in the Figures of Logick. But all things are to be adjuſted by the Scope of either Art reſpectively, namely, by that of Speaking well in the former, and in the latter by that of Arguing well. Whatever is not agreeable to this laſt, can be no Precept in Logick; nor can what is not ſuitable to the firſt, be any Precept in Rhetorick. And certainly if the Uſe of any eſtabliſh'd Figure of Rhetorick be pretended, which is not agreeable to this End, in the preſent Caſe we cannot uſe it, but the Words remain in their proper Senſe, to the Peril of the Speaker. As if ſome mad Wretch, of a very abſurd Fancy, ſhould ſo begin his Prayer to God, O infinitely impotent, unwiſe and unmerciful God! and ſhould pretend that it was an Irony, and that he meant his Words in a contrary Senſe; would this free him from the Guilt of moſt horrid Blaſphemy? By no means. For the Uſe of that Figure, in this place, is not agreeable with the general End of Rhetorick, which is the Art of Speaking well. With which End no deteſtable, deformed and abſurd Form of ſpeaking can comport. Wherefore if a Figurative Senſe can't be here admitted, where a Figure ſo uſual is found, to which the Speech may be referr'd, how can the Pretence of a Figure excuſe ſuch a Speech, as the moſt skilful in Rhetorick can ſcarcely find any Figure to which he may refer it? For inſtance, if one ſhould pray to St. Francis in this manner, O holy Francis, give me the Spirit of Grace in this Life, and Eternal Glory in that to come; at which another crying out, that this is the moſt groſs Idolatry; if he who had uſed this abſurd and idolatrous Form of Prayer, ſhould ſay, That he meant it

it figuratively, and intended nothing more, than if he had prayed thus; O holy Francis, pray to God that he may beſtow on me the Spirit of Grace, &c. This Speech alſo, ſeeing it raiſeth ſuch Abhorrence and Deteſtation, and occaſions ſo great Scandal, cannot be a figurative Speech, but is of neceſſity reſtrain'd, and as it were, ty'd down unto the proper Signification of the Words; and even as that other Perſon is deſervedly reputed Guilty of horrible Blaſphemy, ſo is this of having committed the moſt groſs Idolatry. 9. Peculiarities of the Godhead.] I am fain to make Partic. 9. uſe of this more general and abſtract Term (Peculiarities) that it may comprehend whatever things are peculiar to God, whether his Attributes, or Rites choſen and appropriate to his own Worſhip, which his own Choice is enough to make peculiar to him, though cloſely look'd into, they may have alſo a natural Significancy of thoſe Excellencies that are proper to the Godhead. Such are the having a Temple and a Symbolical Preſence erected for Invocation and Worſhip, praying before that Symbolical Preſence, having Incenſe burnt before it, and Lamps or Candles light up, &c. Theſe, and the like were the Modes that God made choice of, to ſignifie the Honour and Worſhip due to himſelf; and therefore to uſe them to any thing elſe, is a Violation of his Peculiarities. 10. And as for the Attributes and internal Partic. 10. Peculiarities of God, it is of no ſmall Moment rightly to underſtand the Senſe of the Definition, with relation thereto. Whatever, therefore, is no where to be found but in God, is a Divine Peculiarity. As if, for inſtance, the Divine Perfection did include in it ſelf 1000, and a Thouſand did comprehend all Numbers and Perfections, but no created Perfection included more than 10, if 15 were aſcribed to a created Perfection, 'tis manifeſt, that what is peculiar to the Divine Perfection, would be attributed to the created, where 'tis not; for Fifteen are found in a Thouſand, but not in Ten. Not only, therefore, is 1000 a Divine Perfection, but all Numbers above 10; that is, not only is the whole Divinity, if we may ſo ſpeak, peculiar to God, but whatever Perfection is in it that is no where elſe to be found. Unleſs this be true, there was never any Idolatry committed by the Pagans in worſhipping their innumerable Gods and Demons; for they attribute the Divinity or Divine Perfection to one only Supreme God. Therefore to ſum up all in a Word; Not only the whole Divinity, or one intire divine Attribute, but every Portion or Degree, or every general Stricture, and whatever things are greater than what are found in any Creature, are to be accounted Divine Peculiarities. As if one ſhould attribute Omniſcience to any Creature, but derived, (the Divine, being from God himſelf, as alſo his Eſſence) yet ſeeing that which is created and derived agrees in the general Notion of Omniſcience, and no Omniſcience at all is to be found but in God, even this general Nature of Omniſcience belongs to him alone, and muſt of neceſſity be reckoned a divine Peculiarity. The ſame is alſo to be ſaid of a Portion or Degree of this Omniſcience, or Omnipercipience, namely of a Heavenly or Earthly Omnipercipience, provided it is greater than can belong to a Creature, and ſo of the reſt. And therefore in worſhipping any created Object, if according to the natural Signification of Things or Words, as we have explain'd in Partic. 7 and 8, we attribute thereto ſuch an Omnipercipience, 'tis a manifeſt Violation of the Peculiarities of the Godhead. 11. For Partic. 11. by the Violation of the Peculiarities of the Godhead, I underſtand any kind of Prophanation or Vilification of them, either by obſcuring or leſſening of them in God himſelf, or elſe by communicating of them to others. As to ſet up ſuch a Symbolical Preſence to be worſhipped towards, as pretends to repreſent God, who is altogether irrepreſentable, as being infinite in Majeſty and Greatneſs, this certainly were to leſſen, obſcure, or indeed to aboliſh the infinite glorious Majeſty of God, which is peculiar and proper to him, and ſo to make an Idol of him, and therefore were groſs Idolatry. 12. But to erect a Symbolical Preſence to a Creature, that Partic. 12. is Idolatry upon the other ſcore, it implying, by the 7th. Particle of this Explication, an Omnipreſence or Omnipercipience to be in that Creature, greater than can agree thereto.

4. For, a Symbolical Preſence is nothing elſe but ſome Figure or Imagery, inſtituted or erected for the invoking or ſupplicating, or any way religiouſly worſhipping that inviſible Power or Spirit for whom it is erected or made. So that in brief, all Idolatry is ſuch as either turns God into an Idol, or turns an Idol, that is, the Creature we give religious Worſhip to, in ſome reſpect, into a God, in giving it ſomething which is peculiar unto him. IV. What a Symbolical Preſence is.

V. That that religious Worſhip of Dæmons, which was truly Idolatry, was really Divine.

5. Whence for the utter taking away all Litigiouſneſs about Terms, we muſt conclude, That the Religious Worſhip, which miſapplied or given to any Creature, conſtitutes Idolatry, may rightly and truly be alſo called Divine. And it really is ſo, if it make the Act Idolatry: For that implies, that it violates ſome Peculiarity of the Godhead, and attributes it to the Creature, and in that reſpect, to make the Creature a God; yea, and you may add, even the Supreme God, aſcribing to it ſuch a Character, as is no where to be found but in the moſt high God. For a Perſon that has, for inſtance, ſix hundred Characters proper and peculiar, and no where elſe to be found, is as certainly deſigned, even by one of theſe as by them all; and whoever deſcribes that Perſon by one of theſe Characters, by the natural Signification of the Thing, denotes that ſame Perſon who has the other Five hundred ninety and nine; and if he apply that one ſingle Character to another Perſon, by the native Import of the Thing, he makes him the ſame Perſon who has the Six hundred Characters, ſeeing there is none has one, but who has all of 'em; nor are any of 'em found but in one certain Perſon according to the Hypotheſis. And ſuch divine Worſhip as this, was that which the Heathens gave to their Dæmons, though they took it to be only Religious, and ſuch as did not appertain peculiarly to God himſelf; as is particularly obſervable in the Platoniſts, whom yet neither St. Auſtin, nor any other ſerious Chriſtian will ſtick to conclude to have been Idolaters in their Dæmon-Worſhip. And therefore, if we will but uſe juſt Weights and Meaſures, whatever Chriſtians do the like things to Saints and Angels, pretending it is not divine Worſhip, but an inferiour religious Worſhip, they muſt be alſo judged to commit Idolatry.

VI. The way of convincing the Romaniſts of Idolatry in this Treatiſe.

6. And this was one Way, and that uſeful and ſolid enough, of convincing the Roman Church of their Idolatries. But laying aſide all theſe more exteriour and obvious Arguments, we will deal now more preciſely and Philoſophically, and argue only from the moſt intrinſecal and eſſential Topick in all Logick, and examine the Roman Idolatries by the inmoſt Notion and Definition of the Thing, ſhewing that even that which ſeems to be only by divine Declaration Idolatry, is alſo, if more rationally conſidered, Idolatry according to the propoſed Definition.

VII. That the forbidding to worſhip God by an Image, is the natural Senſe of the ſecond Commandment.

7. As the worſhipping of God by an Image, is plainly declared Idolatry by God himſelf in the ſecond Commandment, Thou ſhalt not make to thy ſelf any graven Image, &c. Thou ſhalt not bow down to it, nor worſhip it, &c. The bowing down to, and worſhipping a graven Image, though in pretence to worſhip God thereby, is plainly prohibited by this Commandment. For the Prohibition of worſhipping any other God, is ſufficiently evident in the firſt Commandment, ſo that there is no neceſſity of adding any thing further concerning that matter. Οὐκ ἔσονταί σοι Θεοὶ ἕτεροι πλὴν ἐμοῦ, Thou ſhalt have no other Gods but me. What can be more expreſs? Whereby he plainly pronounces that he alone will be worſhipped; and by ſo doing enjoins the ſame to the Iſraelites. Whence it naturally follows, that this next Precept is at leaſt chiefly about the Purity and Congruity of his own Worſhip, forbidding to worſhip him by any Image, in bowing to it, or worſhipping it, though in reference to himſelf. This is the moſt natural, and indeed the neceſſary Senſe of this Precept, if we conſider the extreme Incredibility of any other Senſes, that are offered, or can be offered.

VIII. All other Senſes plainly impoſſible and incredible.

8. For let us ſuppoſe firſt, that the Senſe is, Thou ſhalt not bow down to, nor worſhip the graven Image that thou makeſt and ſetteſt up; that is, Thou ſhalt not worſhip the Image it ſelf inſtead of God or for God: It would be a Prohibition of a thing even impoſſible to humane Nature to do: that a Jew, ſuppoſe, ſhould worſhip an Image that himſelf has made of ſome Log of Wood or Stone, inſtead of, or for the God that brought him out of the Land of Egypt, and the Houſe of Bondage, and indeed that created the whole World; as if he could take the wooden or ſtone Image for this God, and not worſhip it in reference only to him. How dotingly nugatorious would they hereby make the Divine Law-giver by ſuch a Prohibition, to interdict thoſe things which it is impoſſible for Men to do? And now let us ſuppoſe the other Senſe of the Precept to be, (and I can neither meet with nor deviſe any more worth mentioning) Thou ſhalt not make to thy ſelf any Idol, that is to ſay, no Image of any Heathen God, or of any falſe God whatſoever; that this cannot be the chiefly intended Senſe thereof is plain. Firſt, from the apparent Superfluity of this Precept, that being ſo ſtrictly and apertly interdicted before, viz. That they ſhould have no Pagan Gods, nor any Gods whatever beſides Jehovah. Which while they hold to, it is impoſſible they ſhould make to themſelves any Images or Idols of thoſe Gods to bow down to or worſhip. So that this Prohibition would be ſuperfluous, if that was the only Meaning of the Commandment.

of

And then in the ſecond place, this Senſe is incoherent with the Words following; For I the Lord thy God am a jealous God. Which implies Suſpicion of ſome foul Dealing betwixt any Member of his Spouſe, the Church, and himſelf; that they may communicate any thing of that which is peculiarly due to himſelf unto another. But if the Jews ſhould make an Idol, that is, the Image of ſome Pagan God, and worſhip it, the matter would be paſt Suſpicion, they would apertly and profeſſedly be found falſe to Jehovah, and to commit Adultery with another God.

IX. The golden Calf no intended Image of Apis, but the Symbolical Preſence of Jehovah.

9. To which you may add in the third place, That God himſelf has thus interpreted this Commandment, that he will not be worſhipped by an Image, though erected and worſhipped in reference to himſelf; as is moſt undeniably plain in the golden Calf which Aaron made, which was not intended for the Image of Apis the Egyptian God, but was the Symbolical Preſence of Jehovah. Indeed St. Stephen ſays, Acts 7. 39, 40. And in their Hearts they turned back again into Egypt, (it may be in the groſſeſt Senſe, if they could have brought Aaron to their Lure) ſaying unto Aaron, Make us gods to go before us. But it is moſt likely, that this is only a Reprehenſion of their Egyptianizing in Matters of Religion, deſiring to have ſome viſible Object and Figure to ſuſtain their Faith, and ſpend their Devotion on, according to the Mode of Egypt, who gave Divine Worſhip to Images. This Mode of Religion their Minds hanker'd after, as their Mouths elſewhere watered after the Fleſh-pots of Egypt, for which they are alſo taxed, Pſal. 106. 19. They made a Calf in Horeb, and worſhipped the molten Image. Thus they changed their Glory, that is, the God of Iſrael, or his Divine Preſence, into the Similitude of an Ox that eateth Graſs. As if Jehovah the Almighty, Infinite and Eternal God, that did ſuch great things in Egypt, wondrous Works in the Land of Ham, and fearful things by the Red Sea, could be repreſentable by any ſuch Figure. So that in this they quite forgat God their Saviour, both what an Excellent Being he is, and utterly irrepreſentable by Imagery, and forgat his Commandment (which is one ſpecial and material way of forgetting him) Thou ſhalt not make to thy ſelf any graven Image, thou ſhalt not bow down to it, nor worſhip it.

X. That the Hiſtory of the golden Calf plainly implies that Senſe thereof.

10. But there is no place ſo convincing, that the golden Calf which Aaron made, was made and worſhipped in reference to Jehovah; as what occurs in the very Hiſtory. God had promiſed to the People, he would ſend an Angel before them to keep them in the way, Exod. 23. 20. This the People knowing, and deſpairing of Moſes being found again, or impatient of his Stay ſo long in the Mount, (which St. Stephen interprets a rejecting of Moſes, or putting him from them, Acts 7. 39. for that is ſpoken of Moſes, not of God) they come to Aaron, (Exod. 32.) and ſay unto him, Up, make us gods which ſhall go before us; which Aaron immediately aſſents to, and receiving their golden Ear-rings, made a molten Calf of them; whereupon they ſaid, Theſe are thy gods, O Iſrael, which brought thee out of the Land of Egypt. And Aaron built an Altar before this Image which himſelf had made, and made Proclamation and ſaid, To morrow is a Feaſt to the Lord, that is, to Jehovah. And on the morrow, according to this Proclamation, they celebrated the Feaſt, and offered Burnt-offerings, &c. to this Image. Now let any unprejudiced Man judge to whom this Symbolical Preſence could be erected but to Jehovah. Did not the Iſraelites ask of Aaron what God had promiſed? The Angel in whom God would place his Name there? Did Aaron at all ſtick to fulfil their Deſire? Do not the People ſay of this Symbolical Preſence, Theſe are thy gods, O Iſrael, or which is all one, This is thy god, O Iſrael, (as Nehemiah has it, Chap. 9. v. 18.) that brought thee out of the Land of Egypt, which is utterly impoſſible for them to underſtand of the golden Calf which was but newly made, and therefore is neceſſarily underſtood of that God that brought them out of Egypt, which is Jehovah, no Egyptian Deity, but he that brought all thoſe Plagues on Egypt, and delivered his People with an high Hand. And laſtly, is not an Altar built before the ſame Symbolical Preſence, and a Feaſt proclaimed there to be celebrated to the Lord? What more perſpicuous Coherence can be deſired for the Certainty of the Senſe of any Paſſage of Scripture?

XI. The groſs Repugnancies imply'd in ſuppoſing the Calf to be the Symbolical Preſence of the God Apis.

11. All things run ſmooth on this Hypotheſis. But ſuppoſing this Calf the Symbolical Preſence of Apis an Egyptian Deity, who had the Form of an Ox, (which might give ſome of the Ancients occaſion, as I ſuppoſe, to think it was ſo, they not conſidering that Cherub alſo ſignifies an Ox or Calf, and that one of the Angelical Forms in the Chariot of God is both an Ox, and is called a Cherub, and that the Cherubins Cherubins in the Ark were of this Figure, which is a Symbol of the Angels, who are the Chariot of God, Pſal. 68. 17. The Chariots of God are twenty thouſands, even thouſands of Angels, and the Lord among them as in Sinai in the holy place. In which holy Mount this Chariot or Chariots (becauſe it conſiſted of four parts) was ſeen by Aaron, like that by Ezekiel, where one part had the Form of an Ox or Calf, and all four the Feet of Oxen. So little eſtranged is the Form of an Ox or Calf from the uſe of repreſenting the Preſence of the God of Iſrael) but ſuppoſe, I ſay, it is not the Symbolical Preſence of Jehovah, but of the Egyptian Apis, according to the Conceit of ſome, out of the reſpect they bear to the Fathers, what an harſh and intolerable Reproach is it in the mean time to God's High Prieſt, to affirm that he did thus profanely and impiouſly make an Egyptian Idol for the People of God to worſhip, and ſo aſſiſted them in the groſly breaking of both the firſt and ſecond Commandment at once, and even then when the People did but deſire the Promiſe to be made good to them, that the viſible Preſence of God, or his Angel in whom his Name was, might go along with them, and that Aaron notwithſtanding inſtead of this, ſhould make the Symbolical Preſence of a Foreign God! Beſides that the People themſelves had not this Judgment of it, they declaring it to be the Symbolical Preſence of him that brought them out of the Land of Egypt. Nor could they poſſibly believe the Egyptian Apis to have done ſo, to have inflicted all thoſe Plagues on his own Land in the behalf of a Foreign People. Beſides, that they were all along declared by Moſes to be done in the Name of the God of Iſrael; to whom alſo Aaron builds an Altar before this Calf, and proclaims a Faſt to Jehovah, which, if by this Calf were meant the Egyptian Apis, would be as repugnant, as to ſay, Apis and Jehovah are all one.

XII. The Certainty hence, that the ſecond Commandment forbids the worſhipping God by an Image.

12. Wherefore we can be of nothing more ſure than that this golden Calf or Cherub was erected by Aaron to Jehovah, and ſo underſtood by the People. The worſhipping whereof, notwithſtanding, is agreed on all ſides to have been Idolatry. From whence it plainly follows, That the ſecond Commandment forbids the worſhipping God by an Image, which was the thing to be proved. Nor do I know by what Evaſions thoſe of the contrary Opinion can eſcape the clearneſs of this Proof and Precept. God ſo plainly interpreting the Meaning of his own Law, by his ſevere vengeance on the Worſhippers of the golden Calf, though erected to himſelf.

XIII. Two Evaſions to ſhun this Senſe; the firſt from the Septuagints Tranſlation of פסל propoſed and anſwered.

13. The beſt and moſt ordinary Evaſions are theſe two. The firſt that the Septuagint tranſlating פסל, not Γλυπτὸν, Sculptum, but Idolum, do plainly enough inſinuate, that an Image to the true God is not there forbid for Worſhip, but Idols only, or Images of the Heathen Gods, or any falſe Gods. But thoſe that argue thus, do not conſider that Εἴδωλον in Greek is of as indifferent and large a Signification as Imago in Latin, or Image in Engliſh. Plotinus, when he was deſired to ſit to have his Picture drawn, ſaid, He would not have them give themſelves the trouble of making εἴδωλον εἰδώλου, an Image of an Image, or Shadow of a Shadow. So that we may with better Reaſon imagine the Septuagint to have choſen this Word as an univerſal Bar againſt not only Statue-worſhip, but even Picture-worſhip alſo: Or to have made choice of εἴδωλον, rather than Γλυπτὸν, Sculptile, becauſe it ſignifieth more determinately ſuch Sculptilia as are Images, or have Imagery on them, that they ſhould not be bowed to in a religious Way; not forbidding to direct their Worſhip towards every thing that is carved, when it does not at all pretend to make God repreſentable, as Imagery does. So that there being theſe Reaſons ſo obvious, why the Septuagint might tranſlate פסל Εἴδωλον rather than Γλυπτὸν, Sculptile, the inferring they did it in reference to the Idols of the Heathen, is of no force.

And beſides, ſuppoſe that Peſel ſignifies an Idol, in the Senſe of the adverſe Party; what do they get by it, when as the Text then will run thus; Thou ſhalt not make to thy ſelf any Idol or Image of any Heathen God, nor the likeneſs of any thing that is in Heaven above, or in the Earth beneath, or in the Waters under the Earth, thou ſhalt not bow down to them, nor worſhip them. It is manifeſt, that yet for all this, all manner of Image-worſhip, or Picture-worſhip is forbidden; not only of the Heathen Gods, but all whatſoever, and therefore they cannot be worſhipped, no not in reference to the true God himſelf. Or, if you would underſtand the following Words, viz. Nor the likeneſs of any thing in Heaven above, &c. ſtill of the Heathen Gods Images, (which is perfectly illogical, and impoſſible for any one that attends to Reaſon to admit, the Object of the Precept being plainly here diſtributed into two Parts. The firſt Part the Idols or Images of the Heathen Gods; the other whatever whatever other Similitudes or Images beſides:) Yet if theſe Words could be drawn to the ſame Senſe with the other, ſo that the Images of the Heathen Gods, or any falſe Gods might be underſtood by them, and that the whole Prohibition were concerning ſuch like Images or Idols, that would alſo notwithſtanding claſh with the next Words following, For I am a jealous God. For in this Caſe, as I noted above, the matter would be beyond Jealouſie, it would be a confeſſed Act of ſpiritual Adultery, which is Idolatry. But to argue from the mention of God's Jealouſie, that the Image muſt be meant of ſome ſtrange God, (for what Husband would be jealous of his Wife, for honouring or kiſſing his own Picture?) that is no more than a witty Sophiſm built upon a falſe Hypotheſis; as if the Man's Picture could as eaſily rob the Man of what is due to him from his Wife, as an Image rob God of what is due to him. For the Image being viſible, and God inviſible, and not to be repreſented by an Image, there is manifeſt Danger of joyning one's Devotion, which is all that God can have of us, to the gariſh Image, more than to God, and the true Notion of him in our Minds; and that by worſhipping him in ſuch a vile and groſs manner, we may be brought afterwards to worſhip other Gods, as mean as we have made him by this ſort of Worſhip.

14. The next Evaſion, which ſeems moſt conſiderable, is, in that they pretend that God himſelf has interpreted his own Law to another Senſe than we would have, in commanding golden Cherubins to be ſet on the Mercy-ſeat for his own Worſhip. This Excuſe is very trite amongſt the Romaniſts, and the ſecond Council of Nice alledges the ſame: but it is plain that it falls exceeding ſhort of the preſent Caſe. For the Scope of the ſecond Commandment is not the forbidding all Image-work in the places of Divine Worſhip, but the bowing to Images and worſhipping them, which the Caſe of the Cherubins does not reach. For the People was never commanded to bow down to, or worſhip the golden Cherubins; nor do the Jews profeſs themſelves to have done ſo, but to have bowed down to, and worſhipped God alone. And beſides that they were not intended for an Object of the Peoples Worſhip or Adoration, is plain, in that they were carefully hid from their ſight. And if they could penetrate with their Imagination through the Vail, and make themſelves preſent hard by the Cherubins, their Poſture plainly ſhows they were never intended to be worſhipped, their Faces not being turned towards the People to receive their Salutations, but towards one another. Indeed, if they were an Object, that it was their declared Duty to worſhip, when they ſaw them, the ſame religious Affection may be conceived to be directed towards them through the Vail. But formal Adoration to a viſible Object while it is hid and made inviſible, is, methinks, as uncouth and unnatural, as the bowing to ſome Perſon on the other ſide a Brick-wall, in which there is not the leaſt Loop-hole to ſee thorough. Wherefore there being no Precept to the People of the Jews to bow down to the golden Cherubins, and to worſhip them, nor it being any profeſſed Practice of them, and the Poſture of the Cherubins being ſuch as plainly intimates they were not made to be worſhipped by them; and they being carefully hid from the Eyes of the People that they might not ſee them, (though they were Symbols of the ſpecial Preſence of God, and Notes or Inſtruments for the directing their Adoration thitherward to God in a ſpecial manner there preſent) it is evident they were no Object of the Peoples Worſhip, and that they were neither to bow down to them, nor worſhip them, though they bowed toward them, as a determinative Circumſtance of their Worſhip of God. This is ſo plain, that I believe no Man that conſiders it can have the Confidence to deny it, viz. That the Cherubins were not the Object of the Peoples Worſhip, much leſs intended ſo by God.

XIV. The ſecond Evaſion touching the Cherubins on the Mercy-ſeat, propoſed and anſwered.

15. But the great Difficulty, as it ſeems to ſome, is, how the High Prieſt, when he went into the Holy of Holies, (which he did once by the year) and bowed, as they conceived, before theſe Cherubins, bare and open to his ſight, could ſo behave himſelf as not to be guilty of bowing to graven Images and worſhipping them. Which if he did, I muſt confeſs that the Romaniſts have no contemptible Plea for their Interpretation of the ſecond Commandment, as if it were not againſt worſhipping the true God by an Image. But to this Difficulty I anſwer theſe two Ways.

XV. A difficulty, touching the High Prieſt's bowing in the Holy of Holies, propoſed.

16. Firſt, That if the High Prieſt, when he was in the Holy of Holies, could not bow to worſhip God by that Geſture, but he muſt alſo bow towards the Cherubins objectively, and not merely circumſtantially, I do flatly deny that he did bow there.

XVI. The firſt way of anſwering it, by denying the Fact, if it could not be done without bowing towards the Cherubins as an Object.

And

And they can never prove that he did; there being no mention thereof in the Scripture, where his Behaviour in that place is deſcribed, Levit. 16. But there being a plain Prohibition in the ſecond Commandment to bow to graven Images, and to worſhip them, it is from hence demonſtrable, that the High Prieſt in this Caſe would not. For if to obey be better than Sacrifice, and to hearken, than the Fat of Rams, 1 Sam. 15. 22. certainly the High Prieſt could not but ſee that Obedience to ſo plain and ſtrict a Commandment, as Thou ſhalt not bow down to any graven Images, nor worſhip them, &c. was better than the breaking that Command under pretence of worſhipping God by bowing unto them, namely to the Cherubins. Wherefore we may be certain, that in this caſe he would not bow towards them. But if he could bow towards them without incurring this Danger, the Difficulty is taken away, and the true Senſe of the Second Commandment remains firm and inviolable, that God himſelf is not to be worſhipped by an Image, by bowing to it, and worſhipping it.

XVII. The ſecond Way by aſſerting that he might bow in ſuch Circumſtances, as that the Cherubins were no Object of his Worſhip.

17. But now beſides this, in the ſecond place I anſwer, If any one think it ſo probable that the High Prieſt did bow ſome time towards the Mercy-ſeat, when he was in the Holy of Holies, let us pitch upon that time which is moſt likely, namely, when he made his nearer Approach thereto, to beſprinkle it with Blood: it is manifeſt, there is no Colour of ſaying, That in theſe Circumſtances he bowed to, or worſhipped the Cherubins.

1. Becauſe the firſt thing that he was to do, when he was to enter within the Vail, was to take a Cenſer full of burning Coals of Fire, and his Hands full of ſweet Incenſe beaten ſmall, and to bring them within the Vail, and to put the Incenſe on the Fire before the Lord, that the Cloud of the Incenſe may cover the Mercy-ſeat that is upon the Teſtimony, that he die not, Levit. 16. 12, 13. Which is a Sign that he was not to dare ſo much as to look towards the Mercy-ſeat, much leſs to worſhip towards it, till all on the Mercy-ſeat, the golden Cherubins and all were hid in a Cloud of Incenſe, which is like the hiding of them from the ſight of the People by the Vail. And that therefore their golden Luſtre was to be no Object of Worſhip, as being thus enveloped with Smoke, not to be ſeen at any diſtance.

2. But now, when the High Prieſt approaches up nearer to the Mercy-ſeat, which we have ſuppoſed the more likely Time of worſhipping, let us ſee what poſſibility there is of his appearing guilty of worſhipping the Cherubins, though he ſhould then bow towards the Throne of God, more than in that former Circumſtance. For the two Cherubins were placed at the two ends of the Mercy-ſeat, and that with their Faces one towards another, not to any that came up to the Mercy-ſeat, which is no fit Poſture to be worſhipped in, if they could be ſeen by any Glimmerings in this thick Cloud of Smoke. And ſurely if they could, they would be only a Direction to the High Prieſt, as well to overlook them, as to give them a go-by, in following that Intimation God has given him in Exodus, Chap. 25. And there will I meet with thee, and I will commune with thee מעל הכפרת from above the Mercy-ſeat, from between the two Cherubins, which are upon the Ark of the Teſtimony. And in the Pſalms he is deſcribed ſitting betwixt the two Cherubins, Pſalm 80. 1. and 99. 1. This is a plain Caſe then, that the High Prieſt could not but conceive that ſpecial Preſence of God to be ſeated betwixt the two Cherubins, and therefore directing his Devotion and Geſture according to that Inſtruction, his Bowing muſt be towards that Preſence, betwixt the two Cherubins, from the Mercy-ſeat upwards; as if the inviſible Majeſty was ſeated there as upon a Throne or Chair of State. The bowing to whom can no more concern the Cherubins, than the bowing to a Prince on a wide Throne or Chair can concern the Imagery on the Arms of the Chair adorned, ſuppoſe, with two Eagles Heads, or the like. Can any one conceit any Worſhip done to theſe two Eagles Heads, when the Parties bowing is directed to the Face and Perſon of the Prince above, and betwixt the Eagles Heads; though the Eagles Heads ſtand in a fairer Poſture to be bowed to, than the Faces of the Cherubins. It is therefore every way plain and manifeſt, that as the People of the Jews did not, ſo neither did their High Prieſt bow to, or in any ſenſe worſhip the Cherubins in their bowing thitherward, but only him that ſat betwixt the Cherubins, which was the thing to be demonſtrated. And that therefore there is no Evaſion left to elude the Force of the ſecond Commandment, that ſo ſtrictly prohibits the Worſhip of the true God by any graven Image; which therefore according to the Senſe of that Commandment, muſt be Idolatry.

18. It remains now that we reduce this kind of Idolatry, (as we in order ſhall alſo do all the reſt) to our general Definition of Idolatry, that it may appear to be ſo even according to the plain Nature and Notion of the thing, namely, in that by worſhipping God by an Image, the Peculiarities of the Godhead, are violated. Which ſeems evident here upon a double ſcore; both from making the infinite irrepreſentable Divine Majeſty repreſentable by an Animal Figure, which exceedingly debaſes and vilifies the peculiar Excellency of the Godhead, which is ſo infinitely beyond any viſible Form whatſoever, and therefore no Animal Figure can pretend to be the Repreſentative thereof; as alſo from the giving Divine Worſhip to theſe Animal Figures, or Symbolical Preſences, which is peculiar to God.

XVIII. The Idolatry forbidden in the ſecond Commandment, reduced to the propoſed Definition of Idolatry.

19. Which Divine Worſhip does plainly argue them repreſentative Figures, not merely Hieroglyphical, whether they that worſhip them will call them ſo or no. As is apparent from the firſt of the Romans, where the Apoſtle plainly declares of thoſe wiſe Men of the Heathen who knew God, yet were ſo fooliſhly ſubtil and phantaſtical as to worſhip him in the Images of Men, Birds, four-footed Beaſts and creeping Things, which they could not but know, were but at the beſt Hieroglyphicks of him, no perſonal Repreſentatives of his Godhead; yet foraſmuch as they worſhipped thoſe Figures, they are ſaid to have changed the Glory of the incorruptible God into the Images of theſe corruptible Creatures. For in worſhipping theſe Images in reference to God, they naturally acknowledge or ſuppoſe a Fitneſs in them to repreſent the Glory of God, or his Divine Preſence; which therefore muſt needs be an unſpeakable Vilification of his infinite glorious Majeſty. And what Pretence can there be for any Figure, or Symbolical Preſence to have Divine Worſhip done to it, or to be an Object thereof in any ſenſe, if it were conceived to have no fitneſs to repreſent the Divinity. And therefore the Pſalmiſt, according to this natural Notion, or from the natural Signification of the Thing or Action, Explic. Part 7. infers from the Iſraelites worſhipping the golden Calf, that they turned the Glory of God into that Creature, Pſalm 106. 19. They made a Calf in Horeb, and worſhipped the molten Image. Thus they changed their glory (that is, their God, as Vatablus and others expound it) into the Similitude of an Ox that eateth Graſs. Which anſwers very fitly to that of St. Paul, They changed the glory of the incorruptible God into an Image made like to a corruptible Man, &c. Rom. 1. 23.

XIX. No Diſtinction betwixt Hieroglyphical and Repreſentative Images when Divine Worſhip is done to them.

20. And that the worſhipping of theſe repreſentative Images in reference to God, is the giving of Divine Worſhip to them, beſides the 7th Particle of the Explication, is alſo manifeſt out of Scripture, as Acts 7. And they made a Calf in thoſe days, and ſacrificed to the Idol. To ſay it was but Sacrificium Relativum or Tranſitivum, that paſſed to God, not Terminativum, that terminated in the Calf it ſelf, is but School Cobweb-ſtuff. Sacrifice is a peculiar Worſhip belonging to God, and by no Diſtinction or Evaſion can any thing elſe partake in it, ſo as to have it offered to it. This is evident in this kind of Divine Worſhip, and there is the ſame Reaſon of them all. They worſhipped the Calf in Horeb, but in reference to Jehovah, as plainly appears out of the Hiſtory, and therefore with Latria Relativa, or Tranſitiva, not Terminativa. But does this Diſtinction of ſo ſubtil Texture, cover their Shame? No certainly. If this Diſtinction were good, and would juſtifie their Act, why does either the Pſalmiſt, or St. Stephen find fault? It is apparent therefore that Divine Worſhip is due to God alone, and that it is in no ſenſe due to any thing elſe, but that even the mere natural or external Act muſt be to him only. And therefore he will not be worſhipped by an Image, that the Image may not in any ſenſe partake of his Worſhip; which yet it will in the natural Externality thereof, if we do it towards the viſible Image. For outwardly we behave our ſelves no otherwiſe towards the Image than towards God himſelf, nor make any other external Application to the one than to the other. As ſuppoſe there was an Image of God the Father in the Shape of an Old Man, and one would make his Adoration to God towards this Image, with that Meen, with that devout Look, with that ſolemn and ſerious Motion of the Spirits in the Eyes, that is befitting the profound Reverence we owe to God; this natural, viſible, and external Act of Worſhip paſſes plainly upon this Image, as well and in ſuch ſort as on God himſelf, and is ſuch as no greater nor more lively Expreſſion of his higheſt Devotion can be made by any Suppliant. To whom then but to God alone can this belong? And therefore to make theſe Expreſſions to a ſenſeleſs Stock and Stone, is the foulеſt Violation of the Divine Peculiarities that can be, by communicating them to ſo unworthy a Subject, as well as by leſſening, obſcuring, or rather aboliſhing the infinite glorious Majeſty

XX. That in worſhipping theſe repreſentative Images in reference to God, Divine Worſhip is given unto them, as ſuppoſe to the Image of God the Father.

of the Godhead, by ſuppoſing him, or implying him repreſentable by a wretched Statue of Wood, Metal or Stone, as I noted before.

XXI. That there is the ſame Reaſon concerning the Image of Chriſt.

21. And now for the Statue or Image of Chriſt, if it be worſhipped towards with ſuch a religious Look, and devout Caſt of the Eyes, as before, ſignificative of the higheſt Veneration that is due to God, or can by us be given to him, it is apparent that this exteriour ritual Worſhip is done to this Image alſo; nor can be any more doubted, than, if kiſſing of this Image were the ritual Performance and it were kiſſed, that this Image was the Object of the kiſſing with all the exteriour Devotionalneſs uſed therein: And that therefore this Image thus adored, though but relatively, partakes of Divine Worſhip. By which Communication the Peculiarities of the Godhead are plainly violated, as well as by burning Incenſe, or otherwiſe ſacrificing to the Image; as St. Stephen complains of the Iſraelites ſacrificing to the golden Calf, though in relation to Jehovah, which cannot excuſe the Idolatry.

XXII. That relative Idolatry is as down-right Idolatry, as Relative Adultery and Murder down-right Murder and Adultery.

22. For let any one judge in common Senſe and Reaſon, whether a foul unfit Action to an undue Object can be excuſed by an intended Relation to a fit one. Nothing can be more enormouſly incongruous, than the giving Divine Worſhip, which is Latria, to a carved Stock or Stone, ordinarily called Idolum, or Imago. And the giving this Latria to this Idolum, is that which is moſt properly Ididolatria. But if in giving Latria to this Idolum, which is ſo hugely unfit an Object, in relation to a fit one, all is well, and the Fact lawful, the ſhort and the long then is, That Relative Idolatry is lawful, which is as good Senſe as to ſay, That Relative Murder, or Relative Adultery is lawful. As if to kill the next innocent Man, to wreak ones Revenge on the nocent that deſerved to be killed, would excuſe that Act from down-right Murder; or to lie with another Woman with an intended kind Remembrance of his own in her abſence, were not down-right Adultery. Why then is not this Relative Idolatry down-right Idolatry, as well as Relative Murder and Adultery, down-right Adultery and Murder? And why is relative Murder and Adultery ſtill down-right Murder and Adultery, but becauſe that intended Reference or Relation takes not away the Specifick Turpitude of the Fact? How then can the intended Relation in Relative Idolatry take away the Specifick Turpitude of that Fact, ſo that it remain not down-right Idolatry ſtill?

XXIII. That Relative Idolatry is real and proper Idolatry, even according to the nice Notion of the Schools.

23. Which it does even in the nice Notion of the very Schools, the Latria in this Caſe being Real, not Tranſitive or Relative, quatenus Latria, but terminated on the very Idol it ſelf. For quatenus Latria, it can paſs no further in Truth and Reality, but ends there; and in relation to God the Act ceaſes to be Latria, the honouring or worſhipping of him, but changes its Species, and becomes an Act of Contempt, Reproach and Diſobedience againſt him, and a foul diſhonouring of him. Nor can the Intention of the Religioniſt alter the Specification of the Act, but that it will be a diſhonouring of God, though the Act cannot be avoided but it will have God for its Object, but he will be the Object of this Act, under this Specification, namely, of Diſhonour: As in that Phyſician that intended by ſuch a Medicine to cure ſuch a Patient, but does really poiſon him thereby, the Patient, notwithſtanding the Phyſician's Intention, is no Object of a Real Cure, but of the quite contrary of his poiſoning him. Wherefore no Real Latria paſſing to God in this Relative Idolatry, but only Diſhonour and Reproach, the Latria is in truth (let the Intention be what it will) terminated in the Image or Idol, and therefore is Idolatry, in the moſt proper and Scholaſtick Senſe. For one and the ſame Act, as it may have two contrary Specifications, in reſpect of two ſeveral Objects, ſo it may have two ſeveral Terminations in reſpect of the ſame. As ſuppoſe one Perſon loves a Roſe, another has a great Antipathy againſt it, a third brings a Basket of Roſes into the Room; this one Act is both a Gratification and a Diſpleaſure; a Gratification to him that loves Roſes, a Diſpleaſure to him that has an Antipathy againſt them; the Act of Gratification terminates in one of theſe Objects, the Perſon that loves Roſes; the Act of Diſpleaſure terminates in the other. Juſt ſo the Act of Latria or Divine Honour terminates on the Image or Idol, the Act of Diſhonour and Reproach on God, who is provoked and diſobeyed. What can be more plain? Wherefore the Divine Honour terminating on the Image of Chriſt, and not paſſing to him in Reality and Truth, but only in our fond Intention, it is manifeſt that the Peculiarities of God are here violated, and that it is proper Idolatry.

24. But

24. But there is a more curious Queſtion, Whether the worſhipping of the Image of Chriſt with Divine Worſhip, does involve alſo the other Violation of the Peculiarities of the Godhead in making it thus repreſentable by an Image. For Chriſt being Man as well as God, ſeems to make the Caſe very different from that of the Image of God the Father. But I anſwer, the Caſe is ſtill the ſame, Chriſt being the Eternal, Infinite, Glorious Majeſty of God, as well as he is Man, and uncapable of Divine Worſhip but ſo far forth as he is that Infinite Majeſty. Wherefore he that ſets up an Image, and calls it the Image of Chriſt, and does Divine Worſhip towards it, does as palpably make the Eternal Infinite Majeſty of the Godhead repreſentable by a carved Stock or Stone, as he that does Divine Worſhip towards ſuch a carved Image of God the Father. For the Father and the Son are equal, and therefore the Son is equally irrepreſentable, as to that of him which is capable of Divine Worſhip. Which yet this Image pretends to repreſent, in pretending to be the Image of Chriſt, and therefore violates that Peculiarity of the infinite glorious Majeſty of God, that makes it irrepreſentable by any bodily Figure. He that worſhips Chriſt, worſhips the very Godhead, and therefore muſt not blaſpheme his Majeſty, by making him repreſentable by any corporeal Image. The Godhead indeed is hypoſtatically intempled in the human Nature of Chriſt, but it is only the eternal and infinite Divinity there that we adore. So little Scruple need either Jew or Turk have to turn Chriſtians, upon any Idolatry we are guilty of in worſhipping Chriſt.

XXIV. Whether the doing Divine Worſhip towards the Image of Chriſt, violates the irrepreſentableneſs of the Godhead or no, as alſo towards the Holy Ghoſt's.

And what I have ſaid of the Images or Statues of the Father and the Son, the ſame is to be ſaid of the Image of the Holy Ghoſt. A Dove may be the Hieroglyphick of him, as that Deſcription of the Ancient of Days in Daniel, is an Hieroglyphick of God the Father. But to do Divine Worſhip toward ſuch an Image of a Dove, it is abſolutely the ſame Idolatry that was in ſo doing to the Image of God the Father, and of Chriſt.

25. No Symbolical Preſence therefore or conſiſtent viſible animal Figure, ſaving the holy Humanity of the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, which is Hypoſtatically united with the Eternal Divinity, can have Divine Worſhip done towards it, but it is Idolatry ipſo facto. It is, I ſay, the peculiar Privilege of the holy Humanity of Chriſt, to be capable of having Divine Worſhip done towards it, becauſe of its Union with the Divinity, as it is the Privilege of the Body of a wiſe and vertuous Perſon, for the Wiſdom and Vertu's ſake that reſides in his Soul, to have that great Reverence done towards it, by reaſon of the Soul with which it is Hypoſtatically united. But the Soul once ſeparate by Death, the Body, according to the common Senſe and Practice of all Men, ceaſes to have that Reverence done towards it that it had before, which was given to it upon account of the Soul only. So that there is naturally a peculiar middle kind of Honour, greater than any Creature beſides has a Capacity of, though leſs than Divine, that accrews to Chriſt's Humanity, in Vertue of his being Hypoſtatically united with the Godhead, which the Image of Chriſt is not. And therefore beſides that groſs Idolatry above ſpecified, in doing Divine Worſhip towards his Image, there is alſo a Violation of the Privilege of this holy Humanity of Chriſt, towards which living Symbolical Preſence of the Godhead only, it had been proper to do Divine Worſhip when he was viſible here upon Earth; upon a clear Declaration of this Union. Which was more apertly and more ſeaſonably manifeſted afterwards by St. John. But conſidering the unexpreſſable profound Humility of our Saviour, who upon one's ſaying to him, Good Maſter, ſtraightway rebuked him, declaring there was none good but one, which is God, Mark 10. 17. it ſeems hugely probable, that if any would have done expreſs Divine Worſhip towards his viſible Humanity, as the Lycaonians would have ſacrificed to Paul and Barnabas, that he would have declined it. But this only by the Bye.

XXV. That no Symbolical Preſence, but only the holy Humanity of Chriſt, is capable of Divine Worſhip done towards it.

26. Hitherto of Images relating to God, to which the ſecond Nicene Council, (that excellently learned and judicious Patriarch of Conſtantinople, Photius, being Interpreter) aſſigned Latria relativa, which Azorius the Jeſuit alſo acknowledges to be the conſtant Opinion of the Roman Theologers. And indeed it ſeems neceſſary it ſhould be ſo, to make the beſt Senſe of that kind of Religion: for they burn Incenſe to theſe Images, which is a kind of Sacrifice. And they putting up their Prayers before them, and lifting up their Eyes and Hands towards them, with Compellations common to the Image and Prototype, this is alſo the Sacrifice of Prayer offered to them, as much, if not more direct and expreſs, than the Sacrifices offered on the Altar before the Golden Calf were to it; which yet becauſe it was done on the Altar before that Image, St. Stephen, full of the Holy Ghoſt, declares, That they ſacrificed unto the Idol.

XXVI. The neceſſity of the Romaniſts acknowledging of Latria relativa done to Images relating to God.

Wherefore it being ſo evident, That in theſe Caſes they are to acknowledge that they give Latria to theſe Images, it ſeemed the wittieſt and ſafeſt Invention to declare in general, that the Images relating to God are to have Latria done to them, but not abſoluta but relativa, which, they conceive, makes it an inferiour kind of Latria, ſince this Relative Latria (becauſe of its Relativeneſs) is incompetible to God. But how well this will do their Buſineſs, I have already noted.

But that this is the Senſe of their Church, even of the Council of Trent it ſelf, is noted and confeſſed by Azorius, and natural, if not neceſſary for every one to acknowledge, that is ſerious in the Worſhip of theſe Images. For if it were not Latria relativa, but ſuch a Worſhip as the Images were capable of, and might be the ultimate Object of themſelves, and it terminate there, how ſmall and mean, and how low a kind of Worſhip would this be! So that it would prove to be a mere fooling or trifling with Images to no purpoſe, the Worſhip of the Image, though relating to God, not at all advancing our Adoration of him, but rather neceſſarily caſting us (by reſtraining the Worſhip to what the Image it ſelf is the ultimate Object of) into the fainteſt and meaneſt Mode of worſhipping that can be expreſſed, if it be but what it ſhould be, commenſurate to ſo mean an Object. Wherefore it is altogether incredible, that this ſhould be the Meaning of worſhipping of Images relating to God, or that any of the People that are taught to Worſhip them, ſhould not worſhip them with that height of Affection and Veneration they uſe to God, foraſmuch as the Image relates to God, and that they are taught according to the very Council of Trent, that by the Image of Chriſt which they worſhip, they worſhip Chriſt himſelf. So plain is it, that the Act of Worſhip before an Image relating to God, is an intended Adoration of God himſelf, according to the Council of Trent.

See Antidot. ch. 17. Sect. 1.

But for the occaſional Shuffles of any private Doctors of that Church, that would have the Worſhip of Incurvation, and the Signs of Devotion accompanying it, terminated on the Image it ſelf, to make ſure it may be in no ſenſe Latria, at what a Loſs will they be to anſwer touching the burning of Incenſe, and praying to God before theſe Images that relate to him. Beſides that the ſecond Commandment does plainly meet with ſuch Shufflers, which univerſally forbids any bowing to, or worſhipping Images relating to God, whereby they are made the Object of Worſhip in any manner, and will not be put off by any Evaſion. For I am a jealous God, &c.

Nor was it unfit to give ſo forcible a Stop, though leſs methodical, to a Subterfuge ſo unnatural and irrational: I will add alſo, ſo repugnant to the Council of Trent, (which is the Touchſtone of their Faith) who in theſe expreſs Words declare, Per Imaginem Chriſti, Chriſtum adoramus. And that Adoration which is done to Chriſt, is divine Adoration, and conſequently Latria.

XXVII. The Reduction of the Worſhip of Saints and Angels, to the propoſed Definition of Idolatry, and particularly their Invocation, and making of Vows to them.

27. We proceed now to the Conſideration of the Images, or Symbolical Preſences of Saints and Angels, and to all the Modes of their religious Worſhip; of which, Invocation is the moſt principal, and, as it were, the Scope and Foundation of all the reſt. Which Worſhip of theirs I ſhall alſo diſcover to be Idolatrous, by manifeſt Reduction to my propoſed Definition of Idolatry. Which I will do with all Brevity, there being no Difficulty at all in the Buſineſs. And I will begin with Invocation, which, as I have proved in my Antidote, can belong to no inviſible Power or Spirit, ſaving to God alone. Foraſmuch as no Man can have any ſolid Faith or Aſſurance that they can hear our Invocation, or that they have any Omnipreſence, or Omnipercipience, no not ſo much as Terreſtrial. Whence it is plain, that in invoking them one of the Divine Peculiarities is violated or prophaned by being communicated to a Creature, when of right it is only to be attributed to God; the Saints having no ſuch Omnipercipiency or Omnipreſency in them, as Doctor Thorndike himſelf, tho' a Man otherwiſe too too much addicted to Romiſh Superſtitions, cannot but confeſs, accordingly as I have noted at the end of my Reply.

But to invoke them, or pray to them for ſuch things as it is in God's Power only to give, which all Papiſts do, as Dr. Thorndike plainly aſſerts; nor can it be put off upon pretence of a Figurative Speech (as appears from Partic. 8. of the Explication of the Definition) this is double Idolatry, as violating two Divine Peculiarities at once, both the Omnipreſence or Omnipercipience of God, and alſo his Omnipotence, they giving that Power to a Creature which is in God alone. But making Vows to any Saint or Angel in ſuch Dangers as a Creature may have Power to rid us from, is but the ſame kind of Idolatry that ſimple Invocation, namely, if they be both mental, or both vocal.

28. And

28. And now for the erecting of Temples, Altars, Images, or Symbolical Preſences to Saints or Angels, all which is manifeſtly done in reference to their Invocation, it is thence plain, that all this is done to an Idolatrous End; and therefore upon this very Conſideration has the Smut of Idolatry upon it. But beſides, more diſtinctly; God having appropriated theſe Modes of being worſhipped to himſelf, and his Judgment being ſo infallible, what befits him, and is moſt proper for him, when he will be worſhipped in a more external and ritual Way, it is evident Preſumption and Prophanation of the Peculiarities of his Godhead, as to external Worſhip, to communicate them to the Creature, as I have proved in my Antidote. And laſtly, the very Nature of the thing demonſtrates the Idolatry, they being ſtanding Significations of the natural Peculiarities of God communicated to a Creature. For a Temple and Symbolical Preſence is fitly and ſecurely erected to God, becauſe we are ſure of God's Reſidence and Preſence there, as ναὸς intimates the Inhabitation of the Divinity in it. Let there be as many Symbolical Preſences and Temples as you will, and at what diſtance you will, God is certainly at home in them all, as being Omnipreſent. But for a finite inviſible Power or Spirit, though there be but one Temple or Symbolical Preſence erected thereto, there is no Aſſurance of that Spirit's Reſidence there; or if the Effect of any Spirit be there, that it is not ſome other Spirit than he to whom the Temple or Symbolical Preſence was erected, that it is not one Angel or Saint for another, nay, a Devil inſtead of a Saint or Angel. But thoſe Temples and Symbolical Preſences being erected in ſeveral diſtant places, it plainly implies, by the natural Signification of the thing, That they are in ſeveral diſtant Places at once, which is the Peculiarity of the Godhead only. Μόνῳ γὰρ τῷ Θεῷ ἐν δυσὶ τόποις, ἐν αὐτῇ τῇ ῥοπῇ ἐνεῖσκεῦαι. And again, Οὔτε γὰρ ἀγγέλῳ δυνάται ἐν διαφόροις τόποις ἐν αὐτῇ τῇ ῥοπῇ ὀπτάνεσθαι, εἰ μὴ μόνῳ ἀπείρεαπτῳ Θεῷ, as we have out of Athanaſius and Anaſtatius of Nice, elſewhere noted. Which Incongruities are alſo to be obſerved in either one ſingle Altar, or many in diſtant places of the World, to the ſame Saint or Angel. And beſides, it has that odious Relation to a Sacrifice, and imports, that the Saints and Angels are alſo ſacrificed to, which is plain and confeſſed Idolatry.

XXVIII. The Idolatry of erecting Temples, Altars, Images, or Symbolical Preſences to Saints or Angels, reduced to the propoſed Definition.

29. Nor is it any Excuſe, that the Temple and Altar is pretended to be erected and dedicated to God only in a principal Senſe, but to the Saint in a ſecondary Reſpect, as leſs Principal. For beſides that God is jealous, and impatient of any Partner, in the Honours that are due to himſelf, (though they were only νόμῳ not φύσει) their Intention cannot change the natural Signification of building Temples and Altars to a finite Creature. Which, as I have already noted, implies its Omnipreſence, which is proper and peculiar only to God. And therefore this communicating a Peculiarity of the Godhead to a Creature, is Idolatry according to the plain Definition thereof, let us intend what we will.

XXIX. An Evaſion obviated.

30. As for their ſuperſtitious Worſhip done towards the bare Symbolical Preſences, or open Images of Saint or Angel, ſuppoſing it the very ſame they would do to the Saint or Angel themſelves, if they were viſible, that this implies them repreſentable is no Idolatry. For the making them repreſentable by an Image, does not at all concern or violate the Peculiarities of the Godhead. But the Idolatry is in that the Act naturally ſuppoſes them certainly preſent, for it is not Senſe to bow to an abſent Perſon; and theſe Symbolical Preſences being many, and at far diſtant places at once, that the Saint or Angel is in more places than one at once, and in ſuch ſort Omnipreſent as none can be acknowledged but God alone, and ſo that Divine Peculiarity is violated by this Bowing to the Symbolical Preſences or Images of Saint or Angel.

XXX. The Idolatry of bowing to the Images of Saints and Angels, wherein it conſiſts.

31. And though there be no neceſſary Connection betwixt the things, yet there is an exceeding great Hazard in the vulgar ſort eſpecially, when they bow to theſe Images of Saint or Angel, or pray to them before the ſaid Images, there is an Hazard, I ſay, of running into the higheſt Devotion, and reverential Affection and Paſſion that human Nature is excitable into, or can expreſs by his Look or Meen, and profoundly devout Motion of the Spirits of the Eyes, which Paſſion and Signification thereof is due to God alone; and it is the moſt ſordid Idolatry imaginable to apply it to either Saint or Angel, much more to the very Images of them made of Wood or Stone, though never ſo well painted or gilt. For it is manifeſt, that by ſuch a Worſhip a ſpecial Peculiarity of the Godhead is violated, who alone is to be worſhipped with that kind of Devotion. Which yet I have ſeen ſimple Folk to expreſs to the Image of a Saint, as fully as I could ever diſcern to be done by the devouteſt vouteſt Man in his Prayers to God. So that this Note is not made at random, without juſt Occaſion and Ground. And if this be done to the Image of a Saint, you may be ſure it will not fail to be done to Images that relate to God. But that is beſides our preſent Scope.

XXXI. The Hazard of the vulgar's doing that Devotion which is due to God, in their worſhipping the Images of Saints and Angels.

XXXII. The Reduction of burning of Incenſe, and ſetting up Lights before them, to the Definition.

32. As for the burning of Incenſe, and ſetting up Lights before the Symbolical Preſences of Saints and Angels, it being ſo plain an Intimation of the burning Incenſe, and lighting up Lamps before the Symbolical Preſence of Jehovah in the Holy, it is plainly a Violation of his Peculiarities, ſo judged by his own Election and Choice. And as for the Incenſe, it is a Sacrifice, and the moſt noble and ſignificant Sacrifice, as I have noted elſewhere. And they may as well depreſs the ſacrificing of Sheep and Oxen into a lower Ceremony, as this of Incenſe. For by the Uſe and Conſent of Nations, the one is no more reſtrained to the Supreme God than the other. And the Lamps and Shew-bread ſeem to indicate Jehovah to be the Father of Lights, from whom proceeds every good and perfect Gift, and who feeds with his Bounty every living thing. And the Lights ſet up before the Images of Saints and Angels, do at leaſt intimate, That Light and Comfort is to be expected from Suppliants that make their Addreſſes to them at theſe Symbolical Preſences, as if they were there preſent to aſſiſt them that invoke them, and implore their Help. Which I have again and again inculcated to be an implying and attributing an Omnipreſency or Omnipercipiency to theſe finite created Spirits, and conſequently a Violation of the Peculiarities of the Godhead. Thus eaſily are the various Acts of Idolatry obſerved in the Church of Rome, in their worſhipping Saints and Angels, reducible to the plain Definition, and true general Notion of Idolatry, which we have propoſed. As for theſe high Compellations, to the Bleſſed Virgin eſpecially, ſuch as plainly ſignifie the peculiar Excellencies of the Godhead, they are ſo openly idolatrous, that they want no Reduction.

XXXIII. That the pretended intricacies in the Myſtery of the Holy Trinity, cannot with any Reaſon at all be alledged againſt the clear Demonſtrations that the Doctrine of Tranſubſtantiation is falſe.

33. As neither their Artolatria does to them that are unprejudiced, and believe that which is moſt certainly true, that the Bread is not tranſubſtantiated, as I have again and again undeniably demonſtrated it not to be, in my Antidote againſt Idolatry. The clearneſs of which Demonſtration, the pretended Intricacies in the Myſtery of the Holy Trinity cannot obſcure, there being ſo vaſt a Difference both betwixt the Objects themſelves, and the Faculties in this Caſe and that. For in Tranſubſtantiation the Object is Matter or Body, a Subſtance finite and comprehenſible both by our Senſes and Reaſon. In the Myſtery of the Trinity, the Object is the infinite incomprehenſible Deity, a Subſtance incorporeal, or Spirit, which is quite out of the reach of our Senſes in the loweſt Notion thereof; but the Tranſcendency of the Triune Godhead is above our Reaſon alſo, though not contrary unto it. And then our Faculties converſant about Tranſubſtantiation, are all the Five Senſes rightly circumſtantiated, the Organ, Diſtance and Medium duly fitted and proportionated, and therefore the Senſes neceſſarily capable of diſcerning what the Object is, whether this Body or that, ſuppoſe whether the Body of a Man, or a piece of Bread. And beſides this, not only the exteriour Reaſon, but that which the Greeks call νοῦς (which contains the firſt and ſelf-evident common Notions or Axioms, that are without Syllogiſm noematically true) lays faſt hold on the Object in this Controverſie. Tranſubſtantiation being eaſily reſolvable into a flat and manifeſt Contradiction to theſe, as I have abundantly ſhown in my Antidote and Reply. But there is no Contradiction at all, to either Senſation, or common Notion in the Myſtery of the Trinity, only exteriour Reaſon and Imagination raiſe ſome Miſts and Obſcurities about it. Which well-excerciſed Minds in Contemplation can eaſily diſcern, and diſpel from this venerable Myſtery, ſo far forth as it is exhibited to us in the ancient Symbols of the Catholick Church. Wherefore of two deſperate Caſes it is the more hopeful, that the Bread being not tranſubſtantiated, and yet they taking it to be ſo, they may 'ſcape being Idolaters, than that it is tranſubſtantiated to ſave them from Idolatry.

XXXIV. That the believing the Bread not to be there, does not at all clear the Romaniſts from down-right Bread-worſhip, which is Idolatry.

34. And I muſt confeſs I was once inclinable to this Opinion my ſelf, that in this caſe they are not Idolaters (ſee my Idea of Antichriſtianiſm Book 1. Chap. 13. Sect. 6.) before I had more cloſely and carefully conſidered the Point. And the Church of Rome does not want at this day witty Patrons, and of admirable Art and Eloquence, to perſwade the heedleſs into this Security, That though the Bread ſhould not prove tranſubſtantiated, yet they cannot be Bread-worſhippers, while they believe it is; for if they believe it is tranſubſtantiated, they believe it not to be there, namely, within the Symbols or Species; and thence they pretend it is demonſtratively evident that they cannot worſhip it, but only Chriſt, into whoſe Subſtance it is believed to be tranſubſtantiated. For whatever is taken, ſay they, for an Object of Worſhip, the Underſtanding muſt affirm, (either truly or falſly) that it is there whither the Worſhip is directed. Which arguing bears a ſmart Plauſibility with it. But I anſwer, That what is made an Object of Worſhip through miſtake, there is no need the Underſtanding affirm it is there, but rather the contrary. For it does not think the undue Object is there, but the due one. Thoſe that worſhipped the Sun, that is, that which we call the Sun, and underſtand thereby a flammeous Body devoid of Senſe and Underſtanding, that appears alike to the Sight of the Sun-worſhippers, and to ours, (as the Species appear the ſame to thoſe that believe the Bread tranſubſtantiated, and to them that believe it not) be it called what it will, they did not believe that which we know to be the Sun, to be there, but an intellectual Deity, which the Sun is not; and yet we all acknowledge them for all that to have been Sun-worſhippers, and conſequently Idolaters. Wherefore uſing juſt Weights and Meaſures, we muſt alſo conclude the Romaniſts Bread-worſhippers, and therefore Idolaters, the Bread not being tranſubſtantiated, ſince their Worſhip then lights upon Bread inſtead of Chriſt, as the Sun-worſhippers upon the Sun inſtead of an intelligent Deity. He that ſtrikes his Friend in the duſk of the Evening, thinking it is his Enemy, thinks his Friend is not there, who notwithſtanding finds himſelf the Object of his Stroak, and wiſhes he had not been there. This Idolatry, I muſt confeſs, is committed through miſtake, but ſo is all Idolatry that is committed in good earneſt, ſo that this cannot excuſe the Fact from ſo grievous a Crime. And that it is Idolatry, is evident, Divine Worſhip being given to a piece of Bread, which is a Peculiarity of the Godhead, and muſt be given to none but him. And the Violation of any Divine Peculiarity is Idolatry by the propoſed Definition thereof.

to

XXXV. The Application of the Heathen Idolatry to this Definition, beſides his preſent Scope.

35. By Virtue of which Definition we demonſtratively have ſhown the ſundry Idolatries of the Church of Rome, in their worſhipping the Image of Chriſt, in their worſhipping and invocating Saints and Angels, and in their Adoration of the Euchariſt. And in Virtue of the ſame Definition, the Idolatries of the Heathen might be as clearly demonſtrated in their worſhipping the Supreme God by Images, and in their religious Worſhip they did to Dæmons, which this Definition would prove to be divine. But this would be quite beſide my preſent purpoſe, and neither uſeful nor ſuitable to the Subject in hand.

XXXVI. The great difference betwixt religious Reſpect and Preference, and Divine Worſhip.

36. It remains now only that we free ſeveral Ceremonies uſed in our own Church from the imputation of Idolatry, by Application to this Definition, as well as we have evinced ſeveral of thoſe of the Roman Church to be idolatrous by the ſame. Which will be a no leſs uſeful, and it may be a more pleaſant Conſideration to our own, to ſee how little hold the adverſe Party can take of theſe ſmall Strings to pull us back again into Popery. For if the Definition of Idolatry be unapplicable to them, it is manifeſt they cannot be idolatrous. And the Inapplicability is ſo eaſily diſcoverable, that there will be no need to inſiſt long on this matter. In the general then we are to note what a vaſt difference there is betwixt religious Worſhip, properly ſo called, which is the ſame with Divine Worſhip, and pious or religious Affection and Reſpect, or Preference of one thing before another, for its Relation it has to the Objects, or Exerciſe of our Religion, or Divine Worſhip. It is but an homely Proverb, Love me, and love my Dog; but it may be of no impertinent Significancy in this place. For it is not underſtood of the Love of Friendſhip, but of ſuch a Love as that inferiour Creature is capable of, and is fit to give him in relation to his Maſter, to whom we owe the Love of Friendſhip. So they that have a real Divine Reverence for God, it is no wonder they find an Inclination in themſelves of bearing ſome Reverence, or having ſome Reſpect to thoſe Things or Perſons, that in a ſpecial manner relate to him. Whether it be Prieſt or Temple, or any holy Utenſil, or the like. Which Reverence is quite different from that Divine Worſhip or Reverence that is due to God himſelf, (more different than the Love to one's Friend, and to his Spaniel) and therefore can be no Peculiarity of the Godhead, and conſequently no Violation of his Peculiarities to give it to another: which is the true Notion of Idolatry.

XXXVII. The keeping our Hats off in the Church, freed from Idolatry by this Definition.

37. We will illuſtrate this with ſome few Examples, and ſo conclude. They that keep off their Hats in the Church, and do it even then when Divine Service is not a doing there, are not by any means conceived to do that Divine Reverence or Worſhip which is peculiarly due to God, unto the Fabrick they are under, but becauſe this place is ſet apart for holy Uſes, and is of a different Nature from ordinary Places that have no ſuch relation to God and his Divine Worſhip, out of an habitual deep deep Devoutneſs toward God they alſo expreſs this more inferiour Affection and Reverence to the Place of his Worſhip, by way of Diſtinction and Preference of it before other common Places, be they never ſo magnificently built. Which, ſurely, is not to give it a Reverence any thing equal, or of the ſame kind with that we give to God, but only a greater, and another ſort of Reverence than we would give to any Place that is not related to him. And this is no more Idolatry than Moſes his putting off his Shoes, becauſe the Ground was hallowed by the ſpecial Preſence of God there. And therefore it was not unfit to ſhow ſome Reverence thereto in thoſe Circumſtances, and not to prophane it, and ſoil it by his dirty Shoes. Nay, indeed neceſſary, having that expreſs Command of God for it. Or, if one ſhould do ſo of himſelf in ſuch a meaning of Reverence as I have intimated, though it might be ſuperſtitious under Chriſtianity, yet it could not be idolatrous, no Peculiarities of the Godhead being violated thereby.

XXXVIII: As alſo kiſſing the Bible in the Adminiſtration of Oaths.

38. Kiſſing the Bible alſo in the Adminiſtration of Oaths, which is in Uſe amongſt us (and might according to the proper Notation of the Latin Word, be called Adoration, that Word ſignifying properly either the Admotion of our Mouth to the Thing kiſſed, or the Admotion of our own Hand to our Mouth, and ſo by kiſſing it, ſignifying chiefly our Kindneſs and Affection, but withal our Reſpect to the Perſon or Thing we in this manner ſalute) this Ceremony here is only an Expreſſion of our Love and Value we have even for the material Word of God, as I may ſo ſpeak, by reading whereof we find ſuch Divine Comforts and Refreſhments, and which gives us to know the Will of God, and that Salvation which is through Jeſus Chriſt revealed in this Book. And if a Man after the ſerious reading of a Chapter therein, his Heart being full of Joy and holy Conſolation, ſhould at the Cloſe of all kiſs the Bible as he lays it down, out of a pious Affection unto the very Inſtrument of communicating ſuch Grace and Comfort unto him, what more Idolatry were there in this, than in ſuch an one's hugging his Bible in the Pulpit before the People, to ſignifie how dear it was to himſelf, and ſhould be to them all?

XXXIX. That bowing towards the Altar or Communion-Table does not fall within the Verge of the true Notion or Definition of Idolatry.

39. And as for bowing towards the Altar, they that do ſo, queſtionleſs intend by that Action, Adoration to God properly, or in the higheſt Senſe, ſo called, ſo that it is one Species of Latria. Which can be no Idolatry in it ſelf, to be directed towards a Place, ſith it cannot be done at all, but it will be directed toward ſome Place or other. And if the Church for Uniformity ſake appoint one Place rather than another, ſo long as it is but towards it only, it can be no Idolatry. For it is no more Idolatry to worſhip God towards a Place, than in a Place: for both theſe are but Circumſtances, not Objects of divine Worſhip. But now it being concluded fitting to the Adoration when we firſt come into God's Houſe, as alſo for Uniformity ſake towards one certain Place or Part thereof, and all the Place being in ſome ſort holy, but yet a Preference of one part before another, becauſe of the more than ordinary Devotion uſed there in celebrating the moſt endearing Myſteries of our Religion, the Death and Paſſion of our bleſſed Saviour, and our Union with him by Participation of his Fleſh and Blood, that Place where the Symbols of this are exhibited, and theſe great and endearing Myſteries celebrated, it is no wonder if it have the Preference in our Religious Affection, and Reſpect before all the places in the Church, to be, as it were, the directive Inſtrument toward what part of the Church we ſhould do our Adorations, namely that the Altar or Communion-Table ſhould be this Inſtrument of Direction, and that this ſhould be the peculiar Honour done to it, to be ſo. In which Senſe it is bowed towards, as the Mercy-ſeat of old was by the Jews, and the Book of their Law under a Canopy in their Synagogues now is, without the leaſt Shew or Suſpicion of Idolatry.

For divine Worſhip is not at all done to that, in any of thoſe Caſes, towards which it is directed, but only to God himſelf; there being no Animal Figures expoſed to receive the Worſhip, as in the Caſe of the Heathen, and the Euchariſtick Bread being in no Senſe at all a Symbolical Preſence, as well as having no Imagery on it, but both Bread and Wine mere Tokens of the Body of Chriſt ſlain, crucified or ſacrificed, and of his Blood ſhed for us. Which therefore are not the Perſon of Chriſt, nor Hypoſtatically united to his Perſon in this Condition, and conſequently the Symbols thereof cannot be any Symbolical Preſence, as I have alſo noted in my Reply. The Altar therefore has the Honour of being a Directive Inſtrument whither, as the Church has where to do divine Worſhip. But the Worſhip is no more done to the Altar, by being done towards it, than it is done to the Church or Temple by being done in it. Foraſmuch as there is no Animal Figure thereon, as the Ancient Pagans con-conceived their Gods to appear in ſeveral ſuch Shapes, and therefore worſhipped them in them. For this would be a perſonal Repreſentative, and ſo receptive of the Worſhip done towards it, according to the manifeſt Senſe of Scripture, and natural Interpretation of Reaſon; but there being no ſuch Statue or Image there erected, all is ſafe.

Wherefore all the Honour the Altar receives in theſe Adorations made towards it, is this, That it is uſed as a directive Inſtrument for People to ſhow which way they are to ſet their Faces, when they make theſe Adorations to God, which is far from giving any Divine Worſhip to the Table or Altar, and therefore is far out of the Reach of our Definition of Idolatry.

XL. Nor bowing at the Name of Jeſus.

40. And ſo whereas all the Names and Attributes of God are holy, and we have a greater Reverence for them, than for any Words or Names that do not relate to God, (though we do not owe Divine Worſhip or Reverence to them, foraſmuch as they are not God, but Words that paſs away as other Sounds do) whereas I ſay, all the Names of God are holy, yet becauſe the Name Jeſus exhibits to us the Manifeſtation of God in the moſt endearing Circumſtances; therefore as the Myſteries celebrated on the Altar cauſed that Preference of it before all other Parts of the Church for to do our Worſhip towards; ſo this Name of Jeſus above all other Names or Words, that ſignifie God or his Attributes, may well be made uſe of to determine the Time and Occaſion when in Divine Service we ſhould more exuberantly vent our Devotion in the worſhipping God our Saviour, eſpecially the Scripture ſeeming to hint ſome ſuch thing to us. And this is the Honour done to the Name of Jeſus; that at the naming thereof we take occaſion to do profound Reverence, and Divine Worſhip to our eternal Redeemer. Whence it is plain, that that Honour that accrews to the Name of Jeſus, or to the Altar, by bowing at the naming of the one, and towards the ſite of the other, is far from any Divine Honour; and that therefore the Peculiarities of the Godhead are not thereby violated, nor any Idolatry committed.

XLI. Nothing that has the leaſt Shew of Idolatry required of our Church, in celebrating the Lord's Supper. Charitable Conſtructions of ſome private Doctors Expreſſions.

41. And now laſtly, as for the Euchariſt, or holy Symbols of Bread and Wine, that we kneel not to them I have ſufficiently intimated in my Reply, but are in that Poſture as being in devout Ejaculations to God, our Hearts breathing towards him in the receiving this Holy Sacrament; and this is all the due Reverence I ſee required by the Rubrick of our Church, or any Direction thereof, for the celebrating theſe holy Myſteries. And if any particular Doctors of the Church talk of worſhipping the Sacrament, if it be ſuch Affection and Reverence as is expreſſed to the Word of God or holy Bible, that this is without any Violation of the Divine Peculiarities, I have above noted, and that therefore it can be no Idolatry; and if they ſpeak of Adoration properly ſo called, I charitably ſuſpect they meant Adoration done towards the Symbols, as I have above explained the doing of it towards the Altar; that is, as uſing them as directive Inſtruments towards which we do our Adoration to Chriſt, but not to them as any Objects thereof. Which, I think, would be hard for any Man to imagine, that is conſcious to himſelf, what a Motion the Soul is in, when it does an Act of real and ſincere Adoration, or Divine Worſhip, and conſiders what it is to be in any Senſe the Object thereof. He would find it ſuch horrid ill Syntax, to make any thing in any Senſe the Object of Adoration beſides God, that he would be utterly aſhamed of it, and find it more abſonous and incongruous, more impertinent and troubleſome, than if one when he were to worſhip the viſible Sun, ſhould interpoſe a burning Ruſh-candle betwixt his Eye and the Sun, and tie himhimſelf to worſhip that alſo, as an Object in reference to the Sun, while he pretends ultimately at the ſame time to worſhip the Sun it ſelf; it is plain it would be a Diſtraction and Impediment to him.

XLII. The Reaſon of ſome Mens Proneneſs to Adoration of outward Objects.

42. Which makes it ſuſpicable, that thoſe that are ſo forward to have Adoration done to outward Objects, are not eager enough to join their Hearts and Minds with that eternal inviſible Power, which is beſt felt in the leaſt Diſtraction of Thoughts, but would willingly ſtick in theſe outward things, and ſo lay Religion at laſt as flat as the Earth, and ſuffer the Souls of Men to grow ſtupid and brutiſh in Carnality. Wherefore I preſume better of any particular Doctors of our Church, than that they have any ſuch meaning as to aſſert the Lawfulneſs of Adoration or divine Worſhip to the Euchariſtick Symbols, which is an undue Object of that Worſhip, that it may paſs to a due one, that is, to Chriſt; for this I have plainly proved above to be Idolatry.

XLIII. The Sense of the Church not to be interpreted by the rash Expressions of any private Doctor.

43. But if any of our Church should speak so inconsiderately, what is that to the Church her self, that contains her self far within this Compass? And they that are of the Church, are not tied to any particular Mens Opinions, but to the general Profession and Practice of the Church. Which by these Instances, that yet are those that are most scrupled at, you may see how clear she is from the least Spot or Soil of Idolatry, according to the true Notion and Definition thereof, she using no Rites of Worship whereby the Peculiarities of the Godhead are violated.

XLIV. The great Peril in leaving a more pure Church for an idolatrous one.

44. And therefore I hope these brief Pains of mine, in so freely and faithfully examining the Rites of the Roman Church and of our own, by this so intelligible a Rule, will prove as well acceptable as seasonable to all that have any serious Care of their Salvation, and they will take good heed in this slippery Age, how they leave a pure Church for a Church so plainly soiled with manifold Spots of Idolatry, but those in that soiled Church provide better for themselves, by entring Communion with that Church that is more pure. And in the mean time I hope they will excuse my more than ordinary Zeal in a matter of so exceeding great Moment, and which so nearly concerns our Eternal Happiness and Salvation, it being so expresly declared in Scripture, That no Idolater shall inherit the Kingdom of Heaven.

XLV. Of Spiritual Idolatry, several Instances thereof, as Covetousness, which the Apostle calls Idolatry.

45. Which as it is undeniably true, and confessed on all sides, concerning this external and ritual Idolatry, so certainly is it no less true of the internal or spiritual, if we do not sincerely endeavour to rid our selves of it. For there are other Sorts of Idolatry, than we have hitherto insisted on, and such as we are as carefully to shun, as we tender our own Salvation. Saint Paul expresly names one of this kind, and calls it by the very Name; Mortifie therefore your Members which are upon Earth, Fornication, Uncleanness, inordinate Affection, evil Concupiscence, and Covetousness which is Idolatry, Colos. 3. 5. The Word is πλεονεξία, the Love of Money, which, I suppose the Apostle doth not count Idolatry, for the Imagery that ordinarily is upon Coins, but for the Trust and Repose the most part put in uncertain Riches. And there is the same Reason in any worldly Interest whatsoever, in Power, Friends, and whatever else. Those that trust in these more than in the living God, do plainly commit Spiritual Idolatry. Trust ye in the Lord for ever, for in the Lord Jehovah is everlasting Strength, Isa. 26. 4. The Lord is my Rock and my Fortress, my God, my Strength in whom I will trust, Psalm 18. 2. Tea, though he kill me, yet will I trust him, saith Job, Job 13. 15. And so must we do, whomever he should permit to kill us, or any ways persecute us, being assured that nothing can come amiss to them that are his, and put their trust in him. But if when all visible Comforts fail, our Trust fails in the invisible God, it is a Sign we made the Creature the Rock of our Confidence, and gave that to it, which is a Pecaliarity of the Godhead, which is plainly Idolatry.

XLVI. The harbouring a false Idea of God, horrid and affrightful, another kind of Spiritual Idolatry.

46. As is also to raise a false Idea of God, more horrid and affrightful than the most terrible Idols of the Heathen, and to flatter this, and our selves as special Favourites of it, because we believe it to be such as we have fallsly imagined it, of Adamantine Severity, or rather Cruelty to infinitely the greatest Part of Mankind inevitably to be damned to everlasting ineffable Torments, and our selves fatally and necessarily to be made happy out of a partial Fondness to our Persons, before the rest of the World, live we as we list, merely because he will have it so: and that this shall be the bottom of our Faith and Trust in God; this certainly would be Spiritual Idolatry also, and an egregious violating that precious divine Attribute, if not the very Nature of God, whom Saint John has declared to be Love; God is Love, and he that abideth in Love, abideth in God, and God in him, John 4. 16.

XLVII. That those Christians that persecute and kill one another for conscientious difference in Religion, turn the God of the Christians into a foul Heathen Idol.

47. In the Law of Moses it is forbidden to offer strange Incense or strange Fire, and it is as strictly forbidden in the Gospel of Christ. For when his Disciples would have had him fetch Fire down from Heaven, as Elias did, for an Affront done to their Lord and Master, he rebuked them, saying, You know not of what Spirit you are, Luke 9. 54. Bitter and destructive Zeal (the Apostle calls it ζῆλον πικρὸν) is the strange Fire or Incense not to be offered to the Lord under the Gospel. For nothing is more estranged from the Spirit of the Gospel than it, John 16. 2. The time comes, saith our Saviour, when any one that kills you, will think he does προσφέρειν λατρείαν θεῷ, That he does God an acceptable piece of divine Worship or Service, as if he offered an Oblation or Sacrifice to him. And this is indeed that strange

ſtrange Incenſe, Fire and Sacrifice that all Religioniſts offer to God, (be they of what Perſwaſion they will, Pontifician or Proteſtant) that perſecute and kill the one the other for conſcientious Difference in Religion, as if theſe were the Weapons of Chriſt's Warfare. Who yet has ſo expreſly ſaid, By this ſhall all Men know that you are my Diſciples if ye love one another. But in perſecuting, killing, and ſacrificing one another thus in a barbarous Zeal, thinking they do λατρείαν προσφέρειν θεῷ, make an Oblation of divine Worſhip to God thereby; they turn the living God of the Chriſtians, who is Love it ſelf, into the fouleſt Idols of the Heathen, who uſed to be worſhipped with ſuch ἀνθρωποθυσίας, bloody ſacrificing of Men; and therefore plainly commit Spiritual Idolatry, violating and defacing the peculiar Character of the God of the Chriſtians, while they thus pretend to worſhip him.

48. Saint Paul exhorts the Romans, Chap. 12. to preſent their Bodies a living Sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which he calls τὴν λογικὴν λατρείαν ὑμῶν, our reaſonable Latria, viz. that Divine Worſhip which is moſt fit and reaſonable to give to God, namely, that we dedicate and devote all the Powers and Faculties of our Souls and Bodies, (for in that it is called θυσία ζῶσα, a living Sacrifice, the Soul is manifeſtly implied) unto his Service. This is our reaſonable and fitting Latria we owe to God; and therefore if we imploy all the Powers of our Mind, and Strength of our Body, to ſerve our ſelves, and our own carnal and worldly Deſires, it is evident we make an Idol of our ſelves, and give that Worſhip to our ſelves, that is reaſonable to give to God only.

XLVIII. The laying out all the Strength of our Bodies and Souls, for the ſatisfaction of our own Will, another Inſtance of this Idolatry.

49. And whenas it is written, Thou ſhalt love the Lord thy God with all thy Heart, and all thy Soul, that is to ſay, the greateſt Strength and Fulneſs of thy Affection ſhall be entirely carried out towards him, and other things be loved only for his ſake, God challenging this as his peculiar Due, if we let this Height and Entireneſs of Affection go to any other Perſon or Thing, Friend, Wife, Child, Repute, Pleaſure, or whatever elſe, this Peculiarity of God is violated, and it is moſt certainly a kind of Spiritual Idolatry. Which makes it leſs to be wondred at, that People are ſo frequently croſſed in thoſe Things or Perſons that they ſo exceſſively love, and wherein they are above-meaſure delighted. And therefore it is our Safety as well as our Duty to have our Affections moderate to all Things ſaving to God alone, where there can be no danger of Exceſs.

XLIX. The letting out the Fulneſs and Entireneſs of our Affection to any Creature, another Inſtance thereof.

50. And laſtly, (for this is an Argument ſo copious that a Man may eaſily loſe himſelf in it.) It is well known and cannot be denied but that God is the ultimate End of all. He is ſo in himſelf, and ought to be acknowledged ſo by us both in our Words and Actions. Wherefore if we make our ſelves the ultimate End of our Actions, and our own Happineſs as our own, and not as according to the Will and Nature of God, ſo that we ſerve and worſhip God for our own ſakes, making, as it were, a crafty Bargain with the All-wiſe God, and performing it too (which is worſt of all) no further than it ſtands with our own preſent Eaſe, Security and Intereſt, preferring theſe before his Will and Command, this alſo is Spiritual Idolatry, and we again make an Idol of our ſelves in making our ſelves the ultimate End of our Actions. For there can be but one ultimate End, which is the Will of the Father, the Light of the Knowledge of God in the Face of Jeſus Chriſt manifeſted in us, who is the Brightneſs of his Glory, and expreſs Image of his Perſon. Who declared in the Fleſh, He came not to do his own Will, but the Will of him that ſent him.

L. The making our ſelves the ultimate End of our Actions and Services of God, an egregious Inſtance of this Spiritual Idolatry.

This therefore is the Supreme Law and Will of God touching the Purity of his Worſhip, That we have no Will nor End of our own. For as we are to have but one God, Hear, O Iſrael, the Lord thy God is one God, Deut. 6. 4. ſo we are to have but one Will, even the Will of the God whom we worſhip. Which we have not, if we have any Self-will or Self-ends unſubordinate to the Will of God. Whoſe Will and Law is the Law of an Unſelf-intereſted Love that is ready to act, and content to ſuffer any thing for the good of the Creation of God, be it never ſo bitter and painful, as was moſt exemplarily conſpicuous in our Bleſſed Saviour. And of this it is that that Boſom-Friend of our Lord Jeſus witneſſes in the Cloſe of his Epiſtle, 1 John 5. 20, 21. And we know that the Son of God is come, and has given us an Underſtanding that we may know him that is true: and we are in him that is true, even in his Son Jeſus Chriſt. This is the true God, and Eternal Life. Little Children, keep your ſelves from Idols. Amen.

DIVINE HYMNS.

AN HYMN

Upon the Nativity of CHRIST.

The Hiſtorical Narration.

THE Holy Son of God moſt high,
For Love of Adam's lapſed Race,
Quit the ſweet Pleaſure of the Sky,
To bring us to that happy Place.

His Robes of Light he laid aſide,
Which did his Majeſty adorn,
And the frail State of Mortals try'd,
In human Fleſh and Figure born.

Down from above this Day-Star ſlid,
Himſelf in living Earth t' entomb,
And all his heav'nly Glory hid
In a pure lowly Virgin's Womb.

Whole Quires of Angels loudly ſing
The Myſtery of his ſacred Birth,
And the bleſt News to Shepherds bring,
Filling their watchful Souls with Mirth.

The Application to the Improvement of Life.

The Son of God thus Man became,
That Men the Sons of God might be,
And by their ſecond Birth regain
A likeneſs to his Deity.

Lord, give us humble and pure Minds,
And fill us with thy heav'nly Love,
That Chriſt thus in our Hearts enſhrin'd,
We all may be born from above.

And being thus regenerate,
Into a Life and Senſe divine,
We all Ungodlineſs may hate,
And to thy living Word encline.

That nouriſh'd by that heav'nly Food,
To manly Stature we may grow,
And ſtedfaſtly purſue what's good,
That all our high Deſcent may know.

Grant we, thy Seed, may never yield
Our Souls to ſoil with any Blot,
But ſtill ſtand Conqu'rors in the Field,
To ſhew his Pow'r who us begot.

That after this our Warfare's done,
And Travails of a toilſom Stage,
We may in Heav'n, with Chriſt thy Son,
Enjoy our promis'd Heritage. Amen.

AN HYMN

Upon the Paſſion of CHRIST.

The Hiſtorical Narration.

THE faithful Shepherd from on high
Came down to ſeek his ſtrayed Sheep,
Which in this earthly Dale did lie,
Of Grief and Death the Region deep.
Thoſe Glories and thoſe Joys above
'Twas much to quit for Sinners ſake:
But yet behold far greater Love,
Such Pains and Toils to undertake.

An abject Life, which all deſpiſe,
The Lord of Glory underwent,
And with the Wicked's worldly guize
His righteous Soul for Grief was rent.
His Innocence Contempt attends,
His Wiſdom and his Wonders great;
Envy on theſe her Poiſon ſpends,
And Phariſaick Rage their Threats.

At laſt their Malice boil'd ſo high
As Witneſſes falſe to ſuborn,
The Lord of Life to cauſe to die,
His Body firſt with Scourges torn.
With royal Robes in ſcorn th' him dight,
And with a Wreath of Thorns him crown:
A Scepter-Reed in farther ſpight,
They add unto his Purple Gown.

Then ſcoffingly they bend the Knee,
And ſpit upon his ſacred Face;
And after hang him on a Tree
Betwixt two Thieves, for more Diſgrace.
With Nails they pierc'd his Hands and Feet,
The Blood thence trickled to the Ground:
The Pangs of Death his Countenance ſweet
And lovely Eyes with Night confound.

Thus laden with our Weight of Sin,
This ſpotleſs Lamb himſelf bemoans,
And while for us he Life doth win, (Groans.
Quits his own Breath with deep-fetch'd
Affrighted Nature ſhrinketh back,
To ſee ſo direful diſmal ſight; (crack
The Earth doth quake, the Mountains
Th' abaſhed Sun withdraws his Light.

The Application to the Improvement of Life.

Then can we, Men, ſo ſenſeleſs be,
As not to melt in flowing Tears,
Who Cauſe were of his Agony,
Who ſuffered thus to ceaſe our Fears:

To

To reconcile us to our God
By this his precious Sacrifice,
And ſhield us from his wrathful Rod,
Wherewith he Sinners doth chaſtiſe?

O wicked Sin to be abhorr'd,
That God's own Son thus forc'd to die!
O Love profound to be ador'd;
That found ſo potent Remedy!
O Love more ſtrong than Pain and Death,
To be repaid by nought but Love,
Whereby we vow our Life and Breath
Entire to ſerve our God above!

For who for ſhame durſt now complain
Of dolorous dying unto Sin,
While he recounts the hideous Pain
His Saviour felt our Souls to win?
Or who can harbour Anger fell,
Envy, revengeful Spight or Hate,
If he but once conſider well
Our Saviour lov'd at ſuch a rate?

Wherefore, Lord, ſince thy Son moſt juſt,
His natural Life for us did ſpill;
Grant we our ſinful Lives and Luſts
May ſacrifice unto his Will.
That to our ſelves we being dead
Henceforth to him may wholly live,
Who us to free from Danger's dread,
Himſelf a Sacrifice did give.

Grant that the Senſe of ſo great Love
Our Souls to him may firmly tie,
And forcibly us all may move
To live in mutual Amity.
That no pretence to Hate or Striſe
May riſe from any Injury,
Since thy dear Son, the Lord of Life,
For Love of us (when Foes) did die.

The brazen Gates of Death he brake,
Triumphing over Sin and Hell,
And made th' Infernal Kingdoms quake,
With all that in thoſe Shades do dwell.

His murthered Body he reſum'd,
Maugre the Grave's cloſe Graſp and Striſe,
And all theſe Regions thence perfum'd
With the ſweet Hopes of laſting Life.

The Application to the Improvement of Life.

O mighty Son of God moſt high,
That conqueredſt thus Hell, Death and Sin,
Give us a glorious Victory
Over our deadly Sins to win.

Go on, and * Edom ſtill ſubdue,
And quite cut off his wicked Race;
And raiſe in us thine Image true,
Which ſinful † Edom doth deface.

* Ὁ νῖὸς Ἐδώμ, Phil. Jud. Fleſh and Blood in the moral Senſe.

† The old Adam, Rom 6. 6.

Teach us our Luſts to mortifie,
In virtue of thy precious Death:
That while to Sin all dead we lie,
Thou mayſt infuſe thy heav'nly Breath.

To Righteouſneſs our Spirits raiſe,
And quick'n us with thy Life and Love;
That we may walk here to thy Praiſe,
And after live in Heav'n above.

Grant we in Glory may appear,
Clad with our Reſurrection Veſt,
When thou ſhalt lead thy Flock moſt dear
Up to the Manſions of the Bleſt.

AN HYMN

Upon CHRIST's Aſcenſion.

The Hiſtorical Narration.

GOD is aſcended up on high
With merry noiſe of Trumpet's ſound,
And princely ſeated in the Sky,
Rules over all the World around.

The Tabernacle did of old
His Preſence to the Jews reſtrain:
But after in our Fleſh enfold,
A larger Empire he did gain.

For ſuffering in human Fleſh
For all, he rich Redemption wrought,
And will with laſting Life refreſh
His Heritage ſo dearly bought.

Sing Praiſes then, ſing Praiſes loud
Unto our Univerſal King:
* He who aſcended on a Cloud,
To him all Laud and Praiſes ſing.

* Acts 1. 9.

AN HYMN

Upon the Reſurrection of CHRIST.

The Hiſtorical Narration.

WHo's this we ſee from Edom come,
With bloody Robes from Boſrah Town?
He whom falſe Jews to Death did doom,
And Heav'n's fierce Anger had caſt down,

His righteous Soul alone was fain
Iſa. 63. 3. The Wine-preſs of God's Wrath to tread,
And all his Garments to diſtain,
And ſprinkled Cloaths to die blood-red.

'Gainſt Hell and Death he ſtoutly fought,
Who captive held him for three Days:
But ſtraight he his own Freedom wrought,
And from the Dead himſelf did raiſe.

Captivity he Captive led,
Triumphing o're the Powers of Hell,
And ſtruck their Eyes with Glory dread
Who in the airy Regions dwell.

In human Fleſh and Shape he went,
Adorned with his Paſſion Scars;
Which in Heaven's ſight he did preſent
More glorious than the glittering Stars.

The Application to the Improvement of Life.

O happy Pledge of Pardon ſure,
And of an endleſs bliſful State,
Since human Nature once made pure
For Heaven becomes ſo fit a Mate!

Lord raiſe our ſinking Minds therefore
Up to our proper Country dear,
And purifie us evermore,
To fit us for thoſe Regions clear.

Let our Converſe be ſtill above,
Where Chriſt at thy right Hand doth ſit;
And quench in us all worldly Love,
That with thy ſelf our Souls may knit.

Make us all earthly things deſpiſe,
And freely part with this World's good,
That we may win that heav'nly Prize
Which Chriſt has purchas'd with his Blood.

That when he ſhall return again
* Acts 1. 11. In * Clouds of Glory as he went,
Our Souls no foulneſs may retain,
But be found pure and innocent.

And ſo may mount to his bright Hoſts
On Eagles Wings up to the Sky,
And be conducted to the Coaſts
Of everlaſting Bliſs and Joy.

AN HYMN

Upon the Deſcent of the Holy Ghoſt at the Day of Pentecoſt.

The Narration.

WHEN Chriſt his Body up had born
To Heav'n, from his Diſciples ſight,
Then they like Orphans all forlorn
Spent their ſad Days in mournful plight.

But he aſcended up on high,
More ſacred Gifts for to receive
And freely ſhow'r them from the Sky
On thoſe which he behind did leave.

He for the Preſence of his Fleſh
To them the Holy Spirit imparts,
And doth with living Springs refreſh
Their thirſty Souls and fainting Hearts.

While with one Mind, and in one Place
Devoutly they themſelves retire,
In ruſhing Wind the promis'd Grace
Deſcends, and cloven Tongues of Fire.

The Houſe th' Almighty's Spirit fills,
Which doth the feeble Fabrick ſhake;
But on their Tongue ſuch Power inſtils, Acts 2.
That makes the amazed Hearer quake.

The Application.

The Spirit of holy Zeal and Love,
And of diſcerning, give us, Lord;
The Spirit of Power from above,
Of Unity and good Accord:

The Spirit of convincing Speech,
Such as will every Conſcience ſmite,
And to the Heart of each Man reach, Acts 2. 37.
And Sin and Error put to flight:

The Spirit of refining Fire,
Searching the inmoſt of the Mind,
To purge all foul and fell Deſire,
And kindle Life more pure and kind.

The Spirit of Faith in this thy Day
Of Power againſt the force of Sin,
That through this Faith we ever may Againſt our Luſts the Conqueſts win.

Pour down thy Spirit of inward Life,
Which in our Hearts thy Laws may write,
That without any Pain or Strife
We naturally may do what's right.

On all the Earth thy Spirit pour,
In Righteouſneſs it to renew:
That Satan's Kingdom 't may o'repow'r,
And to Chriſt's Sceptre may ſubdue.

Like mighty Wind or Torrent fierce,
Let it Withſtanders all o'rerun,
And every wicked Law reverſe,
That Faith and Love may make all one.

Let Peace and Joy in each place ſpring,
And Righteouſneſs, the Spirit's Fruits,
With Meekneſs, Friendſhip, and each thing
That with the Chriſtian Spirit ſuits.

Grant this, O holy God and true,
Who th' ancient Prophets did inſpire:
Haſte to perform thy Promiſe due,
As all thy Servants thee deſire.

AN

AN HYMN

Upon the Creation of the World.

The Narration.

WHEN God the firſt Foundations laid
Of the well-framed Univerſe,
And through the darkſome Chaos ray'd,
The Angels did his Praiſe rehearſe.

Job 38. 7. The Sons of God then ſweetly ſung,
At firſt Appearance of his Light,
When the Creation-Morning ſprung
To deck the World with Beauty bright.

Within ſix Days he finiſh'd all
Whate're Heaven, Earth, or Sea contain,
And ſanctify'd the ſeventh withal,
To celebrate his Holy Name.

Then with the Sons of God let's ſing
Our bountiful Creator's Praiſe,
Who out of nothing all did bring,
And by his Word the World did raiſe.

O holy God, how wonderful
Art thou in all thy Works of might,
Aſtoniſhing our Senſes dull
With what thou daily bring'ſt in ſight.

The fit Returns of Night and Day,
The grateful Seaſons of the Year,
Which conſtantly Man's Pains repay,
With wholſome Fruit his Heart to chear:

The Shape and Number of the Stars,
The Moon's ſet Courſe thou doſt define,
And Matter's wild diſtracting Jars
Compoſeſt by thy Word divine.

The Parts of th' Earth thou holdeſt cloſe
Together by this ſweet Conſtraint:
Thou round'ſt the Drops that do diſcloſe
The Rainbow in his glorious Paint.

The Clouds drop Fatneſs on the Earth,
Thou mak'ſt the Graſs and Flow'rs to ſpring:
Thou cloath'ſt the Woods, wherein with Mirth
The chearful Birds do ſit and ſing.

Thou fill'ſt the Fields with Beaſts and Sheep,
Thy Rivers run along the Plains:
With ſcaly Fiſh thou ſtor'ſt the Deep,
Thy Bounty all the World maintains.

The Application. All theſe and all things elſe th' haſt made Subject to Man by thy Decree;
That thou by Man might'ſt be obey'd,
As duly ſubject unto thee.

Wherefore, O Lord, in us create
Clean Hearts, and a right Spirit renew,
That we regaining that juſt State,
May ever pay thee what is due.

That as we wholly from thee are,
Both Gifts of Mind and Body's Frame;
So by them both we may declare
The Glory of thy Holy Name.

AN HYMN

Upon the Redemption of the World through CHRIST in his Re-introduction of the New Creature.

The Narration.

THE Lord both Heaven and Earth hath made,
His Word did all things frame,
And Laws to every Creature gave,
Who ſtill obſerve the ſame.
The faithful Sun doth ſtill return
The Seaſons of the Year,
And at juſt times the various Moon
Now round, now horn'd appears.

The Plants retain their Virtue ſtill,
Their Verdure and their Form:
Nor do the Birds or Beaſts their Guize
Once Change, or Shape transform.
'Tis only Man, alas! that brake
Betimes thy ſacred Law,
And from that Image heav'nly, pure,
To beaſtly Shape did grow.

He headſtrong left thy holy Will,
His own Luſts to purſue;
Whence the true Manly Form did fail,
And Brutiſhneſs enſue.
But thou, O God, who by thy Word
Didſt frame all things of Nought,
By the ſame Word made Fleſh, for Man
Haſt rich Redemption wrought.

Thy choice Creation-piece thus marr'd,
Thou doſt again create,
And by th' incarnate Word reſtor'ſt
Unto his priſtine State.
The Glory of which Work raying forth,
Whiles Chriſt from Death doth riſe,
Theſe two Creations, one Seventh Day
By right doth ſolemnize.

The Application. God, who commanded firſt the Light
Out of the Dark to ſhine,
Enliven 2 Cor. 4.6

Enliven and enlight our Hearts
By his pure Word Divine:
That when this New-creation Work
In us is finish'd clear,
The bright and glorious Face of Christ
May in our Souls appear.

That we thus once redeem'd from Sin,
† From our own Works may cease,
And rest in God's eternal Love,
The Spirit's Joy and Peace;
And quit from this Earth's Toil, at last
May sing among the Blest
In that long-lasting Sabbath-day,
That Jubilee of Rest.

† Heb. 4. 10.

Amen.

FINIS.

Some VERSES taken out of the AUTHORS Philoſophical Writings.

In the Antidote againſt Atheiſm, Book 3. Ch. 4.

LIKE to a Light faſt lock'd in Lanthorn (dark, Whereby, by Night, our wary Steps (we guide
In ſlabby ſtreets, and dirty Channels mark,
Some weaker rayes through the black top (do glide,
And fluſher ſtreames perhaps from (horny ſide:
But when we've paſt the peril of the way,
Arriv'd at home, and laid that caſe aſide,
The naked light, how clearly doth it ray,
And ſpread its joyful beams as bright as (Summers day.

Even ſo the Soul, in this contracted ſtate, Confin'd to theſe ſtrait inſtruments of (Senſe,
More dull and narrowly doth operate:
At this hole hears, the Sight muſt ray (from thence;
Here taſts, their ſmells: But when ſhe's, (gone from hence,
Like naked lamp, ſhe is one ſhining ſphear,
And round about has perfect cognoſcence
Whate're in her Horizon doth appear;
She is one Orb of Senſe, all Eye, all airy (Ear.

In the Defence of the Moral Cabbala, Chap. 3.

A harder leſſon to learn continence
In joyous pleaſure than in grievous pain:
For ſweetneſs doth allure the weaker ſenſe
So ſtrongly, that uneathes it can refrain:
From that which feeble Nature covets fain;
But grief and wrath that be our enemies,
And foes of life ſhe better can reſtrain,
Yet Vertue vaunts in both her Victories,
And Guyon in them all ſhews goodly Maſteries.

IN THE DIVINE DIALOGUES.

The Song of Hylobaris concerning Divine Providence, Dialog. 2. Sect. 28.

Where's now the objects of thy fears:
Needleſs ſighs and fruitleſs tears?
They be all gone like idle dream
Suggeſted from the Body's ſteam.
O Cave of horrour, black as pitch!
Dark Den of Spectres that bewitch
The weakned phanſy ſore affright
With the grim ſhades of griſely Night.
What's Plague and Priſon? Loſs of friends?
War, Dearth and Death, that all things ends?
Mear Bug-bears for the childiſh mind,
Pure Panick terrours of the blind.
Collect thy Soul into one ſphear
Of light, and 'bove the Earth it rear.
Thoſe wild ſcattered thoughts that erſt
Lay looſely in the World diſperſt
Call in: thy Spirit thus knit in one
Fair lucid orb; thoſe fears be gone
Like vain impoſtures of the Night
That fly before the Morning bright.
Then with pure Eyes thou ſhalt behold
How the firſt Goodneſs doth infold
All things in loving tender arms:
That deemed miſchiefs are no harms
But ſovereign ſalves; and skilful cures
Of greater woes the World endures;
That man's ſtout Soul may win a ſtate
Far raiſ'd above the reach of fate.
Power, Wiſdom, Goodneſs ſure did frame
This Univerſe and ſtill guide the ſame.
But thoughts from paſſions ſprung, deceive Vain Mortals. No man can contrive
A better courſe then what's been run
Since the firſt circuit of the Sun.
He that beholds all from on high
Knows better what to do than I.
I'm not my own, ſhould I repine
If he diſpoſe of what's not mine.
Purge but thy Soul of blind ſelf-will,
Thou ſtreight ſhalt ſee God doth no ill.
The World he fills with the bright rayes
Of his free Goodneſs. He diſplays
Himſelf throughout. Like common air,
That Spirit of life through all doth fare,
Suck'd in by them as vital breath,
That willingly embrace not death.
But thoſe that with that living Law
Be unacquainted, cares do gnaw;
Miſtruſt of God's good Providence
Doth daily vex their wearied ſenſe.

The Song of Bathynous, Dialog. 3. Sect. 37.

Sing aloud, His praiſe rehearſe
Who hath made the Univerſe.
He the boundleſs Heavens has ſpread,
All the vital Orbs has kned;
He that on Olympus high
Tends his flocks with wachful eye,
And this eye has multiply'd
Midſt each Flock for to reſide.

Thus as round about they ſtray
Toucheth each with out-ſtretch'd ray,
Nimble they hold on their way,
Shaping out their Night and Day.
Summer, Winter, Autumn, Spring,
Their inclined Axes bring.
Never ſlack they; none reſpires,
Dancing round their Central fires.
In due order as they move
Echo's ſweet be gently drove Thorough Heavens vaſt Hollowneſs,
Which unto all corners preſs:
Muſick that the heart of Jove
Moves to joy and ſportful love;
Fills the liſtning Saylors ears
Riding on the wandring Sphears.
Neither Speech nor Language is Where their voice isnot tranſmiſs.
God is Good, is Wiſe, is Strong,
Witneſs all the creature-throng,
Is confeſs'd by every Tongue.
All things back from whence thy ſprung,
As the thankful Rivers pay
What they borrowed of the Sea.
Now my ſelf I do reſign,
Take me whole, I all am thine.
Save me, God! from Self-deſire,
Death's pit, dark Hell's raging fire,
Envy, Hatred, Vengeance, Ire.
Let not Luſt my Soul bemire.
Quit from theſe thy praiſe I'll ſing,
Loudly ſweep the trembling ſtring.
Bear a part, O Wiſdom's ſonnes!
Free'd from vain Religions.
Lo! from far I you ſalute,
Sweetly warbling on my Lute,
Indie, Egypt, Arabie,
Aſia, Greece, and Tartarie,
Carmel-tracts and Lebanon,
With the Mountains of the Moon,
From whence muddy Nile doth run
Or where ever elſe you wonne;
Breathing in one vital air,
One we are, though diſtant far.
Riſe at once let's ſacrifice,
Odours ſweet perfume the skies.
See how Heavenly lightning fires
Hearts inflam'd with high Aſpires!
All the ſubſtance of our Souls
Up in clouds of Incenſe rolls.
Leave we nothing to our ſelves
Save a voice, what need we elſe!
Or an hand to wear and tire
On the thankful Lute or Lyre.
Sing aloud His praiſe rehearſe
Who hath made the Univerſe.

The Song of Sophron ſung by Bathinous, Dialog. 4. Sect. 39.

Great and marvellous are Thy works, Lord God of Might;
Thou Sovereign of Saints,
Thy ways are juſt and right.
Who ſhall not fear thee, Lord,
And glorifie thy Name?
Thou only Holy art;
Thine Acts no tongue can ſtain.
All Nations ſhall adore
Thy Judgments manifeſt,
Thy holy Name implore,
And in thy Truth ſhall reſt.

The Song of Philotheus, Dialog. 5. Sect. 41.

Thou who art enthron'd above,
Thou by whom we live and move,
O how ſweet! how excellent
Is't with Tongue and Heart's conſent,
Thankful Hearts and joyful Tongues,
To renown thy Name in Songs:
When the Morning paints the Skies,
When the ſparkling Stars ariſe,
Thy high Favours to reherſe,
Thy firm Faith in gratful verſe!
Take the Lute and Violin,
Let the ſolemn Harp begin,
Inſtruments ſtrung with ten ſtrings,
While the ſilver Cymbal rings.
From thy Works my Joy proceeds:
How I triumph in thy Deeds!
Who thy Wonders can expreſs?
All thy Thoughts are fathomleſs,
Hid from men in Knowledge blind,
Hid from Fools to Vice inclin'd.
Tell mankind Jehovah reigns;
He ſhall bind the World in chains,
So as it ſhall never ſlide,
And with ſacred Juſtice guide.
Let the ſmiling Heavens rejoice,
Joyful Earth exalt her voice:
Let the dancing Billows roar,
Echo's anſwer from the ſhoar,
Fields their flowry mantles ſhake:
All ſhall in their Joy partake;
While the Wood-Muſicians ſing
To the ever-youthful Spring.
Fill his Courts with ſacred Mirth.
He, He comes to judge the Earth.
Juſtly He the World ſhall ſway,
And his Truth to men diſplay.

CARMINA

Quædam in Scriptis Philoſophicis Anglice occurrentia.

IN DIVINIS DIALOGIS

Hylobaris Cantilena de Divina Providentia, Dialog. 2. Sect. 28.

UBI nunc objecta tui ſunt
Luctûs Gemitûſq; Metûſq; ?
Abiêre ut ſomnia vana
E fumis corporis orta.
Piceum ô Formidinis antrum !
Lemurum tenebroſa Caverna !
Animam quæ Noctis amaræ
Tetris perterritat Umbris.
Quid Peſtis ? Carcer ? Amicûm
Jactura, ac Bella Faméſq;
Quid Mors quæ cuncta reſorbet ?
Nil ſunt niſi Mormolycæa
Mentis ratione carentis,
Cæcorum & Panicus horror.
Unum te collige in Orbem
Lucis, terrámq; relinque,
Animæ vaga ſenſa coërce
Latum peragrantia mundum;
Sphæram ſic mens tua in unam
Lucentem pacta, Timores (Ut Noctis inania Spectra Surgens Aurora) fugabit.
Clarè tunc cernere poſſis
Teneris ut cuncta lacertis
Bonitas complectitur alma,
Quódq; hæc non ſunt mala vera,
Mala quæ vulgò eſſe putantur,
Verùm opportuna medela ac
Majorum cura malorum;
Anima ut mortalia cuncta
Sublimi tranſvolet alâ;
Talem repetátq; ſtatum quo
Pedibus Fata omnia calcet.
Vis certò ſecula Mundi
Quædam Divina creavit,
Sapientérq; atq; benignè
Etiamnum cuncta gubernat:
Sed noſtra Inſcitia caſus
Temerè cauſatur iniquos,
Cùm nemo fingere poſſit
Meliori tramite curſum
Primo quàm qui extitit uſq;
Decurſo Solis ab Orbe.
Summi de vertice Cœli
Qui conſpicit omnia, novit
Meliùs quàm ego quid ſit agendum.
Nec, cùm meus ipſe ego non ſim,
Mea ſi fortè ille repoſcit,
Ægrè id reputo eſſe ferendum.
Cæcis tua pectora curis
Propriâq; cupidine purga,
Mala nulla Deo eſſe profecta
Clará tunc luce videbis.
Totum rutilantibus Orbem
Radiis Bonitatis hìc implet,
Seſéq; per omnia fundit.
Cuncta hic, ſeu Lumen & Aura,
Pertranſit Spiritus, illis
Vitalis ut Halitus hauſtus,
Sibi queis non turpiter ultrò
Volupe eſt conſciſcere mortem.
Verùm quos occupat hujus
Vivæ Ignorantia Legis,
Hos ſemper ſolicitudo
Rerum de caſibus angit,
Miſeris perplexáq; rodunt
Triſtes præcordia Curæ.

Bathynoi Cantilena, Dialog. 3. Sect. 37.

Clarè hujus pangite laudes
Mundum qui condidit altum,
Cœlos ſine fine tetendit,
Vivóſq; hic pinſuit Orbes.
Hic celſi in vertice Olympi
Oculo vigili agmina paſcit;
Oculúmq; hunc multiplicavit,
Medio ut quôq; agmine præſit.
Radio ſic ſingula recto
Circumcurrentia tangit.
Agili motu illa rotata
Formant Noctémq; Diémq; Æſtas, Autumnus, Hyémſq;
Prono horum inducitur Axe.
Nunquam circa Ignea Centra
Ceſſant agitare Choreas.
Dum pulchro hoc ordine pergunt,
Jucundam motibus Echo
Vaſti per inania Cœli
Penetrantem molliter urgent.
Melos ! quod Jovis imum
Læto cor mulcet amore,
Vagulis delinit & aures
In ſphæris velificantûm.
Non ſermo, Lingua nec ulla,
Quò vox non ivit eorum.
Deus eſt ſapiénſq; Bonúſq;
Teſtatur tota creata
Vis, Linguáq; quæq; fatetur.
Unde orta, hunc cuncta recurrent,
Ut grata flumina, Ponto,
Hinc quod ſumpsêre, rependunt.

Totum

Totum nunc me, ecce, reſigno,
Tuus omnis ſum, accipe me omnem.
Proprio Deus eripe flammâ,
Vera hæc Mors, vera Gehenna.
Odium atrox, Livor & Ira
Gràvis & Vindicta faceſſat,
Pia nec præcordia tentet
Quævis male ſana Cupido.
Liber, tua facta canendo,
Tremulus tunc pectine chordas
Feriam ictu vividiori.
O proles ſancta Sophiæ
Vanas qui Relligiones
Ritè excuſſiſtis, adeſte,
Cantúſq; adjungite veſtros.
Vos de procul, ecce, ſaluto
Citharâ mihi dulcè vibriſſans.
Seu vos Ægyptia Tellus,
Seu Græca, Aſiatica, ſive
Juga Carmeli Libaníve,
Montíſve cacumina Lunæ,
(Pinguis nivea ubera Nili)
Aliúíve locus teneat, Nos
Omnes ſumus unus & idem,
Quamquam loca diſſita habemus,
Dum omnes communiter unâ
Vitali veſcimur Aurâ.
Unà vice ſurgite, ſacra
Unà faciamus, odores
Tingant ſuavi Æthera fumo.
O, quàm bene molliter urit
Cœleſtis fulgetra mentem
Myſteria ad ardua anhelam!
Subſtantia tota Anima!
In nubes Thuris odoras
Cœlum ſcandit reſoluta:
Scandat cœlóſq; ita tota,
Noſtri ut pars nulla ſuperſit
Præter vocémve manúmve
(Neq; enim his eſt pluribus uſus)
Operâ quas porrò teramus
Gratæ Citharæve Lyræve.
Clarè hujus pangite laudes
Mundum qui condidit altum.

Sophronis Cantilena à Bathynoo cantata,
Dialog. 4. Sect. 39.

O Deus omnipotens! equidem magna atq; ſtupenda
Tua ſunt opera edita Mundo.
Eſt ratióq; viarum juſta ac vera tuarum,
Sanctorum ô inclyte Princeps!
Quis poterit quin te timeat, Domine, atq; verendum
Submiſsé nomen honoret?
Quippe quòd es ſanctus ſolus, tuáq; omnia Facta
Puro candore renident;
Omnis adoratum veniet Gens quum innotuêre
Tua Judicia æqua per Orbem:
Vota tibi ſanctè facient, & lumine cuncti
Sub Evangelico requieſcent.

Cantilena Philothei,
Dialog. 5. Sect. 41.

O tu quem in ſede ſuperna
Reſidentem gloria cingit,
Quo vivimus atq; movemur!
O quàm dulce atq; decorum eſt
Conſenſu Cordis & Oris,
Hilari corde oréque grato
Nomen celebrare tuum, cùm
Roſea Aurora Æthera pingit!
Cùm fulgida Sydera ſurgunt,
Memorare fidem atq; favores
Ingentes, carmine læto!
Citharam cape Barbitulúmq;
Quin incipiat Lyra dulcis,
Inſtrumenta & decachorda,
Cúmq; his argentea jungant
Tinnitus Cymbala acutos.
Animum ut recreant tua Facta!
Quantos ago ego indé Triumphos!
Tua quis miracula narret!
Tua Conſilia alta ut Abyſſus,
Cæcis abſcondita homullis,
Stultis abſcondita quorum
Vitium corda obtenebravit.
Humanæ dicite Genti
Regnum occepiſſe Jehovam,
Arctis Populúmq; catenis
Ad juſtum aſtringere & æquum.
Ridentes plaudite Cœli!
Vocem effer lætaq; Tellus!
Fluctus ſaltate Marini
Atq; auguſtum edite murmur,
Littúſq; reverberet Echo.
Tunicas vibrate virentes
Ornati floribus Agri;
Lætentur cunctáque, Veri
Æterno dulcè reflectunt
Avium dum cantica Sylvæ.
Reboënt ſacro atria plauſu,
Venit, en! venit ille ſuperbum
Juſte qui temperet Orbem,
Populo qui jura det æqua,
Myſteria veráq; pandat.

AN ALPHABETICAL TABLE

Both of the PRINCIPAL MATTERS contain'd in this Vol.

And of the Texts of Scripture therein explain'd.

NOTE. Ch. ſtands for Chapter or Chapters, Sect. for Section or Sections.

A

Aaron.

AARON's Caſe in making the Golden Calf, briefly ſtated, Pag. 399. Sect. 4.

Abel.

The myſtical Signification of the Word, pag. 39. Sect. 2.

Abſolution

How far neceſſary, p. 442. Ch. 21.

Abſtinence

From Fleſh in ſome Religious Orders, the Fraud and Miſchief of it, p. 437. Sect. 2.

Ἄβυσσος

Is in Scripture ſometimes the ſame as θάλασσα, p. 123. Sect. 5.

Achaz

Sacrificed his Son after the Manner of the Canaanites, p. 61. Sect. 2.

Acts of the Apoſtles,

CH. II. 2, 3. 'Suddenly there came a 'Sound from Heaven —— And there ap- 'peared unto them cloven Tongues, &c. p. 112. Sect. 3. &c.

Ver. 23. 'Him, being delivered by the 'determinate Counſel and Fore-knowledge 'of God, &c. p. 591. Sect. 2.

CH. VII. 43. 'Ye took up the Taber- 'nacle of Moloch and the Star of your 'God Remphan, Figures which ye made to 'worſhip them, p. 472. Sect. 6.

Ἅδης.

The Word in general ſignifies nothing elſe but the Inviſible State of Souls ſeparate from the Body, p. 20. Sect. 3.

Adoration,

The higheſt kind of it, p. 37. Sect. 4.

Whence ſome are prone to adore ſenſible Objects, p. 821. Sect. 42.

See Worſhip.

Air

The Region of Evil Spirits, p. 536. Sect. 7.

Allegories.

They are of two ſorts perfect or mixt, p. 206. Sect. 3, 4.

See Scripture.

Amos

CH. V. 25. 'Have ye offered unto me 'Sacrifices and Burnt-Offerings in the Wil- 'derneſs forty Years, O Houſe of Iſrael? p. 522. Sect. 8.

Ἀνάστασις,

The Meaning of the Word, p. 155. Sect. 4, 5. Ἀνάστασις & ἔγερσις, the various Signification of them, p. 12. Sect. 5.

Angels.

Several Opinions concerning their Nature and Essence, p. 5. Sect. 7.

Every Angel as truly a Person as a Man, p. 26. Sect. 1.

The Existence of good Angels, how proved, p. 24. Sect. 4. p. 139. Sect. 2.

That there is a Polity among the Angels and Souls separate, p. 26. Sect. 1.

The Meaning of the Word Angel in the Revelations of St. John, p. 725. Sect. 4.

Stars sometimes signifie Angels in a Cabbalistical Sense, p. 552. Sect. 14.

An Angel incapable of being a Sacrifice for the Sins of the World, p. 102. Sect. 4.

No kind of Religious Worship due to Angels, p. 407. Sect. 5. &c. Evasions touching the Praying to them answered, p. 415. Sect. 6.

Angels fallen,

Probably of the 4th Order of Spirits, p. 24. Sect. 2.

They had a twofold Principle of Life in them, Divine and Animal; their Fall consisted in their betaking themselves to the Animal Life without measure, p. 25. Sect. 1.

Animal Life. See Life.

Antichrist.

The Inconvenience of describing Antichrist from circumstantial Characters, and leaving out the essential Parts of the Description, p. 389. Sect. 2.

Antichrist, emblematized in the Description of the Leviathan, p. 493. Sect. 7.

He was not in Pope Gregory's Judgment to be born of the Tribe of Dan, but of Levi, p. 486. Sect. 2.

That the famous Antichrist was foretold to be in the Church not out of it, p. 514. Sect. 10. Predictions thereof, p. 569. Sect. 13. p. 574. Sect. 8, &c. p. 579. Sect. 6, &c. p. 624. Sect. 6. p. 647, 650, 655, 658. Ch. 9, 10, 11, 12.

Whether the coming of the true Antichrist, is any where in Scripture foretold under that Name, p. 520. Sect. 4, &c.

The coming of Antichrist at the very last End of the World, a Chimerical Fiction, p. 569. Sect. 15.

The Reign of Antichrist within what Compass of Years comprised, p. 635. Sect. 5.

The Ruin of Antichrist, how it may be said to draw near, and what may retard it, p. 635. Sect. 5. Consect. 5. How Protestants may compute that the final Ruin of Antichrist is at hand, p. 761. Sect. 4.

Simon Magus, The Antichrist, and the Gnosticks compared together, and their wonderful Agreement shewn, p. 698. Sect. 7.

Antichristianism

What and wherein it consists, p. 390. Sect. 3. p. 395. Sect. 6.

The Church of Rome chargeable with Antichristianism in very many Instances, p. 389, to p. 515.

The Antichristianism we have so punctually describ'd in our Idea, is in Truth a kind of Pagano-Christianism, p. 519. Sect. 1, &c.

A Recapitulation of the whole Idea of Antichristianism, p. 509. Ch. 17.

For a more particular Description of the several Members and Parts of Antichristianism, and the Prophecies relating thereto, see the following Heads, Blasphemy, Celibacy, Ceremonies, Charity, Christ his Titles, Cruelty, Exorcism, Faith, Fraud, Hierarchy, Idolatry, Impurity, Infallibility, King, Miracles, Pope, Power, Pride, Priest, Prophet, Saints, Transubstantiation.

Antichronismus.

What, and its Origine, p. 533. Sect. 12.

Antinomians.

Their Opinions absurd, p. 265. Sect. 4.
See Righteousness.

Antipas

Martyr, who, p. 622. Sect. 13. p. 731. Sect. 2, 3. p. 733. in Sect. 4.

Ἀντιπλαργεῖν

What, p. 33. Sect. 4.

Antitrinitarians

Who, p. 354. Sect. 3. their Plea answered, ib. Sect. 5, &c.
See Trinity.

Apparitions.

A Relation of several Apparitions from Histories, before Plagues, Wars, &c. p. 151. Sect. 4.

Apollonius

Tyaneus, whom some of the Heathens equall'd with Christ, his Birth, Pedigree, &c. p. 71. Sect. 4.

A brief Parallelism of the History of Christ and Apollonius, p. 71. Sect. 5, 6. p. 74. Ch. 4. p. 83. Ch. 9. p. 85. Ch. 10. p. 94. Sect. 6. p. 103. Ch. 7.

A Comparison of the Temper and Spirit in Apollonius, with that in Christ, p. 86, 88. Ch. 11, 12.

The Pride of Apollonius; Instances of it, p. 87. Sect. 3, &c.

His Arraignment before Domitian, p. 94. Sect. 6.

Apostacy

Of the Church, when it commenced, p. 634. Consect. 2, &c.

Apostacy from Christ may subject a Man to the Tyranny of Satan, p. 77. Sect. 4, &c.

The Apostacy mention'd in the Prophecy of the Man of Sin, is neither the Defection from the Faith to the Gnostic Heresie, nor the leaving of the Jews by the Apostles, p. 697. Sect. 4.

Apostles.

That no one Apostle had Authority or Headship over the rest, p. 487. Sect. 6.

Apotheosis.

Apotheosis of Christ, what meant by it, p. 100. Sect. 1. Foretold in the Prophecies, p. 210. Sect. 4. Proofs of Christ's Apotheosis, p. 104. Sect. 9. Three main Consequences of it, p. 111. Ch. 11. Free'd from all Suspicion of Idolatry, p. 100. Sect. 2.

Apotheoses, very frequent among the Gentiles, p. 64. Sect. 4.

Arminianism.

A middle Opinion between Arminianism and Calvinism proposed, p. 352. Sect. 2, &c.

Armour

Of a Christian what, p. 275. Sect. 6.

Ascension.

Of the Messiah lively prefigured in the Psalms, p. 210. Sect. 3.

The Ascension of Christ a sure Pledge of the Soul's Activity in a thinner Vehicle, p. 98. Sect. 1.

Assistances

Of a Christian, sufficient for the attaining to such a Degree of Sanctity and Righteousness as the Gospel requires, p. 276. Ch. 8. These are, I. the Promise of the Co-operation of the Holy Spirit, p. 277. Sect. 3. II. the Example of Christ, p. 289. Sect. 7. III. Meditation on the Passion of Christ, p. 302. Sect. 1. IV. Meditation on the Resurrection and Ascension of Christ, p. 309. Ch. 17. V. Meditation on the Day of Judgment, p. 311. Ch. 18.

Astrologers

Their several Ways of erecting a Scheme, p. 243. Sect. 6.

Astrology

Its main Principles, p. 240. Sect. 1, 2, &c. A Confutation of them, p. 244, 252. Ch. 19, 20.

The Agency of the Devil in Astrological Predictions, p. 253. Sect. 5, &c.

The Reason of the Author's handling this Subject, p. 254. Sect. 8.

Athanasius

His Creed, Observations upon it, p. 320. Ch. 2.

See Creed.

Atheists.

The Tenets of the Epicurean and Aristotelian Atheists, p. 238. Sect. 2, 5.

See God.

Attribute.

An Attribute of God what, and how violated, p. 807. Partic. 10.

B

Babylon.

HER Fall not at once, but by Degrees, p. 676. Sect 3.

The Fall of Babylon cannot be the sacking of Rome by Totilas, p. 678 in the Exposition of Ver. 21.

The Burning of Babylon in a mystical Sense confirm'd, p. 680. sect. 1.

Bacchanalia

Of the Heathen, a Description of them, p. 55. Sect. 2.

A Description of those in the Antichristian Church, p. 495. Sect. 8.

Baptism.

Of the Time of Baptism, p. 380. sect. 14.

The Necessity of improving our Baptismal Grace, p. 337. Sect. 4.

Birth

Of Christ. See Christ.

Blasphemy,

Every Idolatry is Blasphemy. p. 413. Sect. 6.

The Religious Honour given in the Antichristian Church to Saints and Angels is really a Reproaching and Blaspheming them, p. 476. Sect. 2. This foretold, p. 572. Sect. 4. p. 650. Sect. 2.

Blood.

What the Meaning of Blood in Covenant is, p. 334. Sect. 3.

Body.

Our Saviour's appearing or disappearing at Pleasure does not prove that he did not rise with the same Body, p. 98. Sect. 9.

Brutes.

There are some refin'd animal Passions in Brutes; as a Sense of Praise, natural Affection, &c. A sort of Government among them, p. 33. Sect. 5, &c.

C.

Calf.

THE Golden Calf was no Figure of the Ægyptian Apis, but a Cherub, p. 399. Sect. 3.

The Israelites worshipped Jehovah in the Golden Calf, p. 398. Sect. 1. p. 809. Sect. 10.

The Golden Calves in Dan and Bethel were two Cherubins set up for the Worship of the God of Israel, p. 400. Sect. 5.

The worshipping of the Golden Calf in Horeb, and of the Calves in Dan and Bethel was Idolatry, p. 401. Sect. 8.

The Golden Calf was a Symbol of the Divine Presence, p. 809. Sect. 9.

Calvinism.

A middle Opinion between that and Arminianism, propos'd, p. 352. Sect. 2, &c.

Catharmata

Of the Heathens what, p. 63. Sect. 1. This Sacrifice was ordinarily made of the vilest sort of People, p. 63. Sect. 2.

Celibacy.

The Vow of Celibacy in the Church of Rome burthensome, p. 437. Sect. 3. The dangerous Purposes thereof, 438. Sect. 4. &c. It leads to Impurity, p. 495. Sect. 3. An antient Pagan Ceremony in the Priests of Juno, &c. p. 610. Sect. 16. Predictions concerning Celibacy and Abstinence from Meat, p. 652. Sect. 6. p. 659. Sect. 3. p. 688 in Sect 11.

Censuring.

That we ought not to censure others for things of an indifferent Nature. Instances thereof, p. 342. Sect. 8.

Ceremonies.

A Multitude of Ceremonies and Observances may amount to an intolerable Burthen, p. 429. Sect. 1, &c.

What additional Ceremonies ought to be in the Christian Church, p. 383. Sect. 18. The great Number in the Antichristian Church, p. 429, 433. 437. Ch. 17, 18, 19. The Ceremonies in the Antichristian Church were foretold, p. 603. Ch. 17.

Testimonies from Scripture to prove that Christ came to ease Men of the Judaical Burthen of Ceremonies, p. 393 Sect. 2.

Charity,

Its excellent Nature, p. 37. Sect. 4.

That Charity is the very Life and Soul of the Polity of Christ, p. 498. Sect. 1.

St. Paul's rapturous Commendation and Description of it, p. 263. Sect. 5, 6. p. 310. Sect. 3.

Opposition to the Divine Grace of Charity in the Antichristian Church, p. 499. Sect. 4. to p. 509.

See Love.

Cherubins

Not the Object of Adoration among the Jews, p. 811. Sect. 14. Nor did the High-Priest adore them, when he was in the Holy of Holies, p. 811. Sect. 15, &c.

See Calf.

Christ.

That there was such a Person proved by the Testimony of Heathen Authors, p. 214. Sect. 5, &c. p. 217. Sect. 2.

Some of the Roman Emperors attempted to have him entered among the Roman Deities, p. 217. Sect. 1.

His Divinity proved, p. 8. Sect. 1, 2, &c.

Christ, a warrantable Object of Divine Worship, p. 321. Sect. 6. p. 348. Sect. 2. p. 391. sect. 2.

His receiving Divine Honour free'd from all Suspicion of Idolatry, p. 100. Ch. 5.

Several Grounds of Honour due to him, p. 394. Sect. 2.

His peculiar Titles in the Old and New Testament, are the Truth, the Life, the Light, the mighty God, the everlasting Father. Opposition to these Titles in the Antichristian Church, p. 471. Ch. 6. This Opposition foretold, p. 675. Sect. 1.

That Christ was to be worshipp'd as God, clear from the Old Testament, p. 210. Sect. 4.

Jesus whom we worship, proved to be the Christ from the antient Prophecies, p. 191, 195, 197. Ch. 2, 3, 4.

See Jews, Prophecies.

Nothing that was done by our Blessed Lord can seem impossible to them that acknowledge the Existence of a God, &c. p. 72. Sect. 1. &c.

That the Humane Nature of Christ was in Being before his Incarnation, p. 15. Sect. 4, &c.

Christ, why born of a Virgin, p. 69. Sect. 4, 5. This neither impossible, nor unreasonable, p. 69. Sect. 1, 2.

Several Circumstances of our Saviour's Birth, p. 70. Sect. 1, 2, 3.

An Enumeration of the main Heads of his History, p. 68. Sect. 5.

Why he exposed himself to all manner of Hardships, p. 72. Sect. 3. 4.

Christ.

Of the Offices of Christ. See King, Priest, Prophet.

How Christ may be stiled the Father of his Church, p. 394. Sect. 2. p. 473. Sect. 8, 9.

Calumnies against our blessed Saviour answered, p. 290. Ch. 13.

The Reasons for the Opinion of Christ's personal Reign upon Earth, but slender, p. 360. Sect. 4.

His Session at the Right-Hand of God, may be understood either figuratively or properly, p. 99. Ch. 4.

Three Things considerable in our Lord's Return to Judgment, p. 146. Ch. 6.

All Judgment given to him by the Father, p. 158. Sect. 5.

The Humane Person of Christ not to be despised, p. 179. Sect. 2, &c.

Since Humane Spirits are inferior to the Angelic Orders, How is it that Christ is Sovereign over Angels and Men? p. 101. Sect. 1, &c.

A Testimony of R. Nehemias concerning the Coming of Christ, p. 204. Sect. 2. And also of Tacitus, p. 205. Sect. 4.

What Things in the Pagan Religion are rectified and compleated in the Birth, Passion, Ascension, and Resurrection of Christ, p. 103. Sect. 8.

See Jesus, Messiah, Word, Passion.

Christian.

The Character of a true Christian, p. 297. Sect. 2. p. 359. Sect. 2. p. 362. Sect. 3.

The comely Frame of a true Christian Spirit, p. 358. Sect. 4.

A good Christian's Armour, p. 275. Sect. 6.

His Endeavour after Perfection, p. 276. Sect 7.

Principles which he is closely to keep to, p. 338. Ch. 10.

The most importunate Devotions of a true Christian, p. 339. Ch. 11. Sect. 3.

A Parallel drawn betwixt what our Lord suffered and what true Christians are liable to, p. 298. Sect. 4, &c.

The Character of a False and Titular Christian, p. 297. Sect. 3.

Christianity.

A brief Description of the Nature of Christianity, p. 30. Ch. 7. Sect. 5. p. 67. Sect. 1.

Its Design in general, p. 255. Sect. 1, 2. p. 348. Ch. 3.

A general Idea of it, being an Abridgment or Recapitulation of what went before, p. 167. Ch. 11.

Christianity gives none a Liberty of sinning, p. 265. Sect. 4, 5, 6.

Christianity is the Sum and Perfection of whatever Things were laudable in any Religion, p. 68. Sect. 2, 3.

Highly credible from its Success, Circumstances considered, p. 113. Sect. 9. p. 235. Ch. 16.

Its Reasonableness from the constant and perpetual Tradition thereof, p. 189. Sect. 2.

Its Usefulness for the Good of this Life, p. 315. Ch. 20. Objections answered, p. 316. Sect. 3, &c.

That Christianity is intelligible, p. 322. Sect. 1. The Method of making it so, p. 322. Sect. 2. Examples of it, p. 323. Sect. 3, 4, 5.

Christianity succeeding Judaism, was by the special Counsel of God, not by the Influence of the Stars, p. 239, Sect. 7.

The Objections of Vaninus and Cardanus answered, p. 238. Sect. 2, &c.

How small a Part of the World possesses Christianity, and how few real Christians therein, p. 344. Sect. 5.

The Corruption of Christianity upon its becoming the Religion of the Empire, p. 116. Sect. 1. Other Causes thereof, p. 344. Sect. 6. p. 345. Ch. 2. p. 355. Sect. 1, &c.

Its inward Life and Spirit will be restored at the last, p. 118. Sect. 8, 9.

See Religion, Gospel.

Church.

The Word Church whence derived, p. 374, Sect. 5.

The Measure of the external Fabric and Beauty of Churches, p. 373. Sect. 2. In some Sense Holy, p. 375. Sect. 6.

Church of Christ.

The Pretensions of the Romanists for the Church's having one visible Head answered, p. 486. Sect. 3, &c.

What meant by one Catholick and Apostolick Church, p. 502. Sect. 3.

The Foundation of all Corruptions therein, p. 345. Ch. 2.

Church of Christ was free from Idolatry and Antichristianism, till about 400 Years after Christ, p. 634. Consect. 2.

The Christian Church after the Apostacy, was only hid not lost, p. 116. Sect. 2.

The Fall of the Church into a degenerate Condition, and its Recovery foretold in the Revelations, p. 125. Sect. 7. This Fall being foretold with exact Circumstances, a sure Pledge of its Recovery, p. 612. Sect. 20.

Church of Rome.

See Rome.

Church of England.

The Church of England free from all Suspicion of Antichristianism, p. 703, 711. Ch. 22, 23.

The Celebration of Holy-Days, keeping of Lent, Use of the Surplice, and Sign of the Cross in Baptism in the Sense of the Church of England, fully vindicated from all Imputation of Superstition and Antichristianism, p. 708. Sect. 8, 9.

'Tis her peculiar Glory in that She is free from all Frauds and Impostures, from Pride and from Antichristian Impurity and Cruelty, p. 714. Sect. 8, &c.

She has not the least Shew of Idolatry in celebrating the Lord's-Supper, p. 821. Sect. 41.

She is free from the Charge of Idolatry in her Use of several Ceremonies, p. 819. Sect. 36, &c.

Her diametrical Opposition to that part of Antichristianism which would subvert the Offices of Christ, p. 711. Sect. 1, 2, 3.

Of the Reformation of the Church of England in Doctrine and Institutes, p. 703. Sect. 1.

She condemns the Invocation of Saints, the Adoration of the Sacrament, and the Worshipping of Images, as Idolatrous, p. 704, 705. Sect. 2, 3, 4.

She concludes the manner of the Papists Worshipping Saints and Images to be plainly the same with that of the Pagans, p. 706. Sect. 5.

The Church of England justly censures the Adorning of Images, p. 706. Sect. 6.

She intimates that the Apostatiz'd Church of Rome is prefigured in the Type of the Whore of Babylon, p. 706. Sect. 6.

How perfectly she has freed us from the Yoke of Popery, p. 707. Sect. 7.

See Reformation.

Clergy-man.

The right End of his Office, p. 376. Sect. 10. The best way to magnifie it, p. 379. Sect. 12.

How a Clergy-man should behave himself in communicating the Mysteries of the Gospel, p. 323. Sect. 6, 7. p. 324. Ch. 4.

His Behaviour in Matters indifferent, p. 380. Sect. 14.

The Endeavour to impoverish the Clergy smells rank of Prophaneness and Infidelity, p. 368. Sect. 6.

Colossians,

'CH. II. 14. Blotting out the Hand-'writing of Ordinances, &c. p. 393. Sect. 2.

'Ver. 18. In a voluntary Humility and 'Worshipping of Angels, p. 65. Sect. 2.

Ver. 19, 'Not holding the Head, p. 472. Sect. 6.

Comets

What: Signs or Causes of great Droughts, p. 161. Sect. 1.

Commandments.

Of the Morality of the ten Commandments. See Decalogue.

Confession

Useful in some Cases, p. 443. Sect. 6, 7.

Confession, as enjoin'd and practised in the Church of Rome, not founded in Scripture, p. 442. Ch. 21.

Conflagration

Of the World. See World.

Conscience.

True Peace of Conscience not to be obtain'd, but by the rooting out of Sin, p. 339. Sect. 1, &c.

Liberty of Conscience

To whom it belongs, p. 361. Sect. 2, 3. p. 366. Sect. 1. This to a serious Professor of Christianity, prejudicial to the Interests of no Church, but that of Rome, p. 362. Sect. 4. Proved by the Testimony of the Fathers, p. 362. Sect. 5. By other Arguments, p. 363. Sect. 6. 7.

Liberty of Conscience belongs not to those who deny a God, and a Life to come, p. 361. Sect. 1.

Contradictions

To be excluded from Religion, p. 319. Sect. 5.

See Trinity, Union.

1 Epist. Corinthians.

CH. I. 30. 'Of him are ye in Christ Jesus, 'who of God is made unto us, Wisdom, 'Righteousness, Sanctification, and Redemption, p. 270. Sect. 10.

CH. II. 14. 'The natural Man receiveth 'not, &c. p. 283. Sect. 2.

CH. III. 15. 'If any Mans Work be 'burnt, &c. p. 447. Sect. 7.

CH. IV. 13. 'We are the Off-scouring 'of all Things unto this Day, p. 63. Sect. 2.

CH. XI. 26. As often as ye eat this Bread 'and drink this Cup, ye do shew the 'Lord's Death till he come, p. 308. Sect. 7.

2 Epist. Corinthians.

CH. V. 16. 'Wherefore henceforth 'know we no Man after the Flesh, p. 180. Sect. 4.

Covenant.

An ancient Form of entring into Covenant in the Pagan Religion, p. 334. Sect. 3.

In what the Terms Covenant and Law agree, p. 326. Sect. 3. In what the Terms Covenant and Testament, p. 326. Sect. 5.

There were more Old Covenants than one, p. 327. Sect. 1.

To what Old Covenant the New Covenant is counterdistinguished, with the Difference between them, p. 327. Sect. 2, 3, 4, 5. p. 328. Ch. 7. p. 332. Sect. 7.

The Condition and Nature of the Old Mosaical Covenant describ'd, p. 328. Sect. 1, 2, 3.

The

The Nature of the New Covenant describ'd, p. 328. Sect. 1, 2, 3. The Danger of making it a Covenant of Works, p. 341. Sect. 4.

What really to enter into the New Covenant, p. 336. Sect. 1, 2.

The Difference between a Son of the second Covenant, and a Slave of the First, p. 339. Sect. 4.

That there lies an Obligation on us to perform our Part of the New Covenant, proved, p. 334. Sect. 2, 3. The Danger of a contrary Opinion, p. 335. Sect. 5, 6.

Covenanter.

The New Covenanter is born of Water and of the Spirit, p. 337. Sect. 3.

Some Principles which he is closely to keep to, p. 338. Ch. 10.

Some Cautions and Counsels to him, p. 340. Ch. 12.

The diligent Search he ought to make to find out whatever is corrupt and sinful in him, p. 339. Sect. 1.

Creature.

What meant by the Expression, a New Creature, p. 272. Sect. 5, &c.

Some Principles which he is closely to adhere to, p. 338. Ch. 10.

See Regeneration.

Creed.

The Terms One, Unity, Omnipatent, Equal, have not the same Signification every where in the Athanasian Creed, p. 320. Sect. 1, 2, 3.

There must of Necessity be a Latitude of Sense in several Words in that Creed, p. 319. Sect. 6. p. 320. Ch. 2.

Cross.

Of the Use of the Sign of the Cross in Baptism, p. 380. Sect. 14.

Cruelty.

The Cruelty of the Devil over-lapsed Mankind, proved in various Instances, p. 58. Ch. 13, 14, 15.

Divers Examples of Antichristian Cruelty, p. 504, 507. Ch. 15, 16. This foretold, p. 572. lin. 10. p. 651. lin. 19. p. 679. lin. 52. p. 700. Sect. 9, &c. p. 738. Sect. 5. p. 742. Sect. 17.

Cybele.

The Mother of the Gods, her villanous Rites, p. 55. Sect. 1.

D

Demon.

Δαίμων & ἄγγελος how the same in Signification, and how they differ, p. 65. Sect. 2.

Who, according to the Opinions of the most ancient Philosophers, were Daemons, p. 64. Sect. 1.

Whatsoever is religiously worshipped, besides the Maker of Heaven and Earth, is a Demon, p. 656. Sect. 6.

Arguments used by Pagans for begetting a Belief of the Residence of Demons near their Statues, p. 402. Sect. 4.

The Form of casting out unclean Spirits among the Jews and Egyptians, p. 292. Sect. 2.

The Ignorance of the Daemons that instructed the Indian Magicians, p. 41. Sect. 6.

Δαιμονιζόμενοι, The Ambiguity thereof, p. 79. Sect. 10.

See Devil.

Daniel.

'CH. II. 34. Thou sawest till that a 'Stone was cut out without Hands, p. 668. Sect. 6.

'CH. II. 44. In the Days of these Kingdoms shall the God of Heaven set up a 'Kingdom, p. 667. Sect. 4.

'CH. VII. 6. After this I beheld, and 'lo, another like a Leopard, &c. p. 670. Sect. 11.

CH. VII. 8. 'I considered the Horns, 'and behold there came up another little 'Horn, p. 671. Sect. 15, 16.

CH. IX. 24. 'Seventy Weeks are de-'termined, &c. p. 197. Ch. 4.

CH. XI. 36, 37. 'And the King shall 'do according to his Will, and he shall 'exalt himself, &c. p. 688. Sect. 11. p. 655. Ch. 11.

CH. XII. 11, 12. 'Blessed be he that 'waiteth and cometh to the 1335 Days, &c. p. 653. Sect. 10.

Days.

In the Prophecies do sometimes signifie so many Years, p. 120. Sect. 2.

Decalogue.

Why writ with God's own Finger on Tables of Stone, p. 421. Sect. 6.

Written to the Capacity of the People, p. 790. Sect. 3.

The whole Decalogue moral, p. 421. Sect. 6. p. 774. in Sect. 3.

Devils.

Their Existence, how proved, p. 24. Sect. 3.

The absolute and universal Dominion of the Devil before Christ came, p. 54. Ch. 10.

His Tyranny over lapsed Mankind, p. 53. Sect. 3, 4. His Contempt and Tyranny in several Instances of Worship, p. 58. Ch. 13.

His Agency in Astrological Predictions, p. 253. Sect. 5, &c.

Why our Lord permitted the Devils to enter into the Swine, p. 80. Sect. 5, 6.

Some Difficulties about Christ's dispossessing Devils considered, p. 77, 79. Ch. 6, 7.

An Abuse of a Prophecy in the Revelations, by the Devil to the Damage of the Church, p. 525. Sect. 3.

Deuteroplerosis

Whether a third kind of Henopæia, p. 529. Sect. 8.

Διαθήκη

Signifies both Law, Covenant, and Testament, p. 325. Sect. 2.

The Doctrine of Christ why rather stiled Διαθήκη than νόμος, p. 326. Sect. 6, 7, 8.

Ἡ καινὴ Διαθήκη what, p. 325. Sect. 2.

Diorismus

What: Examples of numeral Diorisms, p. 525. Sect. 5. Examples of proportional and special Diorisms, p. 527. Sect. 9, 10.

Dispensations.

The Fraud and Mischief of assuming a Power to dispense with the Divine Laws, p. 461. Sect. 6, 7.

Divinity of Christ

Proved, p. 8. Ch. 5. No Intricacy therein, but what the Schools have brought in, p. 321. Sect. 5.

The Union of Christ with the eternal Word, implys no Contradiction, p. 321. Sect. 6.

To deny the Divinity of Christ and the Trinity, subverts Christianity, p. 10. Sect. 5.

See Christ.

Divine Life,

The Root and Foundation of it, p. 36. Sect. 1.

See Life.

Dreams.

There is the same Reason of the Signification and Interpretation of Dreams, as there is of Visions, provided they be meerly visional, not complexional, p. 535. Sect. 4.

E

Eclipse

OF the Sun at our Saviour's Passion. See Sun.

Election.

The Doctrines of Election and Reprobation examined by certain Rules laid down in the foregoing Chapter, p. 350. Sect. 3, &c. p. 352. Ch. 5.

Eleusinia.

The Eleusinia of the Pagans, instituted in Honour of Ceres, how foul and obscene; and how much frequented, p. 57. Sect. 1, 2.

Ellipsis

Prophetica what, p. 531. Sect. 6. Illustrated by Examples, p. 532. Sect. 8. p. 582. Sect. 13.

Church of England.

See Church.

Enthusiasts.

Those Enthusiasts, who wou'd make their Union with God, the same with that of Christ's, subvert the Christian Religion, p. 10. Sect. 5.

The natural Wilyness of Enthusiasts, p. 109, Sect. 8.

Their incurable Condition, p. 152. Sect. 3.

See Impostors. Union.

Epiphanius.

Two Passages of his explain'd and corrected concerning St. John's Banishment to, and Return from, the Island of Patmos, p. 620. Sect. 7.

Episcopacy,

A demonstrative Vindication of it, from the Imputation of Antichristianism, out of the Revelations, p. 712. Sect. 4.

Example.

The immense Priviledge of the Example of Christ, p. 301. Sect. 16, 17.

The Example of Christ the fourth Gospel Power, p. 289. Sect. 7. vindicated from the Calumnies brought against it, p. 290. ch. 13.

Exorcism.

The Falsehood, Fraud, and Mischief of those used in the Antichristian Church, p. 433. ch. 18. This foretold, p. 679. line 42.

Ezekiel

CH. XXVIII. 2. to ver. 5. & ver. 12. to ver. 18. 'Son of Man say unto the Prince 'of Tyre, &c. Son of Man take up a La-'mentation upon the King of Tyre, &c. p. 680. Sect. 2, 3.

F

Faith

IN general what, p. 765. Faith describ'd, p. 267. Sect. 6.

Faith properly so called, what, p. 766. Concluf. 1. The

The Faith ſo much commended by St. Paul, what, p. 267. Sect. 6.
That of Abraham, what, p. 269. in Sect. 8.
The Neceſſity of imitating Abraham's Faith, p. 331. Sect. 6.
What that Faith is which is imputed for Righteouſneſs, p. 268, 269, 270. Sect. 8, 9.
True ſaving Faith is properly a Covenant, p. 325. Sect. 2.
A True and firm Belief in Chriſt, is from the New Birth, p. 741. Sect. 14.
The glorious Effects of Faith in the Primitive Times, p. 115. Sect. 2, 3.
Obediential Faith and Affiance in God the Root of the Divine Life, p. 36. Sect. 1.
A ſort of almoſt omnipotent Faith neceſſary to the new Covenanter, p 338. Sect. 2.
Whether we are ſaved by Faith alone, p. 266. Ch. 5.
Mens Zeal for the Opinion of being ſaved by Faith alone groundleſs, p. 356. Sect. 3.
Faith as diſtinguiſh'd from Knowledge and Wiſdom, what, p. 458. Sect. 18.
A very eminent and highly conſiderable Object of our Chriſtian Faith diſcovered, p. 332. Sect. 7.
There is a Divine Certainty of Faith, p. 768. Concluſ. 23.
The Moral and Humane Certainty of Faith, upon what grounded, p. 767. Concluſ. 16.
The common or Catholic Faith, what, p. 768. Concluſ. 22.
Hiſtorical Faith, what, p. 325. Sect. 1.
Several Things in the Antichriſtian Church that naturally tend to extinguiſh Faith; ſuch as Lying Miracles, incredible Reliques, Tranſubſtantiation, p. 480. Ch. 8. This foretold, p. 485. Sect. 22. p. 685. Sect. 4.

Fall of Man.

See Man.

Familiſts. See Impoſtors.

Faſting

That of our Saviour, p. 73. Sect. 6.

Father.

How Chriſt may be ſtiled the Father of his Church, p. 394. Sect. 2.

Fig-tree

Why curſed by our Lord, p. 82. Sect. 5, &c.

Flagellation,

The Practice of it in the Church of Rome, the Ineffectualneſs thereof; Miſchiefs ariſing therefrom, &c. p. 439. Sect. 9, 10.
This Harſh Self-Severity fetched rather from Egypt than Old Rome, p. 610. Sect. 16.

Fortitude.

A Deſcription thereof, p. 37. Sect. 6.
Our Saviour the greateſt Example of it, p. 37. Sect. 7.

Fraud.

The Frauds uſed in the Antichriſtian Church for acquiring Power, p. 487. Sect. 7. This foretold, p. 671. line 11. p. 671. Sect. 16.

G

Galatians.

'CH. II. 16. KNowing that a Man is 'not juſtified by the 'Works of the Law, &c. p. 271. Sect. 1.
'CH. IV. 21, &c. Abraham had two 'Sons; the one by a Bondmaid, &c. p. 328. 'Ch. 7.
'CH. V. 23. Againſt ſuch there is no 'Law, p. 272. Sect. 3.

Geneſis.

'CH. III. 15. It ſhall bruiſe thy Head, 'p. 233. Sect. 3.
'CH. XIX. 26. She became a Pillar of 'Salt, p. 162. Sect. 5.
'CH. XLIX. 10. The Scepter ſhall not 'depart, &c. p. 191. Ch. 2.

David George. See Impoſtors.

Holy Ghoſt,

His Deſcent upon our Saviour at his Baptiſm, p. 72. Sect. 2.

See Holy Spirit.

Glory

Of God what, p. 286. Sect. 10.

God.

The wiſe Contrivance of the Works of Nature prove the Being of God, p. 22. Sect. 4. p. 23. Sect. 1.
His Exiſtence moſt eaſie and ſuitable to our own Faculties, p. 22. Sect. 3.
Tho' God be infinite and every where, yet there may be a ſpecial Preſence of him in Heaven, p. 99. Sect. 3.
The Notion that Plutarch, Socrates, and Plato had of God, p. 43. Sect. 1, &c.
The different Communications of the Divine Being framed into perſonal Gods and Goddeſſes by the Heathens, p. 44. Sect. 4, &c.
The Generality of the Pagan Deities were once Men living upon Earth, p. 64. Sect. 5.
The villanous and abominable Rites of the Heathen Gods, p. 55. Ch. 11. p. 57. Ch. 12.
Deos induere, the Meaning of that Phraſe among the Heathens, p. 608. Sect. 12.

Goſpel,

Its great Deſign, p. 327. Sect. 3. p. 348. Ch. 3. p. 394, 395. Sect. 1, 5.

The ſad Condition of him who rejects the Offers of Mercy in the Goſpel, p. 312. Sect. 3.

The Truth of the Hiſtory of the Goſpel, p. 217. Sect. 1, 3, &c. p. 233. Ch. 16. p. 223. Sect. 3. proved from the Account the Apoſtles give of themſelves and of Chriſt, p. 226. Sect. 10, &c.

The Goſpel was written very early in the Times of the Apoſtles, p. 218. Sect. 6. p. 221. Sect. 1. p. 223, 227, 231. Ch. 12, 13, 14.

This proved of the Acts of the Apoſtles, of St. Luke and St. John's Goſpel, p. 221. Sect. 2, 3. and of St. Matthew's and St. Mark's Goſpel, p. 222. Sect. 4.

The Copies we have at this Day not corrupted, p. 231. Sect. 3.

Government.

There is a kind of Government among brute Creatures, p. 33. Sect. 5, 6, 7.

Grace.

Some may be irreſiſtibly ſaved by Virtue of diſcriminative Grace. The reſt of Mankind have Grace ſufficient, and many of them are ſaved, p. 352. Sect. 2, 3.

See Aſſiſtance. Baptiſm.

Gratitude,

A ſort of it in Brutes, p. 33. Sect. 4.

Grotius

His Expoſitions of ſeveral of the Propheſies in the Revelations refuted.

See Revelations. Propheſies.

H.

Haggai

'CH. II. 9. THE Glory of this latter Houſe, &c. p. 195. Sect. 3.

Right hand of God.

Chriſt's ſitting at the Right-Hand of God may be underſtood either figuratively or properly, p. 99. Ch. 4.

Happineſs.

How the Happineſs of this Life is promoted by Chriſtianity, p. 315. Ch. 20.

Heathen.

The Heathen held one ſupreme God the Maker of all Things, p. 404. Sect. 1.

Of the Deification of men by the Heathen, p. 64. Sect. 4, &c.

Among the many Gods they worſhipp'd, they worſhipp'd but one as the moſt High, p. 411. Sect. 7.

They offered Humane Sacrifices. See Sacrifices.

The Reception of the Meſſiah among the Nations, as foretold by the Prophets, p. 211. Sect. 6. He was to aboliſh their Superſtition, p. 212. Sect. 7.

Heaven.

Tho' God be Infinite every where, yet there may be a ſpecial Preſence of him in Heaven, p. 99. Sect. 3.

A Deſcription of the Happineſs there, p. 213. Sect. 7.

See Salvation.

The Conditions of being admitted into Heaven, p. 310. Sect. 5, 6. p. 335. Sect. 6.

See Righteouſneſs.

Heavenly Body

The moſt ſuitable Reward that can be conferr'd upon the Soul, p. 157. Sect. 3.

See Reſurrection. Soul.

Heavens,

How diſtributed into twelve Houſes by Aſtrologers, p. 243. Sect. 6.

See Aſtrology.

Hebrews,

'CH. XII. 2. Looking unto Jeſus the 'Author and Finiſher of our Faith, &c. p. 296. Sect. 12.

Hell.

The meaning of that Article in the Creed, He deſcended into Hell, p. 20. Sect. 3, 4.

Henopoeia

What: the ſeveral Kinds thereof, p. 528. Sect. 3, &c.

Hereſie,

A Deſcription of it, p. 502. Sect. 4. A grievous Crime againſt the truly Catholic Church, p. 501. Sect. 2.

Heroes,

Their Original, according to the Heathen, p. 65. Ch. 18. Their Apology for worſhipping them, p. 44. Sect. 6.

See Paganiſm. Impurity.

Hierarchy.

The Antichriſtian Roman Hierarchy foretold, p. 671. Sect. 16. p. 685. Sect. 4. p. 691. Sect. 2.

Holineſs.

See Righteouſneſs.

Homonymia

What, and how it differs from an Henopœia of the ſecond kind, p. 532. Sect. 9.

Humility

Humility

What, p. 37. Sect. 3. How earneſtly recommended by our Lord, p. 256. Sect. 3. And by his Apoſtles, p. 257. Sect. 4.

Cautions in the Exerciſe of it, p. 342. Sect. 10, 11.

Humility, the proper Characteriſtick of the Perſon and Spirit of Chriſt, p. 486. Sect. 1.

The ſeveral Humiliations of Chriſt, how rewarded by God, p. 89. Sect. 4.

The Meanneſs and other Circumſtances of our Saviour's Birth recommend Humility, p. 70. Sect. 1.

Some Affectations in the Church of Rome contrary to this Grace, p. 486. Ch. 9. to p. 494.

Hyaliſmus

What: the ſeveral Kinds of it. Examples of each kind, p. 527. Sect. 1, 2.

Hymns,

The moſt early Piece of Publick Worſhip offered to Chriſt, p. 381. Sect. 15.

Hymns, on the Birth and Paſſion of Chriſt, p. 824. On his Reſurrection and Aſcenſion, p. 825. On the Deſcent of the Holy Ghoſt, p. 826. On the Creation and on the Redemption of the World, p. 827.

Hypallage

What, p. 648. Sect. 4.

Hypocriſie,

The great miſchief it does Religion, p. 346. Sect. 5.

The Character of a falſe and titular Chriſtian, p. 297. Sect. 3.

Hypoſtatical

Union what, p. 321. Sect. 5.

I

Icaſmus

WHAT; the frequent Uſe thereof makes the Interpretation of the Propheſies difficult, p. 534. Sect. 14.

Iconiſmorum Metallaxis

What, p. 534. Sect. 15.

An Alphabet of Prophetic Iconiſms, p. 535 to 557. The beſt Way of attaining to the right Senſe of them, p. 535. Sect. 2, 3.

Idol.

An Idol is any thing religiouſly worſhipp'd that is not God, p. 397. Sect. 6.

No Ground to diſtinguiſh between an Idol and an Image, when they are both made Objects of Religious Worſhip, p. 420. Sect. 1.

How the vulgar ſort of the Heathen came to take the very Idols themſelves for Gods, p. 402. Sect. 3.

See Image.

Idolatry.

Idolatry is the giving religious Worſhip to any thing that is not God, p. 397. Sect. 6, &c. p. 405. Sect. 6. p. 410. Sect. 3, 5, &c.

Another Deſcription of Idolatry with the Explication thereof, p. 805. Sect. 2, &c.

Not to be reſtrain'd to the Worſhipping of Idols only, p. 397. Sect. 4, 5.

The over-much widening and ſtreightning of the Notion tax'd, p 396. Sect. 2.

The ſeveral Modes or Manners of Idolatry. As, I. The worſhipping that which is not God without an Image, p. 396. Ch. 5. II. The worſhipping the true God with an Image, p. 398. Ch. 6. III. The worſhipping that which is not God by an Image, p. 402. Ch. 7. IV. The worſhipping an Image with a Conceit that ſome Dæmon is united to it and makes one Perſon, p. 403. Sect. 7. V. Mode of Idolatry, p. 404. Sect. 2, 3.

Idolatry, the proper Fruit of the animal Paſſion, p. 34. Sect. 4, 5.

How properly expreſs'd by Whoredom. p. 555. Sect. 9.

What is declared by God to be Idolatry ought to be held by us to be ſo, p. 773. Sect. 2.

Idolatry is a ſore and grievous Diſeaſe of the Soul, p. 776. Sect. 2.

Wherein the Idolatry of the Pagans conſiſted, p. 774. Sect. 4.

Several Inſtances of Spiritual Idolatry, p. 822. Sect. 45, &c.

Several Inſtances of it introducible into the Chriſtian Religion, p. 396. Sect. 1.

A Deſcription of the Idolatry of the Antichriſtian Church, p. 414. Sect. 1, &c. This foretold, p. 569. Sect. 13, &c. p. 570. Sect. 1, &c. p. 637. Sect. 12. p. 647, &c. Ch. 9, 10, 11. p. 734. Sect. 7. p. 741. Sect. 16.

The Church of Rome guilty of Idolatry, p. 414. Ch. 12. The Adoration of the Hoſt even on Suppoſition that it is the Body of Chriſt, Idolatry, p. 418. Sect. 4. p. 779. Sect. 11. The Worſhip of the Hoſt according to the Injunction of the Council of Trent, Idolatry, p. 781. Ch. 3. Evaſions anſwered, p. 415. Sect. 6, &c. p. 417, 420. Ch. 13, 14. p. 780. Sect. 12.

That the Meſſiah was to root out Idolatry, proved by a Propheſie of Jeremiah's and other Texts of Scripture, p. 390. Ch. 2.

The Sinfulneſs of Idolatry, p. 405. Sect. 4. Every Idolatry is Blaſphemy, p. 413. Sect. 6.

The great Miſchiefs Idolatry does to the Church of Chriſt and to the whole World, p. 428. Sect. 7.

Idolatry injurious to God, p. 426. Sect. 1. To Saints and Angels, ib. Sect. 2. To the Idolater, p. 427. Sect. 3, &c.

See Image.

Jeremiah,

'CH. X. 7, &c. Who would not fear 'thee, O King of Nations? &c. p. 390. Sect. 1, 2.

Jesus.

Our Jesus proved to be the Messiah, p. 206. Ch. 7. p. 212. Sect. 9. p. 213. Ch. 9.

See Christ, Messiah.

Jews,

They were the Light of the World before the Coming of Christ, p. 54. Sect. 3.

Why ignorant of their Messiah, p. 4. Sect. 1.

Why the Miracles of our Lord were mis-interpreted and eluded by them, p. 95. Sect. 4.

Why not convinced by our Saviour's Resurrection, p. 97. Sect. 2.

The Objections of the Jews against their Messiah's being come answered, p. 237. Sect. 1.

Their Interpretation of Gen. 49. 10. to evade the Force of our Arguments to prove our Jesus to be the Christ considered and answered, p. 191. Ch. 2.

The Jewish Interpretations of other Prophesies relating to the Messiah, refuted, p. 202. Sect. 2, &c.

Images.

The Images of some of the Heathen Gods, p. 45. Sect. 3, &c.

A ludicrous Image carried in Procession called by the Heathen Citeria, p. 611. Sect. 18.

The Apology the Heathen made for Images, p. 45. Sect. 2, &c. answer'd, p. 47. Sect. 3, &c.

The Placing Images in Churches a very bold Practice, p. 382. Sect. 17.

That to worship an Image, tho' the Honour be intended to the true God, is flat Idolatry, proved from several Instances in the Old Testament, p. 398. Ch. 6.

Image-Worship and Idolatry forbidden in the New Testament, p. 391. Sect. 4, 5.

That Divine Worship is given to Images, when worshipped even in Reference to God, p. 813. Sect. 20.

Profit, the End of keeping up Image-Worship in the Church of Rome, p. 423. Sect. 1. Several Artifices of gaining thereby, p. 424. Sect. 2.

The Doctrine of the Second Council of Nice touching the Worshipping of Images, grosly idolatrous, p. 791. Ch. 8.

The Doctrine of the Council of Trent, concerning the Worshipping of Images, idolatrous, and the Reason of it weak and unsound, p. 789, 793. Ch. 7, 9.

Immortality.

The Resurrection and Ascension of Christ, an Evidence of the Soul's Immortality, p. 309. Sect. 1.

The great Power that this Consideration ought to have upon us, p. 310. Sect. 2, &c.

Impostors

Mentioned, as Mahomet, David George, and Henry Nicolas, p. 105. Ch. 8.

An Account of the monstrous Tenets of Henry Nicolas the Head of the Familists with a Refutation of them, p. 171. Ch. 12, 13, 14. p. 181, 185, 187. Ch. 16, 17, 18. His false Pretensions to the comprehensive Duty of Love, p. 257. Sect. 2, &c.

See Enthusiasts, Mahomet.

Imputation.

Texts of Scripture, that seem to make us Righteous only by Imputation, considered, p. 270. Sect. 10.

Impurity.

The Impurity of the Pagan Religion, p. 55, 57. Ch. 11, 12.

By what means promoted in the Antichristian Church, p. 494. Ch. 12.

The Impurity of the Antichristian Church foretold, p. 497. Sect. 15. p. 700. Sect. 8.

Infallibility.

Texts of Scripture alledg'd by the Church of Rome to prove the Church infallible. Those Texts considered and explain'd, and the Pretensions of that Church shewn to be groundless, p. 453. Ch. 2.

The pretended Infallibility of the antichristian Church prefigured and foretold, p. 660. Sect. 6. p. 680. Sect. 2. p. 681. in Sect. 3. p. 739. Sect. 9.

Iniquity.

The Method of pursuing the Particulars of the Mystery of Iniquity, p. 395. Sect. 7, 8.

Inquisition.

A Description of the infernal Tribunal, call'd the Holy Inquisition. The several Ways of receiving Accusations therein. The inhumane Cruelties exercis'd upon condemned Persons, p. 507. Sect. 3, &c.

Intention.

The Doctrine of the Necessity of the Intention of the Priest in administring of the Sacraments, a Ground of many Scruples, p. 442. Sect. 5.

Intercession,

Our Saviour's Fitness for it, p. 102. Sect. 7.

Invocation

What, and a main Ground of it, p. 777. Sect. 5.

The Invocation of any particular, invisible Power, Idolatry, p. 415. Sect. 5.
See Saints. Virgin.

Job

'CH. XXXVIII. 21. Knoweſt thou it be-
'cauſe thou waſt then born? or becauſe
'the Number of thy Days is great? p. 15.
'Sect. 2.

John

'CH. I. 17. Grace and Truth came by
'Jeſus Chriſt, p. 392. Sect. 1.
'Ver. 21. Art thou that Prophet? p. 176.
Sect. 2.
'CH. VI. 63. It is the Spirit that quick-
'neth, the Fleſh profiteth nothing: The 'Words that I ſpeak unto you they are
'Spirit and they are Life, p. 279. Sect. 2.
'CH. XVI. 8, &c. And when he is come
'he will reprove the World of Sin, and
'of Righteouſneſs, and of Judgment, &c.
p. 113. Sect. 1. &c.
'CH. XX. 23. Whoſe ſoever Sins ye re-
'mit, &c. p. 443. Sect. 3, &c.

1 Epiſt. of John

'CH. II. 18. Little Children it is the laſt
'time: And as ye have heard that Anti-
'chriſt ſhall come, &c. p. 520. Sect. 4.
Ver. 22. Who is a Liar but he that 'denieth that Jeſus is the Chriſt? p. 521.
Sect. 5.
'CH. IV. 3. This is that Spirit of An-
'tichriſt, &c. p. 521. Sect. 6.

Iſaiah

'CH. VII. 14. Behold a Virgin ſhall
'conceive, &c. p. 233. Sect. 3.
'CH. IX. 6. Unto us a Child is born,
&c. p. 210. Sect. 4.
'CH. XI. 10. In that Day there ſhall be 'a Root of Jeſſe, &c. p. 211. Sect. 6.
'CH. XIV. 12. to 20. How art thou
'fallen from Heaven, O Lucifer, &c. p.
686. Sect. 5.
'CH. XXIII. 15. It ſhall come to paſs
'that Tyre ſhall be forgotten ſeventy
'Years, &c. p. 682. Sect. 4, &c.
Ver. 16. Take a Harp, go about the 'City thou Harlot, &c. p. 798. Sect. 12.
CH. LIII. Who hath believed our Re'port, &c. p. 207. Sect. 5.

Iſraeliſms

What: The Reaſon of the frequent uſe thereof, in Scripture, p. 530. Sect. 1, &c.

Jubiles.

Of the Popiſh Jubiles, and the general Manner of Celebrating their Feſtivals compared with the Pagans, p. 608. Sect. 12.

Judaiſm

Reſpected nothing but the Gratifications of the Animal Life, p. 51. Ch. 8.
It has the Pre-eminence far above Paganiſm, p. 52. Sect. 1, 2.
See Jews.

Judge.

The Office of Judge affixt to the Humane Perſon of Chriſt, p. 179. Sect. 2.
No need of an infallible Judge in the Church, p. 453. Sect. 2, &c.

Judgment.

A Deſcription of the Day of Judgment, p. 312. Sect. 4, 5, 6.
The Uncertainty of the Day of Judgment, p. 312. Sect. 2.
The Viſibility of our Saviour's Perſon at the laſt Judgment, p. 146. Sect. 2. This proved to be reaſonable in it ſelf, p. 149. Sect. 1, &c.
The Day of Judgment, a Subject proper both for the Regenerate and Unregenerate to think upon, p. 311. Sect. 1.
Objections that hinder its having a due Effect upon the Minds of Men anſwered, p. 312. Sect. 2, 3.

Juſtification,

The Meaning of the Word, p. 268. Sect. 7.
The only warrantable Notion of being juſtified by Faith, p. 270. Sect. 9.
See Faith.

K.

Καταβαίνω

ITS different Significations, p. 20. Sect. 2, 3.

King.

Oppoſition to Chriſt's Office of King in the Antichriſtian Church, p. 460. Ch. 3. This Oppoſition to the Regal Office of Chriſt foretold, p. 666. Sect. 2. ibid. Sect. 1. p. 672. Sect. 17.

Kingdom.

There's a perpetual Conflict between the Kingdom of Light and Darkneſs, p. 26. Sect. 2.
A Deſcription of the Nature of Chriſt's Kingdom from holy Scripture, p. 498. Sect. 2, 3.
The Government in the Church of Rome oppoſite to Chriſt's Kingdom, p. 499. Sect. 4.

Knowledge.

Unrighteouſneſs a Hindrance to the Attainment of it, p. 284. Sect. 3.

The meaning thereof, p. 12. Sect. 6.

Law.

THE Sanction of a Law what, p. 326. Sect. 3.

In what the Terms Law and Covenant agree. In what Law and Testament, p. 326. Sect. 3, 4.

The unprofitable Burden of the Ceremonial Law of Moſes was done away by the Coming of Chriſt, p. 392. Ch. 3.

Liberty.

Wherein Chriſtian Liberty conſiſts, p. 332. Sect. 8, 9, 10.

The groundleſs Preſumption of thoſe who abuſe Chriſtianity to a Liberty of ſinning, p. 265. Sect. 4, 5, 6. This Abuſe being built upon ſome Texts of Scripture, thoſe Texts conſidered and explain'd, and the Abuſe diſcovered, p. 266, 271, 274. Ch. 5, 6, 7.

Divine Life.

Its Root, p. 36. Sect. 1. Its Branches, p. 36. Sect. 2.

The Advancement of the Divine Life, the Deſign of the Goſpel, p. 349. Sect. 3.

How powerful an Engine the Goſpel is to raiſe the Divine Life to thoſe Triumphs that are due to it, p. 255, to p. 273.

The Excellency of the Divine Life, p. 36. Ch. 12.

Its external Triumph in the Perſon of Chriſt how fully perform'd, p. 314. Sect. 2.

Honour'd in the Perſon of our Saviour and of the Saints, p. 116. Sect. 3, &c.

Its external Triumph hitherto not ſo large as the Overthrow of the external Empire of the Devil, p. 115. Sect. 1.

Why God does not immediately advance the Divine Life above the Animal, p. 30. Sect. 3, &c.

Oppoſitions to the Divine Life in the Church of Rome, p. 476. Ch. 7.

Middle Life.

The Root and main Branches of the Middle Life. How far ſhe can go in religious Performances, p. 35. Ch. 11.

Animal Life,

What: In it ſelf good, p. 32. Sect. 1.

Life of Chriſt

Vindicated from the Aſperſions of the malevolent, p. 290. Ch. 13.

Light within.

See Quakers.

Liturgy.

A publick Liturgy more ſafe for publick Worſhip than extemporary Prayers, p. 376. Sect. 9.

Λόγος

In what Senſe uſed by St. John, p. 9. Sect. 3.

Uſed in the ſame Senſe among the Platoniſts and Jews as among Chriſtians, p. 8. Sect. 2.

Love

The higheſt Participation of the Divinity, p. 263. Sect. 7.

This not in any ſort fleſhly, but divine, p. 264. Sect. 1.

How the Love of Chriſt may be attained, p. 339. Ch. 10. Sect. 3.

What Love to him may be called mercenary, p. 341. Sect. 4.

Love of our Neighbour, how divine. The firſt Principle of all Righteous Actions, p. 763. Sect. 9.

We cannot Love God unleſs we love our Neighbour alſo, p. 261. Sect. 3.

Love and Charity ſtrongly enforced by our bleſſed Saviour, p. 257. Sect. 1. Earneſtly preſſed by the Apoſtles, p. 260. Sect. 2, 3, 4.

See Charity. Self Love.

Luke

CH. XXIII. 43. This day ſhalt thou be with me in Paradice, p. 20. Sect. 1.

Lupercalia,

Why celebrated by naked Men, p. 55. Sect. 4.

M.

Magiſtrate.

TIs the Duty of the Civil Magiſtrate to provide an honourable Maintenance for the Miniſters of Religion, p. 368. Sect. 4.

He ought to continue and erect publick Schools of Learning, p. 369. Sect. 7.

Whether thoſe that are not Chriſtians ought to be admitted into Places of Truſt, p. 367. Sect. 2.

What Religion coercible by the Civil Magiſtrate, p. 365. Sect. 4, &c.

How much the Civil Magiſtrate may contribute to the Advancement of the Goſpel, p. 366. Ch. 12.

To what Perſons he ought to give Liberty of Conſcience, p. 366. Sect. 1.

See Conſcience.

What Sects he ought to keep under, p. 368. Sect. 5.

Mahomet.

The Hiſtory of his Impoſture was written by Johannes Andreas, the Son and Succeſſor ceſſor of a Mahometan Prieſt, p. 111. Sect. 6.

Mahomet's extravagant Relations concerning himſelf, as his being carried into the higheſt Heavens, &c. p. 107. Sect. 2. &c.
Proved to be no true Prophet, p. 109. Sect. 1, &c.
At how high a Pitch he ſets himſelf, p. 107. Sect. 2.

Mahometans.

The Subſtance of their Law is Moſes and Chriſt, p. 114. Sect. 6.
They acknowledge ſome important Truths of Chriſtianity, p. 114. Sect. 7.
What Hope of their full Converſion, p. 115. Sect. 8.

Malachy.

'CH. III. 1. Behold I will ſend my 'Meſſenger, &c. p. 196. Sect. 6.

Man.

Wherein the Fall of Man conſiſts, p. 39. Sect. 1. How proved, p. 168. Sect. 6.
The Juſtice and Wiſdom of God in permitting the Fall of Men and Angels, p. 167. Sect. 3. &c.
The Good emerging out of the Fall, p. 168. Sect. 7. &c.
The Tyranny of the Devil over lapſed Mankind, p. 53. Sect. 3, 4.
Several Inſtances thereof, p. 58. Ch. 13.

Man of Sin. See 2. Theſ.

Mark

'CH. III. 21. And when his Friends 'heard of it, they went out to lay hold 'of him; for they ſaid he is beſide him-'ſelf, p. 294. Sect. 9.
'CH. VI. 5, 6. He could do no mighty 'Work there, becauſe of their Unbelief, p. 76. Sect. 4.
'CH. XVI. 19. Sate on the Right-hand 'of God, p. 99. Ch. 4.

Matthew

'CH. X. 26. Fear not them that kill 'the Body, &c. p. 19. Sect. 11.
'CH. XVIII. 18. Whatſoever ye ſhall 'bind on Earth, p. 443. Sect. 3.
'CH. XXIV. 29, to 37. p. 146. Sect. 2.
'XXVI. 26. This is my Body. Thoſe 'Words muſt neceſſarily be underſtood 'figuratively, p. 782. Sect. 7.
'XXVII. 46. Eli, Eli lama ſabac thani, p. 294. Sect. 8.

Mediator.

Jeſus Chriſt is the only Mediator, p. 469. Sect. 11. Pretences for more Mediators anſwered. The Fraud and Miſchief of multiplying Mediators, p. 469. Sect. 12, &c.

Melchiſedeck

Is by ſome thought to have been Chriſt, p. 15. Sect. 4.

Mercy.

The ſad Condition of him that rejects the Offers of Mercy in the Goſpel, p. 312. Sect. 3.

Merit.

We can no way oblige God by way of Merit, p. 280. Sect. 4.

Meſſiah.

Whence that Figment of the Jews of a twofold Meſſiah, p. 207. Sect. 6.
That the Meſſiah is already come, demonſtrated, p. 202. Sect. 2, &c. p. 204. Sect. 1. Objections of the Jews anſwered, p. 237. Sect. 1.
'Twas the general Opinion of the Jews, that the Meſſiah was to come about the Time we ſay he did come, p. 204. Sect. 2. This confirm'd by the Teſtimonies of Tacitus and Suetonius, p. 205. Sect. 4, 5.
Nine Characters of his Perſon in Iſaiah 53. p. 208. Sect. 7, 8. p. 209. Ch. 8. More Characters of the Meſſiah, p. 217. Sect. 2. p. 232. Ch. 15.
The Excellency of his Doctrine foretold by the Prophets, p. 211. Sect. 5. And that he was to be a Sacrifice for Sin, p. 209. Sect. 1.
The Duration of the Kingdom of the Meſſiah, p. 212. Sect. 8.
The Soul of the Meſſiah was in Being before he took upon him our Fleſh, p. 16. Sect. 4, 5.

Metalepſis

What; proved and illuſtrated by Examples, p. 533. Sect. 11.
See Chriſt, Jeſus.

Micah.

'CH. V. 2. But thou Bethlehem Ephratah, 'tho' thou be little, &c. p. 232. Sect. 2.

Millennium,

In the ſober Meaning thereof, highly reaſonable, p. 360. Sect. 4.
Where Grotius places the Beginning of the Millennium, p. 136. Sect. 9.
The Conſideration of its being at hand, very uſeful, p. 145. Sect. 10.

Miniſter.

See Clergy-man.

Miracles.

The Miracles of our Saviour reduced to four Heads, p. 75. Sect. 1. Some others not reducible to these Heads, p. 81. Ch. 8.

Three Things observable in Christ's Miracles, p. 75. Sect. 1.

Both Jews and Pagans acknowledge that our Lord did Miracles, p. 217. Sect. 1.

Why he charged Silence upon those he wrought them upon, p. 75. Sect. 2.

'Tis easie to conceive Christ's Healing those that were absent with a Word, p. 76. Sect. 3.

The World excited by our Lord's Miracles more narrowly to consider his Person, p. 95. Sect. 3.

Why the Jews mis-interpreted and eluded the Force of Christ's Miracles, p. 95. Sect. 4.

A Recital of some Miracles done by the Apostles, p. 112. Sect. 8.

No Miracle repugnant to rightly circumstantiated Sense, or natural Truths, or Science, or the common Christian Faith, or plain Doctrine in Scripture, can ratifie any Doctrine, p. 769. Conclus. 27.

Instances of Lying Miracles in the Antichristian Church, p. 481. Sect. 7, &c. Predictions hereof, p. 485. Sect. 22. p. 574. Sect. 7. p. 684. Sect. 1, &c. p. 652. Sect. 6.

Missionaries.

Every Nation has a natural Right to receive Agents from, or send them to other Nations about the Affairs of Religion, p. 364. Sect. 1, 2.

How they ought to behave themselves, ib. Sect. 2.

Musick.

Of Musick in Churches, p. 381. Sect. 15.

Mystery.

A Mystery defin'd in general, p. 2. Sect. 6. Grotius's false Notion of a Mystery, p. 693. Sect. 4. A like Exception against a later Interpreter, p. 698. Sect. 5.

The four main Properties of a Mystery, p. 1. Ch. 1.

The four derivative Properties of the Mystery of Godliness, p. 318. Sect. 1. p. 322. Ch. 3. p. 325. Ch. 5. p. 343. Ch. 1.

In what the Mystery of Christianity consists, p. 30. Ch. 7. Sect. 5. The Ground thereof, p. 167. Sect. 2.

The Method of communicating the Christian mysteries, p. 322. Sect. 2, &c. p. 324. Ch. 4. How to the Illiterate, p. 323. Sect. 6, 7.

Mystery of Iniquity, a general Description thereof, p. 395. Sect. 6. Its Properties in general opposite to the mystery of Piety, p. 395. Sect. 7.

N

New-Creature.

See Creature.

New-Covenant.

See Covenant.

New-Covenanter.

See Covenanter.

Nicolas-Henry.

See Impostors.

O.

Offices.

OF Christ. See King, Priest, Prophet.

Orthodoxy.

The mischievous Consequences of affected Orthodoxy, p. 346. Sect. 4.

P.

Paganism.

THE Apologies for Paganism set down and refuted, p. 39, 41, 43, 47. Ch. 1, 2, 3, 5.

What Things in the Pagan Religion are rectified and compleated in the Birth, Passion, Ascension and Intercession of Christ, p. 103. Sect. 8.

See Heathen. Impurity.

Pan.

The Heathen by Pan understood the Universe, p. 48. Sect. 3.

Papists.

A Description of their publick Worship, p. 431. Sect. 7.

Of their Anointings and the Multiplicity of Sacerdotal Ornaments, p. 430. Sect. 4.

Instances of Idolatry, among the Papists, p. 414. Ch. 12. Their Evasions and Excuses answered, p. 415. Sect. 6, &c. p. 417, 420. Ch. 13, 14.

Unnecessary Obligations of Conscience among them relating to divers Opinions, p. 440. Ch. 20.

See Ceremonies. Flagellation. Confession. Idolatry. Antichristianism.

Paranomasia

What, in a Prophetick Sense, p. 532. Sect. 10.

Passion.

The Passion of Christ, Why so great, p. 90. Sect. 3. The unparallel'd Endearments thereof, p. 257. Sect. 6. Its ineffable Power to destroy Sin, and to win the World from the Prince of Darkness, p. 89. Sect. 1. p. 302. Sect. 1. p. 307. Sect. 3, &c.

The Eclipse, mention'd by the Evangelists at our Saviour's Passion, does not lessen its Credibility, p. 93. Ch. 15.

The great Advantage the Passion of Christ has compared with the Tyranny of Satan, p. 92. Sect. 4. Not

Not unjuſt with God that the Innocent ſhou d ſuffer inſtead of the Guilty, p. 91. Sect. 9.

See Suffering.

Paſſions.

The animal Paſſions innocent in themſelves, p. 32. Sect. 3.

Peace of Conſcience.
See Conſcience.

Peculiarities.

The Peculiarities or Attributes of God what, and how violated, p. 807. Partic. 10.

Perfection,

The earneſt Endeavour of a Chriſtian after it, p. 276. Sect. 7.

The Hypocriſie of ſome that falſly pretend to Perfection, p. 357. Ch. 8.

Perſecution.

The moſt truly Religious the moſt abhorrent from Perſecution for Conſcience ſake, p. 366. Sect. 7.

1 Epiſt. Peter.

'CH. I. 4. To an Inheritance incor-
'ruptible and undefiled, p. 148. Sect. 8.
'CH. III. 18, 19, 20. Chriſt alſo hath 'once ſuffer'd, &c. p. 17. Sect. 1, &c.

2 Epiſt. Peter,

'CH. I. 5, 6. Giving all Diligence add
'to your Faith Virtue, &c. p. 261. Sect. 4.
'CH. III. 12, 13. Nevertheleſs we ac'cording to his Promiſe look for new 'Heavens, &c. p. 147. Sect. 5.

Philippians,

'CH. I. 21, &c. To me to live is
'Chriſt, and to die is Gain, &c. p. 18.
Sect. 7, 8.

Planets,

Their Qualities, Dignities, &c. p. 240. Ch. 18.

Polytheiſm

Neceſſarily includes Atheiſm, p. 39. Sect. 3.

How the Heathen defended themſelves from the Charge of it, p. 40. Sect. 4.

Pope,

His Pride and Downfal prefigured and foretold by Iſaiah and St. John, p. 685. Sect. 5, &c.

Several Inſtances of his Pride, p. 489. Ch. 10. p. 732. Sect. 4.

His haughty Treatment of Emperors and Kings, p. 490. Sect. 3, 4.

His ſuffering himſelf to be deck'd with Divine Attributes, p. 490. Sect. 2.

His wicked Practices for the obtaining a pretended Headſhip over the Church, p. 487. Sect. 7, &c.

His exalting himſelf above what he eſteems the very Body of Chriſt, p. 491. Sect. 6.

A Compariſon between the Pope and the Leviathan deſcrib'd in Job, p. 493. Sect. 6, 7.

Power.

A Deſcription of the Pretence of Power, in the Antichriſtian Church, derived from Chriſt whilſt it acts againſt him, p. 449, &c. Ch. 1, 2, 3, 4. p. 499. Sect. 4, &c. p. 511. lin. 11. Predictions of this Pretext, p. 575. Sect. 3. p. 578. Sect. 3.

Prayer.

What the moſt importunate Prayers of a true Chriſtian, p. 339. Ch. 11. Sect. 3. Praying by the Spirit, what, p. 376. Sect. 8.

See Liturgy.

Preaching,

The ſeveral Kinds of it, and which the moſt uſeful, p. 375. Sect. 7.

See Sermons.

Pre-exiſtence.

The Pre-exiſtence of the Soul was a Doctrine of the Platoniſts, believed by ſome of the Jews, and made plauſible even from Scripture, p. 15. Sect. 1, &c.

See Soul.

Pride,

Several Inſtances thereof in the Clergy of the Church of Rome, p. 478. Sect. 8, &c. p. 486. Sect. 2. p. 492. Ch. 11. Predictions hereof, p. 493. Sect. 7. p. 573. in Sect. 3. p. 686. Sect. 6, 7. p. 689. Ch. 19. p. 732. Sect. 4. p. 735. lin. 27.

Prieſt.

That Chriſt is a Prieſt for ever demonſtrated from ſundry Texts of Scripture, p. 178. Sect. 1.

Oppoſitions to the Prieſtly Office of Chriſt in the Antichriſtian Church, p. 466. Ch. 5. Inſtances thereof,

I. By the Pretence of repeating the Oblation of the real Body of Chriſt, p. 466. Sect. 1, &c. This foretold, p. 572. lin. 40.

II. By pretending that the Blood of Chriſt is available to take away the Guilt of Sin only and not the Puniſhment, p. 461. Sect. 5, &c. This foretold, p. 660. Sect. 5.

III. In appointing other Mediators, p. 469. Sect. 11. This foretold, p. 660. Sect. 5.

Promises.

The Promises of the Gospel are conditional, p. 335. Sect. 6.

Prophecy

Is but an anticipatory History, p. 557. Sect. 15.

The Spirit of Prophecy in the most concerning Sense what, p. 741. Sect. 14. Not to be monopoliz'd by any one Person, p. 463. Sect. 2, 3.

Prophecies.

Mr. Mede's and Grotius's Way of Interpreting the Prophecies compared, p. 119, 126. Ch. 15, 16.

Objections against the Prophecies propos'd and answered, p. 190. Sect. 3, &c.

Why Prophecies are wrapt up in some considerable Obscurity, p. 524. Sect. 1, &c. Wherein this Obscurity consists, p. 525. Sect. 4.

Some Rules for the Interpretation of Prophecies, p. 558. Sect. 17.

A Confutation of several Mis-interpretations of the Prophecies given by the Jews that relate to the Messiah, p. 192. Sect. 4, &c, p. 202. Sect. 2, &c.

That the Prophecies respecting the Messiah in the Old Testament, were neither forged nor corrupted by the Jews, p. 190. Sect. 4.

Some Remarks upon the Prophecies of Christ, p. 83. Sect. 101. Those Mat. 24. why so briefly and obscurely delivered, p. 230. Sect. 9.

Sundry Oppositions in the Church of Rome to the Prophetick Office of Christ, p. 463. Ch. 4.

Instances of true Prophecies among other People besides the Jews, particularly an ancient one concerning the Murdering of Julius Cæsar, p. 191. Sect. 8, 9.

Prophet.

Sundry Oppositions to the Prophetical Office of Christ in the Antichristian Church, p. 463. Ch. 4. This foretold, p. 660. Sect. 6.

Providence

General and Particular, p. 23. Sect. 2, 3.

Psalm.

'XLV. 6. Thy Throne, O God, is for 'ever and ever, &c. p. 210. Sect. 4.

'LXVIII. 18. Thou hast ascended upon 'High, &c. p. 210. Sect. 3.

'CVI. 19. Thus they changed their 'Glory, &c. p. 80. Sect. 9.

'CVI. 28. They ate the Sacrifices of the 'Dead; p. 64. Sect. 5.

'CVI. 37. They sacrificed their Sons 'and their Daughters to Devils, p. 61. Sect. 2.

'CX. 1. The Lord said unto my Lord, 'sit thou on my Right Hand, &c. p. 210. Sect. 4.

Purgatory

Not to be inferr'd from the 1 Pet. III. 18, 19, 20, p. 18. Sect. 3, &c. nor from that Passage of St. Paul, 1 Cor. III. 15. p. 447. Sect. 7.

An extravigant and poetical Description of Purgatory, p. 483. Sect. 12.

A dreadful Figment, p. 445. Sect. 1, 2. A Confutation thereof, p. 447. Sect. 5, 6.

Purity,

What, p. 37. Sect. 5.

Our Lord's strict Injunction of it, p. 264. Sect. 1.

Places from the Apostles urging it, p. 264. Sect. 2, 3.

Several Things contrary to Purity in the Church of Rome, p. 494. Ch. 12.

Q.

Quakers.

THE Danger of their Opinions and Practices, p. 53. Sect. 5.

No peculiar Effects of the Spirit of God in the Sect of the Quakers, but rather of Pythonism, p. 371. Sect. 3.

An Appeal to them, as to the Truth of Religion according to the literal Sense, p. 288. Sect. 5.

By the Light within so much boasted of by some must be meant the Light of Reason and Conscience, p. 287. Sect. 1, 2.

This Conscience must necessarily take Information from without, particularly from the Holy Scriptures, p. 288. Sect. 2, 3, 4. An Expostulation with the Pretenders to the Light within, p. 369. Sect. 8, 9.

The Author's Application to the better minded of the Quakers, p. 370. Ch. 13.

R.

Reason,

A Description thereof, p. 35. Sect. 1. Many Branches of Knowledge derived hence, p. 35. Sect. 2.

The Activity of Reason in Things on this side or against Religion, and how far she may go in Religious Performances, p. 35. Ch. 11. Sect. 4, 5.

When Reason is rightly circumstantiated, p. 766. Sect. 2.

Reconciliation

Of the World by the Death of Christ, p. 9. Sect. 4, &c.

See Sacrifice. Satisfaction.

Reformation.

The State of the reform'd Church prefigured gured by the Church of Sardis, p. 744. Ch. 7.

The Reformation, a Specimen of the fulfilling of the Prophecy of the Reſurrection of the two Witneſſes, p. 716. Sect. 12.

The Reform'd Church tho' not ſo perfect as it ſhou'd be is yet preferable to the Church of Rome, p. 747. line 45. p. 762. Sect. 6.

The Reform'd Church free from the Guilt of Schiſm, p. 761 Sect. 5.

See Church of England.

Regeneration,

How wrought in us, p. 341. Sect. 5, 6. God the Father, and Chriſt the Authors of it, p. 394. Sect. 2, 3 p. 473. Sect. 8.

'Tis impoſſible that one truly regenerate ſhou'd be quiet till all Corruption be wrought out, p. 339. Sect. 2, 3.

See New Creature.

Religion,

Its Scope and Aim according to a Platoniſt, p. 2. Sect. 5.

Religion, chiefly intended for Man's Happineſs, p. 292. Sect. 3.

Religion, proved to be in ſome meaſure obſcure, p. 4. Sect. 1, &c. Reaſons why it is ſo, p. 2. Sect. 1, &c. p. 318. Sect. 2, 3.

Our Eſteem for our Religion not evidenced by damning all that are not of it. It better becomes us to praiſe what is good in other Religions, p. 343. Sect. 1, &c. How our Eſteem for our Religion may be better expreſſed, p. 344. Sect. 5.

The obtruding Falſities upon Men begets in them a Miſbelief of Religion, p. 347. Sect. 6.

Every Perſon has a Right to examine his Religion, p. 364. Sect. 1.

Every private Perſon has not only a Liberty, but is commanded to judge for himſelf in Matters of Religion, p. 455. Sect. 7, 8. Objections againſt this anſwered, p. 456. Sect. 10, &c.

Some Rules to meaſure the various Opinions in Religion by, p. 348. Ch. 3. Their Uſefulneſs in examining ſeveral Opinions, p. 350. Sect. 1, 2. Theſe Rules applied in ſeveral Inſtances, p. 350, 352, 353, 355. Ch. 4, 5, 6, 7.

What Religion coercible by the Magiſtrate. See Magiſtrate.

How great a Part of the World profeſs falſe Religions, p. 344. Sect. 5.

The Religion of the Pagans reached no farther than the Animal Life, p. 48, 49. Ch. 6, 7.

Pliny aſcribes ſome kind of Religion to Brutes. His Miſtake therein, p. 34. Sect. 1, &c.

See Chriſtianity. Goſpel.

Repentance,

Some Things implied in it, p. 336. Sect. 2.

Reprobation

What, according to ſome, p. 347. Sect. 7.

Examined by certain Rules, p. 350. Sect. 3, &c. p. 352. Ch. 5.

Reſurrection.

That there will be a Reſurrection in a natural Senſe, proved, p. 146. Sect. 3. Objections againſt it propoſed, p. 153. Sect. 4, &c. Anſwered, p. 154, 156. Ch. 4, 5.

The viſible Reſurrection confirm'd from the Prophetical Expoſitions of the Epiſtle to the Church of Laodicea, p. 755. Sect. 13.

The firſt Reſurrection. See Revelations 20.

Whether the Sons of the firſt Reſurrection will appear to us? p. 125. in Sect. 6.

The Author is of Opinion that there is no warrant in Scripture for the Reſurrection of the ſame numerical Body, p. 154. Sect. 3. How far his Defence of the Reſurrection extends, p. 158. Sect. 7.

Reſurrection of Chriſt, the Truth of it, p. 97. Sect. 3, &c. Foretold by the Prophets, p. 209. Sect. 2.

The Importance of Chriſt's Reſurrection, p. 95. Sect. 2. Our Saviour very intent upon it, p. 95. Sect. 1. A Confirmation of his whole Miniſtry, p. 96. Sect. 1. An Aſſurance of Man's Immortality, p. 96. Sect. 6.

Why the Jews were not convinced by it, p. 97. Sect. 2.

The Divine Life triumph'd in the Perſon of Chriſt by his Reſurrection, p. 95. Sect. 3, &c.

How it may be evinced not to be a Deluſion of ſome deceitful Demons, p. 97. Sect. 3, &c.

Our Saviour's appearing or diſappearing at Pleaſure, does not prove that he did not riſe with the ſame Body, p. 98. Ch. 2. Sect. 9.

Revelations.

The whole Book of Revelations was written in the Reign of Domitian, which refutes all Grotius's Interpretations, p. 621. Sect. 11, 12.

A Teſtimony of Irenæus's that it was written in Domitian's Reign, p. 621. Sect. 10.

The important Uſefulneſs of this Book for the Confirmation of the higheſt Points of Chriſtianity, p. 139. Sect. 2.

Several Prophecies therein explain'd, and the Interpretations of Mr. Mede and Grotius compared, p. 119, 126. Ch. 15, 16.

What an Eſtabliſhment this Book, if rightly underſtood, is to the Church and Crown of England, p. 713. Sect. 5.

Texts in the Book of the Revelations explain'd.

CH. I. 1. p. 138. Sect. 1. p. 702. Sect. 14.

CH. II. 10. p. 525. Sect. 14.

CH. II. & III. being the ſeven Epiſtles ſent to the ſeven Churches, expounded. p. 719. to 770.

CH. VI. 1.—to—13. p. 126. Sect. 2, &c.
CH. VIII. 7. to the End of Ch. XI. p. 128. Sect. 5, &c.
CH. XI. 3.—to—13. p. 661. Ch. 13. p. 741. Sect. 15.
Ver. 7. p. 123. in Sect. 4.
Ver. 8. p. 132. Sect. 7. p. 659. Sect. 3.
Ver. 9. p. 122. Sect. 4.
Ver. 15. p. 131. Sect 5.
CH. XII. 7. p. 128. Sect. 4.
CH. XIII & XVII. expounded together from p. 570—to 631.
CH. XIII. 11, 18. p. 134. Sect. 7, 8.
CH. XIV. 1. p. 525. Sect. 5.
Ver. 8. p. 548. Sect. 2.
CH. XV. 2. p. 659. Sect. 2. Ver. 3, 4. p. 645. Sect. 9. Ver. 8. p. 762. Sect. 6.
CH. XVII. See XIII.
Ver. 8. p. 133. Sect. 6.
CH. XVIII. 23. p. 548. Sect. 3. Ver. 9 to 24. p. 675. Ch. 16.
CH. XIX. 10. p. 407. Sect. 5. p. 741. Sect. 14. Ver. 11—to 16. p. 672. Ch. 15.
CH. XX. 4. p. 123. Sect. 6. Ver. 6. p. 730. Sect. 8.
XXII. 7. 20. p. 702. Sect. 14.

Reward.

An Heavenly Body the moſt ſuitable Reward that can be conferr'd upon the Soul, p. 157. Sect. 3. This not above the Power of Chriſt to confer, p. 158. Sect. 4.

Righteouſneſs.

The Neceſſity of real Righteouſneſs in us proved from undeniable Texts of Scripture, p. 270. Sect. 11.
Righteouſneſs of Faith, what, p. 271. Sect. 2, &c.
Scriptures conſidered that ſeem to diſjoin real Righteouſneſs from Faith, p. 270. Sect. 9. Others that ſeem to make us Righteous only by Imputation, p. 270. Sect. 10.
Mens Zeal for imputative Righteouſneſs groundleſs, p. 356. Sect. 2.
Of the Righteouſneſs that Chriſt requires and that is in the new Creature, p. 273. Sect. 7, &c. A ſmall Meaſure of it not ſufficient to ſerve our Turn; this evident from many Scriptures in the New Teſtament and in the Prophets, p. 274. Ch. 7.
Our Aids and Aſſiſtances ſufficient for our Attainment of the Holineſs required of us, p. 276, 279. Ch. 8, 9.
The Apoſtles Care to preſerve young Chriſtians from thinking they may be Righteous without doing Righteouſly, p. 266. Sect. 1. The Cauſes that render 'em obnoxious to this Contagion, p. 266. Sect. 2. &c.
The Want of real Righteouſneſs deprives God of his Glory, and Man of that wherein his Good conſiſts, p. 282. Ch. 11.
The ill Condition of ſuch as content themſelves with an imaginary Righteouſneſs, p. 281. Sect. 2.
Motives to Righteouſneſs, p. 309. Ch. 17.

Rites.

The villanous and abominable Rites of the Heathen Gods, p. 55, 57. Ch. 11, 12.
In the Church degenerating, there was an intended Imitation of the Pagan Rites, p. 603. Sect. 2.

Romans,

'CH. III. 28. We conclude that a Man 'is juſtified by Faith without the Deeds of 'the Law, p. 268. Sect. 8.
'CH. IV. 5. But to him that worketh 'not, but believeth on him that juſtifieth 'the ungodly, his Faith is counted for 'Righteouſneſs, p. 270. Sect. 9.
'CH. IV. 22. Faith was imputed to him 'for Righteouſneſs, p. 267. Sect. 6.

Rome.

Theſe Words, Rev. I. 1. Ἃ δεῖ γενέσθαι ἐν τάχει do not prove that moſt of the Matters in the Revelations appertain to the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem and to Rome Heathen, p. 138. Sect. 1. p. 702. Sect. 14.
Why the Ruin of the Roman Hierarchy is threatned in the Prophets, p. 779.
The Cruelty of the Church of Rome towards thoſe that diſſent from her, an Evidence that ſhe is the Woman drunk with the Blood of the Saints, p. 796. Sect. 2. &c.
What Incendiaries to War, Murder, and other prodigious Barbarities, p. 504, 507. Ch. 15, 16.
How little or rather no Hope there is of Salvation in the Church of Rome, p. 796. Sect. 5, &c.
Her vain Pretences to Unity, Antiquity, Univerſality, Power of Miracles, Sanctity, Infallibility, &c. refuted, p. 798. Sect. 13, &c.
A Viſion in Iſaiah concerning Tyre typifying Rome Pagan, Chriſtian, and then Pagano-chriſtian, p. 682. Sect. 4.
That Rome will be reform'd from her Pagano-chriſtianiſm and become again purely Chriſtian, p. 683. in Sect. 4, &c.
See Papiſt, Pope, Purity, Humility, Charity.

S.

Sacrament.

THE Uſe and Meaning of the Holy Sacrament, p. 308. Sect. 7.
The Advantages that accrue therefrom. The Poſture of Receiving; Who to be excluded from it, p. 379. Sect. 13.
Not the leaſt Idolatry in the Church of England in the Celebration of the Holy Sacrament, p. 821. Sect. 41.

Sacrifices.

Humane Sacrifices (Men, Women, and Children) offered to the Devil by the Pagans, p. 60, 61, 63. Ch. 14, 15, 16.

Sacri-

Sacrifices were in all Religions held Appeasements of the Gods, p. 91. Sect. 1.

The Death of Christ ought to be so interpreted, p. 92. Sect. 12.

Proofs from the Prophets that the Messiah was to be a Sacrifice for Sin, p. 209. Sect. 1.

An Angel incapable of being a Sacrifice for the Sins of the World, p. 102. Sect. 4.

Saints.

Invocation of Saints and Angels, Idolatry, p. 415. Sect. 4, &c. p. 777. Sect. 5. p. 779. Sect. 11.

Various Idolatrous Forms of Invocating Saints in the antichristian Church, p. 784. Ch. 4. This foretold, p. 651. Sect. 4, &c. p. 656. Sect. 6, 7.

See Invocation, Virgin, Angels.

Salvation

Eternal thro' Christ, the Hope of the first Christians, p. 219. Sect. 7.

How little Hope of it in the Church of Rome, p. 796. Sect. 5, &c.

Sanction

Of a Law what and whence derived, p. 326. Sect. 3.

Sanctity.

See Righteousness.

Satisfaction

Of Christ, the Antichristian Conceits of the Romanists about it, p. 446. Sect. 3, 4.

Schism,

Described, p. 503. Sect. 5.

A grievous Crime against the truly Apostolick Church, p. 501. Sect. 2.

The unjust Charge of the Church of Rome in calling all who dissent from her Hereticks and Schismaticks, p. 503. Sect. 7, 8.

The Reform'd Church free from the Guilt of Schism, p. 761. Sect. 5.

Scholastick

Divinity has been injurious to Religion; particularly in the Doctrines of the Divinity of Christ, and the Holy Trinity, p. 353. Sect. 1, 2.

Schools

Ought to be continued and erected by the Christian Magistrate, p. 369. Sect. 7.

Scripture.

Observations on the Stile of Holy Scripture, p. 11. Sect. 3, &c.

'Tis fit that the Scripture shou'd in some Measure be obscure, p. 2. Sect. 1. Reasons thereof, p. 2. Sect. 2, 3.

The Pretenders to Reason cannot demonstrate that the Divine Oracles shou'd mention nothing but what is the adequate Object of our Understanding, p. 319. Sect. 4.

No Part of Holy Scripture unintelligible in it self, p. 769. Conclus. 25.

The Holy Spirit of God assures true Christians of the Truth of the Scriptures, and assists them in the Understanding thereof, p. 458. Sect. 17, 18.

The Holy Scriptures sufficiently plain to an unprejudiced Capacity in all Points necessary to Salvation, p. 768. Conclus. 19.

This supersedes the Necessity of an infallible Judge, p. 453. Sect. 2, 3.

Several Ways of undermining the Holy Scriptures in the Church of Rome, p. 460. Ch. 3.

The Power and Profit of the Letter above the Allegory, p. 174. Sect. 3.

Allegorizing the Holy Scripture no special Divine Gift, p. 174. Sect. 4.

When the Holy Scriptures are to be interpreted literally or historically, and when figuratively or Parabolically, p. 768. Conclus. 20.

No Tradition more universal and certain than the Tradition of the authenticalness of the Holy Scripture; this therefore the truest Ground of the Certainty of Faith, p. 768. Conclus. 17.

Private Men have not only a Right, but it is their Duty to read the Scriptures, p. 769. Conclus. 28.

Self-Love

Not Evil in it self, p. 32. Sect. 2, 3.

The Root of the Animal Passions, p. 32. Sect. 2.

Sermons,

What ought to be the Stile and Matter of them, p. 324. Ch. 4.

See Preaching.

Serpent.

The Brazen Serpent, a Type of the Passion of Christ, p. 305. Sect. 9. p. 302. Sect. 2. p. 531. Sect. 3. Those that were healed by looking to it were cured by the immediate Finger of God, p. 302. Sect. 2.

In what Sense the Brazen Serpent was a Telesme, p. 305. Sect. 8.

Sin.

The Destruction of Sin the End of Christ's Coming into the World, p. 255. Sect. 2. This one End of his Sufferings, p. 306. Sect. 1, 2.

An infallible Method for the destroying of Sin, p. 340. Ch. 12. Not to be destroyed without some time of Conflict, p. 340. Sect. 1.

Large Confessions of Sin without any Purpose of Amendment, a meer Mocking of God, p. 356. Sect. 5.

Sleep.

The Notion of the Soul's Sleeping after Death refuted, p. 11. Ch. 6.

See Soul.

Σοφία,

The Meaning thereof, p. 584. Sect. 1.

Soul.

Divers Opinions about the Soul of Man, p. 4. Sect. 5.

Of the Existence of our Souls, p. 24. Sect. 2.

Souls departed do not Sleep. The Danger of that Opinion, p. 11. Sect. 1, &c. p. 26. in Sect. 6.

Arguments drawn from Scripture to prove the Sleep of the Soul after Death, considered and answered, p. 11, 13. Ch. 6, 7.

Proofs from Scripture that the Soul does not sleep after Death, p. 17, 20. Ch. 9, 10.

The Opinion of the Soul's Living and Subsisting after Death was not taken up by the Fathers from the Writings of Plato, p. 15. Sect. 1.

The Souls of Men not devoid of Life after the Death of the Body, p. 25. Sect. 3, &c.

The Activity of the Soul in this earthly Body no just Measure of what she can do out of it, p. 98. Sect. 2.

Our Saviour's Ascension a sure Pledge of the Soul's Activity in a thinner Vehicle, p. 98. Ch. 3.

The Command of the separate Soul over its proper Vehicle illustrated, p. 98. Sect. 4.

The Place the antient Philosophers supposed departed Souls to be in, p. 26. Sect. 2.

The Stoicks were of Opinion that the Souls of Men were extinguish'd in the final Conflagration of the World, p. 28. Sect. 3.

The whole Life of the Soul upon Earth but a Slumber and a Dream, p. 98. Sect. 3.

The Soul not uncapable of the Happiness of an Heavenly Body, p. 157. Sect. 2.

See Immortality, Pre-existence.

Spirits.

Of the several Orders of Spirits, and that there are particular Spirits, or immaterial Substances proved, p. 24. Ch. 3.

The Difference between the Souls of Men and Angels, p. 24. Sect. 3.

There are infinite Swarms of Atheistical Spirits: A Description of them, p. 27. Ch. 5. Sect. 3.

The Region of Evil Spirits is the Air, p. 536. Sect. 7.

See Angels, Apparitions.

Holy Spirit.

The true Ministry of the Holy Spirit, what, p. 178. Sect. 7.

The Holy Spirit not a Power but a Person p. 7. Sect. 8.

In what Sense the Son and Holy Ghost are God, p. 320. Sect. 4.

The Holy Spirit is promised in both Testaments to assist us in the attaining such Degrees of Holiness as the Gospel requires, p. 276, 279. Ch. 8, 9.

His Operations not absolute but restrain'd to certain Terms and Conditions, p. 289. Sect. 6.

His Descent on the Apostles. The Necessity, Manner, Consequences and Circumstances of that Miracle, p. 111. Ch. 11.

See Assistances.

Stars

Have not that Influence which Philosophers ascribe to them, p. 244. Sect. 1, 2.

Sufferings.

Of the Sufferings of Christ before his Passion, p. 90. Sect. 2.

The End of Christ's Sufferings was not only to pacifie Conscience, but to root out Sin, p. 306. Sect. 1, 2.

How necessary for Christ to be passive in his Sufferings, p. 90. Sect. 3, 5, 8.

A Parallel drawn betwixt what our Lord suffered, and what his true and living Members are liable to, p. 298. Sect. 4, &c.

See Passion.

Sun,

The Supreme Deity of the Pagans, p. 40. Sect. 4, &c.

Of the Eclipse of the Sun at our Saviour's Passion, p. 93. Sect. 1. Difficulties on the Account of its not being recorded by other Writers considered, p. 93. Ch. 15.

Supralapsarian

Doctrine, the infinite Inconveniences of it, p. 347. Sect. 8.

Superstition

What, p. 383. Sect. 18. p. 396. Sect. 2.

There may be Superstition in opposing Ceremonies, p. 345. Sect. 2.

The multiplied Superstitions in the Antichristian Church, p. 429, &c. Ch. 17, 18, 19, 20. Predictions hereof, p. 658. Sect. 2.

Supremacy.

Of the Supremacy of the King in Ecclesiastical Matters, p. 713. Sect. 6.

The Judgment of the Church of England herein, p. 714. Sect. 7.

T.

Teleſme

WHAT, p. 305. Sect. 8. The making of them Superſtitious, p. 303. Sect. 3. Other Remarks about them, p. 303. Sect. 4, &c.

Temperance

What, p. 37. Sect. 5.

Temple.

Julian attempting to rebuild the Temple of the Jews, dreadful Balls of Fire broke out near the Foundation. This recorded by a Heathen, p. 216. Sect. 10.

Lampridius an Heathen Hiſtorian writes that the Emperor Severus intended to erect a Temple to Chriſt, p. 217. Sect. 1.

Temptation

Of our Saviour; ſome Difficulties about it conſidered, p. 72. Sect. 3, &c.

Teſtament.

In what the Terms Law and Teſtament agree, p. 326. Sect. 4. In what Covenant and Teſtament, p. 326. Sect. 5.

Ἡ καινὴ Διαθήκη why tranſlated the New Teſtament, p. 327. Sect. 9.

2 Theſſalonians

'CH. II. concerning the Man of Sin 'explain'd, p. 689, &c. Ch. 19, 20, 21.

Thunder.

Some Obſervations on the terrible Effects of Thunder, p. 161. Sect. 3, &c.

1 Timothy

'CH. III. 16. The Pillar and Ground 'of Truth, p. 451. Sect. 11, 12.

'CH. IV. 1, &c. Now the Spirit ſpeak-'eth expreſly that in the latter Days ſome 'ſhall depart from the Faith, &c. p. 651. Sect. 4, &c.

'Ver. 3. Forbidding to marry, &c. p. 393. Sect. 2.

2 Timothy

'CH. I. 12. I am perſwaded that he is 'able to keep that I have committed to 'him againſt that Day, p. 13. Sect. 1.

CH. IV. 8. Which the Lord the Righ-'teous Judge ſhall give me at that Day, p. 13. Sect. 1.

Trafficking.

The ſhameful Trafficking in the Antichriſtian Church for Pardons and Indulgences, p. 477. Sect. 6, &c. This foretold, p. 676. Sect. 2, &c. p. 681. line 7, 46. p. 684. line 22.

Transfiguration

Of Chriſt. The Reaſons of it, p. 73. Sect. 7, &c.

Tranſubſtantiation.

The Worſhipping Bread in the Euchariſt in the Antichriſtian Church foretold, p. 734. Sect. 7. p. 783. Sect. 9.

Tranſubſtantiation not ſupported by Scripture, p. 782. Sect. 7.

Repugnant to common Senſe, and the undoubted Principles of all Arts and Sciences, p. 782. Sect. 4, 5, 6.

Tranſubſtantiation, what a Heap of Impoſſibilities, p. 484. Sect. 19. Its Abſurdities, p. 464. Sect. 5.

The Gainfulneſs of Tranſubſtantiation to the Prieſts in the Church of Rome, p. 424. Sect. 3, &c.

The incredible Miſchiefs done to the Church by this Doctrine, p. 484. Sect. 17, 18.

Coſterus a Jeſuit acknowledges, that if their Church be miſtaken in the Doctrine of Tranſubſtantiation, they are guilty of ſuch a Piece of Idolatry as never was in the World, p. 783. Sect. 8.

The Worſhipping the Conſecrated Bread in the Euchariſt Idolatry. p. 416. Sect. 11. p. 418. Sect. 4, &c. p. 779. Sect. 11, 12. p. 818. Sect. 34.

The Difficulties in the Myſtery of the Holy Trinity cannot be alledg'd againſt the clear Demonſtrations that the Doctrine of Tranſubſtantiation is falſe, p. 818. Sect. 33.

Trinity.

A Trinity in the Godhead proved by the Teſtimony of Holy Writ, p. 7. Sect. 8, &c.

No Contradiction in the Doctrine, p. 319. Sect. 6.

The Platonick Trinity deſcrib'd, and of the Difference of the Hypoſtaſes of their Union, p. 5. Sect. 2, 3. The Platonick Trinity ſeems rational in it ſelf and ſerviceable to Religion, p. 6. Sect. 5. It ſeems agreeable to Scripture, p. 7. Sect. 6.

The Doctrine of the Trinity not brought into the Church from the School of Plato, by the Fathers, p. 6. Sect. 5. But admitting that it was, it wou'd not thence follow that it is a Heatheniſh Myſtery, p. 7. Sect. 7.

See Antitrinitarians, Divinity.

Turks.

See Mahomet, Mahometans.

Tyranny.

The Tyranny and Contempt of the Devil over lapſed Mankind, p. 53. Sect. 3, 4.

See Devils.

V.

Vehicle.

THE Fall of Angels changed their pureſt Vehicles into more groſs and feculent, p. 25. Sect. 2.

Vices.

An infallible Method of deſtroying them, p. 340. Ch. 12.

See Sin.

Virgin.

Of Chriſt's being born of a Virgin.

See Chriſt.

Idolatrous and Blaſphemous Forms of Invocating the Bleſſed Virgin in the Church of Rome, p. 786, 787. Ch. 5, 6.

Unction.

Of extreme Unction and other Superſtitious Practices about dying Men in the Church of Rome, p. 435. Sect. 8, 9, 10.

Union.

Hypoſtatical Union what, p. 321. Sect. 5.

The Union of the Humanity of Chriſt with the Eternal Word implies no Contradiction, p. 321. Sect. 6. The Reaſonableneſs hereof, and how with that Hypoſtaſis diſtinct from others, p. 322. Sect. 9.

The Difference betwixt the Union of Chriſt with the Divinity and ours, p. 10. Sect. 5.

A dangerous Opinion of ſome Enthuſiaſts about their Union with God, p. 10. Sect. 5.

W.

Wiſdom.

THAT real Righteouſneſs is the true Way to Wiſdom, proved from Scripture and the Nature of the Thing it ſelf, p. 282. Sect. 1, 2.

Wit,

Ignorance of Religion a Sign of the Want of it, p. 30. Sect. 1.

Word.

The Eternal Word is deſcrib'd Revelations XIX. 11, &c. p. 673. Sect. 2.

See Chriſt, Jeſus, Meſſiah.

Works.

The Righteouſneſs of Faith excludes not good Works, p. 273. Sect. 9.

See Righteouſneſs.

World.

That the World will be ſet on Fire, is not only the Opinion of Chriſtians, but of ancient Heathens and Jews, p. 28. Sect. 3. In what Senſe the ſoberer Chriſtians underſtood the Confiagration of the World, p. 159. Sect. 2.

The Poſſibility of it argued from the Combuſtibility of its Parts, p. 160. Sect. 3. And from what the Heaven and Air may afford, p. 161. Ch. 8.

The Belief of it not only poſſible but reaſonable, p. 165. Ch. 10.

Its Confiagration proved from Scripture, p. 147. Sect. 4, &c. Argued from the tranſcendent Power of Chriſt, p. 163. Ch. 9.

A Deſcription of its Horror, p. 28. Sect. 1.

How ſmall a Part of the World enjoys the Chriſtian Religion, and how few real Chriſtians therein, p. 344. Sect. 5.

Worſhip.

Religious Worſhip what, p. 410. Sect. 2.

The ſeveral Kinds of it, p. 409. Sect. 1.

Eſſential to Religion and inſeparable from it, when free from Perſecution, p. 373. Sect. 1.

The ſeveral Parts of it, p. 374. Sect. 3, &c.

The outward Signs and Expreſſions of Religious Worſhip, what, p. 412. Ch. 11.

The right Meaſure of the Circumſtances thereof, p. 373. Sect. 1.

The Purity of Divine Worſhip, in what it conſiſts, p. 823. Sect. 50.

Of the Place for publick Worſhip, See Church

The Faultineſs of the Diſtribution of Worſhip into Latria, Dulia and Cultus Civilis, p. 406. Sect. 2. p. 410. Sect. 4.

Religious Worſhip due to God only, p. 408. Sect. 9.

No kind of it due to Saints and Angels, p. 407. Sect. 5.

The Worſhip of the Pagans terminated in one Supreme Deity, viz. The Sun, p. 40. Sect. 4.

See Adoration, Idolatry.

Z.

Zopoeia

WHAT; the Kinds of it, p. 529. Sect. 9, 10.

FINIS.